Chamber of Commerce CURRENTS By the Secretary

Last week we had hog on the brain and still have it. Several farmers have advised that they would like to have a gilt, but not nearly enough to make up a car. Get busy boys and let us know if you are interested. I feel sure that the financial end of it can be managed, and since it has rained have no doubt about the feed being produced with which to raise the stock.

Due to a misunderstanding, the committee who was appointed to inspect the resident district after clean-up week, did not act and it will be necessary for us to rake up the old yard once more. The committee will be around Thursday, April 29th. Get ready for them.

It will soon be time for us to commence with those community trips and we want to take a good crowd with us each time. We do not want to sell goods on these trips, but we want to show our farmer friends that we appreciate their friendship and good will. Of course the band will be with us.

I saw a farmer at one of the cream stations yesterday. He had only been here two years and lived 12 miles out of town, but he brought in several dozen eggs, a large jar of cream, several culled hens and three or four capons. He advised me that he owned two cows, raised his own meat, put up vegetables from his garden for winter use and did not require credit as he always had money to pay for what he wanted. He sets a good example. Let us follow.

COLEEN MOORE IN NEW FILM TRIUMPH

A moving multi-colored drama of Western life is "The Desert Flower" which runs Wednesday and Thursday April 28-29th at the Riako Theatre, bringing back to us, like a breath of springtime the eternally ebullient Coleen Moore.

Coleen Moore and Frank Broughlee in "The Desert Flower"

It is, however, a more mature, serious-minded Coleen that we see in this latest First National offering. She has emerged, like a butterfly from its chrysalis, into emotional drama, giving us the high lights and shadows of the existence of a waif in a desert camp of a railroad construction gang, who escapes from the persecutions of a brutish stepfather to make her own way in the world and provide for her baby sister.

Finding the only avenue open to her the rough environment of a mining camp dance hall, she yet remains untarnished and in the end wins the love of the prodigal whom she has inspired to try again and to conquer.

Next to Miss Moore's touching characterization of the little creature of drab exterior but golden heart is that of the wayward youth by Lloyd Hughes. Excellent support is rendered these by a cast among the most prominent of which are Frank Brownlee, Kate Price, William Norton Bailey, Monte Collins and Gene Corrado.

The Herald job department was greatly augmented Saturday when a new series Chandler & Price job press arrived. It contained a fountain which will be a big help on long runs, and a new press gives the very best printing that can be done.

PIONEER CITIZEN PASSES TUESDAY MORNING

Mr. John Peters, 82, one of the most prominent and highly respected citizens in the county passed to his reward at the family residence one mile west of town at an early hour Tuesday morning, after several weeks illness. Funeral services were conducted at the First Baptist Church by his pastor Rev. C. E. Ball, Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock, after which the body was laid to rest in the Brownfield cemetery.

Deceased leaves a wife and one son, William, to mourn his departure, as well as a large circle of friends in Hill, Hamilton and Terry counties.

Deceased was born in south Holland but came to America in early young manhood, and as soon as he became naturalized, joined the navy and was with the then Captain Dewey in the early 70's who was sent to Santiago, Chili, when we had trouble with that country over some mines near that city. The presence of American war ships, however, settled the affair without bloodshed, and the sailors were permitted to land in a few days, and were treated hospitably.

Mr. Peters came to Texas after he left the navy, settling in Hill county, where he met and married his wife. Later he moved to Evant in Hamilton county and resided there a great many years before coming to Terry county about 16 years ago.

ELEVEN BLOCKS MUST TIE ON TO SEWERAGE

If you own, lease or rent property on any of the eleven blocks mentioned in the city ordinance you will find in this issue of the Herald, you had best make preparations at once to install sanitary toilets, if you don't already have them. The city council has so decreed that all open dry toilets in the business section must go, not only for the benefit of a cleaner town, but also for a healthier town.

The Herald considers this one of the most beneficial moves the city council has taken in some time. It may be a little expensive to some of us right now, when we may have intended to do this just a little later, but hot weather and fly time is near at hand, and the sooner this is done the better for the whole town, and all good citizens will help the officials to see that the ordinance is enforced.

W. E. Moore, and family of Leveland, were down last week visiting Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Broughton. Ed is recovering nicely from his recent operation, but looks several pounds off yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lewis and Mrs. U. D. Sawyer were in Lubbock Sunday.

Mr. J. R. Bingham is here in the interest of organizing a Modern Woodman lodge.

SOUTH PLAINS PASTOR'S CONFERENCE GOOD MEETING

The South Plains Pastor's Conference, met in Brownfield, April 12-14. This organization was created at the Post Baptist Encampment last summer. The primary purpose of the organization is to aid in solving the problems peculiar to the pastor and to further interest of the Post Encampment, which meets this year at Two Draw Lake, July 5-11. The territory covered by the conference reaches from Sweetwater to Lubbock north and South, and from Spur to the New Mexico line east and west.

The meeting was fairly well attended. Each association was represented in the territory. All addresses and sermons were par excellent. The local Baptist church was greatly benefited by having this fine group of visitors come into our midst. We always look forward to such a meeting with a great deal of joy and pleasure.

—C. E. Ball, Pastor.

BROWNFIELD SECTION VISITED BY ABUNDANT RAINS

With a fairly good season in the ground already, Mr. J. Pluvius decided to descend on old Terry and surrounding counties in Texas and New Mexico Tuesday morning with the kind of rain we love to see, and the water poured it on this section for about two hours good and strong. The rain was accompanied by a slight hail that did no damage. The precipitation amounted to about two inches, and the weather is promising of more falling weather.

There never was a better season in the ground for planting and probably nine-tenths of the farmers have all their land ready for planting, unless it is some sod land. In a few weeks grass will be a foot high over the prairies and cattle will be sleek and fat.

COMMISSIONERS COURT PURCHASE WOOD FURNITURE

County Judge H. R. Winston and Com. W. E. Harred informed us last Saturday that they had completed a deal with Mr. Smith, representing a large wood furniture concern, that cost slightly over $9,000.00, and which includes all desks, chairs, tables and seats for the district court room of our splendid new courthouse.

The furniture is quarter sawed oak, and was considered the highest quality offered by the several agents that had displays on exhibition here. In this the Commissioners and County Judge certainly acted wise we believe, in that they bought furniture, though costing slightly more, but will prove as enduring as the building itself.

Bids on steel furniture will be opened this week, and we understand they will have many bids and a hard decision to make in this line.

LOCAL FORECASTER PREDICTS BIG CROPS

Our old friend M. C. Crawford, who usually hits the rains sometimes several weeks in advance as well as tell what kind of a year we are to have, was recently in the Herald office to send a copy for several months to relatives in the east, and remarked that we are in for one of the best crop years in the history of the county.

Personally the Herald man has learned to put quite a lot of confidence in this splendid old man's predictions. In fact we had rather risk his forecasts than any person we know, not barring Foster.

Mr. Crawford will leave in a few weeks to visit his old home in Anderson county, and he slightly remarked that he was going to do his best to persuade some of his old nester relatives down there to move to a real good country. Besides the fine farm just northwest of town, Mr. Crawford also owns a fine body of land southwest of Brownfield.

