Chamber of Commerce C-U-R-R-E-N-T-S

By the Secretary

On next Saturday, August 27th, a meeting of the Fort Worth-Roswell Air Line Highway Association will be held at Chairmont to witness the breaking of dirt on the Kent County portion of the route. A big barbecue will be staged followed by polo, horse racing, goat roping, baseball and other forms of entertainment. It is hoped that a good delegation of our citizens will arrange to attend as we want to make a good showing for publicity is expected.

A meeting of all trustees of the county was held in the district court room last Monday and the proposition of holding a county fair was put up to them and they agreed that they would actively assist in putting it over. It is now up to the citizens of the town to do their part and they know what it is. It is expected that the fair will be held on Saturday, September 24th. While agriculture will be the chief center of attraction, poultry, dairy cattle and hogs will form no small part of the exhibits. The writer has visited several different portions of the county within the last few days and while crops are not up to normal by any means, they show better development in the dryer portions than we expected to see. A good general rain at this time would make a wonderful change.

Representatives of the West Texas Gas Company, will be in Brownfield within the next few days for the purpose of asking for a franchise thru the county and for the city of Brownfield. We do not know what will be done with their application as report says that the city council has granted a temporary permit to the Kingsland interests.

The weed cutting campaign has been closed and prizes have been paid, but there are still some people in Brownfield, who have not had a single weed cut and apparently have no intention of doing so.

The Board of City Development of Amarillo is sponsoring the organization of an Anti Poultry Theft Association and the expense and working of such an organization will be explained at a mass meeting to be held Friday, August 26th. From the frequency of poultry thefts are staged, it would seem that an organization of South Plains counties would not be out of place. A way has been discovered by which fowls can be branded and the brands registered at a central office and it is said by counties and sections that have tried the plan, that it works one hundred percent perfect. Cattle Associations have broken up thievery under a similar plan, so why can't we put a stop to the practice.

A report is in circulation that the chamber of commerce will handle leaf worm poison and distribute it to the farmers at cost. This is an error as the organization does not have funds with which to pay for any quantity and it is sold by wholesalers on a strictly cash basis. The office does have prices, but from what I am able to discover, the retail merchants of the town are ordering and selling at practical cost to them.

The highway department is grading number 53, from Meadow north to the county line and when completed it is going to be a pleasure to drive over it. It is probable that they will soon begin to work from Meadow south, but an eighty foot right of way will have to be provided before this can be done. Reliable information has been received, which says that the highway department will make known at the next meeting of the commissioners court, its desires regarding the route west of Gomez. In the meantime, the present route is receiving light maintenance.

SOMETHING TO BE PROUD OF

Some of the best informed persons on American industry might smile dubiously were they told that a mid-western town of 25,000 inhabitants has twice as many telephones as one of the most famous cities of the world with a population of almost 500,000. Yet it would be true. The town is Beloit, Wisconsin and the city Venice, Italy. This fact tells the story of the difference between the new world method of encouraging private initiative and enterprise as contrasted with the old world method of governmental domination of industry and the individual.

Cotton Price Minimum Put at 25 Cents

Fixing the minimum price for the 1927 cotton crop "under present crop conditions" at 25c a pound, this minimum to be raised as conditions may warrant by the price-fixing committee, and naming a committee to devise a means of financing the holding of the crop until the minimum price may be attained was the chief work of the Tuesday afternoon session of the cotton conference called by the Farmers' Marketing Association of America.

The conference met at the Baker Hotel Tuesday morning, with about 200 farmers and business men present. Adoption of the 25c minimum price recommendation was by unanimous vote, though it was suggested necessary to raise the minimum to 30c or more by the time of the next Government crop report early in September.

The price recommendation was presented by a committee comprising John J. Simmons, Nathan Adams, W. B. Yearry, George E. Terrell, W. S. Kirby, all of Dallas, and J. A. Johnson of Lou, Dawson County, representative of banking, mercantile and farming interests, Fred W. Davis, former Commissioner of Agriculture, read the committee's report. In addition to stating the figure at which the crop should be held, the report urged that farmers should borrow money in order to hold their cotton at this or even a higher price, instead of dumping the commodity on the market. It also advised the appointment of a permanent price-fixing committee.

