Chamber of Commerce CURRENTS By the Secretary

The Chamber of Commerce working in connection with the United States Labor Bureau at Fort Worth is going to undertake to supply our cotton growers with pickers when needed, but in order to do this full co-operation is needed. We must know about what date cotton will be opened enough that a picker can gather at least 150 pounds per day, also the price paid with board and without board, also whether houses can be secured or whether pickers will have to furnish their own shelter. Labor is going to be scarce this year on account of the fact that the crop will mature about the same time in Eastern and Central Texas that it does in our section and also other industries are absorbing all available common labor at present. Please advise this office as soon as possible as to number of pickers that will be needed and date that they can be used in order that the information may be passed to the Bureau.

To all those who are expecting to go on the New Mexico Good Will Trip, please be on the square at six o'clock with your car and park in the center of the street. Arrange to take one band man (either string or brass) in each car. Persons who are expecting to go but who do not have cars or are not members of the band, may find a seat in some one of the cars but will be expected to pay the gasoline and oil expense of the car in which he rides, unless he happens to get in a car that is owned by a man who is suffering from enlargement of the heart and refuses to let it be done. Arrangements have been made to have cots and bedding carried by trailer and those who expect to go, will deliver this stuff to Roy Harris at the Brick Garage not later than Sunday afternoon so that it can be loaded and ready to go.

In order that schedule can be carried out it is necessary for us to leave Brownfield not later than seven A.M. This doesn't mean get on the square at seven, it means LEAVE at seven and seven don't mean EIGHT. First stop made at Tatum, Caprock for luncheon, Roswell concert, Artesia concert, arrive at Carlsbad eight o'clock Texas time. Leave Carlsbad early on morning of 18th arrive Lovington for luncheon. Then Seminole, Seagraves and home.

Don't forget that Arthur P. Duggan, President, Homer D. Wade, Secretary A. R. Whitehead, Publicity Manager and B. F. Whitaker, Exhibit Manager all of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be in Brownfield on the afternoon of August 19th and will address our people on subjects of interest to all of us. Farmers are especially requested to hear them and all citizens are invited.

The meeting will probably be held in the new court house at about THREE P. M.

The band will play concert at Band Stand Sunday afternoon at FIVE o'clock.

By special invitation of Carlsbad they will play concert on the night of the 16th and combined concert with the Carlsbad band on the night of the 17th.

D. E. SNOW LOSES HOME AND BARN MONDAY

D. E. Snow, who lives about twelve miles west of Brownfield suffered the loss of both his house and barn and practically all the contents Monday afternoon about one o'clock.

It seems that no one was at the house at the time save Mrs. Snow, when an oil stove she was using exploded, which quickly covered the home in flames and spread to the barn, wiping it and contents out also.

Many of the neighbors as well as citizens of Brownfield helped the family in a financial way this week.

TO THE VOTERS OF TERRY COUNTY

I wish to express my thanks to those who supported me in the first primary. I tried to conduct my campaign in a clean and courteous manner, and I have no ill will toward those who did not support me.

I am in the runoff, but as my opponent is an ex-soldier and cripple, I am withdrawing from the race.

Yours Respectfully,
T. C. Hogue.

Preparing for the Big Show

SERIOUS FIRE EARLY SATURDAY IN GROCERY

Fire that is said to have originated in the Murphy grocery store was discovered about day light Saturday morning, after the night watchman had gone home. And having started from an oil stove it was hard for the firemen to handle, although it was extinguished without serious loss to the building which belonged to A. M. Brownfield.

As a market was run in connection with the grocery, Mr. Murphy decided to have barbecue for sale, and lit the oil stove and stepped out for something. Upon his return, the stove had exploded and the building in flames. The fire alarm was immediately turned in, but as the night engineer at the plant was down in the well, he failed to hear the telephone, but other alarms aroused the fireman, who quickly responded with the fire truck. And again, the Brownfield volunteer firemen have proved their worth to the town.

Insurance was carried both on the building and the stock, and Mr. Murphy informed us this week that as soon as he got an adjustment, he would stock up again.

J. L. HANKINS LETS CONTRACT FOR 25x100 BRICK

Mr. J. L. Hankins, of Abilene, who owns considerable ranch property in Taylor and Hockley counties, and some real estate in Brownfield, let the contract last week for a one story brick building 25x100 feet on east Hardin street, adjoining the Rialto Theatre on the east.

Cicero Smith Lumber Co. got the material bill, and Mr. J. J. Clements, of Lubbock got the contract for construction. Material has been ordered and will be put on the ground as soon as it arrives.

We failed to learn just who will occupy the building when it is completed, or what line of business they will carry.

CYCLONE DESTROYS HOUSE RECENTLY

Twelve miles southeast of Seminole Judge Phillip Younge has a farm upon which was a three room residence in which his tenant lived. Wednesday night a week ago a small cyclone dipped down and literally tore it to pieces leaving the floor on top of the remains of the house but the inmates escaped without injury. Forty feet from the house some sheet iron was loosely laid on a roof and was perhaps not over 50 feet in diameter.

