Cover crops aid soil conservation, prevent erosion

Cover Crops planted this summer can be the solution of preventing wind erosion next spring. Because of the drought, grain sorghum and other high residue producing crops that would normally provide protection to the land have made insufficient growth. Many cooperators of the Cochran Soil Conservation District are planning to plant cover crops—especially on areas that would be unprotected and would likely blow next spring.

Some farmers, like those in the photo, are planning to broadcast small grain, either rye, wheat, or barley, during the last cultivation of their row crops this summer. Others plan to drill small grain, winter peas or vetch on land that has no protection. While others will drill sorghum, cane, sudan or millet for a dead litter cover.

A good cover crop not only provides protection from wind and water erosion, it also helps to maintain and improves the physical, chemical and biological condition of the soil.

Morton cheerleaders attend school

The Morton cheerleaders were among approximately 390 students representing four states attending the First Annual Texas Tech Cheerleading School last week held August 2 through August 7.

Those attending were the six cheerleaders for the 1964-65 season: Mary St. Clair, Sandy De Busk, Gaylene Weed, Susan Blackley, Sharon Graves, and Pam Reynolds.

The girls stayed in Women's Drom 7, a new dorm on 19th street.

Twelve college students who worked for the National Cheerleaders Association, were the instructors for the school. The instructors work throughout the summer in cheerleader schools, situated from the East to West coast.

The first General Session was held Sunday night at 7:00 in the Intramural Gym. The students were introduced to their instructors at this time.

The schedule from 8:15 to 11:30 a.m. included classes in tumbling, pom-pom routines, and workshop. In the tumbling class the girls learned different acrobatic stunts. Various routines that could be used in pep rallies and football games were taught in the pom-pom class. There were twelve new yells learned in the workshop sessions.

A lecture was held each afternoon from 4 to 5 p.m. Hints on crowd psychology, pep rallies, uniforms, and cheerleader behavior were passed along.

In the afternoons and evenings the girls practiced and between 1:15 and 8:15 competition was held.

The cheerleaders learned a lot of yells and are anxious to try them in this year's sports season.

Morton bowlers in regular meeting

Field Representative A. L. (Mac) McDonald of the American Bowling Congress was in Morton Tuesday for a regular meeting with the local association of bowlers in the Morton area. McDonald's cheerful personality made him a favorite with League members.

The purpose of the meeting was specifically for the purpose of discussing the local association. The latest legislation on league associations was a topic of discussion. Rules were stated and questions were answered. A discussion of league problems proved especially helpful.

McDonald has been field representative for three years in a five state area. He works with 580 local associations in Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and Texas. There are more than 1,100 bowling establishments in this area and approximately a half million bowlers.

After leaving Morton, McDonald was scheduled to visit Lubbock and Hereford. Soon he will leave for Lawton, Oklahoma for a State Jamboree and Workshop which will be attended by approximately 200 bowlers.

After the business meeting a film was shown of the American Bowling teams in international competition in Mexico City last year.

"REMEMBER, GRANDPA, WHEN..."

How Grandpa loves to hear that young voice say those magic words that mean, "We had good times together! I appreciate all the wonderful things you did for me when you were younger and able." Old folks love attention. They need it. They deserve to have it. They've spent their lives helping us, many times at the expense of their own desires and plans.

God commands us in Leviticus 19:32: "Thou shalt rise up before the hoary head, and honour the face of the old man, and fear thy God. I am the Lord."

Honor the older ones, too, by attending church this week and taking them with you.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Neal Rose and Dean Weatherly, representing the city council, reported on bond election and gave each member a fact sheet regarding the election. Members were asked to call everyone in the city directory in order to get out the vote.

Mrs. Dona Doughty announced that H. M. Baggarly, Tulsa publisher and popular Democratic speaker, would appear here on September 28 at 8 p.m. in County Activities Building. This meeting will be open to the public.

At the next meeting on September 2 a work shop will be conducted by Mrs. Howard Hurd of Brownfield. The meeting will be held at the ranch home of Mrs. Doughty. Those attending are asked to bring sack lunches and meet at the home of Mrs. Barker at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Gene Benham was program speaker. She was introduced by Mrs. Roy Hickman. In introducing the speaker Mrs. Hickman told the group, "In 1960, the last general election, 64 per cent of 103 million people in the United States were eligible to vote; of this number only 69 million voted; 34 million did not vote. This is a National shame."

