FORTY-NINTH YEAR NUMBER 29

SUDAN, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1973 10 CENTS PER COPY

—by Dalton

THOSE people meeting to thrash out recommendations for a new Texas Constitution certainly have an unenviable job. Last Friday, for example, they decided to put off a decision on the taxing power of the Legislature until the Constitutional Revision Committee meets again Sept. 6.

What they did last Friday was undo what they had done the previous week, when they voted to give the legislature almost unlimited powers in passing state tax laws.

Final meeting of the commission, when it will vote on whether to recommend its findings to the 1974 Constitutional Convention, will be at a motel in Alpine so that some of the commission members could go antelope hunting, which makes us wonder how seriously they are taking their job. We have no real objection to their going antelope hunting, but this and some other things the planners are doing seem a little inappropriate.

For example, they voted to spend $33,938 on new chairs and desks to place in the House of Representatives chamber during the convention, which is supposed to run from January to May next year. The chairs cost $165 each, because they are replicas of those used by delegates to the 1876 constitutional convention.

Next thing we know, they'll be spending tax money for costumes so that those attending will look like the old Texans who met back in the 1870s.

The job of deciding what should go into the state's constitution is a big one, and we're glad we don't have to help make those decisions (we'd rather criticize). But any high school student who has had to study the Texas constitution with all of its many pages certainly knows it needs trimming down.

SPEAKING OF constitutions, more and more people are standing on their constitutional rights, and are aware of the rights they do have. This is good up to a point, but has been abused. I used to cite the constitution to defend my preference for short-sleeved shirts; the constitution gives every man the right to bare arms.

SUDAN IMPRESSIVE AGAINST COOPER

The 1973 Hornets battled Class AA Cooper in scrimmage last Friday night in Sudan although the Pirates did manage to escape with a 1-0 edge in scoring.

A rousing defense, led by noseman Mart Davison, tackles Richard Tamplin and Don Noles, and linebackers Pat Hedges and Danny Williams, successfully stopped the Pirates' "ground offense", as "gang tackling" and a hard-charging stunting defense were the orders of the day.

Cooper's bright moment occurred on their first play from scrimmage as they caught the Hornets "sleeping" on a 45-yard pass play. The Pirates finally managed to "bull" their way to the goal line but the stingy Hornet defense prevented any future offensive threats.

On offense, the Hornets showed a great amount of improvement over the previous week. Quarterbacking the triple option was junior, Mitch Chester who displayed an outstanding performance of "reading" the tough Pirate defense. Fullback, Pat Hedges was particularly effective as a blocker and off tackle runner, while halfbacks Danny Williams and Mark Hanna provided additional yardage outstanding performance of "reading" the tough Pirate defense. Fullback, Pat Hedges was particularly effective as a blocker and off tackle runner, while halfbacks Danny Williams and Mark Hanna provided additional yardage outside. Chester completed 4 of 6 passes for 45 yards with 3 of those hauled down by tight end, Roby Lynn and one by Mark Hanna.

The offensive line turned in an outstanding performance, and were led by senior guard Terry Graves and tackle, Richard Tamplin. Graves and Tamplin repeatedly produced excellent running lanes for the backs as did Don Noles, Craig Harper, Curtis Chester, Tommy Seymour and Donald Johnson. Line coach, Tom Essex, was particularly pleased with the pass blocking of his "interior" people.

The Hornets offensively moved the football and threatened to score at one point. However, a fumble on a fourth-and-one situation turned the ball over to the Pirates on their own 20 yard line.

Coach Warren commented that the "defense is looking exceptionally well and is progressing much quicker than last year. Offensively, we were pleased even though we did not score. We feel that the scoring punch is there and will mature quickly."

The annual "grudge game" is on tap tomorrow night in Bulldog Stadium at Amherst as the highly improved Bulldogs will host a "swarm" of Sudan Hornets in a contest that will kick off the 1973 grid season for both schools.

