Chamber of Commerce CURRENTS

By the Secretary

Next Sunday, June 21, the Brownfield Band will go to Littlefield, Texas, to appear on the program of the Plateau Singing Convention which has its annual meeting at that time and place. The local Chamber of Commerce has arranged with the Littlefield Chamber for the use of our band on that occasion.

According to Clayborne Harvey, Secretary of the C. of C. of Littlefield, there is expected to be some 6,000 people present. Delegations from Plainview, Canyon, Hereford, Clovis and other points, and it will give Brownfield a great deal of publicity to have its band as the official band of the day.

The Brownfield band has been invited by Lubbock to return from Littlefield late in the afternoon via of their city and render a concert there, being promised a good appreciative turnout and plenty of advertising.

The Brownfield Band is in splendid form and has kindly consented to take advantage of the above opportunities, and will thereby keep Brownfield on the map before the Plains public, but what we need right now is for some few citizens that desire to assist along in the good work, is to make this trip next Sunday with their cars and take two or three band boys. The band needs about five cars that will go. A splendid time is promised all who will help. They will go by Levelland and return from Littlefield by the new town of Anton, and then to Lubbock. Call H. M. Pyeatt at Lewis Bros. and tell him how many you will take.

Cold cash is often the way to express warm sympathy.

It takes a lot of strategy to get a horse out of a burning stable—and a lot more to get a man out of a rut.

No thing wrought by man ever possessed more than he himself put into it.

The Chamber of Commerce needs every business house in Brownfield on its membership rolls, and does have almost all. Many of the public citizens should have their names on its rosters as well as other clubs and civic organizations should have a membership with it.

LUBBOCK SHERIFF REFUSES TO PROTEST IN GOOD CASE

Sheriff H. L. Johnston, exhibiting that same tenacious spirit with which he has entered into the work of law-enforcement here, refused Wednesday to give any attention to a plea made by Attorney Dayton Moses, of Fort Worth, asking him to take steps to discourage possibilities of Governor Mariah A. Ferguson granting a parole of 60 days to Milt Good, who is serving terms of 25 and 28 years respectively for murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Cattle Inspectors H. L. Roberson and W. D. Allison at Seminole on the night of April 1, 1923. The parole is sought by relatives and his attorneys.

"Seventy-five per cent of the members of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, for whom attorney Moses is chief counsel, supported Governor Ferguson in the campaign last year, and are largely responsible for the big majority by which she was elected. I do not feel that it would be consistent for me to offer a suggestion about a case in which those friends of the Governor are so vitally interested," Johnston said. A letter sent Attorney Moses by Johnston in reply to a telegram received by Sheriff Johnston expressed this view.—Lubbock Avalanche.

PROF. FACALA REPORTS A GOOD SUMMER SCHOOL

In conversation with Prof. O. W. Fagala recently, he informed us that they had more than 20 pupils in the high school department alone of the summer school, and had an excellent interest.

This summer school is of special benefit to those who failed to pass at the regular examination, as they will be given due credit for this work and may enable them enter the regular fall term in another grade.

Misses Hughes and Moore and families, of Levelland, were in attendance at the Church of Christ here Sunday.

Summer Arrives

WHAT WILL TERRY DO WITH THE ROAD BONDS?

It is the duty of every voter of Terry county to face the issue Saturday to face the music and register their will in the $200,000 road bond issue. It is their own privilege to study the matter and arrive at their own conclusions in the matter.

About the only conclusions to be arrived at with the voter is: Will the roads cost more in taxes than it costs me in time money and wear and tear on my vehicles to get from place to place over the county?

But should you arrive at the conclusion that these are about a stand-off, then add on the side of the later the cost of patience and temper in pulling sand beds or mud holes, for these should go on the "offset" side of the ledger from taxation.

Then, you will be called on to decide whether or not good roads will benefit my county in the eyes of the prospector with new money to invest and how much it will benefit my community, my school and my church.

The Herald believes that when the voter sums up these things and lets them show up as they should, and not try to just see those few dollars he will have to spend in extra taxes, he will decide the matter in the affirmative and vote for good roads.

Remember two, we are to get $280,000 from the State with the possibility of that much more from the Federal government.

Also, remember that each commissioner will have $20,000 to spend on the lateral roads of his precinct. Good folks, lets turn out and give the proposition an unquestioned majority.

It will mean work for many months for hundreds of people.

BROWNFIELD GIRLS ORGANIZE NEW NEEDLE CLUB

Monday afternoon a group of young ladies met at the home of Misses Blanche and Geneva Brothers and organized the Swastika Needle Club.

After officers were elected and one night set for July 6th, delightful refreshments of ice cream and waffles were served to the following charter members: Misses Blanche and Geneva Brothers, Ethel Hicks, Deotta Pounds, Othel Rentfro, Irene Lindley and Jewel Graves.

The club will meet Monday, June 22, at the home of Miss Jewel Graves.—Reporter.

CAR CATCHES ON FIRE WHILE PARKED AT CURB

The car of Rev. G. E. Lynn suffered some damage yesterday afternoon when it caught fire from an unknown origin. Mr. Lynn had left it parked in town and was gone from it for more than an hour. When he returned he found that it had caught fire. The flame was extinguished by bystanders.—Avalanche.

WELLMAN STORE BURGLARS CAUGHT MONDAY

Sheriff F. M. Ellington and Deputy E. Brown spend Sunday in the southern part of this county on the trail of the burglars who recently broke into the Wellman store, taking numerous articles of family use. At about 10:30 P. M. Sunday they arrived in Brownfield with two young men, who live near the line of Gaines county, and returning Monday, they secured the aid of Gaines county officers and arrested three more young men connected with the robbery, who live in Gaines county, and brought them in and lodged them in jail. We understand that some of them have been bonded out by relatives.

It is reported that one or two of the men were recently held for shoplifting at Meadow, and of course this offense will make the present one go harder with them.

Boys, you had better be good or Frosty and Gene will get you!

SEAGRAVES GIRL DIES FROM INJURIES SUSTAINED IN FALL

Bessie Higgs, ten year old daughter of Mrs. M. B. Clayton, died in a Lubbock sanitarium Wednesday evening at six o'clock, from injuries received in a fall from a swing.

While swinging Friday, Bessie fell from the swing, bruising her side and causing injuries which at first was not thought serious, but her suffering became so great that she was carried to a Lubbock sanitarium Wednesday morning for treatment, the end coming a few hours after arriving there.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Methodist church, this (Thursday) afternoon by Rev. C. B. Thompson immediately after the train arrived, after which the remains were laid to rest in the local cemetery.

