Bill Ellis STATE REPRESENTATIVE David Swinford of Dumas caused quite a stir in Austin last week by introducing a bill to create a separate state out of the top 26 counties in the Texas Panhandle.

Swinford's proposal has received some interesting comments, and readers of this column may recall that Ye Editor has made the same proposal in times past.

The interesting point is that the state of Texas has the right to divide into as many as five different states if it chose to do so. It was with that privilege that it entered the union in 1845 as a formerly free republic.

So, Swinford doesn't have to be just "whistling Dixie"--his proposal could be just as serious as any other that was offered by the lawmakers.

Due to the bountiful oil and gas production in the Panhandle of Texas, along with the excellent crop production and cattle feeding and slaughter industry, the proposed 51st state could be the richest state per capita, of them all.

Swinford joked that due to the region's bounty, if it were a separate state, it could possibly offer free tuition at its colleges.

The square-shaped area envisioned by the Dumas lawmaker has a population of just under 400,000.

This could have one immediate benefit: it would give a definite boundary for our region's congressional district. As a separate state, "Old Texas," as Swinford calls his brainchild, would be guaranteed at least one congressman, and this is more than you can say for the present situation.

Another "bonus" would be the fact that our region would then have its own pair of U.S. senators (the way things go in politics, some might look at this benefit as a mixed blessing). An area such as that envisioned by Swinford could have Amarillo as the state capital. Can you imagine, the state athletic meets could be held in Amarillo--that would be about the same as "area" or "regional" in our current scheme of things. From an education standpoint, it would have to be more beneficial, especially with all of the new requirements being placed on our local schools. A state education agency located in Amarillo definitely would be more favorable to Parmer County schools than the one in Austin. At least Amarillo folks know where we are, what we're about, and where we're coming from.

The trouble with such a proposal is that it's probably next to impossible to pass.

As Rep. Swinford says, this area is sick and tired of sending its tax dollars to Austin, and getting precious few of them back.

However, the rest of the state relishes getting to collect the tax money from the Panhandle to go into the state's big pot, and then tell us that "we're too sparsely populated" to qualify for whatever benefit we might ask for.

If it has to be passed by the state lawmakers, then Swinford's, or any other such move to take advantage of the "divide and conquer rights that we have, is probably dead in its tracks, due to the fact that we only have one or two state senators from this area and a handful of representatives.

It might not ever make the floor in either the Senate or the House of Representatives, but we salute David Swinford for having the guts to bring up the proposal. Frankly, we think it should be introduced at every legislative session and maybe someday it will come about. Footnote to the above: Bill Bandy of Panhandle, who was born in Friona and attended grade school here, is the legislative assistant to Rep. David Swinford of Dumas.

Bandy did the research for Swinford's bill. He called us Thursday morning to say that Swinford has been interviewed by news media all the way from Montreal to Houston, and his bill was mentioned by Paul Harvey and in the Wall Street Journal.

(Ed) Bailey, 64, suffered a ruptured abdominal aortic aneurysm. If he had been a resident of Motley, Sterling or 56 other Texas counties without a hospital, he most likely would have died before receiving medical treatment.

Fortunately for Bailey, he lives in Friona, a community of about 3,800 people in the Texas Panhandle served by the 34-bed Parmer County Community Hospital. His medical emergency illustrates more clearly than any statistics, the importance of a viable rural health care network in Texas.

"I know I was that close to being dead," Bailey said, as he held his thumb and index finger about a half inch apart.

If Friona did not have a hospital, Bailey would have been forced to seek medical attention in the hospital at Hereford, which is 22 miles from Friona.

"His odds of surviving would have been greatly diminished if he would have had to go that long without initial medical treatment," said Robert Alexander, M.D., a family practitioner on the medical staff at Parmer County Community Hospi-

A patient with a ruptured abdominal aortic aneurysm can bleed to death unless he receives prompt, aggressive medical care. The mortality rate for the condition is 80 per cent.

"In cases like this, you're fighting a steep uphill battle because of loss of fluids and a state of shock," said George Beck, M.D., an anesthesiologist on Lubbock's Methodist

Coach Optimistic About Grid Team

Having completed their pre-season workouts and ready for their first scrimmage session, the coaches of the Friona Chieftains had been very pleased with what they saw in workouts.

"We feel real good about our team's prospects. After our 2-8 season last year I guess you'd say it's cautious optimism. But we're expecting to be a good team this year, and it'll be a big letdown if we're not," said second-year head coach Steve Williams.