Although four score and ten, he is going to squirrel hunt some when he gets down in old Anderson. Mr. Crawford rarely wears glasses.

SIMMONS U. HEAD TO BE HERE NEXT SUNDAY

Dr. J. D. Sandefer, President of Simmons University, will fill the pulpit of the local Baptist church at both morning and evening hour next Sunday, April 25.

Dr. Sandefer will also speak to the graduating class of the Brownfield High School, Saturday at a banquet given in their honor at the Baptist church at 9:15 P.M. This banquet is to be given by the Woman's Missionary Society of the church.

The time for the banquet is set at the above named hour, which may seem a little late, because we want to attend the preaching service at the Methodist church. After the service is over, we will go immediately to the Baptist church for the banquet.

—C. E. Ball, Pastor.

ALL TEACHERS OFFERED PLACES IN 1926-27 FACULTY

At a meeting of the new board of trustees of the Brownfield schools offered all teachers their places on the faculty for the next term of our schools. We did not learn just how many, if any have accepted to this date.

This is as it should be to our notion for we have certainly had a splendid school this year, according to the big majority of patrons, and not only that but they have learned to work together for the advancement of the pupils and the school in general. We have never seen a school that made very rapid advance that was continually changing faculties.

OIL HAS BEEN FOUND IN NEW YOAKUM COUNTY WELL

We learned at noon Wednesday that the drillers on the new Kelley well in Yoakum county had struck oil at 300 feet, at a slightly less depth than it was found at before, when for lack of casing, the well caved in.

The drillers, who are old and experienced men in the oil game, believe the well is good for perhaps three barrels per day now, but will go on down. They have every confidence that at least a good shallow field exists out there, which is about 18 or 20 miles west of Brownfield.

WHO STARTER FT. WORTH- ROSWELL AIRLINE ANYWAY?

Well, the question of who started the agitation and interest in the Fort Worth-Roswell Airline doesn't make a great deal of difference, yet we love to see fair play, and honor placed where honor is due. In a write-up and brief history of the matter published recently in a neighboring county, the man who really started the matter was entirely ignored. The man who saw that other towns were trying to pull our highway into an elbow northward in order to pass through their towns was never mentioned.

J. E. Shelton, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce was the man who got busy with phone calls and called the first meeting about the matter at Tahoka, which now has resulted in a strong organization of the towns along the airline route that mean business. Yet, this man's name was not mentioned in the writeup.

Honor where honor is due.

TAHOKA WANTS THEIR MUNICIPAL PLANTS BACK

Some time in the past many of us have agitated selling the local municipal light and power plant to utilities companies, thinking perhaps we would obtain a slightly reduced rate and at the same time rid ourselves of a tax on the outstanding bonds.

Tahoka people also decided that was best and last spring sold their plants—power and ice—to a private company. Now they seem to be regretting the sale, and a move is on foot to repurchase the plant. It seems that the obligation on the bonds have not been removed. They are paying just as much for juice, and no revenue is coming into the city treasury to help meet obligations.

As long as our plant is making its way and paying for the purchase of new machinery as needed, lets be very careful and know what we are doing before we sell our plant.

MEADOW MAY HAVE A CITY PARK

John B. Reed and Luther Herring were around this week soliciting interest and aid in the purchase of a plot of ground to establish a city park. If successful in securing the grounds and enough funds, it is contemplated improving the grounds, planting trees, etc. A band stand will also be erected and the Meadow Concert band will render an open air concert one night each week during the summer season.

The Review heartily endorses this progressive movement, and trusts that these enterprising citizens will continue to meet substantial encouragement. It surely would be a great advertisement for Meadow to have a city park, and the band concerts would afford a great pleasure to the people.

By all means let us get behind the movement and push it to success.—Meadow Review.

LOCAL PHYSICIAN HAS NEAR SERIOUS WRECK

Dr. T. L. Treadaway had a call one day last week several miles in the country, and took Mrs. Treadaway along as he frequently does on long drives. After making the call they started on their return home, passing through a wire gate they thought was down on their way out, but which proved to be very much up. One of the wires caught the motorometer, and after a strain out, the meter gave way before the wire did and came back through the windshield, striking the doctor on the neck bone, cutting quite a gash. Mrs. Treadaway also suffered slight cuts from flying glass. They hurried on to town where they were given medical aid by other physicians.

SENIOR DAY

On Wednesday, April 14th, the Seniors chaperoned by their sponsor, Mr. Heath, and a few of their friends took the annual Senior Day. When we started the weather prospects were not the best, it being windy and drizzling rain, but what did we care? We had planned senior day and no one could reconcile themselves to the daily routine of study after so much excitement. So in spite of the handicap, we left school for the day.

After an hour's drive we arrived at Salt Lake—but we wondered why the last car was so long in getting there. We built a fire and was soon ready for the day's fun. Fun? Well, I don't know whether you would call it that or not. Anyway we bogged all the way to the island with a steady sprinkle of rain on us. However, they did not make the island, for some were wise enough to go back when they began to bog, and the "heavy weights" fell further and further behind the bunch, until two bogged down and had to be pulled out. We all got back to dry land however, after a long and tiresome struggle and it was not so funny when the mud and alkali began to dry on our feet and hands.

Then came the eats, and such eats as we had, sandwiches, fruit and every thing. Drinks too—pop by the case and cake by the jug. After lunch we played games of various descriptions and had the Victrola too. Oh! yes, we had music and several special numbers by individuals.

Miss Othel Rentfro invited all present to a Senior Bunco party at her home that night, and all started home. Two cars went via Tahoka, and we know Mr. Heath is glad he went for several reasons. You know, if you have ever been there that Tahoka has paved streets, and we declared we could tell a difference in the roads

LOCAL BYPU MAKES TRIP TO TAHOKA

The Senior BYPU motored to Tahoka Sunday morning immediately following the preaching hour and spent the afternoon in that city attending the District BYPU meet. Miss Hudson, State Board BYPU representative was there and the crowd from here enjoyed her lectures so much that she consented to come here next Sunday. They took their luncheon with them and about five o'clock had an old fashioned picnic in the church. Some of the group stayed until after the preaching services Sunday night, and others returned home after supper.

Don't forget BYPU next Sunday evening at 7:00, and be sure to read your daily Bible reading as the contest starts next Sunday night.

Later: We are sorry to report that on account of getting dates mixed Miss Hudson cannot be with us Sunday.

F. H. Perkins got a rib broken recently when he struck a stump with his lister, and a lever on the lister flew back and hit him in the side. He is not suffering very much, however.

Those who enjoyed the outing were: Geneva Brothers, Irene Lindley, Thelma McPherson, Othel Rentfro, Mary Walker, Blanche Perkins, Lillie Mae Warren, Bernice Miller, Louise Holgate, Grace Barrett, Elizabeth Downing, Edna Criswell, Bessie Day, Darrell Jackson, Besie Thompson, Will Alf Bell, Jewell Graves, James King, all seniors; Mr. Heath, sponsor, and Joe Price, James Harley Dallas, Misses Dolores Lynn and Vallie Holt, as guests.—A Guest.