The bereaved family have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in this sudden bereavement.—Seagraves Signal.

GOVERNOR TO PROCLAIM JULY 17TH DEFENSE TEST

Austin, June 16.—The citizens of Texas will be called upon by executive proclamation to observe National Defense Day, July 17th.

Adjutant General Mark McGee made this statement Tuesday, stating Governor Mariah A. Ferguson is now preparing the proclamation which will be released officially within the next few days.

McGee, who is state commander of the American Legion, said he likewise will issue a proclamation calling upon all Texas American Legion posts to observe the day. McGee said he would ask the Legion posts to do everything possible to aid the state in making the observance an outstanding success.

Arch Fowler and family were in Saturday mulling with the big crowd of that date.

REVIVAL AT C. OF CHRIST CLOSED SUNDAY

The ten day revival at the church of Christ came to a close Sunday night with some 15 additions from all sources, and the church much encouraged and edified. Steps will be taken before another year to greatly enlarge and beautify the church building according to the plan of the elders, which will likely include a balcony and more Sunday School rooms.

Evangelist Claude McClung, wife and little daughter, left early Monday morning for their home in Weatherford, where preparations will be hurriedly made for his departure to his next meeting at Electra. Some sixty new members are the direct result of his two meetings here.

Singer V. O. Teddlie and wife left Sunday just after noon, in order for him to be at Thorp Springs Christian College some time Monday to register for the summer school.

SOME SHOWERS AROUND THIS WEEK

A cloud made up late Sunday afternoon and while there was no rain to amount to anything in Brownfield we understand that a heavy rain visited the Lon country in this and Dawson counties, accompanied by heavy hail in places. It is reported that a good shower visited a small section of the Johnson community Monday afternoon. Also good showers were reported from Seminole to Wellman in this county, including the Seagraves country.

DAMAGING HAIL IN CENTER COMMUNITY MONDAY

A heavy rain is reported to have fallen in the southeastern part of Lubbock county late Monday afternoon around the community of Center. In spots, it is said, this amounted to almost a cloudburst that was accompanied by a damaging hail.

Many of the crops were completely demolished by the hail and a number of others were partially damaged, according to local citizens who visited in the community yesterday.

A strip a few miles wide and about three miles from the corner of the county seemed to be the center of the rain.

BOY HURT WHEN TEAMS RUN AWAY WITH PLOW

Abernathy, Tex., June 16.—The 11-year-old son of T. E. Adams, of near Petersburg was quite seriously injured when a team hitched to a disc plow became frightened and ran away while the youngster was plowing in his father's field.

The boy was thrown from the plow and a gash cut across the abdomen, which was almost deep enough to penetrate to the hollow.

Quick attention of a physician, however, rendered gratifying results and though fifteen stitches were necessary to close the laceration, the boy is resting well and will recover.

LOCAL ICE PLANT TO START UP THIS WEEK

The local ice plant belonging to the Texas Utilities Company was just about ready to start up Tuesday of this week for the first run of the first ice ever manufactured in Brownfield. This business has been watched with much interest by our citizens, as this industry has been badly needed here for years, and will mean that we can have ice for whatever purpose when we want it in any quantities we may wish.

The Texas Utilities Company is a great concern, and has spent thousands of dollars here putting in the most costly and modern ice making machinery that money can buy, and we are sure our citizenship will respond with liberal patronage.

Welcome to Brownfield!

MAN KILLED IN CAR WRECK HAS SON IN TERRY COUNTY

Durant, Okla., June 14.—J. M. Buchanan, 75, wealthy farm owner and business man of Sherman, Texas, was fatally injured when an automobile in which he and his daughter, Mrs. Maye Bangh, of California, were returning from Muskogee overturned. They had attended the funeral of Buchanan's wife Friday afternoon.

He died soon after reaching a hospital here. The automobile turned over four times on a turn in the high way north of Durant. The daughter was uninjured. The body will be sent to Muskogee to be buried beside the wife who died in Sherman Thursday.

Deceased's son, C. P. Buchanan, of near Tokio in this county, received a message Friday night of the accident and he and wife left immediately to attend the funeral.

GRADING ON HIGHWAYS MAKING RAPID PROGRESS

That there will be at least a good grade road all the way from Brownfield through Meadow to Lubbock, in just a short time, is evidenced by the work being done on road grade this week.

The tractor and grader were at work in the vicinity of Meadow the first part of the week and have marked off the road led up to the county line. The tractor work is being followed up by the fresnos and teams and a good road bed is being thrown up. This road will be kept in good condition by the state at all times.

R. A. Harben, engineer in charge of the construction of the road states that the grading will be completed in about two weeks.

Some work is also being done on the streets in town by the highway crew and they will be leveled up and put in good condition.—Meadow Review.

BODY HELD 2 MONTHS TO BE BURIED IN LUBBOCK SAT

The body of Mrs. F. H. Leeds, which has lain embalmed in the parlors of the Hogan-Burns undertaking establishment since February 12, 1923, will be buried in the Lubbock cemetery, Saturday, June 27.

At the time of Mrs. Leeds' death her husband left word that she was not to be buried until he gave the word. He left town almost immediately and has not been heard of directly during the intervening twenty-eight months. However it has been heard here, according to information given out by members of the undertaking firm, that he is now a resident of California.

During the time that this body has been waiting for burial many persons have visited the parlors to see her. One party had 28 members. Mrs. Leeds was 44 years of age when she died. She was then living about eight miles out of Lubbock. It is thought that she has two sisters living near Georgetown.

According to present arrangements, she will be buried from the Hogan-Burns undertaking parlors at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

GAINES COUNTY PRODUCING VERY FINE ONION CROP

Seminole, Tex., June 16.—A. L. Hill this week exhibited a bunch of onions he raised in his garden at his home in Seminole. In this bunch were eight onions that weighed over 4 1/2 pounds. He states that he expects to gather 200 pounds from a small patch.

Ira Jones, of Gomez, reported last week that he had cotton squares in his field.

UNION REVIVAL NOW UNDER WAY AT CITY TABERNACLE

The opening service of the Freeman union meeting was held Sunday morning at the City Tabernacle and a large crowd attended the initial service. Owing to inclement weather the crowd was quite small Sunday night, but the attendance has been increasing rapidly each night this week and reports are that Rev. Freeman is preaching good sermons, and much good is hoped to be accomplished in the three weeks campaign here.

Mr. Campbell is also whipping a good choir into shape, and good singing is a feature of the meeting.

The meeting is being held under the auspices of three local church congregations, who seem to be well organized and cooperating with the minister to bring the best results out of the campaign.

