Rental committee appointed

Chamber of Commerce President T. E. Lynch recently appointed a committee to study the possibility of obtaining additional rental units for Morton.

Co-chairmen of the committee are Ray Lanier and Rusty Reeder. Committeemen include Sidney Saverance, Roy Weekes, and Mrs. Art Wall. Members ex officio are Don Workman, of the Chamber's Industrial Committee; and Roy Gentry and Van Greene of the Chamber's Area and Community Development Committee.

The committee will meet at the regular chamber session Monday to set up plans in detail. The group intends to ascertain how other cities in West Texas have alleviated the rental property problem, and will offer suggestions to the chamber board describing what it believes to be the best solution to the rental shortage in Morton.

This project was named by the chamber as "number project for 1965." Two- and three-bedroom homes that are not prohibitive in rent are the primary subject of the committee's investigation. The project was suggested by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in its report following the Community

Progress Forum conducted by that organization last September. Adequate housing was suggested 33 times on lists regarding what the Chamber of Commerce could do to improve the community.

Modern math classes scheduled for teachers

Courses in modern mathematics will be taught to teachers and other interested adults in Morton if plans being made now materialize.

In an attempt to keep pace with changes in mathematic terminology, Morton schools began a revision of mathematics books by introducing new books to high school last year. This year books featuring the new terminology and what is termed "a new way of presenting it to the students," have been initiated at the junior high school. Next year, there are plans to continue the expansion of the new approach in elementary schools.

Special instruction courses being planned now will allow adults to catch up on their mathematic understanding too. A teacher from South Plains College in Levelland will teach the modern math course which will meet once a week for ten sessions.

One class for teachers and another for other adults will be conducted, because teachers need a different emphasis. The math workshop for teachers will hold its first session Monday, February 8. While registration has not been completed, it is believed that about 20 teachers from Morton schools will register for the class which will meet for ten Mondays. The time for the meetings has not yet been established, but one suggested time was 7:30 p.m. No meeting place has been established yet.

Details of the non-teacher adult class have not yet been arranged, but it is believed that it will follow a pattern similar to that of the class for teachers.

Morton School Superintendent Ray Lanier said the newer mathematics approach used in the text books of the schools here is not radically different from the older, more familiar version of mathematics. The primary differences, he said, are that the new courses use a changed terminology and a "more meaningful presentation."

Compared to many sets of text books, the ones chosen for Morton's schools were moderate in change from the older mathematics. "We didn't choose the most radical," Lanier said. He added that the set chosen should make the job of teaching easier in the long run.

Details of the course will be announced later.

Superintendent Harrell Holder said this action prevents the possibility of a bond election "in the near future," but urged patrons of the Three-Way Independent School District pay their poll taxes "so they will have the opportunity to express their desires if such an election should occur." Holder said poll tax receipts may be obtained at the Three-Way School Business Office.

Brownlow to take pharmacist post at Morton Drug

Clyde Brownlow, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brownlow of Morton recently announced his intention to accept a position as full-time pharmacist and assistant manager at Morton Drug Store, 118 Southwest 1st St., beginning there about Feb. 1.

Brownlow has been attending the school of pharmacy at the University of Texas in Austin for the past three and one-half years. He and his wife, Mary Lee Brownlow, formerly Mary Lee Ledbetter, and their two-month-old daughter, Amy, will live at the Noel Crow farm about three miles east of Morton.

The pharmacist was recently initiated to Rho Chi, an honorary fraternity for senior students which requires nearly all A grades for admission. But honors are not new to Brownlow who received the Bar-on Drug Scholarship this year and has been on the dean's list for academic honor every semester. He had attended the University of Texas. He earned a basketball scholarship when he attended South Plains College in Levelland before entering the University of Texas, and more recently was granted a scholarship from the Pharmacists, an organization of pharmacists' wives of which his wife is a member.

Working at Morton Drug Store will not be new to Brownlow. He worked there summers to accumulate the 1,000 hours of experience required of potential pharmacists at the University of Texas.

Brownlow is now finishing his

Fund drive for MOD will reach climax soon

Morton's March of Dimes campaign has met with some success and several setbacks to the initial portion of its program this year. Cake auctions and coffee sale donations by several restaurants have netted significant amounts of money, and coffee parties sponsored by study clubs have been successful.

Cake sales over radio station KRAN have been the most successful activity of the campaign to date. Enthusiastic bidders telephoned bids on cakes, cookies and other sweets that brought more than $600 to the on-the-air auction.

But circumstances for other fund-raising activities were not so fortunate. A Boy Scout roadblock first planned for Saturday, Jan. 23, was delayed until next Saturday, Jan. 30, because of strong winds and blowing sand. Scout master Murray Crone said the roadblocks will be in operation between 2 o'clock p.m. and 4 o'clock p.m. next Saturday. Highways 116 and 214 will be the scene of the roadblock where Scouts will solicit funds from motorists.

Finance committee appointed for stock show in February

Cochran County Livestock Improvement Association Tuesday night appointed a finance committee for a livestock show to be held Feb. 25, 26, and 27.

The finance committee was divided into six parts, one to raise funds in each of the following towns — Morton, Bledsoe, Whiteface, Levelland, and Maple. Another committee was appointed to work with area businesses not in those towns.

Chairman of the sub-committee for Morton is Jug Hill. Other chairmen and their towns are Jim Johnson, Maple; Clyde McCormick, Bledsoe; Sid Saverance, Levelland; Dan Keith, Whiteface; and Don Workman, other area contributions.

Committees will begin taking up collections that they hope will amount to $1,500. Of this, $1,200 will be used for prize and sale money, and the other $300 will be used to cover expenses for the show.

Explosion injures fourteen-year-old

Lamell Abbe, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Abbe, 602 Grant Avenue, is recuperating from stomach, chest, face, arms, and eye injuries incurred Friday, Jan. 22, from a blasting powder explosion in his back yard.

Abbe was taken to Morton Memorial Hospital by family friend, Rusty Reeder, and then taken by ambulance to Saint Mary's Hospital in Lubbock.

Abbe told reporters he was experimenting with a blasting powder made of sodium chloride, sugar, and charcoal which he had placed in a cast iron pipe that was open at both ends. He had lit the powder and it had flared. Abbe said he waited about five minutes for the tube to cool and then placed more powder in the pipe. "I guess the pipe was still hot and touched off the powder as I poured it in," Abbe explained.

One young March of Dimes contributor understands both sides of the March of Dimes operation. She is a contributor this year, but she was once a recipient of March of Dimes aid.

Debbie Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Adams, Rt. 2, Morton, was born with a hole about the size of a half dollar in her heart. Open-heart surgery was required to correct this congenital birth defect if Debbie ever hoped to live a normal life.

In 1962 Debbie was taken to the Children's Medical Center in Dallas where Dr. Hugh E. Wilson performed the surgery she needed. Before the surgery, she weighed only 30 pounds. Now she weighs 48 pounds.

She is a spirited, smiling girl now, although she still takes medicine to stimulate her heart and help regulate the rhythm of the heartbeat. She is an active and charming little girl now.

Debbie is a member of the Busy Bluebirds who helped bake cakes and cookies for the March of Dimes cake auction.

She joins with campaign workers to urge the support of the MOD drive by county residents.

COOKIES, CAKES, and candy were contributed to this year's March of Dimes campaign by these third-grade Busy Bluebirds sponsored by the Town and Country Study Club. Their leader Mrs. Bobby Adams and assistant leader Mrs. E. L. Reader said

Air packs, hose for replacement to be purchased

Requests for additional fire-fighting equipment by Morton Fire Chief John D. Lackey were dramatically re-enforced Monday night when his presentation to the city council was interrupted by a fire siren calling volunteers to their truck.

After fighting a fire at the trailer-home of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Hodge whose house had been destroyed by fire only weeks before, Lackey and Fire Department President Thomas Woolam returned to the council meeting with their request for breathing devices which allow firemen to search out the source of a blaze through smoke without suffocating.

"We could have had that fire out in one-half the time with air packs," Lackey told the council.

The council asked Lackey to telephone the Lubbock Fire Department immediately to find out the price of the equipment. Following the call a motion authorizing the city secretary and the fire chief to buy three air packs and three extra bottles for them was unanimously approved. Councilmen also authorized the purchase of 250 feet of two-and-one-half-inch fire hose to replace hose that is no longer usable.

The need for a new fire truck was discussed, and it was decided to send a delegation to the Cochran County Commissioners Court at its next regular session to arrange for financial aid from the county for a truck to fight county fires.