Judge Garland related the incident to the Reporter man and says there is no question that it was a real twister. This is the first real twister we have heard of on the plains.—Lamesa Reporter.

U. S. TO MAKE NO POTASH SURVEY HERE

Secretary J. E. Shelton of the Chamber of Commerce has had considerable correspondence with the Department of the Interior at Washington recently in regards to using some of the $100,000 appropriated by the recent Congress, to investigate the potash possibilities here to see if they were in commercial quantities, but so far, all the communications have been rather discouraging, in a way.

They make it rather plain, however, that only shallow borings so far have been made here, and owing to the fact that they were considered rather low in potash percentage, most of the money appropriated will be made in the vicinity of Midland, Texas, where deep borings have already been made. They also indicate that the Permian beds will have to be reached to indicate the potash possibilities here, but do not state just how deep they are likely to be.

They were informed by Mr. Shelton that a deep test well for oil and other minerals is about to get under way in this county, and they informed him that when this was done, we may get some attention, by calling on their representative in Texas, Mr. W. B. Lang, who seems to have headquarters for the time at Midland.

Just whether the government has made any tests of the recent findings by the parties developing tests on the Brownfield ranch, is not clear, but it is believed they have not, as the data of tests sent Mr. Shelton indicated tests made here in 1919.

A. C. C. STUDENTS TO GATHER AT LUBBOCK

ABILENE, Aug. 7.—Students of Abilene Christian College are planning a big reunion at Lubbock on Sunday, August 22. Students from all the plains country will attend and a number of faculty members, including President Batsell Baxter. Preaching at Church of Christ, a basket dinner, speeches and songs, are planned in afternoon.

Enrollment of Abilene Christian College this year promises to be the biggest in its history. More than three fourths of the rooms in the dormitories are already reserved. Faculty increased to thirty seven and additional room is being provided.

The editor was invited out to the George Bragg residence, Sunday, and enjoyed a splendidly cooked and served home meal with this excellent family. We hope they enjoyed it as much as we.

Mrs. W. V. Chapman left this week for Dallas where she will buy the fall and winter stock of dry goods and ready to wear for the Chapman store.

Alfred Daniel and sister, Miss Lois, of Seminole, are here this week visiting friends and relatives.

CITIZENS PREPARING FOR THE TRADE TRIP

Mr. Shelton of the Chamber of Commerce tells you elsewhere in this issue about the details of the trade trip which is to start next Monday. This is the largest and will consume more time of anything ever undertaken by Brownfield in its history, and ought to mean much in financial returns, a better feeling of our neighbors to the west of us, as well as a real pleasure to those who will be able to make it.

Indications now are that a large and representative delegation will go from here, together with the band and advertising of one description and another will be carried.

Let us hope that all who go will act themselves like gentlemen and ladies in order that our coming among these people, many of whom are now strangers, will reflect credit and a good feeling toward us in future years.

SUNDAY MAIL TO START AGAIN SOON

Very likely Brownfield people will be enjoying Sunday letter mail again by Sunday, according to Postmaster J. C. Bohannon, as the railway postal employer for this section has made a deal with Mr. Abbott, who runs the stage line from here to Post to carry the mail to and from Brownfield to Post each Sunday. Mr. Abbott is awaiting the approval of the contract at Washington.

As most of our mail comes in from the east, by getting it at Post instead of Lubbock, we will get our letter mail each Sunday at about the time it is received in Lubbock, or about noon. But when we got it from Lubbock, it came in about three in the afternoon.

GIN MEN PUTTING THEIR PLANTS IN TUNE

The gin men of this city are putting the six plants here in tune for the long fall and winter run anticipated here, and when the first bale arrives, all six plants will be in shape to shove the fleecy staple through in record time. If the crop turns out as it appears at present, the plants here will very likely run all 24 hours, using two shifts at least.

In conversation with T. I. Brown local buyer and a good estimator of cotton yields, he informed us that he believed Brownfield will receive 20,000 bales this season. Of course he said, we may not gin over 15,000 bales here but the city he believes will easily get 20,000 bales.

Jack Holt and family, and Mrs. Dr. Graves and children returned this week from a visit with friends and relatives in Oklahoma. Thus another of our poor old summer bachelors will have his family at home for awhile.

SCOUTS GETTING READY FOR ENCAMPMENT AT POST

With the time set for the session of camp for the Boy Scouts of the South Plains Council final preparations are being made for conducting of the camp efficiently and on a business basis.

The camp this year will be somewhat different from last year's camp. There will be, of course, the same Scout requirements and the same Scout ideals to be lived up to, and the same spirit of Scouting; but the financial factor will be widely different.

Last year the Council paid almost four hundred dollars out of the Council funds in addition to the camp fees; but this year the camp must support itself. As a result, each adult leader will pay his camp fee, the same as the boys, instead of being admitted and entertained free. The fee this year is slightly higher than it was last year but that also is a result of the Council's inability to meet the financial burden of the camp. Ten dollars, however, is no more than it would cost; boy to live at home, including his board, and counting on some of the advantages and training and entertainments that will come in the Boy Scout camp; and ten dollars is the amount set for the ten day period of camp.

