(Editor's note: Feb. 1-28 is heart fund campaign month. To stress the importance of the fight against the nation's number one health enemy, the Tribune will print a story each week dealing with local persons who have had experiences with stroke, open heart surgery, and heart disease. These persons, by telling their own personal stories, hope to emphasize the importance of the heart research, which can best be done through contributions from the heart campaign.)

By BUCK SCHEIB

"I weren't for heart research, I wouldn't be here now", said Mrs. F. G. Kennedy as she sat in her comfortable home on East Hayes, across the room from her husband.

In 1954 Mrs. Kennedy suffered a stroke in Morton, and was told by the doctors that she would never be able to walk or talk again. "I remember," interrupted Mr. Kennedy, "the doctors telling me that she would be an invalid the rest of her days." Kennedy said that he took his wife to Lubbock to see a specialist there. "The specialist told the both of us that she had a 50-50 chance with heart surgery, and she had no chance without it." Kennedy paused, "Or in other words, she would be an invalid the rest of her life without it." Mrs. Kennedy said that at that time heart research had been in progress only about five years, and that relatively little was known about heart surgery. She smiled,

"Now, the operation I had in 1954 wouldn't involve nearly as many risks or dangers, because of the heart research that has been done." She added, "If I had had my stroke five years earlier, there would have been no operation available or any hope at all." She looked down at her hands folded in her lap, "that's how new heart surgery was then." Mrs. Kennedy suffered from what doctors call mitral stenosis, or the closing of the mitral heart valve. In non-technical terms, the human heart is four-chambered, each side having an auricle chamber and a ventricle. The mitral valve is the cardiac valve guarding the chamber opening between the left auricle and the left ventricle. It allows the blood to flow from the auricle to the ventricle, and prevents it from returning to the left auricle again. According to Mrs. Kennedy, the mitral valve is supposed to be approximately two inches in diameter. Mrs. Kennedy said that after her stroke, her mitral valve closed to about three-eighths of an inch in diameter, preventing the blood flowing freely from the left auricle to the left ventricle. June 11, 1954, Mrs. Kennedy underwent surgery at Baylor Hospital in Dallas. She was on the operating table more than three hours. A team of five doctors, supervised by Dr. Warren Duckett, performed the delicate surgery.

After the surgery, Mrs. Kennedy stayed in the Baylor Hospital 16 days. She commented, "I can remember the doctor coming in with a group of young interns crowding around him." She added, "He would come over, pat me on the arm, and tell me not to let all the people bother me. . . that I was making medical history." Even though the surgery was deemed a success, Mrs. Kennedy had several different complications set in later, which she had to overcome. Again she smiled, "Possibly I wouldn't have had the complications, if heart research was then what it is now."

One complication was that her heart was out of rhythm or wasn't beating in the normal pattern. This the doctors learned to regulate by medication. Shortly after returning to Morton from the hospital, blood infection set in as a result of the operation. Mrs. Kennedy was given enormous amounts of penicillin. Mrs. Kennedy said, "The doctor called Dallas and asked them for instructions. They told him to give me these giant doses of penicillin." She paused, "He told me I had a right to refuse that much penicillin, because he had never heard of anyone taking that much before." She smiled, "But, I told him to go ahead."

At the time of her stroke, Mrs. Kennedy had been teaching the fifth grade. In 1954, after her surgery, the doctors would not let her return to her old position so she went back to college to "keep her mind active."

In 1956 she returned to full-time teaching in the Morton School system. She has been teaching in Cochran County for a total of 13 years. Mrs. Kennedy said, "I feel good now and I'm doing fine. I do have checkups and need some help with my house-work." Then she proudly added, "I haven't missed a day's school all year."

Mrs. W. B. Merritt, Mrs. Kennedy's daughter, is the Cochran County Chairman for the Texas Heart Association. Mrs. Merritt said there are some local plans being made for Heart Month here. The Boy Scouts are supposed to assemble the Heart Fund canisters, distribute and pick them up.

AT STUDY CLUB MEET

History of American music is traced through development

The Emlea Smith Junior Study Club met Thursday, Jan. 27, in the home of Mrs. Owen Houston. The program was entitled 'American Sing's' and was presented by Mrs. Clyde Brownlow.