Another committee report, also unanimously adopted, provided for the creation of a financing committee, to include Nathan Adams, president of the American Exchange National Bank of Dallas; H. A. Wroe, Austin; W. H. Adams, Roysse City; Ed R. Bumpass, Terrell; Ben Rogers of Jefferson, all bankers, and John J. Simmons and W. T. Davis of Dallas, and perhaps twenty-five other country bankers in Texas and other cotton States. This committee will seek to find adequate means for financing the South's cotton with Southern money, along general lines suggested by Mr. Adams in an address to the conference Tuesday morning. On motion of W. B. Yearry the Adams plan was indorsed by the conference as the most feasible method of meeting the condition.

Results of Copeland Dry Goods Contest

The Copeland Dry Goods Co., contest waxed hot and hotter as time went on, but all seemed to be in a good humor when the contest was over. The following is a result after the last count was made Saturday afternoon:

- First, Mrs. Ina Lewis, bedroom suit.
- Second, Miss Bessie Thompson, box of silverware.
- Third, Miss Cordia Mae Shepherd, wrist watch.
- Fourth, Miss Vencie Holgret, hat box.

There were many others close runners up. Mrs. Lewis polled over one hundred thousand votes, and Miss Thompson about 87,000.

The Copelands left this week for Dallas to purchase fall and winter dry goods, and left the store in charge of Mrs. Eunice Jones and Mrs. R. L. Pounds.

SEAGRAVES STAGING SHORT FARMERS STUDY COURSE

Under the auspices of the Seagraves Chamber of Commerce, there will be held at Seagraves, Texas, on August 30-31, a two days short study course on dairying, chickens, hogs and general farming.

This study course will be conducted by some of the best instructors in the state and it is urged that all farmers, their wives and their children take advantage of this opportunity to learn more scientifically the way to handle milk, chickens, hogs, etc.

Sessions will be held in the high school auditorium and it is urged that each one bring lunch and be prepared to attend both morning and afternoon sessions.

District Court in Session This Week

DISTRICT COURT IN SESSION HERE THIS WEEK

District Judge Gordon E. McGuire of Lamesa, and District Attorney T. L. Price, of Post, came in early Monday morning, and Judge McGuire at once set the Grand Jury in motion under the direction of the district attorney. Nothing except the grand jury is called for this week, this being one of Judge McGuire's own reforms of saving each county money, by under the old style of calling both the same week, it was often found that there was nothing for the grand jury to do until the grand jury had some time to work, and all that could be done was to pay off the petit jury and send them home, whereas by waiting a week, there would probably be some cases for them to try. Next week is set for the trial of civil cases, and week after next for criminal cases, we understand.

Judge McGuire's charge was only another of those logical, sensible charges of which he always seems to be possessed, in which he told these twelve good citizens to search out diligently all actual violations of the law, and try to bring them to justice, but to not waste the people's money trying to run down rumors or perhaps things that never existed.

District Attorney Price informed the Herald this week that the people of Terry county seemed among the most law abiding in the district, and in this he was joined by Judge McGuire. He said that seemingly there was little for the grand jury to do, and he was proud in his compliments to the good citizenship of the county.

Terry county folks are made up of the cream of the earth, and of the old American stock that believe America the best country on earth, and that her laws are just and supreme. There is little of that rabid element in our midst that are willing to smite the hand that is feeding and protecting them. The offspring of this race, are therefore loyal to the flag and the laws of our land.

Come to Terry.

Gas Showing in Kingsland Well—Gerson

It will take 10 or 12 days before the Kingsland Oil & Potash company know what is to be found in its No. 1 Brownfield, in Section 7, Block A3, of E. L. Surry, in east central Terry county, the South Plains area.

Tuesday night at 2,200 feet it picked up considerable gas through a hole full of rotary mud and water, and drilling was immediately suspended for orders.

The suspension of drilling caused the water and mud to shut off the gas but not before rainbow showing of oil appeared. Orders were given on Tuesday to take down the rotary rig, remove the dry works and stand-ardine. This will require more than a week's time and the well will then be tested under the direction of Dr. Harry Gerson who made the location for the well, and geologist in charge for the Kingsland Company, and has watched its drilling since last October.