The camp site is not as yet a reality, as only a small part of the original program has been carried out; but if we accomplish nothing else during this camp, we want to teach every boy to feel, know and say, "This is our camp, it is for us. We will do this thing this year, build this trail, erect this monument—all for next year."

An excellent program has been arranged for and will be carried out. Too, there will be good, wholesome food, "served with a smile," on good tables and with good seats to sit upon. Squad tents, with a few small ones will make up the camp city. Water is piped down to "Company Street," electric lights in the kitchen, mess hall, under the arbor, and to the latrine, have been installed at a cost of something like fifteen hundred dollars, and we must teach these boys to say "OURS."

Swimming will be had at "Two Draw Lake" just northeast of Post since it has been impracticable to construct the dam for the camp lake. Two Draw is a good swimming place with boating and fishing. Also I will serve better than the sawmill pool out in New Mexico did last year.

WONDER DOG SAVES YOUNG GIRL'S LIFE

Rin-Tin-Tin, the well known Belgian police dog and movie actor, is today a Hollywood hero. Margare Faraway, sixteen, a resident of Hollywood, owes her life to the heroism of this wonder dog, who, by the way received his reward the prohibited piece of candy.

Miss Faraway, who was learning to swim, carried her ambition a little too far when she swam into depths far over her head. Unconscious of the fact that the water was nearly six feet deep, she became tired and tried to stand up. She could not regain her bearings and although she cried for help, there was nobody near enough to help her.

Fortunately, there was a life saver on shore that she did not count on. With one leap into the waves, Rin-Tin-Tin was on his way to the girl's rescue. She had gone beneath the water's surface several times before the dog reached her, but she was still conscious and able to grasp her rescuer's collar. Rin-Tin-Tin swam to safety and dragged Miss Faraway up out of the water.

Rin-Tin-Tin has played many heroic parts in the movies, but never before in real life.

Rin-Tin-Tin will be seen at the Rialto Theatre next Monday and Tuesday in "Below the Line."

Mayor Joe J. McGowan and family got in this week from their vacation in Colorado, returning home via Quanah and Paducah to visit their parents. Mrs. McGowan says Colorado is no cooler than Terry county in the day time, but much cooler at night. They enjoyed their vacation very much.

Mrs. J. E. Fitzgerald came in this week from Blackwell, Texas, where she had an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. G. P. Mahaffey.

Pampa—Clark well No. 2 comes in making 2,000 barrels 33 gravity oil.

FAIR WILL HAVE LOTS OF SPECIAL FEATURES

One of the funny stunts arranged by the Tri-State Exposition at Amarillo, September 21st-27th, is a race of automobile "Wrecks" over a hundred mile course. Each car must have only four tires, only one occupant, and the winner of the race must agree to accept an offer of one hundred dollars for his car if a buyer appears. The "Henrys" and "Lizzies" no doubt will be there in keen competition. The first prize is $200; second $150; third $100.

The "Old Fiddlers" contest will also come in for its share of attention, for among the old settlers of the Panhandle are many masters of the old "Arkansaw Traveler" popular in days gone by. First prize $10; second $5.

The Harmonica or French Harp contest is also attracting lots of contestants. The contest is open to the world, no age limit and any man, woman, boy or girl can enter as there is no entrance fee. The only restriction is that a Honer harmonica in the key of "C" must be used.

The catalogs are especially attractive this year, a great deal of care having been exercised in the make-up and printing. These catalogs are for free distribution and a word to Mr. Amacker, Assistant Secretary, will bring one immediately. The catalog contains a list of all premiums, amusements, special days and other information is well worth asking for.

Work on the Fair Grounds is progressing nicely. The Race Track and Auto Speedway is receiving special attention and on the opening day, Tuesday, September 21st, it will be the best and fastest track in this part of the world. The grand stand is also coming in for a great deal of attention, every detail being looked to carefully so as to facilitate the handling of the enormous crowds expected by the management.

Turn-stiles at the main entrance, another new innovation, will do away with the crush at the gate this year. Visitors will have many surprises in store for them as the association is denoting all its energies towards making this the banner year of the Tri-State Exposition. The Haynes Carnival Co. has been secured with its 20 high class shows and 60 unique rides and concessions, assisted by several full size bands. This Company plays only the highest class fairs and visitors this year can look forward to the biggest fair ever held on the Plains.

SANTA FE CROP REPORT TEXAS AND LOUISIANA

Cotton in east, south and central Texas lately has been benefited by good rains. Flea hoppers are present in many localities but little damage has been done. In west Texas and in the Panhandle cotton is in excellent condition, although rain is needed. There has been no trouble from pests in those sections. The state's cotton acreage is about normal. While it is too early to need dependable estimates, reliable dealers and growers express the belief that the yield will run from 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 bales.

The production of wheat, mainly in the western and northwestern counties and in the counties east of the Panhandle, likely will reach 30,000,000 bushels, of excellent quality. The bulk of the crop has been marketed.