The varsity football game at Amherst will begin at 8:00 p. m. there Friday night with the Pep Rally held that afternoon at 3:30 p. m. in the gymnasium. All the townspeople are invited to attend the rally and help boost the Hornets to their first victory. The Hornet Band will play at the rally and will also perform at halftime of the game this week. They are directed by Tommy Ewins and began practice before school started.

The Amherst Junior Class is sponsoring a chili supper prior to the Friday night game there in the school cafeteria. Serving will begin at 5:30 p. m. and end at 7:30. Adults will be charged $1.75 and children under 12 will be charged $1.00 for the supper.

The Bulldogs are coming off of a losing streak that saw them drop ten in a row last year. Hornet scouts, however, have detected a vast improvement in the Amherst camp as the 'Dogs are out to put a stop to the losing streak. Playing in a tough, ten-team district, Amherst has been picked as high as fourth in pre-season polls and with an offense and defense loaded with lettermen and previous starters, they could be the "dark-horse" of their district.

Last years clash between the two arch rivals saw the Hornet.

DAVE LLEWELLYN

Take Your Time, Grow Slowly

My son, who is not quite three, talks almost daily of growing "bigger and bigger till I can drive the car." An understandable desire, of course, but a questionable goal to focus on, 13 years in advance.

Who would cool the ardor of childhood ambitions? Creative and harmless as they are, such vaulting ambition is refreshing in children.

Adults also do well to envision long-range hopes, although for them the distant perspective is insufficient. "Wisdom is in the presence of one who has understanding," a proverb observes, "but the eyes of a fool are on the ends of the earth." A person of ambition who is also a person of wisdom gives his attention to the present. A fool thinks he can solve tomorrow's distant problems, though he deals ineffectively with today's.

When a child imaginatively leaps the gap between his present potential and his future hopes we smilingly call him childish. Should an adult do likewise, he too will be called childish.

I myself am a young man, and by the Lord's grace capable and self-confident. Yet men almost my age are directing corporations and significantly influencing government. In weak moments I envy their positions and responsibilities. At wiser times I groan for many of them so out of place. Witness the pitiful appearances of Gordon Strachan and Howard Porter before the Watergate hearings. Promising young men accelerated beyond their maturity into chaos.

David Eisenhower, who has always reminded me of my younger brother, enthusiastic but needing time to develop himself personally, has taken a wiser course of slower and steadier growth, of finding himself first before extending too much to others. So has my brother. These are the ways of wise young men.

Wisdom — the combination of intelligence, knowledge, discretion, prudence, and the ability to give sound advice — develops slowly. Aging does not itself naturally engender wisdom. "There's no fool like an old fool." Yet naivety and ignorance are inescapably the qualities of youth.

Wise Counsel Needed
The Bible cautions explicitly not to permit a novice to lead. Immaturity in high places destroys.

The church as a whole cannot be justly accused of relegating too much responsibility to the young; rather, too little. Among the Jesus movement and the spiritual reawakening on university campuses, however, a serious need for wise spiritual counselors is being recognized. Whereas the goals for the future have been grasped, tested wisdom is needed for decisions close at hand. Not to take over, but to guide, sparingly.

Pity the person or people who pursue even worthy ambitions unwisely. The success of fools turns to gravel in their mouths.

LETTER FROM THE PUBLISHER

We are starting our football booster page this week as you can see, and we want to thank each one for your support, not to us so much as to our fine football team.

Some think they are doing this for the paper only. It does help in our expenses with rising costs of news print and postage, but we are also boosting the Hornet football team. We are due another raise in postage this month.

We have several boosters that did not go this year. Some thought that it was not worth it, but to me it is the best advertising you can do.

Head Coach Jim Warren reported that the Hornets looked good Friday in the scrimmage against Class AA Cooper. They made one touchdown on a long pass play. Warren also stated that they are ready for the Bulldogs Friday night and that they needed your support. So come on out to see the game at Amherst at 8:00 p. m.

