OLD TIMER SURPRISED AT SMALL EROSION

In conversation with some of his old time friends while here visiting from California recently, W. H. Gist expressed himself as being wonderfully surprised and pleased to see the oldest farms in the county producing crops yet on equality with the new places. Indeed, he remarked that he expected to see some of the oldest and sandiest places blown away and abandoned.

Mr. Gist left this county some twelve years ago, and has lived in California, most of the time at Pomona. When he left here it was freely talked by many that the sandiest farms would in a few years deteriorate by erosion from winds and rains until they would not produce without fertilizing, but the oldest farms, and some of the sandiest, where well handled are today producing as good crops as they ever did, and such a thing as fertilizing is unknown here.

Farmers as a rule, however, are learning better methods of handling the land here, and it is not blowing as bad as it used to. They have learned to go down deep with good teams or tractors and bring up a portion of the good, red clay, which being turned up on top of the sand, is finally sifted down through the latter as it is pulverized by rains and cultivators. It is also believed by many that potash is found in abundance here just few feet under the surface there is no reason why there is not some of it on or nearer the surface in reach of tap roots of growing plants. Then, too, lime is found in abundance here in the form of rocks just under the clay subsoil, and lime and potash are excellent fertilizers.

This being the case, with good care of the farms through proper methods of cultivation, there is no reason whatever but they will be handed down from generation to generation still producing their fruits in abundance from year to year.

COLLEEN SCORES A HIT AS SLAVEY IN "ELLA CINDERS"

Colleen Moore registers another genuine triumph with the delightful cinema entertainment called "Ella Cinders," which will be shown at the Rialto Theatre next Monday and Tuesday night, August 23 and 24 and will have the audience in paroxysms of laughter at times and at others will draw a tear or two with touches of pathos.

For one thing, her performance demonstrated beyond cavil that Miss Moore is one of the most versatile and winsome personalities of the screen today. Whether she be in satins or calicos—and for a good section of this picture she is in calicos—she is appealing to the tenderest degree.

"Ella Cinders" is a unique experiment in motion pictures, and judging from this reception a highly successful one. It marks the first attempt to make a feature motion picture from a newspaper comic strip, having been adapted from the joint creation of William Conselman and Charles Plumb, now running in a hundred dailies. More of this sort of thing will be welcomed by moviegoers.

In the story Ella is the slavey in the Cinders household, and how she gets away from the environment of her stepmother and stepsisters, falls in love with an iceman, wins a fake beauty contest and "crashes the gate" to success in the movies furnishes a delightful entertainment in only the manner that is Colleen Moore's.

Lloyd Hughes, as Waite Lifter, who trains for football by delivering ice, makes an admirable leading man for Miss Moore. Excellent support is also given the First National star by Vera Lewis, Doris Baker, Emily Gerdes, Mike Donlin, Jed Prouty, Jack Duffy, Harry Allen and D'Arcy Corrigan.

MARRIED

N. Chavis, employee of the Tudor Sales Co., and Miss Ethel Franklin, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Franklin, drove up to the Methodist parsonage last Saturday afternoon at six o'clock, where Rev. G. J. Thomas said the words that united them for life. After the ceremony, they drove over to Silver Falls in Crosby county, where they spent Saturday night and Sunday. They will continue to reside in Brownfield.

Good Bye!

G. A. DUNN, OF DALLAS TO START MEETING HERE

Evangelist G. A. Dunn, of Dallas, Texas, has been secured by the local church of Christ to conduct a ten day revival at the City Tabernacle, beginning on Friday night before the 5th Sunday in this month, which is the 27th.

G. A. Dunn, Evangelist

Elder Dunn is given up to be one of the leading revivalists of this church in Texas, or perhaps of the whole country, having held meetings in perhaps every Southern state and many Northern states, evangelism being his chief work as he rarely ever does station work. He is a rare student of the Bible, which he fearlessly proclaims, and people of all faith and no faith enjoy them, as they are delivered in a spirit of love and fair play. His sermons are free from personalities and criticisms of the town and people. He is entirely free from pulpit stunts or sensationalism.

You have a cordial invitation to attend this meeting and the good singers of the town are asked to come and help in the congregational singing which will be conducted by A. L. Burnett.

TO THE VOTERS OF TERRY COUNTY

Finding that it will be impossible for me to see each voter of the county personally before the second primary, August 28, I take this method of asking for your support in my race for County Treasurer. I trust that each of you will consider this a personal appeal and know that I will appreciate your vote and influence.

Thanking you for your past favors and for anything you may do for me in the future, I am

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ivy Green Savage.

FERGUSON HARD HIT BY MOODY BEFORE CROWD

DALLAS, Aug. 14.—Declaring that the gathering present was "representative of the disgust and resentment which Texas has for the Fergusonism and that the basis of the run-off primary was the same as that of the primary-Fergusonism, Attorney General Dan Moody opened his campaign here this afternoon before a gathering estimated at 5,000 including several hundred political leaders from over the state. The meeting was held under the protection of the grand stand at the fair grounds and the slight rain that fell shortly before the ceremonies began did not cause any inconvenience.

Moody was, apparently, in good health and showed no strain from his strenuous activities of the first campaign. He delivered his speech with vigor and personality holding up the recent statement issued by the governor to contempt and said "that it plainly showed it was written by 'Jim' who, Moody declared, had declared war on him shortly after he went into the office of attorney general. 'Every line in the statement has its own answer written in it,' he said.

Davidson Sends Word

Condé Johnson who was to have spoken sent word from Fort Worth that his wife was ill in the hospital there and was unable to attend.

Lynch Davidson, who ran third in the first primary sent word that he could not attend, but asked that all who had voted for him now throw their support to Moody.

Mayors of three of Texas' largest cities were in attendance. Holcomb of Houston, Tobin of San Antonio and Blaylock of Dallas. All three were strong for the young attorney general.