Feed crops in all parts of the state are coming along rapidly. With rain soon in the sections where it is needed, enormous yields will be made, giving promise of a good year for livestock. Timely rains have kept pastures in fair condition.

Yields of melons, fruit and vegetables have been from fair to good. The market has been satisfactory most of the time.

In Southwest Louisiana the farm conditions are similar to those in east Texas. This is largely reclaimed timber country. New settlers are building it up rapidly.

Mrs. Robb Cook, of Levelland, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. C. L. Graham and children, of Winters, were here the past week visiting Mrs. Cook's sister, Mrs. A. Flache. These visitors together with Miss Mamie Sue Flache left Monday for Tatum and Roswell, N. M. to visit other relatives.

Smart New Rumble Seat For Sport Roadster

Rumble seats are justly popular. They add a smart, rakish touch to roadster lines, and increase the carrying capacity by two passengers.

That Dodge Brothers Sport Roadster now provides this convenience, will be welcome news to thousands.

Like the main seat, it is deeply upholstered in gray Spanish genuine leather, and the seat back is high and well pitched, providing unusual comfort.

When closed, the rear compartment is absolutely waterproof, even in rainiest weather.

Ample space is provided behind the main seat for golf clubs, suit cases, tennis rackets and similar luggage.

Brilliant pheasant green lacquer body and hood, strikingly in contrast with the tan top, black fenders and full special equipment, complete a general color scheme of exceptional dash and charm.

LUMBER INDUSTRY ADOPTING PROGRESSIVE POLICIES

Internal competition and individual rivalries have kept the lumber industry fully abreast of the times in mechanical and engineering improvements, but it has long been out of perspective with other industries, because of its failure to reorganize and readjust itself to profound changes in conditions affecting its economic stability. It has competed fiercely within itself, but has lacked the equipment for effective external competition.

Now, however, there is a general awakening on every hand. An ambitious enterprise is under way, for a national trade extension campaign which is to be based on research in science and merchandising. Many regional associations of lumber manufacturers are co-operating in trade extension operations. National lumber standardization is at last a fact, and paves the way for the rapid advance of modernized merchandising and advertising. Forestry is making rapid strides, and possibly 50 great corporations are already on a continuous production basis; their forests will yield and yet remain, and their mills need never move again.

A TOUCH OF OLD SPAIN

These entertainers have been brought to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia where 150 years of American Independence is being celebrated, by the Los Angeles County, California, Chamber of Commerce. The westerners have built a fine old Spanish mission in the Palace of Foreign, Civic, Fashion and Agriculture Display and there show the resources and advantages of their native heath. The musicians and dancers entertain all visitors who enter the patio to rest a bit after "doing the exposition." The Exposition continues until December 1.

Has Complete History of Spanish Mantilla

At last I have found the trail, Francis Milton exclaims, in exultant mood, in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Some years ago browsing in the archives of Palma in the Island of Majorca I came across a document which professed to give the history of the Spanish mantilla. Lately it turned up again among a mass of notes. The Spanish mantilla was originally a mark of shame for the femininity of loose morals of the day, a day away back before Goya and the Spanish painters took it out of its class and made it an appurtenance of the dress of the ladies of the court.

Originally the mantilla crossed its rather straggly ends of the time down over the breast in the form of a letter A. These brettles were red, one wonders if Hawthorne ever knew this. There's the plot ready made. One and another of most modern and ancient writers went and took what they wanted where they found it, a procedure which is ethically legitimate up to a certain point.

It should be remembered that the mantilla of today resembles very little that of the fairylake Island of Majorca, where the sun ever shines and the thermometer never falls very low. By a process of development it came to be what it is, but it was always a headdress. I put it that way, not being a fashion writer, but I vouch for the rest of the statement as supported by documentary evidence and only recount it here by the possibility of being able to drag in Hawthorne. That happens to be vivid in my mind because in my youth I once lived across the street from the House of Seven Gables. How the circles do cut in on one another, like those of the planetary system!

Herring Is Bread

What is to become of the people who live on the islands of the Zuyder zee in Holland when that sea becomes dry land? Pierre Van Paassen asks, in the Atlanta Constitution. As far back as human memory goes these people have been fishers. The sea is in their blood. "Herring is bread," as they say themselves. From their very youth their whole life is directed toward the sea. "Only idiots and fools stay on dry land," a wrinkled old skipper told us once. The little gamins in their wide trousers can hardly walk when they fashion a ship out of an old wooden shoe, fix it up with rudder and sail and float it on the ditch. When they come from school they first must see the harbor. Is there a trawler running in or a tugboat they shout: "Did you see father?" and "How much of a catch did he have?" Fish and the Calvinist sermons of the pastor are their life and breath. The Dutch government, it is said, will compensate them. Nevertheless it all means the end of a picturesque race. And it will be just as hard to make landlubbers out of these children of the sea as it is for Russia to make Jewish merchants into farmers in Crimea.

