School News

A report from Kenneth Noles, Sudan School Superintendent, states that as of Tuesday, August 26, 1975 students had enrolled in Kindergarten through seventh grades, and 165 from eighth through twelfth grades, for a total of 435 students at the local schools for the new year.

Noles also stated that several new employees have been hired by school trustees of the district. They are:

The new counselor, H.L. Hand, who will serve both Sudan and Amherst schools. He comes to Sudan from Santa Fe, N.M.

Kay Morton, Home Economics. This is her first teaching assignment after graduating from Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

Three aides were also hired. They are Mrs. Celia Garza, migrant aide; Mrs. Cheryl Kinnie, Compensatory Education Math teaching aide; and Mrs. Ruby Underwood, Special Education aide.

The 1975 Hornet Annuals were issued to students upon registration for school last Tuesday. Senior pictures were made on Wednesday.

School will dismiss at 2:35 Friday afternoon, with the football scrimmage against Seagraves to begin at 5 p.m. in Hornet Stadium. Seagraves is coached by a former Hornet, Jim Eddins who graduated here in 1947. His wife, Virgie, is also a Sudan graduate and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elgan Baccus, longtime Sudan residents.

Coach Jackie Stewart reports some 35 football players out for the year. (A report of last week's scrimmage at New Home may be found elsewhere in this edition.) It is hoped everyone will turn out and support the Hornets this season.

There will be a holiday for students of the local schools Monday, Sept. 1, due to Labor Day. Classes will resume at the regular time on Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Scrimmage

by Coach Jackie Stewart
Sudan scored four touchdowns to zero for New Home Friday night at New Home in a good outing.

On the second play of the scrimmage was Kyle Martin who received a pass from Craig Pickett for 70 yds.

Danny Williams scored on a 10 yd. run off right tackle to cap a 70 yard drive.

Kyle Martin scored on a 60 yard run from scrimmage.

The last TD came when Haldan Messamore intercepted a New Home pass and returned it 35 yds for a TD.

The Varsity scrimmaged first, with Sudan getting the ball for 20 offensive plays. After the 20 plays, New Home got the ball for 20 plays. The only score was the Pickett to Martin pass in this portion of scrimmage.

The Hornets then got the ball for 20 more plays. The second unit got the ball for the first three plays. Then the varsity took over and scored twice in the remaining plays.

The Hornets then went on defense for 20 more plays and Messamore picked off the pass for the TD.

Summing up the scrimmage:

The defense played fairly well. The longest run by New Home was for 12 yds. The Hornet defense stopped the ball carrier numerous times for no gain or a loss.

At times the Sudan offense looked good but at other times didn't move the ball very good.

WITHOUT QUESTION, we have to have the jury system, and to make it work, anyone who can possibly do so should take his or her turn at serving on the juries of the various courts. But it sure does make a mess out of your normal schedule of activities.

Monday I reported for jury service in Lubbock along with about 100 other eager citizens, wondering if I could tell the judge I am allergic to attorneys and Mondays and get off. I didn't try this, though, and they kept me a half day, then told me to go home and come back the next day. The idea behind all this is to mess up as many of a fellow's days as possible, so he'll have more of a feeling of sympathy for juries in the future.

One man I recognized on the panel went up to the judge and told him some kind of yarn and got turned loose. One of the qualifications of a juror is that he must be of sound mind and good moral character, so I suspect it was one of those he used. Anyway, he was back at his men's clothing store fairly early in the day.

The lady seated next to me was extremely nervous, since she never had been called on a jury panel before. She wondered first of all if the judge would excuse her if she explained that she had forgot to tell anyone to feed her dog and goose, or her minister husband. But she didn't try that, either, so she, too, had to go back again the next day.

Anyway, all this, which had not yet ended at the time of this writing, should explain the brevity of this week's offering here. It is hardly worth mentioning that one guy said I could have been excused on the insanity angle anytime, just by showing the judge a copy of the paper. He's a pretty funny fellow, who might die laughing one of these days.

Services for Roy B. Davis, 74, were at 10 a. m. Tuesday in the First Baptist Church of Lubbock. Officiating was Dr. Jaroy Weber, pastor, assisted by the Rev. I. D. Walker, associate pastor, and the Rev. J. T. Bolding, a retired Baptist minister.

Burial was in Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Rix Funeral Directors.

Davis, known in the Lubbock area as "Mr. Cotton," died at 2 a. m. Sunday in Methodist Hospital. He was admitted to the hospital Friday after suffering chest pains. Survivors include his wife, Dennis; two sons, Roy B. Jr. of Houston and Dan of Lubbock; five sisters, Mrs. Edna Marie Smith, Mrs. Olive Barron and Mary Davis, all of Lamesa, Mrs. Una Cook of Seagraves and Mrs. Pauline Marshall of Rowena; three brothers, J. Walter of Bryan, Orville L. of Orange and Dewey of Colorado City; and six grandchildren.

The family suggested memorials to the donors' favorite charity in Davis' name.

Davis, who provided widespread leadership and guidance in the nation's cotton industry, was the object of tributes from industry and civic leaders when his death was disclosed Sunday.

Davis' influence on the agri-business world stemmed from a farm background. A Lubbock High School graduate, he went on to attend Texas A & M, where he graduated in 1927. He went directly into service as a county agent, serving in Terry and Gaines counties until 1930 and in Hale County until 1932.

He managed the Plains Cooperative Creamery in Plainview until 1938, and was with the Houston Bank for Cooperatives until 1943, when he became general manager of the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill in Lubbock. He retired from that post in 1971.

He served on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Cotton and Cottonseed Research and Marketing Advisory Committee during the late 1940s and early 1950s and he was a member of the Research Export Expansion Council under appointment by Secretary of Commerce A. B. Trowbridge. Closer to home, Davis was a director of the Farm Credit Administration, Texas District, from 1951 to 1959. In Lubbock he was a member of the First Baptist Church, the Lubbock Consistory, the Khiva Shrine Temple, the West Texas Museum Association, the Lubbock Club and the Lubbock Country Club.

Happiness means accepting each day
And using it well in God's own way,
Not getting frustrated if you find
It is not the day you had in mind.
In doing His will happiness lies
With joy that all life's troubles defies,
Give of this joy which you are blessed
And each day will bring you happiness.
