Judge Smith Expresses 'Thanks' For Assistance To Tornado Victims

Thanks to the people of Floyd County who responded to the plight of our neighbors in Wichita Falls, Vernon, and other towns struck by the April 10 tornadoes.

Your response to the needs of these people reflects the generosity and concern of Floyd County residents. I know that some who contributed sacrificed to help the tornado victims.

The volume of donations — canned goods, clothing, money, etc. — has been greater than any of us could imagine, and so many within our county assisted. I am proud of Floyd County.

Fortunately, a twister of this magnitude has never struck our county. Should we ever be faced with such an emergency, I believe that our neighbors in other areas would help meet our needs as we have attempted to aid those in Vernon, Wichita Falls, and other sites who have bravely faced their ordeal.

Again, my personal appreciation to everyone who responded in such a wonderful manner.

Cowboy Trip 'Sold Out'

"Super response" has been received by Floydada Chamber of Commerce in its sponsorship of a September trip to Dallas to view a Cowboy-Chicago Bear professional football game.

Lance Barrow, CofC manager, said Friday morning that the trip is "sold out". One hundred and two persons had registered.

Barrow emphasizes that a waiting list has been started. "It is real important for people wanting to make the trip to place their names on the waiting list because a few cancellations are likely," Barrow says. Also, there is a possibility of additional transportation.

"We definitely will fly," Barrow notes. The group will leave Floydada shortly after noon Saturday, Sept. 15. The return trip is to be immediately following the Sept. 16 game.

The cost of "about $125 per couple" includes flight arrangements, motel accommodations for one night, game tickets, and transportation to and from the airport. Meal expenses are extra.

Possibly Distributed This Year

Yes, There Will Be A History Book About Floyd County!

The "Floyd County History" book will be published.

Virginia Taylor, president of the Floyd County Historical Museum, assures the public that this will be a book "you will cherish for years to come."

She adds that "we know that some of you have waited quite some time for its arrival and have been disappointed in the time this project has required. We regret this, too, but ask for your understanding and continued support throughout the final stages of the book."

If all goes well, the museum president anticipates that distribution could be made before the end of this year.

FEW VOLUNTEERS

"Please remember that all work has been done by a very few volunteers who have dedicated as much time as possible to the project," Mrs. Taylor states, adding: "They have done everything from licking stamps for letters and sizing photos to 'burning the midnight oil' to meet the publisher's deadline for copy submission. Hours and hours were spent in layout of over 1,000 family stories and photos into a total of 436 pages, as well as gathering, revising, and typing materials for the general history.

"Neither their efforts nor your patience and participation will go unrewarded! At the present time, all copy for the family and general history sections has been compiled. Documented with many photos and copy will be the Floyd County's growth and development since 1876.

"Included will be the history of the Indian culture in the county; histories of individual communities and schools; changes in transportation over the years; and other memorable events and personalities. The story of both past and present residents — the people who have made the county what it is today — will be told and preserved for generations to come."

Mrs. Taylor encourages individuals to "not delay" in ordering additional books they may want. No more orders will be accepted after the final proof is submitted to the publisher. She notes that "this time is close-at-hand."

All money is being held at escrow in First National Bank of Floydada for payment to the publisher at a later date.

Total Moisture For Year: 5.3"

School Budget Apportionment Outlined

Fifty-one percent of the Floydada Independent School District revenue comes from state sources and another 31.7 per cent is derived from local sources, according to Business Manager Tommy Cathey.

Balance of the revenue is garnered from federal funding (12.4 per cent), miscellaneous (2.7 per cent), and transfers (1.1 per cent).

At The Hesperian's request, Cathey categorized FISD revenue and budget for the current school.

major budget item, involving 36.5 per cent or $987,247. This includes salaries, educational teaching aides, some audio-visual repair, a portion of student supplies, books, magazines, and paper, along with teacher supplies.