The Kingsland well was drilled with standard tools to 2,200 feet, cased with 12 1/4 inch pipe, then rotary tools were moved back. The 8 1/2 inch pipe was set at 1,824 feet, leaving the hole open from that point down.

Gerson reports the gas showings pronounced and on the strength of the showings he has obtained franchises to supply Brownfield and Tahoka with natural gas. He estimates the gas flow at from 10 to 25 million feet, saying that the gas is held back by the water and rotary mud.

The Maudrin Drilling company has drilled the well from 1,200 feet, and it found an oil showing the first day it started drilling. It also found a showing at 115 feet in the water well it drilled right along side the No. 1 Brownfield, the oil showing coming from 696 feet, where a show was had in the well while drilling with standard tools and it seeped up and broke into the water hole. Water trouble caused the attempts to test at the shallow depth to meet with failure.—Friday's Amarillo Daily News.

Sheriff White, of Tom Green county was up last week after a stolen car held here by local officers.

Trustees Meeting Results in Much Good

Some seventy five of the trustees of Terry county, representing both the independent and common school districts of the county, met in Brownfield Wednesday of last week for an all day session, and to hear the new school laws expounded by a state man. Many were the expressions of the visitors concerning both the entertainment furnished by the business men of the town, as well as the good derived from the meeting. Some of them expressed themselves that they learned more about the school laws in two hours last week than they ever learned before in all their lives.

The meeting was opened in the district court room for the morning session, and the body was addressed by Morgan L. Copeland, who took for his subject "Some of the possibilities of Terry county's rural schools." He was a splendid address. When it is remembered that Terry county spends some $125,000, annually on her schools, it is no wonder that men and women are becoming interested in them.

Secretary J. E. Shelton of the Chamber of Commerce then put it up to the body as to whether they preferred prizes offered to individuals this fall at the county fair, or to school districts. The body by vote favored the latter but many stood out for individuals.

This just about finished the morning session, and the trustees were then told to appear at the old Cook & Son stand, where the Methodist ladies had prepared a fine repast for them, paid for by the business men of the town. It was a fine dinner, and I express in like one of the Terrell trustees, who said, "I just wanted to throw my hat in the air and hallow, hurray for Brownfield." And he didn't seem to be any exception of the rule.

In the afternoon the body was addressed for about two hours by Prof. Clark of the State Dept. of Education who was given rapid attention to recent into details about the new school laws, and advice to trustees concerning their problems. He advised the small two and three teacher schools of the county to send their two or three advanced pupils to the high schools of the county and pay their tuition of $45 rather than waste perhaps a third of the teacher's time which should be given to the other perhaps nine-tenths in the lower grades. He said that too many people thought that a two teacher school could give eight or nine grades the attention they ought to have. He illustrated the fallacy of the idea by illustration of the Brownfield school, which has practically two teachers for every grade. Many of these students will likely be transferred here this fall.

The rest of the afternoon was spent in round table discussion, and many fine talks were heard.

Judge Winston has called a meeting of the county school boards for August 29th, at 2 o'clock, at which time they will take up the matter of classifying the rural high schools. It is hoped that a full membership will be on hand at that time, and that this important work can be put over in good shape.

Three of our band boys have just returned from Palacios, Tex., where they went with the Tech College band to make music for the 36th division National Guard encampment. They were Joe Shelton, Adolphus Smith and Darrell Jackson. James Harley Dallas, saxophonist was also asked to go, but could not get off. The boys report a good time, and all expenses were paid and a small sum of money per day besides.

Local Band Boys Return From Encampment

Joe Shelton got a rank as first class musician and drew $2.00 per day, while the other boys got $1.00 per day, we understand. The Tech band got the award as the best band in attendance.

Joe will attend the East Baptist College at East Texas this term, as he has an aunt there with whom he will board, and he has accepted a position there that will pay his way through school.

Judge Gillespie Passed Away Tuesday Morn.