Promises Women's Vote

Miss Oviha Culp, head of the women's Moody organization at Houston, promised that the women would be gotten to the polls on August 28. W. P. Hobby, former Texas governor, recalled the fact that he had defeated Ferguson in one campaign by 250,000 votes and predicted Moody's victory would be even greater. J. P. Holloway, trainman of Cleburne, pledged the support of trainmen to Moody. Senator W. H. Bledsoe of Lubbock made a two minute speech. John Boyle of San Antonio made a motion that a meeting be called in every court house in Texas next Wednesday in behalf of Moody. Robert Higgins of Lubbock was present.

O. B. Colquitt was master of ceremonies at the huge rally and said that due to the large crowd out of Dallas no Dallas speakers would be called on with the exception of Epps G. Knight who made a one minute talk.

Speakers were free in their predictions of victory for Moody, some es-

CHILD DROWNS IN TANK WHILE PLAYING IN YARD

WOLFARTH, Texas, August 17.—The 2-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Newton was drowned in a tank on the Newton farm nine miles southwest of here on the Brownfield road at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

When the child's body was discovered by his mother floating in the tank he had apparently been dead for about ten minutes. However, a doctor with a pulmotor was called, and later the child was taken to the Ellwood hospital at Lubbock to make sure of every effort to save him. The body was then taken to the Baker Undertaking company. Burial will be in Lubbock, Wednesday.

The child was playing in the yard Mr. Newton being nearby, when his father was called to the telephone. Later, Mrs. Newton, who was entering callers, alarmed at not seeing or hearing the baby in the yard, went out to look for him, and found him in the shallow tank where he had fallen.

FOUNDATION RUN FOR HANKINS BUILDING

Workmen finished the job of laying the foundation of the new brick building for J. H. Hankins adjoining the Rialto Theatre on the east, last week, and are now waiting the arrival of brick for the structure, when the masons will take charge and rush the building to completion. The building is to be 25x100.

Rumor has it that another building will start in the near future just across the street from the Rialto Theatre, but as the contract has not been let and other matters closed up we will let the readers know about this building in the near future, probably next week.

There are a number of residences under construction. In fact there has been no time in the past two or three years but what there were one or several buildings under construction in the town. Brownfield has no boom now nor never has just a steady growth.

GOOD BAND CONCERT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Bandmaster Jno. S. Powell got the boys together Sunday afternoon for the first time in several weeks, and a real good concert was given the public from the band stand at the Court park. From the handclapping and honking of auto horns, we know the concert was enjoyed by the public.

The people of Brownfield and nearby sections are all proud of the band and always avail themselves of any opportunity to hear it play.

Estimating his vote would run as high as half a million.

Heretofore Forty blocks city streets being paved.

GOMEZ POSTOFFICE OFFICIALLY CLOSED, SUNDAY

At twelve o'clock Saturday night, one of the oldest postoffices in the county officially went out of business, and Postmaster John Scott turned over the fixtures and other appliances to the postal department.

The Gomez postoffice was, in connection with other business in the town a paying proposition until a few months ago when rural routes began to run out from Brownfield, when its business was doomed, and no one cared to risk the responsibilities of postmaster with the short receipts of a nearby rural route, not to mention the star route passing through the same section.

Gomez was the first real town in the county, and named for the Cuban patriot of that time. When the county was organized, it made a gallant fight for the county seat, but lost to Brownfield. For years after the organization, however, it was a larger town than Brownfield with a number of mercantile establishments, churches, schools, bank, telephone exchange, and even after the present owner bought the Herald more than twenty years ago, a paper was established and supported there for while, but with the advent of a railroad in Brownfield, the little town began to wane instead of grow.

When the writer first came to Terry county, the west side of the county voted the east side, and they generally put in their men for the offices, but unconsciously they were thereby aiding Brownfield, for after filling the office a few years, they nearly always established homes in Brownfield, except in the case of tax assessors.

There are still a couple of stores, a blacksmith shop, three church buildings and a splendid school there, and always will be, and a set of as good old time citizens as you will find in the world.

FINE RAINS THURSDAY AND SATURDAY NIGHTS

Something like a half inch of rain fell over Terry county last Thursday night, except in the Union and Sunday communities, that did a great deal toward cooling the atmosphere and start the crops to growing and maturing again. This was followed Saturday night by about an inch rain that put the county in prime order. However, the two above mentioned communities were missed again, but we understand they received a very nice shower Monday afternoon of this week that will sustain them until more is received. Some farmers in the county say this was their first rain since the 23rd of May.

Anyway, old Terry is now in good shape for a bumper crop, and only insects or hail will keep them from materializing.

BAPTIST PEOPLE CLOSE A GOOD REVIVAL

The Winsett revival was brought to a close last Sunday night after running for two weeks, during which perhaps the largest crowds in the history of Brownfield attended the meeting.

There was a large number of conversions and additions to the local church from all sources, and the evangelist and singer had the full cooperation of the church members during their entire stay.

Rev. Winsett and the singer left Monday morning for their homes, the former at Abilene, and the latter at Fort Worth.

OFFICERS MOVING INTO NEW COURTHOUSE

Jay Barrett, County and District Clerk moved into his large and well furnished offices at the new Court House last week, and the furnishings were completed for the Sheriff and Tax Collector early this week and they moved in. As these two officers will be more nearly connected with the coming term of District Court, which begins next Monday, their offices were furnished first in order that they might get in and get the run of the new surroundings by next week.

We understand the other offices will be furnished just as fast as possible in order to let them move in. All furniture is now here, and is being installed at a rapid rate.

CISCO—Highway No. 23 north of Cisco dam being built.

LARGE DELEGATION LEAVE ON GOOD WILL TRIP

Between fifteen and twenty cars loaded with humanity and sleeping and cooking utilities left here about 8 o'clock Monday morning for a three day jaunt to the west of us, taking in the towns of Plains, Texas, Tatum, Roswell, Carlsbad and Lovington, N. M. returning home via Seminole and Seagraves, Texas, consuming some 400 miles in all.

