

More Price Reductions by Harvester Company

Entire Line of Implements Now at LOWER PRICES

In view of the recent reduction in the price of steel, we now announce lower prices for our entire line of farm machines and implements not covered by reductions previously announced.

All lower prices take effect at once

The reduction in the price of steel comes after all the material for the machines and implements we will sell this year has been provided, and will therefore have no bearing on the manufacturing costs of such machines. However, it does enable the Company to buy materials at lower prices for future manufacture, and in accordance with our announced policy we now quote those prices, the Company taking the loss on machines already finished and materials on hand.

Full information regarding our lower prices on binders, mowers, and all other harvesting, haying and corn machines, tillage implements, tractors, engines, and all other IHC farm machines can be obtained from any International Dealer.

Those of our people who love to attend home talent plays were well rewarded for their attendance at the Male and Matrons' play Tuesday night of this week entitled, "The House, the Mayor." AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT REPRESENTATIVES HERE

Owing to the fact that Mayor Geo. W. Neill did not learn of the matter in time for announcement in the Herald last week, few farmers or others else knew that former Commissioner of Agriculture, of Gainesville, Hon. Fred W. Davis, prominent farmer and Mr. J. F. Hestand, of Sherman, would address the farmers at the Court house, and the fact that there was a play in town helped to make their audience small.

GOV. NEFF BACKS UP

"As indicated in my message of the $400,000 Rural Aid Bill, I shall submit to the special session of the Legislature the question of giving aid to public schools. I make this statement for the reason that I am receiving from those interested in school matters, a number of letters and petitions asking me to submit this matter at the special session.

There is no occasion for writing me or in any way incriminating me to submit this question, as I am as much in favor of giving aid to public schools of the state as anyone. From my message in which I vetoed the Rural Aid Bill, I quote the following: "So heartily am I in favor of adequate appropriations for the public schools of the State that I desire here to record that, if the special session of the Legislature finds that money can be had from any proper source above the necessary running expense of the government, I shall gladly join in making an appropriation of not only the $400,000 heretofore set aside, but for any other reasonable amount the State is financially able to appropriate."

HOGVILLE LOCALS

The citizens of Hogville have grown pensive over the fact that the recent cold weather have probably damaged the wild grape and persimmon crops. These wild fruits are what the people of this section rely upon. There have been many rumors as to the condition of this fruit, and in order to settle the matter definitely the Hogville Loafers Club has appointed Zero Peck and Gape Allsp to investigate the report and report to the club in regular sessions weekly at the postoffice.

Bulger Smothers who cannot write very good, ordered a pair of suspenders with polished buckles. From a mail order house which advertises "No goods sent on approval or returned." He received something he does not know anything about; does not know if it is even intended to wear. He wrote the order as plainly as he could but presumes that the one who got it could not read very well. According to the advertisement he will have to keep it, little use as he has for it.

Zero Peck has a boil on his neck for several days and has been cutting all sorts of cappers. A stranger was here yesterday who was suffering from a cancer which had eaten one side of his head off. Zera is now being having better and seems thankful that he has a boil.

The unemployment problem has all ways worried the fish in Bear Creek. A stranger was in Hogville this week selling a receipt for making pawpaws. The receipt was for one pawpaw bought from him, and are now a bit panicky over it, as there will be no pawpaws to try it on before fall.

They fear before that time he will be so far gone that they cannot catch him, and in case it does not work and they should want their money back.

The Postmaster says all who did not get on the water wagon got run over by it. The late model wagon seems to be so designed and built that none ever fall off.

Hub smothers started a few days ago to make a note of all the things he could think of that are annoying to him, but he soon ran out of paper. He has since been trying to think of anything pleasing to himself, but has not succeeded as yet, he thinks probably due to the fact that about the time he begins to collect his thoughts his wife cuts in on him about something.

The Assistant Constable has put in a great deal of time the past winter and this spring collecting data to be used by him in his work in the future. He has managed to get the measure of every person's foot in the town except the Postmaster's, who is not supposed to get into any means.

Section 2. Every person subject to none of the foregoing disqualifications, who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years and who shall be a citizen of the United States and who shall have resided in the State one year next preceding an election, and the last six months within the district or county in which the person offers to vote, shall be deemed a qualified elector, provided, that electors living in any unorganized county may vote at any election precinct in the county to which such county is attached for judicial purposes; and providing further, that any voter who is subject to pay a poll tax under the laws of the State of Texas shall have paid said tax before offering to vote at any election in this State and hold a receipt showing that said tax was paid before the first day of February next preceding such election. Or if said voter shall have lost or mislaid said tax receipt, he or she, as the case may be, shall be entitled to vote upon making affidavit before any officer authorized to administer oath that such tax receipt has been lost. Such affidavit shall be made in writing and left with the judge of the election. The husband may pay the poll tax of his wife and receive the receipt therefor. In like manner the wife may pay the poll tax of her husband and receive the receipt therefor. The Legislature may authorize absentee voting. And this provision of the Constitution shall be self-enacting without the necessity of further legislation.