MEADOW PEOPLE HURT IN WRECK

Six persons were pinned beneath a Ford touring car at the street intersection at Broadway and Avenue O, Saturday morning at 8:45 o'clock when the car in which they were riding was driven into a Ford Coupe occupied by J. H. Hankins, and Arch McAllister of Lubbock.

The injured are O. W. Watkins and wife and their two children, Othie, 13, and Era, 15, Arthur Timmons, 13, and Grandmother P. H. Watkins, all of Meadow.

Watkins was believed critically injured for a few minutes. It was necessary for those who rushed to their aid to remove the car from the place it fell, capsized, and for a few minutes it appeared as though all had been killed except Grandmother Watkins and Arthur Timmons, the only ones not rendered unconscious by the impact.

The car in which the Watkins family was riding was going east on Broadway while the coupe occupied by Hankins and McAllister was being driven north on Avenue O.

The driver of the touring car, Era Watkins, apparently lost control of the car and drove it into the coupe, which was being driven, according to witnesses, at about ten miles per hour.

The left front wheel of the touring car struck the left rear wheel of the coupe, throwing the touring car into the air and it landed upside down pinning its occupants in the wreckage.

Arthur Timmons was rushed to the Lubbock Sanitarium for medical attention while the others were rushed to the West Texas Hospital. All have been released from those institutions except Othie Watkins, whose condition is yet serious.—Avalanche.

THE AVALANCHE FIRST DAILY HERE BY HOURS

For the first time in the history of Brownfield a daily paper is being chucked under their before the citizens hardly arise mornings. It is due here at 6:30 A. M., and some of us are still soundly sleeping at that hour. This is eight and one half hours ahead of any other daily.

The Amarillo Daily News arrives on the 2:30 train, which is delivered some thirty minutes to one hour later at the post office. The Fort Worth Star-Telegram arrives at 6:30 p.m. by the line car from Post, a full 12 hours later than the Avalanche.

The Avalanche has a growing list here now which numbers in the neighborhood of 100.

L. A. GREENFIELD ACCEPTS POSITION AT POST OFFICE

L. A. Greenfield, until recently distributor of Watkins products in this and Yoakum counties, has accepted a clerkship in the local postoffice, and is now occupying a place on the force. Postmaster J. C. Bohannon informed a Herald representative this week that upon the office going into second class July 1st, he would be given another man, who would likely be transferred from the Lubbock office, and would be an expert on dispatching mail, a man he was sorely in need of just now, and which would make the office more efficient.

Mrs. J. P. Watson, wife of Rev. J. P. Watson, local Methodist pastor, was reported quite seriously ill last week, but her many friends are rejoicing that she is better this week.

The O'Donnell reports good rains all over the country recently.

LAMESA TO HAVE A PERMANENT FAIR

Lamesa, June 13.—Stock is being sold this week in a fair association which will put this county fair on a permanent basis. We need such an institution, and if sufficient stock can be sold, we understand $20,000 worth of it will be ready for use this fall. Many counties have such an association and if enough public spirited men can be gotten together to sign up it will be a good thing for the county.

Those who sign up on the matter must understand that it is going to mean a real sacrifice of money and time to make it a go. It is not an investment that should be expected to return a dividend in dollars and cents as seldom the small fairs are money makers. It is going to take men who are willing to get behind it for the good it will do Dawson county. We hope to report that all the stock has been sold and that the County Fair is an assured thing for this fall. The Chamber of Commerce is behind the move and will furnish you all the information you may desire. See them.

THE EARNING CAPACITY OF ROADS

The department of Agriculture estimates that our country has between 450,000 and 475,000 miles of surfaced roads. The report calls attention to certain wrong ideas that are current about road improvement. "For the movement of every vehicle over a road there is a certain cost, which is less if the road is improved than if it is left in a state of nature. Logically, therefore, the limit that should be placed on expenditures for road improvement is the amount that can be saved on vehicular operating costs. All roads should be improved to the maximum degree that their traffic justifies, but no road should be improved beyond its earning capacity."

Another mistaken idea is that there is such a thing as a permanent road. Whatever state Highway departments understand that all roads, regardless of type, gradually depreciate and wear out under the wheels of vehicles and action of the weather.

Asphaltic types of road construction are probably the most permanent. They are water-proof, and being elastic, readily adhere to the earth's surface and do not crack. Because of their elastic characteristic they act as a cushion which absorbs the jarring effect produced by heavy motor vehicles moving at high speed.

The Greatest Resource

If I were to name three most precious resources of life, I should say books, friends and nature; and the greatest of these, at least the most constant and always at hand, is nature. Nature we have always with us, an inexhaustible storehouse of that which moves the heart, appeals to the mind, and fires the imagination—health to the body, a stimulus to the intellect and joy to the soul. To the scientist nature is a storehouse of facts, laws, processes; to the painter she is a storehouse of pictures; to the poet she is a storehouse of images, fancies, a source of inspiration; to the moralist she is a storehouse of precepts and parables; to all she may be a source of knowledge and joy.—John Burroughs.

First Gas Engine

The first practical gas engine was invented in 1860 by a Frenchman named Lenoir. In general outward appearance the machine resembled a single cylinder, horizontal steam engine and was double acting. Gas was drawn into the cylinder during the first half of the forward stroke and exploded by an electric spark just as the piston was beginning the second half of the stroke. The burned gases were forced out during the return stroke when an explosion was taking place on the other side of the piston. Since the gas was ignited without being compressed, the engine was very wasteful.—Los Angeles Times.

United States Tombstone

On one of the United States Indian reservations an old Indian lost his wife, whom he had dearly loved. In grief he went to the Indian agent and asked him to send for a "United States tombstone."

The agent procured a stone that he thought would please the old man and took it to him for approval. But it did not suit at all. The agent tried again, but with no better success.

Finally the Indian went himself for the stone.

A few weeks later the agent noticed from a distance a peculiar looking object in the Indian burying ground. He went closer and discovered firmly planted at the grave of the Indian's wife a barber's pole! The old Indian had procured his "United States tombstone."

The old man has been gone long years, and barbers' poles are nearly all gone too; but that one represented a love as true as many that are commemorated by marble monuments.—Youth's Companion.

Egypt's Leather

Egypt has in recent years established quite a flourishing leather manufacturing industry, due chiefly to the teaching of children in leather-working in trade schools scattered throughout the more populous parts of the Nile country.

Dress Really Matters of High Importance

We may say, offhand-like, that we "don't care a thing about style." But is that true? Test the next man who says so by suggesting that he get out the old wedding suit of 30 years ago, burnish it up a bit, and wear it for a month. He won't. Or test the next woman by suggesting that she go into the attic and get the old hat of 20 years ago—that hat which was set atop the hair and was the antithesis of the smart turban of today. Will she do it? No; she cares, according to the Milwaukee Journal.

