Chamber of Commerce CURRENTS By the Secretary

Brownfield as a Trade Center

With practically all lines of business represented in Brownfield and with the business men constantly adding to their various stocks of goods and more fully and completely equipping themselves, Brownfield is fast rounding into a first class point to do all of one's trading.

It is a known fact that the markets at Brownfield for the farmers products is the year around as good as any neighboring place and many people of other town's territory tell us they can do better by marketing in Brownfield. Therefore with Brownfield as an advantageous place to sell, it is well to note that it is also an advantageous place to buy.

Much progress has been made this year along the lines of roads leading to our town, and with the highways under supervision of the State Highway Department and our Commissioners constantly opening up lateral roads to the main highways, it should constantly build the volume of trade in Brownfield. With our enlarged school and its new facilities, with the leading church denominations represented, with public utilities and conveniences being installed and modern homes being erected. Truly Brownfield is approaching that stage as a real nice town to live in. The trade territory about us as an arena for our merchants to draw from and with our home paper increasing in circulation, there is a splendid opportunity to advertise the advantages of trading at home and coming to Brownfield even if it should be further to some, it will pay. "Trade in Brownfield where you do better and save the difference."

The Chamber of Commerce is this week sending out calls for cotton pickers for Terry county. The United States Employment Bureau at Fort Worth has been notified and other points, and it is anticipated that pickers will begin to come in between this and the first of October.

The Lubbock Fair Boosters that were here last week rendered the same verdict that the Wichita, Kans. visitors rendered early last Spring. In each instance the representative group of visitors said that the Brownfield reception for cordiality, and hospitality was the most marked of any town they visited, and that it was not to be forgotten as they would tell the world about it. It is nice to have a good neighbor like Lubbock; it is nicer still to have your neighbor nice to you, and it is the nicest of all to be nice to your neighbor. If you do not believe it, ask Lubbock, they will say so!

Trade at home and boost Brownfield and her growth will boost you.

The Brownfield Band will give a public concert next Sunday evening on the court house square at 3:30 P. M. The band has a good repertoire of music, included in which are many new pieces and the public and surrounding territory are invited to attend this concert.

FIRST MEETING OF THE PTA TUESDAY EVENING

The Parent Teacher Association held their first meeting of the school year at the grammar school building auditorium Tuesday night of this week, and owing to the fact that it was a very inclement night there was not many on hand, and they were mostly teachers, the parents being conspicuous by their absence. Due to this fact, the election of new officers was postponed till the next regular meeting night, which will be the first Tuesday night in October, or the 6th, at which time a good crowd is urged to be on hand.

Miss Castleberry rendered several nice selections on the piano, after which Prof. Fagala called on Miss Phillips, the elocution teacher for a few readings, which were given to the delight of those present.

Prof. Casey was then called on and delivered a good talk on the importance of co-operation of the home and teachers during the school term.

Be sure to be on hand at the next regular meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Luna were here the past week end the guest of Mrs. Lane's son, Ben Hurst and wife.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS IN POSTAL SERVICE HERE

Postmaster J. C. Bohannon showed us a letter Monday from the superintendent of mail service at Fort Worth which means much to Brownfield and post offices west of here. In a few weeks we will be getting all our first class mail and newspapers off the north bound Santa Fe train at Post City, which will be brought over by the Abbott Line car service, arriving here at about 6 p.m. and almost a full 24 hours ahead of the present service when they go on to Lubbock and are tied up there for 24 hours, or until the next afternoon.

It will also mean that all Dallas, Fort Worth and Abilene dailies will be read by our people the same day they are published, as well as all the letters originating in the east and south intended for Brownfield.

It will also mean that letters and newspapers from the east and south intended for Gomez, Tokio, Plains, Bronco, Texas, and points in eastern New Mexico, including Tatum and McDonald, will get to their readers a full 24 hours earlier, for instead of laying over 24 hours at Lubbock and all night here, they will only lay over one night here.

It will mean that the postal force here will probably be kept at the office a little longer, but service is the motto of Mr. Bohannon and his force and they wish their customers to be as well served as possible.

To show how the patronage at the Brownfield office is growing, Assistant Postmaster Burnett called our attention Monday to the fact that nine new names that had never called for mail at Brownfield before, were recipients of first class mail on Monday, and this did not include several who called for mail and did not have any. The fact was also developed that these were not merely transients but people who were locating here.

Truly they are heeding our long and oft repeated admonition to "come to Terry."

FIRST BALE GINNED AT WELLMAN TUESDAY

H. W. McSpadden Jr., phoned us Tuesday afternoon that he had just finished ginning the first bale of cotton ever ginned in the village, for Mr. L. B. Adair of that community. He remarked that they had no rain recently and the cotton was white. Wellman is about 12 miles southwest of Brownfield on the Seagraves branch of the Santa Fe, and is growing fast, and the surrounding community has excellent crops, although the leaf worms are fierce.

Of course Mr. McSpadden ginned the bale free for Mr. Adair and also had his name added to the Wellman list of Herald readers free for one year.

Mrs. Jessie May and children, of Clovis, N. M., are here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Green.

SHOOTING FRAY REPORTED IN YOAKUM COUNTY WED.

Late Wednesday afternoon the report came in here that J. R. Hill, of the Harris community just over in Yoakum county, had shot a man by the name of Parker through the stomach, seriously wounding him.

Drs. Bell and Graves were called out to see the man and it was decided to rush him to a sanitarium at Lubbock. Hill was placed under arrest by Sheriff Keller of Yoakum county, and Ellington of Terry county, but at a late hour it had not been learned here what they intended to do with the prisoner.

We are informed that Parker and wife lived with and kept house for Mr. Hill, and the trouble came up while Mrs. Parker was in Plains, and as we only have one side of the cause of the trouble, we refrain from publishing anything.

ARRESTS LUBBOCK BOYS— GETS HOT END OF POKER

It's a poor sport that will not tell a joke on himself, and Sheriff F. M. Ellington is not only a good sheriff, but a good sport as well. It was so good he could not keep it and had to share it with the Herald.

He said that four small boys ranging in age from 11 to 13 and some of them hatless and one bare-footed, were stopped on the streets Tuesday afternoon late as he knew they did not belong here. He said they first maintained that they lived at Seagraves and were on their way home, but one of them finally acknowledged that he lived in Lubbock, and that finally all said the same.

The sheriff then phoned Sheriff Bud Johnston of Lubbock about having the boys, and Johnston informed him that he kept these boys in jail over most of the time, and as the parents could not keep them at home, he was satisfied that their parents would not come to Brownfield after them.

However, Sheriff Ellington carried them to a hotel and paid for their room. They arose and stole some milk a dairyman had delivered before he got down town next morning.

He was stung for the beds and for the milk and started them back to Lubbock on the line car Wednesday morning glad to get rid of them.

DISTRICT COURT OVER FOR THE TERM

District Judge Gordon B. McGuire, of Lamesa, came up Friday and remained until Saturday afternoon to finish up what work could be done at this term, and to make what preparations as were necessary for the next term, which will be in January.

