Last-minute switch of honor banquet speaker

Morton High School athletes will be honored at the annual athletic banquet, sponsored by Morton Athletes Boosters Friday night, February 19. The banquet is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., in the school cafeteria.

E. J. Holub, former Texas Tech American and all-pro linebacker for the Kansas City Chiefs, will be the guest speaker. He is a minute replacement for Sam Baugh, all-time football great, who had to cancel his speaking engagement because of illness in his family.

Morton High School athletes will be honored with awards at the banquet. Outstanding football player Fred Morrison, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Morrison, will be announced. Clem Kuehler, last year's recipient of the honor. Kuehler is

J. Holub will speak here Friday

Guest speaker at the Friday banquet to honor Morton High School athletes will be E. J. Holub, two-time All-American at Texas Tech, and twice all-star in the AFL as middle linebacker for the Kansas City Chiefs. Holub, or "The Beast", as he is known, and not so affectionately by opponents, was called upon at the last moment to appear when Sam Baugh, originally scheduled to speak, had to cancel out of illness in his family.

Holub was recently voted "Most Valuable Player" by his teammates, received the NEA's Third Award, and returned to his hometown in Lubbock in a new car bought for him by Kansas City fans. Holub was Texas Tech's first All-American, and was named to the mythical team as a senior and senior as defensive linebacker and center. He is a graduate of Lubbock High School.

Holub will be accompanied to the banquet by Bill McAllister, with whom he works at Radio Station now a student at Texas Tech. A new award, sponsored by Neal Rose, will be presented this year to the boy selected for his sportsmanship. Booster club president Kenneth Thompson will make the announcement of this honor. The "hustling-est" Indian in both football and basketball will be revealed by Gene Snyder, publisher of the Morton Tribune, who annually makes this award.

Kenneth Thompson will serve as master of ceremonies for the banquet, and a menu of oven fried chicken, green salad, green beans, creamed potatoes, and apple pie a la mode has been announced. Invocation will be by Rev. Fred Thomas, and Thompson will introduce the Morton High coaches. The participants in all sports will be recognized by the coaches, followed by the presentation of awards.

The program will then be turned over to Holub, who will be accompanied by Bill McAllister of radio station KSEL, where Holub is currently employed as a sports newscaster.

★ We're sorry!

Those dag-gum pesky type lice are at it again in the back shop. In last week's account of the Morton city council meeting which appeared in the Tribune, it stated that Mayor Dean Weatherly had been granted a six months leave of absence by the council. The leave of absence given Mayor Weatherly was for six weeks, not six months. The Tribune is sorry for the error, but sometimes they just can't keep those type lice under control. After all, an uneducated type lice doesn't know the difference between a week and a month.

Announce rules of county stock show here Feb. 25-27

An estimated 45 lambs, 15 calves, and 75 hogs are expected to be entered in the Cochran County Livestock Show sponsored by the Cochran County Livestock Improvement Association next Thursday Friday and Saturday, Feb. 25, 26, and 27.

Thursday, Feb. 25, animals entered in the show will be weighed between 1 o'clock p.m. and 6:30 p.m. at the Cochran County fair grounds near Morton.

Judging will take place Friday, Feb. 26; and sales, awards, and premiums will be activities Saturday.

Steers, swine or lambs may be entered by regularly enrolled members of Future Farmers of America, Future Homemakers of America and 4-H Clubs from this area. The list of chapters whose members are eligible includes Whiteface FFA and FHA; Three Way 4-H, Cochran County 4-H; Morton FFA and FHA; Bula FFA and FHA; and Bula 4-H.

Exhibitors must have fed, owned and cared for the animals at least 60 days prior to the show, and must not have passed through another auction sale. General Superintendent Woody Dickson said no entry fee is charged and that bedding will be made available by the association at a slight charge above cost.

Three divisions will be judged. Steer division superintendent is Bobby Neal; co-superintendents of the swine division are Dan Keith and Floyd Taylor; and lamb division superintendent is also Bobby Neal.

Enrollment rapid in county program to prevent erosion

An emergency wind erosion program for Cochran County that was announced last week by the United States Department of Agriculture is already attracting many farmers. Officials at the Cochran County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said farmers are signing up for the program at a rapid rate.

The program is still awaiting final approval of pay-rates from Washington, but a tentative pay schedule for farmers participating in the program was developed last week by the County Committee.

The committee suggested payment for listing, chiseling, and deep plowing. Payment of 75 cents an acre for listing a minimum depth of four inches was suggested. Suggested payment for chiseling eight to 11 inches was $1.10, and more than 11 inches, $1.50.

The committee suggested farmers deep plowing twelve to fifteen inches should be paid $1.50 an acre. Those plowing 15 to 18 inches would be paid $2.50 an acre, and more than 18 inches, $5 an acre.

The committee warned that payment "may not be approved for carrying out another practice on land for which payment has been earned in 1965 for deep plowing."

Only farm operators are eligible for payment, and payment will be limited to $400 a person.

If farmers continue to enlist in the program at the same rate that they have during the first few days, the program will be a complete success according to Mrs. Ruth McGee, office manager of the

Hope high for expansion here of library facilities

Action to secure more and better library facilities for Cochran County was taken this week in both Morton and Austin. Letters and telephone calls between the two points provided a base for hope that the library facilities now being used in Cochran County can be expanded through state help.

Jesse George, state representative for Cochran, Hockley, Terry and Yoakum Counties, said in a letter dated Feb. 10 that Senate Bill Number 66 offered hope that facilities here could be expanded. George sent application blanks for state library assistance to library expansion workers here.

The applications for aid through two separate programs will be returned to Dorman H. Winfrey, director of the Texas State Library, spokesmen said. A letter from George urged that the forms be returned as soon as possible because other counties will be making applications for aid under the state program also.

The first planning meeting took place Thursday, Feb. 11, at the Cochran County Activities Building. The Cochran County Library Board meeting was attended by representatives of several Morton study clubs, the Morton Lions, and the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce.

Trailer bill is before state roads committee

Legislation concerning the gross weight limits of farm trailers and semi-trailers used to transport cotton and which may qualify for exemption from regular registration fees is under consideration by a sub-committee of the state Highways and Roads Committee.

The bill calls for an increase in the legal weight of such farm trailers from 4,000 through 10,000 pounds to between 4,000 and 15,000 pounds.

Jesse T. George, state representative for Cochran, Hockley, Terry, and Yoakum Counties, is co-author of the bill with Representatives Wayne and Parsley. The act was referred to the Highways and Roads Committee, of which George is a member, where it was presented for hearing Tuesday, Feb. 9.

Advocates of the bill emphasized that passage of the measure, House Bill 11, would make many presently used trailers legal and would alleviate a considerable portion of the agricultural storage problem.

