WOODWORK

WHEN Tuesday comes like Monday, you sure can get behind in a hurry. After the Monday holiday, we at the newspaper office were faced with the problem of getting the paper out in a shorter time than usual. The same thing probably faced many other offices here who have so much to do every week, whether they take off a day or not.

The best Labor Day chuckle I had was supplied by Don Kendrick when he was polling the Lions Club to see if they wanted to meet on Labor Day. Immediately several of them loudly proclaimed that "it's just another day to me," and "we don't ever close," and such stuff as that, to which Kendrick explained that the first Monday in September is when "all of us who work take off for a day."

Anyway, the Lions Club voted to meet Monday, and I suppose they did. I really don't know, since those of us who work took the day off.

AS ALL of my farmer friends know, I'm pretty dumb about farming. I am not the only one, however. I unashamedly asked a farmer the other day what a compress does, other than stack cotton bales all over the place, and he said that was all they did. However then, I asked, do they call it a compress? I figured they had some kind of machinery to make little bales out of big ones. He said he didn't know why they call it a compress. It turns out he was dumber than I was, because he should have known better.

I called the compress to talk to Bill Ardroy, and since the season hadn't started yet, he wasn't there. So I called my friend Jay Gray out at the Co-Op Gin, and he explained that they do, too, make little bales out of big ones, compressing them with machinery to meet certain density requirements of the people who buy cotton and make towels and shirts and socks and candy and stuff out of it. In fact, Jay explained, the bales are pressed down to about half the bulk of the ones which come out of the gin.

I wonder what they could do with my waistline. I may go out and talk to the Chief Masher, or whatever they call the guy in charge of the compressing machinery.

KNOTHOLES: Plains Cotton Growers has come out with an analysis of last year's crop which says that it was the smallest in the 25-county area since 1930. This is surely not news to anybody...The shallow waters of the Texas Gulf are yielding some old shipwrecks... Bjorn Borg sure could use a haircut...Memorials for the Good For Them Dept.: these scientists who have decided to undertake a study to prove that there is no basis for astrology, and President Ford for saying the federal government shouldn't be the one to bail out New York City from its financial woes. Who needs New York City anyway?...The Garza St. Grouch says some folks with a reputation for being cheerful are just proud of their teeth.

Football

On our passing game, but we feel like it will be a good one before the end of the year. On defense we had some young men that played hard but at times were inconsistent on their technique. We don't worry about the mistakes if they are hustling mistakes. You correct the mistakes with time, but you don't correct not hustling.

JV FOOTBALL

The mighty Sudan Junior Varsity Hornets invaded the Littlefield Wildcat stadium Thursday night, Sept. 4, and came away slightly bruised. When the final gun sounded, the JV Hornets were on the short end of a 28-6 score, but were not on the short end of the battle. When the game got tougher and the flags quit flying, the JV Hornets began to show what they were made of.

The first half was all Littlefield, which saw the Wildcat score three times and convert two extra points. The Hornets showed their tradition and character after trailing by the score of 22-0

SAVINGS BONDS REPORT

July sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in Lamb county were reported last week by County Bond Chairman James T. Lee. Sales for the seven-month period totaled $101,989 for 78% of the 1975 sales goal of $130,000. Texas sales during the month amounted to $20,018,842 while sales for the first seven months of 1975 totaled $140,979,556 with 60% of the yearly sales goal of $234.3 million.

to come back the second half to hold the Wildcats to one TD and stopping them on the 15 yard line, and then driving the length of the field for a touchdown.

With young athletes, it is very difficult to hold your poise when you are down 28-0 and still carry the fight to anyone. We as coaches appreciate this kind of character.

The Hornets moved the ball pretty well but could not move in for but one score which was a touchdown pass from Quarterback Darren Provence to Left Halfback Jerry Williams. Also picking up lots of yardage was Matt Hanna, John Miles, Ricky Stanford, Bob Graves and Mark Warren. Also, we had some outstanding blocking from the line and some people that showed up well on defense.

We feel like every single one of the men did a fine job and we appreciate their hard work that makes our program work.

This week the JV will host Anton here with game time at 7 p.m. The junior high teams will play prior to the JV game.

"Old Moore's" Says "Happy Birthday"

"Old Moore's Almanack," which was issued when America was born, is still going strong and helping to celebrate the nation's 200th birthday with a star-spangled edition for 1976.

And as before a venerable publication that has been updated continuously for 270 years, it's an excitingly up-to-date as tomorrow's weather—which it predicts for every day of the year—and as delightfully old-fashioned as the folklore that brightens up its pages.

Just released by Dell in a 75¢ paperback, Old Moore's joins America's birthday party with an exclusive and fascinating chronology of the main events of the bicentennial history of the United States—spanning the two centuries from America's first Fourth of July in 1776 to the end of the long Vietnam war in 1975. For casual readers and for students as well, it will serve as a permanent record to be enjoyed and consulted—and settle arguments—for years to come.

