TECH COLLEGE CORNERSTONE TO BE PLACED NOV. 11TH

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the Texas Technological College, returned to his home here Thursday morning, after having spent ten days in various Texas points. While away Dr. Horn attended a meeting of the State School Commission at Austin. He is vice-president of the commission and took an active part in the meeting.

Immediately upon returning to Lubbock, Dr. Horn completed plans for a meeting of the committee on local affairs, composed of Hon. R. A. Underwood, of Plainsview; Clifford B. Jones, of Spur; Dr. J. E. Nnn, of Amarillo. This committee met with a committee of local citizens and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce at Dr. Horn's office in the new Wilson building Thursday morning, where it was finally agreed that Lubbock would have a great celebration at the cornerstone laying of the college on November 11th, Armistice Day.

Governor Pat M. Neff, who promised Dr. Horn he would attend the celebration if it was held on November 11th when the college president was in Austin several weeks ago, has not made any announcement of any change that would not permit him to be on the program.—Lubbock Avalanche.

RUMORS OF A HOTEL BEING HEARD AGAIN

Rumors that a modern brick hotel to contain about 35 rooms are being heard on the streets almost daily at this time, and we only hope that the thing is a go this time.

We are not at liberty to publish the names of the parties behind the movement, but we can say that they are local men; that is Terry county people and financially able to handle the proposition. We understand the site of the old McAdams Lumber Company has been secured, and the location to our notion is a good one.

That a real good hotel properly conducted, would be a paying proposition from the start is not doubted by anyone, and we hope to be able in the next week or two to report actual work on this hotel started.

LOCAL PHYSICIAN MAKES QUICK TRIP TO LEVELLAND

Last Friday afternoon the 10th, Dr. T. L. Treadaway was called to Levelland to see Mrs. C. B. McCormack, wife of the editor of the Hockley Co. Herald, and upon examination found a case of appendicitis with perforated appendix. He advised immediate operation without moving the patient to a sanitarium. The doctor then motored ten miles to Clarendon, the nearest telephone, and telephoned Dr. Krueger of the Lubbock Sanitarium to proceed to Levelland at once and operate upon the lady. The operation was performed at 9 o'clock Friday night and found the appendix ruptured.

We learned today, the 13th that the lady has a good chance of recovery. The doctor says he followed R. H. McCormack, father of editor C. B. from here in his automobile and part of the time they were going more than 40 miles per hour and made the 37 miles in one hour.