Special education requires 14.9 per cent of the budget or $401,986. Virtually the entire special education program is federally or state funded. Floydada acts as the fiscal agent for Caprock Plan A Co-op which also includes South Plains, Dougherty, Lockney, Petersburg, and Jayton school districts.

Floydada ISD school budget has assigned 12.1 per cent — $327,213 for federal programs. These federally funded items include migrant, bilingual, and Title I Reading programs, plus salaries for three math aides and one math teacher who shares time between the two elementary schools.

PUPIL SERVICES. Several items are included in the "pupil services" portion of the above graph. They include: library (salaries, repair on old books, new books, magazines and periodicals, and newspapers used in classrooms), $45,650; guidance and counseling, $18,545; health services, $13,745; co-curricular activities, $34,650; food services, $179,950; and state compense, $27,360.

Administration, which encompasses 9.9 per cent of the budget or $266,772, includes salaries for four principals and central office staff. In addition, it involves supplies for administrators, tax office supplies and postage.

Maintenance — 8.0 per cent of the budget or $216,660 — includes a multitude of items: utilities, phones, custodians' salaries, supplies and materials for janitorial duties, summer maintenance program, groundskeeping salaries and upkeep, and building supplies.

Consuming 3.5 per cent of the budget — $94,075 — is transportation. This involves operation of nine regular bus routes and one city route, gasoline, oil, grease for the buses, repairs, drivers' salaries, and bus mechanic's salary.

The remaining 3.4 per cent of the budget or $92,182 is for bonded indebtedness. This, of course, is earmarked for retirement of obligations on existing facilities.

The entire FISD budget for the 1978-79 school year is $2,706,035.

REVENUE OUTLINED

State funding is the single largest source of revenue. This $1,446,443 or 52.1 per cent of the FISD revenue is issued on the basis of the Texas School Foundation Program, which is based on ADA (average daily attendance and other items), plus transportation funding.

Local tax revenue nets 31.7 per cent or $881,350. This is derived from local taxes, current and delinquent.

Federal funding is $344,147 or 12.4 per cent of all FISD revenue for this school year.

Miscellaneous revenue is received for such items as facility rental, drivers education tuition, sales of outdated or worn out equipment (buses, typewriters, copying machines, etc.), cafeteria revenue, tax certificates, and interest from time deposits.

Transfers account for 1.1 per cent of the revenue or $29,700. This includes tuition paid to FISD from other school districts.

Styles Of Life

Becomings
By Duffy

Once upon a time there was a little girl who very early in life ran head-on into reality. This collision was not one she caused, either indirectly by carelessness, or deliberately by self will. Things simply happened and she was plunged into reality deeper than her years were many and the virginity of her loving and childlike outlook was penetrated by pain.

Some who experience such attack are damaged beyond repair and withdraw into a very negative and bitter world. But this little girl survived the onslaught of negating events and in the process developed a very interesting personality. On the exterior she adopted a tough guy image, yet all who came into contact with her, liked her, because what she really was showed through, in spite of it all.

The moral of this story is this, existential hurt can cultivate in those individuals who are open and loving, a kind of feeling and sharing and tolerance quite befitting humankind....Those who see through to things as they really are, and care anyway... Those who do not neglect stopping to feel the wind blow on their faces, those who do not neglect being true to themselves.

WEDDING PLANS REVEALED....Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thompson of Littlefield, formerly of Spade, wish to announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Cynthia Marie, to Ted D. Jordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Jordan of Gorman. Cindy was graduated from Spade High School and is currently employed with Lubbock Sash and Door Company in Lubbock. Ted was graduated from Gorman High School and Tarleton State University, in Stephenville with a B.S. Degree in Agriculture Education. He is the Manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Floydada. The couple plan to be married Saturday, June 9, at 6 p.m. in the chapel of The First Baptist Church in Littlefield.

MR. AND MRS. C.E. WILSON

C. E. Wilsons Honored On Anniversary

Charles E. Wilson and his wife, Mrs. Ruth Elaine Wilson, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on April 20 with a party at the Gridiron Restaurant in Lubbock. The party was attended by the couple's son, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Ted D. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Thompson, all of Littlefield, and Ruth Elaine Wilson.