MORGAN JONES WILLS A.C.C. TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS

Abilene, April 15.—Col. Morgan Jones, noted railroad man of West Texas, who died last Sunday in Abilene, has bequeathed Abilene Christian College ten thousand dollars.

The money given local schools and colleges may well express the faith Mr. Jones had for the future of Abilene and its educational institutions. It may be noted that in the past Mr. Morgan had no occasion for relations ACC that could have been influential in him making the gift.

This is the largest cash donation ever received by Abilene Christian College. The money will either be placed with the endowment fund or used in the erection of the new administration building, construction of which is to start in the near future.

L. J. Estlack, recently of Seagraves, but who formerly lived here, has removed to Brownfield and taken over the Brownfield Produce Co., as manager, vice Harry O'Harren, who recently left for California. Note Mr. Estlack's ad elsewhere in this paper.

Editor and Mrs. Haynes, accompanied by Bob Jr., were through our city last Sunday, but failed to stop for a chat.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sims had some announcements printed announcing the arrival of Miss Mary Rae at their home on the 15th inst.

Viviani's Memory Prodigious

One of the sources of the late Rene Viviani's eloquence was his profound knowledge of French literature. He knew by heart thousands of verses and could recite entire acts of the classic tragedies without an error.

He demonstrated this at the time of his baccalaureate, when he agreeably surprised the examiner by his accurate analysis of "The Cid."

"Can you recite a few verses of it?" the examiner asked.

"Certainly," said Viviani, and had recited the whole of the first act before he was halted. On another occasion he recited the whole of "Horatius" and "Phedre" from beginning to end.

SENIOR BUNCO PARTY

Miss Othel Rentfro delightfully entertained the Senior Class and a few special guests on Wednesday evening with a bunco party.

The guests arrived on the appointed time and in spite of the fact that we were tired from our day's march, bunco was played with the enthusiasm that usually goes with the game. Later, other games were played and Victrola music was much enjoyed.

Refreshments of hot tea and cookies were served to the following seniors: Misses Lillie Mae Warren, Gladys Copeland, Bessie Thompson, Blanche Perkins, Othel Rentfro, Mary Walker, Thelma McPherson, Bernice Miller, Geneva Brothers, Bessie Day, and Messrs. Wil Alf Bell, Tom Herod, with Misses Christine Harrison, Vallie Holt, and Messrs. Heath, Price, English and King as special guests.

Although the party was "gotten up" and prepared for rather hurriedly, it was thoroughly a success and we hope to have more like it. The guests departed at a late hour, declaring they had a most delightful time.—A Guest.

CONTROLLING CUT WORMS

By R. R. Reppert, Entomologist.

Reports from various sections of the state indicate that garden crops are being cut off by cut worms, and as soon as cotton appears, it is almost certain that heavy losses to this crop will occur. We consider the situation as serious.

Cultural measures at this time will be of little avail. Dependence must be placed now in the poison bran mash, made up as follows:

Wheat bran.....25 lbs
White arsenic or Paris green...1 lb.
Cane or sorghum molasses
(avoid corn syrup).....2 qts
Water enough to make a wet mash that can be readily sown.

Lemon.....6 fruits

Mix the poison thoroughly with the bran. Squeeze the lemons and grind the rinds in a meat chopper, and add both to two gallons of water; add to this also the molasses. Now mix the liquid thoroughly with the bran-poison mixture so every particle is wet. The mash should be thoroughly moist, yet when sown it readily falls apart.

Application of the mash.—Damage may be expected to crops over patches where weeds or grass were growing just previous to soil preparation, or bordering weedy fence rows. Here it may be well two or three days before the crops appear above the ground to sow the mash broad cast using 25 lbs to two or three acres. In case the worms attack the plants after these show above ground, whether in garden or field, place about one-fourth tea-spoonful at the base of each plant, or in the case of row crops, apply a thin stream of the mash along the rows.

Wingless May Beetles.—The same poison bran mash will control the Wingless May Beetle, otherwise known as the "Four-o'clock Bug" if sown where they are found doing damage. We anticipate an infestation of these this spring.

Grasshoppers.—We do not anticipate a general heavy infestation of grasshoppers. Sow the bran mash if they appear.

Dr. Millard F. Swart, of Lubbock, who makes regular trips to Brownfield, has been appointed assistant chairman of Zone 2, Texas Optometric Association, which position is altogether deserved by this prominent young optometrist.

DO NOT LET CANDIDATES FOOL YOU

On numerous occasions Farm and Ranch has called the attention of its readers to promises made them by candidates for office, which under no circumstances are possible of fulfillment without throwing the Constitution in the discard and making the governor an absolute monarch. Farm and Ranch is not in personal politics and cares not whether the next governor be a merchant, laboring man, farmer, preacher or millionaire, just so long as he makes a good governor. Farm and Ranch is for good government and does not believe that any candidate who makes impossible promises and seeks to influence voters by deceiving them is capable of making that kind of a governor.

In a recent statement preliminary to an announcement for the gubernatorial nomination on the Democratic ticket in Texas, a candidate makes the following promises, stating positively and without reservations or conditions that he will fulfill them, each and every one. Read them and then, in the light of reason, decide for yourself whether or not he or any other man can make such promises good.

I promise you, without reservation, to cut the taxes of this State 50 per cent.

I shall turn your penitentiary system into a gold mine.

I shall remove all taxes from your little car and put them on Lynch Davidson's limousine.

The multi-millionaire oil man will be made to pay the taxes on the gasoline you burn in your small car.

I shall see to it that your boys and girls have a plain, practical, Abraham Lincoln, Jim Hogg education.

I shall remove the babies from our teaching force and put in mature men and women and raise their salaries by 25 per cent.

I promise to do away with the textbook nuisance. You shall have books at cost. No foreign book company shall profit on the Texas taxpayer while I am your governor.

If I am elected governor, the boot-legger shall cease to ply his trade.

Every agency of the devil will be driven from Texas. I pledge you my honor that this shall be done.

It is not necessary to analyze these positive promises, because most of them, if not all, are so utterly ridiculous that no man capable of reading and reasoning believes that we have even one superman within the borders of this State. A governor who would attempt to do even a small portion of what this man says positively that he will do if elected, would have to assume the powers and duties of the Legislature and all the other departments of the government under our constitution. He would have to have power and authority in excess of that granted the late Czar of Russia. He would have to be more than a mere man.

A man who deliberately makes promises of such an impossible nature is either grossly ignorant of the Texas constitution and the powers of the governor, or else he is deliberately trying to deceive the voters and appealing to classes. If the former be

Hair's Change Never

Explained by Science

To a recent number of T. P.'s and Cassell's Weekly, Prof. J. Arthur Thomson—who is a kind of self-appointed British pope of popular science, and a very good one, too—elucidates the causes that make people's hair turn gray.

The subject was dealt with very successfully a number of years ago by Professor Poulton, the Oxford entomologist, in his book, "Animal Coloration," on which Professor Thomson is evidently basing his own ideas.

The story of the responsible bankers whose hair turned gray in a single week during times of crisis like the World war is probably quite true. Such cases are not uncommon in history. Marie Antoinette's hair, for example, is said to have turned white in a very short time as a result of emotional distress; and similar instances are recorded by a number of medieval writers.