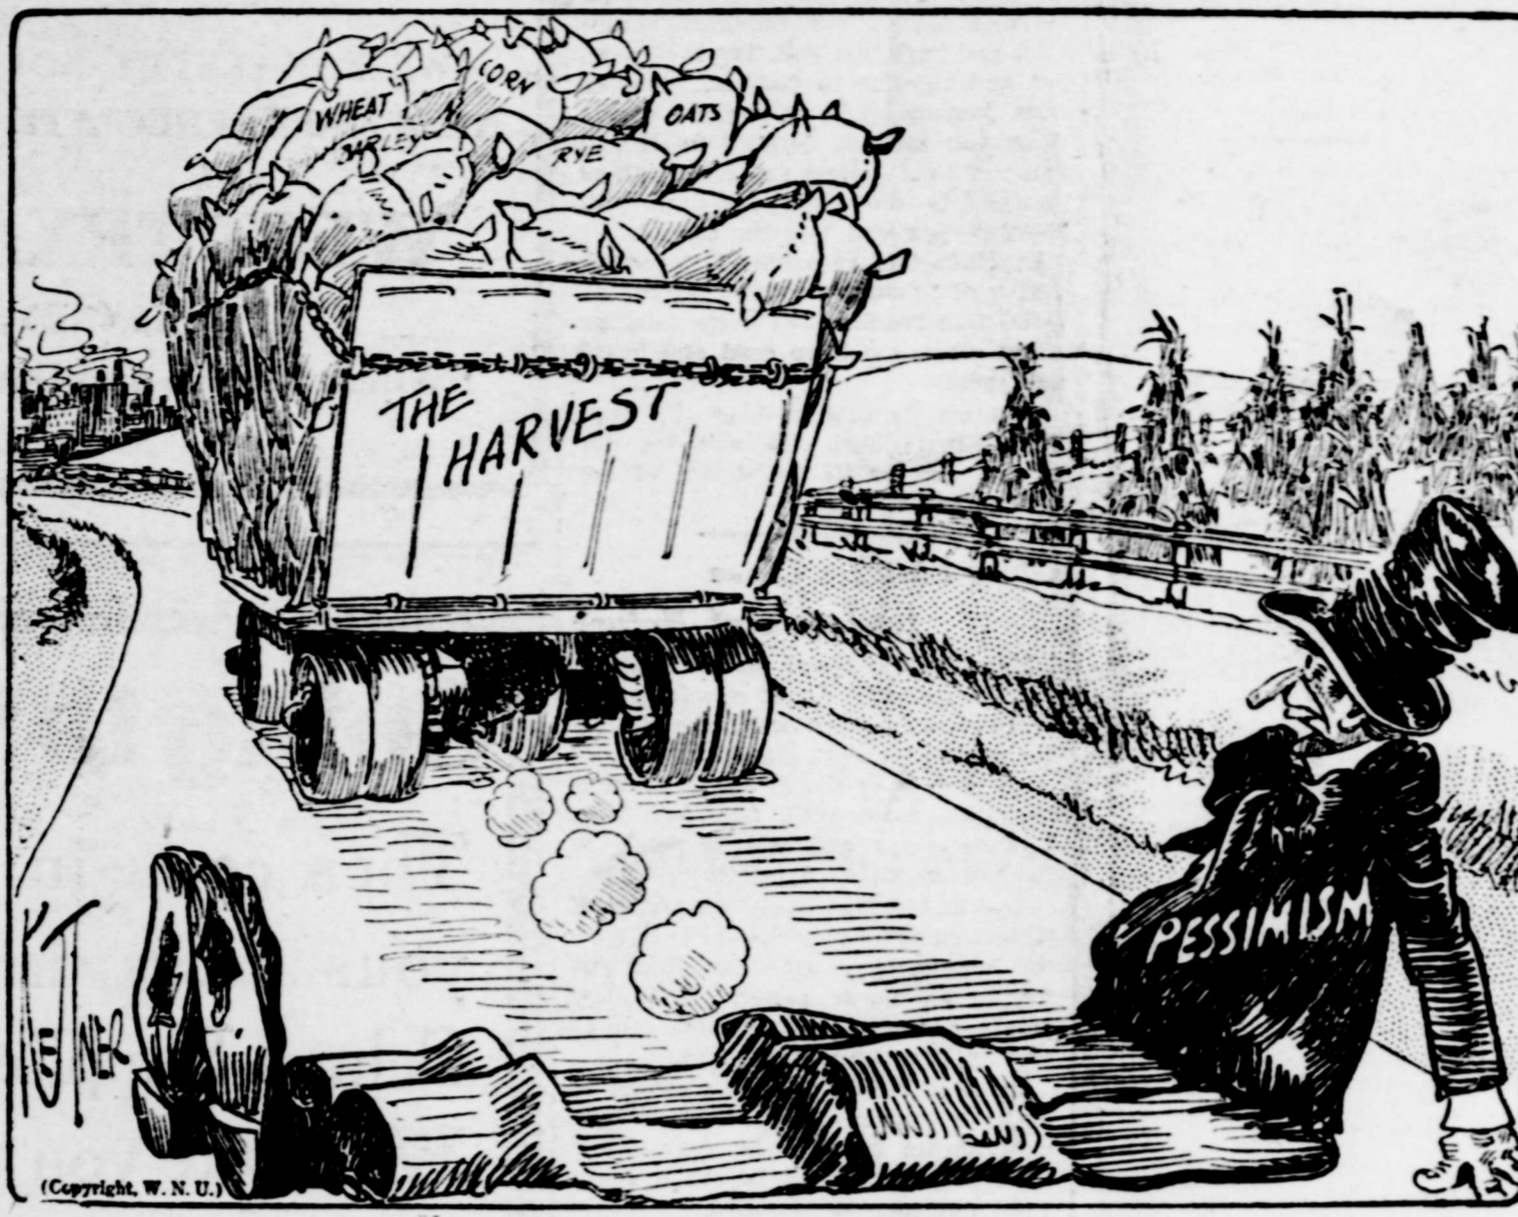

LOCAL KLAN STAGES BIG BANQUET LAST WEEK

On last Thursday night the local klansmen were hosts not only to the surrounding territory, but had several visitors from adjoining counties, there being between 50 and one hundred cars parked around the hall in this city.

Dozens of boxes of refreshments were noticed to be unloaded from the cars and carried up stairs.

Speakers of state reputation were on hand, it is understood, and the klansmen and visitors carried on until the wee small hours.

PARENT-TEACHER ASS'N. REORGANIZED TUES. NIGHT

About thirty or forty people who are for the upbuilding of schools in Brownfield, met with the teachers at the school building Tuesday night and reorganized the Brownfield Parent-Teacher association. We are sorry that more people were not on hand, especially to hear the splendid address of Prof. Fagala on the many needs of our school. He said we had an enrollment approaching the 600 mark housed in a 300 capacity building. Some have to use desks while another class was reciting. He said further that about 160 pupils who were enumerated had never entered school yet, and that we all realize that no great per cent of them have left the country, and new comers arriving every day. There were other things just as vigorously stressed by our school superintendent, and it is hoped that a much larger crowd will be on hand next Tuesday night, when the organization will be re-perfected, and more members enrolled.

While Prof. Fagala was delivering his wholesome address, a committee consisting of Mesdames A. M. Brownfield and W. G. Hardin, and Miss Mozelle Treadaway, acting as a nominating committee, selected the following as officers: H. R. Winston, President; K. W. Howell, Vice-President; Mrs. A. J. Stricklin, Secretary; Mrs. J. C. Bond, Treasurer. These selections were then elected.

H. R. Winston then, or rather just before his election, delivered himself of one of his typically famous addresses in which he roasted this independent school district good for their indifference, and the town of Brownfield in particular, which resulted in his unanimous election to the office he did not seek.

The meeting then adjourned to meet again next Tuesday night, Oct. 21st, at which time we want the auditorium to be running over with parents, for the teachers were all there this time.—Reporter.

DO YOU BUY FROM PEDDLERS? IF SO, QUIT IT

What we mean by peddlers is people who claim home wherever they hang their hats, and not to our home people who may peddle their products. These itinerant peddlers pay no taxes and have no interest whatever in the upbuilding of this or any other community.

A local merchant was telling us this week of one of these fakirs who was here recently selling shaving soap he said was of "very superior" quality. The fact of the matter was, this huckster bought this white naphtha soap from a local groceryman—an arm full of it for a dollar, and used a cutter he had along to cut the soap up in round blocks, and sold it to the "one-a-minute" suckers here as fast as he could hand it out. But people love to bite and will bite.

You are not going to beat prices given by home merchants quality considered. He has too much respect for you—even if you don't have any for yourself—than to fake you. This reminds us of one of our merchants who has a 42-piece dinner set in his show window at a very low price; just as low as the mail order house, and he will deliver them right into your hands. There are two big advantages in buying from him or any other home merchant. You see what you are buying and not just the picture of something, and you know just what it is costing you to put the article in your house.

Again, you have the satisfaction of knowing that when sickness and misfortune overtake you that the home merchant will help you till you are able to help yourself. Think over these things and quit the peddlers.

ALMOST 3000 BALES WEIGHED IN TERRY COUNTY

Cotton is rolling in at a rapid rate in old Terry these days, and if the weather will stay like it has been for the past several days it sure will get a move on itself. The most weighed in any one day so far in the Brownfield yard was 161 last Saturday, but over 150 were weighed Tuesday.

The most pitiable thing in the matter is the continuous decline in the price, and this feature of the program is not confined to the farmer, but is regretted by the merchant and street buyers, as well as all other concerns of the town.

Up to Tuesday noon the following number of bales had been weighed at the Brownfield and Meadow yards: Brownfield yard 1937 Meadow yard 800 Total 2737 Later: Wednesday was red letter day when 183 bales were received at the local yard, making a total of 2,920 bales weighed in Brownfield, up to Wednesday night.

LYNN COUNTY MAN SAYS POULTRY PAY DIVIDENDS

County Agent A. L. Robertson went out one day last week and culled a flock of 300 white Leghorns for Ed McManus of the New Home community.

Mr. McManus has bought all his feed for these chickens from a feed store and has cleared $195.00 on the flock, above expenses, during the past year, according to Mr. Robertson. He believes thoroughly in culling and in keeping only those birds that pay their way.—Lynn County News.

E. W. Wirtz recently called and renewed for his Herald.

WHITE STAR STAGE LINE EXTENDED TO ROSWELL

Messrs. John A. King and J. N. Lewis, both local men have formed a partnership in extending the White Star Stage line from here on to Roswell, N. M., and the first car went to Roswell Monday of this week.

The White Star was established from here to Post City more than a year ago by Mr. King, making regular daily trips from Brownfield to Post daily, connecting with the day trains at that place. It has been a paying proposition from the first, and the extension of the line was only a question of time.

And the time has arrived when the east and west traffic demands that a through line from Post City, through Tahoka, Brownfield, Plains, Texas, Tatum and Roswell, N. M. be established, and as Mr. King had the business established to Brownfield, by the forming of a partnership from here to Roswell the line was inaugurated Monday. The line from here to Post will be conducted as usual with the Nash car, making the round trip daily. A Nash and Studebaker will be used from here to Roswell, 150 miles, one of the cars leaving Brownfield and Roswell each morning at the same time.

The stage trip through here can be made as cheap or cheaper, and a lot of time saved. Therefore it will not only mean much to the traveling public, but will bring hundreds of people to know Brownfield that would otherwise pass around us, and to know Brownfield and territory is to become interested in both.

CROWDED HOUSES GREET "LILLIES OF THE FIELD"

Big crowds were on hand both on Monday and Tuesday nights at the Pastime Theatre, to see that famous play, "Lillies of the Field" in which Corine Griffith and Conway Tearle took the leading roles, supported by an all star cast.

This was one of the best pictures shown in Brownfield this season, and the house seemed to enjoy every moment of the play. This play was popular because it caught every angle of the human being. There were tense moments in which great decisions were to be made, that carried the audience with the characters in these momentous decisions. There were moments when tears were hard to keep back when the character of the innocent and helpless was on trial—then there was those moments of keen humor that put the audience in good spirits for the time being.