The party was blue and white with the wedding date in shades of orange. Soft orange tapers and tulip bouquets, marked the guests' tables. Forty attended, including these out-of-state guests: Mrs. Bill Ballew, Bentonville, Arkansas; Mrs. George Harris, Mrs. Harold White, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold McIntyre of Iowa, Kansas; Miss Judy McIntyre of Kansas City, Kansas; Mrs. Mildred Strickland of Hutchinson, Kansas; and Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Break of Florence, Kansas.

The former Nancy Jane Foster and Wilson were married April 18, 1928 in Humboldt, Kansas. They lived in Eldorado, Kansas and he was employed by Service Pipeline Company as connection foreman until 1930 when he was transferred to Illinois, where he served as main line foreman until 1944. Their son, Chuck, was born in Galesburg, Illinois, August 19, 1932.

He was transferred to Brownfield, Texas as district foreman and the office was moved to Lubbock in 1948. He served as Division Manager of the West Texas Division of Service Pipeline until his retirement December 9, 1966, with more than 44 years service.

Before his retirement, they were active in the National Casting Association. He was president of NCA for two years, and she was the national champion caster in the women-over-50 division. Since his retirement, they have traveled extensively in the western United States, Canada, and Alaska.

Chairman of the Ways and Means committee Julie Hickerson, discussed the final plans for the Volleyball Tournament, April 19, 20, 21. Work schedules were set up, and members were assigned last minute details to be taken care of.

Donna Henderson gave the Service report, Thursday, April 26. Sue Williams, Pat Cates, Carrie Bertrand, Debbie Breed and Lu Ann Collins will host the party at the Rest Home.

BOTULISM POISONING

Symptoms produced by botulism poisoning are difficulty in swallowing, speech and respiration, double vision, and death if paralysis of the respiration muscles occurs.

This year, the second largest outbreak of botulism reported in the United States since recording began in 1899 occurred in New Mexico. Thirty-two people eating in a country club restaurant became ill. To date, one of those affected died.

A study of the foods served revealed that two items—potato salad and three-bean salad—were responsible for the spread of the disease.

This indicates that cross-contamination or the addition of contaminated ingredients was responsible.

For this outbreak to occur, the following conditions had to be present:

(1) The botulism organism was present in the food or foods.

(2) The food causing the outbreak was canned or processed in some way.

(3) An inadequate method of food processing occurred in permit spore survival and toxin formation.

(4) Conditions after processing permitted the spore to grow and produce toxin.

(5) The food was not heated enough to inactivate the toxin.

(6) The poisonous food was eaten.

To prevent botulism contamination in foods preserved at home, always follow the USDA recommended canning procedures.

Never use any food from a bulging or swollen can. Discard any food with a bad odor or foamy appearance.

Boil all home-processed foods 10 to 20 minutes serving to inactivate any toxins that are present.

Nursing Home Holds Birthday Party

marked with special birthday cards. The table was laid with a white cloth and centered with an unusual birthday cake made by one of Mrs. Baker's granddaughters. The cake itself, iced in white with green trim, formed the skirt for a very pretty doll which topped the cake. The floral decoration was a beautiful arrangement of assorted, antique flowers in a yellow wicker basket.

The Hesperian photographer came for the "picture taking" after which the poem was read and all joined in singing the "birthday" song. The refreshment plate was a most delicious birthday cake and a very tasty fruit punch.

At the table and enjoying the day with Mrs. Neff were her son Edd and three daughters-in-law, Lavada, Leona and Ona Ruth Neff. Seated at the table and helping Mrs. Baker enjoy the party were her daughter Faye Dawdy, son and daughter-in-law Sam and Betty Baker and granddaughter-in-law Cheryl Dawdy. We are so happy to have these guests with the honorees and, unless you have been present, you have no idea how much it helps the honored ones to have relatives and friends with them for the occasion.