Other business transacted by the council included the appointment of two city officers, hearing planning suggestions, discussion of a written personnel policy for city employees, and a decision to advertise for bids on two pick-up trucks for city utility departments, and the opening of bids for a tractor with a loader and back hoe.

E. L. "Rusty" Reeder, who was recently elected fire marshal by Morton's volunteer firemen, was appointed to that position by the

New farm loans plan announced for county area

A new program of small loans coupled with farm management assistance is now open to farm families with limited incomes in Cochran County, Marvin Elliott, county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration, said today. Elliott said farmers in Cochran County can participate in the program to develop higher returns from their farming operations.

Loans up to $2,500 are available to farm families with limited incomes who cannot qualify for financial assistance under regular loan programs of Farmers Home Administration or private lenders.

For rural families Opportunity loans are aimed at helping farm and rural families earn more income through their own enterprises, Elliott said.

Loans to farmers operating small, limited income farms may be used to purchase livestock, machinery and equipment, construct or repair farm buildings, pay annual operating expenses for seed, feed and fertilizer, refinance real estate debts and purchase land.

The loans may be used to buy shares in small cooperatives that serve rural people.

Loans are repayable over periods of up to 15 years. They carry an interest rate of 4 1/2 percent.

To qualify for loans to finance agricultural enterprises an applicant must be a farmer and have earnings that are too low to cover basic family living needs. In addition, he must be unable to obtain credit through other sources, including regular loan programs of the Farmers Home Administration.

Planning assistance Farmers Home Administration county supervisors will assist borrowers in planning farm operations and management of loan funds.

In addition to loans for farming,

The second band to play included the Morton High School musicians. It was directed by Gene Witherspoon, conductor of the Arkansas Technological College Band, and organized by Don Hayes of Littlefield High School.

Musicians from Morton who played with the All Region Concert Bands were Doug Cory, Larry Le Seigler, Patsy McClure, Rodney Kellogg, Randy DeBusk, Marlan Rose, Danna Allsup, and Curtis Jennings.

Residents urged to buy poll taxes before deadline

Potential voters in Cochran County during 1965 are likely to be few in number according to Leonard Groves county Tax-Assessor-Collector. As of Wednesday, Jan. 27, Groves estimated that only about 400 persons had paid the poll tax through his office.

The prerequisite for balloting in all state and local 1965 elections costs only $1.75 and can be bought at the county court house in Morton or in Whiteface from a sub-office.

Groves described the number of poll taxes paid this year as discouragingly low.

With only three days remaining until the deadline for paying the poll tax, Jan. 31, it seems likely that the number of persons qualified to vote here will remain discouragingly low.

The Women Democrats of Cochran County will convene Wednesday, February 3, at 8:00 p.m. at the Wig Wam Cafe for an important session. Everyone is invited to attend.

Maple's 1st fire crew officers to be elected

Firemen in Maple are finishing a fire truck for the twelve-man volunteer fire department recently organized there. Officers for the new fire crew will be elected Thursday, Jan. 28 at a meeting to be held at the Coffee Shop in Maple.

The fire truck unit is expected to be finished this week, having been operational for some time. Maple fireman Dutch Powell said the unit will consist of a 1965 one-ton Ford truck supplied at cost by McCoy Ford in Morton, and a removable fire kit that can be installed in minutes by four men. The new Maple fire truck unit is being assembled at Muleshoe under the direction of the Bailey County Fire Department, and will operate as a unit of that fire department, Powell said. The truck is a Maple Lions Club project.

The truck will be able to haul 400 gallons of water and will be equipped with a pump capable of pumping 250 gallons per minute. It will carry 32 feet of ladder, composed of two sixteen-foot-long folding ladders, 300 feet of hose, and the usual fire axes, shovels, pikes and wrecking bars. The new truck also can use a foam unit which can fill a room with flame smothering chemical, and carries three five-pound fire extinguishers.

Necessary spot lights, red flashing lights, and other safety equipment also have been attached to the truck.

Powell estimated that the new fire department will be able to operate in an area about 50 by 25 miles in area.

Maple's fire truck cost $3,400 which will be paid by contributions. Maple firemen have been soliciting funds for several days.

Suggestions for a city platting ordinance were made by city legal adviser Jimmy Walker. The suggestions were discussed and Walker was asked to draw up several copies of an ordinance to be examined at the next council meeting.

A personnel policy of several pages was read and discussed by the council. Regulations similar to those of most government agencies and business organizations were included in the policy.

Bids for two pick-up trucks, one for the gas department, and one for the water department, will be opened Feb. 22. City Secretary Elra Oden was authorized to advertise for bids on the trucks. Specifications call for one-half ton trucks with heavy duty clutches, heavy-duty springs, six-cylinder engines, three-speed standard transmissions, wide beds, short wheel-bases, oil baths and air cleaners. The council said they should both be white in keeping with a new policy of establishing a uniformity of color for city vehicles.

Bids for another city purchase, an industrial tractor with a back hoe and front-end-loader, were opened Monday. Ten bids ranging from $5,677.77 to $7,800 were received. But since not all of the bids in every respect, decision was delayed until councilmen can have a data sheet made which will compare price and specifications of each machine.

Marks calf champion of Whiteface FFA show

One of four calves entered by Edward Marks in a Whiteface Future Farmers of America livestock show at the Alamo Gin near Whiteface Saturday, Jan. 24, was named Grand Champion. The 910-pound calf placed first in the heavy calf division, and was chosen over the light calf division first-place winner as grand champion of the show.

Light calf division champion was an 835-pound calf belonging to Mack Ashmore.

Despite high winds and blowing sands, nine calves were entered in the show. The entries weighed from a minimum of 655 pounds to a maximum of 1,190 pounds. Five animals were entered in the light calf division, and four were entered in the heavy calf division.

Heavy calves included the champion belonging to Marks; a calf weighing 1,030 pounds, also owned by Marks; a 900-pound calf belonging to Darrell Kitchens; and Robert Pond's calf weighing 1,190 pounds.

Judging was done by Dan Keith, a member of Whiteface Young Farmers. Keith said most of the calves in this show will be in better condition for future shows as a result of more feeding and grooming.

FFA members at the show received instruction in show techniques from Wendell Dunlap, leader of the Whiteface FFA. He demonstrated the use of show sticks, how to lead cattle, and how to set their feet. Dunlap estimated that 25 to 35 percent of a judge's decision is based on showmanship.

"Religion in life" is 1936 Study Club topic

"Religion — A Facet of Spiritual Life" was the theme of the program when 1936 Study Club met in the home of Mrs. E. L. Willis last Wednesday. Mrs. M. C. Ledbetter presided.

Club members discussed writing to the State Representative and State Senator expressing wishes, as individuals, concerning the recent bill introduced to sell liquor by the drink.

Mrs. Kenneth Thompson reported on the workshop held in Lubbock January 16th.

A program on "Religion in American Life" was presented by Mrs. Glenn Thompson. She said the Pilgrims in Massachusetts established the Congregational Church and New Jersey granted religious freedom to all Christians. Maryland had both Catholicism and Protestantism. In Pennsylvania, William Penn established the Quakers. The Puritans, desiring their ministers to be educated, she claimed, started the Episcopal Church, and founded Harvard University. It was then the Puritans became dissatisfied. They no longer controlled the thinking of the New England States. Other churches were then organized.

When Stephen F. Austin first settled in Texas, the people brought in were supposed to be Catholics. Although many signed up as such, they worshiped as they pleased.

She gave statistics showing the more educated people are, the better they attend church. Women participate more than men.

Many people feel that faith is the greatest need of the world today. We need faith in the goodness and integrity of our fellow men, faith in the ideals and future of our country, and above all, faith in our God, Mrs. Thompson said. Contributions were sent to Headquarters for Endowment.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames: Neal Rose, C. E. Luper, M. C. Ledbetter, Hame Russell, C. H. Silvers, Kenneth Thompson, James St. Clair, Joe Nicewarner, H. B. King, Joe Gipson and Glenn Thompson.

Observation wells to be measured during January

Annual water level measurements of 59 High Plains Underground Water Conservation District observation wells in Cochran County will be taken this month by the High Plains District and the Texas Water Commission.

Measurements are taken in January because the wells are allowed to rest after heavy summer irrigation and because personnel is more available in January.

More than 1,700 wells are to be measured in a 39-county area. Persons interested in measurements in Cochran County or all the counties within the High Plains Water District can obtain a record of these measurements for the past several years through his local County Water District Office.