The Pastime managers are giving the people of this territory the very best in the movie world.

CONTRACT LET FOR ICE PLANT AT TAHOKA

Tahoka is to install a municipal ice plant. The City Council entered into a contract with the Sterling Ice Machine Company for the installation of a tea-ton plant to be operated by the city in connection with municipal water, light and power plants.

It is contemplated that the plant will be installed and ready for operation by the time the next ice season opens.

By the operation of this plant the city will be able to furnish to the citizens at a much lower figure, it is thought, than they are compelled to pay for ice now, and the plant will pay for its own operating expenses. This marks another step in development and growth of our city, and the Mayor and City Council are to be commended for this forward step.—Tahoka News.

TERRY COUNTY VALUATIONS NOW $3,531,713.00

Tax Assessor J. C. Green was showing us his tax rolls this week, and they disclosed the fact that while the county has received a large increase in population, and many farms have been put in cultivation and new residences erected, the taxable valuations show but a little over a one hundred thousand dollar increase.

The values last year were $3,428,348 as compared with $3,531,713 this year. Of this amount $1,854,955 was lands, $1,133,287 was city property, and the personal property was $218,674 which of course is divided between city and country people.

It is thought that next year there will be a more noticeable increase even with present valuation, for there are lots of buildings that were erected since the first of January this year.

HARLEY SADLER TO SHOW HERE ALL NEXT WEEK

As announced by the advertisement appearing in the columns of the Herald this week, Harley Sadler will be here with his popular show all next week. Really the show is a week late making Brownfield, for the reason that by special request they were prevailed on to play Lamesa the second week. This alone speaks volumes for the popularity of the Sadler show. Mr. Sadler and his popular company are at Tahoka this week.

Mr. Sadler is well known to the people of this section of the state, and in fact to the people all over West Texas and while this is his first engagement to make Brownfield, hundreds of people here have seen his show elsewhere and are all enthusiastic boosters for Sadler. Most shows are an absolute detriment to a town and their coming yields only money with no good entertainment or pleasing results, but all rules have exceptions, and the many friends of Sadler's show will so testify.

Oscar Bolinger was severely injured near Beaumont, Texas, when attacked on the road by an owl, which caused him to lose control of his car and run into a deep ditch.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbott of Spur, spent Sunday in Brownfield.

Mrs. Fred Smith was in the Lubbock Sanitarium a few days last week to have her tonsils removed.

J. A. Muse, of Cleburne, Texas, is here this week visiting with his old friend, H. F. Adams and family.

Miss Webelle Hargett of Seagraves was up Saturday having some dental work done.

Few Have, or Acquire,
Good Thinking Habits

The average man works about eight hours a day, or is supposed to. The rest of the time is divided about equally, so the theory runs, between recreation and sleep.

Of the 16 waking hours how many are devoted to thinking? Psychologists tell us that a tenth is a liberal allowance, and, in actual practice, from that down. Only a little more than an hour and a half out of the twenty-four occupied in thinking!

Thinking is one of the most difficult and trying of occupations, says Collier's. Were this not so it is probable that we might spend more time at it. To prove this, try to concentrate your mind on the book you have just read; on the lecture you have recently listened to; on the important interview you have just had. Try to remember and recount to yourself, item by item, just as much as you can of the thing you read or listened to. It will tire you out. Unless you have trained yourself to the task your mind will wander—you will lose the thread.

Psychologists recommend the cultivation of thinking habits; they recommend less reading and more thinking about what you have read and heard and seen.

"As we do this well or ill," says John Stuart Mill, "so will we discharge well or ill the duties of our several callings."

Glass Flowers Close

Imitation of Nature

Marvelous artificial blooms that resemble nature's finest specimens in every respect except scent, are now being made by expert glassblowers.

Every part of the flower or plant is faithfully reproduced, from the long, delicate stems and colored petals to the almost invisible pollen.

The first thing which the maker of these wonderful blooms does is to blow the petals from glass as thin and fragile as tissue paper. The glass petals are then shaped and colored exactly like the natural ones.

Some of the rarer plants cannot be easily reproduced, and often several experiments have to be carried out with different colors before a really good imitation is obtained.

These glass flowers are used extensively in museums, both to show details of plant or flower formation and as backgrounds for displaying specimens of birds and beasts.

Antiquity and Whiskers

Tradition says that Adam wore a full beard. That is quite a natural supposition since that was before the time of razor advertisements. Beautifully executed hair reliefs have left no doubt that the early Persian kings cultivated whiskers. In fact, for further adornment they plaited them with golden thread. The Winged Bulls of Assyria are but types of those kings. The Chinese are a shaven people; the Egyptians were the same. But the Mohammedans are bearded, and Saladin's son, Turkish historians tell us, wept for fear when he saw the shaven envoys of the Crusaders. The world is, and always has been, divided into shavers and bearded. The greatest benefactor of barbers in the world's history was Alexander. He, who shaved himself to preserve his youth, shaved his army to prevent the enemy seizing their beards.

Venetian Glass

Venice has long led the world in the manufacture of beautiful glassware. Glass works were early established in that city and the taking of Constantinople in 1204 gave the Venetians the opportunity of acquiring additional knowledge of the art. During the Fourteenth century beads, false stones, and imitations of jewels, rather than cups and the like, seem to have been the chief productions of the Venice workman. Venetian glass is usually of extreme thinness, being nearly always blown, and there is an endless variety to be found in the shapes and in the application of color. Glass-blowing, like throwing clay on the potter's wheel, induces beautiful curved forms and strength of substance.

Names of Irish Towns

The following are the names of some townlands in Castleland district, with English meanings: Abanboy, "Little Yellow Ford." Angiore, "Noisy Ford." Ballynaboul, "Town of the Holes." Bawnaskehy, "Lea Field of the White Thorn." Bawnaluskaha, "Bawn of the Burning." Beheenagh, "Birch Tree District." Caheragh, "Chieftaincy." Cahereen, "Little Mansion." Cangulla, "Hill of the Gallauin (Standing Stone)." Coolavanny, "The Field of the Milk." Coolnageragh, "The Field of the Sheep." Crae, "The Rock." Dooneen, "Little Fort." Dromliton, "Wethers' Ridge." Faladuff, "Black Field." Farranabrack, "Land of the Trout Streams."

The Cob Dollar

The "cob dollar" was a Spanish dollar which at one time had wide circulation in the United States. In 1778, when the articles of confederation were adopted, the cob or Spanish dollar was used in practically all business transactions throughout the colonies. Owing to its convenience it was adopted with slight change as our standard dollar. Even the dollar sign originated on these cob dollars coined in Spain and her American colonies. The smaller Spanish coins representing fractions of the cob dollar were called "cob money."

BLIND STUDENTS IN UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS

Austin, Oct. 13.—That students are overcoming handicaps to get an education at the University of Texas is shown by the fact that six boys and girls enrolled enrolled this year are former students of the Texas school for the blind. Leo Mahoney, of El Paso, is the only freshman. Robert Stoll, of Taylor, is a graduate student who, though blind, has received his bachelor of arts degree from the University, and election to Phi Beta Kappa, the highest scholastic honor conferred by the school. He is now working toward an advanced degree. The other students include three sophomores, Truett G. Childre, of Austin; Carl Hoeker, of Austin; Calvin Lemke, of Waco, and one junior, Miss Prudence Taylor, of Bay City.