Besides a nice delegation representing nearly every business in the city, they were accompanied by the President and Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, County Officials, the Chamber of Commerce band, and Scout Master G. J. Thomas and a troupe of his boys, making something like 60 people altogether. All wore large badges telling those who read just where they were from, and each car bore a large sign saying "From Brownfield and Going Back."

Stops for brief band concerts were to be made at Tatum and Roswell, and the later was to include some sight seeing about the city. Carlsbad was to be reached by night and camp made.

The second day was to be spent at Carlsbad, where the convention of the New Mexico section of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was meeting, and concerts alone and combined with the Carlsbad Band was to be made; together with a trip to the Carlsbad Caverns, where our band had asked the privilege of playing the first concert ever played in these caves some hundreds of feet under the surface of mother earth.

Returning, concerts were to be given at Lovington, N. M. and Seminole and Seagraves, reaching home late in the afternoon the third day.

DALLAS PREACHER TRIES TO GET OUR GOAT

A big guy, weighing in the neighborhood of 225 pounds walked in on the Herald one day last week and began asking about our job work and especially about giving him credit for awhile on a batch of it, and while he looked formidable enough, we had a high fence between us and held out for the cash to all strangers.

Pretty soon however, it began to dawn on us that it was some fellow trying to guy us, especially when he mentioned the fact that "Ma" pardoned us out on the same day, but we could not recall his "number" and could not remember his being in the same time we were, even when he told us the name of one of our brothers, and asked us if we were not raised up in the red hills of west Tennessee. We then began trying to figure him out as some guy we had known there in our youth, and noticing the wife and two young men in the car out in front, went out there with no better results.

He then informed us that he did not have us charged up for staying all night with him one time, to only trouble us more. He finally informed us his identity, and he was no other than the pastor of the Pearl and Bryan street church of Christ at Dallas, J. B. Nelson, whose home we had been in numbers of time when he used to work for the church at Grandview, Texas, some 25 years ago, and had spent the night in his home at Dallas no longer than 1920.

But who would have known him togged out in khaki unionalls and a coat of tan a fraction of an inch thick?

BIG CITY ENGINE NOW DOING SERVICE

Mr. McSpadden, son son of W. H. McSpadden of this city, who works for the city of Lubbock, came down last Sunday and assisted the city electricians here and the Fairbanks-Morse erector tie the new 240 horse power engine up with the other switchboards, and about five o'clock, or about four hours after the work was started, the big boy was grinding out juice for the consumer.

The engine was certainly put down in fine shape, and shows the care and skill with which it was handled. We believe our city employees have the care and love of our growing plant to heart just the same as if it belonged to them, and want to see the people have the best of service. This is OUR plant and we should rally to its growth and business.

We have two complete units, and should get out of order tomorrow the other will take care of the engine until repairs are made.

ENGINEERING MADE WHIPPET POPULAR

Modern European engineering, as introduced to America in the Overland Whippet, will work a change in the general acceptance of motor power. Already the term "activity factor" is being used by engineers to describe the performance possibility of the new type motor cars. With the older type of engineering, the rated horsepower was accepted as the basis of comparison. In the Whippet the developed horsepower is 100 percent greater than the rated horsepower. Such a difference in the indicated power has never before been shown in the light car field in this country. It has been common in England and on the Continent for the past several years. Activity factor is the means of comparing the power development of the car with the actual developed power.

Innovations in the four-cylinder motor as built for light cars, and shown in the Overland Whippet, include such features as extra long cylinder walls to keep the pistons from sliding below the lower edge of the walls at the bottom of the down stroke, the use of full bond bearings which eliminate the use of shims, extra heavy construction in the crank shaft and in the cam shaft four point suspension in the motor and equally distinctive elements of design in other parts.

GAINES COUNTY TAX RATE LOWERED

Rev. A. J. Morgan, Baptist minister, of Breckenridge, who held the revival here two years ago for that denomination, was here this week looking after his farm property four miles northwest of town.

Guss Farrar and family passed through this week and stopped over Monday night and Tuesday with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Randall on their way home to Sweetwater after a vacation in New Mexico mountains. Mr. Farrar is County Clerk of Nolan county, and was nominated for his third term at the July primary by more than 800 votes over his opponent. So this former Brownfield boy must be giving good service.

Rev. C. E. Ball, pastor of the local Baptist church, was called to Petersburg, Monday to hold a revival meeting for the Baptist church there.

Lum Whisenant, local contractor, presented the Herald with a fine melon one day this week. While the editor does not eat them, the force was pleased with the gift.

Mrs. Editor and the herd, accompanied by Miss Dollie Miller of Plainview, got in Sunday afternoon from California, without mishaps and very little car trouble. They were accompanied as far as Coahoma, Tex. by one of Mrs. Editor's sisters-in-law, who is there visiting her parents. They were all highly delighted with their trip and reception everywhere, and think California is a great state, but not comparable with grand old Texas.

W. H. Collins, accompanied by Miss Olga Fitzgerald, left Sunday for Dallas to lay in fall and winter supplies for the Collins Dry Goods store.

W. R. Bridges and wife, of Detroit, old time settlers of Terry county, are up this week visiting friends and relatives. He reports that his son-in-law and wife kinder hanker for old Terry and may come back this winter, and reading between the lines, we would not be surprised if Wiley is about in the same notion.

TWO SHIPS ELOQUENT REMINDERS OF PAST

Revived Memories of Other Days in Sailors.

Two days from the Azores we were chugging through a sea which scarcely rippled, a sea bereft of any vestige of shipping beyond ourselves. For days in fact, we had seen no other vessel, for although we were on one of the regular shipping lanes it is a significant fact that the highways of the ocean are much less frequented than they were in pre-war days. J. D. Gill, writes in the Boston Transcript. Now that we have returned to the piping times of peace, if not of plenty, we are apt to forget the war and all its ugly phases, which is perhaps all for the best.

