THERE ALWAYS will be good students and bad ones, no matter what kind of schools or teachers we have. But it really does seem that the percentage of school children who can't spell even the simple words is increasing.

I know when I taught freshman English at Wayland a few years ago I was astounded at the inability of so many students to either spell or write anything comprehensible. Sentences like "We drove are car tell it got to hot" were too common to be amusing. I wondered then how these boys and girls ever got out of high school.

Of course, there were more boys who butchered things up than there were girls. The reason for this, I think, lies in the attitude of the students in public schools, which in turn is fostered by the attitudes of their parents (and here again, especially the fathers) that boys ought to be super athletes and not good students.

Actually, most fathers don't mind their sons being good students, but they certainly don't act as proud of them for this as they do when they hit a homer or score a touchdown or sink a field goal or win a set or win the 100.

Of course they should be proud of their sons (and daughters) for athletic achievement. But they also should be just as proud of them for their good grades and scholastic achievement. Some are, but most aren't, and the youngsters themselves reason that "Daddy is proud of me when I do well in sports and doesn't seem to care one way or the other about grades so long as I pass."

In fact, most boys probably consider it unmanly to make good grades, especially in subjects like English, and they often scorn those who do.

That wasn't what I meant to say when I started all this. Actually I was just pondering a clipping passed along by a junior high teacher, Mrs. Newma Carnes. She brought us a clipping of a 1962 article by Margaret Turner, who then was society editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. Margaret commented at that time on the number of people who couldn't spell and said, "It's a habit of thought, of attitude. It's the discipline of get-it-right versus free-wheeling anything-goes. . . . a realization that there is such a thing as a right and a wrong. If this is necessary in spelling, it stops over into thinking."

It's no great crime (just a misdemeanor) not to be able to spell a word. It is wrong not to care.

There are lots of words I can't spell, but I talk real good.

KNOTHOLES: Somebody who works at an area gin swears this one is true: a fellow pulling two trailers of cotton to the gin was stopped by a highway patrolman who suggested the farmer's trailers might be overloaded. "I sure hope so," the farmer said. "I've got 160 acres on these two trailers." The officer just wished him a merry Christmas and sent him on his way. . . . The state Consumer Protection Division has received numerous complaints about new brands of anti-freeze that don't perform properly. Some doesn't meet proper standards, some isn't really anti-freeze.

MRS. LARRY SCHEPPE

Couple repeat vows

Wedding vows were read uniting Miss Gwendolyn Churchman and Larry Dean Scheppe at 3:30 p. m., Dec. 14, in the home of the bride's parents. The Rev. Eddie Freeman, pastor of the local First Baptist Church, officiated the double ring ceremony before baskets of pink and white gladiolas and carnations. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Churchman of Sudan, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Warzala Jr. of Troy, Ill.

For the traditional something old, the bride carried a silk handkerchief belonging to her late maternal grandmother. She borrowed the Bible from her mother and wore a blue garter. Her dress served as something new. Matron of honor was Mrs. Jerry Ethridge, sister of the bride. She wore a formal length dress of pink polyester and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations. Serving as best man was Larry Myers of Lubbock. A reception followed the ceremony. Pam and Sharon Penney, cousins of the bride, served a three-tiered wedding cake, mints, punch and coffee. The couple will make their home in Carlisle, near Lubbock.

CAGERS WIN CONSOLATION

Sudan's Hornets won the consolation trophy at the Hale Center invitational basketball tournament held Dec. 12, 13, and 14, and the Hornets lost out in the consolation game. The Sudan team defeated Silverton Thursday in the first round of play, both lost their second games, to Happy and Olton.

Olton blasted the Hornets 87-46 in their game Friday. The winners led all the way, 22-12, 49-16, and 65-30. The Hornets really did not have such a bad night with the exception of the second quarter when they had some foul trouble and their forwards scored only 4 points. Twelve and 15 points is not a bad quarter for any team, however, Olton's Hodges had 17 points for herself in the second quarter with the other two forwards scoring 10 together. Sudan had one to retire to the bench on fouls. P. Ray led Sudan's scoring with 24 points, Burton had 13, Bellar 7 and Tamplin 2. Miss Hodges had a total of 37 for Olton.

Silverton led 40-30 at half-time of the Thursday game but had a cold third quarter scoring only seven points to 20 for Sudan. Sudan had 18 in the fourth to Silverton's 12 in the fourth and came up with the win of 66-59. Four Hornets scored in double figures with Richard Tamplin hitting for 20, Danny Williams, Kyle Martin and Craig Pickett had 13 each, Dennis Flowers 6 and Craig Harper 3. Sudan had 20 team fouls to 22 for their opponents; and hit 16 of 32 at the free throw line for 50%. Clay led Silverton with 20 points.

