'Successful' Rodeo, celebration ends

OUT OF THE PAST—The group of women shown above were only a few of the many who attended the old settlers reunion dressed in costumes of yesteryear last Thursday. The

A top notch rodeo and what was undoubtedly one of the biggest and best celebrations ever staged in these parts wound down to their conclusion Saturday night, leaving a large number of countians near the point of exhaustion.

The "Last Frontier Days" celebration, held in observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of Cochran county, was deemed a solid success by all who witnessed or who participated in it. The rodeo matched it stride for stride in quality of performance.

The celebration ended after a solid week of activities designed for all age groups--from motorcycle races for the young to an old settlers convention for the senior citizens. A large number of visitors from out of town were present to watch or participate in activities that struck their fancy over the week's scheduled events.

Karen Clark, candidate for the Cochran County Roping Club was crowned queen of the 25th annual Last Frontier Rodeo and will reign over the festivities in 1975.

Highlights of the week of activities included a horse shoe pitching tournament, with Tom Rice winning top honors; a tobacco spitting contest, with R.E. Brotherton winning not only the senior citizens spitting contest, but also winning the accuracy contest in the open spitting tournament. Thirteen-year-old Tony Smith won the distance contest with a spit of 22 feet.

Henry Lester, of Idalou, was the winner of the old fiddlers contest and is $75 richer as a result. Second place and $30 went to Randy Brownlow of Morton and third place and $20 went to Dale Merritt of Lamesa. Judging was done by Connie Walker of Hereford, Donnie Fangman, of RODEO ROYALTY—Karen Clark seems to have the world in her saddle as she accepts the bouquet of roses that symbolizes her title as 25th Last Frontier Rodeo Queen from Cochran County Rodeo Association President Truman Murdock during the last rodeo performance Saturday night. Karen will reign over the 25th Last Frontier Rodeo in 1975.

Cotton outlook seen better than expected

The cotton market has been fairly quiet in recent months.

Welcome rains dampen county

Most welcome, but all-too-light, rain showers have dampened the parched earth throughout the county over the past week, bringing with them a blanket of cool, damp air that brought a measure of relief to sun-baked Cochran countians. Showers were sporadic and intermittent over the South Plains, with amounts varying from a high of two inches but that situation should change before too long, contends a marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"With dwindling mill stocks of cotton and a crop situation still highly subject to the vagaries of weather, mills should soon begin to buy new crop cotton, and that should boost prices," believes Charles K. Baker.

Another big factor, says Baker, is the foreign mills. "They may actually start the buying spree, and when they do, domestic mills will want to get their share of the crop before prices move too high. For domestic mills, it's been

Almost double by 1980 cattle feeding to rise sharply

The Texas Cattle Feeding Industry is projected to reach 17.3 million head level by 1980. That would be 70 per cent greater than the 4.3 million head output recorded in 1972," predicts Dr. Ed larger population and a substantial increase in the per capita disposable income level, plus added demand factors such as the food stamp program. In 1973 Texas fed cattle marketings represented 17 per cent of the national total. If Texas attains the projected 7.3 million head level by 1980 and the rest of the nation grows to the expected 38.5 million head level, the Texas share of the national output will increase to 19 per cent. "My guess would be that Texas cattle feeding could easily reach that 7.3 million level and maybe even as much as 7.7 million head," contends Uvacek. The trend toward larger feedlots also seems certain. With bigger lots being utilized more efficiently, fewer such facilities will be needed. The upper-end of the Texas Panhandle has recorded the major growth in feedlots, in slaughtering plants and related beef industry firms. This area is in the sorghum belt, the principal cattle-feed supply region.

One interesting facet of this feeding expansion in the High Plains of Texas is the fact that within less than a 100 mile radius from Amarillo are four other cattle feeding areas in other states. These other areas are still within easy reach of the same sorghum supplies, the same packers and the same other related industries. What then will keep cattle feeding in Texas?

A CHAMP SHOWS HIS FORM—R.E. Brotherton, who had previously won the senior citizens tobacco spitting contest, shows his form here as he competes in the "accuracy" division of the open spitting contest. And, would you believe, he did it again, thus taking two of the three "golden spittoons" that were given as prizes. The distance division was won by Tony Smith, a 13-year-old of Morton, who fired his blast for 22 feet.

Use figure control props 4-Hers hold 'shape up' review

The Cochran County 4-H Dress Revue was held Monday, July 29, at the Figure Control Salon in Morton. "Shape Up in 4-H Fashion" was the theme with the exercise equipment being used as part of the stage props and decoration. Twenty-two participants modeled for judges Elinor Harvey and Martha Couch, both County Extension Agents from Gaines County, Seminole.

