WOODWORK

A FARMER who had a lot of timber on his land (obviously not in Lubbock County) went into a hardware store to buy a saw. The owner sold him a power saw that he guaranteed would cut down 15 trees a day. The next week, the farmer came back in with the saw, complaining that it must be defective, since he couldn't average any better than three trees a day. The hardware man looked at the saw, pulled the starter cord and the engine promptly revved up to a loud whine. "Hey!" demanded the startled farmer. "What's that noise?"

KNOTHOLES: A fellow came into the office the other day and handed one of our girls an ad he wanted run this week. "Yes, sir," she said. "Would you like to have it in a box?" He said no, thanks, he just wanted it in the newspaper, probably wondering why she'd want to stick it in a box, unless maybe she was going to gift wrap it for him. . . . URS (Usually reliable source) tells me that all those tales about students writing term papers for other students at $50 to $100 per paper at Texas Tech are true. Also that frequently someone will pay someone else to take a test for him (or her). . . . Watching the finals of the U. S. open the other day, we were impressed with Manuel Orantes in his win over Jimmy Connors. Also, I was happy to see Billie Jean King and Rosemary Casals lose in the doubles finals, because I can't stand Rosie, who is a female chauvinist sow.

THE OLD GEEZER on Garza bought a copy of "The Happy Hooker" and now he's trying to convince his wife that it's a manual on fishing.

HORNETS BLAST ANTON 42-22

JV FOOTBALL TEAM

The Sudan Hornets are now 1-1 early in the football season following a trouncing of Anton Bulldogs by a score of 42-22 away from home Friday night in miserably weather. The Hornets followed what seemed to be a repeat of last week's game and scored in less than a minute into the game at 11:03 and on the second play. Danny Williams, Hornet Fullback, took the pigskin and scampered 62 yards for the touchdown. His running try for two extras failed.

Anton's control of the football was soon ended when they were forced to punt at 9:27. HB Joel Williams returned the first punt of the game 75 yards and added six points more to Sudan's score. The Hornets attempted another two pointer by Kyle Martin but the Bulldogs held. The quarter ended 14-0.

Anton was in possession of the football when the second period of play got underway and at 11:56 lit their side of the scoreboard when Lon Tims scored on a 10-yard run. The running attempt by QB Zane Butler failed and the score was 14-6, Sudan.

Hornet D. Williams put two more scores up for Sudan, the first on a 10-yard run, following a 60-yard drive in 10 plays by the Hornets. He also ran over the goal line for two extras. With only 50 seconds remaining in the half, D. Williams scored on a three-yard run, with Joel Williams making two extras. The TD came after a 20-yard drive in three plays which began when Anton's Sammy Peacock was on the receiving end of a pass from Butler only to have hustling D. Williams take the football away from him. The score at halftime was 30-6 in Sudan's favor.

D. Williams racked up his fourth TD of the night on a drive of 35 yards was set up by a short punt by Anton and took only eight plays. Anton held when Sudan's QB Craig Fickett tried for two extras.

Sudan scored the final TD with 3:39 left in the last quarter on a five-yard run by some other than D. Williams. The Hornets had completed 25 yards in five plays when Danny again intercepted an Anton pass on their 40 and returned it to their 25. The run for two extras again was stopped by Anton. The score at this time was 42-6. However, the Bulldogs decided they weren't through, and with 2:11 of playing time remaining, Rex Jones scored on a 23-yard run climaxing a 65-yard drive in six plays. Their attempt at two more points was stopped by the Hornets. Then when everyone thought that was all, on the last play of the game with no time left on the clock, Bulldog Butler fired a pass to Greg Couch from 11 yards out and another TD. Tims carried the ball over for another two points, and the game ended 42-20.

Couch Stewart's comments: The offensive line did the best job of blocking they have done all year. In the first half, they really got off

GENERAL TELEPHONE

New Directories Distributed in Area

General Telephone Company of the Southwest is making a unique contribution to the observance of the nation's 200th birthday in the form of a special telephone directory cover featuring a painting of the first "official" American flag.

The bicentennial directory symbolizing the observance of the nation's 200th anniversary are being delivered to telephone customers in Littlefield, Anton, Spade, Sudan, Amherst, Olton, Springlake, and Whitham beginning September 8, 1975 according to Rad Richardson.

The flag design was painted by artist Stevan Dohanos, noted for his paintings of historical subjects and his illustrations of contemporary American life. Richardson said the flag depicted on the directory was adopted by the Continental Congress in 1777 and is spread over the front cover in a hanging position. The legend "1776-1976 The 200th Birthday of Our Country" is the only printing appearing on the front cover. The information usually appearing on the front is shown on the back of the directory.

In addition to the regular information found on the inside front cover is the language of the Act of the Continental Congress under which the flag was created along with explanatory text. A brief biographical sketch of the artist also is included on the inside front cover.

Persons in the Sudan area should note that everyone here will have new telephone numbers which go into effect Oct. 29th, the date when direct dialing of long distance calls also will go into effect.

