Chamber election in progress

The election during November of four new members to the board of directors and long range plans for operations during 1972 were discussed at length at a meeting of the Morton Area Chamber of Commerce last week.

Plans for an intensive membership drive to increase the sagging roster also came under discussion.

November is the normal time for the election of members to replace those whose terms are expiring. Terms of office of the various board members differ as to length and only those expiring at the end of the year are to be filled. Last year there were a total of six new members elected.

The board presently consists of Bill Wells, president; Wayne Wilcox vice-president; Deryl Bennett, treasurer; James St. Clair, secretary and members Mike Doss, James Dewbre, Carl Proctor, Short Lemons, Lloyd Hiner and Don Lynskey. Those with terms expiring for whom replacements will be elected are Lloyd Hiner, Short Lemons, Bill Wells and Deryl Bennett.

The election will take place by mail, with the ballots having been mailed out to each member of the chamber during the latter part of October. Nominees for board membership listed on the ballot includes Gerald Ramsey, Rodney Fralin, C. C. Harvey, Bill Sayers, Hi Duncan, Tobe Hendon, Ralph Soliz, Raymond Lewis, Dexter Nebhut and Billy Carter. The four receiving the highest number of votes will become new board members and, if for any reason one cannot serve, the highest vote-getter after the first four will win his seat.

New members will begin their terms on January 1, 1972 and will be installed formally at the annual chamber banquet which will take place some time in mid-January.

No specific date has been set for the banquet as yet as it will necessarily conform to the date that a prominent speaker being sought by chamber personnel will be available. Several well-known speakers are presently under consideration, probably the best known of whom

MS is a crippling disease of the central nervous system in which the myelin sheath or protective covering of nerve fibers disintegrates. Scars form and nerve impulses are distorted, sometimes even blocked. MS strikes mainly young adults between 20 and 40. An estimated 500,000 Americans suffer from MS and related diseases. Contributions to the National Multiple Sclerosis Society gives hope to MS patients that through research, prevention and cure will be found. It also aids in sickroom equipment needs, physical and occupational therapy, social and re-

Morton pioneer clubwoman to receive TFWC honors

Mrs. Hume Russell, of Morton, who has been a member of Federated Women's Clubs for 40 years, will be honored as one of Texas' Pioneer Club Women at the Texas State Federated Women's Club's Diamond Jubilee Convention.

She first joined a federated club in 1932 in Estelline. She was one of the charter members and first vice president of the Culture Club in that city and served as the club's second president in 1933. While president, she helped in organizing the Community Library of Estelline.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell moved to Morton in 1934 however, she maintained her membership in the Culture Club until January of 1936 when the 1936 Study Club in Morton was organized. She is a charter member of the club and was the first president. Again while serving as president of the new club, she was instrumental in establishing the Cochran County Library, which officially opened in 1937.

The former Eltha Austin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Austin, of Childress, was educated in Childress and at West Texas State University. Upon completing her education, she taught in a two room school in the Purple Hill Community, approximately eight miles from Childress.

While teaching there, she met her future husband in a "mud hole." She was travelling from Estelline to Childress when her car slipped off the road and Hume came by and helped in getting her car out of the ditch.

A year's courtship followed and on Valentine Day, 1924, the Russells and good friends, Mr. and Mrs. Hulen Clifton, were married in a double ceremony.

The two couples have celebrated 45 years of their 47 wedding anniversaries together. One year Hume was hospitalized

Tribe trampled by thundering hooves of Olton's Mustangs

A thundering herd of Olton Mustangs rode the magical passing arm of Steve Stockdale and an opportunistic defense to rack up a 20-7 win over the Morton Indians Friday night and keep themselves in the thick of the district 3-AA race.

Olton used three costly Tribe mistakes to score all of their touchdowns. The first came just before the end of the first quarter. The Indians were back on their own 27-yard line facing a fourth down punt. The Mustangs poured through the Morton line and partially blocked Ted Thomas' attempt and took over on the Tribe 32-yard line. Seven plays later Favian Minjarez broke over right tackle to score the initial TD of the evening. Steve Stockdale's extra point attempt was wide right which was one of the few mistakes he made all night.

On the first play of the second half, Indians who had received the ball had a faulty exchange between Keith Embry and Kevin Kuehler and the Mustangs recovered on the Tribe 22-yard line. The big Olton fullback Marlos May bulled his way down to the 3-yard line and from there Stockdale and his rifle arm went to work. He roled out to his right and flipped the ball to his tight end Keith Workman who was all alone in the back of the end-zone. On the extra-point attempt Stockdale took off around right end again but this time instead of passing he kept the ball and plunged across the double stripe.