Williams had good reason to feel better about his prospects for the 1991 team. "We have good skill returning in our backfield, our receivers and our line," Williams said.

With seniors Curtis Brady and Ismael Rocha back, the Chieftains should pack about as good a 1-2 punch as any team in the area. Brady and Rocha both have good speed, and it's the third year for each of them to see varsity action.

Friona's offensive line, which has some experience, will average 205 pounds per man from one tight end to the other. "We have some large boys (Wayne Jackson is back at tackle and weighs 250 pounds), and we have some smaller, quicker ones," Williams says. One nice surprise during the preseason workouts had been good competition for the quarterback position. Sophomore Blair Burney, who started Friona's last few games last year as a freshman, is being pushed by junior Britt Conklin, who was the JV quarterback a year

"They're having quite a battle, and it makes us feel real good about our quarterback situation this year," Williams said.

Williams mentioned three other players who have caught his eye during workouts.

Brian Herring, a junior split end/free safety; Julian Colunga, senior flanker/strong safety, and Aaron Black, junior tackle/tackle, have had excellent pre-season workouts, and Williams was anxious to

In Bailey's case, the physicians at Parmer County Community Hospital made an initial diagnosis, began replacing fluids, performed other procedures to stabilize the patient and contacted Kent Harman, M.D., a cardiac, thoracic and peripheral vascular surgeon on the medical staff at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, for emergency surgery. Transportation of Bailey to Methodist Hospital was arranged through AeroCare Air Ambulance Service, based at Lubbock International Airport.

AeroCare arrived at the Friona facility 30 minutes after Dr. Alexander's initial contact with Dr. Harman. While the patient was transported to Methodist Hospital via AeroCare's helicopter, Dr. Harman arranged for a surgery suite and assembled an emergency surgical team that included himself, Dr. Beck, Don Berry, M.D., cardiac, thoracic and peripheral vascular surgeon, and several nurses and operating room techs. Upon his arrival to Methodist Hospital's Emergency Room, Bailey was transported directly to surgery.

Bailey's blood pressure was a critical 70/30, which could cause damage to his heart, lungs or kidneys. The surgery team began resuscitation and resectioning of the ruptured abdominal aortic aneurysm. The critical concern in such cases is quickly recovering control of the ruptured segment before the hemorrhaging results in death. The second concern is preventing fatal complications.

During the more than five hours of surgery, Dr. Beck administered five units of blood to the patient. A Dacron grapt--which is an aortic graft prosthesis that has been used in vascular surgery for years--was placed in the ruptured area and attached to the aorta's intact areas.

"Mr. Bailey got through all of that without a heart attack, stroke, kidney failure or other major complications," Dr. Berry said.

Following surgery, Bailey was in the Surgical Intensive Care Unit for six days. Physicians specializing in endocrinology, cardiology and pulmonary functions consulted on Bailey's postoperative treatment to minimize complications and ensure a return to normal health.

During Bailey's postoperative care, Dr. Alexander in Friona, was kept abreast by Dr. Berry of the patient's treatment and prognosis. Such communication between physicians at small community hospitals and tertiary facilities in larger cities concerning referred patients is an important component of a rural health care network.

"I consulted with Dr. Berry so that I could continue Mr. Bailey's primary care once he returned home," Dr. Alexander said.

Bailey was discharged from Methodist Hospital on May 13. Today, he continues working in his print shop and spending time with his six children, 18 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

"I haven't developed any complications, and except for tiring sometimes, I'm feeling fine," Bailey December," he explained.

Each year, Alfonso looks forward to leaving home for his three months on the High Plains. "I like the weather. South Texas is much hotter than West Texas," he reported. Alfonso also likes the people in Terry County: "They're nice people up here. They treat you well. They're not prejudiced."

As he sat on the base of an old school desk beside his tables laden with melons, kicking the reddish brown dirt with his right foot, I asked Alfonso what he does for fun when he is so far away from home. His only reply was, "Sometimes we go to Lubbock...to the movies. That's all."

I gave Alfonso a five-dollar bill for one of his largest melons and headed south on U.S. 385. As I drove, I thought to myself about his yearly routine of hoeing cotton and packing produce half the year and then fishing and lounging around the rest of the time.

I think Alfonso may have the right idea.

SPS Files To Pass Fuel-Cost Savings To Its Customers Southwestern Public Service clean, western coal. However, half

Company has filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to credit $11.3 million to its Texas retail customers for savings in fuel

The proposed credit includes $10.7 million in actual fuel savings and $600,000 in interest, based on an annual rate of 11.7 per cent.