Sam Harley, of Washington, D. C., when informed by telephone that triplets had been born to his wife, hung up the receiver with a groan and has not been heard from since.

Goat's and Cow's Milk

In taste goat's milk is like rich cow's milk, except that it is somewhat whiter and a trifle sweeter. The uninitiated would not be able to distinguish it from cow's milk either by taste or odor. It is slightly more viscous than cow's milk, the consistency being smooth like first-run cream. Over 3,000 goats are used by various government hospitals for milk-producing purposes. Tuberculosis sanatoriums especially use large amounts of goat's milk. Experts declare that it is a good body builder for patients suffering from wasting diseases such as tuberculosis. Goat's milk being alkaline in its reaction, the same as human milk, is about the best substitute for mother's milk for babies. The curd of goat's milk, being tender and flaky, is digested in the shortest possible time. It is pure and wholesome and can safely be taken in a raw state. Goats are considered immune from tuberculosis, so their milk needs no pasteurizing, and runs no danger of losing any of its vitamins or having any of its lime salts altered by the application of heat.

Rely on America for All Sorts of Goods

From a Peruvian mining camp in the Andes came by mail to a New York department store not long since an order for food. The shipment made the last leg of its journey with the help of fifty pack mules, each of which carried 250 pounds up the steep ascent, says The Nation's Business. And from Alaska came an order for silk feminine underwear and a hat which would wear six months. "The styles change only twice a year up here," the customer explained.

A woman in Paris wrote to another New York shop for a certain powder used to clean false teeth. A woman in Maracibo, Venezuela, wrote for a certain brand of face cream. Another in Bermuda wanted just one drinking cup and got it. A customer in Peru got camera films, and books were sent to India and China.

Germans are America's mail-order customers for table delicacies, starch, salt, pepper and soap. Liberia and Beirut, Syria, buy our foodstuffs by letter. Moscow, Warsaw and Latvian villages write for our canned goods. Italy, Denmark, Finland, Norway, Belgium, Switzerland and Sweden are on our department store books. In some cases missionaries are credited with the sales, in others returned immigrants.

And wherever the goods go they are voiceless ambassadors of the American policy of a dollar's worth for a dollar.

Joke Would Seem to Be on Paragraphers

Newspaper paragraphers like to poke fun at advertisements announcing the loss of an "open-faced man's watch," announces the Montreal Herald. Who and where is this open-faced man? they inquire. But, truly, he is no joke, the open-faced man. May his tribe increase.

The countenance of the open-faced man is no mask, concealing guile. His character is written on it, so that all can read, for he has nothing whereof to be ashamed. The open face is an open book.

Scrambling metaphors, one may say the open face is also a mirror, reflecting and reflecting light. The countenance of the open-faced man is a cheering illuminant when other men's faces are shadowed by gloom and despair.

But he is no professional Sunny Jim. The light in his countenance is the faith that is in his heart and other men find strength and courage in his presence.

Despite the paragraphers, there are indeed such persons as open-faced men. There are many of them, but still not enough. Scripture gives honorable mention to the men of open face, for in Corinthians it is written: "We all with open face beholding as in a mirror the glory of the Lord, are transformed into the same image from glory to glory."

Birds as Prophets

In early days superstitious people paid considerable attention to the birds and their different cries, which were believed to foretell events. Thus comes the old saying, "A little bird told me." Traces of this belief are to be found in our own Old Testament, where verse 20, of chapter 10, of Ecclesiastes, speaks of "for a bird of the air shall carry the voice and that which hath wings shall tell the matter." It is generally agreed that it is from this belief in the universal knowledge of birds, which, of course, are supposed to see everything from the sky—that we get this saying.

Reason for Nicknames

During the contest between Charles I and his parliament it was fashionable among the church people to give Scripture names to their children, and sometimes the name would consist of a phrase, or even an entire verse. One child was actually named "Who Comforteth Us in All Our Tribulation, That We May Be Able to Comfort Them Which Are in Any Trouble With the Comfort Wherewith We Ourselves Are Comforted," Tiebournie. And what do you suppose the kids dubbed him when he started to school? "Trib."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Frog That Liked Eggs

A little girl who studies birds made the discovery that a frog will eat a blackbird's eggs, the London Morning Post reports. She found a low-bull nest with two eggs, one having a small hole at the big end. Next day she found a frog on the nest, its tongue flicking in and out of the hole. "Either the noise of the grass under my feet, or the gasp I let out," she relates in a kind of affidavit, "frightened the frog away." On the third day she found both the eggs with holes and empty. Unlike toads, frogs boast teeth, but are not usually reckoned among egg thieves.

For Open-Air Vacation

Spent your vacation out of doors? This is the only guarantee of a happy, healthy vacation, says a writer in Hygeia. Weeks of planning and weeks of saving for a summer holiday are all well spent if the worker can come back to his task with quieted nerves, hardened muscles and a new zest for his job. The best way to accomplish this is to spend as much time as possible in wholesome—not over-strenuous—exercise and in rest, outside of the strange shelters built by man.

Such a holiday is available to every one without extra cost.

The Parent-Teacher Association is to the school what the Board of Directors is to the bank or corporation. They may also be compared to the coal or fuel oil used in propelling the steam turbine. Therefore, it is the height of importance that each and every patron of the Brownfield school join hands with the teachers for the promotion and locomotion of our school system. To refuse to do so puts us in the category of the 'slackers' we heard so much about during the world war. A civic or educational slacker is just as much a slacker as the non-patriotic slacker when our nation is in danger. Join the Parent-Teacher Association and become at once identified as a leader in the educational movement in Brownfield.

The Lubbock papers are making a big to-do over Andrew (Red) Castleberry, who attended school in Lubbock last year, making good on their football team, and is being tried out to good advantage on the first year team at the University of Texas this year, claiming Red as a Lubbock boy. As a matter of fact both his parents are residents of this city, and he calls Brownfield "home."

Politics indeed make strange bed fellows. Two years ago there was an element in Terry county who said they believed the Democratic pledge was of no moral or legal worth, refused to vote for Mayfield for U. S. Senator, and put one in for Paddy, the fusion nominee. The tables are turned this year, and the same folks who pled so hard for Mayfield two years ago are wearing Butte stripes this year, and the ticket jumpers of two years ago are coming down on the importance of the pledge. This is not the general rule, but only in some instances. In the meantime, while these disgruntled Democrats, who failed to get their man in the second primary, are preparing to get over in the Republican ranks, the real Republicans of Terry county, almost to a man or woman are preparing to put one in for the Democratic nominee for governor. Then, way down in South Texas, where the son of Ham is born to shed his fragrance on the heavy air, are meeting, in convention and agreeing to vote the Democratic ticket. If this gets any worse, how are we pure "D" "yaller dog" democrats, who stay with the old party of our fathers in season and out of season, going to know where we're at. But the Democratic party will survive all these things and live to see many of these issues perish from the earth.

A newspaper man asked Charles

W. Bryan recently if he believed that many Texas Democrats would jump the ticket and vote the Republican. He answered without hesitancy that it was unthinkable that very many Texas Democrats would go back on the party pledge.