Take a Second Look

On your first look, you may think that this little girl is riding a rocking horse, but look again. It is not a rocking horse but a little donkey.

About animals now, and children. Donkeys were one of the first animals to be tamed by man, and are gentle animals when they are not practicing the quality of being stubborn.

The quality of gentleness somehow reminds us of our Saviour, the Wonderful One.

Parents, teach your children about Jesus, who admonished us to let the little children come unto Him. Our Lord would remind us that the little ones are precious to the Father. We invite you to take the children to church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Part of booty from bar left behind by thieves

Thieves left behind part of their booty Friday night when they were apparently frightened away while carrying liquor cases from Jack's Bar.

Jack's Bar, a tavern near the Texas-New Mexico border widely known in Morton as the Blotted Goat, was entered through a door in the ceiling of a freight car connected to the building as a back room. Thieves carried 22 cases of beer and liquor about one-hundred feet to a barbed wire fence behind the tavern. There, four cases of whiskey were left when the burglars were apparently frightened away. They had already carried the other 18 cases valued at $539.54 to their vehicle which was parked beyond a rise in the land where it could not be seen from the bar.

Authorities believe the vehicle was hidden there so the proprietor who lives in another back room of the building would not be awakened by the noise of the vehicle.

New Mexico authorities are being aided in their investigation by the Cochran County Sheriff's office.

Indefensible compulsion

An announced goal of major labor unions is repeal of the section of the Taft-Hartley act which permits states, if they so wish, to pass right-to-work laws forbidding workers from being forced to join a union in order to keep a job. Some 20 states have done so.

This has brought an important observation by David Lawrence. In a recent column, he points out that the Supreme Court has upheld the principle of "freedom of association". But, there is an exception, "... when it comes to labor unions, the court has ruled that agreements between the employer and the union are voluntary. This isn't realistic, but it has enough legal support to permit the system of compulsory unionization to flourish."

The result, Mr. Lawrence goes on, is that "Freedom of association" goes by the boards, as does freedom of thought and freedom of belief, whenever economic force or governmental power is used to compel a man to join an organization against his will or forfeit his job."

Long ago, the "yellow dog" contracts, under which workers who joined unions were fired by employers, were outlawed and rightfully so. Unionism by coercion and compulsion is equally indefensible.

Keys to success

To the uninitiated, retailing probably looks like a fairly simple business. You just rent a location, lay in a stock of goods, and wait on the customers as they flock in. So it goes, you may think, year after year with little or no change.

The successful retailer views his business very differently. He knows that changes of many kinds are constantly occurring. And he knows that if he is to meet the competition and maintain his place in the economic sun, he must keep on top of them.

As an example of this, the National Association of Food Chains is spending $100,000 for a series of research projects. This work, which is to be supervised by Dr. Roger Grey of Stanford University's Food Research Institute, will cover: A review and appraisal of food industry statistics. A historical review of long term food industry trends. A study of the changing nature of retail competition. A study of the "concentration" theory as it applies to food retailing. An analysis of procurement practices by food retailers. A study of food retailing and economic power. A synthesis of the above, in the context of the world we live in. A review of food marketing literature.

There is certainly every reason why the food chain people should want this mass of information. Typical chains earn only a cent or so of profit on each dollar of sales. It is essential to their very survival that they operate with the maximum economy and efficiency in all the varied facets of the business—and, at the same time, please the fickle consumer. In food merchandising, as in all kinds of merchandising, knowledge and adaptability are essential keys to success.

Tribute to free enterprise

We've always been a nation of meat eaters. And we're eating more and more of this delectable food. That is the substance of a report from the chairman of the board of the American Meat Institute. Last year, total red meat consumption set a new record of nearly 174 pounds per capita, with beef accounting for more than 100 pounds.

The Institute spokesman commended the meat and livestock industry for its ability to produce the quality of meat products which is meeting such ready acceptance by the consumer. After pointing out that disposable income is expected to rise again this year, which means that the housewife will be able to continue to spend a smaller share of her budget for meat without decreasing the amount of meat her family eats, he said: "This is a tribute to the great American system of free enterprise under which the meat industry continues to produce more and better products at a cost that enables Americans to constantly improve their standard of living."

The meat industry, in all its ramifications, is something of an organizational miracle. Most of our livestock is raised west of the Mississippi, while most of the meat is consumed in the East. Vast distances are involved in getting the meat from the ranch to far-flung consumers. It is perishable and must be moved without delay. The demand for particular kinds of cuts of meat varies materially from region to region. It's a complex job, but it always gets done. And that's one reason why we're the best fed of the world's peoples.

VIEWS . . . of other editors

Another postal boost too much.

January and December are the big subscription months here at The Dispatch, with a very large slice of this newspaper's annual renewals being received over the two months' period.

Such checks are not only pleasant to receive — from the necessary monetary standpoint — but because the renewals indicate our readers like the paper and want to keep reading it.

Few subscribers to anything take the time and trouble to inform those who publish the publications they read that they like the paper or magazine. The publication chiefs mostly find out the degree of reader acceptance when subscription notices go out.

We are pleased to say that our renewal percentage is very high — up around 98 per cent we would guess. Usually if a subscriber has decided not to renew, we receive a detailed explanation, and almost always it has to do with moving away after a short stay in Post, or something on that order. The local or area residents who have lived here a number of years usually want the paper to follow them to their new homes wherever they go.

The Dispatch likes to "fight the good fight" against rising costs. In the last 15 years local subscription rates have been increased only 50 cents a year, if our memory serves us correct.

In the last seven years they haven't raised a penny. This hasn't been easy. Paper costs used to jump annually, but has leveled off the last few years and maybe one of these times might drop a little.

But postal rates haven't. The Dispatch is absorbing another postal rate hike effective Jan. 1. The government has been pushing it up a little at a time. We have taken one each year for the past three years — and the administration is now talking and planning another series of boosts to present to the new Congress.

Our newspaper trade paper tells us that second class mailing costs have increased exactly 122 per cent since 1950, as compared to a boost of "only" 62 2/3 per cent in first class mail. Your newspaper is mailed second class.

The problem, of course, is to try to erase the post office's annual deficit. This hasn't been done because each time they hike the rates, they also boost postal salaries, leaving the deficit approximately the same.

Along with the talk of a new rate boost from Washington is talk of another postal salary increase as well. So you know what to expect on the postal deficit.

Most salary increases in this modern age usually are coupled with increased efficiency. Apparently this doesn't work in the post office's case. If it did, an increase in mail volume would handle the cost of increased handling charges.

We don't know how much the American public can stand in this field, but The Dispatch can't stand too much more. If another rate hike comes, we'll have to have an increase in subscription rates to help catch us up to all the postal boosts we've absorbed in recent years without an outcry.

Post Dispatch

One small word

Something new has been added to the vocabulary of the Internal Revenue Service.

A recent notice sent out by the Austin district office to advise of an installment due on income tax contained the magic word "please" in two separate sentences.

"Please pay balance of tax due on or before the 15th of Feb., 1965. Please make remittance payable to — Internal Revenue Service — and mail with this copy of notice to district address shown above. Keep duplicate copy of notice for your records."

Why should simple good manners on the part of a government bureau to one of its bosses (a taxpayer) occasion an editorial of this length? Simply because all too often in the past such reminders are worded as a threat, with a mention of the penalty involved for failure to comply; and because those two simple little words make any American citizen feel a lot more like paying the obligation promptly and even a little bit cheerfully.

Very true that the two "pleases" won't put any money in the bank or reduce in any measure the work required to earn the profits to pay the tax, but they do make the actual act of payment a much pleasanter one.

We must commend the persons responsible for this change in approach to the tax collecting technique. Whether it is a result of national thinking or merely reflects their good taste and consideration on the part of the district collector or one of the clerks in the Austin office, our check for the amount due in February will be mailed a little earlier and in much better spirit as a result.

The accident rate

Do Americans really want to do something about the rate of death in automobile accidents? Some theorists have recently suggested that most of us accept it, or subconsciously even believe it to be our fate.

Much could be done about the killing of tens of thousands of Americans in automobile wrecks every year. But the death toll continues. Total deaths increase steadily, with the passing of the years.

If manufacturers would stress safety devices, instead of pick-up, power and speed, this would help. If better highways were built, this would also help. But there is no solution to the carnage unless people generally decide to do something about it.

And some psychologists suggest too many people accept the death rate on today's highways as one of the chances of life — such as heavy cigarette smoking. What is needed, it is said, is education and more constructive, positive thinking about the problem.