The sudden change of color is due to the intrusion of little bubbles of gas into the substance of the hair, which reflects the light and prevents the pigment, which is still present, from showing. When hair goes gray more slowly, it is—or so Metchnikoff believed—due to the officious activity of white corpuscles which have got into the bad habit of prowling up into the hair and devouring the pigment.

Many fur-bearing animals change color with the weather, and the mechanism involved in these changes appears to be very much like that which affects human hair.

British Expert Sees

Addition to Wealth

Experiments in producing oil from coal, in which various science departments at Birmingham (England) university have been collaborating for three years, have shown that 61 per cent of liquid can be extracted from Lancashire coal by powdering it and subjecting it to very high pressures of hydrogen gas, Professor Nash, who has taken a leading part in research, when asked as to the significance of the discoveries from the standpoint of industrial utilization of British coal resources, said he was only able to announce that the laboratory tests had demonstrated oil could be got from coal. The commercial exploitation he was not competent to discuss. The liquid products have not been investigated in detail, but apart from small proportions of unidentified substances they consist of hydrocarbons which are basis of all fuel oils. South Staffordshire coal gave 37 per cent of liquid, while a South Wales coal gave 29 per cent.

As Dad Sees It

"My boy," said the Billville father to his literary offspring, "this here so-called 'fire of genius,' is well enough in the lazy, dreamful summertime, but when the winter wind is rambling in the hollows and cavortin' round the frosty hills, it can't hold a tallow candle to cordwood and hard coal. Here's a new ax that has never cut down a pine saplin', or a oak tree, and split 'em to kindling wood. Suppose you christen it, and make the chimney blaze? There's no better way to keep your college athletic exercises. It beats an apple a day for downright good health and spirits. So roll up your sleeves and get busy."—Atlanta Constitution.

Ears That Tell Ages

To ascertain the age of a horse, if not too old, it is usual to examine its teeth. To tell the age of a fish, regardless of age, you look into its ear.

In the internal ear of a fish there is a little bony pocket. In this pocket is a tiny stone called an otolith, which rolls about as the fish tips this way and that, and so helps it to know if it is right side up. As the fish grows older, says a writer in English Mechanics, the otolith grows larger, and the age of the fish may be determined from its size.

true, he is unfitted for the duties of governor. If the latter be, he is stooping to political trickery, such as he condemns in another section of his published statement, and should not receive consideration at the hands of the honest voters.

Whoever may be your choice for office, whether it be that of governor or justice of the peace, analyze his promises. Texans have too often been fooled into voting for incapable men because they have pledged themselves to do the impossible. Let us put capable, efficient and good men in office.—Farm and Ranch.

The United States produced the enormous amount of 16,000,000 bales of cotton in 1925, and the prospects are good for the production of another bumper crop, as a great acreage will likely be planted if there is not too much damp, cold weather in the east. Another crop like that of last year can mean nothing else but 10 cent cotton. Yet, if it comes, the people of this section can raise cotton cheaper than any other section in the world.

Another period of open season for killing their neighbors has broken out at Herrin, Ill., and as a result there was five more funerals, not to say anything about those laid up with various and sundry wounds. Under ordinary circumstances the Herald is opposed to deportation, but we sometimes think the governments of Illinois or Uncle Sam should step in at this place, pay the inhabitants a reasonable price for their property, and drive the anti one way the ku klux the other, and maybe when they came to a good town where people obey the law they would become amalgamated and civilized enough to make good citizens.

Luther Burbank has quit the walks of men to enter the great beyond, of which he expressed serious doubts as to its existence, so far as another life is concerned. It always seemed very strange to the Herald that the very men who delve most into plant life with their vast secrets and deep mysteries, and those who scan the sky for new stars and worlds, are most commonly those who deny the resurrection and a life beyond this vale of tears. But the Herald is not condemning Luther Burbank because it disagrees with him, but believes the world is better in a material way for his having existed, and we are willing to cast the mantle of charity about his memory.

Two common, ordinary, Dawson county farmers were talking the other day while sitting in a store. One of them said to the other one, "How much cotton will you plant this year?" The one addressed said, "about 1250 acres, and about 250 in feed." The first said, "Well, I have about 1,000 acres in one field and I will plant about 750 of that in cotton and the balance in feed." Those men did not say those things as if they thought they were big farmers, but they are, and have lots of company in Dawson county. A thousand acre farm is no unusual thing in this country. Things are done in a big way here. Back east if a man was farming a thousand acres he would be called Colonel, but in West Texas is just as common and friendly as the fellow who cultivates a quarter section tract. It will not be unusual to see one market 300 bales of cotton in this county this year if things keep on as well as they have started.—Lamesa Journal.

HE WAS THE NEWSPAPER

You hear of one man newspapers now and then. Walter Fischer of Riesel was one himself. For twenty-two years he did everything there was to do about the Rustler. If there was a wedding notice or an obituary notice, Walter Fischer wrote it, put it into type with his own hands, dumped his stick, locked his galley for proofing and read his own proof, corrected his own errors, made up his own forms, set his own advertisements, ran his own press, folded his own papers, addressed them, carried them to the postoffice himself, mailed them, kept his own books, collected his own accounts, swept out his own office and decided his own editorial policy, consulting only the good of his neighbors, his town and his county, his State and Nation.

The other day they found Fischer dead in his shop. We are not told what last task occupied his busy old fingers, but we imagine he was "throwing in" the type, making ready for another week's composition, stacking up his leads and slugs in neat arrangement convenient for the next call, stopping now and then to step up "front office" and meet the wants of customers or exchange kindly talk with his friends. He had done the like for a thousand weeks and more, and with the method of the old time printer he was restoring the orderly disorder which the artists of the news stick have long been accustomed to.

Death came in search of a printer. He found Fischer and took him away—away from the little old Washington hand press and the rickety type stands with their rickety stools, away from the ink-smear walls where the brayer was wont to hang, away from the old spool cabinets that served for storing cuts and packets of tied-up type and odds and ends, away from the old office stove with its drunken stovepipe wired in perilous angles overhead and its base in a shallow box of ashes. After twenty-two years of the old shop Walter Fisher will be missing it now, even as the shop is missing him. Let us hope that somewhere in yonder world there is a corner with type and ink and imposing stone where an old printer of the vanishing school can hitch up his tripod, when he feels like it, to the case and "stick" better than his best earthly "string" and never grow tired at all.—Dallas News.

MRS. SAVAGE ENTERTAINS SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASSES

The lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Green was the scene of a party of merry young folks Friday evening when their daughter, Mrs. Ivey Savage entertained the Senior Boys (of which she is teacher) and Girls' S.S. classes of the First Baptist church.

Mrs. Savage proved herself a royal hostess, and not a dull moment passed. Indoor games of most every nature were played and all took an active and hilarious part. Miss Edna Brown, pianist, and the Edison furnished music between plays. Miss Lorena Copeland also gave a funny reading or two that anyone couldn't help enjoy.