In the girls consolation game, Sudan met Kress of Class A and lost 62-48. Kress led all the way and led 31-26, at half. Sudan had 26 fouls to 16 for Kress, making four of 11 attempts at the free throw line to 24 of 30 for Kress. Sudan had two forwards and one guard to foul out of the game. Scoring for them were Burton with 15 points, Ray with 14, Bellar 10, Tamplin 7, and Ann Nix and Doyleene Poe with 2 each. P. Jones led Kress with 37, J. Scott had 19 and T. Blackerby 6.

In their second game, played Friday against Happy, the Hornets had a cold first quarter and played catch-up the rest of the way in a losing effort. However, they outscored Happy 14-11 in the third period. Tamplin again led Sudan with 31 points; Luther Robinson and Martin had 11 each, and Jerry Williams and D. Williams 3 each. The team made 13 of 21 free throw attempts and had 19 fouls. Tackitt of Happy had 18 points. So the Hornets advanced to the consolation bracket of the double elimination tournament where they met an old rival from Class A, Bovina who they defeated 70-61. The Hornets again were cold in the first quarter hitting for 8 points to Bovina's 15. Bovina led at the half, 34-31. It was all Hornets the rest of the way. They outscored Bovina 14-11 and 25-16 in the last two quarters. Tamplin hit the nets for 33 points, Pickett 14, Robinson 7, D. Williams and Martin 5 each, and Flowers, J. Williams and C. Harper 3 each. Each team had 24 fouls with Sudan hitting 23 of 32 attempts with which they won the game. Each team had 23 field goals.

Clay led Silverton with 20 points.

In the girls consolation game, Sudan met Kress of Class A and lost 62-48. Kress led all the way and led 31-26, at half. Sudan had 26 fouls to 16 for Kress, making four of 11 attempts at the free throw line to 24 of 30 for Kress. Sudan had two forwards and one guard to foul out of the game. Scoring for them were Burton with 15 points, Ray with 14, Bellar 10, Tamplin 7, and Ann Nix and Doyleene Poe with 2 each. P. Jones led Kress with 37, J. Scott had 19 and T. Blackerby 6.

Dear Editor:

1975 promises to be one of the most challenging times of the 70's. We have battled, but not found victory, in the energy crisis. We have reduced the number of traffic fatalities and begun many innovative projects to help eliminate needless traffic accidents.

But now we must accept the challenge to do more. We can design themes and slogans like "Drive Friendly" or "Stay Alive in '75", but they are useless without a sincere effort to abide by them.

We Texans are blessed with abundance. We have the most beautiful and diverse landscapes, excellent highways and well designed cities, but still the traffic crashes continue to happen. Your influence in your community offers you the challenge to help us save lives in Texas and work toward elimination of death and injury. The media is most valuable in helping to inform the motorist of danger areas, driving trends and current laws.

People are our finest resources, so let's protect them by working toward improved conditions, better educational services and more public awareness of the safe driving techniques.

Therefore, as your Governor, I call upon all of us to rededicate ourselves in this forthcoming year to work toward the reduction of traffic accidents and to the saving of lives.

I simply ask you to do your part.

Sincerely,
/s/ DOLPH BRISCOE
Governor of Texas

THOUGHT For MEDITATION

Happiness means accepting each day
And using it well in God's own way,
Not getting frustrated if you find
It is not the day you had in mind.

In doing His will happiness lies
With joy that all life's troubles defies,
Give of this joy which you are blessed
And each day will bring you happiness.

SOIL SURVEY

Soil surveys are land management tools that serve a variety of uses, a new publication of the U. S. Department of Agriculture explains. The colorful brochure, "Soil Surveys Can Help You," was written by the Soil Conservation Service to report several of the common uses of the soil survey.

There are tens of thousands of different soils and often great differences in soil properties can occur within short distances. The new publications explain how land owners and land users can utilize soil surveys in buying land, evaluating areas for houses and other buildings, determining soil properties that effect construction, planning land use, disposing of liquid and solid wastes, managing farmland and woodland, landscaping, selecting areas for water, recreation, and wildlife development, and planning conservation.

Soil surveys contain detailed maps of a county's soils and interpretations of the data for a variety of land uses. Information is based on test borings to a depth of about six feet or to rock.