Students to Pay More

Students of Antioch college, Yellow Springs, Ohio, in a recent financial crisis of the college, voluntarily decided to increase their own tuition $50 a year. The vote was by secret ballot, and passed by a nine-tenths majority. Antioch students in general earn about two-thirds of their college expenses.

First to Name Stars

John Bayer's "Uranometria," first published in 1603, was the first book to use the modern system of naming stars, "alpha Orionis," the last part being the Latin name of the constellation and the former the Greek letter indicating the relative brightness of the star in the constellation.

College for Engineers

To supply trained engineers, especially for the automobile, motorcycle and bicycle industries, a technical college will be established at Wolverhampton, England. The total cost of construction will be about $800,000, of which one-third is to be paid by the county of Stafford and the remaining two-thirds by the city of Wolverhampton.

The buildings will be divided into five sections: (1) general and administrative, (2) biology, (3) commercial, (4) domestic, and (5) technical, comprising engineering production with workshops and drawing offices, material science, including chemistry, metallurgy, and general science subjects, mechanical and electrical engineering and building construction. It is intended to make provision for evening as well as day students.

Bromine From Sea Water

The strangest ship that ever sailed the seas left Wilmington, Del., recently on one of the strangest voyages that ever a ship sailed. This ship, called the Ethyl, is in reality a great floating chemical laboratory, equipped to extract the element bromine from sea water.

Bromine is a raw material useful in medicine, in photography and motion pictures, and in the manufacture of the ethyl fluid used in motor fuel. Through the last use of the world's supply the chemical has become greatly depleted, and the voyage of the Ethyl is the first step in an elaborate plan to find other sources of supply.

Monster Steam Boiler

The largest steam boiler in the world is being put in in Pittsburgh, Pa., by a heating company. There are six miles of four-inch steel tubing in the heating and condensing apparatus, with a heating surface of about three-fourths of an acre. The boiler is rated at 3,000 horse-power by the ordinary system of rating, but is capable of operating continuously at three times this capacity and for short periods at four times this rate. When at full load it evaporates 200 tons of water an hour.

Trains Negro Preachers

Each summer for seven years a negro preachers' institute has been held at Bettis academy, in the sand hill country of western South Carolina. Last year's attendance included 300 preachers and 190 teachers, and they spent four days in intensive subjects, under the leadership of Dr. James H. Dillard, president of the Leanes and Slater funds.

Danger in Acetylene Torch

The flame of an acetylene torch is injurious to the eye in proportion to its brightness. If it is so bright that on looking at it and then winking the eyes an outline of the flame can be seen on the retina, goggles should be worn. The effect is the same as that of looking directly at the sun. The parts of the retina affected are apt to be permanently injured.

Too Easy With 'Em

A Western banker, a little troubled with his English as most of his banking business is done in a German settlement, was attending a bankers' convention. He thought the bankers generally had been a little too lenient in making loans and said, "The trouble with us bankers is that we are too tam laxative."—Capper's Weekly.

There appears to be no end to my liking for nature; whether a tree is so leafy that it reduces the whole heavens to a few blue eyes, or whether the twigs are as thin and bare as the birds' legs that use them—it is all the same to me.—W. H. Davies, in Later Days.

One of our daily papers gave us a couple of pages of snow scenes in the comic supplement, Sunday. Well, that was some relief indeed. Mind over matter, we might say.

So we are to start out on our second "Fergusonism" and "Moodyism" campaign. Now isn't that interest (?) news. Pity Texas could have been spared this second heat of malice and hate.

The American girl is always a winner. Miss Gertrude Eberle, 19, is the first person of her sex to conquer the turbulent English Channel. She failed last year only to win this year. It is also worthy of note that she has lowered many male swimming records.

While Moody papers have been boasting of the young attorney general's clear majority over all his opponents of a little over 1,000, which has now been wiped out by official count, they overlook Supt. Marr's clear majority of 46,000 over both his opponents.

We note that the Santa Fe railroad is doing summer excursion advertising with most of our exchanges. The Herald does not share in this business, we guess, for the reason that we sometimes differ in our opinion with the Santa Fe policy. Oh, well, we somehow existed before the Santa Fe ever entered the county.

We certainly appreciate our collaborator in Terry county, the Meadow Review, but for some reason, either the slowness of Editor Greer or the pure cussedness of the mail service, we do not get our Review until Tuesday of the following week. What's the matter Jim?

An exchange says that the people are now weeding out the Davidsons from holding offices in Texas. Well when are they going to start on the Terrells? The Herald hopes, however, that some of the Terrells or Davidsons in Texas will try again for some of the offices in Texas that one man has been holding ever since we have been in Texas, some twenty-six years. They have sucked the public bottle long enough.

Many of our older heads have gotten into the habit of abusing our young people of this fast jazz age, and accusing them of being all wrong and headed for the penitentiary in the first place and hell as the last place. Have we truly, candidly and honestly investigated the matter? Well, someone has taken the trouble to investigate the matter for us in the Dearborn Independent, and they find that the great bulk of crime is committed by men and women between the ages of 35 and 45. Let's let up on the kiddies awhile and lambast the middle aged flapper and jellies.