The hostess served ice cream and angel food cake to the following guests:

Misses, Patsy Brazil, Ruth Welch, Grace Hulse, Rowena Hulse, Bernice Weldon, Leila Duke, Belle Williamson, Blanche Brothers, Lorena Copeland, Gladys Copeland, Marie Brown, Odell and Era Ball, Edna Brown, Helen Jackson, Eula Banks, Bessie Thompson, Jewel Graves, Mrs. Lynn Mrs. Chablis; Messrs. Marvin English, Sam Chambliss, Floyd Chambliss, Alfred Tittle, Earl Ball, D. H. Branton, Mr. Lynn, Frank Ballard, Jim Couree, Joe Price.

Editor Luke Roberts, wife and daughter of the Lovington, N. M. Leader were here shopping last Saturday and aid the Herald a pleasant call. Mr. Roberts says oil has actually been found in Lea county, together with worlds of gas, and he feels very optimistic for the future of his section.

Uncle Johnnie King, the big boss of the King Hotel, anted up for another year of the Herald recently. He said he wanted his name in the paper, so here goes Uncle Johnnie.

Editor Jim Greer of the Meadow Review was in our city one day last week and paid the Herald a fraternal call.

"A LITTLE KNOWLEDGE IS DANGEROUS THING"

To know "just a little" or "almost everything" about the title to a piece of property is just as safe as knowing nothing at all—and no safer.

Be certain you have complete, detailed, accurate and absolute knowledge that your title is valid before you pay away your money.

Possible you may be able to get such knowledge from people who abstract title "on the side."

But surely you are most likely to get it from specialists, who devote their entire time, energies, and brain power to making abstracts that are absolutely error-proof.

That means us in this town and county.

Come in and we will explain the service in detail.

Nervous hot flashes

"SOME time ago when in a very nervous, run-down condition," says Mrs. Martha F. Marlow, of Broken Bow, Okla., "I tried numerous remedies to try at least to keep going, but I could not. I was weak and tired—just no good at all. My back ached and I had hot flashes until I was so very nervous I smothered."

"I couldn't sleep and I was never hungry, and I kept getting weaker. I couldn't stand on my feet. This was an unusual condition for me as I had been pretty strong all along. I knew that I would have to do something, and that pretty soon."

"Some friend suggested that I take Gardui, and it certainly was a good suggestion, for after taking one bottle I could tell I was stronger and better. I didn't quit. I kept it up all through the change and did fine. I felt like a different person after I began taking Gardui."

Gardui has helped thousands of suffering women.

BILL NYE ADVERTISED A COW FOR SALE

Bill Nye, the humorist, once had a cow he wanted to sell and unblushingly advertised all her faults while naming a few virtues she seemed to have possessed. His advertisement ran:

Owing to my ill health, I will sell at my residence, township 19, range 18, according to the government's survey, one plush raspberry cow, aged eight years. She is undoubted courage and gives milk frequently. To a man who does not fear death in any form, she will be a boon. She is very much attached to her present home with a stay-chain, but she will be sold to anyone who will agree to treat her right. She is one-fourth hyena. I will also throw in a double-barreled shot gun, which goes with her. In May she usually goes away for a week or two and returns with a tall, red calf with wobbly legs. Her name is Rose. I would rather sell her to a non-resident, the further away the better.

Latest Methods of Confidence Men Described by American Bankers Association Official—Declares That Shrewder Schemes Than Ever Before Are Taking Peoples' Savings.

By W. R. MOREHOUSE,
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association.

ARTICLE NO. 1

MUCH of the distress of many people in America today is due, not to the fact that they have not had an opportunity to earn and save money, but to the fact that they have lost their savings in fraudulent schemes of one kind or another. Many a widow is in financial difficulty not because she was left penniless by her husband but because she lost her inheritance by investing it in "gold bricks." Many a bank depositor who once carried a fine balance is penniless today not because he did not know how to save but because he did not know how to invest.

Perhaps if I relate some wild-cat promotions that give an insight into the activities of investment sharks it will quicken a relentless determination to provide depositors with much needed advice in investment matters. I have come in personal contact with many cases, some of them almost unbelievable because of the very crookedness of the schemes to defraud, yet thousands of our hard-working savers have been led to invest their savings in these promotions. In giving the high lights of certain cases I am not drawing on my imagination in the least, nor am I relying on hearsay, but giving first-hand information.

Unbelievable but True
Many millions of dollars have been lost in oil. The sum is staggering. Into every corner of the United States the mails carry high-powered sales talk of great riches to be made in oil. Carried away by these promises, depositors quietly withdraw funds from their banks and send them on to wild-cat speculators. Not one out of a hundred has ever recovered the money he invested. Still wild-cat promotions continue to flourish, with a new crop of victims coming up to take the place of those who are forced out of the excitedly back to the derrick, wrench in hand.

"We have drilled to the 'Bell' sand!" the lecturer shouts, bringing cheers from every high-pressure salesman followed by a chorus of voices from the surprised audience. "We can bring in a 5,000 barrel well if we care to, but if we go deeper to sand we can get a 12,000 barrel adda. deeper! Go deeper! Go deeper! Go deeper!" he running because they have already lost their savings.

Listen to this one! It is a typical case. A tract of land, just ordinary land, nothing about it to indicate there is oil beneath the surface. An oil rig, a few tools, half a dozen strings of pipe are close at hand. A large show tent filled with chairs that will seat several hundred people. It is 10 a. m. The sun is shining brightly, and it is a glorious day.

Presently several large busses draw up loaded with people ranging in age from fifty years to eighty. A corps of high-pressure salesmen rush out to greet the arrivals and to assure them that they are most welcome to what will be the next great oil city of America. The aged and feeble minded are tenderly conducted to comfortable chairs under the big tent. In plain view of those seated as they peer out through the flap of the tent stands majestically the oil rig spattered with crude oil and nearby is the big oil sump also filled with oil. Through an ingenious circulating system oil from the sump flows into the well and back into the sump through a pipe in full view.

Religious Revival Methods
Presently the official lecturer calls the meeting to order. The impression he creates is that he is either a minister or has studied for the ministry. He opens the meeting with prayer for the success of the venture in oil. After prayer this sanctimonious gentleman tells how he has invested all of his own earnings and all of his children's savings in the venture, so confident is he that it is to be an oil gusher and all are to be made rich.

He charms his audience with his oratory. He impresses them with his honesty. He calls their attention to oil in plain view, intimating that it is from the well. And while he is painting before them, figuratively speaking, luxury and old age comforts if they invest in the "A-A" Oil Company, the foreman of the rig rushes in, his clothes spattered with crude oil. He is excited and almost out of breath as he reaches the sanctimonious lecturer. A few words are whispered. The lecturer's face registers great delight at the news. He turns back to his audience, a smile of victory on his face. The foreman rushes on down!" shout the salesmen almost in unison, followed by cheers from the listeners.

The zero hour is at hand. The time has come for the high-pressure artists to sign up the listeners for units. The salesmen "hit while the iron is hot." Nearly every listener is signed up. The few who hesitate are forgotten only moments

One by one these old people, under the spell of being rushed into the deal, pay over their cash, sign notes or turn over good securities for units in the "A-A" Oil Company.