And we all should care. For dress expresses our taste, our moral philosophy of life, our inner selves, more than we realize. It is about all that others see of us as we go among them. To be neatly dressed, within a measure of correctness, shows our desire to be held in proper esteem by those around us. It shows, also, a desire not to offend their sensibilities by doing the outlandish thing.

Styles have wandered a good deal. There has, perhaps, been too much of the peacock about them. But on the whole there has been progress—better art, a more pleasing blend of colors, a keener sense of the appropriate—and we have saved the best thoughts from year to year.

"Blue Hole" in Ohio Has Odd Properties

Castalia springs, or "the Blue Hole," is at the westerly edge of the village of Castalia, about nine miles southwest of Sandusky, the Cleveland Plain Dealer reports. A good-sized subterranean stream suddenly hobs up to the surface, through deep orifices in the limestone rock which underlies the region. As Cold creek it flows swiftly across three miles of Erie county and into Sandusky bay.

The phenomenon is said not to be an unusual one in limestone countries. The "Blue Hole," the spring itself, is a beautiful, crystal-clear, very nearly circular pool, some thirty feet across and quite deep. Constituents of the water are lime, soda, magnesia and iron, and though the pool is extremely cold it never freezes. The stream is not much affected by floods and droughts, and the first grist mill in northwestern Ohio was operated by the creek, close to the spring, in 1810.

Good Business Idea

It was before the day of tin lizzies, and one Kentucky merchant sold lots of buggy harness to farmers who paid up once a year.

One day his clerk sold a set of buggy harness and did not charge it promptly. When he did start to charge the harness he had forgotten to whom to charge it.

"Charge every man on the books with a set of harness and when they raise a kick, take the harness from their account," the boss told him.

There were 180 names on the books, and but two kicked.—Good Hardware.

Question?

"I say, doctor, did you ever doctor another doctor?"

"Oh, yes."

"Well, does a doctor doctor a doctor the way the doctor doctor wants to be doctor, or does the doctor doctor the doctoring doctor the other doctor in his own way?"

(c) 1925, Western Newspaper Union.

PHILLIS RAINE seized the morning papers, folded back to the page of theatrical criticism. She had determined that her Juliet should be the pinnacle of her achievement, as it had been, according to the reviews. All but one. And that, unfortunately, was the one review about which Phillis Raine cared. For years, how many years she hardly dared to think, she had set herself to winning praise from Jacques Jackson's acidulous pen. When she didn't win it she knew in her heart she had failed.

So now one line from this man was enough to make her lie back among the costly lace of her pillows with grief staring out of her fine, dark eyes and terror crystallizing in her mind. The one line had wiped out the effect of the flowers with which the room was heaped, the pile of congratulatory telegrams accumulating on the silver tray in the corner, the messages coming in over the telephone. With his scalpel-like mind Jacques Jackson had barred the one unconquerable defect in her performance, the one fear hitherto she had not dared to face even in the secret places of her heart.

"Phillis Raine's performance of Juliet last night," wrote the critic, "was a wistful echo, Juliet Capulet is the flame of youth incarnate, preserved like a gorgeous, golden fly in the amber of the poet's words. Miss Raine's Juliet is beautiful, but not young. It reminds one regretfully of the charm that was Phillis Raine's."

Her enemy had conquered at last, the arch enemy of all womankind? She was old, too old for Juliet, the test for romantic youth. She might deceive less observant critics, but she could not deceive Jacques Jackson; and that meant she couldn't continue to deceive anyone very much longer.

The world of the theater, and of the theater-goers, was astounded when Phillis Raine announced that she was leaving the stage. To the few friends she permitted herself she made no explanations; what she said to her almost frantic manager was never revealed. The engagement was concluded and in three days Phillis Raine sailed for Paris alone.

Rumors had always come about Broadway concerning the private life of Phillis Raine, the life from which she so rigorously excluded every form of publicity. Hearsay had it that in the springtime of her life she had married and that she had not been happy. Professional gossips said also that there had been a daughter of that marriage, a fragile child brought up by an aristocratic order of nuns in France, far from the glitter of Broadway.

It was inevitable that now the Rialto chatterboxes should admit that this child was ill or dying, that Phillis Raine had rushed to her side, throwing aside her career like an old gown to speed the haste of her departure.

Then came a cable abruptly announcing that Phillis Raine had died and been buried in some unpronounceable little town in southern France. Her world mourned her sincerely. A year passed.

Then New York was astounded to hear that the daughter of Phillis Raine had arrived. She was a beautiful, slender girl, startlingly like the mother whose policy of avoiding publicity she adopted.

Curiosity seekers saw her occasionally as she arrived at or left the theater where she was rehearsing an older her mother's old manager, her mother's last role, Juliet, a slender figure discreetly muffled, wide, star-tied, dark eyes in the shadow of a large hat.

And so, over a year later, Phillis Raine herself lay again among the costly lace of her pillows, awaiting the papers and the reviews of her rejuvenated performance of Juliet.

Her death in obscure France has been a clever, and costly hoax. She had never had a daughter, but she had taken advantage of the established rumor. Actually, she had passed the year in the hands of two of the world's most famous specialists, the one a plastic surgeon, the other of nerves. The magic of the modern beauty doctor, sane diet, rest, unlimited money and a determined woman can put old Time himself out of the running—for a season.

Those who saw Phillis Raine's Juliet that night saw youth incarnate, cockless, spendthrift, impudent, southern youth, staking honor and life against a golden hour, touching youth's heights of happiness, losing with tragic despair, reckless abandon, touching the depths of sorrow as only tumultuous youth can.

Only to Phillis Raine's seeking eyes Jacques Jackson remained cold; she could easily see him out front; his applause seemed unwilling. And so she waited with impatience the first light that would bring the morning's papers and his review.

"The performance of Phillis Raine, the daughter, as Juliet last night was a triumph of artistry," he wrote, "one wonders that youth could be so young. In fact it is too young to be real. It strikes one as a performance not by youth, but of youth. The daughter is an artist, but her mother was a genius. It is the mind and spirit of the artist which illumine the clay of the body and for those, unfortunately, there are no beauty doctors. We were reminded wistfully, of the charm that was Phillis Raine's."

Candles as Auctioneers

The ancient custom of "selling by candle" is not dead in this country, although it is rare. At Warton the grazing rights upon the roadside are let annually by this means, and at Alderminster the "church acre," a piece of meadow left to the church many years ago, is let every three years in similar fashion.