Mrs. Jerry Hopper of Dallas has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Whiteaker and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Graves. Mrs. Hopper, the former Sherry Whiteaker, is a registered nurse in the ICU Department at Baylor Hospital in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Arnold returned home Sunday afternoon from visiting several places in Colorado. Her sister, Mrs. Ruby Lacy, Ardmore, Okla. and his sister, Mrs. Lorene Quillan of Fort Worth accompanied them. The Arnolds took them home and then visited other relatives in Fort Worth.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

The current Administration, through Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, is calling for all-out production of agricultural commodities in 1974 and is taking off almost all planting restrictions to that end.

In a nine day tour of western states Butz is proclaiming that prospective world supply demand conditions will be such in 1974 that there is little risk of an oversupply bringing on a drastic drop in farm prices. Moreover, he says the Government, under the new farm program, is accepting a part of the price risk that does exist.

"And we have to agree with the Secretary on both counts," says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice-President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock. "There are in fact strong indications that world demand for cotton, wheat and feed grains will continue to provide good markets, assuming no further government interference with exports. Therefore the risk of overproduction and disaster prices does not appear to be great.

Nevertheless there is a degree of risk, particularly in view of the market's dependence on foreign purchases," he adds. "And the Secretary is correct when he says the Government is accepting 'a part' of that risk. But farmers too will be accepting a great deal of risk, and the respective risks of each should be clearly understood."

For cotton, the Government assumes a part of the risk under the 1974 farm program in two ways. Producers, first, are guaranteed a "target price" for the production from allotted acreage (not total acreage). Second, the Government provides producers with a price support loan of 25.26 cents per pound, basis Middling-inch, 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire at average location, on all of their production.

The target price will be 38 cents per pound. Producer payments, in the event of a market break, will be the difference between this target and the average price paid to farmers for all cotton sold in 1974.

"This of course means," Johnson cautions, "that when a payment is involved farmers who sell their cotton for a price below the national average will have a total return below 38 cents."

Should cotton prices, nationally, hold at or above 38 cents, there would be no payments. In this event the most significant provision of the cotton program for next year would be the built-in insurance feature which protects producers against total financial loss in the event of weather-induced crop failure.

If producers are unable to plant because of drought, flood or other abnormal weather conditions, they will receive a payment of 11-2/3 cents per pound on the payment yield (projected yield) from their allotment.

Also, should abnormal weather after planting reduce total production from the farm to less than 66-2/3 percent of expected yield (payment yield times allotted acres), the producer will get the same payment rate per pound on the difference.

The producer's part of the risk is obvious. If the "target price" system will not provide total return equal to production costs, he is risking the amount of the deficiency on his allotted acreage. And if he overplants his allotment, he is risking the difference between the loan value of his crop and his cost of production.

"A somewhat similar situation exists for producers under the wheat and feed grains sections of the new law," Johnson says, "but so long as there is a clear understanding of the program, the producer has a good chance to make the right planting decisions."

"And in some instances farmers will have forward contract options on their crops, which will further aid the decision making process," he adds.

"Whenever there is a crisis of some kind, the only way Congress can figure to solve it is to either levy a new tax

The U.S. Agriculture Department says the cost of feeding a typical family for a year went up $24 to a record of $1,517 in June, $214 higher than June, 1972.

The calculation covers an assortment of domestically produced foods needed to feed a hypothetical family of 3.2 persons.

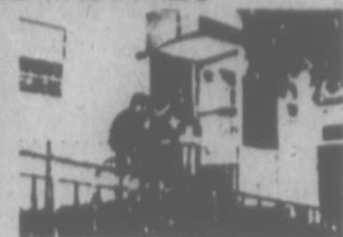

The Agriculture Department's report said that, between May and June this year, the price paid to farmers for the month's typical food budget went up $37, but middlemen absorbed $13 of that increase by cutting their profit margins, leaving the $24 increase paid by consumers.