"With the termination of the brace program, the need to get the cotton from the fields to the ginner is of tremendous financial importance to the farmers," George stated.

Following the hearing, the bill

Documents will be forwarded to government officials in Washington

Recommendations regarding the farm policy drafted by a committee of farmers and businessmen from Cochran, Hockley, Bailey, and Lamb Counties are scheduled to be completed today, and mailed to United States President Johnson, the vice president, agricultural officials, and congressmen from this area. The committee was appointed Thursday, Feb. 11, following a discussion meeting attended by 175 farmers and businessmen from Cochran and surrounding counties.

The recommendations are expected to explain objection to a one-cent a pound cut in the cotton support price. Noted among the reasons for the objection are a $800,000 loss said to be due to the 1964 cut of two and one-half cents. The effect of drought will be noted also, committee spokesmen said. A loss of buying power in Cochran County of $12,000,000 last year was noted, and the effect on merchants is shown by a 50 percent drop in farm implement sales, according to the report. The number of Farm Home Administration borrowers is also listed, and the number refused is among the reasons for protesting the price-cut.

"But this document goes beyond protest, making positive recommendations to non-farm portions of society on ways farmers can be helped to make the transition to lower prices," spokesmen said. The paper urges the encouragement of all types of agricultural products promotion, both domestic and foreign. It asks for research to develop methods by which United States cotton may be raised at a price competitive with that of other nations; and suggests that more effective and longer lasting insecticides and herbicides be developed; that the possibility of using longer-fibered and stronger cotton be investigated; and that the more efficient plant use of moisture be studied. Another suggestion endorsed by the committee is that a method by which "qualified farmers may obtain competent laborers at justifiable prices."

Other suggestions are that the milling of cotton in areas of production be encouraged and that "a method to increase bargaining power of the grass roots farmers" be developed.

The recommendations were drafted by a committee including representatives from Morton, Maple, Enochs, and Whiteface. They included R. L. "Buck" Davis, Cecil Jones, Glenn W. Thompson, Billy Simpson, Joe Seagier, Chester B. Setliff, E. C. White, Jr.; Carl Griffith, Don Workman, and Johnny Johnson. A portion of that committee met Tuesday to approve a rough draft of the paper.

The suggestions will be tabled so that a farmer writing his congressmen or other officials can endorse portions of the recommendations and not others.

The meeting at which the committee was formed was held Thursday, Feb. 11, at the Cochran County Activities Building auditorium where the principal speaker was Dr. Willard F. Williams, head of the department of agricultural economics at Texas Technological College. Williams analyzed the situation as an economist and a scholar, and emphasized that he did not take a position for or

Attention called to new program of loans by FHA

Cochran County Agricultural Agent Homer E. Thompson urged farmers to investigate a loan program recently announced by the Farmers Home Administration. He said the loan is designed to help rural families finance enterprises that will improve their incomes.

FHA County Supervisor Marvin Elliott has informed Thompson that the new loans are a part of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. They can provide up to $2,500 for as many as 15 years at four and one-eighth percent interest. Rural residents can get the loans on the basis of ability and character.

According to Marvin Elliott, the loans are for people who know a good way to increase their income, but who cannot readily get financing through regular credit channels.

The county agent said farmers can borrow for improvements, land, equipment, livestock, machinery, buildings or other items that will add to their income from farming.

Non-farm rural residents can use the same plan to finance a small business, trade or service. This includes loans to set up such businesses as a small repair shop. Another provision of the new FHA program provides loans to establish cooperatives for processing, marketing and other services of benefit to farmers.

"Anyone interested in additional information about the new loans should inquire at the county FHA supervisor's office at the Cochran County Activities Building in Morton or ask at the county agricultural agent's office," Thompson said.

Officer reveals Air Force policy

Broader enlistment policies designed to give young men greater opportunity to join the Air Force were announced recently by TSgt. Dan E. Scott, Air Force recruiter for the Morton area.

Scott said the new criteria, which allows acceptance of young men who are unable to complete high school, will give a greater number of people the opportunity to become members of the Air Force.

Scott emphasized that the Air Force is one of the nation's foremost exponents of stay in school efforts. But it realizes, he added, "that a few young men, for various reasons, cannot complete high school. These men may now apply for an Air Force career."

If accepted, they will be given the opportunity to complete their education, from high school to graduate school while in uniform.

Enlistment criteria changes were necessary because of vacancies in many occupational and technical fields needed to perform the "defense mission of the Air Force," Scott noted.

Denver City smashes Indians in finale, 84-64

Morton's basketball season came to an abrupt halt at Denver City Tuesday night, as the Indians were swarmed under by the Denver City Mustangs, 84-64. The win gave the Mustangs the District 4-AA cage title, whereas Morton had to settle with a second place tie with the Slaton team.

Denver City has a 7-1 loop mark, while the Indians ended the season with a 5-3 circuit record. Morton had earlier handed the Mustangs their only district loss.

Denver City leaped to a 24-13 first quarter lead, much to the light of the standing room only crowd. The Mustangs increased their margin to 42-29 at the half, and were in front, 58-43 going into the final eight minutes.

The Indians were obviously tense in the early stages of the game, and Denver City was exceptionally hot in the first period, allowing the Mustangs to get their big jump on the locals.

Morton had only three players on the floor when the game ended, as five of the Indians were waved to the bench via the foul route, and Jimmy Joyce, the only regular remaining, had four infractions called on him. Two Denver City players fouled out.

Despite the Mustangs' 20-point victory, Morton's scoring twins, Charles Ledbetter and Ernest Chesshir, carried off high-point honors for the night. Ledbetter tallied 29 points on eleven field goals and seven free tosses, while Chesshir also counted eleven fielders, and added five free throws for 27 tallies.

Van Vernon scored 23 for Denver City, the highest point total he has scored all year. David Mitchell and Greg Black each added 14 to the Mustang cause.

Morton's B team saw the score doubled on them in the preliminary contest, as they absorbed a 96-47 defeat. Denver City led at half time, 46-15, but their final quarter rally fell four points short, as they frantically tried to reach the century scoring mark.

Dick Vanlandingham and Darrel Srygley scored ten points apiece to lead the Morton point-making, while Rice tallied twelve to lead Denver City.

Indians lose to powerful Wildcats of Lovington 85-80

Morton Indians fared out their non-district 1964-65 cage schedule Friday night at Lovington, losing to the powerful Wildcats, 85-80.

Despite the loss, it was one of the Indians' better showings since the Christmas holidays, as the Wildcats tried to wear the Morton boys out with a full court press and by inserting different units.