Narration was given by Wyn Crone, senior 4-H member from Morton. Awards were presented by Mrs. Gail Gladden, Cochran County Extension Agent, assisted by Mrs. Larry Buchanan and Mrs. Ann Griffith. Suzanne Gillespie registered guests and assisted with the revue. Bledsoe 4-H Club was in charge of decorations.

Red Awards - Rebecca Holladay, Karen Bilbrey, Karen Redman, Shirley Roberts, Leesa Bilbrey, Robin Polvado, and Melanie Polvado. White Awards - Sharon Blackstock, Cindy Sutton, Sharon Lynch, and Angie Perez.

Winners in each division were: Sylvis Paz, High Point beginner; Jay Lynn Ware, junior winner; Velinda Davis, alternate junior winner; Wyn Crone, Senior winner; Bridgette Blackstock, alternate senior winner. Miss Ware and Miss Crone represented Cochran County at the District 2 4-H Dress Revue at the Lubbock Country Club in Lubbock on August 6, 1974.

Word to the Tribune just before press time indicated that Wyn Crone won in District and will advance to the state competition.

PARADE MARSHAL—H.R. McCasland, who served as Cochran county's first clerk and as Morton's first school teacher, was apparently enjoying himself greatly as he was driven in the vanguard of the annual rodeo parade last Thursday. As the only surviving member of the county's first government, he was honored with appointment as the parade marshal, during observance of the 50th anniversary of the organization of the county.

Accent on health

Mention a case of childhood poisoning and one generally thinks of a host of potentially lethal household substances which the child could have imbibed, not knowing the dangers involved.

But officials at the State Health Department are quick to emphasize that the dangers of poisoning are not restricted to items within the home. Potential sources of poison thrive in backyards and gardens all across Texas. The little known sources of these poisons—common, garden-variety plants.

Most plants are harmless. Many are poisonous under certain conditions. A few are poisonous under nearly all conditions. More than 700 species of plants in the United States are known to have caused death or illness. Each year, about 12,000 children in this country chew or swallow potentially poisonous plants.

The poisonous nature of a plant is caused by the presence of one or more kinds of substances. There are some substances which are themselves toxic to animals: an alkaloid, for example, is the toxic principle in poison hemlock. Other substances are initially harmless but may decompose to form toxic products soon after being eaten—an example is glucoside, a sugar produced in wild cherry which changes to form the highly toxic prussic acid. Some substances are formed by the action of micro-organisms on plants: a fungi on moldy hay forms decomposition products, some of which may be toxic. Still other substances are absorbed directly from the soil and stored in harmful quantities in the tissues of certain plants: selenium, for example, may be found in some species of locoweeds, or potassium nitrate may be present in oats.

To the average person, the term "poisonous plant" suggests one that severs upon contact, causing a mild or severe dermatitis or skin irritation. Texas certainly has its fair share of the plants known to be capable of causing such irritations, says State Health Department officials. Possibly the most familiar are the leaves, bark, and fruit of poison ivy and poison oak.

But did you know that hairy leaves and stems of parsnip and lady slippers, the milky juice of spurge, and the leaves of the cultivated primrose are also causes of dermatitis? Lily bulbs and stalks, stinging nettles, and vanilla beans likewise have toxic qualities, and are capable of producing severe skin irritations.

Most poisonous plants are harmful only when they are eaten. In the case of nitrate-containing plants, the nitrate content is reduced to the toxic substance. This substance then enters the blood stream and changes the red pigment of the blood in such a way that it is incapable of transporting oxygen to body tissues. The result is suffocation.

Poisonous mushrooms, mostly toadstools, cause more than 100 fatalities in this country each year. Daffodil bulbs, larkspur seeds, lily of the valley flowers, and jasmine berries are all harmful if eaten. So, too, are the leaves of the poinsettia and oleander bush, and all parts of buttercups, rhododendrons, and laurels. In some plants, only particular parts are toxic. A classic example is the rhubarb which has a perfectly edible stalk, but contains a deadly poison in the leaf.

Contact poisoning can be prevented best by learning to recognize the plants and avoiding them. Of course, it is always individuals who worked hard, it would not have been possible.

We appreciate the comments we have received on this year's celebration and makes us very appreciative and makes us feel our efforts have been worthwhile. We are proud to be a part of the community.