Among the various fabrics used in testing this pre-wash cleaner was an assortment of permanent press, cotton, wool, blends, synthetics and silks. Magic Pre-Wash was found to be effective when used with all types of detergents, including the non-phosphate products, with or without bleach and at all wash temperatures.

Also, the homemaker will be happy to know the pre-wash works "magic" on such everyday stains as gravy, salad dressing, chocolate, grape juice, mustard, coffee, tea, grass, motor oil, lipstick and ground-in dirt, especially on collars and cuffs.

Today more women work at outside jobs than ever before. As a result, they have less time to devote to household chores. Aware of this fact, industry continues to develop new products to make those chores easier and less time-consuming.

Researchers at Armour-Dial, for example, have introduced a new, non-phosphate, non-enzyme pre-wash cleaner that requires no pre-soaking. Aply named "Magic," the new cleaner loosens dirt and stains in all washable fabrics.

Stained areas are sprayed until saturated. The garment is left to stand for a minute or two and then washed in normal fashion. Because stains are sprayed selectively, the Good News and Bad News... Brucellosis Hearing Date Changed... Pink Bollworm Problems... Broiler, Egg Hatch Drop, Turkeys Increase.

Good and bad news faces Texas livestock producers relating to the screwworm situation. The Fall of the season is approaching, and this always means a build-up in screwworms. More than 1,000 cases have been confirmed in Texas so far this year, and it's expected this will increase considerably through the Fall.

Meantime, officials at the fly laboratory in Mission urge all livestock producers to check their herds regularly, treat wounds on livestock for screwworm control, and submit suspected samples of screwworms to the fly laboratory at Mission.

Your county agent or agriculture teacher has shipping vials which can be used free of postage charges to mail to the laboratory. The number of cases this year is very low compared to last year.

The good news about screwworms is that work is now underway on the sterile fly plant in southern Mexico. When that plant is in operation, 300,000,000 sterile flies per week will be dropped throughout Mexico to eradicate that pest there.

Once that is accomplished, the screwworm in Texas will be a thing of the past. But until that is finalized, authorities want all livestock producers to continue to submit suspected screwworm samples so that appropriate measures can be taken to fight the pest.

A PUBLIC hearing will be held in Room 117 Sam Houston Building, Austin, Oct. 1 by the Texas Animal Health Commission to discuss new brucellosis regulations for Texas as well as proposals for garbage feeding.

A series of hearings has been held throughout the state this past month to explain the regulations affecting brucellosis control. Everyone interested is invited to attend the meeting.

EGG production in Texas during July is six per cent below a month ago, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes. Egg production in Texas totaled 208,000,000 during July. The 11,000,000 layers averaged 61 eggs daily per 100 hens for the month.

Layers on hand were down six per cent from a year ago, and were down one per cent from June.

The July hatch of egg-type chickens in Texas during July is down one per cent from a year ago, and 42 per cent below a month ago.

The turkey hatch in Texas during July was up 26 per cent from a year ago, but is down 36 per cent from a month ago.

COTTON stalk destruction in the Lower Rio Grande Valley has been extended until Sept. 30, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reports.

The normal deadline was Aug. 31, but because of adverse weather conditions, the delay in cotton stalk destruction was granted. White urged farmers to destroy cotton stalks as soon as possible in order to prevent build-ups in cotton insects for the 1974 crop.

RURAL development leaders from throughout Texas will be in Austin Oct. 23 for a rural development seminar.

A final report of the Texas Rural Development Commission will be presented. Ways in which rural Texas can be redeveloped will be discussed by a number of outstanding rural development leaders and specialists.

FOOTBALL-----
win in a "squeaker" 19-8, after trailing 7-8 with only four minutes remaining in the game. However, a 91 yard touchdown pass to Roby Lynn and an intercepted pass resulted in a score giving the Hornets the game.