Later in the 3rd quarter, Olton drove the ball down to the Indian 1-foot line but a magnificent stand by the Tribe defense shut off the Mustang threat.

A couple of plays later misfortune again

Farm credit system to undergo revamping

There is good news for Cochran Countians, both farmers and non-farmers in an item received from Washington this week.

The House voted 331-19 Monday night to revamp the nation's farm credit system.

One major innovation would permit the system to provide nonfarm credit for the first time.

Federal land banks and production credit associations would be empowered to make nonfarm housing loans in rural areas, defined as communities of up to 2,500 persons. The loans would be limited to 15 per cent of the total outstanding loans for a given area.

The bill also would increase the limit on land bank loans from 65 per cent to 85 per cent of the appraised value of the farms or ranches.

The bill would limit authority for financially related services available to borrowers to services needed for on-farm operations.

Country banks would be protected by a provision assuring that obligations issued by the system would be subject to the same limits regarding rate, amount and maturity as those imposed on member banks by the Federal Reserve Board.

★ Crime

The Morton Area Chamber of Commerce and the Small Business Administration office of Lubbock will present a program titled "Crime Prevention" in Morton on November 11.

The program, which begins at 7:30 p.m. in the County Activities building will consist of two films, one on shop lifting and one on the passing of worthless checks. The shoplifter film will be followed by a question and answer session with members of the Morton police department and the film on "paperhangers" will be followed by a similar session with the county attorney participating.

The program is designed to help merchants prepare for the Christmas season when these two activities are the highest.

HALLOWEEN VANDALISM . . .

NOT-SO-FUNNY HALLOWEEN PRANK resulted in the destruction of a large portion of cinder block fence above which will require considerable money to replace. Mrs. Mike Enos, in whose back yard at 205 East Fillmore the destruction took place, points it out to L. W. Barrett, next door neighbor and owner of the property. Pranksters did an estimated $800-1,000 in damage over the weekend, officials claim.

Professor cautions cattlemen on dangers of certain forages

Cattlemen who are grazing their animals on grain sorghum stubble, Sudan grass or Johnson grass and who ignore signs of an early frost could be making a fatal mistake as far as those animals are concerned.

The reason is the danger of prussic acid or hydrocyanic, poisoning occurring in these types of plants when they are under stress such as that produced by an untimely frost.

According to Prof. John Baumgardner of Texas Tech's Department of Animal Science, the forage of plants such as sorghum, Sudan and Johnson grass contains a substance known as glucoside. It breaks down this substance and releases the prussic acid poison.

The likelihood of such a chemical reaction occurring is especially high in young plants," Baumgardner said, "and the regrowth of these plants in fields which have already been combined. Due to the high amount of recent moisture,

Local scalping party expected as Indians, Chiefs tangle Friday

The West Texas area has been the scene of many big Indian battles, and Friday night's encounter between the Morton Indians and the Friona Chieftains will be no exception. The game, which is to be played at Friona, is a must for the Morton Tribe if they are to keep from slipping into the cellar of district 3-AA with the Chiefs.

Key personnel in Friona's wishbone offense are junior quarterback John Bandy and senior fullback Bill Bailey. Bandy, a 155 lb. speedster, is an excellent passer and he is an adequate passer when he throws. Bandy is also a dangerous punt returner.

Bailey has led the Chieftains all year long. He is tough, punishing runner but he also has fairly good speed when he breaks into the secondary. Another big back for the Chiefs is right half Mike Royal. The 194-lber led Friona scoring last year and he has the speed and power to pick up extra yardage when he makes contact with the defense. The front line for the Chieftains is about the same size as the Indians although Friona will have the edge in experience. Bandy's favorite receiver is split end Andy Fallwell. The Chiefs make sparing use of the pass, though, as they are a run team that likes to run the ball down their opponent's throat.

The Friona defense, which is very similar to the Morton defense is led by Bill Bailey. Bailey, who was All-District last year at linebacker has been even better in the position this year. Another top performer is cornerback James Bartlett who picked off a pass against Abernathy last week to set up a touchdown.

The Chieftains have a 2-5-1 seasonal record and an 0-5 district record while the Morton Tribe are 2-6 and 1-4. The Tribe will be looking to avenge last year's 25-13 defeat and all indications point out that the game will be a very interesting affair.

THE GANG'S ALL HERE . . .