But on this particular day we had a little reminder of the past.

Early in the forenoon word traveled around the ship that a sail was sighted. A sail, mark you, in these days is a very rare sight, for there are few indeed of the type of craft which brought England her glory, her wealth, her supremacy of sea power, and above all her heritage of love for the ocean.

So it was with eager eyes we sought for the name of the lofty-masted, graceful vessel and vain would we have read something which indicated her nationality to be British. But our worst fears were realized as we read the name "Parma" on her bow, and simultaneously with the two ships drawing abreast, her flag was hoisted over the taff rail, to be dipped in the age-old custom of the sea.

The red, white and black of Germany.

Across the water, as we answered, came at first the faint notes of a cornet, and soon we caught the strains of "Tipperary."

To the men who lived the rolls, there was little occasion to give further reminder of the war, for the majority of us had seen service of some sort, though mostly at sea. And to those who spent weary hours watching for only the sight of a Teuton and many others who had the experience of having had their vessel sink under them without even that satisfaction, it brought back a flood of memories.

So passed the Parma of Hamburg, a gallant four-masted, square-rigged vessel, her colors flying proudly at her gaff.

Two months later, almost to the day, we were lurching along in the wake of a heavy southwest gale, off the banks of Newfoundland. Before breakfast a sail was sighted, though a vastly different type of vessel to the Parma of Hamburg. A small three-masted schooner, she was, laboring bravely in the high Atlantic swell which was the result of the gale that had just passed.

A rather forlorn little vessel she seemed, struggling valiantly with the huge seas that appeared to engulf her as she was lost to sight in the trough of the swell. But she seemed to rise each time with a courage that was almost personal in its triumph over the elements, truly, we thought, a brave little vessel to pit itself against such overwhelming odds. A striking contrast from the splendor, the grandeur almost amounting to arrogance, of the Parma of Hamburg.

Across her stern we read the legend: "Edith M. Cavell, St. John's, Newfoundland."

Poetical Stock-Taking

With the Old Year going out, the prose poet of the Tifton Gazette found himself in the stock-taking business, as follows:

"Look again, I would implore you, in the mirror before you; note the changes of the past year. Do you differ much from last year?
"Are you thirty-five or forty? Are you sprightly and cavorty? Are you forty-five or fifty? Are you feeling gay and nifty?
"Oh, it's often true, I take it, that our age is what we make it; yet we may need stronger glasses, with each year-mark, as it passes.
"Yes, we're very apt to find us, as the time slips on behind us, with some evidences showing that the days of youth are going.
"And if any (let's be truthful), can succeed in keeping youthful, and can prove, as well as show it, he's an artist and you know it!"—Atlanta Constitution

CHRYSLER WANTS GOOD SMALL CARS

Walter P. Chrysler, in a statement unusual for its frankness, commenting on what has been termed "the deficiencies in the small car field," declares unreservedly that better American type cars are necessary in this field. "Roomier, more comfortable, smoother cars of longer life, with less vibration, are of paramount importance," he continues.

His statement, in part, is: "The American public has always been satisfied with the prices in the small car field, but today is obviously and decidedly dissatisfied with what it receives for that price."

"I believe it has been demonstrated conclusively that the American people are not interested in the so-called 'bug' or what someone has erroneously termed 'European type' car. Several manufacturers have endeavored, each time unsuccessfully, to capitalize on a tendency on the part of the public to flock to anything which carries a tinge of novelty, even if that novelty is unequal to what we already have. The so-called European car, everyone knows, sacrifices the far greater virtues of smoothness, power hill climbing ability, durability, riding comfort and even appearance, to achieve that little tin diety, High Gasoline Mileage."

"Motor car conditions abroad are entirely different from what they are here. The tremendous success of the American car in the export market is only overwhelming proof of its superiority."

"What this organization feels the public in a small car is not a cheaper smaller automobile than it now has but a bigger, better, roomier, easier riding and longer lived car, for the same money it has been paying. Modern space engineering and better chassis engineering can give the public that car."

"There is an increasing curiosity among people interested in motor cars—which about braces the whole public—in the details of the new Chrysler four cylinder car which is shortly to be announced.

TECH TO HAVE GOOD FOOT BALL TEAM

LUBBOCK, Tex., August 16--When the training camp for the Matadors opens September 10 on their second season, there will be a very different scene from the spectacle at a corresponding date a year ago. Then there were more than 120 huskies who answered the call for training camp. There was not enough equipment on hand for much over half of them. There was no place to practice except on the bald prairie, but there was a spirit among the boys and the coaches which carried them through the remarkably successful season in which only one game was lost out of a nine game schedule. There were no old men coming back to form a nucleus for a great club. There were no lettermen, no veterans around which to build a fighting eleven. Nevertheless, for some reason the bearers of the scarlet and black standards came through with an unexcelled first year record.

Last year the entire club was made of new men, most of them being unknown to the coaches, but a seasons experience and a stiff spring practice behind them will make a different story this year. The coaches will have some men who should handle themselves like veterans to start with. There will not be so much confusion and guesswork in the picking of a team, and a splendid tarted field with one of the best turfs in West Texas is rapidly rounding into shape.

STATE SCHOOL LAND INTEREST DUE BEFORE SEPT. 1

It is our understanding that all State interest due on State School land for the year 1925 and back, must be in the land office before September 1st, or the land will be forfeited. Also there will be no re-instatement of any lands, but all forfeited lands will be reappraised and resold at the new appraisal.

The above statement is not made by authority of the Land office but it is our understanding of the new land law passed by the last Legislature, and this notice is to place all land owners on notice so that they can see after their interest, if they have any, back interest, due. --Seminole Sentinel.