Mrs. Benham stressed the necessity and importance of getting all voters to the polls. She pointed out the lack of interest evidenced by apathy of eligible voters in all elections.

The benediction was given by Mrs. Neal Rose at conclusion of the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cooper were weekend visitors in Raton, N.M. Janette Cooper accompanied her aunt, uncle and cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Thad Risinger and Emily of Brownfield to California. They left Friday and expect to be gone two weeks. They were going to Los Angeles and points of interest in that area. Mrs. Bill Cooper and Becky Harris took Janette to Brownfield last Thursday afternoon.

Weekes-Russell Insurance Agency

P.O. BOX 605 215 S. MAIN ST., MORTON PHONE 266-4611

Statement by Roy Weekes

Due to my recent condition of health I have relinquished control of the Roy Weekes Agency to Jack Russell effective this week. The agency will continue to operate in the same manner and in the same location as the Weekes-Russell Insurance Agency.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of my customers for their past support since the agency was established in 1949. I will continue to maintain an interest in the agency and work directly with Jack as solicitor. Carl Proctor will also continue to work for the agency. I wholeheartedly recommend that all of my customers continue to do business with the Weekes-Russell Insurance Agency.

Jack is married and has two children. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hume Russell of Morton. He graduated from Texas Tech and served in the U. S. Navy. He has also had what most insurance agents consider to be the best possible training available through the schools of the Travelers Insurance Co. He has had sufficient practical experience in the field serving in an advisory capacity to local agents throughout West Texas to qualify as a professional in the insurance field. My present customers as well as others with a need for insurance can do no better than to let Jack help plan a program of financial security for their families and their businesses through the use of insurance.

The Weekes-Russell Insurance Agency handles all lines of insurance including Life, Disability Income, Hospitalization, Automobile, Home, Business, Farm, and Crop-Hail.

Jack is well known to most people in this area, but if you haven't met him I encourage you to stop in and meet him. His old friends will, of course, want to stop in and wish him well.

Chamber of Commerce holds meet to discuss retail ideas for Morton

A meeting of employees of various businesses was held Tuesday night to get their ideas on retailing in Morton.

Eighteen employees attended the meeting sponsored by the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce. All aspects of retail promotion in the city were discussed.

Majority of the discussion centered around basic improvements of the businesses and very little time was given to specific promotions according to Johnny Johnson, Chamber manager.

On specific suggestion for making the town appear more active was to light all windows in the stores around the square.

In regard to the meeting, Johnson commented, "From the discussion we have seen the need to have training sessions conducted by experts for management and employees."

Johnson expressed hope that a

Coach Jones reported that freshmen are invited to report Monday also, and if enough first-year men turn out they will begin practice with the varsity squad. However, if only a few show up Monday, the frosh will wait until school starts before getting underway.

Jones said that search for an assistant coach to replace Kirby Lackey, whose recent resignation left the staff one short, is still going on, but that it is pretty late in the year to be hunting this type of personnel.

Working with Jones this year as assistants will be Dave Corley and Ted Whillock, both of whom have been on the staff for several years, and Fred Weaver, who is returning to Morton after two years at Slaton. Weaver was in the local system in the year 1961-62.

MORTON, TEXAS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1964

Milestone in Morton's progress

Passage of the $280,000 bond election in the city Saturday is another milestone in the effort to provide better and more efficient facilities for the citizens of Morton.

The three programs to upgrade the sewer, gas and water-works system were needed in order to provide for the present and future growth of the city.

New industry as well as new single families seek out communities which provide adequate services and facilities for their use. The action taken by the voters Saturday is another indication of the progressive ideas possessed by the citizens and civic leaders of Morton. The support given to the measures by the City Council and the board of directors of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce was proof of their concern for the continued growth of the city.

In the coming days all citizens, both those who voted yea and nay, will begin to receive benefits from the action taken Saturday by some 168 voters. Each is to be congratulated for their part in making Morton a better place in which to live.

Youth center requires action

The deadline for taking action on a youth center for Morton and surrounding communities is drawing near.