The next party will be Thursday, May 17, 2:30 p.m. You are invited to attend and urged to come if you have a relative or close friend being honored.

RIDERS in St. Jude's Cancer Research Bike-A-Thon present their checks to Anne Willson, chairman. Ricky Poole (cap) and Joey Kemp earned a combined total of $165 by riding 48 miles.

Bike-A-Thon Attracts 13

Thirteen people rode in the Bike-A-Thon for St. Jude's Children's Research on a Saturday spring day, April 14. Eight children rode in the mornings for a total of 58 miles.

They were: Cornelius Campbell, Joey Thayer, Joey Kemp, June Willson, Angie Bertrand, Ricky Poole, Marylise McGaugh, and O'Bryn Barker.

In the afternoon, 12 persons rode out to the roadside park on the Ralls Highway — an eight mile ride — one way.

Jack Moore rode the distance twice — piling up a total of 32 miles, the longest distance of the day. Several children who participated in the morning event also rode the eight-mile lap in the afternoon.

Participating in the afternoon event were: Anne Rose, 16 miles; Frances Rose, 16 miles; Rhonda Guthrie, 8 miles; Ilene Kendrick, 8 miles; Lynn Daniels, 8 miles; Jack Moore, 32 miles; Kim Moore, 16 miles; Marylise McGaugh, 8 miles; Larry Smith, 20 miles; Joey Kemp, 20 miles; Ricky Poole, 22 miles; and June McGaugh, 8 miles.

A total of $668.00 was sent to the Research Center "as the results of some very generous supporters of this cause."

"We wish to thank everyone who helped in any way to make this a fun event as well as a support to a good charity," said Chairman Anne Willson. Rhonda Guthrie, Ilene Kendrick, Lynn Daniels, and June McGaugh rode as a group for their sorority, Alpha Sigma Upsilon.

Census Workers To Begin Knocking Floyd Addresses

U.S. Census workers will begin door-to-door census-taking within the next few days in Floyd County. The purpose of the address program is to compile a complete list of all the county for the 1980 census. When the 1980 census questionnaire will be mailed to each residence. Kelly Epperson, census manager in the county, said residents can identify the census employees by a red, white, and blue census identification card which all will carry. Census workers also will carry 11" by 16" books, or addresses registers, in which the addresses are written. These address lists will play a vital role in the nationwide 1980 census. They will be used to produce mailing labels for the census questionnaires. Census Day is April 1, 1980.

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Stenholm Questions Diesel Shortage, Full Production

The following is an excerpt from an Agriculture Subcommittee hearing on March 29 dealing with the current shortages of available diesel supplies for agricultural production. Mr. Barton is director of the Office of Energy, Department of Agriculture and is being questioned by Congressman Charles W. Stenholm.

Mr. Stenholm. I notice on page 5 of your comments, Mr. Barton, you emphasize that we need to have the ability to meet our fuel requirements for full and fiber production. My question to you is this: Why do we continue to emphasize massive production of food and fiber in this country when we are unable to sell what we are raising now? We have the price levels to our farmers on commodities below the cost of production. We also have an energy crisis. In West Texas, particularly, the supplies of diesel are extremely tight. And, I am sure that, based on the figures we have, it will be all around the nation before too long, yet we continue to emphasize full production. The Secretary, in the morning's paper, is quoted as saying that we may have to subsidize our wheat exports in order to hold our share of the world market. This means we will have to spend more taxpayers' money. We are going in the wrong direction, I think. What good does it do us to continue to use our scarce resources for full production when we cannot sell what we are already raising?

Mr. Barton. Mr. Congressman, the immediate reason that we are following full food and fiber production is that the Natural Gas Policy Act, in fact, Section 401, expressly states that the protection should be at a level sufficient for full food and fiber production. I suppose one question that could be raised is whether you want to mix in any way this problem of assuring energy supplies and the question of managing levels of farm production. We certainly recognize the problem of current insufficient markets in agricultural commodities.