Some of our "chickens" are coming in with the milk man these mornings. However, one consolation in this is that it is about time for us working folks to get up anyway, and we are not badly disturbed.

The Santa Fe Railroad Company has recently issued an interesting little booklet printed and beautifully illustrated in colors, entitled, "Be Careful." This little booklet should be in the hands of every car owner who occasionally takes chances at railroad crossings. There are a number of articles so good that in order to pass them on, the Herald is reproducing them in its columns from time to time.

Chemists who have made the matter of coloring the teeth of children in this section a study have come to the conclusion that lack of a proper amount of milk and vegetable diet is the cause. This was announced by the head of the chemistry department of the Canyon Normal recently. While it is somewhat difficult for fresh vegetables to be obtained without great expense in the winter time on the Plains, unless one has a hot bed or takes advantage of the canner, there is no earthly excuse for children not getting an abundance of good rich milk here at all times with our abundant areas of grass lands and the boundless productivity of our lands of all the feed varieties, and the ease with which cattle are raised here.

Brownfield seems to have become the haven for the unfortunate as well as just the common lazy variety of beggars lately, and the business houses are being invaded daily with people with tales of woe, or with something to sell in order to get somewhere. Of course they always send the unfortunates of the family to do the begging or "selling," and perhaps if the rest of the family could be seen—they are usually hid out—we would find people as able to do manual labor as most of us. In fact, we were informed this week that the officers run some vags out of town who looked like they were able to wrestle a grizzly bear. The Herald was even visited by the common variety of hungry, dirty, tramp printer this week, probably the first of the specie to ever make this town. Yes, he wanted a meal. It has always been a mystery to us why poor people are always trying to "set some where" instead of remaining where they are in order to save what little they have to spend for something to eat and wear.

To our way of thinking there is absolutely no excuse for the Fergusons to make the second race for governor, and anything that they are now offering only makes them the more ridiculous. When it was believed that Mrs. Ferguson had withdrawn from any further participation in the second primary and promised to resign in November, and Mr. Moody began to demand that they get out at once, together with a number of county conventions, the common herd really developed some sympathy for the Fergusons; and believed the steam roller crowd hasty, and just wanted to kick the under dog, but when they decided to make the second race just because a few kluxers and monkey faced Baptists, as Jim calls them, sent him a few untimely and sarcastic wires, people lost all sympathy for the Ferguson cause, and even his ardent supporters here in the first primary are now seemingly cold and indifferent. Then, too, their assertions that there was no bet made on the resignation proposition, when everybody knows Mrs. Ferguson read her challenge in their opening speech at Sulphur Springs, and was reiterated in Jim's address on the same occasion, and accepted by Dan Moody at San Antonio that night, is pure bunk, and it seems to us have forfeited not only their own word of honor, but have lost the respect and confidence that should be due people holding the high office of governor. It is our opinion that people who listen and are now led by any prejudices they may offer are just simply playing into the hands of chronic politicians and against the best interests of the state.

Is Dan Moody a Ku Klux or a Ku Klux sympathizer? This question is asked and answered that none might be hoodwinked into voting against the best interests of the state simply through prejudice to this organization. It is a fact that he probably polled three-fourths of the Klan vote in Texas. He may even make some appointees from their ranks; he would be quite ungrateful if he did not. But lets examine his career for the past four years. While district attorney of Williamson county he successfully prosecuted and penned four prominent klansmen who got out of the bounds of reason and whipped a man, one of which was a minister. Two years ago, when the race was tightly drawn on this issue, he ran on and was elected on an anti-klan ticket. At Houston just before he entered the race for governor he made it known before a law enforcement mass meeting that he would not have spoken had he known that a klansman was to have spoken from the same platform, and the women's organization sponsoring the meeting sent him an apology a few days afterwards. In his platform in the first primary, he mentioned his stand on the question, and at Dallas last Saturday he again reiterated his position with regards to the Klan. To our notion every anti in Terry county can, join heartily with the klansmen in putting in this red-headed young American with the

Nervous hot flashes
"SOME time ago when in a very nervous, run-down condition," says Mrs. Martha F. Marlow, of Broken Bow, Okla., "I tried numerous remedies to try at least to keep going, but I could not. I was weak and tired—just no good at all. My back ached and I had hot flashes until I was so very nervous I smothered."
"I couldn't sleep and I was never hungry, and I kept getting weaker. I couldn't stand on my feet. This was an unusual condition for me as I had been pretty strong all along. I knew that I would have to do something, and that pretty soon."
"Some friend suggested that I take Cardui, and it certainly was a good suggestion, for after taking one bottle I could tell I was stronger and better. I didn't quit. I kept it up all through the change and did fine. I felt like a different person after I began taking Cardui."

THE GLORIOUS AMERICAN WOMANHOOD

The exuberant joy of the United States, which had its reflection even in Roswell, over the feat of Gertrude Ederle in swimming the English channel, doesn't seem to be dimmed by the fact the heroine is just as essentially German as though she were born in Berlin instead of New York, and the physical stamina which enabled her to take advantage of all factors of luck and complete the swim which no woman had ever done before, was the result of the most approved Prussian ideals of physical culture. Not that it makes any difference, since most people in the United States have gotten sane enough after the war to have forgotten the beastliness of Hun militarism, and are now capable of taking into proper valuation the worth while things of the nation which gave us the kindergarten, some glorious music, and much of real philosophy. Of course Miss Ederle exemplifies in one way the wholesome physical evolution of the girls living in the United States, since they threw their corsets into the garbage can, cut off their skirts at both ends, and began to live at something like a natural pitch of healthy human animals rather than toys and sickly anemics. Most of all her feat demonstrates what may be accomplished by those who believe the lesson that fear is the great enemy of all human accomplishment and happiness, wrecking countless lives, and making a good part of the tide miserable for no actual reason. Roswell is full of men and women who walk daily with ghosts and haunts where there is no valid reason for it, and because of which they are handicapped in their ability to do their best for themselves and those around them. Most of our troubles never happen, and there really isn't anything to be afraid of in a world so full of the joy of life, surrounded as we are on every side with the proof of the power and goodness of God and His gifts through civilization. Gertrude Ederle wasn't afraid of the tide rips, and rain and cold. If she had been she would never have swam across that thirty odd miles of water. —Roswell Dispatch.