An offer of facilities has been graciously made by the American Legion. There is undoubtedly enough adult support to make the organization a reality.

The burden of responsibility now lies on the youth. It is now time for them to organize themselves into an effective body in order to have action taken on the matter.

A center such as this is not handed out on a silver platter to the youth of a community. It requires hard work, initiative and responsibility on the part of the younger set. Talk and discussion of an organization such as this is only the first short step. Action is required to further the cause.

If the youth of the community truly need and want a center, now is the time to act.

Freedom of the Press aided

Something recently said by the Boonville, Indiana, Standard should be remembered.

"One of the most important by-products of advertising is the American concept of freedom of the press.

"Freedom of the press as it is conceived in the English-speaking world derives financial support from advertising. . .

"From the time of the American revolution until approximately 1830 American journalism was represented by a profusion of small highly biased political sheets. . . However, when expanding business firms recognized the need for reaching a new public through advertising, publishers found a neutral and variegated source of support which made them independent.

"Indeed, advertising made it imperative that the newspapers should think in terms of serving the whole public. . .

"As government has become more complex, as law and rule by bureaus and agencies have burgeoned, there is more than ever a need for a press free from control of political interests.

"Such a press exists only where advertising support has made it possible for a publication to serve the whole public without fear or favor."

"Whatever shortcomings advertising may occasionally be guilty of, its virtues as a supporter of a free press overwhelmingly outweigh them."

IT NEVER FAILS

VIEWS . . . of other editors

"To bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow and his orphan. . ." When Lincoln spoke, the war between the states was over, federal law was established throughout the land, and a terrible readjustment for the South was in prospect.

There are certain parallels today. A subsequent test of strength has taken place and another great change has begun to come about in the South. This was a conflict by means short of war, and for that reason less decisive and the changes longer drawn out.

There are broken hearts on both sides although physical violence fell but on one. And just as before, all parties will have to live with each other somehow and there are great dangers as well as great opportunities ahead.

It was midway between the closure vote in the Senate, which made the civil-rights bill inevitable and passage of that bill, that three civil-rights workers were murdered in Philadelphia, Mississippi.

This was a turning point. President Johnson felt justified in ordering the FBI at once into the case and in massively enlarging the FBI contingent in Mississippi. Later he expanded the office of the Justice Department. Its lawyers are to follow up with the slower but ultimately more decisive application of the Civil Rights Law. They will deal with voter registration, desegregation of schools and discrimination in job employment and civil rights generally. In the case of public accommodations, voluntary compliance has mercifully opened the first doors.

As a result of the murders and the context in which they took place the law of the United States supplanted the law of the State of Mississippi in racial matters. It is now being progressively applied and almost everyone, for or against, begins to recognize that the change is irreversible.

It was the prime object of the Summer Project of northern students and civil-rights workers in Mississippi to bring this about. It was what so many Southern whites so deeply felt was undesirable and premature and what they worked so hard to prevent. But it is here.

Lincoln's work of pacification was cut off by an assassin; his "malice toward none and charity for all" neglected. It must not happen this time. Once the new system of equality of opportunity spreads further, the immense problems of social readjustment, of education and job training, of responsibility on the Negro's part commensurate with his new position in the community, will loom equally large and will require — imperatively require — collaboration of Negro and white.

Christian Science Monitor

The Congress of the United States reconvened on July 20. The House of Representatives will take up the "War on Poverty" (HR 11377) which the Rules Committee has scheduled for early consideration. This bill should be classified as morally wrong by all thinking Americans.

The United States of America was founded by individuals who migrated to this continent in an effort to remove the shackles of excessive government and secure for themselves and their descendants the privilege of reaping a just reward for initiative, the use of talent, ability and energy in the pursuit of their freely chosen endeavors.

In the past, poverty was the fearful ghost which caused the individual to practice thrift and accumulate savings for the "rainy days" and inadequate capacities brought on by advancing age. Conditions were sometimes trying and difficult, but the individual remained free. These difficulties have been known to build character and sinew in a man. He became self-reliant, independent, and thus solved his own problems.