THAT'S PUTTING IT LIGHTLY, as an enormous crowd, by Morton standards, turned out for the highly successful Halloween Carnival held in the bowling alley building on the Levelland highway and sponsored by the Emlea Smith Junior Study Club. Every room in the building was equally crowded as the one above in which many of the large variety of concessions were located. A large number of organizations sponsored booths and concessions, providing something for the kids — of all ages. The carnival provided a valuable service in giving prospective mischief makers something to do and thus keeping them off the streets.

and the other year the Hulens were expecting their first grandchild and the two couples were unable to be together.

The Russells moved to Morton in 1934. Hume operated a cotton gin and their first home was in the old Morton Hotel. Recounting those early days, Eltha laughingly told how water was furnished by a tank on the square operated by a windmill, there was no electricity and their rooms were heated by an oil stove.

Speaking of her first club days she recalled the first District 7 meeting she and Mrs. Hulen attended in Hereford in 1932. "In those days when you went to a convention, you stayed in homes of the host members and when the 1936 Study Club was organized, each member brought their own silver and china to the meetings. No one had enough to serve the whole club." The Russells had the only piano in Morton at this time and all musical programs were held in their home.

Eltha has not only served as president of the 1936 Study Club twice but has held every office in the club.

Aside from her membership in Federated Clubs for forty years, she is a charter member of the Morton Eastern Star and is a past Texas Deputy Grand Matron. She and Hume have been active members in the First United Methodist Church since moving to Morton and she has served as Church treasurer, in the Women's Missionary Society and taught in the Sunday School Department for many years.

The couple have a son, Jack, who is a former Mayor of Morton, a favorite daughter-in-law, Mary Ellen, and two grandchildren, David and Mary Ann, who live in Fort Worth.

Reflecting back over Eltha's early life in Cochran County one might say she is truly one of the "Pioneer Ladies" of our county as well as of Federated Clubs.

struck the Indian offense in the form of another fumble. This time Olton remained on the Morton 28. Four straight plays May carried the ball until it came to rest on the 2-yard line. Then Workman's big runningback turned tight end, and back into his old position and passed his way through left guard to put 4 points on Olton's side of the board. This TD ended the scoring for the night.

The Tribe scored its only touchdown the second quarter on a 1-foot play by Kevin Kuehler. The score capped a six-play, 52 yard drive. Bryant Lewis led the extra point and the Indians were in at halftime with a 7-6 lead.

The Indians picked up 173 yards on ground and once again Kevin Kuehler, the leading rusher with 70 yards, led the Tribe gained 21 yards through the end and all of that yardage came on a strong left arm of Ted Thomas who at quarterback on the last series of plays for Morton.

Stockdale was the leader for the Mustangs as he rushed for 50 yards and led for 145 yards during his night's play. The top ground-gainer for Olton was who picked up 91 yards.

The win left Olton with 3-1 record in district so they still have an opportunity to represent 3-AA in post season play.

Morton dropped to a 1-4 record, they are still playing with the same class which has characterized the team's effort all year long.

for cattlemen to move their animals away from this dangerous grazing before a frost comes," he urged. "This is one time cattlemen cannot afford to listen to weather forecasts with skepticism because animals must be moved the night before a frost is forecast to occur. If the forecast is accurate, waiting until the next morning would be too late."

Baumgardner said that under conditions of good, clear and warm weather, it takes "about two weeks" following the frost for the danger of prussic acid poisoning to subside and that by the time the plant is cured out, the acid will have disappeared.

BY BILL SAYERS

Some of our faithful readers (we hope) may have noticed that we did not publish a column last week. The reason we did not publish it is not because we did not write one. Quite to the contrary, we really smoked the pages but after considerable reflection, decided that there was no call to be quite so radically angry as the column reflected. And, by the time we had come to this conclusion, it was too late to re-write it so we left it out. (thus leaving more room for local news).

The thing we were so incensed about was the vote in the United Nations to admit Communist China and expel the Republic of China, who actually had had a strong hand in forming the UN in the first place. We have no quarrel with seating the Communist Chinese in the UN. As a matter of fact, we have long thought that The United States should recognize the facts of diplomatic life and recognize the Red Chinese government mainly to get representatives in their country and establish listening posts so that we can monitor what is going on in that country. Much the way the Russians do all over the world.

What really incenses us, however, is the expulsion, without preamble or backward glance, the Taiwan Republic of China. It is our understanding that the only grounds for expulsion from the UN, according to its charter, is REPEATED violations of the principles of that charter. Nationalist China had never been guilty — or accused of violating the charter even once.