A candle is lighted; one inch below the flame is measured off and a pin stuck in at that point. The bidding begins and the one who bids as the pin falls is the winner. The bidding is very slow until the pin is approached, and then there is great excitement as to who will bid at the important moment.—London Tit-Bits.

World's Largest Tome

Vienna claims the biggest book in the world. It is in the Dominican cloister, carefully mounted in a case in one of the corridors. The book is made up of parchment leaves mounted on thin wooden borders. On the parchment is maintained a death list of the cloister. The first entry was made in 1410, but even this date is 184 years more recent than the date of the cloister, for this home of Dominican monks was founded in 1226, under the Babenbergers. Each leaf of the largest book in the world is four feet high and three feet wide. As biographical notes are entered, besides death notices, the book has much historical worth.

Ruse Worked Well

Ingenuity always pays, honestly or otherwise. The scene was a country hotel, full of guests, of whom it might be said at a glance that a good time was being had by all. Entered two tourists:

First Tourist (in an undertone to companion): "I say, if we are going to pass the night here we shan't get a wink of sleep. The row those fellows are making can be heard in every room in the house."

Second Tourist: "Stop a bit, I have an idea!" In a loud voice, to landlord: "We're going off to bed. Please call us at daybreak. Somewhere outside the village we lost a twenty-dollar bill and we want to look for it the first thing in the morning."

Presently the travelers were left in undisturbed possession.

The revolutionary calendar was one adopted during the French reign of terror, decreed in 1793 and continuing until Napoleon restored the old system in 1805.

Mr. W. F. Weathersby, manager of Jones Dry Goods Co., was called to Slaton this week to meet with six of the other managers to buy their fall supply of knit goods.

Judge O. L. Parrish, of Ballinger, passed through here this week en route to Lovington, N. M., and stopped a few hours with the Weathersbys. Judge Parrish is impressed with the South Plains, and says crop prospects here are the best he has seen.

Pappy John and Mother Kate Powell spent last Sunday in Lubbock as guest of their daughter, Mrs. Rufus Rush.

E. I. Hill Jr., son of Editor Hill of the Lynn County News spent last Saturday in Brownfield and favored the Herald with a visit. He came over to bring his wife to see her sister, Mrs. John Smith, wife of the proprietor of the Brownfield Bottling Works, who is ill.

Say folks, isn't it about time to pull off another "chaw" and live up the Chamber of Commerce? A smoker at least would keep us in mind that we have a duty to perform in building up the city of Brownfield and old Terry. Name the time and place and just reserve a plate for us? Come on, whadidja say?

The Ralls Banner in its last issue asks us to watch out for a counterfeit $20 bill. We'll be careful and on the lookout but nothing bigger than a one spot hardly ever approaches the Herald office without being officially chaperoned by some of our rich creditors, and we never get even a sight of them. No danger here Bro. Wyaat.

Don't vote against the bond issue for good roads tomorrow without due consideration. Don't let the matter of a bond issue and a small increase in county taxation overshadow the benefits to be derived in the way of time saved, wear and tear on cars, machinery and tires, saving in gas bill, and the pleasure of getting where you start without a ruffled temper and unnecessary delays. Give the proposition due consideration and you'll vote for it.

Dry goods and groceries could be sold below cost by the United States government just as well as printed envelopes. The merchant who buys cheap government printed envelopes would consider it unjust to make the postmaster an active agent to sell goods in his line below cost; yet there are more reasons why other lines should be sold below cost than printing. The merchant who uses government printed envelopes helps to knife his best friend and he should not condemn his customers for patronizing the peddlers and mail order houses.—McLean News.

We hear a good deal about the farmer's dollar not being what it was. Neither is the railroad's dollar nor, the dollar of anybody else, nor that of any other institution, so far as this writer can tell. There is no indication that the dollar ever again will buy what is bought before the war. The talk of getting back to normal, means to pre-war conditions, largely is bunk. The indication is that the price situation as it exists today will be considered as a new normalcy, and that we, the people, will have to adjust our affairs to it. The tendency of prices is upward rather than downward.—The Earth.

A writer in the Youthis Companion says that grasshoppers are good for food and goes on to prove it by examples of other people and other eras in time's history in which the hoppers were more or less heartily consumed. He even had friends, who he said had tasted them a la rolled like cod fish balls. But with all the trimmings, spices, mustards and ointment she mentioned for dressing for these log legged pests, he utterly failed to make our mouth water for a mess of them. However, should these pestiferous insects ever happen to become the main piece de resistance with our uppers socially, the Plains of West Texas should be setting pretty with nothing to do but make net baskets and chase grasshoppers. Hurry to Terry!

"Our friend Hill of the Taboka News, comes from Bell County where the Times editor spent the earlier part of his life. He knows what he is talking about when he mentions Maj. Penn. We remember those old time protracted meetings when people came for miles around, camped and worshipped God in spirit and in truth. Those time religion. But gone are those were the good old days of our old days, and in their stead we have the high-powered evangelist and in place of the saddle bag preacher we have the paid pastor, the paid choir, the paid prayers, etc. The gospel is commercialized more or less and they say this is the 20th century religion. People in those days denounced the Devil and spoke of God's eternal love today the devil in people are apologized for and the love of God is not in the hearts of the people. Some people claim we write too hard. Perhaps, but we shoot straight from the shoulder and hit the bull's eye every shot. We do not believe that high powered evangelists are doing much good toward making men and women better. Clowns in pulpits who seek to entertain people are not converting the world to the gospel. The people do not need entertainment when they go to church, they need the gospel, they need to be convinced of sin and taught Heaven and Hell, of life beyond where just souls are made perfect and who will be permitted to live in the presence of their God forever and a day. The trouble with preachers today is the fact that they have commercialized the gospel, and are lulling the people to sleep in their sins. The passing of the age has also witnessed the passing of the old time evangelist.—Slaton Times.

San Angelo.—Construction is progressing rapidly on the new Spanish type office of the West Texas Utilities Company at San Angelo. The building will also house the electrical driven ice factory and the downtown ice service station of the company.

OUTSIDE GRAFTERS

The days of picturesque outlaws of frontier days are past. Great tribes of bandits no longer roam the plains, but people of that type still operate, and we wouldn't be surprised if not with greater profit. The editor of one of our exchanges tells us of how two attractive young ladies with winsome eyes went into the town, sold so-called advertising for a church program and charged the merchants there about six prices. Then to cap the climax, neither the women nor the programme ever appeared again in the town. There are directories, special community books and advertising grafts of all kinds going the rounds of small city merchants. The ideas are all set as the hills but they seem to work. And the surprising part of it all is this—The merchants who pay tribute so readily to these grafters are usually the very ones who think advertising in the local paper costs too much money. They will pay ten, fifteen or twenty dollars to get their names in a program that at best will have a circulation of three or four hundred, and then refuse to spend five dollars for a newspaper ad that will be read by three times that many. Don't let them put it over you brother. Whenever there is a program to be published that fulfills a community need, your local printer will put it out, see to it that it is circulated, and charge you about half the price asked by these outside grafters.—Pampa News.