It was with deep sorrow to his many friends here Tuesday morning, when they read a telegram to E. T. Powell from Miss Mary Gillespie, that her father, Judge O. W. Gillespie had passed to the Great Beyond that morning.

The writer first knew Judge Gillespie when he was Congressman from the old 12th district, composed of Tarrant, Parker, Johnson, Hood, Bosque, Erath and Comanche counties, and the first time we ever remember having seen him was during the summer of 1903 when he spoke at a farmers' picnic at Grandview, Texas. At that time he made a lasting impression of his earnestness and faithfulness to the things he believed to be right, and never have we had occasion since to change our opinion of Hon. O. W. Gillespie. He served his constituency well and faithfully as congressman for three terms. He has held other positions of honor at the hands of the voters of Tarrant county, and his record of service is without blemish.

About five years ago Judge Gillespie moved to Brownfield and entered a law partnership with Joe J. McGuire, present mayor of this city, and while his health was broken, he soon built up a good practice. He had a large part in every move here for the civic and industrial advancement of the town, and took special pride in helping to develop the district educationally. He served a term as member of the school board, and was its president as long as he remained here. He also took great interest in the advancement of the churches of the town, and not only attended regularly but had a large share in the Sunday School work, and was always to be found there—on time to a minute—if able to be out at all.

But his advanced years and waning health, together with high blood pressure would not permit him to remain in this high altitude, and he had to return to Fort Worth where he had a nice home, after remaining here for more than a year.

Judge Gillespie has been for years a member of the First Baptist Church of Fort Worth, a Mason and Odd Fellow. His many faithful friends here offer deep sympathy to the bereaved relatives.

New Organization to Promote Highway

Midland, Aug. 18.—Delegates from various towns along the new proposed highway to connect the Amarillo and Midland oil fields organized a highway association in Seminole this week to seek designation of the proposed road. The organization is composed of five county judges of the counties through which the road is routed and of three representatives from the chambers of commerce in Odessa, Midland, Seminole, Andrews, Seagraves and Brownfield.

The five county judges are: H. R. Winston, Terry; R. W. Pittman, Gaines; S. E. Underwood, Andrews; G. T. Hendricks, Erath; M. E. Hill, Midland. Judge Winston was made chairman and Judge Hill, secretary. The county judges of Lubbock, Hale, Swisher, Randall and Potter were asked to lend their moral support to the movement, as the proposed road will connect at Brownfield with a road into Amarillo.

A. L. Huff, president of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting, which was called by Judge Pittman. Talks were made by Henry E. Veldt, Odessa; Judge Winston; M. C. Neuma, Andrews; Rev. Mr. Watkins, Seagraves; Paul T. Vickers, Midland. Motion was made by Rev. Mr. Watkins and amended by J. E. Shelton, Brownfield and Judge N. R. Morgan, Seminole, brought about the organization of the body. The highway association will determine the routing of the road south of Andrews to the Bankhead highway. Midland now has a designated road to Andrews.

Extension of the proposed Gulf & West Texas railway from Corpus Christi to San Angelo, on to Midland and thence via Seminole and Seagraves into Amarillo will be sought by a railway committee formed in Seminole this week. Judge N. R. Morgan, of Seminole chief opponent

Santa Fe Publication Helps Boost Old Terry

The Herald had a nice letter from Mr. J. F. Jarrell, of Topeka, Kansas, last week complimenting us on a recent article concerning Mr. J. L. Sims of the southwestern part of the county. Mr. Jarrell is the manager of the Agricultural Department of the Santa Fe system, and of course naturally takes like a duck to articles concerning Santa Fe territory where their farmers are making good.

After profusely complimenting the article in question he said he was going to take the liberty of reproducing it in full in "The Earth" official agricultural magazine of the Santa Fe railroad, and of course it will reach thousands of readers in the north and east that have their eyes on the South Plains of Texas. In fact, in the same mail a gentleman in Pennsylvania wrote us for sample copies of the Herald saying that he had seen mention of the Herald in the Earth. So you see results of the article are already evident.

Mr. Jarrell announced that in the near future he aimed to visit this section, and it would give him pleasure to call on the Herald while here. When he visits Brownfield, it is the aim of the Herald to furnish him with cuts of Terry county farms and products to be used in "The Earth" if he wishes to use them, and in this way, we will get some mighty good publicity that will cost us nothing.