A Texas residential customer using 1,000 kilowatt hours of electricity a month would receive a onetime credit of $11.15.

SPS expects to receive swift approval on the filing, said SPS Group Manager of Rates and Regulation, Gerald Diller.

"We hope to be able to apply the credit to our customers' October bills," he said. The credit would cover fuel expenses from April, 1990 through June, 1991.

Retail customers include residential, commercial and industrial the savings available to the customers, according to Diller, was lower natural gas prices.

"Gas purchases for power plants made at spot prices have been extremely favorable during the past few months," Diller said. "Even our contract gas prices have been reduced."

Certain low-sulfur coal prices also have been somewhat lower, due to negotiations with suppliers.

Five SPS power plants are fueled by natural gas, two are fueled by the company's capacity is provided by the two coal plants.

SPS President and Chief Operating Officer, Coyt Webb, said the company expends significant effort to remain a low-cost producer. "The cost of fuel makes up about half of an electric bill, and our ability to control this cost is very important to our customers," Webb

Because other states served by SPS have forms of automatic fuelcost adjustments, savings as they occurred already have been passed through to SPS customers in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas.

DANIEL AND THE IDOL BEL

AS PROMISED, HERE IS THE OTHER OLDEST "DETECTIVE" STORY FROM THE APOCRYPHA. CYRUS, THE KING, EACH DAY, PROVIDED THE IDOL BEL WITH BUSHELS OF FINE FLOUR, MANY SHEEP, AND FIFTY GALLONS OF WINE, BE-CAUSE THIS WAS THE GOD CYRUS WORSHIPPED. WHEN THE KING ASKED DANIEL TO WORSHIP THE IDOL, DANIEL KNEW IT WAS HIGHTIME TO EXPOSE THE FAKE GOD AND THE SEVENTY PRIESTS WHO MADE A FINE LIVING AS THE REPRESENTATIVES OF BEL. CYRUS BELIEVED THAT BEL WAS REALLY A LIVING GOD BECAUSE ALL THE FOOD THAT WAS PROVIDED WAS ALWAYS CONSUMED OVERNIGHT. PANIEL KNEW DARN WELL THAT IT WAS THE PRIESTS AND THEIR FAMILIES WHO DID ALL THE EATING. BUT HOW TO EXPOSE THEM SO KING CYRUS WOULD KNOW THAT BEL WAS A FAKE GOD? WELL, DANIEL, IN TRUE DETECTIVE STORY STYLE, LAID ATRAP FOR THE PRIESTS AND PROVED CONCLUSIVELY TO KING CYRUS THAT THE IDOL WAS A FAKE AND THAT THE ONLY TRUE, LIVING GOD WAS THE LORD GOD WHOM DANIEL WORSHIPPED! HOW HE ACCOMPLISHED THIS FEAT IS DULY RECORDED IN

Penni Weatherly, Matthew Hudson Exchange Wedding Vows in Colo.

Penni Gae Weatherly and Matthew Howard Hudson, both residents of Fort Worth, Texas, exchanged wedding vows Saturday, July 6 at 12 noon at the Danni Ranch, Crested Butte, Colorado.

Bruce McGowen, Baptist Student Union director at Texas Tech University, Lubbock, performed the wedding ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Philip and Phila Weatherly of Crested Butte, Colorado.

The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Estel Hudson of Jackson, Tennessee.

The ceremony was conducted outdoors with the archway formed by huge cottonwood trees, flanked by wild flowers and flower baskets of pansies, petunias and geraniums. The aisle was marked with a white runner and the guests sat on bales of hay.

Musical selections were presented by Becky Weatherly, aunt of the bride, at the organ. The processional was "God of Our Fathers" and the recessional was "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee." A trio, composed of Karen Smith of Grapevine, Texas, Regina Ward and Brenda Crim, sang "Cornerstone," "Find Us Faithful," "How Great Thou Art" and "My Jesus, I Love Thee."

As the bride was presented in marriage by her father, she was attired in a formal length gown of imported French chantilly lace over taffeta, fashioned with a portrait neckline. The molded bodice had long sleeves tapered to petal points. The full length skirt was enhanced with crisp taffeta chaux, atop the cascade of shirred ruffles, which flowed into a spreading chapel length train. The gown was worn by her mother in her own wedding.

illusion and pearls. The bride carried a cascading wildflower bouquet atop a white Bible, also carried by her mother. The bouquet consisted of stargazer lilies, white lilies, yellow alstromeria, purple iris, orange lilies and white ribbon, filled in with purple waxflower and solidastel.