Lovington raced to a 23-16 first quarter lead, and there in lay the difference in the game. The Wildcats were in front, 50-38 at half-time, but Morton closed the gap to 81-53 going into the fourth period. Charles Ledbetter led the Indian scoring, as he pumped in 25 tallies, five field goals, and 15 of 17 free throw attempts. Ernest Chesshir canned 23 points for the locals, making good eleven fielders and a single gift toss, while Jimmy Joyce chimed in with 18 counters. High scorer for Lovington was Harrell with 19, while Evans added 16.

Morton's B team lost a 65-56 struggle to the Lovington B's in the preliminary game. Lovington was ahead at the half, 32-27, but put together a 20 point third period to shoot into an unsurmountable lead.

Willy Moore and Darrel Srygley tallied ten points apiece to lead the local club.

Grass program based on patience is outlined

ALTON TAYLOR, county Conservation Agent, has said that the greatest virtues a farmer must have when he starts to grow grasses is patience. It is once again time to make plans to do grass seeding. Field planting will be done by the 1 and irrigated plantings not later than August 1.

Under dryland conditions grasses must have a dead litter cover to protect them during those few critical weeks of getting established. When irrigation water will be used then the surface must be kept damp until the young seedlings have a chance to root down. Seedbeds are very important to the successful establishment of grass. Seedbeds must be firm that planting depth can be uniform. Most seed will be planted one-half to three-fourths inch deep. These seed are small and must be covered uniformly in order to allow them the best possible chance. This shallow cover gives a good cover of dead litter to hold moisture or the use of frequent irrigations.

When grass is small and weed competition becomes a problem there are two alternatives. They are the use of chemical hormones, where there is no danger to other crops, and the use of the shredder. One thing to keep in mind on using a shredder is never set it low enough to clip the grass. When weeds are clipped off just above the grass it allows sunlight to the grass and while the weed is making its recovery the grass is getting a little head start following each shredding.

Pasture planting success will depend upon proper cover, firm seedbed, right planting depth, proper moisture, dead litter cover or irrigation and adequate weed and competition control. All of these will test our patience and make the difference in a good stand of grass and a poor one.

Board of Equalization resets tax of two firms

Tax evaluations for two Morton businesses were reset Monday, Feb. 15, at a special meeting of the Cochran County Commissioners Court, meeting as a board of equalization. A petition by M. C. Ledbetter and George Boring asking for reconsideration of the tax evaluation of their abstract firms was noted as the reason for the special session.

Ledbetter had complained that the personal tax evaluation on his firm, Western Abstract Company, was partly based on the volume of his business instead of the usual method of evaluation based on the market value of the firm. Boring's firm, Standard Abstract Company, had been evaluated in the same manner, and Boring had also petitioned for reevaluation.

The board ordered that the evaluations be reset at $2,000 for each of the companies. It declared that the previous assessments were "discriminatory and invalid due to the fact that said assessments were based at least in part upon the number of tax certificates ordered by said abstract plants for the year 1963."

Other action taken by the county commissioners court Monday was to approve the purchase of scale masters for air conditioners at the county court house and the county activities building.

The board ordered the county tax assessor-collector to enter the reassessments on his rolls and that the comptroller of public accounts be notified of the action.

Beginners' class in Spanish to be started Tuesday

A beginners class in everyday conversational Spanish will be held in Morton beginning Tuesday, February 23, it was announced this week.

Mrs. Mary Watson of Lubbock, who has had 36 years of experience in teaching conversational Spanish, will conduct the course. Born and reared in El Paso, she speaks Spanish fluently, and is considered a highly competent instructor.

Classes will be held in Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church from 7:30 to 9:30 each Tuesday evening. Persons wishing to secure additional information on the course should contact Darlene Williams, 266-2371, or Johnny Johnson, 266-7741.

Mrs. Watson pointed out that although the classes will be held in the Methodist Church, they are open to everyone in Morton. The course is endorsed by the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Watson had conducted classes in conversational Spanish in Arizona, El Paso and Lubbock, and at numerous towns in the South Plains area. Her classes have been highly successful.

She said she learned to appreciate the Spanish language while living in El Paso during her girlhood, and the love for the language developed into a desire to teach it to others. For better communication and relations between the races, everybody in this area needs to know Spanish, she said.

From a practical standpoint, the ability to speak Spanish also is important because so many Spanish speaking families are employed on farms in this part of Texas. The course is especially beneficial to farmers, merchants, sales people, teachers, doctors, lawyers, pharmacists, ministers, and in fact people from all walks of life. Actually the ability to speak Spanish should be considered essential for best results for farmers and many other professions.

Morton Chamber of Commerce leaders will attend a one-day Community Leader's Workshop in Amarillo today, one of four such sessions scheduled in Denton, Brownwood, Big Spring and Amarillo.

The workshops are co-sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Community Service Committee and the local chambers of commerce in the four cities. Involved in the four meetings are local chamber leaders from 157 communities in the 132-county WTCC area.

Scheduled to gather at Amarillo are local chamber presidents, officers, directors, committee chairmen, and managers from 44 cities in this section of the WTCC territory. The workshop is designed to acquaint local chamber leaders with their role in community and chamber leadership, to enrich them with knowledge of chamber activities in other areas, and to serve as a market place for new ideas.

against the recent government price support cut. Williams warned that there are "indications that cotton in the United States may dwindle in production and consumption to the status of a minor industry." He said cotton producers may be faced with more adjustments in their production operations than they realize. "It is entirely possible that the choice is between lower prices and continued restrictions on acreage on the one hand or continued decline and eventual extinction of the cotton industry," he said.

The economist said "The" farm problem is not prices, but that prices and income are indicators of the problem. He explained that a five percent increase in production means a 20 percent decrease in price because agricultural products do not have a very elastic market. Williams called this the farmer's treadmill. The history of the problem and solutions that have been suggested were discussed along with their drawbacks. Free market, higher support prices, more acres, direct payments, soil bank expansion, and the present program were all discussed.

Following Dr. Williams' speech, a number of questions were asked from the floor. The economist and a panel of six local authorities answered questions ranging from inquiries about the possibility of dumping or burning excess cotton to a suggestion from Billy Simpson that outlined an entire alternate program that would place cottons support price at 93 cents.

Joe Seagler and Glen Thompson, co-chairmen of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce Agricultural Committee named a committee after the meeting that included farmers from each of the towns represented at the meeting. This committee was responsible for drawing up the recommendations to be sent today.

"The most popular method on the list seems to be listing," she said. But she indicated that substantial numbers have selected other phases of the program.

The program is being financed by $120,000 granted by the federal government as an emergency measure to combat wind erosion. The action is thought to have been spurred by recent sandstorms.

Mrs. McGee emphasized that the rates approved by the County Committee are not final until they are approved in Washington. Compensation for deep plowing was especially likely to be changed, she said.