Let's make it clear right here that we have never had any love or admiration for the Nationalist Chinese as presently constituted — mainly because they would never have had to leave the mainland if they hadn't been so corrupt that they could not function effectively as a government — and therefore, could not control or command an army that could stop the Communists. However, when the UN was formed, the Nationalist government was in full control on the mainland of China, and she was a full partner in the forming of the international body.

For the past two decades, however, she has been living off your and my tax money in the form of billions of dollars in aid, and, apparently enjoying life very well with no thought of repayment or any other form of progress that would indicate that the money was well spent. To put it less than politely, they've been a real drag.

They are not the only drags, however, when you consider that the United States props the entire UN activity up financially so that it may continue to operate. There is a vast dearth of countries whose dues to the UN are up to date, and, we dare say, darn few who have ever even started paying their obligations. Still, they claim and win the right to vote on vital questions such as the one mentioned above.

They do not love us because we fostered them, coddled them, protected them and financed their advancement into the world of nations. No, they hate us for it. It has, of course, all boiled down to the point where these countries, so-called, wish to take their hate out upon their benefactors and the current issue gave them one of their greatest opportunities to date. We are now reaping the dubious harvest of good will we have sown in the past among imming nations that would never have seen the light of day without us.

The sight of that aboriginal so-called diplomat delegate from Tanzania (a country that owes considerable toward its existence to the U.S.) doing a dance of glee in front of the rostrum in celebration of the victory over the United States was almost too big a lump to swallow.

We say cut UN support to the bone down to the level of other participants — and if they want to call it "Dollar Diplomacy," so be it. It's time we stopped playing "sucker" to the advantage of our demonstrated enemies.

Under the heading of "Things-I-have-always-wondered-about, -but-never-went-to-any-particular-trouble-to-find-out-about" could be this item taken from an Oregon publication:

The Oregon Motorist magazine asks drivers, should the best tires go on the front or on the rear of your automobile. The magazine then goes on to say: "This question has caused considerable controversy in recent years as experts strive to decide which is truly the better procedure. Now comes the National Bureau of Standards to report that the best tires should be used on the rear wheels. Failure of rear tires is a more important cause of accidents than failure of front tires, says the Bureau after exhaustive tests."

We see where there is a movement afoot, led by chief tearjerker and faint heart Senator McGovern of South Dakota, to declare an amnesty for all the valiant patriots that have fled to Canada and points elsewhere to avoid the dastardly draft. It is suggested that this amnesty and tearful reunion with a forgiving mother country take place during the Christmas holidays when "the spirit of forgiveness and good will runs the highest."

How does th grab you wives, mothers, fathers, sisters, brothers and others who have loved ones still in Southeast Asia who are now and will be putting their lives on the line for their country even during the Christmas holidays?

Poor handwriting causes losses exceeding $1 million weekly, according to the Handwriting Foundation. The most costly errors mentioned by the foundation include tax mix-ups, misdirected correspondence, and misinterpreted instructions.

Are you listening, Lloyd Hiner. It certainly is not our objective to ridicule Lloyd Hiner's handwriting in public — quite to the contrary, we are one of the greatest admirers of same. Lloyd's classic script is not only unique to the Western world, but it is intriguing to the point of distraction to we, who interpret it for a profit.

The curves Lloyd can throw at you in a simple sentence of advertising copy can challenge that of the most interesting of female anatomies, extremely interesting, but where do they lead?

Certainly, we could improve on neither.

That was some kind of a Halloween Carnival that took place here Saturday night. It was a huge success as indicated by the enormous crowd it attracted and a fine public service in that it kept the malicious mischief around the town to a minimum by giving the youngsters something fun to do and provided a real good time for "kids" of all ages.

The Emlea Smith Junior Study Club deserves a great big congratulations and thank you for their superhuman efforts. We sincerely hope that this will be a highlight of the fall season every year

Morton junior football teams up records with week's wins

Morton's 7th graders got back on the winning trail with three wins during the last two weeks.

The streak began with a 56-0 romp over Ralls. The victory was attained through an overall team effort.

Next was a 26-8 win over Frenship. The offensive leader was Lloyd Joyce who scored 3 touchdowns. The defense was keyed by Sam Johnson and Joyce.

The 7th grade then ran its season record to 5-1-1 with a 14-0 triumph over Friona. The first score came when Sam Johnson intercepted a pass and returned it for the TD. Lloyd Joyce then scooted across from 5 yards out. Homer Van Hoose ran over the extras.