The docket of the court was pretty well cleared, and Terry county starts into the new district with a light dock, and more time by two weeks devoted to it.

LOCAL MERCHANTS TO PUT ON STLYE SHOW

Four of the leading dry goods firms of Brownfield are preparing to put on one of the greatest style shows ever seen on the South Plains next Thursday and Friday night, October 1st and 2nd at the Rialto Theatre. The regular price of admission will be charged, to only cover the picture for the night, the style show being free. It is hoped that a big gathering can be had from all over the trade territory as the very latest to be worn by girls and ladies this fall and winter will be shown.

The four local firms participating are the Jones Dry Goods Co., Winkler Dry Goods Co., Collins Dry Goods Co., J. L. Cruce Dry Goods Co., and A. B. Cook & Son, dry goods. The show will be in charge of Prof. J. Bert Mitchell, Jr., who has put on numbers of style shows, notably at the Palace Theatre at Lubbock, for the leading dry goods people of that city.

Each merchant will be allowed two models and eight displays each night, and we have it first, hand that you are going to see some of the most beautiful girls in Brownfield, and it is noted for its beautiful girls and women, that night with some clothing on that will fairly make your eyes hurt, and the male population are especially urged to have their glasses nice and clean.

HERALD ORDERS CUT MAKING MACHINE

The Herald has ordered the very latest cut making machine on the market from the Bonnet-Brown Co., of Chicago, which, when installed, will do away with the expense of the business men having to order cuts from their jobbers, as the mats, which are made of cardboard only have to be mailed to them. Besides this, the Herald will receive monthly a large and well selected advertising mat service, which will be free to our customer, not to say anything about the latest pictures of persons and incidents in the limelight of the world.

The Herald has always endeavored to give its advertisers the very best service possible at the minimum cost to them, and this shall always be our policy. The Herald has always worked for its customers on the assumption that it does not take competition to make it keep its advertising rates, its advertising service or its job rates and service in line with town which had two or more papers and job plants, and in many cases, lower than them.

The splendid business men of this city have stayed with us through the thick and thin, and we would indeed be ungrateful not to show our appreciation by staying with them and in rendering faithful and efficient service.

Lester Treadway left Saturday for Galveston, where he will begin his 3rd year in the medical department of the University of Texas.

ODD FELLOWS ENJOY ENTERTAINMENT BY REBEKAHS

Inasmuch as the Odd Fellows have having a school of instruction in the unwritten work last week, taught by Mr. J. F. Henderson, of Coahoma, the Rebekahs of the Brownfield Lodge decided to take charge of matters Saturday night and give their brethren an entertainment, and such an entertainment! It would be hard to beat.

As the many Odd Fellows and families and other invited guests entered the hall they were served with delicious punch, direct from Rebekah's well, or at least a well decorated replica of that well where she was discovered by the ambassadors of her ardent lover. The hall was also profusely decorated with the colors of the Rebekah degree.

After the arrival of all, the house was called to order by Mrs. Walter, who acted as master of ceremonies. After singing America and a short prayer by Raymond Simms, Mrs. J. F. Winston delivered the welcome address for the Rebekahs, which was responded to by Mr. Simms. Miss Lorena Copeland gave an interesting reading, followed by a splendid address delivered by Mr. Henderson.

Several interesting games were then indulged, including one of getting the advertisements found in the Herald and other papers, which had been cut in four parts, back together. This caused a great deal of milling around the hall as well as merriment. Miss Dottie Miller, of Plainview, we believe won the prize. Delicious ice cream and cake was then served. The tokens of the evening were pink phlox, delivered on entrance by little Misses Sallie Truman Stricklin and Mattie Joe Gracey.

At the conclusion of the evening the guests were rounded up and Mrs. J. L. Randal had them to pass out in such a way that each had to shake hands.

Other out of town guests for the evening included Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Luna, of Lubbock. Mrs. Luna is the Noble Grand of the Lubbock Rebekah Lodge.

SCHOOL NEWS

The football boys went to Lamesa last Friday for their first game of the season, and met defeat by a score of 26 to 0. While we or our boys for that matter are not offering excuses for losing the first game of the season, the fact that the high school building was not ready and no practice to amount to anything has been had this season could be offered as a legitimate excuse. The second game of the season will be played with the O'Donnell boys this week.

The high school occupied their nice new building Monday morning, and are already crowded, according to Prof. Fagala, who asked us up to see for ourself. One hundred and sixty-four have been enrolled in high school to date and 405 in the grades, making a total of 569 in all departments. Yes, there will be 700 by the holidays.

Two teachers have been added to the faculty whom we were unable to give when the announcement booklet was printed in August. They are:

Miss Mary Perkins, who comes to us well recommended and with several year's experience in the Bryan and Memphis, Texas high schools. Miss Perkins will have charge of the Freshmen and Sophomore classes in the English department.

Miss Alene Phillips is our expression teacher, and received her training in the A. A. Cocks school at Dallas. She has had two years experience, one at Aubrey and one at Lamesa, Texas. She gives eight private lessons per month, and the course includes, artistic rendition, story telling, folk games, emotional work, physical education and enunciation and articulation.

KNOW THE SCHOOL TEACHERS OF THE COMMUNITY

Fort Worth, Sept. 21.—"The way to read the city's future is to know the teachers, for they are training the minds of the business men and women of tomorrow." That is the belief of the chamber of Springfield, Illinois and the chamber gave it expression by holding a reception in honor of the 400 teachers in the city's schools," says The Nation's Business.

"More than 2,000 citizens attended the reception and helped to present the program, which included addresses, music, a minstrel and dancing.

"The teachers in the schools at Attleboro, Massachusetts, were similarly honored by the chamber and the citizens of that city.

LUBBOCK BOOSTERS HERE LAST FRIDAY

Our city was envaded last Friday about noon by about 25 cars loaded with some 80 boosters from Lubbock, who were here in the interest of the Panhandle South-Plains Fair and the opening of the Tech college, which events occur about the same time. In fact, the Tech opens Oct. 1, and the Fair opens Sept. 30th and lasts four days.

After parking their cars, the boosters from our sister city came inside the courthouse park, and their high school band occupied the band stand and rendered a few nice selections, after which Morgan L. Copeland, the local Chamber of Commerce secretary welcomed the visitors in behalf of the city. A response and a splendid address was delivered by Mr. Rylander, of that city, which was well received. Their "cow pen quartette" rendered themselves of a thrilling hymn after this address, in which hello! hello!! Brownfield" was the main theme.

The visitors were greeted by a big turn out of local citizens and more than 400 grade school children, the high school not being in session at that time on account of their building not being ready. The school kiddies gave the visitors a rousing welcome, and were rewarded by many novelties handed out by the visitors.