Mr. J. C. Barton, Supt. of the Station division sent the copy of the Herald in question to Mr. Jarrell.

Anson Booster Led by "Uncle Walt" Here

Some 75 or 100 Anson people, composed mostly of Boy Scouts and firemen, with a sprinkling of the business men, headed by that good reproduction of the comic strip, "Uncle Walt" were in our city a few minutes last Wednesday, on their way home from the Caribbea Tavern. We failed to note "Sixenit" in the crowd, though.

It seems that the crowd of originally 150 divided on their return, some of them going back the same route they came, but the band came by Brownfield, and gave us a few good selections, after which J. E. Shelton, secretary of the chamber of commerce announced that cream awaited them at the Alexander Drug Store, and a big scramble was made by the hungry boys for the store, after which they got under way for another lap toward home.

Some eighteen years ago the editor called Anson his home but not "narry" a one did we recognize, or saw one that looked familiar out of the 100 people here. Time makes a big change in a western town. But some of the more recent Anson people who have moved here knew a lot of them personally, such, for instance as C. D. Bullard.

Our people tried to show them a nice time while here, and we believe succeeded, and we hope to see more of these good people.

MAKING THE DAYS

"Do you love me darling?"
"Of course I do Herbert!"
"Herbert! My name's Arthur!"
"Why, so it is. I keep thinking that today is Monday."

In the banking of the old Midland & Northwestern railway, was selected secretary and gave full authority to act for the interested towns, Midland, Andrews, Seminole, Seagraves, and Brownfield in getting the line extended. The proposed extension would go either north from San Angelo to Midland, or west from San Angelo to Rankin and thence to Midland, use the tracks of the Midland & Northwestern to Seminole, thence to Seagraves where connection would be made with the Santa Fe, and route opened to Amarillo.

J. E. Shelton, Secretary of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, whose idea for a road was incorporated in a motion by Paul T. Vickers, Secretary of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, was made president.

The organization will point out that such a road would give direct connection between Midland and Amarillo and that they would tap a territory financially rich in both agriculture and oil.—Amarillo News.

City Owes Me Nothing —View of Rotarian

The City of Brownfield owes me nothing. If accounts were balanced at this date, I would be the debtor. Haven't I lived within the limits of the city and shared all its benefits? Haven't I had the benefit of its schools, churches and band entertainments? Haven't I had the use of its library, parks and public places? Haven't I had the protection of its fire, police and health departments? Haven't its people, during all this time, been gathering for me, from the four corners of the earth, food for my table, clothing for my body and material for my home? Hasn't this city furnished the patronage by which I have succeeded in my business or profession? Hasn't it furnished the best friends of my life, whose ideals have been my inspiration, whose kind words have been my cheer and whose helpfulness has carried me over my greatest difficulties? What shall I give in return? Not simply pay the taxes which cover so small a part of what I have received. I want to give more; I want of my own free will, to give enough so that I can rightfully say, This is my city, so that I can take pride in its prosperity, in the honors which come to its citizens, and in all that makes it greater and better. I can do this only by becoming a part of the city,—by giving to it generously of myself and services. In this way only can I, even in a small way, pay the debt I owe to my home town Brownfield and the people. In the Rotary Club, I see my opportunity and I welcome it. For Rotary is based upon Service. HE PROFITS MOST WHO SERVES BEST. Service above self.—Contributed.

CHEVROLET LEADS SALE OF ANY MAKE CARS FOR JULY

Figures just released show that for the seventh consecutive month Chevrolet registrations have led every other single make of car in Wayne county, Mich., in which Detroit is the leading center.

During July just ended Chevrolet not only topped every other make of car by registering 935 passenger models, but also led the list of truck registrations with 106 commercial cars, an increase of more than 100 per cent over Chevrolet's own high mark in July, 1926.

Commenting on these records, R. H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales, declared that "Chevrolet's consistent leadership is a definite tribute to the public's utter confidence in and appreciation for our cars."