Explosion rocks Moore home Thursday night

An unestimated amount of damage was done at the C. A. Moore residence on Country Club Road Thursday night, Feb. 11, when an explosion followed by a fire leveled a store-room and garage.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore were sitting at their kitchen table working on income tax forms when the explosion knocked them from their chairs. They told reporters the explosion may have been caused by butane from a tank in the area of the explosion or from a loose connection.

When they saw the fire that resulted from the explosion they began to pour water on it. Since their buckets were in the store-room where the explosion occurred they used makeshift buckets of pots, pans, and even a wastebasket to hold the fire at bay until the Morton Fire Department arrived minutes later. Mrs. Moore said she filled the containers and handed them to her husband who threw them on the fire.

Following the arrival of the fire department and disposal of the fire, Mrs. Moore collapsed and had to be taken to the Morton Memorial Hospital where she spent the night, and was released the next morning.

While no exact estimate has been made of the damage, it is considerable. The store-room and garage were totally destroyed, a wall in the rear having been blown away with such force that it snapped a young tree at the trunk.

Inside, such items as tools, fishing gear, canned food, barbecue equipment, books, stored clothing, legal documents, a boat, and a deeper freezer were damaged or destroyed.

The Moore's automobile, in the garage at the time of the explosion seems to have escaped with only scratches even though the roof toppled on it. The Moores indicated that the storage room had been used also to store the belongings of their children who are now married, and that many of their belongings were destroyed.

The same explosion that shook the Moores from their chairs also rattled windows and doors in other parts of Morton. Some volunteer firemen, alerted by the blast, were ready to go to the fire truck before the fire whistle sounded to call them.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Moore expressed praise of the Morton Fire Department for its prompt arrival and rapid disposal of the fire.

Mrs. J. D. Merritt was in Lubbock Monday visiting Mrs. R. J. Merritt, who is in Methodist Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Crawford of Levelland and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Williams went ice skating in Lubbock Sunday night.

On April 10, 1941, the Navy destroyer USS Niblack, while rescuing survivors of a torpedoed Netherlands freighter, depth-charged a German submarine off Iceland; this is believed to be the first action of WW II between United States and German vessels.

Three Morton Study Clubs, the Y-M, Town and Country and the L'Allegro have voted to make the pursuit of an improved library here a major club project this year.

Mrs. Bobby Travis, chairman of the committee said the board discussed the possibility of getting the necessary grants.

One spokesman pointed out that the library now in use consists of two crowded rooms containing too few volumes. It was suggested that other agencies housed at the County Activities Building can make use of the space now occupied by the library, and the new facilities will provide better service through a wider selection of materials.

Hail the new king and queen . . .

Valentine queens, kings are crowned

Valentines Day was noted by the First Baptist Church and the Missionary Baptist Church of Morton with banquets and the coronation of kings and queens. The Missionary Baptist Church banquet was held at the Cochran County Activities Building Friday, Feb. 12, and Larry Baker was crowned king. Queen was Janice Winder.

The following evening Saturday Feb. 13, the First Baptist Church banquet was held in the basement of the building on the corner of East Fillmore Avenue and Southeast First Street. Named king of this banquet was Danny McCasland. Carol Williams was named queen. Runners up were Dewayne Gilbert, Joey Newsum, for king; and Denna Smith and Terri Shifflett for queen.

Valentine party held by Y-M Study Club

Methodist Fellowship Hall was the setting for the Y.M. Study Club Valentine party for members, with their husbands as guests. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Jerry Winder, Mrs. L. G. Pierce, Mrs. Everett Johnston, Mrs. Lowell Webb, Mrs. Garnett Bryan and Mrs. George Hargrove.

Table decorations consisted of candy hearts on red inlays over the white tablecloths. Individual places were indicated by two red intertwined hearts and the couple's name. The head table was marked by three large red candles set in Spanish style wrought iron. Those attending were served dinner from a similarly decorated buffet table.

At the conclusion of dinner, a welcoming address was given by Mrs. Cullen Dansby. Special guests were introduced by their wives, and following, members sang "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and "always". Accompanist was Mrs. Leonard Groves.

A game of "Crazy Bridge" was directed by Mrs. Winder, entertainment chairman. Prizes were awarded to the high and low scorers. The group then played bridge, forty-two and dominoes.

LeFleur club hears program on glads

"The Fun of Growing Glads" was the program presented Thursday to the Le Fleur Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Roy Hill. Roll call was answered with "A New Glad I'd Like to Grow". Mrs. Hill, acting president, presided over a short business session.

Mrs. Don Sanford told of types and kinds of glads that they could buy that were good for this part of the country. She pointed out that fertilization is very important at the first planting, and then four weeks later. A good time for planting glads is from May until the last of July, being sure to plant a week apart, so that some will be in bloom all the time. Mrs. Sanford told members that water is very important to glads. If they do not get enough water, the blooms may be burnt looking, crooked and the stems short. She said that if they would always cut their glads in the heat of the day, they would last much longer. Club members are going to try to grow some of the many types of glads that Mrs. Sanford told about.

Next meeting will be February 23th in the home of Mrs. B. H. Tucker.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Herman Bedwell, Mrs. Conner Joiner, Mrs. Marion Matthews, Mrs. Sammie Williams, Mrs. W. A. Wood and Mrs. John Haggard.

Club members honor husbands at dinner Feb. 12

The Town and Country Study Club entertained their husbands with a Valentine Dinner on February 12th in the Vernon Blackley home. Assisted by the social committee, the Valentine theme was carried out for the evening.

Highlight of the evening was films shown by Mrs. Roy Hill and Mrs. Sammie Williams of their trip to New York and the World's Fair last summer.

Games and conversation were enjoyed by everyone. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fralin, Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. Don Sanford.

Measles and mental impairment

There is growing evidence that common measles can and does cause various forms of brain damage and mental impairment. Added to the long recognized measles complications, such as encephalitis and pneumonia, the newly recognized hazards must place measles among the major disease threats of childhood.

It comes as a shock, therefore, to learn from the United States Public Health Service that there have been 73,731 more cases of measles in the first forty-nine weeks of 1964 than in the same period of 1963.

Such a dismal report seems out of place in this age of major medical advances and increasing interest in public health. The situation is made more incredible by the fact that American physicians have had two different types of measles vaccine available for more than a year. Health authorities agree that not more than a small fraction of children of inoculation age have actually been vaccinated.

Public apathy concerning measles inoculation apparently is based on the antiquated and dangerous notion that measles is merely an inconvenience and the sooner a child gets through it the better. It is time this attitude was abandoned.

It is time to recognize that measles inoculation is not simply protection against a skin rash and fever — that it is protection against possible brain damage, mental impairment, and against encephalitis and pneumonia which are often fatal.

Two kinds of vaccine are now available. A third type — a further attenuated, live virus vaccine called the Schwarz strain that confers immediate immunity with only one inoculation (no gamma globulin needed) — is expected soon. In tests, it has proven 99.1 percent effective and it promises lasting measles protection.