The last ceremony took place when the Lubbockites were herded into the band stand and a warrant served on them by Deputy Sheriff E. Brown, at the instigation of County Attorney George W. Neill. They were however speedily bonded out by local citizens, and invited to partake of a big melon feast prepared for them by the local Chamber of Commerce on the north side of the park. The visitors left about 1 o'clock for Lamesa.

Among the newspaper men noticed among the gang were James L. Dow, editor of the Morning Avalanche, R. B. Haynes of the Gold Bond Printing Co., and E. A. White, former editor of the Meadow Messenger, but who now runs a confectionery at Lubbock.

BIG ATTRACTIONS AT THE SOUTH PLAINS FAIR

Lubbock, Sept. 21.—Three aeroplane exhibitions daily, two balloon ascensions daily, dazzling fireworks each night, five football games, big band concerts, are among the many entertainment features of the Panhandle South Plains Fair which opens Wednesday, Sept. 30, and continues until October 3, at Lubbock. More than $15,000 will be given away in premiums and free prizes during the exposition which has become known as "The Show Window of the Plains" because of the number of South Plains farm products, live stock, poultry, and women's orpducts exhibited during the fair.

Stunt flying consisting of aeroplanes in battle formation, wing walking each day by members of the flying circus, and a parachute jump from a plane each day will prove one of the best air demonstrations ever staged in West Texas. A double parachute drop will be made each day from a balloon and the balloon will ascend each night with a fireworks display.

In addition to the balloon exhibition, the Gordon Fireworks Company will render a fireworks display each night which will be the most dazzling and spectacular sight ever witnessed on the South Plains. Rockets that glare and shells that burst will thrill the spectators from the youngest in the crowd to the oldest man present.

The football team of the Slaton, Spar, Lamesa, Plainview, Lubbock, Floydada, Littlefield and Lorenzo high schools, and the Texas Technological and McManey colleges will be seen in action in one of the best games which will be played on the South Plains.

The Merry Hillery, where the W. H. Hames Show will be a different attraction and concessions will reign, will also be a place of real amusement and enjoyment.

"There's going to be by the ton" besides educational and development exhibits representing this progressive section of the state, according to A. B. Davis, manager of the fair.

Vice-Presidents of the Panhandle South Plains Fair expect large delegations of their respective localities, and officials expect a record attendance for the fair in keeping with the expansion of the South Plains.

ELECTRIC MAP PREPARED FOR USE OF TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY AND NEW MEXICO UTILITIES COMPANY, SHOWS CONTEMPLATED PLANS FOR INTER-CONNECTING TOWNS IN THE TERRITORY SERVED BY CONSTRUCTING APPROXIMATELY FIVE HUNDRED MILES OF TRANSMISSION LINES.

Texas Utilities Company has caused to be prepared a utility map, a copy of which is published in this issue of THE TERRY COUNTY HERALD.

The map shows contemplated plans of owners and operators of Texas Utilities Company to develop territory by acquisition of electric properties as an entirety as well as by construction of transmission lines and distribution systems.

The owners of Texas Utilities Company have recently organized a corporation under the laws of New Mexico known as New Mexico Utilities Company, and at the present time the New Mexico company owns and operates the electric plant and system recently acquired from the city of Portales, New Mexico.

The officers and managers of Texas Utilities Company and New Mexico Utilities Company are the same persons, or selected from the same group of individuals.

L. R. Felso, President of Texas Utilities Company has been identified with and actively interested in the management of Texas Utilities Company since the date of its organization in 1915, and is President of the New Mexico Utilities Company. J. B. Scott, District Manager of Texas Utilities Company at Plainview has been identified with the Texas Utilities Company's management since the date of the organization of the company, and is Secretary of the New Mexico Utilities Company. H. L. Allen, of Lubbock, has also been identified with the company since its organization and is the manager in charge at Lubbock at this time. E. F. Billings, Chief Engineer of the Texas Utilities Company and the New Mexico Utilities Company has been chief engineer for Texas Utilities Company since the date of its organization, and has been in charge of the building program and supervising the operations of the company since the date of its organization in 1915. Texas Utilities Company management is not only experienced in the management and operation of utilities in the West, but in a number of other States. This company is a pioneer of the development of utilities industry in West Texas and has recently entered into the business of developing the electric industry in East New Mexico.

EXPLANATION OF MAP

The map shows electric service supplied at the present time; transmission lines under construction; additional transmission lines to be constructed, ice service and contemplated acquisitions, additions and extensions as follows:

TEXAS UTILITIES—ELECTRIC SERVICE

Texas Utilities Company at the present time is supplying electric service to the following cities and towns in the State of Texas:

- Hereford, Deaf Smith County; Canyon, Randall County; Plainview, Hale County; Hale Center, Hale County; Abernathy, Hale and Lubbock Counties; Lockney, Floyd County; Floydada, Floyd County; Crosbyton, Crosby County; Ralls, Crosby County; Lorenzo, Crosby County; Idalou, Lubbock County; Slaton, Lubbock County; Silverton, Briscoe County and Littlefield, Lamb County.

TRANSMISSION LINES UNDER CONSTRUCTION AT THE PRESENT TIME:

Texas Utilities Company has under construction at this time additional electric transmission lines as shown by said map of 169 miles connecting the following cities and towns:

- Hereford to Canyon, 31 miles; Canyon to Happy, 21 miles; Plainview to Kress, 14 miles; Lubbock to Meadow, 23 miles; Lubbock to Littlefield, 28 miles; Slaton to Southland, 9 miles; Sudan to Littlefield, 18 miles and Ralls to Crosbyton, 18 miles.

In other words, barring unavoidable delays the Texas Utilities Company should have approximately 300 miles of electric transmission lines completed and in operation during the present year.

ADDITIONAL TRANSMISSION LINES TO BE CONSTRUCTED BY TEXAS COMPANY

In addition to the transmission lines in operation and transmission lines under construction as above indicated, Texas Utilities Company contemplates the construction of additional transmission lines as shown by the above mentioned map of approximately 100 miles as soon as such lines can be built connecting the following cities and towns:

- Hereford, Deaf Smith County, to Sudan, Lamb County, via Summerfield, Castro County; Friona, Bovina and Farwell, Parmer County and Muleshoe, Bailey County.

TEXAS UTILITIES COMPANY ICE SERVICE.

Texas Utilities Company manufactures and sells ice at wholesale and retail, and at the present time is supplying ice to a number of communities, including the following cities and towns:

- Hereford, Dawn, Umbarger, Canyon, Happy, Tullis, Kress, Plainview, Lockney, Floydada, Hale Center, Abernathy, Lubbock, Idalou, Lorenzo, Ralls, Crosbyton, Burris, Paddy, Slaton, Southland, Wilson, Post, Ropes, Meadow, Brownfield, Seagraves, Levelland, Shallowater, Olton, Silverton, and Dimmit.

It might be of interest to note in this connection that Texas Utilities Company is building for the purpose of taking care of the ice requirements in its territory as well as transmission line service, and for that purpose has constructed eight new ice plants during the year 1925, and is planning to build additional plants during the coming season, including the construction of an ice plant at Littlefield. Texas Company also owns ice storage houses at Tahoka, Lynn County and Lamesa, Dawson County.