The Bible Says

By Art Lynch

"But be ye doers of the word and not hearers only, deluding your own selves. For if any one is a hearer of the word and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in the mirror: for he beholdeth himself, and goeth away, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was." (James 1:22-24) How easy it is to see other people's faults. I can tell you all kinds of ways that you could improve yourself. I am standing on the outside looking in and have a better view. However, I often forget that you could give me a few pointers on improving myself too. We should have success "in the bag" then, right? I know what is needed in your life and you know what is needed in my life; so why don't I tell you what you should do to improve and you tell me what I should do to improve and then we will both do it and live better more successful lives, right? The only difficulty we would have there is that I want you to listen to my advice and take it seriously, but if I want your advice I'll ask for it! Or as one friend I have puts it, "If I want your advice I'll give it to you!" (You'll have to think about that one for a minute.) Then what is the answer to our dilemma? Dale Carnegie would say, "Self-examination". Norman Vincent Peale would say, "think positively (about yourself)". Jesus Christ said in James, chapter one, "If the shoe fits, wear it!" (Instead of always trying to fit it on someone else). How many of us would get all dressed up to go to our daughter's wedding, look in the mirror, notice that our tie was crooked, and then go our way and not attempt to straighten OUR tie? We would straighten it, of course! James says the Bible is like that, a mirror in which we can see OURSELVES, if we are willing to look. If we don't look, AT OURSELVES, we become deluded in our thinking. Jesus personally said it even better in the great "Sermon on the Mount" in Matthew 7:3, "And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?" Self-criticism is destructive in nature, but self-examination can be very beneficial, when it is conducted on SELF and not others.

MANOR NEWS

It is quite a sensational feeling to share in a party honoring someone's 102nd birthday. Then to see them enjoying it so much really puts the frosting on the cake. Ella Fulcher was the happy girl for this occasion. The party was hosted by the Ruth Sunday School Class of First Baptist Church, Sudan. Several members were present from the class and served cake, ice cream and lemonade.

There were two other ladies honored also for their September birthdays, Hattie Doss and Effie Veach. Both Mrs. Doss and Mrs. Fulcher are former residents of Sudan. All three ladies were presented gifts from the Ruth Class with everyone singing Happy Birthday to them. Also entertaining them and other residents of Amherst Manor were Mrs. Sue Whiteaker and daughters, Venita and Sherry of Sudan, who sang several numbers, and Alton Wimberly and Jim Louis of Sudan who played favorite selections on the violin and guitar.

The climax of the party came when Mrs. Fulcher played her harmonica.

Attending the party were daughters of Mrs. Fulcher including Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hardy of Sudan, Mrs. Fondie Austrander and Mrs. Reba Matthews, both of Lubbock; a son and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Fulcher, Mike and Von of Lubbock; a granddaughter, Mrs. Dolly Porter of Clovis, N. M.; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ruby Fulcher; and a grandson, Denver Rudd, both of Sudan. Others attending were Martha Taylor, Billye Doty, Evelyn Ritchie, Mary Harper, Zeta Young, Rosemary Seymore, Mary Hanna, Bobbie Carpenter, and Mildred Kinzie, all of Sudan.

Dave Britt was visited this week by Edgar Britt of Tatum, N. M., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Britt of Bovina. Wednesday he accompanied Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Yarbrough and Mary Britt, to Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Harlan's in Bula, for the day.

ment of water pollution in Texas has moved ahead more rapidly than in many other areas of the country.

So what is secondary treatment? Let's look first at primary treatment which, basically, simply screens out solid matter in wastewater.

Secondary treatment goes several steps further by adding biological processes to break down organic matter, thus eliminating harmful bacteria. Chlorination then usually follows to further treat the discharge in order to protect the receiving stream.

Still more effective is advanced treatment, sometimes called tertiary (or "third stage") treatment, which produces wastewater of excellent quality. Advanced treatment is being required by the TWQB now in several problem areas and, while it is extremely costly, it will be required elsewhere as the need arises.

The Environmental Protection Agency announced, in July of 1975 that some municipalities in the US probably would not comply with federal secondary treatment requirements until at least the late 1980's. So, while not all of our water pollution problems are solved, Texas is far ahead of most other states in that respect.

And we're still working on it.

As East Texas women writes:

"My husband just retired and time is kind of hanging on his hands. He'd like to do something to help others, but something important. What can you suggest?" ANSWER: His talents and time would be enthusiastically welcomed by your local American Cancer Society. As an ACS volunteer, he might be doing worthwhile things such as helping school children learn about the dangers of cigarette smoking, visiting patients or driving a patient to a treatment center. He might be showing films about cancer safeguards to factory workers or helping to inform people about a cancer detection program. Volunteers are urgently needed and there are important posts for young and old alike.

IT'S SECONDARY IMPORTANCE

Back in the 1930's a man named Vir Ehlers, with the Texas State Department of Health, looked ahead toward troubled waters for Texas. He knew the importance of biologically treating wastewater before releasing it back into our rivers and streams.