This picture of an oil speculation may seem too crooked to be true, but it is a real story of how thousands of savings depositors, all past the age of fifty, lost over half a million dollars. This story is one of many hundreds that might be told, all of which have ended disastrously for millions of investors.

(Article II will reveal further fraudulent schemes for robbing workers of their savings.)

Truth and Advertising
Have Made America Great

Truth in news columns and advertising is the foundation of America's prosperity, Melvin A. Traylor, Second Vice President American Bankers Association, recently said, adding:

"Continuance of our prosperity rests chiefly upon continuation of the greatest of all causes for our present good times—truth in news columns, truth over the store counters and truth in advertising. World-wide acceptance of great discoveries and inventions has been due to the fact that the newspapers truthfully described them and the manufacturers truthfully advertised them. If deceit had been the general rule, if the motto had been 'sell quick and let the buyer beware,' the public would have turned against the new things. I recall one particularly large firm which three years ago began advertising its wares falsely, it is today hopelessly bankrupt.

"Wise advertising costs nothing. You have only to increase the sale of your products to the point that covers the advertising charge to enjoy the enlarged business without cost. The natural saving in overhead is expensed for dividends or for further expansion."

THE IDEAL TOWN

Something like a decade ago the idea took hold all over the country that aspiring towns should advertise. So, universally, chambers of commerce and citizens' committees and town councils began to think up slogans and the world was exhorted to "Watch Winkville Win" and "Boost for Bingville."

For a long time the making of the slogan seemed to be about all that was done in these local advertising enterprises. It never seemed to occur to anybody that people don't rush to a town and plead to be permitted to stop there because of its slogan. Many of the places have the most enticing slogans, also had the most wretched hotel accommodations. It was the common remark among those who attempted to drive an automobile through the country that the improved roads of the township were vastly better and safer than the main streets of the villages. These were frequently left so full of holes and ruts and cut up with elevated crosswalks that to drive a motor car over them faster than ten miles an hour was a perilous performance. Nevertheless at the entrance to nearly every village was the hostile warning that any one driving faster than a certain speed would be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. And village constables and justices of the peace were frequently in a league of watchful waiting to make good the threat.

This has changed now. A new spirit of hospitality is spreading. Nearly every town and village likes to be known for its courtesy to visitors. Pavements are of the best. Signs at the city limits welcome the stranger and hints without offense that his self-restraint in observing local speed regulations will be appreciated. The slogan is not necessary in such towns. The stranger not only watches but wishes the growth of a community in which he has been so kindly treated.

BRICK GARAGE

GRANDMA BRAGG HONORED

On Monday, April 19th Mrs. H. R. Winston and Mrs. Jack Stricklin, at the home of the latter, were hostesses to Grandma Bragg with a surprise birthday turkey dinner, it being her 68th birthday. The dinner guests were 60 years old or past, and were the following: Mesdames S. W. Jones, 54, L. C. Wines 60, Mrs. Daugherty 74, H. F. Adams, 73, M. J. O'Connor 62, Mrs. Ales 64, R. J. Hastings 60; Messrs. L. C. Wines 60, S. W. Jones 78, J. H. O'Connor 70, J. J. Knox 86. The other guests were the honoree's son, wife and little son, Geo. B. Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Burnett and children and the husbands and children of the hostesses.

In the afternoon a host of old time friends paid the honoree a surprise by coming in to chat with her, and brought many little lovely and useful gifts. The crowning event of the afternoon was a few choice old time violin selections by Grandpa O'Connor on a 260 year old violin, which was immensely enjoyed.

Many Civil War time stories and reminiscences of olden times were told by those present.

The afternoon passed only too quickly for those old people. Grandma in her own pleasing way thanked each one for the many nice gifts and the happiness each had brought her with their presence. The guests departed wishing her many more such birthdays.—A Guest.

THE LAST BOB WHITE

Oh, how they murdered poor Bob White today!
The Booming guns were heard on every side,
From early morning until evening passed away,
The frightened coveys scattered far and wide.
No spot on earth could hide him from his foes,
For keen of scent, the eager pointer came
And flushed him from the ground, and as he rose
He fell before the hunter's deadly aim.
But when the day was done and all was still,
And twilight's purple shades began to fall,
From off the summit of yon leafy hill I heard the echo of a lonely call.
It called into the night but all in vain,
Mr. Grady Brown and family left last Saturday for Snyder, Okla., where Mr. Brown will cook in a cafe.
For none of all its feathered mates was there
To send the call responsive back again
And come to meet him through the chill night air.
They say this wanton slaughter is not sin,
That birds and beasts were made for man's delight.
But, oh! there is such lonely sadness in
The plaintive calling of the last Bob White.

Bismarck's Interview

You recall that Bismarck lost his job as chancellor because he called Wilhelm down for talking too much. I was in a beer garden in Berlin. Saw Bismarck seated in solitary grandeur at another table, sipping a glass of beer. With Yankee temerity, I walked over and asked him for an interview. The old man looked at me angrily, rose in majestic wrath, drew his military cloak around him and bowed as he stalked out: "I do not give interviews. Ask the Kaiser; he talks."—William H. Crawford.

MANANGE HIM, BUT DON'T LET HIM KNOW IT

A wise old minister, before parting with a young couple he had joined in matrimony, used to slip a card into the bride's hand, on which was printed this advice: "When you marry him love him. After you marry him, study him. If he is honest, humor him. If he is generous, appreciate him. When he is sad, cheer him. If he is quarrelsome, ignore him. If he is slothful, spurn him. If he is noble, praise him. If he is confidential, encourage him. If he is secretive, trust him. If he is jealous, cure him. If he likes society, accompany him. When he does you favor, thank him. When he deserves it, kiss him. Let him think how we you understand him; but never let him know that you manage him.—Detroit Free Press.

Rite of Fire Walking Still Deep Mystery

Despite investigations of competent observers, the famous Tahiti fire-walking ceremony still remains a secret of a small company of natives in the island of Raiatea, Tahiti.

The ceremony was given on this island recently for the first time in many years and outsiders were not excluded from witnessing any stage of the preparation of the fire pit.

When the proper time comes and the celebrants pass through the fire, any bystander asking permission may go through beside them without discomfort.

Outsiders who have passed through the fire say they felt no sensation of heat except on the face, although, when standing outside, the radiation made the pit difficult to approach.

Those trying to solve the mystery have pulled out a large stone from the pit while the ceremony was in progress and thrown it into a pall of water. The water would go up in steam. Some also have tried crawling to the edge of the pit and touching one of the white stones with the finger. They were rewarded with ugly burns.

Scientists who have seen the fire-walking have propounded a number of theories, but practical tests always failed to establish such explanations.

The ceremony, harking back to heathen times and the worship of old gods, is frowned on by the missionaries and the Christians among the natives. Hence it is seldom performed, even in Raiatea, the place of its origin.

Unable to Duplicate Paper Made Long Ago

Who ever thought when some of the bulky old volumes were published that in time the few blank pages in front and in back would be the most valuable part of the whole book?

That time seems to have arrived, for it is told that a distinguished British etcher spends many of his spare hours searching through old book stores and waste paper depositories for the massive and wholly unread volume of other days. For years he has been tearing out the clean leaves to get paper that is paper, and is not an assembly of all sorts of modern make-hifts, which will disintegrate after a few years.