The Herald wishes to welcome the Post, Texas, Post Dispatch to its exchange table, and we hope we have better luck than heretofore in keeping up the exchange. The new paper absorbs both the old papers, the Post and News, and appears as a seven column, eight page all home print paper, and was chock full of live news matter and advertisement of the home merchants. New machinery and types throughout the plant have been purchased by the publishers, Messrs. Warren & Warren, and we have the idea the Post citizens are going to feel real proud of their home town paper from this on.

The Herald is obliged to acknowledge it is not very enthusiastic over the run off race for governor. Under most circumstances it is willing to support most any person who have done reasonably well, for second term in office, but owing to the fact that the Ferguson's challenged Moody to quit office if he beat them, and have not done so, and don't seem to want to, we shall vote for Mr. Moody although we do not believe he will make a very strong governor for reasons we will not discuss at this time. Would Moody have resigned his office had he been defeated 25,000 votes by the Ferguson's? We have no way of determining this since the election went the other way, but let us have enough charity about us to believe that he had honor enough to make his word good. Let's give him a real strong vote in both the second primary and the general election this fall and pray that he may make us a great governor despite the handicap of special interests that have boosted his campaign.

FRIENDS SURPRISE MRS. HAMILTON ON BIRTHDAY

On Thursday afternoon, August 5th, Mrs. J. T. Hamilton was wonderfully surprised by a number of friends when they arrived at her home to commemorate her sixtieth birthday.

The guests assembled in the living room and after a good wish from all, Mrs. A. B. Bynum brought in the beautiful birthday cake, lighted with candles, which had been so skillfully prepared by Mrs. Chock Hamilton and also presented the honoree with many pretty presents, a token of their love and esteem.

Lovely refreshments of cake and ice cream were served, after which Mrs. Hamilton beautifully expressed her appreciation of their remembrance to her and that the day would never be forgotten.

Workmen for a seating company are busy this week putting in the seats and other furniture in the District Court room of the new court house in order to have it ready for District Court Monday week.

Headache dizziness

I HAVE headache once in a while, usually coming from constipation or torpid liver," says Mr. L. A. Morphis, of Pottsville, Ark. "and the very best remedy I have found to correct this condition is Theford's Black-Draught. It acts quickly and easily, and it just can't be beat. "Black-Draught is the very best laxative I have found. I always feel so much better after taking it. "My wife takes Black-Draught, too. For dizziness, costiveness and any little stomach disorder, we find it most satisfactory, and consider Black-Draught a family medicine." Constipation, with an inactive liver, locks up poisons in the body and allows them to do their dangerous work. Being purely vegetable and containing no harmful drugs, Black-Draught acts gently, helping the system get rid of impurities and preventing serious sickness. Get a package today. Sold everywhere. 25 cents.

CHEVROLET ADDS ANOTHER BIG IMPROVEMENT

New features and mechanical refinements adding still further to ease of operation and driving comfort, and striking new Duco colors characterize the "Smoothest Chevrolet" just announced.

A motor even more remarkable for smoothness of operation and new colors that reflect the latest and most harmonious blending of smart lines and artistic hues are revealed in this car. The new features are announced in the middle of the greatest sales year in Chevrolet history.

Among the more important new features included are the following: A new cross member, strengthening the motor support at the transmission housing, thus still further reducing vibration and at the same time adding greater ruggedness to frame and chassis; a re-designed cam shaft with cams scientifically rounded to eliminate noise; gas and spark controls mounted with horn button on top of the steering column, affording not only easier control in driving but also giving a more artistic appearance, an improved universal joint with trunnions operating in separate bushings to give longer wear and to afford easier access; a new battery and battery support, and a more sturdy tie-rod between the front fenders which permits a more rigid support of the head lights and their better focusing.

GRECIAN DANCERS AT THE SESQUI

These dancers have selected for their graceful performance the keystone shaped pool in the court yard of the Pennsylvania State Building at the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition in Philadelphia, which celebrates 150 years of American Independence. The spot is one of the most beautiful and artistic at the exposition site. The Exposition continues until December 1.

Old-Time Hosiery

Hose is really the old term for what amounted to our modern trousers and stockings combined, our ancestors at one period wearing a garment some thing like the "legginette" now so popular for small children.
The centuries passed and the fashions changed. First breeches and then trousers came in, and the old one-piece garment disappeared. We still kept its name, however, but only applied it to the tight-fitting covering of the lower limbs, and even this in time we took to calling by another name--the stocking. This name is a form of the word stock, which means in this case, part of the trunk.

Had Benefit of Climate

The homes of the ancient Romans were imperishable because they were erected in a climate wherein there was practically no freezing and thawing. The same mortars used in our climate have not been at all successful. Furthermore, the same stones used by the Romans give a comparatively short life in our country. The mortar mostly used by the Romans was a mixture of lime and sand. To this was added some natural occurring ground volcanic rock. This corresponds to what is known as puzzolana, which, as indicated, has not been found satisfactory here.