Mrs. Brownlow said, "Never have the people of this world been without song. Folk songs were the first newspapers of the land. Folk songs were the people's way of telling the deeds of their time. Minstrels sang of joys, scandals and adventures. Some folk songs are so old that they show how people felt, thought and acted hundreds of years ago. We do not know who composed most of them, although occasionally a man like Stephen Foster wrote songs that people sing and loved so much that they became folk songs."

"As America begins, so does its singing. Although the Puritans didn't believe in singing or dancing, Americans continued singing, as it brought them a feeling of security and happiness. They sang songs such as 'Springfield Mountain', 'Quaker's Courtship', and 'The Sow and a more popular song, 'Shenandoah.' "The sea-faring songs were more rude and crude, some being mournful. They sang songs such as 'What Shall We Do With the Drunken Sailor?', 'Blow the Man Down' and 'The Iron Horse'."

"In the Southern Mountains, the people lived so far in the backwoods that the songs never changed much. There were frolic songs such as 'Barbara Allen' and 'Cindy'. There were white spirituals and lonesome love songs such as 'Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair' and 'On Top of Old Smokey.'"

"During the Westward March, the North and South met in Missouri going west. They bought up such songs as 'Sweet Betsy from Pike', 'Sporting Bachelor', and 'Careless Love.'"

"The Iron Horse was responsible for more great folk songs than any other subject. It told stories of heroic railroad men such as 'Casey Jones' and 'Old John Henry.' "The Negro South contributed more songs than any other culture. Negroes used their whole body in singing. They clapped their hands, stomped their feet and swayed. Negro music was the beginning of jazz. "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name', 'Stand Up, Stand Up For Jesus', 'Rock of Ages', and 'A Mighty Fortress is Our God' are folk song hymns that we sing today."

"In years to come, the Negro protest songs 'We Shall Overcome' and 'This Land' could be associated with our generation."

Folk songs are written about childhood, holidays, love, work, political songs, songs for dancing, for mourning, ballads and legends."

Records were played during the program, representing each segment of the county.

Mrs. Brownlow concluded the program by reading a poem by Walt Whitman entitled "I Hear America Singing."

Department Chairmen will meet Friday, Feb. 4, in the home of Don Workman. All club women are asked to bring their "Texas Clubwoman" magazine to Mrs. Don Jim Johnson, Jessie W. Tyson, Don Workman, Loy Kern, Tommy Hawkins, Jim Walker, Richard Houston, Bill Foust, Sydney Saverance, Jeannie Allen, Clyde Brownlow, Gary Willingham, Bob Polvado and Elvis Fleming.

The next meeting will be Feb. 10 in the home of Don Workman with Jeannie Allen as co-hostess. The guest speaker will be Charles Bowen, High School Counselor. The topic will be "Education and Youth Problems."

The Doherty Auxiliary from the Lehman Gasoline Plant had a meeting Friday night Jan. 28, at the Morton Wig Wam. The purpose of the meeting was to elect new officers for the coming year.

Although the great influence of Scouting on our youth has been recognized for many years, more can still be done. This is why the 1966 Boy Scout Week theme is "Breakthrough for Youth." Its purpose is to introduce Scouting to more boys. We urge Scout alumni to help in this challenging program.

Miss Smith shower honoree on Tuesday

A bridal shower honored Miss Bennie Smith, bride-elect of Ray O'Brien, Tuesday from 3:30-5:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. W. B. Merritt.

There were 52 guests registered at the guest table, which was decorated with a bridal couple centerpiece atop a lace overaid cloth. Guests were served from a silver decorated table, which was covered with a white satin cloth beneath lace. The table was centered with a Bible inscribed with the names of the couple and resting on a large heart.

Moss green and white decorations carried out Miss Smith's chosen color scheme.

Miss Smith opened her gifts at a white table in the den beneath an overhanging double-heart wedding ring depicting the Feb. 12 wedding date. Gifts were displayed throughout the den.

The honoree, along with Mrs. Truman Smith and Mrs. J. C. O'Brien, were presented white carnation corsages. The hostess gifts was an electric fry pan.