Serving as ushers were Park Weatherly of Crested Butte, Colorado, brother of the bride, Pepper Weatherly of Plainview, Texas, brother of the bride, and Peter Hudson of Tennessee, brother of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a white handkerchief cotton dress trimmed with hand crochet and sequins and hot pink picture hat. She carried a hand held bouquet of calla lilies and attended her daughter, along with the bride's father.

The groom's mother wore a two piece floral dress and carried a hand held bouquet of calla lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Hudson attended the

The reception was also held at the Danni Ranch and featured a catered barbecue meal.

Regina Ward and Kim Barnett registered the wedding guests.

The bride's table held a three tiered cream cheese cake with fresh flowers cascading around the cake. Serving from the bride's table were Misty Evans, Sheri Adams, Mayla Paris and Teresa Nichols, cousins of the bride.

The groom's table featured a double chocolate cake topped with dipped strawberries. Cheryl Abbott, sister of the groom, and Lisa Hudson, sister-in-law of the groom, served from the groom's table.

For a wedding trip to Jackson Hole, Wyoming, the bride chose a white straight denim skirt with bottom, designed by her sister-inlaw, Killeen Weatherly, and a white cotton blouse trimmed with lace and small pearls.

The couple will make their home in Fort Worth, Texas.

The bride is a 1982 graduate of Friona High School and graduated from West Texas State University, Canyon, in 1987. She is presently attending Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and is employed at the Education Center as a tutor.

The bridegroom is a 1980 graduate of Jackson Central Merry High School, received a BA from Union University in 1984 and received his MDIV degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Theology from SWBTS.

1991 Property Tax Rates In Friona ISD

This notice concerns 1991 property tax rates for Friona ISD. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property

Town Talk

By June Floyd Call 247-3681 With Your News Items

Charles Allen had his seventy-first birthday Thursday. His next door neighbors, John and Kathrine Blackburn, hosted an afternoon coffee klatch in the Allen home. Homemade ice cream was served with chocolate cake. Blackburns were assisted by Hazel Brooks and Claire Blanco.

Guests were Nelson Welch, Andy Hurst, Clarence Monroe, Mickey Griffin, Gene Welch and Hollis Horton, all of Friona, and John Gurley of San Antonio.

Jean Blackburn of Albuquerque and her daughter, Jill Anella, who lives in El Cajon, California, and two of her children, Jason and Jennifer, spent some time last week visiting relatives and friends in Friona.

Wednesday evening, these four were honored with a salad supper in the home of John and Kathrine Blackburn.

Others present were Jo Blackburn, Rex and Chuck Blackburn, Keith Lynn Blackburn and Dean and Anna Jo Blackburn.

WAOLE CTURE

Then, on Thursday, Jean, Jill, Jason and Jennifer went to Farwell where they attended a joint birthday party for Jean and her dad, Howard Mayfield, a long time Friona resident.

Howard was observing his ninetysixth birthday. Jean said, "We've always had our birthdays together, so see no need in changing now."

Howard's other daughters, Dorothy Lovelace and Peggy Gekas, live in Farwell.

John and Kathy Horton Gurley and children, Hollis and Alex, returned to their home in San Antonio, Wednesday after spending ten days visiting Friona relatives and friends.

They were guests in the home of Kathy's parents, Hollis and Lunell Horton.

Other out-of-town guests in the Horton home have been Sonny and Franklin Ratliff and Dan Young and his son, Daniel, all of Lubbock, Ed Smith of Birmingham, Alabama, and Hollis Reese of Rome, Georgia.

"Having three persons with the same name together could be the cause of confusion. Maybe a distinction wasn't difficult when there were just two of them. One could easily have been called "Grandpa Hollis." However, when Hollis Reese, who is Horton's nephew, arrived, distinction became more difficult.

Lunell said, "Really, Hollis Reese was not here long enough for it to make that much difference."

Here's something for your "It's a small world" collection. Clyde and Georgia Fields, who had been downstate to visit their sons, David and Charles, and their families, stopped in Abilene one evening for supper as they were on their way

There were not very many customers in the diner. One young man who was in a wheel chair, was accompanied by his parents. Before Clyde and Georgia left, they became engaged in conversation with these three.

Soon after names and hometowns had been exchanged, Georgia learned that the others were from Virginia and that they had attended a performance of "Texas" in Palo Duro Park the previous evening.

Before the conversation was over, the Virginians reported that they had visited with Marca Lynn Herring, who was also attending "Texas."