NEW MEXICO UTILITIES COMPANY

As indicated on above map, proposes to construct approximately 30 miles of transmission lines as follows: Clovis to Portales, 18 miles and Clovis to Farwell, 12 miles.

CLOVIS AND TEXICO UTILITIES

A glance at the map shows the plan of New Mexico Utilities Company to inter-connect its Portales Utilities with the Utilities now being operated in the city of Clovis, New Mexico, by the municipality and with the Texico and Farwell properties now being operated by the State Line Utilities Company. New Mexico Utilities Company entered into a contract with the City of Clovis on September 10th to purchase the utilities now being operated in the City of Clovis by said city.

Briefly summarized the transmission lines of Texas Utilities Company and New Mexico Utilities Company of approximately 500 miles will, when completed, connect Portales, New Mexico with Southland, Texas, as follows:

- Transmission line will run from Portales to Clovis, New Mexico and from Clovis to Southland via Farwell, Texico, Muleshoe, Sudan, Amhurst, Littlefield, Olton, Shallowater, Lubbock, Slaton and Southland.

The said Portales will also be connected with Southland, Texas, over the transmission lines running through the following cities and towns:

- From Portales, New Mexico, via Clovis, Farwell, Texico, Bovina, Friona, Hereford, Canyon, Kress, Kress, Plainview, Hale Center, Abernathy, Lubbock, Slaton and Southland.

In addition to the transmission line map above described the plants and systems will also be connected by transmission lines as follows:

- Commencing at Plainview and running through the towns of Lockney, Floydada, Crosbyton, Ralls, Kress, Idalou, Lubbock, Slaton and Southland.

According to the building program for installing generating capacity the Texas Utilities Company and New Mexico Utilities Company will have installed by the end of the year 1926 sufficient capacity in generating units to take care of the amount of the present requirements of the territories served by these two Companies.

TOWN "TONICS"

A southern town was in debt. Business was bad. The unpaved streets were worse.

A few shrewd judges of human nature believed the town could be awakened--revitalized. The convinced others of it, and together they planned municipal improvements.

The principal streets were concrete paved, and then the old town began to change.

Lawns were tidied and fences fixed. Homes were painted and new houses built. Store fronts were "dressed up." The town tasted progress and liked it. They pushed, pulled, plugged and boosted for Dayton, Tennessee.

That was nine years before this mountain village achieved international fame from the "evolution trial."

And as a result of that paving five new industries came to town. The sales value of town property increased from 50 to 75 per cent. The long standing town debt was paid off. Provision was made for retiring the paving bonds without raising the tax rate.

Stamford--The service of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has been increased by the addition of a publicity department, whose work will be given proper publicity of West Texas resources and institutions. E. H. Whitehead of Cisco, is appointed, subject to confirmation of the Executive Board.

CONSCIOUS IDENTITY

Lewisville Enterprise. Prof. Charles Henry, one of the leading mathematicians of France, declares he has had proof of the scientific certainty that "nobody dies entirely." Interesting enough, but what is making part of the world quake is the question of carrying on of conscious identity.

State Press: You won't carry on your conscious identity. It will be carried on for you. We did not bring our own consciousness in the first place. It was brought for us. Most of those who find difficulty in accepting the verities of consciousness after death proceed on the assumption that the individual will have to attend to the matter himself. He will not. He did not have to attend to it in infancy, nor will he be charged with the responsibility in death. It is no more trouble for God to create consciousness for those who die than for those who are to be born. The physiologists may reply that the consciousness that come to the living babe is mechanical, that it is a reflex of a brain. So it may be. The picture on a cardboard is a reflex of light, but the agent behind the reflection was a camera. So in death the agent behind the resurrection of memory must be capable of projecting the vital ray, and that agent can be no other than God. The destined babe has no consciousness and no duty a year before its birth. The dead have no duty and no consciousness in death, but they have them, as does the babe, when born again. In God's view there is no more mystery in resurrection than in generation.

Word was received here the past week that Miss Lurline Floyd, formerly employed by C. R. Rambo as abstractor and stenographer, is now dead, but the Herald failed to learn particular, or where she lived at the time of her death. Miss Floyd had a host of friends in Brownfield.

Ernest Ford, of Polar, was up Friday visiting his sister, Mrs. S. A.

Lauderdale. His mother, Mrs. Ford, who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lauderdale here for some time, returned home with him.

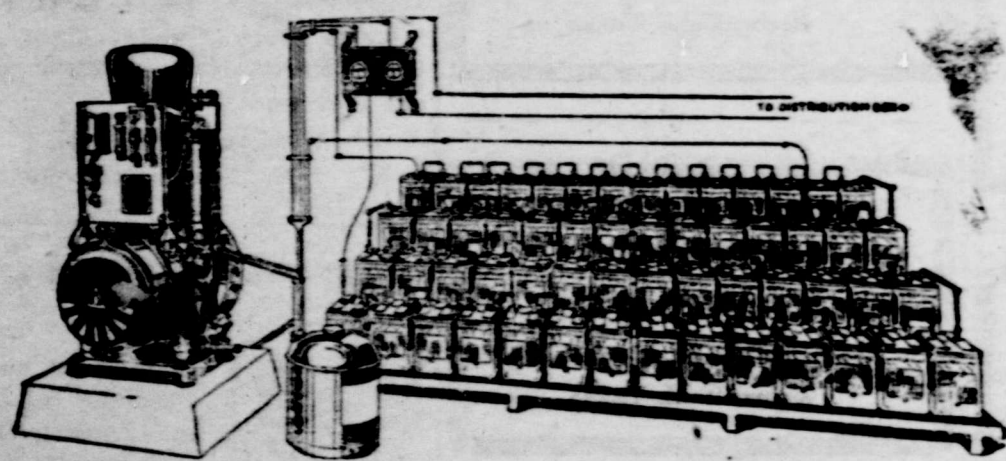

The Womans Missionary Society of the Methodist church will have a social meeting at the home of Mrs. Jno. S. Powell on Monday 28th, at 3:00 o'clock. All members are invited to be present.

Mr. Hugh Waller and family of Dallas, came in a few weeks ago and is now located on the farms of his uncle, Rev. H. D. Heath, near Gomez. Mr. Waller until recently was employed by the Dallas Times Herald, but decided he had rather farm in the fastest growing section of Texas. He remarked he had been able to eat melons apples or anything else that came handy for the first time in a long time since landing in old Terry. We certainly welcome this newspaper man and family as neighbors.

Mr. John D. Speegle and daughter, Queenelle, have returned to Chicago, after a visit here with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Arthur Sawyer.

If you are in the habit of taking your neighbors' Herald before he is done reading it, or before he has the opportunity of carrying it home for the rest of the family to see, stop it right now and come to the Herald office and get a sample. We do not wish those who take and pay for the paper regularly to be deprived of their paper any week. If you are either too stingy or too poor to take the paper get a copy gratis on us.