Jobs in industry

"This week we received in the mail a mat five columns wide by 12 inches deep," writes Editor John F. Tischler in his lead editorial in The Delano (Minn.) Eagle of Jan. 14, "which is evidently one of the first salvos in the War on Poverty which we were asked to run free of charge for the Government."

So did 12,000 other editors throughout the country. One paper we have seen ran the mat, big as it is. A few other editors ran the copy as part of their personal columns. One sold it to local sponsors. But not Bud Tischler. Rather, he went on to say:

"The mat has a big heading: 'BE SOMEBODY,' and then tells about the opportunities for young people 16 to 21 years of age, out of school, who can't find jobs and can't serve in the armed forces, in joining the Job Corps.

"In the Job Corps, the youths are told, they'll associate with other young people their age, eat good food, learn a trade. BEST OF ALL, they get $50 a month while learning.

"Now this is a wonderful opportunity! The U.S. Government is spending millions of dollars on the program. The newspapers were asked to contribute, with this first advertisement, about $600,000 worth of space and the Government spent maybe $20,000 on the mat, mailing and administration.

"Why do we question it?"

"We will very gladly take youths 16 to 21 years of age and teach them a trade if we can get by with paying them $50 a month plus board and room. In fact years ago our printing plant and others like it throughout the country did just that. And this same thing happened in virtually every trade.

"Youths, who do not have financial resources, can no longer go out on their own and learn a trade because no employer can hire them except at great financial loss to the company while the youths are learning. They must go, instead, to a trade school, and if they don't have money for tuition they can't go there.

"We don't know what procedure the Government plans to follow with its Job Corps. Perhaps they will subsidize some of the schools to teach trades. That will mean more millions.

"If we really want to War on Poverty, we can do it by allowing business to have the same privileges the Government is taking in this instance. If an in-shop apprentice training program were allowed at reasonable salary rates, a lot of youths today walking the streets could be gainfully learning a trade. And they'd do it at no expense to the taxpayer.

"However, such a program is too simple. There are no bureaucrats mixed up in it!"

Late protest

Parents of cadets involved in the Air Force Academy cheating scandal have blasted the honor code as "sadistic." Many declared that their sons had not cheated, but that they had refused to turn in students who had.

This is an offense against the honor code which holds that each cadet must not "lie, steal or cheat, and most not tolerate anyone who does."

The honor code is strict, but nevertheless the cadets agreed to its stipulations when they received their appointments. Arguments that their principles against turning in a fellow student made this code unacceptable to them would bear more weight if they had made this feeling known then, rather than now.

Somebody else's jury

In our system of law . . . Peace officers arrest and file charges on offenders.

Prosecuting attorneys press the case on the offender in court, on behalf of the state, which is all the people.

JURIES determine the penalty. Tax money pays salaries of peace officers and prosecuting attorneys. They are doing their full-time job when they arrest, file charges and prosecute.

Juries consist of "peers" or equals of the defendant, donating their time as a privilege of citizenship. We believe in the fairness of the proposition that juries decide on the quality of justice in a court of law . . . If they show up.

For Monday's session of the county court, 35 people were called or subpoenaed.

Peace officers had to round up three more jurors to hold court. They had to find who they could among the people just hanging around the streets of Conroe.

Trial by jury is a right many peoples in the world don't enjoy. By comparison, with its shortcomings, this system is the best that's known.

Keeping it the best, to hand to future generations, means answering the call to jury duty rather than conducting "Business as usual."

Jury business should be everybody's business.

The Sage of the Pedernales

Sitting under a tree on his ranch along the banks of the Pedernales seems to have given President Johnson time to think some long thoughts about the American dream and world problems. His call for an immigration policy based on family ties and a person's ability to contribute to society made political and Christian sense.

The president's suggestions on dispensing foreign aid to those who desire to help themselves make equally good sense in both the political and theological arena. God cannot save a man in spite of his own response in faith and obedience. And a nation cannot be made a bastion of freedom in spite of itself.

The United States cannot meet all the needs of the world. But as a nation under God, we cannot give up in despair. It is right for a Christian to determine priorities on his time and resources. Helping those who first who seek to help themselves is an acceptable expression of Christian goodwill. It would also seem to be politically sound.

Meanwhile, the church's task includes ministering even to those who are unresponsive. We believe that all men belong to God and in each has been planted a spark that can be fanned into new life. The church aids the nation when it persists in its efforts to get all men to respond to a higher way of life. But a nation as a political entity can still follow the Christian ethic by aiming its aid first to those who want to help themselves.

On the matter of foreign aid as on the matter of immigration, the president has earned the right to be called "The Sage of the Pedernales."

Texas Methodist

A rare old bird—

The most frequently used word in our vocabulary today must be "change." During the presidential campaign we were made aware of the change in our economy. If you are a student of science, you have been told of the rapid changes of the past fifty years. If you read religious manuals you will have come upon a discussion of the need for a change in our churches.

In the past seven days we have heard the following statement twice: We have recorded more change in the past fifty years than man witnessed in the previous 5,000 years. We only hope that a vast majority of these changes have been for the better. Some, of course, have not.

What these changes have done to our world can most readily be seen right in our own front yard. They are disrupting the animal kingdom and leading to the extinction of many interesting and valuable birds and animals. Everyone in the state of Texas and perhaps across the nation has heard the plight of the whooping crane. Another bird native to our coast line, however, is in even more perilous plight. This is the Attwater's Prairie Chicken.

Why save the prairie chicken? You may inquire. It has been illegal to hunt them for years. But sacrifice on our part, and they are, first, one of God's creatures, and second, a very interesting bird to watch.

This is the bird which fed many an early settler to our area; it is the one whose actions the Indians braves imitated in ceremonial dances. Each spring, Attwater's Prairie Chickens assemble on traditional breeding grounds. Their booming calls and strange courtship dance combine to create one of the thrilling spectacles of nature.

At one time these birds were seen by the thousands from southeastern Louisiana to the Nueces River in Texas. Today they are found only in a few sections of Texas. In 1963, 1,335 were spotted in Texas and none in Louisiana. The decline of the Attwater's Prairie Chicken has been much more rapid than that of the whooping crane.

A group of Texas nature lovers are fighting to preserve these birds by giving them a sanctuary. They have an option on 3,400 acres of land close to Eagle Lake, the best prairie chicken range on the entire Gulf Coast. Their option is up February 18.

A contribution to this cause may be mailed to the Texas Prairie Chicken Committee, P. O. Box 5241, Houston, Texas, 77052. If we do not preserve this land for these birds, modern agricultural methods will soon destroy their feeding grounds. Grazing and cultivation have reduced the native prairie. Efficient modern agriculture leaves little waste grain in the fields and modern rice culture is the largest activity on the present range.