Assisting Mrs. Merritt with the hostess duties were Mesdames R. C. Strickland, Roy Turney, L. S. McCarty, Pegues Houston, Ross Shaw, W. E. Grantham, Roy Brown, Rolly Hill, F. G. Kennedy, S. A. Ramsey and Keith Kennedy.

Hooray! The weather finally got back to a little more reasonable approach after a prolonged cold spell that had the entire South Plains shivering and turning up their electric blankets. Although we could have used more moisture than we got, at least we weren't plagued with the freezing drizzle that turned much of East Texas into one big skating rink.

We really shouldn't say anything about it, but we just can't resist. Mrs. Charles Jones, you recall, was the Garden Club member who contacted us about Arbor Day and a tree-planting at the high school two weeks ago, a ceremony that was called off because of snow and cold. The ceremony was rescheduled for last week and Mrs. Jones called to remind us about it. But Mrs. Jones wasn't at the Arbor Day event... she took a nap and overslept! But there is one consolation... she had done her work in lining up the publicity.

Morton High cagers will have one game at home and one on the road during the coming week. On Friday, Feb. 4, they will host Station. Post will host the Indians on Tuesday, Feb. 8. The game they had cancelled here Jan. 21 with Post because of the bad weather has been rescheduled for Thursday, Feb. 17.

The Indians have had their problems in basketball this year, but everyone is all smiles about future prospects because only one varsity cager is a senior.

Jay Naman, president of the Texas Farmers Union, will be here Thursday night for a joint meeting of the FU members from Cochran and Bailey County organization. He and Rep. Jesse George will speak at 7:30 p.m. in the County Activities Building. A new president for the Cochran County organization also will be elected.

Feb. 7-13 is Boy Scout Week across the nation and we join the many who salute the Boy Scouts and their leaders for their achievements through the years. As a former Scout and adult leader, I appreciate deeply the impact that Scouting makes on youth and the dedication that is needed by the many volunteer leaders for their guidance and long hours of work every week to direct a successful Scout program. But I know of nothing that pays more in personal satisfaction than working with Scouts and watching them develop from tiny, flighty Cubs into hard-working Scouts and Explorers who have learned self-reliance, service in their home, church, school and community, and personal fitness. Scouting is a powerful force in this country and we are proud to nail the 56th anniversary of the founding of the Scout program.

MOVE in the RIGHT DIRECTION

To attend Church is the first step in finding God.
To attend regularly is to continue in the right direction, and gives one an opportunity to understand God's will in his life. Now is the time to make your move. Choose the way that will lead you to God.
Attend Church Sunday.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

WE SELL BY THE GENERATION . . . AFTER GENERATION . . . AFTER GENERATION

Every once in a while we sell a new Chevrolet to a young man whose father bought a Chevrolet from us. We consider it quite a compliment. As the saying goes "Like father, like son." So we figure if the father liked us, chances are, the son will too. Selling to generations is especially gratifying. So, we take extra measures to see that each of our customers is satisfied with his dealings at our dealership. Maybe someday his son will be in for his first new Chevrolet. Why don't you stop in soon? You might start something that'll run in your family for many years to come.

THE ADVANTAGES of parallel terracing can be seen in Fig. A. The parallel terraces (heavy dark lines) allow the same number of rows to be cultivated between each terrace. With con-

Parallel terracing saves rainfall

By SANDY ASBILL

Parallel terraces are coming to Cochran County. A parallel terrace and a conventional terrace can best be illustrated by a simple experiment.

Take a 12" ruler, stand it on its end near the center of the room or some other convenient place, hold your hand above the ruler two to three inches, and draw an imaginary line from that point to a point on the floor some 11 to 12 feet to either side. This is the minimum size of a terrace ridge above the natural ground line.

Now place this size terrace on the dark lines on the illustration A and you have the layout of a parallel terrace system. Now imagine the area between the terraces virtually level, with an even number of "throughs" with four, six and/or eight row equipment.

This is the look of the modern parallel terrace system as contrasted to the look of a conventional terrace system as in illustration B.

Soon, just such a parallel terrace system will be installed and a reality in Cochran County. The C. C. Slaughter Farms, managed by Lloyd C. Miller and farmed by Don Hill, has entered into a Great Plains contract to build the terraces represented by the illustration A.