It is surprising how long some would wait before becoming seriously disturbed. It is estimated that approximately 40,000 died in automobile accidents in 1964, with injuries running into the hundreds of thousands!

Van Horn Advocate

For want of membership

Now is the time for all civic-minded Hondoans to come to the aid of our Chamber of Commerce.

A membership drive is now in full swing. This is not only to recruit new members but to renew the enthusiasm of the present membership. Two of the teams are in the field this week hard at work, competing for the honor of "getting there first with the most."

Survey of the early results indicates that there are those among us who are inclined to let-the-other-fellow do it. Membership rates vary, beginning with the individual members assessed at a minimum of $12 yearly.

In the business and professional categories, it is a matter of volunteer assessment. Each member, recognizing the value of the C of C to this city and the growth of business and industry, should be counted on to make contribution a generous one. Investment is a better word for that is what it represents precisely. Investment in the future of Hondo.

All the groundwork laid by the Chamber last year in its promotion of the Industrial Survey, in which the City also shared generously, requires the continued interest and cooperation of a responsible membership to support it. Plans to hire a full-time manager will materialize only if the appeal for the necessary funds succeeds, and an experienced manager is a must. On that we all seem agreed.

Some of our local firms recognize this and can be depended on to do the added mile. A few, unfortunately, feel that any "donation" is exactly that and they are apathetic to any appeal. The successful business that is willing to "get by" with a membership only slightly larger than that of the individual, needs to be reminded of the old saying, as true today as it was in the 17th century when George Herbert wrote it "For want of a nail, the shoe is lost . . ."

For want of the support of its citizens, Hondo and its C of C might lose the opportunity to make this a community of which we can all be proud, one in the building and maintaining of which we can feel that we have each had a share.

You who have thought of seeing how little you could get by on giving, think again and try instead to see how you can afford not to give more.

Hondo Anvil Herald

Living too little

We read a story the other day about a millionaire who tired of the rat race in a big city and quit. He and his wife bought a little cabin alongside a creek in the south, acquired an old pickup and an old car and settled down to fish and enjoy life.

None of the couple's neighbors are aware of their wealth. They live as they please, just fishing or resting or whatever they want.

The man says the decision to "retire" to a less cluttered existence has been the happiest one of his life.

They quit the accustomed way of life, he says, because they finally realized that most of the things they were doing didn't amount to much. They made money to buy things they didn't really need. They attended hosts of meetings that accomplished nothing. And in all this they were burning out their lives with no particular enjoyment except accumulation of material goods.

Now they are apparently resting on the creek bank, with no worries and no problems at all.

This is probably an overdrawn example of how to be happy. It appeals to those who are in the rat race, who seem never to have enough money left at the end of the month, who feel that somehow they are letting time race past without their even getting to know their children. The feel that the best years of their life are getting by and all they are getting are ulcers and heart trouble and various other aches and pains.

To this sort of person, the prospect of loafing on the creek bank is tantalizing to the extreme.

But we doubt if it is realistic. A person can go on a short trip to the creek or lake and fish and leave cars behind for a while. But after a while, unless you happen to be a member of the minority group known as millionaires, the economic facts of life have to be faced, and bill collectors are apt to seek out your hideaway

Highlights and Sidelights

Legislature gets underway

AUSTIN, Tex. — The 59th Legislature, faced with the heaviest work load in state lawmaking history, eased into its second week with some top Senators and Representatives on the absent list. A good many legislators took off for Washington to attend the inauguration of President Johnson.

These events highlighted the Legislature's opening week.

Rep. Ben Barnes of DeLeon was elected Speaker of the House by acclamation. He is the youngest speaker named since reconstruction days.

Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells was named president pro tempore of the Senate, to preside when Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is not present. In choosing Creighton, the Senators voted against tradition when they passed over Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, who was next on the seniority list. Schwartz has opposed closed door sessions.

A record $3,500,000,000 budget bill, calling for an increase of $97,300,000 in general revenue spending, was introduced in the Senate. Proposal calls for $567,300,000 general revenue spending, compared to $599,500,000 recommended by Gov. John Connally.

Lieutenant Governor Smith named full membership on 24 Senate standing committees. The Senate was thus organized and ready for business on the second day of the session.

In the House, Barnes — whose speakership campaign had to be conducted in a few days due to unexpected appointment of ex-Speaker Byron Tunnell to the Railroad Commission — conferred with members day and night in an effort to speed committee appointments there.

Representatives drew priority numbers for bills.

Both houses completed appointment of employees, other necessary routine and marked time before the big battles ahead.

Despite controversial decisions to be made on congressional and legislative redistricting, big finance and other matters, Smith and Barnes expressed confidence the Legislature can complete its work within 140 days. But some lawmakers weren't so sure.

BETTING BILL SHOWN — The battle over whether Texans are going to bet on horse racing has begun again. This time Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville is introducing the race track bill. Last session Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry of San Antonio couldn't get it through the Legislature.

Pipkin's bill would allow both Thoroughbred and Quarter Horse racing on licensed tracks. Also, the city, county, and state could collect taxes from the track operators. Before a track could be licensed in a county, voters in that county would have to call and approve a referendum.

The bill is backed by Texas Racing Association, which has raised more than $50,000 from some of the most prominent men in Texas ranching and business. Opposing the association will be a group of businessmen being organized by the Texas Council of Churches and the Texas Baptist General Convention.

Pipkin said the state would get $20,000,000 a year from a sliding tax of from four to six per cent on all bets and that the state would get millions more from increased tourism. One of the first men to speak in opposition, Rep. J. C. Whitefield of Houston, said, "The racing and gambling not only damage the moral fabric of our people, but that the revenues they bring in are more than offset by losses in other, more legitimate fields of commerce."

LIQUOR BILL — A Texas Restaurant Association bill which would make legal the selling of two-ounce bottles of liquor in licensed restaurants has been introduced.

Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg is handling it in the Senate and Rep. Willis J. Whately is in charge of it in the House.

The bill would permit customers to fix their own drinks from the small bottles of liquor. This would go part of the way for those people who like to buy their liquor by the drink. Church groups and others will oppose it.

REDISTRICTING PLANS — A

But even if you have the money to retire to the creek bank, does this make the average person happy?

We doubt it. While we might scoff and complain about having to work so hard, life without work is often tasteless and sometimes downright unpleasant.

Working in one's church, with various organizations, doing things in the community, do take time, and effort. But these things are satisfying to the individual who renders service to others.

The isolated life of a beachcomber or mountain hermit might have some appeal at first glance.

But even those who live by themselves have problems.

We think this story about the satisfied millionaire might just have some holes in it if we were able to talk for a while with that fellow.

Ochiltree County Herald

LOADED 'IN' BASKET

committee of the Texas Legislative Council, which is made up of representatives from both houses of the Legislature, has prepared two plans for congressional redistricting.

According to a Houston federal court order, the Legislature must redraw the present 23 districts so that their populations will vary no more than five per cent from the mathematical average of 416,508 and they must do the job by August 1.

Both plans would give South Texas a new congressman. They would have a district from Laredo to South San Antonio and from Del Rio to Zapata.

Also, both plans would put parts of Dallas, Tarrant and Bexar counties with other counties to equalize district populations. This reshuffling would require some current congressmen to run against each other if they want to be re-elected in 1966.

Some legislators said they liked the plans, but many said they did not like them and that they expect plans by individual members to be proposed as soon as introduction of bills begins.

TAX REVISIONS — Texas Commission on State and Local Tax Policy has suggested methods of obtaining $15,300,000 in new state revenue (per biennium) through a variety of tax revisions.

Commission said making sales tax applicable to telephone and telegraph service and other utility tax changes would pick up $11,200,000; modernizing the inheritance tax, $6,000,000; and removal of the sales tax exemption on farm machinery, $9,000,000.

But not all the Commission's recommendations would mean more revenue. Losses would come from repeal of the theater admissions tax, $1,200,000; repeal of the chain store tax, $7,200,000; and exemption from the production tax of gas used in field operations in the same field where it is produced, $2,500,000.

Main purpose of recommended changes is "to achieve greater equity in taxation and greater ease in administration and compliance," said the commissioner.

APPOINTMENTS — William E. Berger of Hondo was appointed by Governor Connally to a six-year term on the Texas Water Commission.

Berger replaces veteran H. A. Beckwith of Eagle Pass, whose term had expired in 1963. Beckwith was named chief topographic engineer of the Commission.