According to the two bank statements in this issue of the Herald, more than one half million dollars are on deposit in the two Brownfield banks and the cotton season has hardly started. We hope to have a cool million on deposit next statement if cotton prices keep up and the loan amounts considerably cut.

TERRY COUNTY EXHIBITS ATTRACT STATE FAIR CROWD

Terry county's exhibit was shown among the four other attractive Panhandle and South Plains county exhibits at the State Fair in the Fort Worth Record's Sunday edition, and we borrow the following comment from the same journal printed under the pictures:
 "That the Panhandle of Texas is well adapted to agriculture is convincingly and attractively proven by the State Fair exhibits of counties of that territory, which have been admired by all who beheld them. Amarillo's 'horn of plenty' with O. V. Vernon, Secretary of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, and Miss Anna Bower, Home Demonstration Agent in the foreground. S. A. Palmer, County Agricultural Agent of Crosby County is next to the left holding a 91 pound watermelon. Deaf Smith and Terry County exhibits, side by side, present different forms of art in attractive design."

SCIENCE SEES GAS AS THE UNIVERSAL FUEL

Advocates of fuel conservation are looking forward to the day when science will have made it possible to burn little if any coal in its raw state to produce heat. When this time comes, it is said that the manufactured gas industry of the country will be consuming 200,000,000 or more tons of coal every year, instead of the 10,000,000 now used, says the Texas Public Service Information Bureau.
 It is generally acknowledged that the use of fuel oil for heating will be limited, as the petroleum resources of the country diminishes and the demand for more extensive refining of the crude product is increased. A well known writer on industrial subjects says that eventually, and perhaps sooner than we expect, those consumers of heat now using oil will be compelled to turn to gas, and he adds: "Here alone is a demand for more heat units than our entire gas industry now produces and sells for all purposes."
 Approximately 50,000,000 barrels of oil are now consumed for industrial heating each year. Assuming that three barrels of oil do the work of a ton of coal, this means that this load is equivalent to the work performed by 16,000,000 tons of coal, or nearly twice as much coal as the gas industry now consumes annually.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL BUYS LOWELL JAIL

William Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, on September 24th, purchased at public auction, the Middlesex County Jail, at Lowell, Mass.
 It is reported that the building will probably be used as a Catholic high school. Other rumors are that it will be used as an industrial school.
 The Boston Globe says: "The Lowell jail was abandoned in the early days of national prohibition as it was claimed that it was too costly for the number of prisoners admitted there. It is a large granite structure."

Dusting Off an Old One

The honored guest arose to speak, and was greeted with a cheer that shook the room. Some way or other, after that cheer, he never could get some of the guests quieted down again. A half dozen or so of them insisted in talking loudly among themselves. The speaker could scarcely make himself heard. All at once, one man who had had more than enough to drink and had fallen asleep, began to snore loudly. There were laughs, and the speaker looked greatly annoyed. Reaching for his gavel the toastmaster rapped upon the table for some semblance of order. But in his enthusiasm he rapped entirely too hard and the gavel broke in two. One piece bounced across the table and struck the sleeping member squarely on the head. He roused a bit, looked about him, and then shouted:
 "Hit me again! I can still hear him!"—Journal American Medical Association.

Easy to See That

The young man had taken his old grandmother to a picture gallery. She had never been in such a place before and accordingly she was very critical of all that she saw. Together they wandered round looking at the paintings with interest.
 Finally they stopped before a canvas which showed a man seated in a high-backed chair. Tacked to the frame was a small white card.
 "What does it say on the card?" asked the old lady.
 "A portrait of F. E. Jones, by himself," replied her grandson.
 The old lady went closer to the picture.
 "What folks these art people must be!" she muttered. "Any fool can see that the man is by himself; there's no one else in the picture."

All Things Possible

Nothing gave Mrs. Jones greater pleasure than to think she had secured a bargain.
 She came home from a sale one day and displayed her purchases, one being a brass plate with the name "O'Halloran" on it.
 "What on earth did you buy that for?" said her husband when he saw it.
 "Well, it was so cheap," said Mrs. Jones. "I only gave a shilling for it, and I'm sure it must have cost two or three guineas."
 "But why waste a shilling?"
 "Oh," she said, airily, "you never know how things will come in. For instance, you might die and I might marry a man called O'Halloran!"—London Tit-Bits.

Tells Work of Statesmen

The Congressional Record is a journal of the proceedings of the congress of the United States, dating from 1786. Prior to that date the senate held secret sessions only, but thereafter publication was required, save in the case of "executive sessions." Record has been the title since 1875. Before that date the journal was entitled Annals of Congress (1789-99) for both branches, Register of Debates until 1837, and through 1874 Congressional Globe.

Middle Ages Heroine Had Practical Mind

One of several fortresses formerly owned by Lord Castletown's ancestors is Morett castle, now a ruin, but at one time a place of immense strength. Concerning this his lordship tells a grim story in his book, "Ego." The castle was besieged by the Irish, and the owner was quickly captured in a sortie. He was brought up by his captors outside the walls and a parley demanded. His wife came on the battlements, and the enemy herald announced that unless the fortress was surrendered within an hour her husband would be hanged. "Give me time to think it over," requested the lady. "One hour," said the Irish. "One hour will do," replied the lady. At the appointed time both sides returned, the lady on the battlements, the prisoner with a cord round his neck and surrounded by his guard. "I have decided," she said. "I can always get another husband, but never another Morett. You can hang your prisoner." Which they promptly did.

Band Instruments
 "Reed instruments" comprise all wind-blown instruments in which the sound is produced by means of a reed attached to the mouthpiece; cornets and other instruments in which the tone is produced by blowing directly into the mouthpiece, usually metal, are known as "brass instruments." The difference is generally indicated by the words "brass," "wood" and "reed."
 "Reeds" in the band are saxophone, bassoon, clarinet, oboe and flageolet, generally.

HARRIS HAPPENINGS

By Sand Bur.

It sounds good to hear a gin whistle at Tokio these days. No more long night rides to Brownfield with bales of cotton.

Our school is progressing nicely. Teacher and pupils both are interested in making as much as possible from the few months in the school room each year. We can't afford to lose one little day for knowledge is power. The increase in population, competition in business, and the advance in the professions has raised the minimum of education necessary for success, but no one is able to contend with conditions and evils of life if he depends alone on education and ignores God; for he will be encompassed about with insurmountable difficulties, such as envy, greed, anxieties, weaknesses and despair. But if he will come to know and associate with God, he can overcome all these things.

The musicale at Mr. Ham's Monday night was enjoyed by all present.

Raymond Fitzgerald started to school this week.

Mrs. Mildred Ellington and Mrs. Geo. Alexander spent Saturday night and Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harris at Brownfield. Mr. and Mrs. Harris, accompanied by Glenn and family had just returned from a visit with relatives in South Dakota. They enjoyed every minute of the time and looked every younger when they returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Raleigh Gimp visited F. M. Ellington and family, Sunday.

It is said that a large majority of the insanity in the world comes from loss of sleep. The brain has not one minute rest from the cradle to the grave except when one is asleep.

M. E. Ellington took his first bale of cotton to Tokio, Saturday morning.

Judge Neill of this city left last week for Dallas to take charge of the Terry county exhibits at the State Fair. He was accompanied by Jake Leedy, of Tahoka, who will decorate the booth and help in other ways. Mr. Leedy is considered one of the best decorators in this part of the state and has worked in this capacity for Terry county the past several years.