Supported by Eight

Calhoun Clay was a typical modern parent. As he loafed in front of the garage a minister stopped and said: "Cal, why don't you go to work?" "Scuse me, sah," Cal answered with dignity. "Ah's got eight chillun toe support--" "Well," interrupted the minister, "you can't support them by loafing here in front of this garage." "Scuse me, sah," Cal went on. "Law me ter finish mah remark, sah. Wot Ah means ter say is dat Ah's got eight chillun toe support me."

Pirate Perch Turns Sunfish Out of Nest

Sunfish are troubled with what may be called a marine cuckoo--the pirate perch. This fish, which is either too lazy or else incapable of making a nest of its own, waits until the sunfish have completed their nest and then turns them out, installing itself in their place. Its eggs are frequently laid among those of the original occupants. These, however, are not disturbed and hatch out in due course, says the Vancouver Province.

Perhaps the most interesting nest found under water is that of the black-nosed dace. The fish clears a space about two feet in diameter and the female deposits a layer of eggs. Then a layer of stones is gradually placed over the eggs, the stones being brought to the nest in the mouth of the dace. On these another layer of eggs is placed and then comes another layer of stones. These alternate layers of eggs and stones are slowly built up until the pile reaches a height of eight inches or so.

The black goby forms a home for its eggs like a ball. This is constructed of pieces of weed interwoven and bound together, the eggs being placed inside. As is often the case, the male builds the nest and, after the eggs have been deposited, takes it in turn to guard it.

Hardly Draw Breath During Winter Sleep

The mild weather sometimes observed during winter occasionally wakes before their time animals which have been spending the winter buried in the ground or in trees. While these creatures are asleep, often for months, respiration seems to be totally suspended.

A hedgehog was recently immersed in a pail of cold water, and though the ducking was continued for thirty minutes the animal was taken out unhurt. So slight was its breathing that practically no water entered its lungs.

Marmots and bats have been placed in glass chambers filled with carbon dioxide. In their normal state they have expired almost immediately; but in their winter sleep they have survived after four hours in the gas chambers.

Extreme cold will sometimes kill six months' slumbers, but there have been notable exceptions in the case of animals with cold blood. Occasionally fish have been brought to life when taken from solid blocks of ice; frogs have been known to recover after ice has formed in their blood.

No Baggage on K.o Cars

In Rio Janeiro there are strict limitations on the amount of baggage that may be carried by a passenger in boarding a street car. He may not ride on certain cars with a grip, valise bag or similar article larger than a vanity case. Neither can he travel in a first-class street car apartment with out a coat. Also it is required that all passengers wear socks when boarding the cars.

BEING A CANDIDATE'S WIFE

By Jannita Winston.

This did not settle the matter for my class, so I quickly put some sandwiches together. Then I thought of my neighbor and phoned her to bring her car, and we would take them to the lake for a picnic. And I don't suppose my class knows until this day that I had planned any other surprise.

It was several mornings afterwards that I had been unusually busy. Most of my time had been taken; enough that no dinner was prepared. My neighbor came over and brought a mess of venison. Now I was tickled to death for it was the first I had ever seen, not saying anything about tasting. I glanced at the clock and found I had twenty minutes to prepare the meat. Plenty of time. I had hardly assured myself than ting-a-ling went the telephone. Upon answering I found my husband talking.

"Say, dear, I'm bring the court officials to dinner." He announced this as calmly as though he was merely saying he'd be up in a few minutes.

"Well—" I couldn't find an answer. "Listen! don't go to any trouble," he went on to say. The receiver clicked as it went up on the other end of the line.

How I wished that my husband could only take my place in the kitchen for one day and let me call him twenty minutes till twelve and announce the court officials were coming to dinner. I bet it would have cooked him for such foolishness.

But this did not cook the dinner, so I flew in at once attempting to do it on time. I soon had six burners going, stuff boiling, stuff burning, stuff sticking to the pans. I fumed and toiled; then I thought: "What if there happened to be more than twelve?" I was thinking of the salad forks and just twelve pieces of venison.

Well, I can't say until this day how I managed it, but when I heard the familiar honk of our car, the dinner was most ready. My husband had expected more; he thought I should be standing at the door—but he was foolish. Quickly I powdered my shiny nose, changed my apron and straightened the pillows on the divan.

Then the introduction.

It was in short order: something like big bear, middled sized bear and wee bear. Each appeared capable of devouring twelve pieces of venison. The Judge was a heavy weight champion, then attorneys, and stenographers came in order according to size it seemed. I was hoping they would eat more dessert.

The meal progressed nicely, while I was in a nervous state, trying to watch the venison platter and wait the table at the same time. I watched every piece dwindle until there was only one nice piece left. Never had I wanted anything more, unless it was the hand woven Mexican lace bed set in the window at town. Then I heard the Judge's gruff voice speaking to me.