Under this program allocating $62.5 million, all American families with less than $3,000.00 income per annum live in a state of poverty. What our country has failed to realize is that without government aid this figure is higher than the median income of almost every other country on earth. In England the median income is $2,500, in European countries it ranges from $2,700 to $3,500, in Russia, $2,500, and in most countries of the world less than $1,000.

These countries have had dictatorial governments in their histories or still exist under this kind of rule. Now we propose to set up a program of bureaus which will make millions of Americans directly reliable to the government, thus stifling any individual initiative they might have.

Over thirty years ago the government entered this field of war on poverty and this new effort is designed purely to give the government more power. In 1960 the government had overall expenditures of $51.8 billion in welfare programs. These included social insurance, unemployment insurance, welfare expenditures, hospital and medical expenditures, veteran programs. Today there are more than 7,000,000 individuals receiving relief checks. Some 8,400,000 persons get free food from the government.

This is occurring during a time of prosperity when those who will work most fast to get the bill. What will be the answer if we have a great depression and most of our citizens have to live off the tax someone else pays? If thousands should lose their jobs, who then can hope to be able to shoulder the burden?

Under the public accommodations section of the new Civil Rights Law, we're told, cafes and soda fountains, hotels and motels are almost compelled to serve any Negro. They do not necessarily have to serve a white man.

With his new-found freedom, the Negro in the Northeast is riding high in the saddle. He doesn't even think he should be arrested for law violation. The New York City riots were started because a policeman killed a young Negro man attacking him with a switchblade knife. The Rochester riots started when police simply tried to arrest a roudy at a street dance. Sunday night, a riot was started in Jersey City when police arrested a Negro woman on a charge of drunkenness. Fortunately the Negroes of our area are exercising better judgment.

Lynn County News

"Hello Mr. President." The amenities, "Glad to see you Barry." Hand shaking and back patting. "You sorta tore hell out of me in the press conference, just now, Mr. President." Chuckles.

But they did talk about something important. Both men and the entire nation are beginning to realize that something must be done about the cost of political campaigns. "Mr. President, we ought to delay the start of this campaign for a few days at least."

The campaign will cost about a half million dollars a day, so they quickly came to an agreement. The amenities again, and sixteen minutes are shot. Barry slipped out the back door to avoid the press. Funny way for a candidate for office to act.

Of course, the Mirror was not present at this meeting, so this is a complete concoction. Even if we had been present, Barry would have claimed we had misinterpreted his statements.

Gonna be an interesting few weeks coming, and very important to the future of this nation. Middletown Mirror

Never before in the history of the world has a race had access to the mobility found in our nation. An average child will have traveled farther before entering school than his great grandfather traveled in his entire lifetime. The automobile, without question, has affected more lives than any other invention. The cynic would probably ponder: "How many of the miles are necessary?"

Matador Tribune

There's no shortage of theories about the nature of the so-called cold war and what it will take for the free world to win it. But a little story told by Conrad Fink, Associated Press writer provides what probably would be the best backdrop for consideration of the entire subject.

A 24-year-old South Korean farmer, so the story goes, was being interviewed on the subject of his own and his country's future. The young farmer had just given a rundown of the current situation. He was trying to grub out a meager living on worn out land. His children were sick and he could not afford to obtain for them even the inadequate medical care available in this scientifically backward nation. Besides, he was burdened under a load of debt from which a lifetime of backbreaking toil would probably not relieve him.

Reflecting on his present situation, he realized it was the same as his father's had been in the past. And, as he looked into the future, he could see only more of the same.

As despair at last overcame him, Mr. Fink related, the young South Korean muttered, "I don't know what'll do," bowed his head and wept.

The United States must attempt to prevent armed Communist aggression. It must make every effort to check Red guerrilla activity, infiltration and other tactics for boring within, stirring unrest and causing the overthrow of stable non-Communist governments.

But, if it is to emerge victorious in this fight to the death with the Red slave system, its ultimate objective must be the destruction of the stuff on which communism feeds — the misery and despair shared by millions of persons like the South Korean farmer.

This doesn't mean that America's wealth and power should be squandered in a reckless, frantic effort to feed the world. This is a job that will require every ounce of the knowledge and wisdom that the nation can muster.

Americans may or may not be motivated by compassion to act as their brothers' keepers. It would be far better if they were. But the point has now been reached where the basic instinct of self-preservation must be regarded as an important element in their desire to help others out of the slough of stagnation and poverty.