"INTIMATE" GIFTS

The low-necked georgette waist, the abbreviated skirt, the sheer silk stockings and all the rest of the feminine flubdubs have accomplished their devilish work at last. There is nothing secret, nothing mysterious, nothing unmentionable any longer about the feminine wardrobe. The chemise, the corset cover, and all the rest of these nifties have been dragged right out into public exhibition, where they may be seen of all men. Prudery has been shocked to death.

A recent fashion note announces that the giving of so-called "intimate" gifts has become quite a fad this year. The callow youth who used to wonder if it would be too forward to give his fiancée a pair of gloves now walks up to the lingerie counter and purchases a pair of teddies, presents it or them, to the flapper he met at last night's dance and gets away with it.

This new fashion of the day may have its regrettable features in the breaking down of natural modesty existing between the sexes, but it is not without its advantages. Exit prudery—enter a common sense relation between young men and young women which should make for morality rather than immorality.—Star Telegram.

Wild West Tactics

By BAYARD D. YORK

(C. 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)
NO SAFEBREAKER, intent upon his first attempt, could have approached the United States post office with greater trepidation than Hazel Gledhill felt as she slipped through the revolving doors at 10:58.

The words of the "personal" column glimmered before her—
WATCH: If the person on the Sevens street trolley who found a watch in her pocket will be at the post office at eleven Sunday morning, she will learn something to her advantage.

She had come, driven by longing and loneliness. At last, after sixteen months of monotony in the city, something was going to happen—or at least, so she hoped.

She had scarcely moved to the window which commanded a view of the Hopkins street entrance when a large gray car stopped at the curb. Blue-coated men began to leap from its interior.

As stenographer for Peck Brothers, attorneys, she knew that the law looks with a stern eye upon the possessor of stolen goods.

A hand touched her shoulder—
"Come with me," said a voice. "There's not a second to lose."

"The police," he murmured. "My car—this way—hurry!"
In another second, as it seemed, she found herself in a little blue roadster, whirring along the street at a speed which defied all laws of traffic or safety. And some distance behind came the big gray car with its load of policemen!

She glanced at the young man as he bent grimly over the wheel. She realized that he was a thief, fleeing madly from the officers of the law. She realized that she wanted him to win the race.

She looked back and tears came into her eyes. The flight was such a hopeless one! The gray car was gaining rapidly.

The next moment he had turned his car from the road, and brought it to a stop in a pine grove.

The gray car whizzed by; the young man backed out upon the road again—and began doubling back over his own tracks.

"There!" he muttered. "We'll be forty miles away before they catch our trail again!"

It presently became evident to Hazel that he was taking a very peculiar course back. Just as she was about to protest, the car came up over the crest of a hill—and there before them, blue and sparkling in the sunshine, lay the ocean!

"Barton Beach," the young man explained.

"I will thank you," she said primly; "take me to the city at once. Why—I don't even know your name—or you mine."

"I do know yours," he admitted. "But you don't understand all of this, do you?"

"I think I do," she responded. "You were concerned in the robbery at Lorton's jewelry store. On the trolley you slipped the watch into my pocket because you were afraid you'd be caught with it. Then you put that item in the paper so that I would bring the stolen watch back to you. Here it is."

"That isn't quite the way of it," he said. "Jim Benton—Jim's a chum of mine and reporter of the Globe—says one day, 'do you know, Ned Nearing, this old world's lost every bit of romance it ever had? Why, if you happened to be crazy about a girl whom you didn't know—' you understand Jim said this—all you'd have imagination enough to do would be to get somebody to introduce you to her. And she'd say, 'Why, you freckle-faced, snub-nosed, red-headed young ape—' Jim has a gift of description; gets it from his newspaper work. 'You see, girls like a little wild-west, shoot-the-town-up sort of stuff.' That's what Jim says."

He seemed very intent upon a spot eight miles out in the dancing ocean. "Jim's words hit me between the eyes," he said. "Because—because—because there was a girl I wanted to meet, only I—I didn't know anybody at—at Peck's. So I went out for a little wild west. I bought that watch at Lorton's, just the day before the robbery—dropped it in your pocket on the trolley—and put that note in the paper."
He suddenly faced her, grinning slightly.

"Now listen to this," he stated. "Just as I was leaving for the post office, at ten-thirty this morning, Jim told me that the police expected to nab a woman confederate of the robbery at that very spot at eleven o'clock. That furnished more wild-west than I bargained for. Do you know, I'm hungry—"

He had suddenly started the car with a jerk.

His eyes met hers. His look was not bold, but it was very friendly—and perhaps a little insistent.

"I'm trying a little more wild west," he said. "You're kidnaped—for lunch at Barton Beach."

Lands Free From Snakes

The Canary Islands share Ireland's and Iceland's good fortune in having no snakes.

First Quarantine

Quarantine was first established against infectious diseases in the Tenth century.

Critics Take Issue With Speech Purists

Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson has taken occasion to criticize our contemporary fashions in pronunciation, says the London Daily Telegraph.

Like most of those who are masters of a subject, he has no liking for pedants and purists. Sir Johnston prefers the familiar sound of "often" without the "t," and our usual "agen" to the precision of "agnin." A long vowel sound in the "my" of "my birds" he considers an invention of the modern public speaker—who is perhaps imitating the linked sweetness long drawn out of the modern teatmaster—and he calls it "perfectly intolerable."

If we go back earlier than the Nineteenth century we fall into manifold trouble. Johnston, who prided himself on his correctness, always said "heard" for "heard," as the latter do still. When Boswell challenged him he had to be sure, a reason. If the word were pronounced in the usual way, he explained, there would be an exception to the rule as to the pronunciation of "ear," and he thought it better not to have that exception.

But we may suspect that the reason was invented after he found himself criticized and that he was in fact following the common Litchfield pronunciation.

Creatures That Man Is Unable to Tame

A wolf can be tamed. Even the big savage timber wolf, if caught young becomes as passive as a dog. But that queer wolf-like animal known as the Tasmanian devil refuses to respond to treatment. It is always wild and savage, and usually dies if kept in captivity. It is one of the ugliest creatures alive. The great cats, such as the lion and tiger, can be tamed; so can the South African lynx and the South American panther.