PRESS LETTER ON LEAFWORM CONTROL

The supply of calcium arsenate, Paris Green, and lead arsenate as recommended by the Entomologist, for the control of leafworms, is apparently exhausted and farmers are in need of another poison.

Mixtures of white arsenic and soda compounds, unless very carefully used, will result in injury to cotton, and are not ordinarily recommended. However, in the present emergency it probably means either use of these materials with injury in some cases or the total loss of the crop by the attack of the insect, and we are giving below formulae which farmers have themselves used.

Boil together 5 pounds white arsenic with 5 pounds sal soda in 5 gallons water until all the arsenic is dissolved. Ordinarily this will be accomplished in about 15 minutes. If the sal soda is not available, use instead, five cans of concentrated lye such as may be obtained from grocery stores for soap making. These five cans will be equal to about four pounds.

After boiling until the arsenic is dissolved, some water will have been lost by evaporation; more should then be added to make up exactly five gallons of the stock solution.

Two quarts of this stock solution should be added to fifty gallons of water for immediate application to the cotton. Large drops of this dilute mixture or excessive amounts of the liquid on the leaves will burn, consequently a machine should be used that breaks the liquid up into a very fine mist and so the foliage is merely moistened without running or drooping from the leaves. Farmers have reported using one quart of stock dip in fifty gallons of water with success, spraying in the same manner.

Experience on the part of farmers has indicated that if a gallon of slack lime and three or four gallons of black strap molasses are added to fifty gallons of water, along with the stock solution, the danger of injury will be reduced.

In handling these mixtures, the danger to the cotton foliage as well as to men and animals is so great that we decline to accept any responsibility for any injurious results.

Several companies in Texas handling arsenical poisons are preparing and have for sale, the mixtures as given above. These may not be in the concentration that we have named, and in diluting persons should be guided by the directions given by each company for their own product.

C. A. Hooton, of Houston, was here the past week helping to install the round bale system for the Farmers Gin.

Famous "Flat Arch" in Church of St. Domingo

One of the objects which attract the visitor in Panama is the "flat arch" in the ruins of the church of San Domingo. The edifice itself was built by Dominican monks in the palmy days of Spain's power. According to tradition, when the supports were removed from one of the chief archways it tumbled to the ground. Another was built in its place, but it too fell. The experiment was repeated the third time with a similar result.

At last an old monk, who was not supposed to know anything about architecture or engineering, had a dream in which was presented to him a plan for constructing an arch which would stand, relates a writer in Pathfinder Magazine. A structure was built according to the plan thus evolved. The arch was almost flat and made of ordinary brick. Everybody in Panama—with one exception—expected to see this arch fall as the others had done. But the old monk who had conceived it had faith in his dream. When the supports were removed he stood under the arch with folded arms. It did not fall, and it never has fallen, for to this day it stands there amid the ruins of the church in a wonderful state of preservation.

Old-Time Press Censor of Reactionary Mind

The first Englishman of any distinction to take up journalism as a profession was Sir Roger L'Estrange, who died 221 years ago.

He was an ardent pamphleteer on the epoch of the Restoration, and in 1682 was made "surveyor of the press," the censor of all books and pamphlets, and the editor of a monopolistic newspaper, called the Intelligencer.

The reactionaries and die-hards of today would certainly welcome Sir Roger with open arms, for he wrote that the publication of any but the most carefully edited news "makes the multitude too familiar with the actions and counsels of their superiors, too pragmatical and censorious, and gives them not only a wish, but a kind of a colorable light and license to the meddling with the government."

He failed miserably in his attempt to stamp out the freedom of the press—or its early life—and when deprived of his monopoly, he himself turned to the publication of an unofficial "catchpenny" sheet, called the Observer.—Chicago Journal.

Deodorizing Cigar Box

If the cigar box is made from Spanish cedar, as the good ones are supposed to be made, it would be rather difficult to deodorize it completely, since the odor is due to a resin in the wood which is fairly well distributed throughout the wood structure. If the box is made from some other wood which does not have much natural odor, but which may have taken up some odor from the tobacco, it might be that a thorough airing or perhaps washing with gasoline would remove the odor. The odor of Spanish cedar is due to a volatile oil in the resin, and this oil can be removed at least from the surface of the wood by steaming. Since, however, a very little steaming might warp the box or discolor it, or soften the glue, this method is not practical. Probably long continued exposure to the air and sunlight is the most practical method.

Seek More Nicotine

Nicotine, not less of it, but more, is wanted by tobacco-breeding plant scientists at the state agricultural experiment station at Geneva, N. Y. This reversal of usual tobacco requirements is being sought for the benefit of the insecticide industry, which makes large use of nicotine in the manufacture of insect poisons. Certain "wild" tobaccos are being found more promising than the cultivated varieties and are being experimented with to learn ways of increasing their already high nicotine content.

Courage Crowning Virtue

Courage is a gem of the first water. Its association is with the brave and noble. Its contrast is the coward and his meanness. It is the virtue that makes the difference between a true man and one living below the line of his privileges.

Courage means something more than bravery. Bravery belongs to the battlefield, but courage moves in quiet places and grows like the fern, rather in the shade. It takes grit to be courageous. It is more telling than thrilling.—London Tit-Bits.

Reason in Animals

Whether animals think or not is a moot question among philosophers and scientists. The higher animals show considerable intelligence in certain matters, such as in getting food and escaping from enemies. Modern science is inclined to think that the difference between the intelligence of human beings and animals is one of degree and not of kind. In animals instinct plays a much larger part than it does in people.—Pathfinder Magazine.