In almost every issue of the Avalanche Jim Dow complains of a guy named Battle Ax spitting on their side walks and musing them up after each rain. We are pretty sensitive, but didn't get a bid mad, as we remembered it had been several months since we were in Lubbock. Therefore we presume somebody else chews this old reliable brand which contains all those glorious elements with which a person may become at least locally famous as an expert "spitter."

Tahoka has a proposition from a gentleman to buy their light and power utilities service, and the gentleman emphasized the fact that his was an "independent" company and had no connections with any of the corporations. We wonder if that will make any material difference in the service rendered or any part that he or they might take in advancing the interests of Tahoka? Sometimes the so-called "souless" corporations have just about as much of the milk of human kindness as lots of "individuals" we know.

Some folks will rave around about how the school is being conducted and how it ought to be conducted, and yet you never see them at any of the meetings that are for the advancement of the public school. Some of these people are invited to try coming to the PTA and get their heads in the yoke and really find out how much effort really has to be put forth to carry on a good school. Then it is our opinion that some of them will work more and knock less. In the future the slacker-knocker isn't going to get much sympathy when he begins to spout off on the streets.

"Mail early" propaganda is already finding its way to the postoffices of the country, and as usual Uncle Sam will depend on the newspaper of the country to urge people to mail their holiday packages early. At the same time, they take every opportunity to make it more expensive and more trouble for newspapers to use the mail services. Also, at the same time the post office department is having printing done at below cost and is charging it up to the people that never use it, in the form of taxes. They have never made any appropriation for advertising, and probably never will as long as newspaper will carry it gratis. However, something new under the sun has happened again. The Brownfield postmaster has informed the Herald that he does not and will not expect us to carry this load by ourselves this fall, but that he expects to buy some space in the Herald this fall to inform folks how to fix their packages, and how to mail them to get to their destination early and in good shape. Did you ever hear of such a P.M.?

An outside printing firm circularizes our town this week in the interest of their traveling salesman who is now in a sanitarium. They make a plea for orders on account of their salesman's condition. If the home town printer should make pleas for business on a humanitarian basis he could have many better reasons than the illness of a salesman to offer. There is no reason for any printing job to leave the home town, when it is remembered the service of the home town paper offers its constituents. Every instinct of right and justice would give the business to the firm that works for its neighbors, but the home town printer does not ask for business except upon quality of work and service, at a price carrying no greater amount of profit to him than any other legitimate business asks for its goods, with, in most cases, much less service offered. The man who buys his printing at home helps to build up his community, and thereby helping himself. The man who buys his printing out of town helps to retard the progress of his community and should make no kick when his customers patronize the mail order houses for the goods in his line. It is possible to buy just an ordinary job of printing, or a quality job, plus the service the home town paper renders the whole community. It should not take long for the right-thinking man to make a decision as to where his interests are served best when placing an order for printing.—McLean News.

EIGHT O'CLOCK DINNER

Friday evening Sept. 18th, Miss Mona Watson entertained with an eight o'clock dinner in honor of Mr. Lester Treadaway, who left Saturday for Galveston to attend the University of Texas medical department. Those enjoying the delicious feast were, Misses Irma Green, Addie Hamilton, Mona Watson; Messrs. Lester Treadaway, Elmer Swan, Ernest Barkley. Later in the evening, thru the courtesy of Mr. Treadaway, a theatre party was enjoyed by the merry crowd.—A Guest.

MR. AND MRS. HANCOCK ENTERTAIN BYPU

The pretty home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hancock in the south part of town was the scene of a very delightful party last Thursday evening from 8:30 o'clock till —? Including the BYPU and additional guests, 30 young people were present.

As the guests were ushered in they were informed by the hostess that conventionality was a word unknown in their home, and a "feel at home" atmosphere predominated throughout the evening.

The entertainment of the hour was turned over to the social committee of the BYPU, and the house was in an uproar of laughter from start to finish by the game, "How do you like your neighbor," to the "Pigeon-toed race." Miss Phillips gave two readings which were greatly enjoyed and a place for her among the young people.

Refreshments consisting of hot chocolate and French doughnut wafers and sandwiches were served.

In speaking of the party each invariably said they had more fun than at any affair since they had been in Brownfield, and the BYPU as a union takes this opportunity in thanking Mr. and Mrs. Hancock for their unexcelled effort in trying to make this organization one of the leading factors in the church, and if there are any young people of the town who do not belong to any other church organization, we extend you a cordial invitation to attend our meetings on each Sunday evening at 7:00 o'clock.—Reporter.

AN ORDINANCE

Prohibiting the marketing of cotton and other farm products on the streets of the City of Brownfield, and designating a Marketing Place.

Whereas, the normal crowded conditions of the streets of this city during the marketing season is such as to cause traffic to become congested and move slowly, and whereas this condition is largely brought about and augmented by the buying and selling of products on said streets.

Therefore, in the interest of public safety, and to facilitate the moving of traffic on the streets of this city, be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Brownfield, that the marketing of cotton and other products on the streets of this city is hereby prohibited; and the north 1-2 of Block 24 of this city, located and situated directly east of the King Hotel and north of the First National Bank building, is hereby designated as a public marketing square.

Passed by the City Council of the City of Brownfield, Texas, in session on September fifth, 1925.

Soon Felt Improvement

"The first time I took Cardui I was in an awful bad way," says Mrs. Ora Carille, R. F. D. 5, Troup, Texas. "I went fishing one day. A heavy storm came up and I got soaking wet in the rain. I was afflicted with awful smothering spells. I could not get my breath. My mother had some in the house that she was taking, so she immediately began giving it to me. In a few days I got all right. "Last fall I got run-down in health. I was weak and puny and I began to suffer. I would get so I could hardly walk. Having taken Cardui before, I sent to the store for a bottle of it. Almost from the first dose I could feel an improvement.

"Cardui has helped me a lot and I am glad to recommend it. I don't feel like the same woman I was last fall. My appetite is good now, and I'm sure it's Cardui that's made it pick up."

new themes were preached from. He preached on the Bible vs. Evolution Monday night. Those who heard him appeared well pleased with his solution of the matter. I did not hear it, but from the talk presume it followed the usual lines of those who oppose the teaching of the physical sciences.

None of us are inclined to take kindly to new habits of thoughts and especially when they appear to contradict any usually accepted statement of supposed fact. It is perhaps that it should be so, for otherwise we would be continually changing and often when truth would be on the other side. At times neophobia, new madness is a rather dangerous malady. It interferes with the introduction of new thought, new and better ways of doing things. Diphtheria antitoxine was outrageously assailed on its introduction and physicians who used it were called murderers. When the bath tub was introduced in the U.S. in 1840, they were denounced as dangerous to health, and Virginia put a tax on them of $30 per year. In 1845 Boston made bathing unlawful except on the advice of a physician. In England potatoes were said to be injurious to society and tomatoes damaging to morals. At the beginning of the present century the mosquito theory of yellow fever and malaria were laughed at until Reed, Carroll, Lazear and Agrononi demonstrated the truth of this theory, three of them paying with their life for their share in the proof.

