WOODWORK

by dalton

WIFE ON A HOT TIN ROOF: If my money and my wife hold out, one of these days we may get our carport finished. Right now it's in the ninth month of construction, mainly because on days when it is nice enough to work on such things, it also is nice enough for outdoor recreational activities, which are much more fun than hitting your finger with a hammer.

Saturday was a hot day, so I figured it would be a good time to put roofing tar in the holes on the tin roof of the carport. Someone said a hot day was best for this, because then the tar will be soft enough to work with. What that someone forgot to say was that on such a day working on the roof would be kind of like working in a skillet.

I solved this problem Saturday by sending my wife up on the roof to do all the work. What I told her was that some of the braces and rafters and stuff (I don't know all the proper terminology; I just nail the boards together) didn't appear to be strong enough to hold me up, but I was sure they would hold her, since she's so trim and slim. She bought this story, so I'm going to stick by it.

Anyway, she spent most of the afternoon on the roof, baking by degrees and smearing the messy tar. Meanwhile, I got around on the shady side of the carport and painted very slowly. Later, when she was engrossed in work and her eyes were coated with perspiration, I sneaked off to play tennis.

When I came back, she was still up there, and I felt kinda bad about it, so I told her she'd better come down. Besides, about that time she had finished the job, and it was time for her to come down and go fix supper.

This little incident is just another which shows that I am definitely management material, although some might have another name for it.

KNOTHOLES: Newspaper advertising is the greatest. Last week a woman called in an ad about a lost dog and found it before the paper came out. And some folks ran an ad opposing the governor's school finance bill and it was scuttled the next day. . . . For a second or two the other day, I figured my friend Ted Gentry was kind of stuck up. I saw him walking down the street and I waved at him and he didn't wave back. Like a dummy, I had forgot for a moment that he is blind.

FFA Teams Place In Meet

On Wednesday, May 7, the FFA Mechanics Team consisting of Rusty Gore, Tony Lopez, Larry Bellar, and Mark Lane went to Lubbock to Tech to compete in the District Contest held at the Agriculture Engineering Building. The Sudan team placed second in the contest with Rusty Gore bringing some honor of "high individual" in welding. The contest included four sections with each team member participating in each. In the welding section, they were required to weld a "lap weld and a butt weld". In the electricity section, they were required to wire in a distribution panel and a light controlled by a single pole switch. In the plumbing section, they had to determine the length of pipe to place in a particular situation, cut and thread the pipe to fit. In identification, they were required to identify fifty different pieces of supplies and tools used in the other three areas.

"I am very proud of the team and how they did in the contest. This is probably the best contest in which we compete. There is no real way to prepare for this contest; therefore, the boys have to rely on what they have learned in shop during the three years in Ag.," stated Don Ham, advisor.

SUDAN FFA RECEIVES SUPERIOR RATING
On Saturday, May 10, Brad Pierce, Gary Ham and Mr. Ham traveled to Amarillo to attend the Area I FFA Convention. During the convention, the Sudan delegation was notified that the Sudan chapter is one of the 27 chapters which will receive the "Superior Chapter" rating. There are 96 chapters in Area I.

The Superior Chapter rating is a segment of the National Chapter Award Program. This program is designed to specifically provide recognition for educational experiences over and above those offered in the classroom or on the farm. It emphasizes group activity and cooperative understanding growing out of an organized FFA Chapter Program of Activities.

In order to receive the award a chapter must have accomplished at least 36 specific activities. These activities are widely varied and indicate a well rounded program.

Also during the convention the voting delegates elected the Area I State Officer, Area I officers, Sweetheart, and talent team. During the boys' meeting, the teachers met and selected scholarship winners, chapter rating, TVATA awards, Star Greenhand and Star Lone Star Farmer awards.

FHA HOSTS SENIOR CITIZENS

The excellent program was enjoyed by 16 Senior Citizens, and members of Home-making I and II classes.

The Bible Says

By Art Lynch

This is the third in a series of lessons on the miracles of the Bible. For what purpose did Jesus and His followers, by the power of the Holy Spirit, perform miracles? John said, "Many other signs therefore did Jesus in the presence of the disciples, which are not written in this book: but these are WRITTEN, that ye may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing ye may have eternal life in His name." (John 20:30-31) John said that signs were to help us believe. Mark said, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved..." and these signs shall accompany them that believe: in my name shall they cast out demons, they shall speak with new tongues..." and he names other signs they perform, then in the last verse of Mark we read, "And they went everywhere preaching the gospel, THE LORD WORKING WITH THEM and CONFIRMING THE WORD by the signs that followed." (Mark 16:17-20)

The Hebrew writer, also in Hebrews 2:3-4 said, "how shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation? which at first having been SPOKEN through the Lord, was CONFIRMED UNTO US by them that heard; God also bearing witness with them, both by signs and wonders, and by gifts of the Holy Spirit, according to his own will." We can see from these scriptures that the purpose of miracles was to: (1) confirm the revelation of God, Hebrews 2:3-4; (2) confirm the Messiahship of Jesus, John 20:31; (3) confirm the preaching of the apostles and prophets, Mark 16:19-20. The sacrifice of Jesus was "once for all", says the Hebrew writer in Hebrews 7:27. The faith delivered by the apostles was delivered "once for all" so says Jude in verse 3. Paul said in Galatians 1:6-8, "But though we (apostles), or an angel from heaven should preach unto you any gospel other than that which we preached unto you, let him be anathema! (accursed)!" Paul said, in effect, it doesn't matter what someone does by signs or wonders, if their preaching is not according to what was originally delivered IT'S WRONG! The Word was preached and confirmed and is sufficient for all. (To be continued.)

GOVERN NOW!

THEN A merchant traveling in the Middle Ages had a lot to worry about when he bedded down for the night since the few inns on his route were self-service institutions. The traveler brought his own food, cooked it himself, and provided his own bedding.

NOW A traveling businessman has nothing to worry about, except business. If he stays at a Holiday Inn, for example, he can make reservations in advance through any Holiday Inn. He'll most likely be close enough to his destination so as not to worry about transportation, and he'll have plenty of leisure activities at the hotel so he won't have to worry about how to spend the evenings.

Decorating Ideas QUICK AND EASY

This bright and inviting party room sets up in minutes, with Cosco's colorful "Hot Seat" folding chairs and matching tables. The bold blue-yellow-and-green scheme is carried out with striped blinds, plaid carpet and lots of fresh plants. Accommodating twelve for a sit-down dinner, served from the buffet cart, the setting clears off easily for an evening of backgammon (or your favorite indoor game). And when the party's over, everything folds flat to store in a closet.