Group notes race harmony

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas' progress in the field of race relations was commended by visiting federal officials here to discuss aspects of the new Civil Rights Law.

Gov. John Connally met briefly with Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges; former Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins, director of the new Community Relations Service; and former Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee.

Session was one of a series to be conducted with governors in all states at the request of President Johnson to discuss the Community Relations Service operation. Agency will provide conciliation service at the state and local level to resolve discrimination disputes.

Governor Connally predicted Texas will continue to move forward without outside help.

Meanwhile, Texas School Boards Association warned that action on the part of segregated schools between now and Labor Day may determine their continued eligibility for federal funds.

According to Department of Health, Education and Welfare officials on the Civil Rights Law, all the answers won't be known until new regulations are drawn late this month.

But the law has been interpreted as banning federal aid to segregated facilities.

Texas schools now get about $30,000,000 a year in federal money for such programs as the national defense education act, vocational education, school lunch and milk program and aid to districts where federal installations bring in a large number of pupils.

HEW personnel indicate "tentative procedures for enforcement of Title VI (of the Civil Rights Law) will require assurance from local school boards of compliance or intention to comply before federal funds will be awarded."

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Governor Connally selected Pat Taggart of Waco, president of Newspaper, Inc., as a member of Texas State Historical Survey Committee to succeed Sam Privitt of Childress for an unexpired term extending until January 1.

New members of the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners are Miss Hedwig Pustejovsky of Houston, Mrs. Jimmie L. Morrison of Hico and Mrs. Naomi Younger of Levelland. Their terms extend until September 7, 1969.

Dr. J. A. Barrington of Wichita Falls and Dr. Claude Willey of El Paso were named to six-year terms on the State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners. They succeed Dr. John McCoy of Paris and Dr. Edward Dwell of Alice.

Kirby Hillin of Dallas and Virgil A. Walston of Houston succeed W. J. Burkhardt of Dallas and Kenneth Nelson of Diboll to six-year terms on the State Board of Registration for Public Surveyors.

Allen Seagriff, community coordinator for Texas Industrial Commission, has accepted a job as executive director of Texas Historical Foundation. Larry Milner, San Angelo, will take over Seagriff's duties with the Industrial Commission on August 15.

LOBBYISTS — Texas legislators who have been the target of many lobbyists, have turned lobbyists themselves.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Speaker Byron Tunnell and Sen. George Moffett, chairman of the Legislative Council's redistricting committee, have been lobbying in Washington for passage of federal laws to clarify the congressional and legislative redistricting situation.

Moffett wants Congress to say that a state may have as much as 15 per cent variation from the average population in its Congressional districts. He and Smith also spoke in favor of the proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution which would allow the states to set up one house of their Legislatures on a basis other than population.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINIONS — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr has ruled that:

A county commissioners court may decide whether or not it shall appoint county hospital managers with overlapping terms;

A county attorney has the duty of filing suits for foreclosure of the State's lien for delinquent inheritance taxes;

District courts in that county have jurisdiction of these suits even in those instances in which property formerly belonging to a decedent is not within the county, so long as it is within the jurisdiction of this state.

PANHANDLE SALT WATER HEARING CONTINUED — Oil industry representatives urged the Texas Water Pollution Control Board not to outlaw the use of open, unlined earthen pits for the disposal of oil field salt water in Dallam, Lipscomb, Hempill, Potter and Oldham counties.

Board held the third in a series of hearings to explore the problem in a 48-county area which overlies the Ogallala water formation. Oil engineers testified disposal of oil field brine into unlined pits in the five panhandle counties named is "very minor". By Janu-

Cigarette taxes continue to increase — to $8,400,000 in June, a jump of $317,942 over the previous month—according to State Comptroller's office.

Thirteen citizens' task forces met here to work on various aspects of a Texas plan for community mental health programs.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sailer refused to consider the sale of 10 tracts of school land in Bandera County, explaining that he thought his own staff had set the values too low.

Attorney General Carr announced the recovery of $52,425 against two defendants charged with operating slanted oil wells, making a total of $800,270 in judgments which have been returned against slant hole drillers and operators.