The acceptance of new facts are pretty much the Pope said about vice: "we first abhor, then pity, then embrace."

The infant of Mr. De Pauw was hurried here Sunday afternoon.

We have two heavy rains since our last communication—in fact regular washouts. This is not to be taken as a complaint but really we would like to inform his majesty J. P. Pluvius that from now on a smaller shower would undoubtedly meet our needs.

The work on Jones Brother's building has been recommenced and is moving along nicely. The Preston Building has the brick work completed. It will be quite an ornament to the town when completed and occupied.

Luther Herrington has purchased the two lots east of the Highway, the site of the Drug Store, and will commence soon a brick building 50x75 feet, to be occupied in part by the drug store. Verily Meadow does grow.

Mr. Gee, an instructor in Masonic work has been with the lodge here the past week, and will be at Ropes this week.

The leaf worm situation continues to bother the people around Meadow, and systemic poisoning is the order of the day. Many fear poisoning of themselves or their livestock. It is well to remember that Paris green or London purple are all arsenical preparations and are intended for the worms. Reasonable caution in distributing it will obviate any untoward effects. It would certainly be dangerous to broadcast by hand, yet I have known this to be done without harmful effects.

The meeting at the Church of Christ is in progress and will continue through the week. We have heard but little but enjoyed that little. The sermons displayed thought and

MANY PRIZES OFFERED BY TRI-STATE FAIR

Some cowpony from the Panhandle section is going to win a cash prize of $100.00 and a beautiful loving cup for its rider or owner.

The occasion will be the tri-state Exposition at Amarillo on Oct 1.

Special attention to this race has been called by O. V. Vernon, Secretary, who, both because of the handsome prizes and the sport of this event, believes that a number of ponies from the three states always represented at this fair will be entered.

He especially asks that all interested send in their name and the name of their horse at once. This should be done immediately so that proper provision can be made for those coming.

The Loving cup is offered by the Amarillo Daily News and can be seen on display at the Finklea Jewelry Store. It will bear the name of the horse and owner, the date of the race and the place and fair.

Rules for entering this race follow: All purses paid on evening of same day of races.

All entries must be made by 5:00 prior to day of race.

Cow Pony Races: Any cow horse eligible to this race who has been actively in use on a ranch 30 days prior to this meet and are not to be entered in any other class of races during this meet. Stock cow-boy saddles must be used.

No entrance fee charged in this race.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Terry county—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Oscar Covey by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 106th Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said 106th Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the County Court of Terry County, Texas, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Brownfield, on the first Monday in October, A. D. 1925, the same being the 5th day of October, A. D. 1925, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 24th day of July, A. D. 1925 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 233, wherein W. A. Bell is Plaintiff, and Oscar Covey is Defendant, and said petition alleging, that heretofore, to-wit, on the 12th day of April, 1924, defendant made, executed and delivered to plaintiff his certain promissory note bearing that date payable to the order of plaintiff at Brownfield, Texas, on demand, for the principal sum of $525.00 and bearing interest from its date until paid at the rate of 10 per cent per annum, providing the usual 10 per cent attorney's fee clause if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, whereby defendant became liable and bound to plaintiff and promised plaintiff to pay him the sums of money in said note specified, together with interest and attorney's fees.

That plaintiff has placed said note in the hands of Joe J. McGowan, an attorney, and promised to pay him the 10 per cent attorney's fees specified in said note, which is the usual and customary fee.

That said note is long past due and unpaid, and defendant, though often requested, has failed and refused to pay the same or any part thereof, to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $675.00.

Wherefore plaintiff prays judgment for his debt, principal, interest and attorney's fees and costs of suit, for special and general relief, in law or in equity.

Herein fail not but have before said Court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Brownfield, Texas, on this 2nd day of September, A. D. 1925.

THE MEADOW CORRESPONDENT IS ANSWERED

If the Meadow objector to the resolution against evolution had read carefully, he certainly would have discovered that the resolution was the objections that this particular Church was registering against evolution, as article two (2) and three (3) will show. For they read: "That we declare our open opposition to, and that we register our protest against the teaching of evolution."

I am sure there is not a member in the Meadow Baptist Church who is not willing for the Meadow correspondent to file all objections or even to write a book if desirable, against the resolutions passed by the Church.

The correspondent says: "No evolution has ever been put forward as an explanation of creation." It is no substitute—it is Nature's tool. It is God's methods. The means by which creation is effected."

The above clearly states the position of the Meadow correspondent. It is the very thing that the Meadow Baptist opposes and protests against.

Now let us see. The word evolution is from the Latin "evolutus" past participle of "evolvere" meaning "to unroll or to roll out" (Standard Dictionary). This is a direct contradiction of the first verse in the Bible for it plainly states: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." Evolve and create are opposing terms for the simple reason that if the heaven and the earth had unrolled, unfolded or rolled out, they would have had to exist previously. Moses said: "God Created." We believe Moses. Paul said: "Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God so that things which are seen are not made of things which do appear." Heb. 11:2.

Now, it is just a matter of whom we will believe; Moses and Paul or the evolutionist. Mr. Darwin stated his theory that with four to six germs with the infinite, perhaps, as the source or beginning from which all forms of life have developed by evolutionary processes rolled out and up. Haeckle contended for a single original cell produced by spontaneous generation. Mr. Spencer originated the word "evolution" or at least, he is given that honor by some writers.

From the above we have four forms of evolution: (1) Inorganic evolution, (2) Organic evolution, (3) Mental evolution, and (4) Theistic evolution. But they all stand or fall together.

The Meadow correspondent said that evolution had never been put forward as an explanation for creation, and yet that is the very purpose of the theory. Even the correspondent himself said in the same paragraph that "it is the means."

Genesis, first chapter, first verse says: "And God made the Firmament," in the sixteenth verse says "And God made two Great Lights. He made the Stars also" in the 21st verse "And God created great whales and every living creature that moveth and every winged fowl" and in the 25th verse says: "And God made the beast of the Earth." "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness." And in the 27th verse says plainly: "So God created Man in his own Image." There is no indication anywhere that God called on Mr. Darwin's life cells at all at any time or any place to help him in any manner in his creative work. God formed man of the dust of the ground which he, God, had previously created and then breathed the breath of life into him and as a result Adam was a full grown man. So it is no trouble to see a contradiction between the Genesis account and evolution. Our Meadow Correspondent notwithstanding.

Our Meadow Correspondent says he never saw an evolutionist that was irreverent, and that he "bares his head in the presence of his God," and that he does not scoff and scorn at religion.