Mr. Stenholm. All of my farmers are telling me that they do not see the logic in farming all of their acres and producing crops that they cannot sell for a profit when they are having a hard time finding diesel and when they are facing the threat that the price of diesel might go up from its 52 cent price today to 60 or 65 cents after April 1. It would make more sense if we had a cooperative program between the energy and production forces. We need to recognize this. For instance, do you acknowledge that, if we were to increase our set aside for one year to 30 percent and reduce our production some 20 percent, we would save over 200 million barrels of oil? Do you agree with that?

Mr. Barton. Yes, I think in that case, certainly, that would be the case.

Mr. Stenholm. Might there not be a little bit of logic in pursuing the total program by re-examining whether or not it is in our national interest to continue on full production at a time when we may not have the energy to do so? That is my question.

Mr. Barton. Congressman, it certainly makes sense to consider carefully how much land should be placed into production. Every acre that you do not devote to fossil fuel intensive production you save on energy, of course. In that sense, you clearly take energy into consideration in setting set-aside amounts. This certainly makes sense.

Mr. Stenholm. Based on your current assessment of all the facts and figures that you have with you today, what is your assessment of the seriousness of the diesel fuel situation, that is the 60-day outlook and the remaining part of this year?

Mr. Barton. I think all one can say about diesel is that we have got to be ready for significant shortages. That may or may not occur. You have read the statements in this morning's Washington Post, the statements by the Under Secretary of Energy on the supply situation and the positive assessment of the oil supply situation. I think there is too much uncertainty at this point in terms of the supply situation in order for me to say anything that would have any real meaning.

One of the most devastating sights imaginable to a sorghum grower is a field which has been severely damaged or wiped out by the greenbug. What makes things worse is the fact that the greenbug can attack your sorghum at any stage of growth, from tiny plants to maturity.

The greenbug, a species of aphid, sucks sap from plants. And during feeding it injects a toxic substance into the plant.

This substance turns the leaves a reddish color. In heavy infestations, the leaves wither and younger plants die. At that point the insects move on to live plants. In extreme cases, mature sorghum has been ravaged by as many as 40,000 greenbugs per plant. Damage is generally worse on young plants than in more mature fields. In addition to feeding damage, the greenbug is a carrier of virus diseases to sorghum and other plants.

Greenbug damage often creates a distinct pattern in the field. An area of dead plants may be found in the center of the field surrounded by a ring of heavily infested and badly damaged living plants. Heavily damaged sorghum loses its color. Greenbugs usually build up on the leaves, but can infest the entire plant if heavy enough.

Mature plants may have large greenbugs in the sorghum heads. This can drastically reduce the yield.

Greenbugs can be either winged or wingless types are females and they give birth to young. Winged greenbugs lay eggs.

Greenbugs can reproduce and develop at temperatures from 40° to 70° F, but propagate more readily at warmer temperatures. In southern states, reproduction throughout the year.

When greenbugs first emerge they are very full grown they have a dark green stripe on their back. The mature greenbug is 1/16-inch long.

CONTROL

In some areas the greenbug depends on grain and wild grasses for its existence. Thus, it's important to destroy those areas by disking, plowing, clean fallowing or other methods. Many growers use a soil insecticide in better cultural practices.

PECAN TREES NEED FREQUENT ZINC SPRAYS DURING THE SPRING

Beautiful pecan trees can yield a regular harvest of high quality pecans beginning each spring with frequent zinc sprays. Good foliage is the secret to optimum growth, healthy trees and regular production. Mature pecan trees can have double the amount of foliage with three or four zinc sprays in April and May. Leaves on mature trees are full grown by June, so spray early and frequently. Young pecan trees can grow six feet instead of six inches in one year if zinc is sprayed onto the foliage every two or three weeks from April until August. This is of course in combination with a good management program.