The 8th grade team ran its record to 6-0-1 for the season with 3 more victories. They won the Rils game by a 13-12 score. L. V. Hall scored on an 80-yard pass from Kenneth Standmire. Hall kicked the extra point and it proved to be the winning margin. Standmire scored from 10 yards out with one minute to go in the game to carry the Indians to victory. Against Frenship Eddie Mendez scored on a two yard run and Larry Shaw and Eddie Dunn tackled a Tiger runner in the end-zone to make the final score 8-0.

Against Friona Hall's educated toe took the Tribe to a 7-6 victory. Morton was for a long time to come.

We just couldn't end this week's words of wisdom without including the following very thought-arresting item. The fact that the incident took place in the capital of the second greatest welfare dispensing state in the Union, we think is significant:

SACRAMENTO, CALIF., JOURNAL: "A gray-haired old woman was preparing to enter a bus at 9th & L Streets; she was large and somewhat crippled. Her arms were loaded with packages. As the bus door opened, a man waiting behind her offered a helping hand. The old lady smiled but shook her head. 'I'd best manage along,' she said. 'If I get help today . . . I'll want it tomorrow.' My admiration for her grew, and suddenly I knew she had in one clear sentence summed up the welfare tragedy."

With citizens like that, our Republic can't be all bad.

Real enemies

By LIBBY MUDGETT

HAVE NEVER received a Dale Carnegie Award for Winning Friends and Influencing People. Therefore, I have no suggestions whatsoever about what should have been done to keep Taiwan from being voted out of the United Nations.

FOR SOME REASON it fails to grieve like it seems to be all the big and wigs, possibly because their representatives walked out before the votes and respect, possibly because I have never seen the sense of having a United States that does nothing but Lose Friends and Influence Nobody — Expensively. When it comes to What To Do About An Enemy, I've had many long years of experience — no awards, just experience.

THE FIRST THING is to make sure who is your enemy. You might be surprised how many enemies will be among your friends, which the night's voting in the U.N. should have proved to the United States. If you're dead sure you've got an enemy, there's only two things to do with it: decide if they're worth making into a friend, in which case give it all you've got in effort. OR watch them like the plague so you can outflank them before they back you.

IN CASE YOU decide to make the enemy into a friend, you won't be able to buy them. Bought friends are still enemies, which the United States also should have found out by now, and you've still got the same problem.

Keeping an eye on a bought friend is just as much trouble as keeping an eye on an out and out enemy and a whole lot more demoralizing.

ONE THING YOU must never, never do with an admitted enemy is ignore them, all preaching to the contrary. Keeping them out of your little organization, be it the U.N. or the Ladies Sewing Circle, is dangerous.

Not only does it fail to make them into a friend, it makes them more frustrated than ever, therefore a more dangerous enemy.

BESIDES, how can you watch closely an enemy that's not ever present? There's the spy system, of course, but they'll have one, too, and it's somewhat dependable as the old gossip game proves over and over again.

And ignoring an enemy is as futile as ignoring the skunks under your house in the hopes they'll go away. They won't — they'll multiply, that's what they'll do.

NOW ONCE YOUR ENEMY is admitted

FALL FESTIVAL ROYALTY . . .

with queen Kay Fine on his left. Each class in the school crowned a prince and princess, with the kings and queens reigning over all. Following the coronation ceremonies, everyone enjoyed the many carnival activities where a booth was provided by each class.

Program on Conservation for L'Allegro Study Club

Mrs. Edwood Harris and Mrs. E. W. Willingham presented a program on conservation to members of the L'Allegro Study Club October 21 in the home of Mrs. Bud Thomas.

Mrs. Harris spoke on "Polluting." She told the members that the average American throws away from five to seven pounds of solid waste each day, and that large scale recycling of used wood fibers can help reduce the nation's air and water pollution as well as the mounting piles of urban solid wastes.

Naturally, you won't believe a word of it. Not after a little experience, you won't, but if you're worth your salt at all, pretty soon you'll learn to interpret what their meaning is pretty closely.

AND WITH A little more experience, you'll soon learn what's even more important — their intentions.

Which is where you can plan your outflankings before they can get their outflankings to percolating good.

SO THAT'S WHY I'm in agreement with Sir Colin Crow of England when he termed voting Red China into the U.N. a return to reality.

There is nothing realer than a real enemy.

And you'd just better keep them in sight as carefully as you keep your eye on the pawing bull when you cross the pasture. Also, if the bull charges, I wouldn't count on too much help from Taiwan, either.