But the black jaguar, one of the most dangerous of wild beasts, always remains savage and treacherous, and even when caught as a kitten refuses to have anything to do with mankind. The ordinary leopard can be tamed if caught young enough, but is liable to revert suddenly to savagery, and the same may be said of the bobcat, the North American lynx.

Another North American animal which has an evil reputation is the wolverene. It is dreaded by the trapper, for it will force its way into a shanty and destroy the stores.

Beethoven's Triumph

One of the most pathetic cases of deafness was that of Beethoven. Why should it have happened that he who lived supremely in the world of sound, the very breath of whose life was made up of sweet chords and entrancing melody, should have been deprived of the sense of hearing? Unconscious even of the storm of applause evoked by his playing, he was on one occasion turned round by a singer that he might see the waving hats and handkerchiefs of his enthusiastic audience. Yet the victory of mind over matter was clearly evidenced in the case of Beethoven, for some of his most sublime compositions were created after his sense of hearing was hopelessly destroyed and the world heard with delight the exquisite harmony that only in imagination could enter his own somber realm of silence.—Exchange.

Low Country

Some flat lands are beautiful, though Ruskin says not—the flatness of Holland, where a barge with rich red color seems to come sailing into the flowering fields; where a windmill or a dyke takes all the wind of the huge sky; where brimming rivers are pearl gray, and the roofs of the close little towns are red, and the lucid horizon line is broken by, instead of mountains, such things as a cow feeding or a broad-breasted woman towing a barge, from the clean deck of which a child sings, a little dog barks—Alice Meynell.

Long Hours of Toil

A century ago (or in the so-called good old days) Amasa Whitney operated a factory in Winchester, Mass., and, according to the American Outlook, he had sixteen rules and regulations, the first of which was: "The mill will be put in operation ten minutes before sunrise at all seasons of the year. The gates will be shut ten minutes past sunset on the 20th of March to the 20th of September; at thirty minutes past eight from the 20th of September to the 20th of March; Saturday at sunset."

AMERICA OR NO AMERICA?

"If we Americans ever put restrictions upon individual ambition and enterprise by adopting government ownership, then we shall have necessarily a government far different from the one that the development of the United States, and consequently we shall have a far different country to live in. Government ownership, once begun in this country, will soon be extended to the factory and the farm—to government ownership of all business and industry, including the colleges and universities and newspapers; that play with the idea. It will be the first step toward the full communist program as exemplified in Russia and defined in the dictionary, namely: abolition of all private property, and state control of labor, religion and social relations, including the raising of families. This is admitted by all government ownership advocates who are at once honest and mentally able to apply the significance of their slogans and shibboleths; it is denied or doubted only by the self-deluded."—Samuel Insull, President Commonwealth Edison Company.

Old Friends

by
O. Lawrence Hawthorne

So many of us soon forget
The friends we leave behind.
With earnest vows we part, and yet
They seldom come to mind;
With newfound interests each day
Is fully occupied;
We go serenely on our way
And seem quite satisfied.

In search of greater happiness
We bid old friends good-by—
A parting word, a last caress,
A deep regretful sigh—
Then all too soon, in lands afar,
The welcome that we find
Bids us forget how fond we are
Of those we leave behind.

But sometime in the lives of all,
No matter where we roam,
We'll hear again the faithful call
Of those old friends at home.
And then it is that memory
With tender touch will play
Some old familiar melody—
A song of yesterday.

And with that song to guide our feet
To haunts we used to know
We'll yet find time—perhaps—to greet
Those friends of long ago.
Their cordial smiles will show how well
Their hearts have stood the test
Of our neglect. Then can we tell
Why old-time friends are best!

COURT OFFICIALS AT LEVEL- LAND PLAN FOR TERM

Officials of the 72nd Judicial District Court are making preparations for the Hockly County term at Levelland next week, several important cases being on the docket for hearing.

The short week of completing the term at Plains early this week gave the officers a breathing spell that has not been common in this large district and all are ready for the work of the term at Levelland—Avalanche.

In No Hurry to Buy

What would the Broadway motor salesman do with this case, which is typical of the inertia that he would encounter almost every day in the Orient? Woodhull Hay asks, in Asia Magazine.

A friend of mine was trying to sell a motorcar to an Indian in Delhi. The latter gave many excuses for not purchasing, but in reality he was merely maintaining an attitude of "wait-hill-waiting." The price had been reduced already several times. The salesman assured him that rock bottom had been reached. If not, no further reduction would be made for at least a year. The Indian at once replied, with a gleam of triumph, as if he had tricked his adversary into disclosing secret intelligence: "Ah, in that case I shall wait until then! There is plenty of time!"

Mocked by Fate

Fortune came too late for a family in Induldorf, Austria. Believing himself to be ruined by gambling, a military officer decided with his wife to kill themselves and their two children at their villa there. The servants were sent to the theater and returned late at night to find the villa in darkness. They discovered the husband poisoned and his wife, son, and daughter shot dead. The body, Peter, was sleeping unharmed. The family were of English origin. A formal notification of an inheritance of $3,000 ($200,000), released by the English courts after a long dispute, arrived at the villa for the captain the day after the tragedy.

The hunters ran the lion eight hours before he was finally brought to bay by dogs in a rock cavern.

NEGRO PREACHER FAILS TO FORCE EVOLUTION THEORY

San Antonio, May 29.—The high powered evolutionistic theories of northern college professors who lean toward Darwin's idea of man's ancestors, do not sit well with the congregation of this town's leading negro church.

If you don't believe it just try to locate and ask the Reverend Washington Irving Johnston, who up to last night was the pastor of Holy Israel Church.

The Reverend Johnston, bringing to a climax a realistic sermon on the ancestry of man as related in the Bible and conclusions of present day evolutionists, exclaimed:

"Brothers and sisters, I honors that great preacher, Mr. Bryan, but he's a back number. What would you do if we were to tell you that all of you are nothin' but monkeys—with your tails cut off and—"

Reverend Johnston got no further. His sermon was cut short by a fusillade of songbooks from his congregation. There was a wild rush toward the pulpit as Reverend Johnston, throwing ministerial dignity to the discard, dived headlong through a window of the church.

The preacher is now making himself somewhat scarce around his former field of ministerial labor.