Mrs. J. W. Welch and daughters, Ruth and Lera, accompanied by Mr. Floyd Fry, motored to Big Springs, Sunday, and spent the day with the former's son, Otho and family. They left here early Sunday morning and got there in time to eat breakfast with the family.

L. F. Hudgins is working for Earl Anthony in the Enterprise Market & Grocery.

Ended Love Trail of Man Who Played Fair

Alexander loved the ladies and he played fair with them. That is, he always proposed to them.

"I am so sorry," said Helene, when he proposed to her. "So sorry, but you see I am engaged to George."

Eunice said "yes" promptly, when he asked her, but she was surprised when he reminded her of it the next time they met. "Surely you were not serious," she said. "Anyway, I was not."

Dolly cuddled close to him and whispered "yes"—but in the morning she had forgotten.

Anna Margaret promised to consider it and let him know, but she never did.

Mary Jane let him kiss her hand and she talked quite awhile about the beauty of love. The next week she moved away and left no address.

Henrietta was sure she could have loved him had she not already decided on a career.

Thora, the pretty divorcee, cried and wished she had met him first—before she lost her faith in men.

Sally was a sweet little debutante, and he thought he might as well be her first sweetheart. Alas, he was not. He only thought he was—but he was her last, for she married him, and that was the last of Alexander. Well, just about the last.—Kansas City Star.

Many Legends Treat of Woman's Creation

Woman's first appearance has been a popular subject of legends. The Phoenician myth of creation is founded on the story of Pragmaion and Galatea. There the first woman was carved out of ivory by the first man, and then endowed with life by Aphrodite, says the Kansas City Star.

The Greek theory of the creation of woman, according to Hesiod, was that Zeus, as a cruel jest, ordered Vulcan to make woman out of clay, and then induce the various gods and goddesses to invest the clay doll with all their worst qualities, the result being a lovely thing.

The Scandinavians say that as Odln, Vili and Ve, the three sons of Bor, were walking along the beach they found two sticks of wood, one of ash and one of elm. Sitting down, the gods shaped man and woman out of these sticks, whittling the woman from the elm and called her Erula.

First Divorce Court

The first divorce court in England was instituted in 1858. The court consisted of three judges. At the first sitting five marriages were dissolved, and in the first year of the court's operation 33 divorces were granted out of 288 petitions. From the time of the Reformation up to 1858 there had been but 317 divorces in England, granted by acts of parliament. Until the passing of the divorce act in 1858 the theory in English law regarding divorce was the same as that of the Roman Catholic church, although in practice this rule was not strictly adhered to, and wealthy and influential persons, through parliament, secured freedom from galling ties. The divorce act provided that the wronged husband could be released from his obligation to an unfaithful wife, but gave no such recourse to an injured wife, unless the husband's offense in this direction was aggravated by other offenses.

Forethought

The small boy entered the shoemaker's shop, and, unwrapping a small parcel, produced a size 11 shoe, very much the worse for wear.

The shoemaker took it from him, and, after looking at it, asked:

"Well, what do you want me to do with this? It doesn't want mending, does it?"

"Yes," said the boy; "that's father's slipper, and there's a nail sticking up in it. I want you to put it right before he notices it."

"You're a kind little boy," said the old man, beaming. "You must be fond of your father."

"Ain't that quite," replied the small boy calmly. "You see, the nail's sticking right through the sole, and this is the slipper father spansks me with."

Civilization and Wells

Behind the drilling of the French artesian wells in southern Algeria is, according to Phillips, the story of the slow, but usually peaceful, conquest of an old civilization by a new. Until the coming of the French in the late '50s of the last century the wells of the northern Sahara had all been painfully dug by hand, often with indifferent success. The first French wells, by good luck, were located in what is called the Oued Rir, where two of the Sahara's former rivers had once joined, and where much of the drainage from a tract of desert 700 miles long and from 300 to 400 miles broad still collected. The first artesian well, which began to flow in June, 1856, was regarded as miraculous by the natives.

As the drilling of wells progressed, new areas were added to cultivation and settled life in towns took the place of the old wandering existence for many inhabitants of the Sahara.

MRS. DALLAS ENTERTAINS FRIDAY FORTY-TWO CLUB

A social was given by Mrs. Dallas, Oct 10th, in honor of the Friday Forty-two Club, at 4 p.m. The guests were cordially invited into the reception room of the hostess, where a number of tables were prepared for the favorite game. As soon as all the guests arrived, the cards were passed and the guests took their respective places, and the game began. After several games had been indulged in, the lovable hostess arranged the tables and served the most delicious luncheon one could imagine, after which each guest was presented with a beautiful rose.

Those present were Mesdames Powell, Hurst, White, Michie, Downing, Collins, Bynum, Brothers, Dr. Bell, Harris, Collier, Graham, Hancock, Lewis, Kendrick, Gracey, Holgate, Winston, Ditto and Miss Voncille Holgate.

After many expressions of a joyful and delightful afternoon, the guests dispersed. The club will meet again Oct. 24, at the home of Mrs. H. K. Winston.

The club tenders its thanks to Mrs. Dallas for this honor.—Reporter.

We erred last week in stating that Elder Chas. Metcalfe, of Lubbock, was holding a meeting at Johnson. The fact of the matter was that the people of the community decided that they were too busy with the crops for a meeting and it will be conducted later in the year.

Our friend, W. B. English dropped in this week and had us send the Herald to his old friend, Mr. J. Webb Howell, of Bryan, Texas. Mr. English believes in letting the outsiders know about old Terry.

SHERIFF'S SALE

State of Texas, County of Terry:—
By virtue of an order of sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Potter County, Texas, on the 24th day of September, A. D. 1924, by the Clerk thereof, in the case of Jessie D. Whitmire versus Meredith T. Griffin, Jr., No. 4065, and to me, as Sheriff directed and delivered, I will proceed to sell, within the hours prescribed by law for Sheriff Sales, on the First Tuesday in November, A. D. 1924, it being the 4th day of said month, before the Court House door of said Terry County, in the city of Brownfield, Texas, the following described property, to-wit:

All that certain tract of land situated in Terry County, Texas, and described as follows: 120 acres out of the west half of section number 157, Block T, original grantee, D. & W. P. R. Co., and described by metes and bounds as follows: Beginning at the northwest corner of said section No. 157 in Block T; thence east 950 varas to a point; thence south 7125 varas to a point; thence west 950 varas to a point; thence north 7125 varas to the place of beginning.

Levied on this 29th day of September 1924, as the property of Meredith T. Griffin, Jr., to satisfy a judgement amounting to $2,668.49 in favor of Jessie D. Whitmire and cost of suit.

Given under my hand, this 29th day of September, A. D. 1924.
10-17 Wood E. Johnson,
Sheriff Terry County, Texas

Mrs. Edna Smith and daughter, also Mrs. Fred Ball and daughter, all of Rich Hill, Mo., with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Patterson, of Lubbock, were dinner guests of W. H. Dallas and family, Sunday. Mesdames Smith, Patterson and Dallas are cousins and this was the first meeting in 30 years.

The ladies have the characteristics of their mothers, so it was easy to recognize each other. 'Twas indeed a happy reunion.

Mrs. W. W. Ditto was a pleasant caller at our sanctum Monday, being her first visit since we got in our new building, we believe.