Again, our thanks to you, Morton Area Chamber of Commerce,
(s) Jerry Schaeffer, President

a wait and see attitude, but once buying begins, the market should perk up. Why have domestic mills stayed out of the market for so long? There are two main reasons, points out the Texas A&M University specialist — high interest rates and a desire to hold the price line as long as possible. A short cotton crop for Texas and the United States is in the offing, and this should get mills in the buying mood before too long. Baker earlier estimated the U.S. cotton crop at 13 million bales and this still looks like a good projection. More than 350,000 acres of cotton have already been lost in Texas due to dry conditions, and earlier planting estimates by the U.S. Department of Agriculture can now be evaluated as some 400,000 acres too high in Texas and the other Cotton Belt states.

"With a U.S. cotton crop of 13 million bales or less, stocks for 1975 will be at a 23-year low," notes Baker.

"Farmers are holding out for higher prices for their crop as they are faced with skyrocketing production costs. The cost of producing a pound of cotton in Texas this year will probably reach 40 cents a pound, up about 9 cents from last year. This necessitates that farmers get a good price for their crop or they won't be producing for very long."

reported in some areas down to a low of .3-.4 inches in others. Official measurements taken at Morton and reported to the Tribune by the United States Weather Bureau office at Lubbock includes .11 inch on August 1; .25 inch on August 5 and .39 inch on August 6.

Checks around the county revealed that the northern edge of the county apparently received the heaviest rainfall with some persons in that area reporting up to two inches and more. The southern half of the county, and the area south and west of Morton, appears to have received the least amounts.

Local agriculture officials generally concede that this amount will not do a great deal of good unless more falls soon. "It will help the irrigated cotton and some young grain sorghum—but we need a lot more," as one put it.

FEEDING

Probably even more important than that—Uvacek asks, "What factors will cause cattle feeding to shift out of Texas?"

He lists several important items — a state corporate tax, state income tax, more stringent pollution laws, imbalance in intra-versus inter-state transportation rates, attitude of Texas toward the cattle feeding business, and other state and federal regulations affecting the industry.

"Certainly these and numerous other economic and political influences will dictate whether or not Texas can retain its leadership role in cattle feeding. They may even be more important than competitive advantages.

"All Texans must not only realize that Texas makes beef, but also that beef contributes greatly to the economic well-being of everyone in the state. The cattle feeding industry deserves and must receive everyone's support," emphasizes Uvacek. "It is the underlying industry that supports thousands of other related industries."

Baskets of pink, yellow, turquoise and white pom poms with candelabras and vases of pom poms decorated the altar. Music for the ceremony was provided by Miss Pam Klieboicker of Monett, Missouri before and after the ceremony. She accompanied Miss Kathy Schueler, cousin of the bride of Friona, and Mrs. Ernest Ramm, aunt of the bride, of Muleshoe as they sang "The Twelfth of Never" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white tulle with a fitted bodice and long sheer puffed sleeves. The skirt was enhanced with lace medallions down the front and around the back to form a chapel train. Her finger-tip veil of illusion felt from a cap of lace, pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of white pom poms tied with turquoise and white ribbons and wore an heirloom necklace belonging to her mother.

Miss Carla Beth Bauer of Halltown, Missouri attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of turquoise chiffon. The fitted bodice featured a high neck and long puffed sleeves. She carried a bouquet of multi-colored pom poms.

Bridesmaids were Cherie Henke of Lakewood, Colo. dressed in yellow and Ruth Ramm of Muleshoe dressed in pink. Both girls are cousins of the bride. They carried multi-colored bouquets of pom poms.

Best man was Larry Klawson of Levelland. Groomsmen were Wayne Kube of Biloxi, Miss. and Dwayne Bauer, brother of the bride, of Halltown, Missouri. They wore western cut suits and shirts the color of the attendants dresses.

Ushers were Steve Bauer, brother of the bride, of Halltown, Missouri and Rick Bauer, cousin of the bride, of Verona, Missouri.

Presiding at the guest book was Cheryl Bauer and distributing rice bags was Leh Bauer, cousins of the bride of Verona, Missouri.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement. Cake, punch, nuts, mints and coffee were served from a table covered with blue and overlay of illusion. The bride's bouquet placed in the center of a horseshoe of multi-colored flowers surrounded by the attendants' bouquets was the centerpiece. Serving were Carolyn Mastin of Friona, Mrs. Carl Schlenker, aunt of the bride, of Friona and Mrs. Ernest Ramm of Muleshoe.

For a wedding trip to Texas, the bride was dressed in a pink and white dress. Her corsage was lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Stalcup will make their home in Levelland.

Are You Helping the Recyclers?

Have you ever considered where recycling's at in your community? Is everything being done to help the recyclers—the scrap metal, waste paper and textile processors and manufacturers—do their job in putting a dent in the mountainous solid waste problem, in combating pollution, conserving our natural resources and saving energy?