What do you suppose the odds are that three people would drive from Virginia to the Texas Panhandle and meet one person from Friona one evening, then drive farther downstate and meet two more Frionans the next evening?

Mrs. Carl Dorman of Elk City, Oklahoma, spent several days last week visiting in the home of her sister, Hazel Baxter.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Elmore and Lucille Wilson spent Tuesday visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Elmore and Rene, who live in Levelland.

Luella Ainsworth, who lives in Apple Valley, California, and has spent the past several weeks visiting relatives and friends, is a surgical patient at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo.

Renner, is a former Friona resident. She has been a house guest in the home of Goldie Griffith.

Recent out-of-town guests in the home of Opal Baxter have been Steve and Willene Grundy, who live at New Caney, Texas.

The Grundys helped Opal plant a new lawn and she has appreciated the recent rains. She reports that the grass is about to get started and she's glad she hasn't had to apply all the water it needed.

While the Grundys were here, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Short and daughter, Heather, who live at Baytown, Texas, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Baxter and children.

The Grundys, Baxters, Shorts and Opal Baxter attended "Texas" Thursday evening.

Roy and Ruth Miller returned home a few days ago after an absence of several weeks. They drove to Fort Sumner and spent a few days with Ruth's sister and brother-in-law, Joyce and Art Jones.

Then these two couples with some other persons, drove to Nevada for a few days. From there, Roy and Ruth went on to Anaheim, California, where they spent some time with Ruby Miller, a cousin of Roy's.

They also took a tour of Hollywood and Universal City, where they observed how movies are made. They also visited Roy's sister, Edith Corrigan, who lives in Simi Valley, California.

From there, they drove to Exeter, California, where Opal Bergkamp, one of Ruth's grade school friends, who grew up in Hereford, lives. After spending a few days in her home, she accompanied the Millers to Kennewick, Washington, for a visit with her sister, Ruby Purdy.

Ruth reported, "On our way, we drove through the Giant Redwoods, where the scenery was breathtakingly beautiful. It had been 41 years since I had seen Ruby and we had a wonderful time."

She went on to say, "Needless to say, there have been a lot of changes but we really had a fun reunion. It was the first time the three of us had been together in more than 40 years."

From Kennewick, the Millers drove up into Canada. They did some sightseeing in the provinces of British Columbia and Alberta and reported seeing beautiful country with flowers blooming profusely.

Enroute home, the couple stopped in Dumas for a visit in the home of one of their sons, Roy Max Miller and his family.

Ruth summed their trip up like this: "We had a wonderful time, but as always, the best part was getting back home...There's really no place like home."

Bill and Ann Carthel recently spent a few fun filled days at San Isabel, Colorado. They attended a reunion of the descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Carthel and members of their families.

They were accompanied by Danny and Harletta Carthel and children, Justin, KiKi and Kade, who live in Gruver, Texas, and Colby Carthel of Portales, New Mexico.

Donnie and Cindy Carthel of Portales and Doug and Kathy Carthel and children, Molly, Andy and Hannah, who live in Dallas, joined other family members for a few days.

Enroute home, part of the group visited the Dorsey Mansion in northeastern New Mexico. This historic castle has been of special interest to many Frionans for many years due to the interest of the late Kermie and Beulah Deaton, who owned it at one time and did a lot of restoration on it.

Later, it was taken over by the State of New Mexico and was neglected several years. More recently, it has been purchased by an Albuquerque resident and is being re-built again.

At the present time, there are llamas, peacocks, rabbits and other small game on the acreage surrounding the buildings and the gazebo has been completely restored.

The Dorsey Mansion is on the National Register of Historical Places and can be toured by appointment. The telephone number is 505-375-2222 or

> It was so good to see Ralph and Waneta Taylor last week. These two, who are living in DeSoto, Texas, spent several days visiting local friends and relatives.

> They visited with Ralph's sister, Natalie Williams; Ray and Wanda White and Frank and Carmaleet Truitt, as well as others while they were here.

> Eula Bradshaw spent last weekend attending a Cook family reunion at Deming, New Mexico. She was accompanied by Bubba Long and sons, Todd and Cary, who live in Amarillo; and Billie Long of Ruidoso, New Mexico.

> Mrs. Bradshaw reported, "My family has been going over there to a church and 4-H Club family campground for our reunion for several years."

> This annual three day event was attended by kith and kin from far and near.

Lawrence and Pat Martin spent two weekends in a row reunioning. First, they went to Colorado Springs, Colorado, for the annual reunion of the descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jim Baxter.