Texas Education Agency has formally requested of federal authorities the establishment of a multi-million-dollar residential vocational education school at Gary Army Airfield, San Marcos.

Governor Connally will tour northern Mexico states bordering Texas on August 15-18.

University of Texas' Bureau of Business Research reveals that its seasonally-adjusted index of business activity in Texas for June, 1963, level, marking the 41st month in an upward swing that rivals the 45-month expansion record set between October, 1946, and July, 1953.

Tourist attendance of 16 million Texas attractions have served 100,000 this year, up 15 per cent over the first six months of 1962, and will get better during the second half of the year, Texas Tourist Development Agency predicts.

Bowl participants lead off Texas Tech slate

LUBBOCK — Three bowl participants lead off Texas Tech's home football schedule this fall.

First three foes in Jones Stadium for Coach J. T. King's Red Raiders are Mississippi State, the Liberty Bowl winner; University of Texas, the Cotton Bowl champion; and Southern Methodist, nudged by a touchdown in the Nip Bowl. Completing the six-game home card are West Texas State, Washington State, and University of Arkansas.

Road contests are with Texas A&M, Texas Christian, Baylor, and Rice.

Mississippi State opens the home slate at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 19. Wade Walker, former Texas Tech assistant coach, is MSU athletic director, and Vic Spooner, who played end for Tech, is an assistant coach there.

Texas, gunning for another national championship, will be met in night game a week later, Sept. 26.

Three successive road games are interspersed before Southern Methodist engages the Red Raiders in a contest climaxing Dad's Day the night of Oct. 24.

Following a regionally televised game with Rice, the Red Raiders return for a three-game home stand winding up the season. First comes the Raiders' oldest rival, West Texas State at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 7. Washington State of the AAUW, whose Cougars first met the Raiders last fall, plays Texas Tech in the initial day game of the home schedule at 2 p.m. Nov. 14. Arkansas will furnish opposi-

State requires license for hunting and fishing

AUSTIN—The new hunting and fishing licenses required for the state fiscal year beginning September 1 should be in the hands of dealers by August 14 it was announced by J. Weldon Watson, executive director for the Parks and Wildlife Department.

He said they will be ready in ample time — 2,350,000 licenses for hunting and fishing and for assorted commercial fishing uses. Approximately 2,800 official deputies handle the licenses which are available generally where sporting goods are available and at departmental offices.

All persons 17 years and under and 65 and over are exempt from the regular hunting and fishing licenses but they need to get a regular exempt license if they hunt deer or turkey. Hunting licenses cost $3.15 and fishing licenses cost $2.15.

The only new provision in the licenses is that persons obtaining exempt licenses for hunting deer or turkey on their own land where they actually reside must present an affidavit along with their application. "In other words," said Watson, "just the mere verbal statement that they will hunt on their own land of residence is no longer adequate."

Watson said for the fiscal year ending August 31 the total hunting and fishing licenses issued show an increase of about 25,000 over the preceding year.

Revenues from the combined licenses approximate $3,000,000 annually. The money is used to finance wildlife restoration, law enforcement, administrative functions
and other activities.

Fees for the forty-eight different kinds of licenses sold range from fifty cents for exempt doe licenses in Eastland County to $200 for both non-resident trappers licenses and wholesale fish dealers.

Watson cautioned sportsmen
that their old licenses are not valid after August 31 "under any circumstances".

Fall cotton prices hard to estimate

LUBBOCK — Answering the question, "What will the price of High Plains cotton be this Fall?"
is a pretty tough assignment. Market prices are always uncertain, and even calculating the coming crop's loan value poses a problem so long as the all-important element of quality remains an unknown factor. And, the price picture is further complicated this year by the new micronaire premiums and discounts incorporated into loan values.

Since it is impossible to know
in advance what this Fall's cotton quality will be, about the best that can be done is to apply 1964 loan prices to the qualities produced in a previous year, say 1963. An estimate reached in this way could only be grossly inaccurate if the area experienced a wide difference in cotton quality from the two years, which is not very likely.