The books, many of which are so dry and ponderous that some of the leaves remain uncut, can be bought for a few cents. The paper, it is said, is not duplicated today, and, if it were, the price would be prohibitive.

Animals Get Good Food

Old and wornout horses in London are bought by the managers of the zoo, made fat and sleek, then slaughtered and fed to the animals, the number of horses thus disposed of last year being 440. And the walrus colony must have codfish, so nearly five tons were fed to them, besides 40 tons of herring, while other articles of food for the animals included 14,000 tins of milk, 128 pounds of honey, 258 pounds of ants' eggs, 77 pounds of meal worms, 150 bunches of onions, 213,000 bananas, 343 gallons of fresh milk, the food bill for the year reaching $50,000.—Adventure Magazine.

Sediment Carried to Sea

It is generally believed that the amount of sediment carried down by the Mississippi river is greater than that of any other river in the United States. A vast amount of this sediment is brought into the Mississippi by the Missouri. It is estimated that a flood of 500,000 cubic feet per second carries into the Mississippi about 120 cubic yards of sediment per second, or more than 10,000,000 cubic yards per day. It is estimated that 400,000,000 cubic yards per annum are carried into the Mississippi from the Missouri and that approximately the same amount passes out into the gulf.

Rainfall in Palestine

Palestine is essentially an agricultural country. Its rainfall averages 21 inches a year, which is about as much as California receives. Palestine has really only two seasons in its year—a dry one, in the summer, and the rainy or winter season. The latter begins in October or November with the "early rain," and thereafter rain is frequent, with occasional snow in the mountains, until February. In that month the planting takes place. Then, in March and April, the "later rains" occur and start the crops along.

Making It Worse

A ladies' ready-to-wear shop in which I was working was having its spring opening. There were many wax models dressed up and standing around. Crowds had been coming all afternoon. I was standing in back of a woman and all of a sudden saw her bend forward. I thought it was one of the wax models falling, so made a sudden grab at her. My action was so abrupt, and I was so embarrassed, that I made it worse by saying, "Oh, excuse me, I thought you were a dummy."—M. L. W. in Chicago Tribune.

FERGUSON AND MOODY IN MUD-SLINGING CONTEST

Moody says Ferguson cheated the state and attempts to prove it. Ferguson says Moody cheated the State and offers proof. The proof looks good on both sides alright, but what's the use of keeping up the "cheat" longer than the expiration of the present official term? The back yard is the place for this pair to pull off their scrap.

Two years ago the fight of Ferguson was to clear his name or expunge the impeachment record. His wife's name was used and he openly declared "it would make no difference who signed on the dotted line."

With the Ku Klux in the political field and Ferguson in the final run the victory was overwhelming, with the Ku Klux the leading offender among many people violating their political pledges while heaping all manner of abuse upon Mr. Ferguson. Much of such abuse being continued in most unreasonable fashion after the voters of the State had spoken their verdict in a manner not to be easily misunderstood.

The Legislature gave the Fergusons—not what they wanted—the amnesty bill, which Mr. Moody promptly declared unconstitutional.

This, naturally, muddled the waters in the Ferguson plan for the clearing of their political title and Mr. Ferguson charged then, that "Moody that he was running for governor."

Whether Mr. Moody so thought and planned we do not know. But subsequent events have proven that Mr. Moody has been, or at least it so appears, fully as much concerned in his own personal ambitions as in serving the State. And somewhat presumptuous in swallowing the idea whole that he is the one political Moses to lead the people in giving the Fergusons a knockout blow, with a force of uncompromising condemners of Ferguson from the ranks of the Klan and the fighters of the Klan both of whom are carrying the flag in a fight that evidently has its chief battle ground in the field of bitterness. A fight which hopes to gain additional support as bitterness is increased in the waging of the battle of mudslinging personalities.

Mr. Moody is not a member of the supreme court and his ruling is of no affect should the court rule otherwise and the people of Texas have voted once for the Fergusons where their chief plea was the clearing of the name.

The Fergusons have been vindicated by the people in reasonable manner and it was openly stated in the last campaign that this was all they wanted and a second term would not be sought. Hence the chief excuse at this time is Moody; whom it is charged, made his ruling and has kept up the fight to boost his gubernatorial aspirations.

Moody's chief excuse is Mr. Ferguson, whom he appears to insist, needs a particularly thorough drubbing by the advancement of a man not yet old enough to be governor and whose political record to date would indicate that he, like Ferguson, is chiefly concerned with personal promotion and honors, with the affairs of State a secondary matter.

The fight of Mr. Ferguson is strictly for Ferguson, the fight for Mr. Moody and the State of Texas is called upon to grow bitter in a scrap against the other rather than for the State's good.

Pessimistic View of Life Not Warranted

"Not to be born is best, and next to die as soon as possible." This was the pessimistic view of life expressed by Sophocles. Most philosophers and intellectuals of ancient times agreed with him. Life was looked upon as an enigmatic affliction rather than a divine dispensation.

"These diagnoses were based upon a mere consideration of symptoms. They were made in almost complete ignorance of the underlying physical causes of human misery," is the assertion made by Dr. Eugene Lyman Flisk in Forbes Magazine.

"Many years of experience in sifting and sorting human types, in searching for the causes of physical failure, have convinced me of the falsity of this pessimistic philosophy. No one would wish to live in a world absolutely devoid of struggle, pain, grief or suffering.

"The world is as we view it. If we view it through billious colored spectacles it is a billious world. I have seen a man with big brain and dominant personality, fundamentally capable of a joyous, self-confident existence, wholly transformed into a pessimistic and walling misanthrope by so crude a thing as flat foot. Others have been similarly affected by poisoned or infected physical states, while sometimes the reverse is true and the body suffers because they are unhappy; others are unhappy because they slump."

Mr. Pooh Waited Long, but Opportunity Came

Mr. Waldemar X. Pooh, inventor and manufacturer of the Do-able-Cross bucket for catching lambs, writes as follows: "I was just a clerk when my opportunity came. I had brought some papers to the president of the company—he was in conference, as usual—when the third vice president, the best-dressed man I ever saw before he took to stripes, said: 'Let us ask Pooh.' The directors took one look at me and laughed; but the third vice president hushed their mirth.

"We are in desperate straits," he said gravely. "Everything else has failed. What have we to lose?"

"Then he turned to me and in the tone of one who is almost beaten, inquired: 'Pooh, what word of five letters means a cold dwelling-place? We can only think of a New York apartment!'"

"For a moment the circle of worn, tense faces upset me, but I pulled myself together. 'Igloo,' I cried, and as the room rocked I knew that my chance had come."—Kansas City Star.

Beloved Old Gossip

For 100 years the world has enjoyed the indiscreet and delightful confidences of Samuel Pepys, a writer in the Mentor remarks. There is a marvelous array of women in the diary: women of station and artisans' wives and serving maids and titles and actresses, and the wife who was only fifteen when she married him. He loved them all, including his wife, of whose beauty he was proud—and jealous, too. He was stingy with her till shortly before she died, along toward the end of the diary; but Pepys shows his pride in such an entry as this: "My wife extraordinarily fine today in her flower tabby suit . . . everybody in love with it, and indeed she is very fine and handsome in it."