The nation's recyclers are burdened with inequitable Federal tax, transportation and "virgin only" procurement policies, but what is equally onerous is the fact that they are also subject to discriminatory zoning and licensing regulations in many areas of the country. Despite recognition of recycling as vital in the solution of our pressing environmental agencies, recyclers are often victims of an unjust, outdated "junk business" philosophy that pervades the thinking of many planning board members and municipal officials.

As pointed out in an evaluation by the National League of Cities and U. S. Conference of Mayors, "Local and regional governments should guard against displacing markets and dislocating secondary materials handlers through zoning and licensing regulations. Too frequently, recycling plants cannot operate within certain "restricted" industrial zones. Industries that must be close to manufacturing and retail operations are forced to locate at distant points."

Recyclers operate modern businesses that contribute economically to the community through local construction, equipment purchases, taxes and employee payrolls. They are an economic asset and a positive environmental asset to a nation struggling to cope with staggering pollution problems.

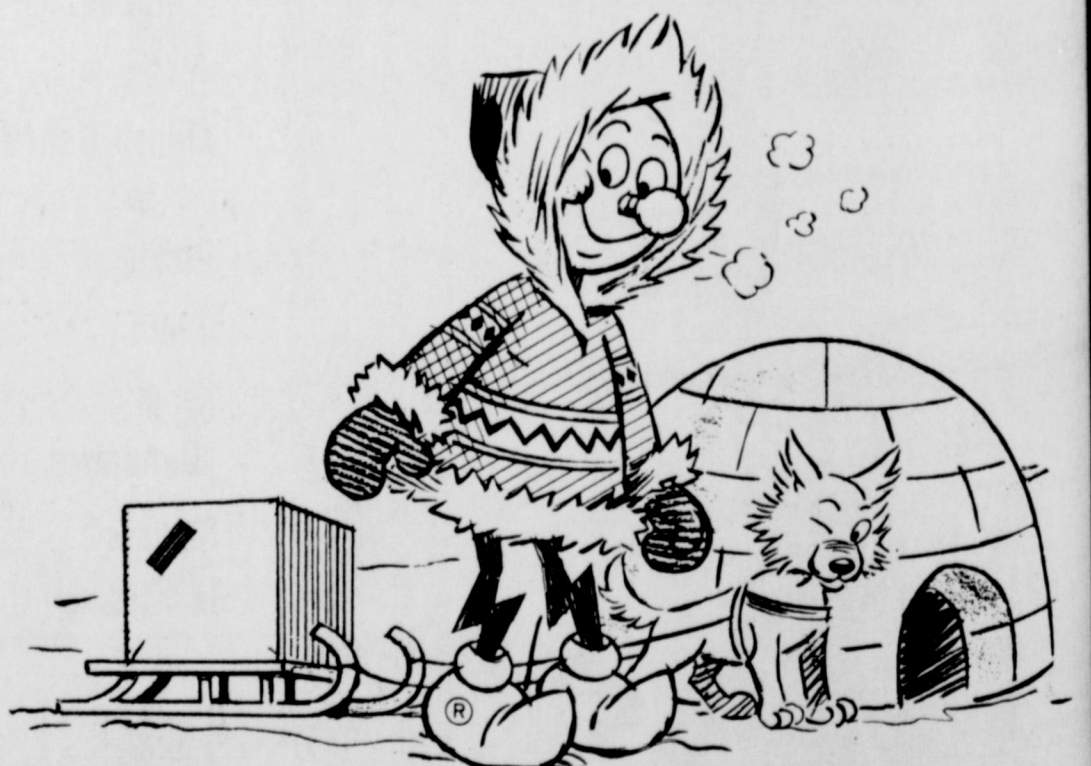

For information on how you can help "junk" outmoded ideas about recycling, write: The National Association of Recycling Industries, 330 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017.

The Outstanding Young Women of America program was conceived, and is today guided, by leaders of the nation's major women's organizations. The program's Board of Advisors, headed by Mrs. Dexter Otis Arnold, is composed of the national presidents of leading women's clubs. Mrs. Arnold is honorary president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

The purpose of the Outstanding Young Women of America program is to recognize young women between the ages of 21 and 35 for their exceptional contributions to their professions, communities and their country. Nominations for this national awards program are made by women's organizations, churches, alumni associations, and individuals throughout the country who have firsthand knowledge of their nominees' abilities and achievements.

A complete biographical sketch of each nominee is included in the annual awards volume, OUTSTANDING YOUNG WOMEN OF AMERICA, which contains special introductory messages from such personages as Constance B. Newman, Consumer Product Safety Commissioner; Jen Mooney, Asst. Vice-President, First National Bank of Montgomery, Ala., and Barbara Jordan, U.S. House of Representatives.