With the surpluses in agriculture this land can be laid aside without being taken out of any subsidy plan. Just as the Aransas Wildlife Refuge has become a tourist attraction, so can this area at Eagle Lake. In the growing Coastal Bend, these acres can become a haven for naturalists and visitors to the area.

Brotherhood Week

Brotherhood Week this year is February 21-27. The annual Brotherhood Week program, sponsored by local service clubs, will be Wednesday, Feb. 24.

This week proclaims high ideals for a community. From the by-laws of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, sponsors of national Brotherhood Week, comes this quote:

... to promote justice, amity, understanding and cooperation among Christians and Jews, and to analyze, moderate and strive to eliminate intergroup prejudices which disfigure and distort relations, with a view of maintaining ideals of Brotherhood and Justice shall become the standards of human relationship.

Last year, in the hopes that Brotherhood Week could be fostered as an atmosphere the year around in Robstown, a committee was formed to serve as the nucleus of a Robstown Round Table. Their purpose would have been furthering Brotherhood in our community.

This attempt, apparently, died. The Round Table died. Did the attempt at year-round brotherhood also die?

This brings to mind the question, "Who Gets Hurt by Prejudice?"

Almost invariably when we think of the victims of prejudice we think of the persons receiving the slurs or acts of intolerance. Just for a change, however, we might consider the effects of bigotry upon the person who does the insulting, and upon all of us.

The great Christian commandment is to love your neighbor. This doesn't specify, "Love some of your neighbors."

It doesn't say love only white neighbors, or brown neighbors, or red, yellow, or any other specific group.

All religious communities within the Judeo-Christian tradition subscribe to this. It has become so much a Western way of life that we don't question its validity any more.

Hate is not a healthy indicator. It does not speak much for the inner security and tranquility of a person who cannot be at peace with his neighbor.

Momentary anger is understandable, and normal, but lingering hate is certainly not the best sign of sound mental health.

And we can always look at prejudice from what can be called the hard-common-sense approach. Prejudice costs money — everyone's money — at least 13 billion dollars a year according to a recent government report.

That's what this country wastes annually in failing to develop all potential skills within our entire labor force, white and non-white, in the higher wages which these trained workers might have earned; in the terrible property depreciation which occurs in the slums.

The cost in human values of all this, of course, cannot be calculated.

It makes us wonder just who gets hurt the most by prejudice. It makes us wonder what happened to the attempt to foster "Year Around Brotherhood" in Robstown. Does this reflect an

Highlights and Sidelights—

Legislative action increases

AUSTIN, Tex. — Gov. John Connally's top legislative project — creation of a powerful coordinating board to control state colleges and universities — apparently is headed for early enactment.

Bills to establish the board breezed through Senate and House committees to floor calendars without direct attack after members of the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School testified for them.

Quick and easy committee approval contradicted early rumbles that establishment of the strong central board would meet vigorous opposition in the Legislature.

It seems that opposition, if there is to be any, will be confined to specific details of the bill and not to the overall proposal.

If enacted, the 18-member coordinating board would have broad powers over all aspects of higher education in Texas — junior colleges, as well as senior institutions.

It would have the final word on launching or eliminating college degree programs, control the addition or deletion of courses, develop future plans for higher education and pass on proposals to create new senior colleges.

It would supplant the existing Commission on Higher Education, although members of the commission would be eligible for appointment to the board.

Said Governor Connally: "I am very pleased with the action of the two committees. This reflects what I have said all along — that there is a great will and desire on the part of the Legislature to make some real strides toward excellence in higher education."

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria is handling the bill in the House and Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan has it in the Senate.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS DEBATED— Legislative committees set aside another Ladies' Night to hear a familiar debate — should the state constitution be amended to insure that no legal rights be "denied or abridged because of sex?"

Without even hearing arguments for or against, a Senate panel quickly agreed that the amendment should be submitted to the voters.

On the other hand, the House committee listened to hours of testimony. Most of it was in opposition to such an amendment. The State Bar and spokesmen for university law schools led the opposition.

Opponents claim the amendment goes too far and would "open a Pandora's box" of future litigation. Specific statutory changes were recommended as preferable for correcting such discrimination as might exist.

Spokesmen for the women's groups, who have stubbornly pushed the amendment, resort with considerable conviction: after all these years of talking about giving women full powers to manage their property and other rights long denied them, little serious effort has been made to repeal the discriminatory statutes one at a time.

POOLING BILL NEAR — Although subject to bitter legislative controversy two years ago, the oil and gas lease pooling bill cleared the Senate with no more than a handful of dissenting votes.

There was practically no floor discussion on the bill which is backed by Governor Connally and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, as well as most oil and gas interests.

House companion landed in a friendly sub-committee after an extended hearing.

Bill would authorize Texas Railroad Commission to prescribe requirements for owners of small tracts to pool their interests for oil and gas drilling purposes when they cannot get together voluntarily.

Among opponents of the bill were members of the Texas Farm Bureau and local farm bureaus in oil counties which have had small-tract problems.

C. H. Devaney of Coahoma, TFR president, asked the committee to consider the opposition to the bill "in the light of the fact that an overwhelming majority of our member families are landowners and that the Texas Farm Bureau probably represents the large single group of landowners in any organization."

Devaney read a policy statement saying in part, "We oppose any and all legislation that would deny the landowner or mineral owners the American tradition of freedom of choice."

Free choice remained the central issue as the measure went on House and Senate calendars. Opponents called the measure "compulsory unitization" and "land collectivism." House sponsor, Rep. Wayne Gibbons of Breckenridge, said it is intended "to encourage voluntary pooling."

PERMANENT RATE CASE — Three top Texas officials entered personal protests before the Federal Power Commission in Washington of gas rate findings for the Permian Basin area of West Texas and unhealthy attitude? How much does the entire community suffer?

Robstown Record

MEANWHILE —

New Mexico.

Governor Connally, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon argued against approval of an F.P.C. examiner's memorandum recommending a rate range of 10 cents per million cubic feet to 16.75 cents per mcf. State contended single price of 20 cents per mcf would be more reasonable and forward-looking.

Adoption of the examiner's findings would be a serious economic blow to the state. It would result in a tax loss of $4,500,000 a year, officials contended. They pointed out that 4,700,000 acres of land belonging to the University of Texas or the Permanent School Fund are located in the vast Permian Basin. Income to the university and the public schools, in addition to substantial amounts of taxes, depend heavily on the public schools, in addition to substantial amounts of taxes, depend heavily on gas prices. Similar hearings, Carr reported, already have begun in the Gulf Coast and East Texas fields. Hearings begun in 1961, now cover 35,000 pages of testimony.