The 1973 Bulldogs are much more balanced offensively and defensively than the '72 team. Offensively, the 'Dogs run from a straight-T formation and two tight ends. Quarterbacking will be a nifty junior, Stanley Miller. Miller, a southpaw directs the offensive machine and masterfully mixes in a balanced running and passing attack.

Joining Miller in the backfield will be Halfbacks Butch Sutton and Sandy Moore and Fullback Danny Carter. Sutton, a 195 lb. senior, is the power man for the 'Dogs while Moore is a speed-burner. At ends, Amherst will start Wes Gage and Randy Miller while the trenches will be manned by Center Ronnie Burton, Guards Leonard Hudgens and Steve Taylor, and tackles Scott Harmon and D. J. Johnson.

Defensively, the Bulldogs employ a Pro 4-3 defense. Headed by a hard-hitting corps of linebackers in Butch Sutton, D. J. Johnson, and Sandy Moore, the 'Dogs display a highly disciplined defense. The hard-charging "Big Four" are Harmon, Sutton, Taylor, and Eddie Duvall, while the defensive backfield consists of John Booth and Carter at corners and Hubert Wilson, Roger Humphreys, and Frankie Williams at safeties.

Coach Jim Warren stated that the Hornets will have to play "heads-up" football in order to win. "Last year we fumbled 12 times in the Amherst game so we are attempting to prepare ourselves mentally as well as physically for the 'Dogs."

FORMER RESIDENT WINS TRIP TO SCOTLAND

Kenny Burgess, a senior at Olton High School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Burgess, former Sudan residents, attended the Johnny Miller Golf Academy this summer in Dundee, Scotland. He won the week trip as a result of information sent out last spring to golf instructors of high schools throughout the U. S. Burgess was the only Texan in group of high school golfers.

The group attended the British Open won this year by Tom Weiskopf. Other famous golfers in the tourney were Johnny Miller, Jack Nicholas, Lee Trevino, Gary Player and Arnold Palmer. They also met Ken Ventura and Byron Nelson.

During the week they received instruction in golf and played on various links in Scotland. They also went on sight-seeing jaunts including London and all the famed tourists attractions there.

Lemon-Orange Souffle

Light, airy and economical Lemon-Orange Souffle is an ideal warm weather dessert, easy enough for the family and impressive enough for guests. Refreshing lemon gelatin is accented with tangy orange and lemon juices which have been whipped with nonfat dry milk, then folded together into a cloud-like softness. A plate of cookies is an optional but complimentary accompaniment with this intriguing near failure-proof souffle. The results will please even non-cooks, and guests will be delighted to learn the dessert contains almost more air than calories.

LEMON-ORANGE SOUFFLE
(Makes 8 servings)

- 2 packages (3 ounces each) lemon flavored gelatin
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 cup cold water
- 1 cup Carnation Instant Nonfat Dry Milk Crystals
- 1 cup ice cold orange juice
- 1/4 cup lemon juice

Place gelatin and sugar in large mixing bowl. Add boiling water. Stir to dissolve gelatin. Stir in cold water. Chill to consistency of unbeaten egg whites, about 50 to 60 minutes. Combine Carnation Instant and orange juice in small mixer bowl. Whip until soft peaks form (3 to 4 minutes). Add lemon juice. Whip until stiff (3 to 4 minutes). Fold into chilled gelatin. Place mixture in refrigerator to chill until mixture mounds from a spoon, about 20 minutes. Prepare a collar for a 1-quart souffle dish by cutting a strip of brown paper long enough to go around dish and about 3 inches wide. (Foil may be used instead of brown paper but should be folded to make 3 thicknesses.) Butter the inside of the souffle dish and the inside of the strips of paper or foil. Fasten the paper around the outside, letting it extend 2 1/2 inches above the top. Spoon gelatin mixture into souffle dish. Chill until firm, about 3-4 hours. To serve, loosen paper collar and pull away gently. Garnish with mint leaves, if desired.