All who think they can grow fat and happy at the glorious passtime of denouncing either are at perfect liberty to do so and there is no law in Texas against acting the political fool. In fact the way we have been going in recent years it has rather come to be a custom to do this.—Greenville Banner.

CHEVROLET ADDING MANY NEW LOCAL DEALERS

During the last seven months the Chevrolet Motor Company added 1,619 direct and associate dealers in all parts of the country, an increase of more than 27 per cent.

The continued and steady growth of industrial development in the south and the expansion of its goods roads system is reflected by the greater increase in dealer representation in southern territories.

Almost the total selling force of the average motor car company is represented alone in the number of new dealers added to the Chevrolet organization. Demand for sales franchises demonstrates the decided favor accorded the new improved Chevrolet by the buying public throughout the country.

Smaller communities, with the augmented sales force afforded by the additional associate dealers, will be assured of adequate service close at hand, while the direct dealers, generally located at county seats, will be assured of a more thorough coverage of their outlying territory.

Typical of the increased buying power of the south are reports on new dealers from four of the larger representative branch offices. Atlanta, Ga., zone headquarters, reported 107 new dealers handling Chevrolet cars; Memphis, Tenn., 109 new dealers; Charlotte, N. C., 68 and New Orleans, 52 new dealers.

Minneapolis and Des Moines showed the largest number of new dealers acquired in the northern areas.

HARMONY COMMUNITY PLANTING CHURCH CROP

Mrs. C. S. Cardwell was in Saturday from the Harmony community and informed us that the people of that community had rented some 80 acres of farm land from Mrs. Ervin Rambo, and were going to raise a crop on it until they are able to pay for a community church to be used by all denominations.

They met in the field Wednesday the 14th and listed the land, finishing by three in the afternoon. There were fourteen lists in the field, eleven of which were single row and 3 double-row lists.

A captain was elected, at whose call the community will gather in the future to plant the crop, and at intervals meet to cultivate the crop.

This is a move in the right direction as it will not cost anyone anything except a little spare time he has on his hand, and which will be given gladly, no doubt.

own. American supremacy in the allied arts and sciences has been acknowledged by the world.

The great economic progress of the nation has been made possible by laboratories, most of which are integral parts of colleges and universities. Most of the laboratories are manned by university trained men and women, and no laboratory but has a majority of its workers from the state institutions of higher learning.

Texas college and university laboratories have been a direct great financial benefit to the State. Commercial use of the Texas lignite coal beds, as an instance, was made possible through experiments conducted by the university of Texas. In the Texas A. & M. College laboratories the cattle industry of Texas was sav-

WE NOW HAVE MANY MODERN UNIVERSITIES

Fort Worth, April 22.—Time was when Mark Hopkins at one end of the log and a student at the other was a university.

Today a university is far different in America. Mark Hopkins has been succeeded by thousands of teachers of equal ability. The student at the other end of the log is now multiplied 800,000 times in American institutions. There are today more than 1,000 universities, 184 of which are major institutions, and every one of which is taxed to its capacity.

Instruction offered in these schools is the best in the history of education and even graduate students no longer turn their eyes to Europe, as American institutions have come into their Elder A. L. Burnett carried a Mr. Moore of the Newmore community to Stephenville last Wednesday night, the latter being called on account of the death of his father. They returned Saturday.

Tom May, manager of the Shamburger Lumber Co. here, failed to report for duty Saturday morning as old man flu detained him at home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell were called by wire to Marshall last week to attend the bedside of his sister, Mrs. Slater, who was considered seriously ill.

Ben Hurst, manager of the Cicero Smith Lumber yard, was laid up with a case of flu the later part of last week and the forepart of this week.

Mr. J. C. Johnson, General Manager of the Cicero Smith Lumber Co., with headquarters in Fort Worth, was a business visitor here recently, being the first trip he has made over this section since he lost his wife several months ago. He seemed to be well pleased with the outlook of this part of the State and Brownfield in particular.

B. H. Collins, alleged slayer of Frank Howard, was released from custody at Tahoka about ten o'clock last Wednesday morning after making a satisfactory bond to Sheriff F. M. Ellington in the two cases. The case will await the action of the grand jury which meets in July.

Miss Anna Lois Easley, our County Health Nurse, is assisting Miss Anna Buckner, Lubbock County Health Nurse, in a dental clinic there this week.

MEADOW BRIEFS

By Aesculapias

The past week appeared quite dull among the merchants, while on the other hand farmers were quite busy. In every direction four and six horse teams were moving the dirt.

Some few have begun planting feed, but most of them seem to regard it rather early, claiming the ground is too cold, and that stuff will grow off better after the ground gets warm. It is the same old discussion that was indulged in when I was a lad.

A representative of the Lubbock Avalanche was in our midst during the past week gathering material and money—especially the money—for a writeup of the village and its adjacent territory.

The article appeared in the Sunday paper, and appears to have gotten badly scattered, at least subheads and short squibs were mingled with items from other places.

Some of our citizens are put in the poultry business that have perhaps a dozen hens with an antiquated rooster of a very doubtful age and pedigree.

We find no fault with the subject matter nor with the writers, but certainly the arrangement could be improved. A little more time, could even have improved the writeup.

It is rumored out loud that we are to have a public park in the near future with a band stand and other paraphernalia. The land has been bargained for and nothing to do but to pay for it. That's easy.

Most of our people spent Sunday at the singing convention, held at Prairieview, usually known as Old Meadow. There was a large crowd which swamped the small school building. The singing was fine that I was able to hear through the open windows.

It was interesting to note the number of pretty and stalwart, gallant boys trudging about the grounds and banked in cars. The average girl is very much slimmer than the average in my boyhood. It isn't a particle of trouble to pack two boys and two girls in a Ford roadster—have seen five—and never heard any complaints of over-crowding. Boys who could not hold their little sister or brother for even five minutes becomes a martyr, uncomplaining, with the proverbial patience of Job, and can be sat upon for hours.

Mr. T. D. Collins and wife, living a few miles east of town are the proud parents of an eleven pound boy—and Tom was still alive at last accounts.

Ford Highest in Quality Lowest in Price

The finest steels available are used in the manufacture of Ford cars. The plate glass for windshields and windows is as perfect as can be made. Upholstery material contains a larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified—even for much higher priced cars. The basic features of Ford design have never been improved upon by any manufacturer.

No other car offers greater dependability. The Ford car has won the favor of millions of users under every conceivable motoring condition. Its convenience is known and appreciated the world over; its performance is taken for granted.

Such quality is possible at Ford prices because every operation, from mining of ore to final assembly, is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company.

Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Glass comes from Ford glass plants; wood from the Ford timber tracts in the North. Raw materials and finished products are carried over the Company's own transportation routes; coke ovens, blast furnaces, a steel mill, foundries and saw mills—all are part of this complete organization. There are even salvage plants, paper mill, cement plant, etc., to transform waste materials into useful by-products.

In this way every possible economy is effected. Under no other circumstances could Ford quality be had at Ford prices.