Until some five years ago, a parallel terrace system, such as this, was unheard of. Neither engineers nor contractors knew how to design, layout or install such a system. With the increased use of larger and more efficient farm equipment, the need became so great that engineers stepped up work on the problems involved in developing an efficient and workable parallel terrace system that would conserve moisture as well as prevent water erosion, and yet permit intensive use of the cropland.

This type terrace system can and is being designed to facilitate multi-row equipment. This particular illustrated system is designed to be farmed with either four, six and/or eight row equipment.

There will be the same number of rows between any two terraces from one end to the other with an even number of "throughs" between each terrace. This system virtually eliminates "point-rows" as they are associated with conventional terrace systems.

The cost of parallel terraces when built from the down grade side with the area between terraces virtually levelled, runs about 10 cents per linear foot or $528 per mile. The cost per acre ranges from about $21 per acre to as much as $54 per acre depending on the spacing of the terraces.

Cost share is available through the Agricultural Conservation Program at 5 cents per foot (about 1/2 the cost), and through the Great Plains Conservation Program at about 70 per cent of the cost. With cost share, the cost of these

Townsend talks on U. S. economic system for Lions

The American Economic System was topic of the speech given by guest speaker Millard Townsend at the weekly Morton Lions Club meeting on Jan. 26, at noon. Other guests were Mike Hamilton, of Levelland, Mack Bowers, Earl Bowers, Rynn Thompson and B. H. Tucker, all of Morton.

Jesse T. George ended the meeting with a talk on the Morton Area Youth Conference.

parallel terraces is very little more than the 3 cents per foot it cost to install the old conventional terrace.

We could save almost all of the 18" minus average rainfall that Cochran County receives if every piece of land that has a runoff problem were terraced with the parallel system, and there would be little need to worry about drowned out crops in playa lake areas. The rains that came last June 9th and 10th served well to remind us of the need for some kind of erosion protection. Even so called level land washed pretty badly.

Grass is Nature's way of healing erosion sores on the land, but cropland farmers have to improvise. Parallel terraces have proved to be the best method yet improv-

If you would like to see a parallel system, the SCS offices in Levelland, Lubbock, or Crosbyton can direct you to some that have been installed in their respective areas. Or wait a few weeks and we should have a system to show you here in Cochran County. Contact the local Soil Conservation Service work unit for more information.

What's the best 5-letter word for fertilizer?

And for wheat — NIPAK 45.

Get better wheat crops and earn bigger profits. Topdress your wheat with Nipak 45 right now — for greater yield and higher protein. Nipak 45 — 45% nitrogen fertilizer from Urea — gives you one-third more nitrogen per pound than any other form of solid nitrogen fertilizer — which enables you to handle less fertilizer and cover more ground in less time. Nipak 45 is uniformly prilled, too. It flows easily, won't clog — or corrode your equipment. Nipak also dissolves in the soil moisture and moves quickly to the root zone where it stays put until your crops need it. So for more grow power, ask your local Nipak dealer about Nipak 45. He can help you plan a complete fertilizer program because he can provide a complete fertilizer service.

* "Yes...

I Picked It Up in the City"

* a useful phrase for impressing neighbors with the way we get around

it comes high

FOR some strange reason, a lot of us are inclined to take more pride in some article that we have bought in a Big City Store than we do in an identical item bought at home.

PERHAPS a shirt or a hat, for example, bought in the City, becomes a sort of souvenir of our travels — a reminder of a pleasant break in the routine of life — instead of just another garment.

QUESTION IS . . . how high can we pay to indulge this little human quirk?

A DOLLAR SPENT away from home is a dollar less business in our community. Hundreds of thousands of these dollars ARE being spent that way every year by folks who live here. THAT MUCH MORE MONEY circulated in our community would supercharge its vitality.

CAN WE AFFORD to pass up the extra values that home-spent dollars give us in better schools, more jobs for more people, more prosperous businesses able to do a better job of serving our urgent daily needs?

ISN'T THE PRICE TOO HIGH . . . this whittling away at our own community's economic life . . . isn't this too much to pay for a few relics of our travels to the City?