There are two types of zinc which can be used in Texas, zinc sulfate or ZN. Each is effective. Commercial pecan producers have used zinc sulfate with good results for over 40 years. Caution will need to be used however because zinc sulfate can kill many types of plants, so spray it only onto pecan foliage. ZN is a new type of zinc which is a liquid. It was developed by Dr. J. Benton Storey of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. ZN is highly soluble, less toxic to other vegetation and readily available at many garden centers.

The commercial rates of zinc for spraying pecan foliage in Texas are 2 pounds of zinc sulfate or 1 1/4 quarts of ZN per 100 gallons water.

The homeowner should use 2 teaspoons of zinc sulfate or ZN in one gallon of water.

Other forms of zinc, such as zinc chelates or tree injectors, have been tested but have not been found to be an effective source of zinc for pecans in Texas.

Zinc is utilized by pecan foliage for the manufacture of a growth hormone called indole-acetic-acid. Without zinc and indole-acetic-acid pecan growth is greatly reduced. The leaves will be small and the shoots will be short and in clusters forming what is commonly called "zinc rosette." Zinc is not readily translocated from shoot to shoot; consequently, frequent zinc sprays are needed if new growth is to receive zinc. This is also why good coverage is important. Since aerial application does not give complete tree coverage, commercial growers have to depend on ground sprayers for zinc applications.

There are over 600,000 acres of native pecan trees in Texas. Yet strange as it may seem pecans are one of the few plants that cannot absorb zinc from the soil. Texas soils frequently contain very high levels of zinc but because of the high pH nature of alkaline soils a large percentage of the soil zinc is not so available to the pecan. Applications of zinc to the soil are of no significant value to pecan trees in Texas.

Relative humidity has a great effect on foliar absorption of zinc. In Floyd County difficulty can be encountered in getting the zinc into the leaf. Zinc should not be concentrated to 2x or 4x rates because foliage burn can result during periods of high humidity. The use of spreaders are not recommended because they can result in accelerated drying and reduced zinc absorption.

A pecan grower can determine if his zinc sprays are effective by observing the amount of terminal growth the trees make during the year. Mature trees should make 5 to 10 inches of shoot growth annually. Nonbearing trees should make 24 inches of shoot growth early year. In addition, leaves collected in August or early September can be analyzed in a chemical to determine the concentration of zinc in the leaves. A level of 75 ppm is considered a minimum and 125 ppm is optimum. It is very important to have the leaves washed before analysis to prevent measuring the zinc that may remain on the surface of the leaf.

Zinc alone is not the answer to perfect pecans. It is however a very important cultural requirement. With good zinc management other cultural practices such as fertilization and irrigation will be more effective. However, fertilization or irrigation without zinc sprays is of little value. So, zinc sprays are one of the pecan growers most important first steps to success each year.

New Process Adds Luster To Cotton Knitwear Markets

A new wet processing treatment for knit fabric being promoted by Cotton Incorporated is opening up the mass market for high-quality all-cotton knitwear.

The process is piece mercerization, and its effect is to improve fabric luster and increase dyeability and strength of the fabric at a much lower cost than traditional mercerizing processes, says Wolfgang Strahl, director of textile product research for Cotton Incorporated.

Already, five of the nation's largest knitwear manufacturers are purchasing the equipment necessary for piece mercerization, according to Strahl. On mill will introduce piece-mercerized fabrics to its customers in 1979.

Strahl explains that piece mercerizing will mean a cost of about $14-15 for a high-quality, all-cotton knit shirt, as opposed to a current price of about $22 for a high-quality knit-shirt produced using traditional yarn mercerizing processes.

"That is a tremendous difference, and it will mean that high-quality, all-cotton knit shirts will become available at popular prices," says Strahl. "That will result in even more consumer purchases of cotton."

"Piece mercerized knit-wear will make cotton competitive in price with blended knit fabric while having the advantages of being more comfortable and not pilling," he adds.

The process involves treating the all-cotton knit fabric with a caustic bath that causes the fibers to swell, explains Strahl.

As a result, the fabric has more luster, its burst strength is increased up to 25 percent, it dyes better with less dyestuff needed—all at an overall cost lower than that of mercerizing the yarn before knitting.