Mrs. Willingham spoke on air pollution. She said that there has always been air pollution but the pollution made by man is causing serious troubles. "Pollution in rural areas is only one-third as bad as in cities and industrial areas," she concluded.

Mrs. Pat Mullinax gave the inspirational thought for the day. In the business meeting, it was announced that the club would participate in the door to door campaign for the Multiple Sclerosis fund and each member was asked to donate a place setting of stainless flatware to Girlstown.

Members present were: Mmes H. B. Barker, Truman Doss, Van Greene, Harris, James McClure, Mullinax, J. C. Reynolds, Tom Rowden, M. A. Silvers and Willingham.

Ta wa ten ya elects officers

The Ta wa ten ya, 5th grade Camp Fire Girls elected officers at their October 27 meeting.

Tammy Mullinax was elected president; Leslie Holden, vice president; Peggy Bennett, secretary and Mary Smith, reporter.

Following the election, members enjoyed a Halloween party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Deryl Bennett.

Present were: Peggy Bennett, Mary Smith, Mary Orona, Carlon Cobbs, Tammy Mullinax, Annette Willingham, Leslie Holden, Marte Dewbre, Mello Povado, Sonja Barns, Bridgett Blackstock, Suzanne Gillespie, Jay Linn Greer, Trina Maberry and Shelly Travis.

Sensing the news

The expulsion of Free China from the United Nations exposes the worthlessness of that organization as an agency of peace and freedom in the world. Red China, which fought U. N. peacekeeping forces on the battlefield in Korea and which sponsored aggressive warfare in Southeast Asia, is rewarded with membership in the international body. The Free Chinese on Taiwan, who have bravely opposed communist tyranny for more than two decades, are treated as outcasts.

In these circumstances, the United States Congress has every reason to withdraw all financial assistance from the United Nations. Indeed, there is strong-by-partisan sentiment in Congress to do precisely that. For years, the United States has financed the U. N. while the organization worked against American interests and the cause of freedom. Now is the time to take decisive action. Free nations throughout the world should know that the American people do not countenance rewards for aggressor states. While signaling their convictions to other countries Americans also should clearly understand the background of the betrayal of the free Chinese, who are allies of the United States.

The Nixon administration must take full blame for the disaster at the U. N. In recent weeks, the Administration had an opportunity to warn the U. N. that it would cut off funds for the organization's operations if a free nation were expelled to make a place for one of the most tyrannical and dangerous governments of modern times. Numerous members of Congress called on President Nixon and urged him to voice such a warning. He did not heed their request — instead Secretary of State Rogers issued a special statement, announcing that the U. S. would not cut off funds.

The expulsion of Free China has deeper roots than that, however. From the beginning of his administration, Mr. Nixon made it plain that he sought a new "understanding" with Communist China. When he announced his mission to Peking it was apparent that he would seek this understanding at the expense of Free China. The announcement of the mission was de facto recognition of a country responsible for thousands of American deaths in Korea and which still holds Americans captured in that war. It is no wonder, therefore, that Pakistan's ambassador to the U. N., who voted to admit Red China and expel Free China, said: "I would like to acknowledge that President Nixon's new policy contributed to the victory." This is a true statement worthy to be remembered when Mr. Nixon's presidential record is assessed.

Now, unless the administration changes course, Red China will have a seat on the Security Council as President Nixon suggested. Red China's representatives will be based in New York where they will have abundant opportunities for propaganda and subversion. Can anyone doubt that formal recognition of Red China, with Peking's ambassador stationed in Washington, will be far behind? The status of Free China in American official circles is likely to diminish to that of the shadow representation of such captive nations as Estonia and Latvia.

It is incredible that these developments should take place in an administration once regarded as hard-line anti-communist. It seems unlikely that a liberal Eugene McCarthy or Hubert Humphrey would have dared abandon the Free Chinese as rapidly as Richard Nixon has abandoned these reliable allies. The real losers in this diplomatic disaster are the American people, for the Red Chinese are determined to humiliate and cripple the United States. President Nixon in recent months has conferred enormous political advantage on Peking. The Chinese Communist regime has achieved a new great power status in the world as the result of Mr. Nixon's abandonment of a containment policy maintained by four presidents.

The American people are likely to pay dearly in blood and national treasure for Mr. Nixon's appeasement of Red China. As for the U. N., it most probably will go the way of the League of Nations after that organization appeased fascist Italy in 1935 by ignoring the plight of Ethiopia.