HOW TEXAS RANKS IN AN EDUCATIONAL WAY

Fort Worth, Oct. 6.—Texas ranks 44th in per capita state and local expenditures for all purposes, including school, state and local government. Texas ranks 37th in per capita state and local expenditures for all forms of public education. These facts have just been made public by George A. Works, director of the Texas School survey. He stated that the averages are based on the total population, and they include forty-eight states and the District of Columbia.

For all purposes, including all forms of education, Texas spends $19.42 per capita, ranking 44th. Nevada ranks first with an expenditure of $102.29, and Alabama last with $12.13. For all forms of public education, Texas spends $8.41 per capita, ranking 37th. Montana leads with $24.46, and Kentucky is last with $4.36.

These facts, said Dr. Works, justify the conclusion that Texas maintains an inexpensive public service, including schools, state and local government, as compared with her sister states.

The second section of his report deals with the funds being spent on public elementary and high schools, exclusively, according to Dr. Works. Details in this show that in its per capita expenditure for public elementary and high schools, Texas ranks 37th, the amount per person being $7.32. Montana leads in this respect with $22.33 per capita, while Mississippi is lowest with $3.34.

Texas gives $3.64 out of state taxes to public elementary and high schools taking in this respect 10th place. Nevada leads again with $7.51, while Florida is last with 70 cents. But Texas is far down the line in respect to local taxes spent on education, taking rank as 43rd, giving an average of $2.77. Montana leads here, with $17.64, and Mississippi last with $1.72. In the percentage of the total revenues for providing for elementary and high schools that come from the state, Texas ranks first. There is no state in which a larger proportion of the revenues for these schools comes from the state treasury. But Texas is the lowest state in the nation in the proportion of expenses providing for elementary and high schools borne by the local communities.

Musk Oxen Muskless

The musk ox of North America is a true connecting link between wild cattle and sheep. It has horns like the wild Cape buffalo of Africa, cattle-like hoofs, and its flesh looks and tastes like beef.

It has next its body a dense coat of soft, clean woolly hair, and through this grows a rain coat of very long, straight brown hair like that of the Tibetan yak. It has a tail so short and small that the animal seems tailless.

The horns meet in a broad base over the top of the skull, drop far down then sharply curve upward for several inches, terminating in sharp points. They are specially designed for puncturing the vitals of wolves and polar bears.

The musk ox lives and thrives even up to the farthest north for hoofed animals, says the Detroit News. Its supply of "musk" and its "musk" odor are both wholly imaginary.

Bridegroom Must Be Coy

Custom has imposed upon brides in Assam a considerable amount of trouble before their prospective husbands are safely tied up. On her wedding day the bride is garishly attired in a gown flashing with brilliants, and with a band of jewels holding up her veil. She goes to the house of the bridegroom-to-be. The door is open. The bride and her attendants rush in and search the house. The search continues until the bride discovers the seemingly reluctant bridegroom. When found he resists vigorously before the bride finally overcomes him and carries him off in triumph. The growing of tea is the sole occupation of Assam, and it is after the hustle and bustle of the harvest that the Assam man, or rather Assam woman, takes her mate.

What They Remark and What They Really Mean

Nearly all adverse criticism means, "I could have done it much better."

All praise of the gushing variety means, "I couldn't have done better myself."

"Please criticize this work for me," usually means, "Please give this the once-over and then praise me."

"Please don't observe too closely, for the house is in a frightful state" usually means, "Take a look and see if you can find any dust."

"I didn't have time to do my hair" usually means, "I think it arranged very becomingly and you are invited to share my opinion."

"I am not half good enough for you" means, "Please assure me that you consider it an honor to be courted by a man of my excellence."

"The common people are half-baked idiots" means, "The common people haven't sense enough to appreciate me."

"Hurrah for Brown" means "Brown's opinions are similar to mine, which is sufficient evidence that he is a good and wise man."

"I had few advantages as a boy" means, "Haven't I accomplished wonders for one so handicapped at the start?"

"I'll be glad to introduce you to any of these people" means, "Make a note of the fact that I am on intimate terms with all of these big guys."—Baltimore Sun.

Continue Search for "Lost" Arizona Mines

Of all the legends of buried treasure the most persistent is the one about lost gold mines of Arizona. Only the Indians are supposed to possess the secret of this baffling mystery, although the story has been circulated for more than a century.

That there once were mines in the region is indicated by references found in early Spanish diaries and by the tales passed down through several generations of natives who were compelled to dig the ore as slaves of their conquerors. The chief evidence in support of the tradition is the altar of the San Xavier mission, not far from Tucson. It is described as being "inlaid with virgin gold." Mission records show that the precious metal was brought from Canada del Oro where it was mined by Indians under the direction of Spanish priests.

But no trace now exists of the diggings, and the old trail over which the gold is said to have been carried by pack mules disappears abruptly in the sands.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Moon Superstitions

In certain races the man in the moon, far from being a criminal, is a being who, on account of great wisdom, was transferred to the moon, from which he could see all.

To the Chinese he is Yue-tao, who arranges all marriages. The medicine men of the old Red Indian tribes received their power by departing into the middle of a lake and holding consultation with the man in the moon.

Saw the Connection

"Splendid!" said the youth in the smoking room, as he put down the newspaper. "I see that the price of petrol is coming down."

"Yes," rejoined one of the other members, "but I'd no idea you had a car."

"I haven't; but I've got a pack of lighter."—London Tit-Bits.

Why Automobiles Deteriorate

A factory machine is attached to a solid floor, which nearly prevents vibration. Yet it is constantly being adjusted and lubricated. Hence it wears for many years.

An automobile is constantly bumped over rough roads. Yet in spite of this terrible strain, the average car gets much less attention than the factory machine. Hence it depreciates much faster.

Bonapartes in America

While the scion branch of the Bonaparte family became extinct on the death of Prince Roland Bonaparte recently, several members of other branches are still alive.

The most interesting branch—the American—is not mentioned in the Almanach de Gotha, the continental Directory, but it is both legitimate and influential, and one of its scions, the late Charles Joseph Bonaparte, was attorney general and secretary of the navy in the United States cabinet.

Elizabeth Patterson, whose marriage to Jerome, Napoleon's younger brother, was the starting point of the American branch, was never acknowledged by Napoleon as his sister-in-law; but, although he "annulled" the marriage on Jerome's return to Europe, this did not affect its validity.—London Answers.

Proud to the Last

"No," I spoke to myself firmly, "not another million will I give away. I have just enough for car fare now." There are so many beggars in Berlin—mostly old women they are, too. They do not solicit alms. They just stand and wait. I walked a few feet further and there under a tree stood another shabby old woman. I walked past her quickly, but somehow I had to turn back. I thrust a million-mark note into her unwilling hand—and then too late did I realize my mistake.

She fung the money back at me and her eyes were filled with tears. "No, my fine lady," she said, "perhaps in another month I, too, shall be begging, but not yet, not yet."—Malika H. Stern, in Survey.

A Modern Knight

It would be difficult to convince a certain Philadelphia woman that chivalry is obsolete.