So, while secondary treatment has never been a law in Texas, it has been a requirement for 40 years. More than any other single thing, it probably has saved Texas some of the monumental problems which exist in many other states where even today raw sewage is discharged into rivers and streams.

When the Texas Water Quality Board was created in 1967, groundwater, such as that provided by Ehlers, provided a good safeguard from which to work. Consequently, state-

"Leaves have their time to fall, and flowers to wither at the North-wind's breath, and stars to set—but all, thou hast all seasons for thine own. O death!"

We are able to enjoy all seasons, but there seems to be a sketched plan of our living presence on earth, from the time we physically appear until we physically pass.

"We understand death for the first time when he puts his hand upon one whom we love."

The death of a loved one leaves us with an awareness that is not possibly recognized until we no longer have this person to call for the warmth and comfort that only he could give.

With this note I would like to express my appreciation and gratitude to all the people who gave their love and respect to my husband, Loye Dale Parrish, in the last hours of his physical presence.

Sincerely, Vinita Parrish

The family of Loye Dale Parrish would like to extend a most heartfelt thank you to all of the wonderful friends who helped us in our time of sorrow.

the ball and it made it easy for the backs to run when they do their job. The backs also did a good job of blocking for each other.

On defense, we showed improvement against the rush, but our pass defense did not look well at times. Anton could throw the ball better than we thought.

This week we will be going against Plains and we know they will be tough. Plains seems to be larger than last year, but doesn't appear to have the speed of last year.

The Hornets hope everyone will come out Friday and help them to a Victory. The game will begin at 8 p. m.

The JV team of Sudan Hornet land showed the results of hard work, pride and Hornet tradition as they swarmed the Anton Bulldog JV 36-0. It took Sudan just about four minutes to get started on the road to victory.

In the second half, the Hornet defense continued to dominate the game. The Hornets scored again in the third quarter on a one yard plunge by QB Darren Provence.

The Hornet defense held Anton to only two first downs the entire second half. It was a very well played ball game with good attitude and hustle by all Hornets.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for August, 1975, shows a total of 596 accidents resulting in 16 persons killed and 292 persons injured.

Damaging hail was reported south of the Beck Gin as well as between Amherst and Littlefield. Farmers reporting damage were Leonard Pierce, Fred Maxwell, Frank Lane, and Adrian Martin who all have farms near the Bald Highway south of Sudan.

The 16 traffic deaths for the month of August, 1975, occurred in the following counties: three in Castro; two each in Potter, Wheeler, Hale, and Palo Pinto; and one each in Archer, Parker, Yoakum, Hardeman, Willbarger.

6 last Thursday. Both were scoreless through the first quarter. However, Anton drew first blood midway through the second quarter.

Sudan made a valiant attempt in the third quarter to score and were successful when Billy Williams went in from 60 yards out.

Sudan was on the one foot line at the end of the game but did not score. The locals were greatly outmanned but still managed to play a competitive game.

Potatoes refrigerated for a week may develop a sweet taste because some of their starch changes to sugar. To improve flavor, store them at a higher temperature for one or two weeks before using.

A cold spell hit the area Thursday, Sept. 11, sending temperatures 4° lower in a matter of five hours, from 92° to 48°. Rain, and hail in some areas, also accompanied the front.

It was reported that another cold front is due to hit the area Friday night.

ANSWERline: The best way for you to help yourself is to understand the vital importance of early diagnosis and prompt treatment. Your local American Cancer Society can help you learn cancer safeguards and warning signals but you must act on them. The way to stop cancer is through the support of research. But cancer research is a slow, very complex and difficult process. We have made great progress so far. The talents and dedication of thousands of scientists and the support of the American people will bring us even closer to our goal.

ANSWERline: Scientists are learning more about possible industrial cancer hazards while some are already known. The recent discovery of essential forms of cancer among chemical plant employees who were exposed to vinyl chloride has called additional public attention to this subject. The American Cancer Society has an Environmental Cancer Research Project and has often worked with unions to find answers to potential problems. There is a long-term study going on with the Painters Union, Printers Union and others to determine the effect of certain dyes, carbon black and talc. Industry and unions are indeed cooperating in other such studies -- for example, studies of possible health hazards to asbestos workers -- and are changing manufacturing processes to reduce harm.

ANSWERline: "ANSWERline would be wise to remind people that dentists also help in the fight against cancer. We are always on the lookout for any suspicious changes in the mouth." ANSWERline: We like to say that the dentist's office is as much of a cancer detection center as is the physician's office. There are several forms of oral cancer and regular dental checkups can do more than just save teeth -- they can help save lives!

ANSWERline: "As El Paso woman explains: 'I am a practical kind of person and I want to know the best way of stopping cancer.'"

Happiness means accepting each day And using it well in God's own way. Not getting frustrated if you find It is not the day you had in mind.

In doing His will happiness lies With joy that all life's troubles defies, Give of this joy which you are blessed And each day will bring you happiness.