The interest in piece mercerization in the United States is the result of four years of work by Cotton Incorporated textile engineers who surveyed the mercerizing technology world-wide to identify improvements in the system that would make it feasible for use on knitted fabric, explains Strahl.

"We were constantly evaluating mercerizing equipment and pointing out to American mills the benefits they could gain from trying piece mercerization on knit fabric," he says.

Piece mercerization has been commercial for many years with woven goods, but not with knitted goods because the knit stretches considerably, explains Strahl.

However, equipment developed by several companies in the last four years had made it possible to control the knit fabric during processing to prevent excessive stretching. The first domestic mercerized products will be introduced in 1979, but widespread products will not occur until the four mill lines will be in operation, explains Strahl.

LAWNS RECOVER

Most lawns are recovering from winter damage due to the cold winter, says a Texas Agricultural Service. Lawns that are in poor condition last fall due to insect problems and that suffered from cold weather. To speed the lawn with a complete fertilizer, and leaved weeds to reduce Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is "pulling all stops" to obtain sufficient Federal funding for the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program to assure its successful continuation in 1980.

The agricultural section of the Administration's proposed budget recommends that $211,000 be cut from the appropriation for all West Texas boll weevil control operations. In 1979 that appropriation is $1,125,000. Out of that amount comes the cost of trapping operations and other treatments in the Presidio-Pecos-EI Paso area, plus administrative costs up and down the USDA chain of command leaving approximately $750,000 in spendable funds for the High Plains program.

"That's a little over 81 percent of the total appropriation," explains Ed Dean, Field Service Director for PCG. "It may mean that over 81 percent of the proposed $211,000 more than $170,000, would come from the High Plains program. And since every dollar of Federal funds is matched by a dollar from High Plains producers, the total program loss would come to almost $350,000."

The threat of this fund loss, Dean says, comes at a time when more money, not less, is needed to treat extensive acreage in the weevil control zone and offset the effects of inflation.

The High Plains boll weevil program since 1964 has been an effective barrier to weevil infestation across the High Plains and farther west. PCG initiated the program after entomologists in 1963 warned that unless control of boll weevils in a very few years would make High Plains cotton production much more costly if not economically impossible.

In a letter to Jamie Whitten of Mississippi, Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, PCG noted that cotton acreage in the weevil control zone has increased about 75 percent, insecticide costs have almost doubled, and labor costs have jumped 70 to 75 percent under the current escalating minimum wage.

Dean and PCG Executive Vice President Donald Strahl will continue the organization's efforts April 23, 24 and 25 with personal visits to the offices of Whitten, other Congressmen, Senators and others.

"High Plains producers and the government have since 1964 have spent literally millions of dollars in the weevils out of West Texas, New Mexico and Arizona," Dean emphasizes, "and we are doing all we can to make the people in Washington realize what a real tragedy would be to endanger the future effectiveness of the program for the sake of a few thousand dollars in 1980."

Blood Drive Set

The Flow Of Life Depends On You!

The Flow of Life Depends on You! South Plains Blood Services of Lubbock will be in Floydada at Lighthouse Electric, May 1 from 4 until 8 p.m. assisting in a blood drive.

The Women's Division of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce, Caprock Hospital Auxiliary and the Floydada Heart Association are sponsoring the drive.

Did you know that 155 pints of blood were required last year for people in Floydada?

Caprock Hospital gets its plasma from South Plains Blood Service. "We need to help keep them well supplied in case an emergency arises in Floydada, such as happened to our neighbors east," sponsors say.

You may also receive a free blood pressure test at the blood donor site, sponsored by the Floydada Heart Association.

Your brief 20 minutes giving a pint of blood may mean life to someone else.

"Let's beat our 30 pints we gave last year," sponsors add.

BOUND for Vernon with food, clothing, and other items for tornado victims is Tommy Collins, a driver for Babe's Service Center. Babe Jones donated use of the truck and the driver.