But, however, with many of them, their God is the product of evolution. While I was pastor in an Oklahoma town, the teacher in the High School called my attention to a textbook on Sociology. It was evolution to the core and when the author came to treat the subject of Maternity he brought out that evolution was the mother of God. To this God all evolutionists will bow their heads. And as to irreverence, doubt, our Meadow correspondent never met Judge Lindsey of Denver Colorado. Judge Lindsey, in a recent article, referred to the Christian religion as the Jonah and the Whale kind. And Clarence Darrow objected to the Judge in the great Scopes trial in Dayton, Tenn. opening his court with prayer, objected to the reading of the Bible, and acted so irreverent that he was compelled to apologize for contempt of court. He also referred to Mr. W. J. Bryan's religion as a fool's religion.

As to our protest registered in article three (3), the Correspondent said that he found no fault and then proceeded to vent his spleen about

DARROW GETS HIS ANSWER

Death has come to a man who was, as he said himself, not without his battles—has come gently as dream-land whisperings to a sleeping child, leaving only calm and peace and rest. The majestic quietude of it, together with the circumstances that came before, make of death for William Jennings Bryan at once a chaplet for his career and a touchstone to judge him by.

Pictures come to us now—of a lad set upon a table to fan aglow the hearts of plainmen with words of winged persuasion, of a young unknown rising amidst the counsellors of his party to brush them from their feet in the sweep of impetuous advocacy; of the dauntless veteran of many personal defeats, of a Warwick at Baltimore as with the magic of his voice and the might of his courage alone he snatches success out of failure and names a man to change, as it turns out the history of the world. But they fade, these pictures do, and one only persists beyond them all not so high or wide or glamorous, perhaps, as the others seem, but rooted deeper than any of them in the soul-stuff that is in all of us. And for all we know, the years that shall measure him will not be able to erase it.

It is the picture of the man now dead sitting with an old palm-leaf fan, held as Coeur de Lion might have held his mace, or Charles Mariel his hammer, confronting his adversary, a squat and half-crouched figure set for the fray upon his chosen ground. Again, we are at that wild, that foolish, that transcendent trial where cunning doubt and stubborn faith wrestled like Michael and Satan disputing over the body of Moses. Again we sense the drama of that background of simple, believing country folks, interspersed with chaffing, jeering, sight-seeing incomers from at large. Again we all but feel the wish of flagellant question and the unyielding fierceness of reply that outraged all rules of court procedure, of orderly discussion or even of common fair play. Again we find ourselves fascinated at it, and again we are provoked at the needlessness of all of it. We know now how terribly in earnest Bryan must have been, and the knowing silences even the skeptic's sneer. The dignity of death in such a case magnifies the intent of the overshadowing of the deed.

Bryan may have known less than Darrow on the origin of man. None of us know any too much. Nor does it matter in the large scale of values upon which the one of these two built his whole life while the other has ignored. For it is not the origin, but the destiny of man that counts. The answer to doubt, of course, is not argument, no, not even from the lips of surpassing eloquence. And so it comes about that in the untroubled passing of Bryan, the believer, Darrow has his answer, bigger than any question which he can contrive to frame—more convincing than any hypothesis upon which he can stumble in his searchings—and perhaps in the contemplation of it, he, with many a comrade in doubt, has in his thinking uncovered at last his own soul, naked, groping and afraid.—Dallas News.

Editor Harvey Blackstone of the Meadow Review was down this week to get some circulars printed in inaugurating his subscription campaign.

the narrowness, egotism and foolishness of the Christian religionist. If the evolutionist would not insist on teaching the unfounded theory and tomy-rot to our children, it would not be necessary for us to register our protest. But so long as we are taxed and have to pay the same, we are going to object to public servants teaching a theory that no one has never established as a fact. If evolutionists wish to teach their theory let them establish their own schools for that purpose. Baptists who are objecting to the teaching of evolution are not objecting to education—I mean real education, in no form, but to an established hypothesis.

As to the Meadow Correspondent's criticism to the Hon. W. J. Bryan, we think Mr. Bryan one of the great men of his day and while alive could take care of himself with any man, but a child can kick the dead. It does not take courage to do that. Mr. J. Frank Norris can take care of himself.

Now our Correspondent tries to make a thrust at the origin of Baptists by hiding it away in a lot of eloquence and flattery. We accept the flattery with a good degree of salt and admire his eloquence. But his statement about the origin of Baptists is all wrong. I am sure the good editor would not wish to indulge a discussion of the origin of Baptists.

I think that it had no place in the article I am answering, therefore, I herewith and now challenge the eloquent Meadow Correspondent to an oral debate on the origin, doctrine and practices of New Testament Baptists.—Charles Burnett, Pastor of Meadow Baptist Church.

MEADOW BRIEFS

By Aesculapias

(This Week)

The farmers were busy the past week poisoning worms. The situation looks rather serious to one who has had to deal with them in the counties east, but we hear very many say they do not intend to poison. It is perhaps a month until we will have frost and if they do not eat up the crop, bolls and all, unless poisoned, I certainly miss my guess. This guess is predicted on actual experience with them.

Many say they are afraid that they or their stock might get poisoned and that pickers can't be had to pick the cotton. While there is some danger unless reasonable precautions are taken there isn't a particle of a doubt, but is presumed that no one will handle it as if it were feet stuff. Personally I have never known a fatality of either man or beast, and as to the pickers I never knew any trouble in this line.

The meeting at the Church of Christ closed Sunday with 45 additions and reclamations. This is the largest number received by any church here for the past four years, in any year. We congratulate them on the result and hope that none will have to be reclaimed the coming season.

The Lubbock Boosters were with us Thursday and a merry time was had for a few minutes. The school turned out to hear and see them and after the Boosters were gone the school repaired to the church and heard Rev. Bentley preach.

Two of our citizens were carried to Brownfield the past week charged with some offense against the peace and dignity of the state. We hope it may prove to be a false alarm, and that they will be able to show their innocence.

Our section was visited Sunday afternoon with a terrific downpour of rain. It rained for more than two hours and flooded the roads and moved culverts along the highway. This scribe had a little work along that line himself. Really I can get along without any more for several weeks.

The buildings under construction have moved along rapidly the past week. Meadow is changing appearance rapidly.

SCHOOLS OF TODAY WILL NOT ANSWER FOR TOMORROW

Fort Worth, Sept. 21.—"The Public Schools of yesterday is inadequate for the children of today, and the schools of today is too limited for the matriculation of tomorrow, and this applies with emphasis to at least some of the text books of yesterday, today and tomorrow," quoting from a recent bulletin of the Public School Allies of Alabama.

"The public school is the bulwark of the nation, the foundation of civilization's progress, the richest heritage of our children; and one of God's best allies on earth.

"There is no phase of civilization's progress that can be maintained without due care and attention, for in all human affairs there are forces that pull both ways.

"Fancied security, lethargy and indifference are the open doors to the enemies of any cause.

"An educated populace is Democracy's best safeguard—so, as good citizens, we should guard well our public schools."

A JUDGE "FIRES" A JURY

Judge Duval West, presiding over the United States District Court at San Antonio, Texas, has established a precedent in court procedure, according to reports.