Connally appointed Rep. Joe N. Chapman of Sulphur Springs judge of the Eighth District Court of Hopkins, Rains, Delta and Hunt Counties, to replace the late Judge L. L. Bowman Jr.

Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Bishop and Brig. Gen. James D. Scott, both of Austin, were named to new terms as adjutant general and assistant adjutant general.

Connally reappointed W. A. Bond of Vernon, John R. (Dick) Fowler of Memphis and Col. John Anderson of Denison to the Reg River Authority Board and named William E. Rechmuth of Wichita Falls a new member of the Board.

Mayor Ted C. Connell of Killeen, a former national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was named to a four-year term on the Veterans Land Board.

R. C. Morgan of El Paso and Mrs. Bessie Heard of Houston were reappointed to the Credit Union Advisory Commission.

Governor named Wayland Rivers, Jr., of Austin and Miss Lois Gray of Fort Worth to the Board of Trustees, Teacher Retirement System; Dave Smith of Austin to Board of Trustees, Employees Retirement System; and P. C. Naylor Jr. of San Antonio and Harold Chapman to Texas Real Estate Commission.

Gen. Aubrey L. Moore of Hillsboro was appointed director-at-large of the Tri-County Water District, composed of Counties, succeeding Jack A. Cleburne.

SPECIAL ELECTIONS — Governor Connally has called special elections in representative districts 15f and 11 to fill unexpired terms of Byron Tunnell and Chapman.

Sixteen persons have filed the special elections to be held February 13 for District 15f. Those who have filed are 11 from Tyler, two from Kilgus, and one each from Flint, Garza, and Longview.

Nine candidates have filed representative from District 11. Three from Mt. Pleasant, one from Sulphur Springs, and each from Cumby, Mt. Vernon, Talco and Winsboro.

BUDGET PROPOSALS — A group of top legislators drafts the Legislature's special proposals, has said funds for Soil Conservation Board should be increased by $73,928 for the next two years, including $25,000 a year for watershed planning.

The increase for the Soil Conservation Board, which coordinates the program of the various soil conservation districts, also would include $11,000 for the Sherman Soil Conservation District, one of the last to organize.

The Legislators' budget proposals recommends that state mental hospital administrators' salaries be raised from $15,500 to $20,000.

Proposal also recommends employees in state mental hospitals get raises.

An alternate to Governor Connally's plan unifying higher education has been drawn by education.

Report calls for placing a state-supported four-year colleges or universities under master boards of regents chancellors. Texas Commission on Higher Education would be reduced from 15 to nine members given increased powers to apply individual course offerings at institutions.

Connally's plan calls for a central coordinating board for all universities and colleges supporting the state.

CARD OF THANKS
"Writing 'thank-you' notes just doesn't come easy for a boy. I guess it's because I can't find the words to tell you how much I appreciate everything done for me while I was in the hospital with an injured back. The words 'thank you' don't seem to say well enough how much I enjoyed the flowers, cards, food, visits, everything that was done for me, but maybe they'll give you an idea of how much the thoughtfulness of each of you meant to me. I'll just say them again, 'thank you', for everything and hope you know how much I mean it."

Between 50 and 60 completed registration forms were ready to be sent to the Department of Immigration and Naturalization from the Morton Post Office, Friday Jan. 15.

All aliens in the United States, with few exceptions, must report their addresses to the Immigration and Naturalization Service during January of each year. Failure to register may lead to "serious consequences."
The forms require such information as name, address, birth date, country or origin, occupation, employer, and type of activity in this country — resident, visitor, crewman, student, or exchange personnel.

MORTON, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1965

Union Officials Set For Power Play

A major test of the political power of the big union bosses will come in the 89th Congress on the issue of repeal of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. For some time the national union leaders have been sharpening their knives for an attack on 14(b), which has stood as a barrier against the extension of their compulsory membership power to every wage earner in America.

The section of the Taft-Hartley Act under attack affirms the authority of states to pass laws banning the type of union contract that forces every employee either to join and pay tribute to the union or else be fired from his job. Commonly known as Right to Work laws, such statutes are in effect in 20 states, and movements to enact similar legislation are under way in several other states.

After pouring millions of dollars derived from compulsory dues dollars into the last Congressional campaigns, the union bosses believe they are in a strong position to demand that the Congress eliminate Section 14(b)'s restraint on their power to force unwilling workers into the union fold. Their ambition is to destroy, in one fell swoop, the laws of 20 states guaranteeing worker freedom from union boss rule and curtail the growing voluntary unionism movement.

The union leaders are asking members of Congress, in return for union political support, to turn their backs on public opinion on the issue of voluntarism versus compulsion in labor unions. Public opinion polls, including those made by the unions themselves, show that the majority of the American people believe that no citizen should be forced to join a union in order to hold his job. A nationwide poll by Opinion Research Corporation in 1964 showed that 57% of the public believes in the voluntary unionism principle—a new high since the polls on this issue were started several years ago. The ORC poll also showed that a majority of union members, as well as the general public, believe that unions have grown large enough or are too large now.

Despite this tide of public opinion against them on the compulsory membership issue, the officials of the AFL-CIO have assigned number one legislative priority to repeal of 14(b) and have expressed confidence they can ram a repeal bill through a reluctant Congress by using the full force of their political "muscle." They, no doubt, are hoping the public will not awaken to the full implications of their power play until it is too late.

With the National Right to Work Committee taking the lead, the supporters of voluntary unionism are mobilizing their full forces for defense of Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. Thus the stage is set for what may be an historic battle in the 89th Congress for worker freedom from big union tyranny.

Whether the union bosses succeed in freeing themselves from any restraint on their compulsory membership power, or are stopped in their drive to bring more working men and women under their domination, depends upon the extent to which the American people speak out. If the people do not express their will on this issue to their representatives in the Congress, the fight for freedom could go by default. The threat is a serious one, and the time is now, if ever, for those who believe that union bosses must not be allowed to dictate the actions of Congress—as well as those of individual wage earners—to make their voices clearly heard in Washington.

Where Truth would help

Federal bureaucrats seeking to promote consumer support for elaborate new "truth in packaging" legislation are finding out that the great American homemaker knows how much of what she's getting for her money in the corner grocery or the supermarket—and doesn't want Uncle Rarranging the familiar labels.

But there is a place where the taxpayers would like to see some truth-in-packaging employed, and that is in the Bureau of the Budget—whose annual product is supposed to show what we are buying with the three months income taken from the average family for the support of Government.

Here is where the hand is quicker than the eye—as witness the fact that only twice in 13 years has the budget indicated more money for the Department of Agriculture, yet its spending has increased three-fold in this period! And since Congress traditionally authorizes less money than the budget calls for, it appears that our public servants are practicing economy—while the spending keeps mounting!

Of all the tricks in the budget bag, deliberate understatement of expense is most used—with the certain knowledge that supplemental appropriations will be needed and voted. A year ago, President Johnson boasted of cutting Agriculture's budget request by $1.3 billion. But there has already been a supplemental appropriation, and another is needed to get the Department through the fiscal year-end, June 30. Still, the public impression is one of massive saving—which just ain't so.

"Backdoor" spending, to make a budget look modest, takes many forms. It includes gimmicks to sidestep interest on Treasury

VIEWS . . . of other editors

Worth Big Salaries
One of the myths on the current American scene, and a myth that was used to justify the recent whopping pay raise for Congressmen, is the belief among Congressmen that its finest are worth at least four times their $30,000 legislative salaries and would be getting it if they weren't so dedicated to public service.

An article in the Wall Street Journal last week should go a long way toward exploding this myth. According to the Journal, there are a lot of ex-Congressmen hunting jobs now, having been defeated last fall, and thus far it appears that they are not worth as much in private industry as they were worth on the government payroll.

There are about 60 House members and four Senators who were "retired" by their constituents last fall. And except for former lawyers going back to home-town practice and a half dozen politicians returning to their land, the others are having a hard time finding a job paying anything like they are used to.

The very attribute that can most enhance a sitting Congressman's worth — seniority — is proving a handicap to some job seekers. On account of his age and the deferential treatment to which he's accustomed, the senior lawmaker has a tough time adjusting to other work, say Washington lobbyists, the privately employed group in closest touch with Congress.

One of the big questions among these replaced Congressmen is: "How much is an ex-Congressman worth?"

The answer seems to be: Not very much.

Keys to Success
To the uninitiated, retailing probably looks like a fairly simple business. You just rent a location, lay in a stock of goods, and wait on the customers as they flock in. So it comes, you may think, year after year with little or no change.