COURTS SPEAK — Third Court of Civil Appeals agreed with the trial court that the cigarette distributor's permit of a Houston dealer accused of participating in a fraud scheme which cost the state an estimated $4,200,000 should be revoked.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert cancelled the permit of the House of Tobacco (headed by Mair J. Schepps) last October. Trial of Schepps and six others is scheduled for May 3 in Austin.

Same court heard arguments on an eight-year-old case where the City of San Antonio seeks to overturn a ruling of the Texas Water Commission denying its application for supplemental water supply from Canyon Dam near New Braunfels. Commission (then the Board of Water Engineers) said the Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority is entitled to available water to benefit the cities in its watershed.

REVISION FAVORED — Senate Jurisprudence Committee recommended passage of an overall revision of the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure, which cleared the Legislature in 1963 but was vetoed because a faulty copy was sent to the governor.

Bill is the result of four years' work by a State Bar committee. Most protests at the committee hearing centered on a section which would allow a convicted person to decide whether he wished a jury or a judge to determine the penalty.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Governor Connally appointed Rev. Robert S. Tate Jr. of Austin to the Texas Youth Council. He succeeds Dr. Guy Newman of Brownwood.

Connally also named Frank Sparks of Eastland as judge of the 91st district court. He succeeds the late Judge T. M. Gaudin.

Durwood Manford of Smiley named to a new term on the State Board of Insurance.

CARR ASKS — Attorney General Carr is seeking some $1,500,000 more a year for his budget. Request is mainly for funds to present Texas in hearings before federal agencies and to handle "scandal" cases.

Federal agencies must have better understanding of Texas problems, contends the attorney general. He noted that cases of the north and east have explained their cases in a most convincing manner than has Texas.

Carr said a scandal could result from loose regulation of the table trusts.

A spokesman for Carr appeared in hearing in support of a bill to tighten controls on such trusts.

WATER DEVELOPMENT — friendly Senate sub-committee consider a bill by Sen. Gen. Parkhouse of Dallas which would authorize the Water Development Board to use the $300,000,000 development fund to build reservoirs, treatment plants, pipelines and other facilities for water delivery to wholesale users and obtain permits for storage and use.

Two other Parkhouse water development bills also remain in Senate committee study. They would convert the Water Commission into the Water Rights Commission, an agency with expanded responsibilities and an executive director, and would revise Water Development Board and expand its powers, keeping the permitting of permits with the Water Commission.

SHORT SNORTS — Senate and Fish Commission has approved a bill recommended by Governor Connally to bring all coastal waters under regulatory powers of Parks and Wildlife Department (P&W).

Total Texas employment reached 3,600,000 in 1964, Texas Employment Commission reports. . . . Manufacturing employment now stands at 500,000, a three per cent increase in 1963, according to the UT Bureau of Business Research. . . . Governor Connally asked the Industrial Accident Board to begin the accumulation and publication of industrial injury statistics. . . . Representatives will finish initial work on the state's $200,000 budget by March 12. . . . A new record, says Appropriations Committee Chairman W. S. HEART RESEARCH IS SAVING LIVES! Arrows show changes which have taken place, 1950-62, in the cardiovascular death rate for American men aged 45-64. Despite a 4.3 per cent increase in the death rate due to heart attack, there was an over-all decline of 7.5 per cent—thanks largely to dramatic decreases in death rates associated with high blood pressure and stroke. Over 100 million Heart Fund dollars have been channeled into heart research since the first Heart Fund Campaign in 1948.

Local soldier receives award for suggestions

A soldier from Morton, Specialist Fourth Class Ronald D. Morgan, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Morgan of Morton, received two checks totaling $324 from Brigadier General George I. Forstye, assistant Twenty-fifth Infantry Division commander for support at a battalion ceremony recently conducted at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii.

Morgan won the money by suggesting that a hole should be drilled in the bed of the two-and-one-half-ton truck on which the Little John rocket-handling unit is mounted. The hole allows easier accessibility and removal of the unit for lubrication, cutting manhours by two-thirds. Savings to the Army for this innovation are estimated at nearly $10,500 during the first year.

The suggestion was made as part of the Army's "Tropic Lightning" Division suggestion contest. Morgan won first prize in the contest for December, earning $25; and also captured first place in the Hawaii group contest for the second quarter of the fiscal year 1965.

Suggestions were on money-saving, time-saving and safety ideas or other recommendations that would benefit the army. According to the Twenty-fifth Division's records, this is the only major award made to that division during the fiscal year 1965.

Morgan, a Morton High School graduate, entered the army in May, 1963. He now lives with his wife, Lela Faye in Waikiki.

CRUISE IN THE OFF-SEASON

Although most people prefer to take their cruise during the peak of the season for all the glamour, excitement, and crowds it offers, others enjoy the quiet and restfulness of the off season cruise. Tourists are not present in such great numbers; interesting places can be visited more leisurely and at greater length.

Some people prefer to pray only when they are in church or at some great public gathering where the prayers are led for them. But our Lord said to pray in the "off-season." He said, "But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly." The real joys of prayer are truly found when you are praying alone with God. The scripture says to be instant in season and out of season.

The church would encourage you to pray both in church and at home. Prayer can uphold, support, and strengthen our churches, ourselves, and our country.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

News from Across the Border

By GAYLE LATIMER

The weather man deserves a medal for this week's weather. It seems as if some of our prayers for moisture were heard.

The Lingo Baptist Church gave Loretta Dicus a baby shower last Thursday evening. Loretta has just had her fourth child, a boy. The shower was in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Dicus. Sponsors were Mrs. Fanny Brown, Helen Pool, Crish Sowder, and Katie Click. All reported having a good time.

Jimmy Brown and his family were home for the Causey Homecoming. Jimmy and his family are living in Andrews, Texas. They spent Saturday night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown. Sunday morning they went to Morton to visit with her folks, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Nations.

Buzzing the control towers of many central Texas cities were that air pair, Gene Pool of Lingo and Conrad Williams of Stegal. They were in central Texas on business. Gene's mother accompanied them as far as Dallas, where she stayed with another son, Frank Pool. The high fliers picked her up on the way home. They left here Tuesday morning and returned Thursday evening because of bad weather in that part of Texas. While Gene was gone, Helen spent Wednesday night with her folks in Portales, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clifton.

The Pool boys, Wesley, Sidney, and Norris, complied with National Dental Health Week and visited the dentist in Clovis Saturday. Olan Click's mother from Morton visited the Lingo Baptist Church Sunday. The men of the Lingo Baptist Church are painting the inside of the church. The inside hasn't been painted since it was plastered a couple of years ago. The color they are painting it is an off white.

I talked to Mary Quinn the other morning. She told me Sharon was home from E.N.M.U. for the homecoming. Sharon saw many old classmates and she was delighted to see Mr. Smith, an ex-superintendent.

Mary told me she and Carol both had colds and while they were off their feet they caught up with their reading.