The 15 most predominant qualities in the 1963 crop made up 81.1 percent of the total, and since these qualities fell more or less in the middle range of all bales,
we can consider them fairly representative. By figuring the weighted average price, using 1963 qualities and 1964 loan values, we came up with an "average" loan price of 26.9 cents per pound.
Again, this assumes that the 1964 crop will fall approximately into the same quality ranges as 1963 cotton. It also ignores the effect of micronaire discounts which will be applied to the loan for the first time this year. Both these facts will need to be taken into consideration by any producer setting out to guess the price he might receive for his own crop.

Norman Sloan, Market News
Supervisor for the Lubbock Cotton Classifying Office, says that it is now the consensus in the trade that marketable cotton qualities from this area will sell at from 50 to 100 points over the loan this Fall.

Bob Poteet, Executive Secretary of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange, has observed that, "while not much information on market values applicable to High Plains cotton is yet available, we are gradually seeing some indication that more of the 1964 crop will move into the market than in the past two years." He also reports that to-date he has heard of no "contracting," and that there have been few if any forward sales for future delivery of Plains cotton chiefly because of uncertainty about future government cotton policy regarding surplus stocks

and PIK certificates.

Poteet went on to point out that the area's short staple will still be an adverse factor in the sale of our cotton, but that our light spots are normally in greater demand than the same type cotton from some other areas. In a slight oversimplification, and in what almost amounts to a tongue-twister, he explained that "our light spots have lighter spots than the spots on light spots grown in most other areas," which merely means that light spotted cotton from the High Plains usually spins into more acceptable yarns.

While it provides no immediate prospect for price relief to farmers, there is good reason to believe that more of the area's
"low mike" cotton may be sold on the market this year, and this fact should be in the long run prove helpful. Mills have for years discounted the price of some bales with micronaire readings between 2.7 (below which was classed was-ty) and 3.3, the "tenderable" limit. And, since the loan made no allowance for this up until this year, some of this cotton was au-tomatically forced into the loan.
It remains to be seen whether the micronaire discounts assigned by the loan actually reflect the reduced value of the cotton, or whether the trade will buy above
the loan discount.

The price received by the farmer, then, will be about 2.5 cents per pound less than the 1963
price for the qualities he produces, minus whatever discount his cotton suffers from low micronaire readings, plus any premium that mills may be willing to pay over the loan value.

On the other hand, mills will be buying cotton at a much lower level. The price to mills will be the amount paid to the farmer, less the 6.5 cent PIK, or about 9 cents per pound less than in 1963 on cotton not discounted for micronaire. This will provide the surpreme test for the theory that price is the answer to all of the cotton industry's ills. And, looking at the long range picture, if this reduced price to the farmer will bring cotton firmly back into the competitive fiber market and enable it to show gains, it should be worth it.

Beauty for the asking

By Inez Swicegood, Beauty Consultant
MERLE NORMAN COSMETICS STUDIO

By midsummer, most beauty columnists are full of advice on how to correct the damage that sun and heat have done to your hair.

If you've let your hair get brittle and unmanageable, by all means do everything you can to correct it.

But, why let summer wreak such havoc when you can keep your crowning glory in perfect condition all summer long? Here's the way to do it.

First, of course, comes scrupulous cleanliness — frequent shampooing, and daily brushing. Be sure to rinse your hair after a day at the beach. Sand is definitely not recommended as a hair and scalp conditioner.

But there are two jewel-like products which almost guarantee beautiful hair regardless of weather — a golden liquid shampoo especially formulated for dry hair and a pearly cream rinse.

The shampoo not only makes your hair squeaking clean, but has a special normalizing action to retain those so-essential natural oils in your hair, even if you tint.

You can count on this shampoo to leave your hair glowing with highlights. Follow your shampoo with the white pearly cream rinse to make your hair extra-manageable and lend real silkiness to every strand.

Take these twin hair-jewels along on vacation weekends. Their pretty plastic containers are unbreakable.

And please don't forget the shape and sheen control of a good gentle hair spray. A word of warning is necessary here. Watch out for lacquer sprays. Lacquer tends to leave a dulling sticky residue which can defeat the whole purpose of your careful hair regime.

By all means, be well-groomed at all times, from top to toe. However, to be extra sure you're as pretty as you can be, please do phone me, or write to me, care of this newspaper, and let me treat you to a free hour of beauty and a complimentary make-up.

Take advantage of beauty for the asking.