The successful retailer views his business very differently. He knows that changes of many kinds are constantly occurring. And he knows that if he is to meet the competition and maintain his place in the economic sun, he must keep on top of them.

As an example of this, the National Association of Food Chains is spending $100,000 for a series of research projects. This work, which is to be supervised by Dr. Roger Grey of Stanford University's Food Research Institute, will cover: A review and appraisal of food industry statistics. A historical review of long term food industry trends. A study of the changing nature of retail competition. A study of the "concentration" theory as it applies to food retailing. An analysis of procurement practices by food retailers. A study of food retailing and economic power. A synthesis of the above, in the context of the world we live in. A review of food marketing literature. There is certainly every reason why the food chain people should want this mass of information. Typical chains earn only a cent or so of profit on each dollar of sales. It is essential to their very survival that they operate with maximum economy and efficiency in all the varied facets of the business — and, at the same time, please the fickle consumer. In food merchandising, as in all kinds of merchandising, knowledge and adaptability are essential keys to success.

Another key to the success of the food stores which serve American communities across the land, we submit, is their consistent program of advertising — centered largely in the community newspaper where they operate.

No other medium can serve their needs as well — for presenting a message tailored to local requirements, timely, and in a form which can be retained for comparison and review when it comes time for the actual purchase. Sound merchandising programs in almost all retail fields use advertising as an effective tool — with other forms to be sure — but with a great bulk of the messages in printed form, distributed with maximum efficiency, economy and results through local newspapers.

Watch For Your Cue
There is no question but that modern man has made his life complex. But when one complains life is hard, Sidney Harris said he is tempted to ask, "Compared to what?"

Perhaps it is the way in which we miss our cue. If, when opportunity knocks, it would come with the signal of a three-alarm fire or a pike in the nose, we could realize it was meant for us. Most of us miss our cues and fail to fulfill our destinies in the life of this world.

A telephone ring may be the physician's cue to enter the stage of the operating room. A fire alarm is the cue to send firemen scrambling into action. An SOS signal at sea is the cue for all ships in the area to enter the act. May-Day has become another alarm of which most are aware.

But for most of us, our cue is spoken softly or is just a whisper and therefore easily missed. Since it is for our ears alone, no one can alert us to be ready. And the main reason we miss our cue is that we are too often absorbed in our own interests.

A mother heard her small son saying his prayers. He told God what he was planning to do and asked God for guidance. "Son," said the mother, "don't bother to give God instructions — just report for duty!"

Thus we have the answer. In our competitive world we do need to crawl off to a tranquil retreat now and then. Afterwards we need to report for duty. Refreshed we must return to the fray.

Combating The Dropout Problem
What makes a student drop out of school?

Is it due to financial problems? To an inability to keep up with the rest of the students? To a problem in language? To an inability to see where the whole thing is leading?

A survey now being conducted in Robstown by the Robstown surveyors and other volunteers in the battle against dropouts are doing an excellent job here, but they need the support of the entire community if their efforts are not to be in vain.

We urge anyone with a few hours free time to help in this fight against a problem which hurts the entire community.

If we do not come back in fighting trim, it is only a matter of time until we are by-passed, displaced or broken. This has been proven many times by such disparate entities as the Roman Empire, playboy prize fighters, complacent executives, and pleasure-seeking industrialists.

Make this world a better place for my having passed this way! These words could make us aware that we are attuned to our cue. Then when it comes, we can find our niche and fulfill the destiny given us on that first day we drew breath.

A closed door wrong in Austin
The public's right to know still has some distance to travel in the state capital at Austin, as was evidenced by the action of the state senate last week.

The upper house of the legislature went against its own tradition when it passed over Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, who topped the seniority list, in naming a president pro tempore of the senate to preside when Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is not present.

Schwartz has aroused the ire of his colleagues, apparently, because he is opposed to closed door senate sessions in which the public's business is transacted in private.

The Dispatch can well imagine the consternation of the American electorate if the U. S. Senate ever locked its doors and told press and onlookers that what was going to happen inside was none of their business.

It is true secret information of governmental nature or investigations involving possible criminal acts by governmental employees are usually taken by senate and house committees in Washington in closed door sessions for good reasons.

But such types of committee sessions are merely to hear evidence and do not involve committee action. His proposal would make it illegal — subject to fines up to $500 and a jail sentence — to sell imported meat, unless the grocer displays a sign six by 12 inches large, with the words, "Imported Meat Sold Here," and labels packaged meat, "Product of . . .," stating country of origin.

COUNTY SCHOOL SUPPORT — Texas Committee on State and Local

Stay-In-School Project committee is seeking the answers to these questions. The aim is to discover and understand the cause of dropouts and to use this knowledge in the efforts to combat this problem.

In addition, volunteers are working with school administrators and teachers to locate potential dropouts in the schools and encourage them to stay in school by showing them personal attention and helping them with their problems.

Highlights and Sidelights

Inauguration attracts many

AUSTIN, Tex. — A goodly share of the 3,000 Texans who went to Washington for President Lyndon Johnson's inauguration went through the same sort of celebration — on a much smaller scale — in Austin Monday and Tuesday.

Following Monday's early-afternoon State Democratic Executive Meeting, the round of State Inaugural parties began. One of the best-attended was a reception in the Gondolier Hotel for House Speaker Ben Barnes of DeLeon and Dan Blocker (the "Boss Cartwright" of Bonanza fame).

"Boss" was a headliner, along with TV celebrity Edie Adams, at the $25-per-plate Democratic Victory Dinner, honoring Gov. John Connally, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and other party winners.

Following the solemn ceremony of the swearing-in of Connally and Smith on Tuesday, another round of luncheons and receptions began. Gov. and Mrs. Connally received thousands of visitors at a reception in the Governor's Mansion, across the street from the Capitol.

Connally's kind of celebration, heavy of the folksy flavor, is a far cry from the former custom of a series of governor's balls on the eve of inauguration.

BILL FILING BEGINS — First bill filed in the House of Representatives was one by Rep. Maud Isaacks of El Paso — only woman member in the House. It would allow youngsters 15½ years old to obtain drivers licenses if they pass approved drivers education courses. It is designed also to abolish the special motor scooter and motor bike licenses.

DISTILLED SPIRITS BILL — A measure which sponsors say will raise $10,000,000 in tax money for the State, during the next two years, has hit the legislative hopper. It is not a liquor by the drink bill. But it would make available to people dining in Texas restaurants tiny, 2-oz. (or less) bottles of distilled spirits.

Bill calls for an annual license fee of $500 from each restaurant providing the service. Sponsors claim it will encourage tourism while at the same time will not permit open bars.

Measure was introduced in the upper house by Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg and in the lower house by Rep. Willis Watley of Houston.

TEACHER BILL IN — A bill raising the salary of school teachers $45 a month for each month of the school year was assured of passing in the House, Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, who is sponsoring the measure, invited other House members to sign the bill as co-sponsors. He quickly got more than 80 signatures, a majority of the House members.

Bill probably will have easy sailing in the Senate, where it was introduced by Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr., of Paris, joined by Sens. J. P. Word of Meridian, Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo, D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur and Jim Bates of Edinburg.

Another bill asked by the teachers, one providing for five days sick leave a year cumulative to 30 days, was introduced by Rep. Wayne Gibbens of Breckenridge. Both bills are being sponsored by the Texas State Teachers Association.

MEASURE INTRODUCED — A plan to discourage the purchase of imported beef by Texans was laid out by Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo.

His proposal would make it illegal — subject to fines up to $500 and a jail sentence — to sell imported meat, unless the grocer displays a sign six by 12 inches large, with the words, "Imported Meat Sold Here," and labels packaged meat, "Product of . . .," stating country of origin.

COUNTY SCHOOL SUPPORT — Texas Committee on State and Local

Stay-In-School Project committee is seeking the answers to these questions. The aim is to discover and understand the cause of dropouts and to use this knowledge in the efforts to combat this problem.

In addition, volunteers are working with school administrators and teachers to locate potential dropouts in the schools and encourage them to stay in school by showing them personal attention and helping them with their problems.

Unfortunately, such volunteers are far too few. For the two or three dozen persons who have shown an interest in fighting dropouts in Robstown, we all owe a debt of thanks.

It would have been easier for them to have ignored the problem or decided that it was hopeless or simply left the work to someone else. We are sorry to say that a majority of persons in this area fit into one of these three categories.

The surveyors and other volunteers in the battle against dropouts are doing an excellent job here, but they need the support of the entire community if their efforts are not to be in vain.