I talked to Barbara Ashbrook last week and she told me some sad news. She will have major surgery this Wednesday. She and Ray left Tuesday morning to check Barbara into the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. I know all of us that know her wish her a rapid recovery. She's like a ball so I know she'll bounce back.

Harvey Lee and Ave Lee Balko, Anita and Bo Chunn are helping Barbara and Ray out by keeping their children. The Balko's are keeping Neil and the Chunn's are keeping Janice and Robbie.

The three Copeland girls were home for the homecoming. Wilma and Mark came out last Wednesday and stayed until Sunday. Pat and JoAnn came for the weekend. Wilma gave the welcome response at the homecoming.

Also home for the homecoming were Retha May (Balko) Davis and Anita Ashbrook. Both are from Lubbock.

The Harvey Lee Balko's went to Earth, Texas last week to see his brother, Rodney Balko.

Floyd Brown has been sick with a cold.

Laurie and I have both been sick with colds and sore throats. We took Laurie to the doctor last Tuesday and then back Thursday for a check-up. We are both about to recover.

Laurie spent last Saturday with her grandparents, the Ed Latimers of Maple. Her only cousin Jimmy was there too. They wore each other out.

I finished my bowling tournament last Saturday. I lost my bet to Ethel Harris of Morton. I popped off and told her I could beat her. I think I was about a thousand pins short. Oh well, there is always next year, so watch out, Ethel.

Ed and Charley went to Portales yesterday. Jimmy came over with Ed and stayed with Laurie and I while they were gone.

W. C. McCebery came over Tuesday afternoon and spent some time with us. He is my grandfather. He told me that grandmother was sick with a cold.

My thought for the week is "Remember cheating is a sign of lack of character and besides the Internal Revenue may be watching you." See you next week.

T & C Study Club hears program on natural resources

"Love for Our Natural Resources" was the theme of the Town and Country Study Club at their meeting February 3rd in the home of Mrs. Wade Strother.

Mrs. Vernon Blackley introduced the program. Interesting reports were brought on "Forests and their Multiple Uses", by Mrs. Willard Henry; "The Polluted Air We Breathe", by Mrs. W. A. Hovey; and on "Water Pollution", by Mrs. J. L. Cox.

Mrs. Connie Gray presided over the business meeting. Final plans were made for the Valentine Dinner. The club elected Mrs. Keith Kennedy as treasurer. Mrs. LeRoy Johnson, Mrs. Willard Henry and Mrs. Don Samford were appointed to the library committee. Mrs. Alvie Harris reported that a package was sent to the Polish family the club gives assistance to.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Eugene Bedwell, Mrs. A. A. Fralin, Mrs. W. L. Foust, Mrs. Roy Hill, Mrs. Cheryl Inglish, Mrs. Joe Seagler, Mrs. S. E. Williams and Mrs. Weldon Newsom.

To explain weed control at meeting

Cochran County cotton farmers have been invited to a chemical weed control meeting Tuesday, Feb. 18, at the county activity building auditorium in Morton.

The meeting is to disperse information about chemicals, how they should be applied, and equipment to be used in their application for control of certain weeds in cotton and sorghums.

Speaker at the meeting will be Elmer Hudspeth, United States Department of Agriculture Engineer, with the High Plains Research Foundation Center, Experiment Station of Lubbock. Hudspeth will show slides of equipment, chemicals, their application and results.

Cochran County Agricultural Agent Homer E. Thompson said making advanced preparation is a must for farmers thinking of using chemicals.

SMOKE SIGNALS

By MIKE EGGER

The Future Teachers of America Club of Morton High School hosted the faculty of MHS to a tea in the Home economics department Friday afternoon after school. Most of the FTA members and teachers were in attendance.

FTA members also began making plans for their student teacher day in April. Procedures for the student teaching is being changed from what it has been in the past. The FTA members who will be allowed to teach this year are limited to those senior members in good standing in the club for two years. Also, all student teachers will not teach on the same day as they have done in the past. This will insure that the student will be teaching as a teacher among teachers instead of a teacher among fellow student-teachers and a realistic school atmosphere will be maintained.

Final climax of the two-week long campaign for student council offices will be tomorrow when the student body of MHS and 8th grade cast their votes for the candidates they wish to represent them as next year's student council officers. Each candidate and their friends have been actively campaigning (as anyone who has seen the large number of campaign posters will testify). Wednesday the candidates gave their campaign speeches before the student body.

The Student Council has been seeing Judson's candy the past week to help finance the sending of next-year's president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer and this year's president to the state council meeting in Midland the last week of March. Student council members with the permission of Lion's president George Boring, sold the candy at the club's sponsored basketball game Monday night. Thursday night, the Student Council members plan to make a covering of the town in an effort to sell all candy they have remaining.

Almost all of the work needed to send the student directory to the printers has been done. Plans call to have all information in the hands of the Tribune by this weekend.

Information on control of lice on cattle available

By HOMER THOMPSON
Cochran County Agent

It costs money to feed cattle lice. These parasites are among the most damaging to beef cattle.

Cattle infested with lice spend a lot of time rubbing against fences or other objects due to the annoyance caused by the insects. Cattle on feed do not gain as they should and require more feed for a pound of gain when infested.

Infested cows lose weight and their calves become prime targets for the pests. Reduced weaning weights of calves is one spot that really hits the pocketbook hard.

Cattle lice are common over the entire state and their populations build up rapidly after cool weather arrives in the fall, and include both biting and sucking types.

Sucking lice, short and long-nosed, pierce the animal's skin and feed by sucking blood. They are usually found on the sides of the animal's neck, on the brisket, back, inner surface on the thighs, tail and around the nose, eyes and ears. Chewing lice are smaller and are usually found on the top of the shoulders and around the root of the tail but may also infest other parts of the body.

Many chemicals are available for controlling lice as well as other external parasites of farm livestock. Because of restrictions and safety suggestions which apply to the use of the control measures, Thompson invites stockmen to come by his office for a copy of MP-691, "Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry."

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mitchell of Hurwood visited here over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Don Allsup, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Allsup.

Farm topics to be discussed here

Seedling diseases, fumigation, resistant cotton varieties, nematode and Fusarium wild control will be discussed by four South Plains Research Foundation Center Experiment Station representatives from Lubbock Friday, Feb. 19.

Demonstrations will be discussed, and tests on the Earl Polvado farm will be completed. The research representatives, according to Cochran County Agricultural Agent Homer E. Thompson, are especially interested in working out an off-station test for seedling diseases and other matters.

Invitations to the meeting have been limited to about 22 county farmers, Thompson said.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Barton visited in Eldorado and Mangum, Oklahoma last week with her father, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Dillard, and an uncle, Arden Dillard. Frank Dillard, of Oklahoma City, met the Bartons in Eldorado for the reunion.