The Selfish Sex

"Women are such selfish creatures! There was an extra chop at breakfast and my wife insisted upon my eating it. It was all because she wanted to revel in the satisfaction of self-indulgence. A case of pure selfishness."
"And what did you do?"
"Oh, I let her have her own way and I ate the chop. You won't find many husbands as indulgent as I am."

McMURRAY COLLEGE GYMNASIUM BEGUN

ABILENE, Tex.—Excavation work on a $15,000 gymnasium for McMurray College has been begun. The building is to be completed by the time the basket ball seasons opens, and the Indians will no longer be a nomadic tribe. Theirs is to be a very modern wigwam, equipped with shower baths and up-to-date dressing rooms, and will be the largest in Abilene. It will be of brick, and will be located at the north end of the athletic field. Part of the work will be done by students, thus killing the proverbial two birds with one stone—hastening the completion of the gym and permitting students to earn money to continue their studies.

McMurray is entering the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association this fall and the gym will aid greatly in maintaining the record that has hitherto been hers in the realm of athletics.

ELLWOOD MYRICK

WELL SPUDED IN

LUBBOCK, Aug. 16.—The Ellwood-Myrick No. 1 test, located six miles west of Shallowater, was spudded in Saturday afternoon and drilling is now under way. Because of its location it will be closely watched by members of the oil fraternity.

It is strictly a wildcat proposition, though geologists have reported very favorably on the location. It is almost a hundred miles from a producing oil or gas well, but is located in the center of a triangle of three fields.

Owners plan to drill the well to a depth of at least 3,500 feet unless oil and gas in paying quantities may be found at a shallower depth.

Dr. D. B. DuBois returned this week from DeWitt, Texas, where he visited his parents.

Yankee's High Place

in American History

Thoughtless people from cities and factory towns laugh at out-of-date teams occasionally seen in fields or on the road, but how few know that in other times, ox teams on every farm did valuable work while they grew to large size and then furnished food for the people who now depend on the West and South America for their beef and even Australia for their mutton! The little fellow has been laughed at out of his legitimate job, or considered not in keeping with the modern speed, so he must be hustled off to the shambles to furnish a few mouthfuls of food, bringing a little money to the farmer's purse. If allowed to live and earn his keep, that sturdy little bull calf would in time feed a multitude right at home and save the cost and car fare and refrigeration from the butcher's shop a thousand miles away.

Here is another important "but" that time has hit us over the head with. There is no Yankee boy, born on the farm to fall in love with Buck and Bright, to train them in the way they should go and be assured of a reciprocation of affection by the patient kine; and the hired man of today, irritable and irritating, would make a sorry companion for a pair of animals whose virtues of patience and faithfulness are the admiration of every man with a worth while soul all the world around.

All who can say whether the ox team of a past generation was not New England's greatest schoolmaster, teaching the youth by their example docility, domesticity, faithfulness, patience and endurance, willing to exert their marvelous strength when needed, lessons that sent young men to the four corners of the earth to surmount every obstacle and become leaders of men as they were as boys well-loved leaders of noble animals.—Turner Falls Reporter.

Sun Is Slow

One of the most important of the issues discussed by the fifth international congress of industrial chemistry in Paris concerned the ultra-violet ray and its practical potentialities. It has been established in the course of experiments that vanilla beans picked before ripening will develop normally and acquire all their characteristics of flavor and of smell when subjected to the action of ultra-violet rays; and that sugar cane, pineapple and bananas will attain perfect growth in much less than the normal time when treated in this artificial fashion. It has also been discovered that the ultra-violet ray provides a test where by the purity of flour may be determined. This ray, brought to bear, for purposes of analysis, upon flour made from a mixture of barley and maize, as well as from wheat, showed up each ingredient with perfect clearness, and under this peculiar light influence the product of each grain taking on a slightly different color.

The ultra-violet ray, it is believed, has a great future in this kind of laboratory work.—New York Times.

The windjammer has just about given up the ghost, at least so far as the British flag is concerned. The old full-rigged vessel that once carried the brunt of the sea cargo is too slow nowadays and it doesn't pay.

The thousands of these British ships that sailed the seven seas now number six. All have served 30 or more years, and, with one exception are three-masted vessels.

Finland seems destined to become the world's last owner of ships of this type, as most of the British sailing vessels sold within recent years have been bought by Finnish interests. Grain from Australia, nitrate from South America and salt outward from Liverpool are about the only cargoes now offered for sailing ships.—Detroit News.

Record in Thinness

Some of the thinnest films on water ever subjected to scientific measurement were recently described before the National Academy of Sciences by Prof. W. D. Harkins and J. W. Morgan, of the University of Chicago. They are composed of only one layer of the molecules of building bricks of material substances, and some of them are so very thin that ordinary X-rays could not do their vibratory dance within the thickness if such a location were selected for their performance. Numerically, the thickness of some of the films was found to be twenty-four billionths of an inch. Professor Harkins explained that such thin films can be easily formed by simply spreading the proper kind of organic substance upon water.

Worth a Long Hunt

A tiny tube containing $800,000 worth of radium disappeared from a St. Paul hospital. It had probably been washed into the sewer. A radium detector was constructed which was attached to electroscopes and then began a long hunt along all sewers leading from the hospital. After weeks of patient searching the detector one day indicated radium inside a nine-inch sewer. Workmen dug down and there was the radium tube.—Capper's Weekly.

Wealthy Canada

Canada's wealth, says a return from the National City Bank of New York, has doubled in the last ten years, and since 1870 has increased more than seven-fold. She is now recorded as the seventh richest country in the world, national wealth totaling approximately $20,000,000,000.