"Say, little cook, I never did taste such fine meat. My wife would die with envy if she knew that I said that to another woman." This could be the only reason for her to envy any one, for I am sure the woman did a charitable thing when she married him. He smiled sweetly up into my face as he reached for the last piece.

Another year without eating venison! I wanted to pull his hair, choke him. The hoggyish thing! Why couldn't he be decent and leave the last piece? Manners! manners! Court officials act like this? I for one felt that the dinner was a complete failure but as each one took his leave they clasped my hand so firmly that it cramped for an hour afterwards. My husband was all smiles as he kissed me goodbye.

The election day came, and I hope I will never have to spend another one like it. There cannot be another like it unless it be Judgement Day. From the description of the happenings that will take place, I imagine it will be similar to an election day. We won, by accident, some might say, and others might say we won unfair, but in my estimation we won it from the standpoint that we deserved it.

The next morning was an exciting day. The strain of the day before was telling on our nerves. Breakfast was ready to be served and my husband came into the room singing the World War song, or rather he was attempting it. He didn't need the tune, as it was music within itself for the words were enough:

"I'm on my way to Hella-go-land. To get the Kaiser's goat. Up the Kiel cannal we'll float. In a good old Yankee boat. I'm a son-of-a-gun if I meet a Hun. I'll knock the Hella-go-in, to Hella-go-out, to Hella-go-land."

This always indicated a high state of happiness. He calmed down sufficient to sit down to breakfast.

"Well, I won little girl, that's too good to be true, isn't it?" he said as he leaned over the table and kissed me full in the mouth.

Slowly the realization dawned upon me what he was saying: he won, not "we." The facts presented themselves to me.

"Couldn't anybody do it just like I did," he went on to say. Then I thought of my hair. Hadn't I left it long for a purpose, and how about the tobacco and the mellons and the writup. What had I helped to do, to win? Nothing in his estimation. These thoughts crowded in. It was more than I could stand. Tears came into my eyes, and to prevent him from seeing me, I ran out of the room and up the stairs as wildly as I could. As I fell across the bed unshed tears I had wanted to shed for months came unthinkingly. This was some relief. Then my thoughts began to take action.

"I'll go back to mother!" With these thoughts a new flood of tears came. I could not help from thinking of the candidates wives all over the country. They could be the only ones who could understand this predicament. I thought of Dan Moody's late wedding and trusted his wife would never have cause to think of her husband as I had thought of mine.

In my fit of crying I did not hear the door open softly and some one tip-toe to the side of my bed. But I did hear some one speak.

"Wife, dear, what can be the matter? You have spoiled the surprise." I looked up through the mist of tears and saw dimly the blue eyes of my husband looking perplexedly at me.

"Go away, I don't want to ever speak to you again! I'm going back to mother. I'm going right down to-morrow and have my hair bobbed. I'm going to have a big bridge party and have a big writup. You can't stop me!" Some how there was not much thrill left, as I knew I could if I wanted to.

"The idea, right when we ought to be shouting for joy you go and spoil it all by taking a crazy fit of crying." Here he attempted to sit beside me but I jumped in his way.

"You said YOU won; YOU not we. You don't count me in it at all I guess if you are through cracking jokes on me to get votes, I'll go back where I belong." This was hard to say between fits of crying. My husband grew sterner and sterner. "You know good and well, little girl, that the day you said you would marry me, I told you I could not live without you. That—"

"Shut up! you don't mean that, for you could have done so much better without me. I was the only one that ever did anything wrong. You could have done better by yourself." I hurled the accusations at him thick and fast, words I had wanted to say for months. But I might as well not have said them. Suddenly he grabbed me fiercely and cruelly from the bed up into his strong arms. He took his handkerchief and brushed the tears from my eyes.

"You must listen to me, dear. I did not come and tell you every little trouble I had as I knew you had some of your own. In spite of it you have been a little brick. A host of friends told me they voted for me because of my wife." I almost smiled through my tears. "If it had not been for you I could never have won. But listen, it is 'I' that will take the responsibilities of the office. So you see I won in a big sense, but we won too." Slowly it was dawning upon me that my husband was right again.

I was busy straightening my hair as he drew a little box from his vest pocket. Quickly it caught my eye. He opened it and before my eyes was the cluster diamond that I had wanted more than anything, even the venison or the bed set. Before I knew it I had my arms about my husband's neck and had kissed him many times. I couldn't say thank you.

Now we were sitting on the bed side by side.

As time went on I came to the realization of the old saying that mother used to try to convince me of its truthfulness: "Never say you won't do anything, for that is sure evidence that you will."

And I have found it to be a fact.

There are days when I visit my husband's office and I by chance catch him chewing tobacco with some good friend and we pass it up good naturedly and go on. And, as you know to be a typical judge, one has to be bald-headed. I have stood for hours massaging my husband's hair, trying to prevent it, but I believe he will be bald-headed in spite of all I may do.

Then, as for being a candidate's wife, when you win, it is fine. There are huge affairs where one can be the central figure. Big transactions are put over that will live forever to your good name. And, after all, I deem it an honor and am proud to have the privilege to say, that I have been a candidate's wife.