We urge anyone with a few hours free time to help in this fight against a problem which hurts the entire community.

cal Tax Policy recommended that the proportionate share of the Minimum Foundation Program which is borne by local taxing authorities in the Local Fund Assignment be increased by a total of some $19,000,000 over the next two years.

Committee stated that State government is providing $36 more per pupil for public school education than the national average, while local governments are providing $83 per pupil less than local governments of other states.

No recommendation was made regarding Governor Connally's proposal that the State ad valorem tax be abolished — one way county and city governments would have more tax leeway — but it is rumored that the committee made its recommendation with that in mind.

TIPRO POOLING BILL IN — Rep. Wayne Gibbens of Breckenridge is garnering support for the petroleum pooling bill — a product of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, which he is sponsoring in the House.

Gibbens said the bill "emphasizes safeguards to make sure pooling orders will be fair to all parties." It would allow forced pooling only after every effort to pool voluntarily on a fair basis had failed.

HOG CHOLERA — A bill has been introduced which would permit the Texas Animal Health Commission to cooperate with the Animal Disease Eradication branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in an effort to do away with hog cholera in the state.

If the bill by Rep. Grainger W. McIlhany of Wheeler is passed, Texas would become the 48th state to join the nationwide program.

Authorized would be use of biologicals, quarantine of infected animals and slaughter of infected animals with payments to owners. This would not be done until incidence became low, according to the Texas Farm Bureau, one of the backers of the bill.

This would be the third major animal health campaign launched by Texas farmers and ranchers in recent years. The other two, against brucellosis and the screw-worm have been very successful.

POLL TAX FIGHT RENEWED — Bills which would put poll tax repeal on the Nov., 1966, ballot — via constitutional amendments — have been introduced in both houses of the Legislature.

A proposal by Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio also would try to extend the vote to all military personnel who qualified under residency requirements presently applicable to other Texas voters. House measure, co-sponsored by Dallas Representatives James W. Strou and Cooper Blankenship, could vote only in the county in which they resided at the time they entered the service.

MORE DIFFICULT — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr complained that the U. S. Supreme Court is making it more difficult to enforce the state law regarding prosecution of communists.

Carr issued his statement after the high court had struck down a warrant under which he and Bexar County Dist. Atty. James Barlow seized some 2,000 books and pamphlets from San Antonian John Stanford.

Material was confiscated Dec. 27, 1963, after Stanford was ordered to register as a Communist by the Subversive Activities Control Board.

"Under each decision of the U. S. Supreme Court regarding state prosecution of Communists, it becomes more difficult to enforce our state laws, but we intend to continue our efforts as vigorously as possible," Carr said.

TEB HEAD OPPOSES — C. H. DeVaney, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, told more than 70 legislators attending a bureau legislative conference in Austin that redistricting solely on the basis of population would seriously state and national government. DeVaney believes the Legislature should work toward an agreement to the U. S. Congress which would override the Supreme Court decisions on reapportionment.

COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court held that Attorney Waggoner Carr should approve $48,500,000 interim bond issue. Trinity River Authority, for purchase and construction of Livingston Reservoir, unless it is based on a lawsuit challenge the bonds.

Court, in a conditional order, held TRA's right to issue bonds while final bonds are in preparation. Carr objected to features of the bonds and said attacking the issue. He bonds should not be approved until nine questions raised had settled.

Supreme Court said it would decide "questions" raised by nine objections, and directed opinion to objections of Carr bonds themselves.

Court of Criminal Appeals cannot decide whether legislators from large counties should be elected countywide in small individual districts. Legislature upheld district decision in a suit brought by Herbert Hainsworth, Houston, who claims countywide election discriminates against Negroes.

Supreme Court will hear Arthur's suit against executive of a Jefferson County water district growing out of purchase of a water system. Lower courts statute of limitations for the dispute had run out.

COLORS BRIDGES? — Texas bridges may take on an Easter hue.

Texas Highway Department announces it is considering pastels and other structural different colors. It already is using a few shades of gray.

Theory is that pastel shades help relieve monotony for drivers, thus making travel safer more pleasant.

K. K. Moore, supervising engineer of the THD Materials Division points out two problems. First agreeing on colors, and second, more rapid fading of the colors.

He predicts some standard color will be used in five years.

South Dakota, a jump ahead, is planning to paint interstate overpass bridges blue, pink, green, yellow, lavender and orange.

SHORT SNORTS — Crawford Martin of Hillsboro was reappointed by Governor Connally to be Secretary of State, a term runs concurrently with that of governor. . . . Connally also appointed to six year terms: O. Woodward of Coleman to State Highway Commission, Ross of McAllen to the State Board of Pardons and Paroles, and Odum of Austin to the State Board of Wildlife Commission. . . .

Teacher

The next spring she took the state board examinations and passed, thereby obtaining a two year certificate to teach. She taught at Wilson the following year. Duties of the teacher included building and tending the fire during the day and seeing that coal was carried in for the next day.

The next year, three small schools consolidated and the new school was called Three Way. Iva was asked to drive a school bus and care for the rooms. She did much to help with the accreditation program for this high school which was accomplished in one year's time.

Iva and her children moved to Morton in 1946, where she had been hired to teach in the public schools. During her first year she taught mathematics and health in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. She was transferred to a second grade section the next year and here she has remained for the past seventeen years.

Over a period of seven years she completed work for her degree by teaching full time while taking night and extension courses and attending summer school. On August 23, 1950, she received a Bachelor of Science degree from West Texas State College.

Iva has served as a committee member for the Band Boosters for three years and ridden the band bus to most of the games. She has also acted as chairman of room mothers for the senior class which included cooking Sunday dinners, caring for and collecting supplies for the concession stand and seeing that workers were on hand for all home activities. Iva is now serving her second year as a member of the Choir Boosters.

She has been active in the Teachers Credit Union, having served on the board of directors as chairman of the supervisory and educational committees and is now serving as president.

In 1963, she was a delegate to the district teachers convention, a meeting she has attended seven times. She is a member of the Texas State Teachers Association and is now serving as social chairman of the Cochran County Unit. Mrs. Williams is also a member of the National Education Association.

A most distinctive honor came to her in 1960, when the "Lohah", Morton schools' yearbook was dedicated to her. This reflected more than anything the honor, respect and love students feel for her.

Iva has worked with Campfire organizations, serving as president of the leaders association, and as leader of one group for nine consecutive years. She is now serving as president of the Campfire Council.

With two young boys, Iva was interested in their activities and served as den mother for Boy Scouts three years and was active in 4-H club work. She is also a member of "Friends of the Library."

Iva's children reflect their mother's interest in education for they were all active in school activities. Ruth, now Mrs. Mart Bass, attended Texas Wesleyan College and the City-County School of Nursing in Fort Worth. She is a licensed Vocational Nurse and a licensed beautician with her own shop in Morton. She has two children, Jean, an eighth grader, and Joe, three years old.

Ray has a degree from Texas Technological College with a major in vocational agriculture. He is now teaching in Dexter, New Mexico. He and his wife have a daughter, Rebecca, one year old. Shirley, now Mrs. B. A. Williams, has a Bachelor of Science in home economics from Texas Woman's University. She is teaching English in Morton High School. Shirley and Allan have a daughter, Melissa, age two.

Dean attended Hardin Simmons and Texas Technological College. He lives in Lubbock where he is employed as engineer for a dirt contracting firm. He and his wife, Betty, have two daughters, La Rhonda, four and Vonda, two months old.

With her children settled in their own homes, Iva returned to college. She has taken refresher courses by extension, attending night classes and summer school. She has twenty-one hours of graduate work.

Mrs. Williams has now found more time for church and social activities. She is a member of the First Baptist Church and the Homemakers Sunday School Class. She is a charter member of the Elma L. Slaughter Study Club.

Class and are members of the First Baptist Church in Austin. Both are active in church and civic affairs.

Roy Briley is married to the former Mary Ann Allen of Gonzales, Texas. They are the parents of a five month old daughter, Lori Christina.

Roy was an honor graduate of Morton High School in 1955 and Salutatorian of his class. He was president of the National Honor Society, tri-captain of the basketball team and attended Boys State in Austin under the sponsorship of Morton Lion's Club and was appointed Assistant Attorney General of Long Star State. He was district winner of the American Legion Oratorical contest. Was voted "Most Likely to Succeed" in the senior class and holds merit awards in band, Bassoon, athletics and science.

Roy graduated from the University of Texas in 1960, and was awarded a law degree in 1962. He was assistant to District Attorney Alton Griffin in Lubbock and is Assistant to Attorney General of Texas, Waggoner Carr. He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Austin, has been active in youth activities in the Lubbock and Austin Recreation programs, and is a member of Lions International.