It is better to be born lucky than rich, so the old saying goes, but most of us rather risk the latter. But Tahoka barber appears to be lucky if not rich. He recently collected a barber bill that had run for twelve years, and the hair cuts and shaves were paid for at current rates, so we might also say he drew good interest on the investment.

POWELLS RETURN FROM STAY IN CHICAGO

The following clippings were taken from the Marshall Messenger, Marshall, Texas. Ernest Powell, who has been blind since early life is the youngest brother of John S. Powell, of Brownfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Powell arrived home yesterday after a stay of several months in Chicago, where Mr. Powell received his Master's Degree in Expression and Art, and the Honorary Degree of Bachelor of Music in Singing from the American Conservatory of Music. En route to Marshall they spent a week at Sulphur Springs, Arkansas, Mr. Powell appearing there last Tuesday evening in a program of his own compositions at the Southwestern Ozark Chautauqua.

Ernest Powell Receives Degree
Today, in Chicago, Ernest Powell, Marshall musician, composer and poet, will receive his Master's Degree in Expression and Dramatic Art from the American Conservatory of Music, under the eminent actor and instructor, Walton Pyne, and at the same time will be presented with the Honorary Degree of Bachelor of Music in Singing, under the well known singing teacher, Karleton Hackett. In receiving the honorable degree, only conferred in recognition of supreme merit, Mr. Powell has been conspicuously honored, for in the forty years' history of the Conservatory only two other honorary degrees have been awarded.

Mr. and Mrs. Powell leave Chicago this evening for Sulphur Springs, Arkansas, where on the night of August 10, Mr. Powell will give a program of his own compositions, poems, songs and piano numbers, at the Southwestern Ozark Chautauqua.

RAILROAD CROSSINGS ARE HAZARDOUS

You are vitally concerned in the hazard at the crossing.

There are 242,007 highway crossings passing over railroads. During the past five years, 3,059 were eliminated; yet, because of additions there has been an increase of 14,494 crossings.

Over 20,000,000 automobiles are registered in the United States. Their field of operation is every highway—every crossing.

The 1925 statistics show 2,206 persons were killed and 6,555 injured at such crossings. Automobiles were involved in 84 percent of these casualties.

The complete separation of railroads from highways would eliminate these mishaps, but its accomplishment will require generations of time, and cost about $19,000,000,000. Immediate remedies must be sought. The following suggestions are offered:

The separation of the highways from railroads should proceed in an orderly and consistent manner.

Public authorities should discourage the creation of new crossings. Highways should be re-routed, where practicable, to avoid crossing roads.

Road crossings should be clearly and uniformly indicated to highway travelers.

Due notice should be given of the approach of trains.

Travelers approaching trains should be warned where possible.

Extreme care should be exercised at every railroad crossing. No matter how rusty the track may appear.

Warning signals should be used by highway travelers.

Where it is obligatory to stop before passing over railroad tracks there should be no equivocation; an actual stop, plus observation, should be the rule.

Every highway traveler should look and listen where such acts will avail him.

Drivers of automobiles should be competent, trustworthy, and of good habits.

Reckless driving over railroad crossings should be condemned.

All efforts to prevent crossing accidents should be encouraged.

The three C's, CROSS CROSSINGS CAUTIOUSLY, should be indelibly impressed upon every driver.

1. Thou shalt learn to recognize railroad crossings and approach them with extreme care.

2. Thou shalt look both ways and listen for trains.

3. Thou shalt be doubly alert if there are two or more tracks.

4. Thou shalt always use good judgment at railroad crossings that thy days may be long upon the land and the enjoyment of thy car continuous.

5. Thou shalt keep thy brakes girded with effective brake lining.

6. Thou shalt not kill the passengers within thy car.

7. Thou shalt not depend upon the driver of the car ahead.

8. Thou shalt not try to "beat the train."

9. Thou shalt, when in doubt, take the safe course always.

10. Thou shalt CROSS CROSSINGS CAUTIOUSLY.

ENTIRE ENGLISH HILL SLIDING INTO VALLEY

LONDON, Aug. 14.—A constant watch is being maintained over a hill in Deepdene Park near Dorking in Surrey which is threatening to slide down into the valley.

A million tons of earth are involved in the pending landslide which has already opened a four-foot crack toward the top of the hill which has broken a water main and split several 400 year old Spanish chestnut trees. A main highway near the foot of the hill toward which the landslide is moving has been deserted.

Mr. Flache was one of the early day cowboys in that section, and always attends the reunions, where the old boys who tamed the West hold confabs well into the night, and where the dance of early days holds sway. ONE THOUSAND CHEVROLET CARS PER DAY

With the Chevrolet Motor company's $10,000,000 expansion program well under way, providing production facilities for 1,000,000 cars during 1927, more than 800 members of the company's field force will hold a three day convention in Detroit starting Monday, August 23, when the sales campaign for the coming year will be outlined by R. H. Grant, general sales manager of the company.

This convention, the largest and most important sales gathering in the history of the automotive industry, marks the culmination of the greatest sales production period in the activities of the Chevrolet Motor Company an enormous and startling rise to national popular favor that is conceded to be without precedent in the automotive industry.

With more than a half million cars produced during 1925, the close of this year will see production far above the 600,000 mark and the possibility of one million cars in 1927. It is the potential production for 1927 that has called the entire field sales force of the Chevrolet organization to Detroit that plans may be made known to the whole selling organization in every part of the country for the merchandising of the 1927 production.

General Sales Manager R. H. Grant will sound the key-note of the convention "1,000 more cars per day"—to the selling organization including regional managers, zone managers, division representatives, sales promotional representatives, and service promotional representatives.

His statement will be backed by the most remarkable record ever made by an automobile manufacturer in recent years and will more than ever accentuate the Chevrolet Company's record as the most interesting and absorbing topic today in automobile circles.

The part that each member of the sales force will play in the production of the tremendously increased production which the company, Mr. Grant, 1927 will be detailed.