Section 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the fourth Saturday in July, 1921, at which all the voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words: "For the amendment to Section 2 of Article 6 of the Constitution of the State of Texas providing that only native born or naturalized citizens of the United States shall be qualified electors in this State, and providing that either the husband or the wife may pay the poll tax of the other and receive the receipt therefor, and permitting the Legislature to authorize absentee voting." And all those opposed to said amendment shall have written thereon the words: "Against the Amendment to Section 2 of Article 6 of the Constitution of the State of Texas providing that only native born or naturalized citizens of the United States shall be qualified electors in this State, and providing that either the husband or the wife may pay the poll tax of the other and receive the receipt therefor, and permitting the Legislature to authorize absentee voting."

Section 3. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and to have the same published as required by the Constitution, and existing laws of the State.

WOULD BE "SOMETHING LIKE"

Wireless Telephone Nothing to Invent—Some Women Hope to See Before Many Years.

An inventor announces that he will soon have on the market a wireless telephone that a man can carry around in his hat. There will be another telephone in his home tuned up with the one inside of his hat, and the result will be that the man's wife can talk to him wherever he may be, whether it be his office, a street corner, a baseball game or a church.

This is a fine thing indeed, and may really be considered a step in advance, but it is not what the wives of the world are looking for. The wives of the world are looking for something that will beat a telephone in the hat all hollow.

We may as well confide to you the fact that there is wild hope surging through the hearts of women that some day there will be invented a contrivance by means of which they will be enabled to see the men folks at all times and wherever they may be. A man can fool a woman with a hat telephone just as easily as he can fool her with the telephone we have now. He can say he is attending a meeting of church wardens when he is really sitting in a poker game; and how is the wife to know any different?

But when this thing is invented by means of which the lady can look into something like a crystal ball and see the man person just where he is and whether he is doing then, dear folks, you may prepare to see the world turn good.

The more man will not be allowed to use this delicate instrument.

Yes, it will be a better world then, but there won't be much fun in it—Los Angeles Times.

TOYS IN THE ARCTIC ZONE

Eskimo Children as Fond of Them as Are the Little Folks of Other Lands.

In Eskimo land the little girls are as fond of playing with dolls as any other children of their sex and age. Of course their doll babies are dressed in the costumes of Eskimo people. Sometimes, says the Philadelphia Ledger, their doll houses are snow huts in miniature, provided with tiny kettles, soapstone lamps and other essentials. The dolls are cut out of driftwood, usually, this sort of task passing many an idle hour for the father of the family during the long months of the winter night. The Eskimos are wonderfully clever carvers in wood and ivory, the latter material being obtained from walrus tusks. To amuse the children a whole Noah's ark of animals is thus evolved, including the polar bear, the seal, the sea lion, the porpoise, the sea otter and various species of whales. The animals are a collection quite different from that composed of the familiar fauna of our nurseries. Conscious among them, however, are the dog and the reindeer. Mr. and Mrs. Noah appear, with Shem, Ham and Japhet, or their equivalents. Some of the dolls turn their heads from side to side in a lifelike way by the help of a couple of strings wound about the neck and pulled by a finger passed up beneath the manikin's clothing. Even mechanical toys are not unknown to the Eskimos. One of them has a whalbone spring, which, when released, causes an alarming looking animal to jump out of a box.

Sex and Muscular Strength. Two women graduates of Leland Stanford university, California, have been investigating the comparative muscular strength of men and women. They have reached the general conclusion that any difference that exists in this matter is not due to sex as such, but to differences in the use of the muscles, brought about by the conventional limitations of activity or by dress. Thus women's back muscles are stronger than men's because their clothes are largely buttoned on the back. Certain of their arm muscles are also stronger, owing to the fact that they do up their hair, and also because the heavy coat sleeves of men limit the freedom of action of these muscles.

On the other hand, the forearm of men is better developed than that of women, because women wear tight sleeves and do not customarily lift heavy weights.

Francis Lynde

This writer of great railroad stories was a railroad in the Rocky Mountains country until he was 37 years of age. Then he took his pen in hand to write big romances about the life he had witnessed and lived. During the first five years he had no conspicuous success, but in 1898 destiny reshaped the point of his fountain pen and he wrote three novels within twelve months. Each of the three was a best-seller. Then the 25-cent and 35-cent magazines began to bid for his work and the little old 10-cent and 15-cent monthlies that had kept his pot boiling were deserted. During the past 20 years he has written 11 successful novels. Readers of this paper will have an opportunity to read his latest, probably his greatest story, "The Wreckers," as a serial. Watch for it!

Washington Monument.

From floor of shaft to apex, the Washington monument is 555 feet 5 1/2 inches high; the shaft itself is 500 feet 5 1/2 inches, the small pyramid which tops the shaft being 55 feet. The base is 55 feet 1 1/2 inches square. The walls are 15 feet thick at the base of the shaft and taper to 18 inches thick at the top.

Aventures with the Iron Horse and the Gleaming Rails! An Epic of Railroad-riding and the Romance of Big Business!

The Wreckers

By FRANCIS LYNDE

The author was a railroad man for many years—he writes from the inside. Reading this captivating story you will feel all the thrills of a personal participant in its episodes—smashing adventures, gun fights, train wrecks, battles of wits between industrial giants—and an enthralling romance involving a big-brained, big-souled, far-seeing executive (who believed in taking public and employs into partnership with his railroad) and an unusual woman who possessed keenness, intuition, strategy and the female qualities necessary to make her a perfect complement to the man.