Mary Ann Allen Johnson is an honor graduate of the University of Texas, member of Mortar Board and is an outstanding artist. She is now teaching art in Austin.

Juanita, affectionately known as "Suze" to LeRoy, "Shorty" to Roy and his school friends, and "Su Su" to the grandchildren, has found time to be an active participant in many church, club and civic activities too numerous to list.

In San Angelo she was president of a 90 member Sunday School class, active in W.M.U., member of Board of Directors Concho Valley Girl Scouts, leader of Girl Scout Troop, Cub Scout den mother and Tri Hi Y leader. She was a member of the 1932 Study Club and was a member of City Federation, serving on many area committees. She was president-elect of 1932 Study Club when she moved to Morton in 1953.

Mrs. Johnson is a charter member of the Town and Country Study Club of which she has held every elective office. She is past president of the City Federation and has been active in helping organize other clubs. Juanita has been on the Caprock District Board for five years and is now third vice president of Caprock District. She also is on the State where she is serving as program and education chairman, historian and is a delegate from her club to the Area Council of Federated Clubs. She served as a committee member to help write the constitution and by-laws for both of these clubs.

Mrs. Williams' many activities, her desire to succeed in the face of hardships, and the success she has made as a mother and teacher, certainly qualify her for the honor of Teacher of the Year.

Board for Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

She is a member of the Homemakers Sunday School Class, First Baptist Church, having served as president. She is now social-courtesy chairman, and works with the church's Extension Department visiting the shut-ins and delivering church literature to them.

She is a member of the "Friends of the Library", has made literally thousands of "doughnut holes" for Polio drive, been on the Board of City Development "Welcome Newcomer" committee and is active in the political party of her choice.

For hobbies she is quoted as saying, "People — I suppose, I love meeting new people, old friends, young and old. I have been writing a "Round Robin" letter for 32 years with three friends I met at Chesta Del Monte, a girls camp at Cowles, New Mexico. The friends live in Florida, Oklahoma and Louisiana. We have not been together during the 32 years but the letter has continued. It was lost one time during a hurricane in Florida, but retrieved.

"I like sewing, travel, painting, pottery making and antiques of course, as my is full.

"But, best of all, my four adorable grandchildren, they are so interesting and stimulating.

"I suppose one of the most exciting moments for me was to hear my son try his first heroic case in Lubbock and win a 99 year sentence, which local authorities believe to be the first 99 year sentence assessed in Lubbock for possessing and selling heroin.

"A thrill was to know the Town and Country Study Club had placed my name in the Golden Book of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs — a tribute that I cherish."

Mrs. W. L. Miller was in Pampa over the weekend visiting with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Windell Watson.

Visiting in the home of their son, James Willis of Brownfield, were Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Willis.

of 14. She has since helped furnish music for the annual Community Easter Cantata, Community Thanksgiving Service, many weddings and the school's annual production of Indian Capers. Mrs. Polvado assisted her mother in school programs, furnished dinner music for Chamber of Commerce Banquets and provided music for the recent Junior Maid of Cotton Contest.

An active church member, Christene has worked with Beginner Sunbeams, was Sunbeam Director and now leads the beginner choir. She served as program chairman of the combined circles of Woman's Missionary Union for two and one-half year and does typing for the Church Library.

Christene's mother, Ina Fern, is a clubwoman and was 1963 Teacher of the Year for the Morton area. Her grandmother, Oma Parker is also a clubwoman and has held every office in her club in Benjamin, Texas. Her grandfather, Louis Parker, is Knox County Judge and a Mason.

Other activities include serving as first vice-president of the Morton Ex-Students Association, bowling for recreation and playing the organ, especially an antique one in her home which she played as a child.

She was married to Earl Polvado, a cotton farmer, in 1959. They are the parents of two daughters, Robin age 4 and Melanie age 3. The family is currently building a new home in the country which they hope to complete in April or May.

Mrs. Polvado feels her family and church have first place in her life.

Visiting in the home of their son, James Willis of Brownfield, were Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Willis.

Pollution topic for Whiteface club

"Blue Skies — Clear Waters" was the title of the program given by Mrs. Truman Swinney when the Whiteface Study Club met Thursday, Mrs. James Cunningham served as hostess.

Members of the Study Club heard how local voluntary community action, rather than federal programs, can best solve the problem of air and water pollution.

It was emphasized that every family has a responsibility in solving this problem. Since this is different in each area, it was pointed out that solutions should be sought locally, not by turning to the federal government for aid.

The speaker also brought out that business and industry are spending millions of dollars annually to help overcome the problems of both air and water pollution in plants and factories. The action is taken voluntarily and in cooperation with local regulatory authorities, proving that community cooperation works better than remote government controls.

Mrs. Swinney showed a film on water control, which was narrated by Walter Crunkite.

Refreshments were served to two guests, Mrs. Jerry Winder and Mrs. Cullan Dansby of the Y-M Study Club and the following members: Mrs. Kenneth Baker, Mrs. Vern Beebe, Mrs. S. J. Bells, Mrs. Rex Black, Mrs. Weldell Dunlap, Mrs. Jack French, Mrs. Marvin Lasater, Mrs. Cecil Maddox, Mrs. Darwood Marshall, Mrs. Ralph Peters, and Mrs. Swinney.

Weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Moore were their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Terrell from Seminole.

David Watson, son of Rev. and Mrs. D. A. Watson, will leave this week for Southwestern Assembly of God College in Waxahachie, where he will graduate in May.

Firemen dedicated to serve

Firemen in hard hats, boots and slickers fighting blazes with the latest equipment may be called to mind when the siren at Morton City Hall calls volunteer firemen from their jobs and families to defend lives and property from encroaching flames — but the real image is far more noble.

Morton's 25 volunteer firemen have no uniform, are defended by no hard hats, slickers or high rubber boots. They are businessmen and tradesmen who are willing to sacrifice their time to face flames with increasingly obsolete equipment and for scant remuneration.

Since 1936 Morton's volunteers have served in Morton and answered emergency calls from many towns near here. One veteran recalls fighting fires in Whiteface, A. ple, Bledsoe and Enoch.

While an average number of fires is hard to determine, about 20 every three months is a figure generally agreed upon as the number of fires fought by the Morton Fire Department. Fires, however tend to appear in a hard-to-count series. One fireman remembers 50 fires in one month during the fall, a time that many fires occur. Another remembers a single fire that was fought for two days in a row without ceasing. One particularly dry fall as many as six fires in one day called volunteers to the fire trucks.

One of the strangest incidents involving the Morton Fire Department took place one winter when the fire engine's water pump froze, and could only be put into working order by heaping coals from the blaze about it, melting enough water to supply the hoses.

While Morton's firemen have no uniform, they do use the paraphernalia associated with the romantic image of the fire-fighter. Two antiquated trucks, each doubling as pumper and ladder truck, are equipped with axes, wrecking bars, hoses, ladders, ropes and lights. The other is a 1940 model. When they were new they pumped 500 gallons of water per minute. Now their capacity can only be guessed. More than one fireman voiced the opinion that fire insurance rates for Morton would be lower if a more reliable fire truck were purchased.

A crew of five men can operate each of the trucks now used. One man is pumper, two men operate the hose, and two more, usually the chief and his assistant, scout the fire, directing the hose men. In an emergency as few as three men could operate each truck.

Necessary skills are practiced at meetings twice a month. While interest seems to center on the firemen's pool tables rather than on the training manual, drills with hoses, ladders, or other equipment help keep the volunteers in fire fighting trim. The same drill meetings are used to keep equipment in the best possible shape for an emergency.

When the emergency does occur, Morton's firemen are ready to run to the City Hall Building, day or night, in response to the siren that can be a source of pride to the town.

Keep More of Your Marbles In the Home Game

After all . . . here's where you get to take your turn at shooting

Our big-city neighbors offer invitations to us every day to put our marbles in their bigger and fancier rings . . . so they can take out more for themselves.

But the game that OUR winnings have to come out of . . . is the HOME game. And . . . the more of our marbles we put into THIS game, the more WE get a chance to take out.

Maybe you've noticed the city folks bragging about how much trade volume they take away from the small towns like ours in their "trade area" . . . getting our marbles into their pockets for keeps.

Trading at home . . . and making it more attractive for our neighbors to trade here . . . is the direct and positive route to better jobs, better property values . . . better schools, better living . . . a better community for US to live in.