Dissatisfied and disappointed at a verdict of acquittal, returned to his court by a jury of twelve men, the judge discharged them and ordered the clerk to "pay them off" although they had been empaneled for the term of the court, with two weeks yet to serve.

"Your services are no longer needed," Judge West said.

A jury is supposed to determine the facts and the credence due the testimony of the witnesses, governed by the law as given it by the court, and to return its findings accordingly.

That a judge should be so surprised at a verdict as to discharge the jurors returning it, is unusual, to say the least, but at the same time may be a step in the right direction.

The duty of a juror is to uphold the laws of the land, and, by so doing, protect himself and his fellow citizens from offenders. It is impossible to believe that twelve men would, merely to evade jury service, deliberately free a guilty defendant. Therefore it is not likely that the precedent established by Judge West will serve as a medium for avoiding or evading such service as jurors by citizens.

The judge's action should be taken for what it was intended, a rebuke to the citizens, who, as jurors, held the law of the land in too little esteem.

It should serve to remind all persons that the law, in order to be enforced, must be respected by the jurors. The twelve men "fired" by Judge West will not during his present term of court, be in a position to free another defendant.—Dallas Times Herald.

Lamesa.—Public improvements are under way here to catch up with the great growth of Lamesa and Dawson county. The city is laying 4½ miles of water mains and 3½ miles of sewer extensions. Contract has been let for installing a model white way and lighting system. Three brick rural school buildings are under construction in different communities of the county, averaging $25,000 each. Business and residence building continues at a rapid rate.

The women folks of the Herald household made a raid on the farm and garden of E. J. Purcell one day last week, and returned with a big lot of beans, cabbage and tomatoes. We certainly did live high for a few days anyway.

Mrs. R. R. Hughes and daughter, Mrs. Josie Scott, of Wilson, were here Wednesday visiting with their son and brother, Dr. H. H. Hughes. They were accompanied by Mrs. Forrester of Wichita Falls, who visited her nephew, A. C. Green while here.

FLIRTING WITH DEATH

A little more of the milk of human kindness, a little more regard for the common courtesies of life and a little more patience on the part of the motor car drivers would add greatly to the pleasure of motoring and very materially reduce the accident list. It is strange, and yet true enough, to become axiomatic, that some peculiar change occurs in a man's psychology when he gets behind the wheel of an automobile that makes his reactions to certain situations and conditions different than they would be in the ordinary intercourse of daily life.

Some men who are polite to a nicety in their business and social activities seem to forget that politeness when they try to grab the right-of-way from the fellow motorist at crossing or cut in at the front of a waiting line. But one of the strangest manifestations of this transformation is a peculiar impatience manifested to a decidedly dangerous degree that obsesses an otherwise easy-going, conservative citizen when he is threatened, with being delayed a second or two at a street or railroad crossing. Just a second or two of patience and he could continue serenely on his way, but for the second he will risk collision that may cause weeks of wracking pain on a hospital cot, if not his life, to say nothing of an enormous bill for damages. Yet this same man would walk around a block to avoid a chance of an encounter with a bandit who would only steal his pocket-book and valuables.—Fort Worth Record.

FIRST OF IMPROVED FORDS ARRIVE HERE

First of the improved Ford Cars to arrive in Brownfield went on display last Friday in the show rooms of Tudor Sales Co. local authorized Ford dealer, and immediately attracted the attention of everyone.

To say that people who saw the car were surprised at their appearance would be putting it mildly. The new types exceed all expectations in appearance and more comfort and convenience. For the most part the bodies have been completely re-designed and conform in every respect to the most advanced features in body construction.

Not only have bodies been built lower but they have been set on a lower chassis frame and with larger, low hanging fenders impart to the complete car a string suggestion of riding and driving ease.

While the Tudor Sales Company has been able so far only to show the touring model, other types will be shown as quickly as they can be obtained from the Ford Motor Co. branch at Dallas, where because of their popularity demands on production are somewhat delaying immediate delivery of all types of cars.

HAS FILE OF OLDEST MEXICAN NEWSPAPER

Austin, Texas.—The only complete file of the first Mexican newspaper, the Gazette de Mexico printed from 1728 to 1742, is in the Gracia collection in the library of the University of Texas, according to Miss Lota Mae Spell, in charge of this collection.

All the newspapers published in Mexico during the 18th century after 1728 are on file in the Gracia library, making some 1000 volumes of newspapers acquired with the Gracia collection by the Board of Regents in 1921.

An extremely rare newspaper is the Periodico Oficial, the official organ of the Juarez government. As the press was moved along with the army the paper was issued in many places, such as San Luis, Mexico City and Chihuahua, and copies of it were easily lost. Mrs. Spell said. It is stated that even the National Library of Mexico does not possess a file of this paper.

WINDMILL CHEAPEST FARM POWER

The windmill is the cheapest source of farm power, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture in its survey of farm power that reveals the farmer was next the railroads and ahead of the manufacturing and mining in the use of power. Horses and mules make up about 80 per cent of his power source, through this source is dwindling rapidly as horses get older and are replaced by tractors, and trucks and automobiles rather than by younger horses, as was the case before the war.

Not only is the windmill the cheapest form of farm power, but it is much more efficient than formerly, roller bearings and self-oiling features making it possible to pump water with a much smaller current of air movement than formerly. In fact, a windmill ten years old or more is quite out of date.

Laurel With a History

What was perhaps the oldest laurel bush in France has just died in what remains of a once beautiful Paris garden. The laurel was one of a group sent by Louis XIV to Marshal Turenne, victor of the battles of Fribourg and Nordlingen. It came from the royal gardens of Fontainebleau. Turenne's handsome country home was in what is now the boulevard de Montparnasse, hidden from the public view by the tall houses bordering the street. It was built by Mansard, the architect whose fine facades give such dignity to the Place de la Concorde. The house has been occupied recently by the engraver, Leopold Flameng, father of the late painter. He watched over the ancient laurel's last years. A young sculptor of the quarter is going to use the wood for a statuette of the illustrious marshal. It will be sent to the army museum at the Invalides.

Rising Star.—Lines are being run for the new highway from this place to Brownwood via May. This is but one of the many highway improvements under way in Texas. Gaps in the Bankhead highway are rapidly being closed through Palo Pinto Co., while progress is being made on plans for highway improvement in Taylor county where funds are available to pave the Bankhead. Slip into a BRADLEY and out to the games

When there's football in the air and the ducks are squakin' overhead--that is the time to slip into a Bradley and out where health and fun begin.

Note particularly the loftiness of the wool yarns used in these luxurious Bradley garments. Stretch them with your hands. Their firm, positive elasticity will convince you that Bradley outerwear is extraordinarily sturdy. Slip into the one you like best and give your lungs a treat in the great out-of-doors.

We are showing a pretty range of colors in Shaker and Service Knit Sweaters, Pull Overs, Thermos, Coat Sweaters, Vests and the new and attractive lumber jacks