Many Poisonous Fish in the Philippines

Fish with poisonous flesh are a danger to be reckoned with by divers and travelers in the Philippine tropics. Dr. Albert M. Herre of the bureau of science at Manila has investigated the reports that there are poisonous fishes in the islands and states that in many cases they are true. According to Doctor Herre, the most violently poisonous species belong to the puffers and porcupine fishes. The poisonous property is due to the presence in various parts of their bodies of a substance chemically similar to the deadliest of the poisonous poisons. "The poisonous quality of these fishes is well known to all the tribes dwelling along tropical coasts," says Doctor Herre, "but strange to see there is hardly a fishing village in the Philippines where there are not foolish or reckless people who eat these fishes. Not a year goes by without several deaths. The poison seems to act first on the nerves of the alimentary canal, and soon afterward on all the muscles of the body, giving rise to violent spasms, during which the patient dies in from one to two hours."

was forced to and did permanently abandon the defendant on the 11th day of February, 1923, since which time plaintiff and defendant have not lived together as husband and wife.

That during the time plaintiff and defendant lived together as husband and wife, plaintiff was kind and considerate of her, but defendant, immediately after the marriage ceremony was completed, began a course of unkind, harsh, tyrannical treatment toward plaintiff, nagging and abusing him, which conduct on defendant's part continued until plaintiff was forced to permanently abandon defendant as aforesaid; that said marriage relations between plaintiff and defendant still exist.

That defendant's actions and conduct toward plaintiff generally are of such a nature as to render their further living together as husband and wife insupportable, the premises considered.

Wherefore plaintiff prays the court that defendant be cited as the law directs, for judgment dissolving the marriage relations existing between plaintiff and defendant, for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity.

WHERE THE APE ERRED

They say, far back in the long forgotten ages
The earth was lifeless: silence reigned as King.
Until within the muck and slime of swamp and river
The sun by warmth and light produced a living thing.
That grew and came unjoined in the middle.
Produced a pair of what? The goodness only knows.
Until a freak that failed to come unjoined
Produced a tadpole—so the story goes.
Another freak was with the tadpole mated
And in 10,000,000 years one might have seen
A merry group, that left the swamp and river,
Took to the woods and gambled on the green.
And some had hoofs and horns and tails, while others
Had gills and fins and scales and other things.
While some had beaks, and were adorned with feathers
And skimmed the distant horizon with wings.
And freaks this motly group was ever changing.
Meanwhile the countless years rolled on and on.
Until great hairy apes that quit their all-fours,
Arose to greet our history's early dawn.
And since that time learned men forever toiling
To trace the distant origin of man
Or find the missing link to prove their theory
Of when and where the vertebra began.
I am not learned like William Jennings Bryan,
This scientific theory to dispute,
But one thing about the matter has me guessing—
What ever caused an ape to evolve?
Whatever made them leave their native haem
Where they had nothing else to do but play?
And step by step to rise through evolution
Until they made the folks we are today?
Why did they ever leave the leafy jungle
To follow after fashion's silly ways,
To die and delve and toil and love and suffer,
And be a slave to custom all their days?
Oh, let us back unto our native jungle
To leap and swing and chatter in the trees,
Far from cares and trade and dress and taxes—

TRANSPORTATION HAS DEVELOPED TEXAS

The Hebronville News, edited by former Congressman Jeff McLemore, points out the growing activities of motor buses as common carriers and reviews the work that was done in developing the state by the steam railway lines.
"Laws have been passed placing railroads practically under government control," says the News. "They have been restricted in various ways and now they find themselves confronted by a free lance proposition in the form of the motor bus which travel over roads built at the expense of the people, and enter into direct competition with the railroads, and is responsible to no one."
"There is just one reason why these motor buses which come in direct competition with the railroads should not come in competition with the railroads, and should not be made common carriers and placed under the same rules and restrictions that govern the railroads and made to bear their share of the expenses of the government."

TEXAS SCHOOLS AN COLLEGES LOSING TEACHERS

Fort Worth, June 15—A loss suffered by Texas schools annually has been called to the attention of the public in a striking way by the resignation of President W. B. Bizzell of the Texas A. & M. College and of Dr. Carl Hartman of the University of Texas. Not only do the colleges of the state suffer this annual loss, but the public schools face the same problem. New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana year after year take many of the best Texas public school teachers.
Salaries paid the experts from these Texas schools are better in other states than in Texas. Very little is said ordinarily about public school teachers leaving, but the loss is hard to make up. Several Texas cities have stopped the exodus by raising salaries, but the smaller cities and towns still pay heavily with small salaries.

AN ORDINANCE

The State of Texas, County of Terry, City of Brownfield:—
An Ordinance Prohibiting Peddling Etc.

Hereafter it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to engage in the business of peddling, auctioning or offering for sale any goods, wares or merchandise of any kind or character on any street or alley within three blocks of the courthouse square of the City of Brownfield, Texas; provided nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the sale of any commodity of whatever kind raised or produced by the person offering the same for sale.

The fact that the City of Brownfield has no adequate ordinance preventing such sales or auctions, and that such practice causes a congested condition of such streets and alleys make it imperative that the rule requiring ordinances to be read at three stated meetings be suspended and that this ordinance become effective from its passage and publication.

Any person violating this ordinance shall be fined in any sum from $5.00 to $100.00 and each attempt to sell shall be construed as a separate and distinct offense.

"TEXAS NEXT" IS CRY

Dallas, Texas, June 16. "Will Texas be next?" That question was asked today by Mark McGee, commander, when information reached headquarters of the state department of the Legion that five additional states have gone "over the top" in The American Legion national $500,000 endowment fund campaign for disabled Veterans and World War Orphans.

Since the campaign for the Texas part in the Legion soldier and orphan relief movement began the following states have been added to the national honor roll of states: New Mexico, Delaware, Florida, Nebraska, and New Hampshire. Other states which have reached their quotas include Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, North Dakota, North Carolina, Utah and Nevada.

Several other states, reports indicate, are on the verge of reaching their apportionment of the fund for American war sufferers.

According to commander McGee, the endowment fund campaign is progressing satisfactorily throughout the state although much time has been devoted by necessity to organization work.

"No Texan will fail to respond to this undertaking when acquainted with the needs and purposes of the fund," Commander McGee said. "Be-necessary to devote some time to explanation of what the endowment fund means.

"The endowment fund means above everything else a permanent square deal for two classes in America who suffered most by the war. Those two classes are the men for whom the war has had no armistice and the children who were deprived of paternal care by the deaths of their fathers in and since the war.

"The endowment fund means the guarantee of rehabilitation to disabled men as long as there are disabled veterans of the war and as long as rehabilitation is within a pale of possibility. The endowment fund means a home for orphans, homes for every destitute waif of the 35,000 who survive ex-service men.

Could anything be more worthy? Almost everyday sees some additional state respond in full with this debt of honor. Will Texas be next?"