A sure-to-be-quickly-consulted new feature in Old Moore's is the "Astro-Guide for Lovers Only." Boldly, and with all the current fashions, it predicts and advises for every astrological sign, with a "love index" and month by month forecast. It describes the amorous potentials for lovers of all ages, warns of the dangers during certain periods, and prescribes courses of action: when to be passive and when to be aggressive, and all the consequences thereof.

Then, of course, Old Moore's, as it has with a amazing accuracy for nearly three hundred years, predicts what 1976 has in store on the national and international scene, what the weather will be for all parts of the country, and what one's personal prospects are in the extensive day-by-day astrological section.

Readers will enjoy other invaluable features in Old Moore's: the planet-watching guide, hunting and fishing information for the U.S. and Canada, planting guides for farmers, recipes that will provide health-giving nutrients, a unique system for picking winners at the races, and dozens of pages of practical household information.

In short, Old Moore's for 1976 greets the nation on its 200th birthday with a gift that will bring year-round fun and profits.

BE SWITCHED TO ELECTRIC HEAT

Two hundred years ago, the witch hunters would have burned us at the stake for even daring to dream of a clean, practical means of heating our homes like electric heat. Fortunately, things have changed since then and today you can choose a heating system that is not only clean and efficient, but also economical and environmentally-sound. You don't even have to look for a witch to give you a great deal like this one. Call the electric company... we'll show you how easy it is to BE SWITCHED to real comfort home heating that's as modern tomorrow as it is today.

ASK ABOUT THE HEAT PUMP

IT'S NOT MAGIC...IT JUST ACTS THAT WAY

You'll think it's magic when you see what the heat pump does, but it's not at all. It probably will seem quite impossible that one unit can provide clean, efficient electric heating and cooling with only one unit, one thermostat setting. The important thing to remember is the heat pump is today's answer to improving your lifestyle—economically and efficiently. Sound like magic? Not at all!

ENERGY EFFICIENCY ALLOWANCE

We, at Southwestern, are interested in your getting the most for your energy dollar. That's why we're offering an Energy Efficiency install allowance to our customers in existing homes who install electric comfort heating. Ask us about it.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—These days you frequently see someone wearing an expensive-looking squash blossom necklace or a heavy turquoise and silver bracelet or ring.

One thing to remember is that fine, antique handmade Indian jewelry is extremely scarce, and as a result, quite expensive. However, many Indian artisans are creating authentic new jewelry, some of it in the old designs, some in modern ones.

Experts say the fine, deep sky blue turquoises used in Indian jewelry are hard to obtain now too. The most valuable—and scarce—turquoises are Persian ones. American turquoise is lighter by nature than the Persian stones, but even fine American turquoise is becoming scarce.

Many of the dark blue turquoises found in modern Indian and "Indian-style" jewelry are lower-grade stones that have been treated with oil or wax to darken and intensify color, improve sheen, and add strength.

Treated turquoise, while inferior, should not necessarily be avoided, though. As long as treated stones are identified as such, and there is no attempt to deceive the purchaser, they can be a satisfactory answer to the shortage of high-grade turquoise.

The main thing is to find a dealer or jeweler who will be frank about a piece of American Indian jewelry. Then you can decide for yourself what you want and can afford to pay. Often only an expert can assess the details that make the difference between a magnificent example of Indian craftsmanship and merely a pretty necklace.

If you want to know more about Indian jewelry, contact the Indian Arts & Crafts Board in the Interior Department, Washington D.C. If you have a consumer complaint about misrepresentation in the sale of American Indian jewelry, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division.

customers in the Sudan area to bring their inquiries and complaints to the attention of postal managers. And if people feel their problems have not been properly handled, the Postmaster said, they should see him personally.

To make it easier for a customer to make a suggestion or complaint about postal service, the new consumer service card will be available from letter carriers and at post offices.

According to Postmaster Minyard, the card is two postal cards with carbon paper between them. "One copy goes to me or a station superintendent so work can begin on the problem," he said. "The other goes to Postal Service Headquarters in Washington for cataloging and analysis. The cards will help management spot problem areas and trends and take corrective action if necessary."

The Consumer Service Program was tested earlier this year in Illinois, Massachusetts, Arizona and Rhode Island. Postal Customers in the test found the cards easy to complete and most complaints were resolved to the customer's satisfaction. The card should take no more than two minutes to fill out. The postmaster also said he and his staff are willing to discuss any problems, including lack of courtesy, irregularities in deliveries or collections, collection box convenience and postal office hours.

"We want you to come to us with your problems," concluded Postmaster Minyard. "The whole point of this service program is to bring your problems and gripes out into the open where we can attempt to resolve them."