They were accompanied by a daughter, Linda Klinger, and her children, Jeremy and Kayla, who live in San Angelo.

Other Frionans attending were Clarence and Nona Martin and Billy

Legion, VFW Posts Hold Family Night

The joint family night of the American Legion Post #206 and the V.F.W. Post #1413 was held Tuesday, August 20. Forty-five members, their families and guests enjoyed a covered dish meal and program.

Special guests recognized were the American Legion district commander, J.P. Sims from Friona; the V.F.W. district commander, Greg Zamora; and the V.F.W. Auxiliary district president, Joy Zamora.

The V.F.W. commander and president are from the Littlefield V.F.W. Post and were present to help with the continuing effort to organize a V.F.W. Auxiliary locally.

The program was a special report given by the Texas Boy's State and Girl's State participants on their June trip to Austin.

Warren Duke, son of John and Deanna Duke; Charlie Snead, son of Gary and Kay Snead; and Mindy Johnson, daughter of Joe Bob and Connie Johnson, retold the process of arriving, organizing, campaigning, electing and working in governmental systems of a city, town, district, county, political parties and the state of Texas.

The highlight apparently was the visit to the capitol building complete with a debate and vote on bills written by the participants on the House of Representatives and Senate floors.

Some of their bills were reported to have passed both houses and were signed by their governor. The participants also had the opportunity to meet with their state representatives and tour the capitol building. The Girl's State participants sang their songs in the rotunda of the capitol and were taped by the news media.

"The City of Friona and the Friona Independent Schools should be proud of these high quality young people who represented our city in these programs sponsored by the local American Legion Post and Auxiliary," a spokesman said.

A spokesman asked the students to go back to their classes and encourage future eligible participants to consider applying for Boy's State and Girl's State in the spring. Materials and information will be available to the students at that time.

Scrapbooks belonging to Geneva Williams of the Girl's State past participants were exhibited in memory of Geneva's longtime devotion to this program.

Risks Are A Part Of Investing

Risk is an unsettling aspect of investing, but trying to avoid it completely can be just as dangerous, forcing investors to accept lower returns on their money.

There is no way for investors to totally avoid risk, but a carefully planned program of diversification, or asset allocation, can reduce the chances of a crippling financial loss.

One method of asset allocation is to balance your portfolio among a variety of dissimilar investments. For example, divide assets between cash and common stocks. Although the stocks may decline in value, the compounding effect of the cash earning interest can give stability to the portfolio. Separating investments among stocks, bonds, real estate, international securities, precious metals and more can add additional diversification and further reduce risk.

After achieving adequate diversification, the risk that remains can be divided into four categories:

Opportunty risk is always present. Simply by virtue of putting assets into one investment, you sacrifice the opportunity to participate in another investment. Holding your cash means you sacrifice the opportunity to own stocks or bonds, which traditionally have proved more rewarding.

Emotional risk is another consideration. When investing, your return should depend on whether you want to eat well or sleep well. Investing in highly speculative products that fluctuate wildly could mean a high degree of emotional risk. You can reduce emotional risk by sticking with quality, conservative investments. Security risk is related to the quality of the securities in which you invest. Bonds become more risky as the credit worthiness of the issuer decreases. Stocks, on the other hand, can be volatile regardless of quality. Stocks paying consistent dividends, however, generally offer less security risk because the income protects the total return though the market value may de-

Finally, there is market risk. The market risk of owning bonds is generally more predictable than that of owning stocks. Bond risk is a function of quality, maturity and interest rates, but stocks are always at the risk of an unfriendly stock market. The price/earnings ratio and dividend yield of The Standard & Poor's and Dow Jones Industrials is a valid indication of an overpriced market ripe for decline or one that is undervalued and ready for ad-

YOUR EYES

STRABISMUS

Strabismus, or crossed eyes, is a disorder in which the eyes do not point in the same direction. The condition usually will not be outgrown, so if crossed eyes are suspected, the child should have an eye examination promptly and treatment should start as soon as possible. At best, the condition can be corrected before the youngster is six years old.

The problem is more than cosmetic. If crossed eyes are not corrected, the child -- in an attempt to avoid seeing a double image -- will suppress vision in the weaker eye; in time the eye is essentially unused.

If treatment starts early, the correction is usally permanent. One method of treatment is vision training, teaching the youngster to coordinate eye muscles. Glasses may be used to increase the chances of success. In most cases, all other methods will be attempted before surgery is suggested.