"Not long ago," says she, "I met a veritable knight on a dining car. When I went in to luncheon the only seat left for me was one facing the rear of the train. Now, I cannot sit with my back toward the engine without suffering all manner of disagreeable things, so I asked the steward to find me a seat facing the other way. Immediately a middle-aged man rose and offered to let me have his seat. I thanked him, and he took the seat opposite me. He scanned the menu and then he looked at me hesitatingly.

"Madam," said he, "would it be objectionable to you if I were to order spring onions?"

Fair Question

"Now children," said the teacher, "I want you to understand that the time to ask questions is whenever anything is said which you wish explained. Do not wait until I have finished, and then tell me you 'did not hear' or 'did not understand' when I talked to you."

The children replied: "Yes, ma'am!" in chorus.

"Very well," said the teacher, "we will begin today with James I, who came after Elizabeth."

A scholar raised his hand.

"Well," asked the teacher, "what is it?"

"What made him come after her?"—London Tit-Bits.

Pearls in History

Few jewels have played a more conspicuous part in history than the pearl. Pliny thought it was a drop of dew swallowed by the oyster, while the American savage believed that it was made of sunbeams and petrified dewdrops. The manner in which the real jewel is born is anything but poetic. A grain of sand irritates the sensitive oyster and the mollusk proceeds to smooth it by depositing around it layer after layer of the nacre with which his shell is lined. In the South Kensington museum there is a pearl two inches deep and two and a half inches in diameter. Think of the long process and the discomfort of the creature which produced it.

Some Truth in This

Complaint of Writer

French postal employees are demanding more money, and if they don't get it they threaten to read all the postal cards passing through the mails. If they did such a thing in this country the public could retaliate by writing all postal cards with post-office pens.

If you have ever tried to wield one of these literary implements you will gather at once what we mean.

The man who said the pen is mightier than the sword, wasn't thinking of the kind they harbor in United States post offices.

There is only one thing more useless than a post office pen. That is the post office ink.

Someone wrote to a scientific magazine the other day to find out what becomes of the national crop of discarded files. They lie buried and unperfumed in the so-called ink of a great nation's post offices. There they sleep their silent years away until someone comes along and tries to write a letter with them.

The curse of the post office pen is creeping paralysis. The symptoms are plain. When you begin your communication you carefully trace the outline of the letters, but with no visible results. All the afflicted pen can do is scream with pain in a dry, scratchy voice. Then, suddenly, as though striving to make amends for its prior infirmities, its muscles relax, its foot, insubstantial throat opens and it breaks loose in a hemorrhage of mud, shoe polish, asphaltum and serrated filth.

Another national institution familiar to those of us who look after our correspondence in post office lobbies, is the harrowed or ink-proof blotter. However, we shall not tread further this pathway of disclosure lest it appear that we are endeavoring unfairly to embarrass the United States government on matters concerning which we have, perhaps, already spoken with unbecoming frankness and brutality.—The Thrift Magazine.

Church Sittings Sold

In certain sections of England it is still customary to sell by auction, pews in the parish church. The highest bidder secures the use of the pew for a year. On the east coast of Scotland it was quite common 30 or 40 years ago to see an advertisement in the local press offering, say, one or two "bottom breadths" in such-and-such a pew in the parish church. The pews were freehold, and paid taxes in the same way as a freehold dwelling house. Another reader recalls particulars of a church pew sale which stated that it "produced so much per acre, free of rates and taxes," and that it was "in a good position" and "rent regularly paid."

A boy left the ranch at Elida, N.M., and got a job in Denver. He wrote a letter to his brother, who elected to stick to the ranch, telling the joys of city life in which he said:

"Thursday we autoed out to the Country Club where we golfed until dark. Then we motored to the beach for the week-end."

The brother on the ranch wrote back: "Yesterday we buck-boarded to town and baseballed all afternoon. Then we went to Jim Hunter's and poked until morning. Today we muled out to the kaffir field and crawled until sundown. Then we suppered and piped for awhile. After that we staircased up to our room and bedsteaded until the clock five'd."—K.C.

How to Get Better Milk Prices

Now is the time to feed a real milk producing ration.

By raising the average of your winter milk deliveries with Cow Chow during the winter months you can expect better prices, and more milk accepted in the spring and summer.

The dairy farmer who brings in twenty gallons a day in the winter and then tries to deliver 40 gallons in the summer, gets the regular price for only 20 gallons, and the surplus price for the other twenty.

The dairy farmer who has a big fall and winter production establishes a high average for himself and gets a good price in the spring and summer on grass for as much milk as he made last fall.

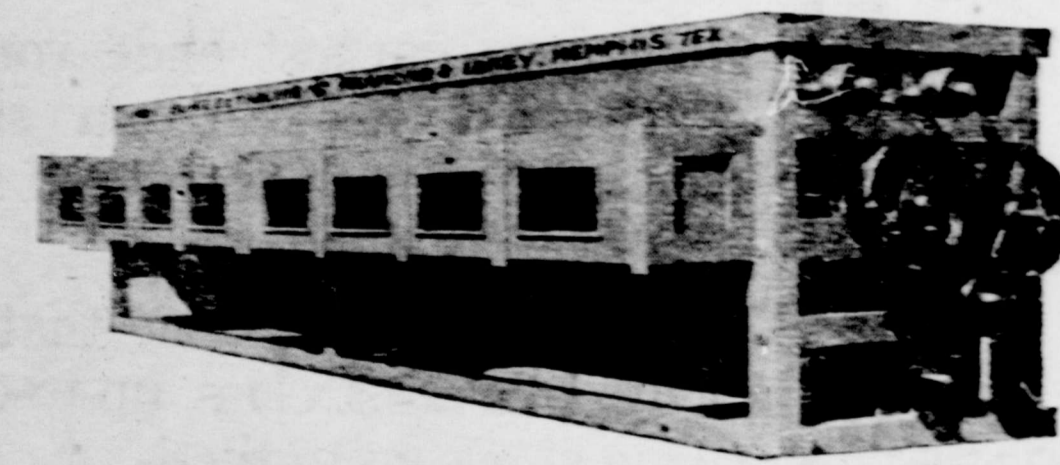

Cow Chow now means more winter milk and more summer income.

TOKIO TALKS

By Reporter.
 At this writing we are like ants; busy gathering crops and preparing for winter.
 Mr. Grady Casey made a trip to Childress last week, returning Saturday, and his brother Guinn came home with him.
 Mr. John Day and family took dinner with Mr. J. T. Pippin and children, Sunday.
 We are sorry to hear of an accident that happened to Mr. Weaver Lovelace yesterday evening while he and his wife and another young couple were returning from Plains. They met a car and Weaver gave his part of the road and then some, and turned his car over into the ditch. It wrecked the car very badly but no one was seriously hurt, we are glad to report.
 S. T. Miller and family spent Sunday visiting in this community. Come again.
 Mr. Johnson and family spent Sunday with J. A. Parks and family.
 The people of Tokio are rejoicing over the fact that they have a gin for the first time in history. Yes, a real gin that gins cotton. It is a Murray, 4-stand 80-saw gin. All farmers are invited to bring your cotton. We've ginned 60 bales up to date. We also invite our editor out to see us. We would like to take you through a first class gin. Then you can walk up to "The Place of Rest," and rest awhile.
 The Baptist Sunday School attended the Sunday School rally at Plains, Sunday and reported a nice time.
 Mr. Edgar Pippin, after seeing his gin completed, returned to his home in Vernon, Texas, last Friday afternoon.