"It is especially significant that Wayne county should show this overwhelming preference for Chevrolets. Wayne county is the center of the industry. The people here live on and work in the automobile factories. They are motor wise. They do not put their stamp of approval on a car unless they believe that it represents the utmost in motor car value."

Chevrolet factories, Mr. Grant said are continuing their record-setting pace by turning out more than 3,500 units daily, so fast that by the middle of August the entire output for 1926 was expected to be passed.

CARILLON MUSIC OF RARE BEAUTY

Expresses by Melodies True Spirit of Country.

Four hundred years ago Charles V. Roman emperor and (as Charles I) king of Spain, inherited the territory now within the boundaries of Holland and Belgium.

Within this territory a civic music of rare beauty came into being—a music which, while continuing ever since and increasingly holding a place in the love of its people, has been until lately almost unknown outside the boundaries of its origin.

Gradually since the time when Charles V reigned this music has been wonderfully developed. Today it is widely commanding artistic consideration and, with its noble architectural setting, it is coming to be recognized as peculiarly fitted to adorn and stimulate civic and community life everywhere.

The region of which this article treats extends from the North sea shores inward for fifty miles or more in plains which are largely just above high tide.

On every side one sees scores of cities, towns and villages. In the foreground these are clearly defined, but in the middle distance they become less distinct, and on the horizon in soft and misty outline they almost disappear.

In every such extended view, above town hall and city gate and ancient church, rises dominant here a rugged tower, there a tall belfry or a graceful, slender spire. And each of these skyward-soaring structures becomes for the traveler a singing tower if, on nearer approach, he finds it crowned with that majestic instrument of music called a carillon.

The word "carillon"—pronounced "carillon," with the "o" as in "atom"—and the derivative, "carillonneur," are French in origin, but now generally accepted in English.

After crossing the Atlantic we touched at Plymouth and at Boulogne, and then on a Friday night came in sight of the shores of the Netherlands. At the mouth of the river Maas (Meuse) we waited for the high tide at two in the morning, to make it possible for our great ship to steam slowly up to Rotterdam.

Here we found the tower of St. Lawrence's church, whose old bells make not merely a great musical instrument, but by their melodies express the spirit of the country over which they sound.

De Amieis, the Italian traveler, after climbing the tower of St. Lawrence, said that the indefinable sentiments inspired by the Dutch landscape held him silent for a long time. Then he was startled by strange music coming from he knew not where—the silvery notes now falling slowly one by one, now coming in groups, in trills, in sonorous chords, a quaint dancing strain somewhat primitive, an echo of the ancient life of her people, making one smile and sigh at the same moment.

Papers Run at Loss

Figures recently published show that about 80 per cent of the newspapers in Rumania operate at a loss. That print paper is dear, that the prices of the publications have not been sufficiently increased since the World war, and that advertisements are scarce are leading arguments advanced as reasons for this state of affairs. But some trained observers believe that the real reason is that, like the press of other continental countries, that of Rumania is too political and not sufficiently informative. Every political party has its newspaper, but the circulation is necessarily small because there are so many parties. Those newspapers that have set themselves to print news in the real sense of the word pay their way, although they cannot afford to reward their staffs with high or even living wages.

Mr. Grimm's Wisdom

"We are often warned, with uplifted hands and rolling eyes, against the temptations of the city," said old Gauntton Grimm, addressing his pinfeathery nephew who was about to pay the big burg a visit. "But I have noticed that the temptations that beset us are more in the man than in the place. If a feller is determined to be ornery he can get into trouble right here at home, while if he is set upon minding his own business he can go pretty nearly anywhere without having the gent with the horns run out and grab him. A man who isn't hunting for temptation rarely has it thrust upon him, while if you are seeking it you can find it even if you are glued down to a flat rock in the midst of a great desert."—Kansas City Star.

Record Short Trial

The suggestion recently made at the British prison congress for double trials, in order to expedite the work of the law courts, has recalled the dispatch with which cases were handled in the Eighteenth century at the Old Bailey. The shortest trial on record is supposed to have been one in which a man was sentenced to seven years' transportation for picking a pocket of a handkerchief on Ludgate hill. The summing up was: "Gentlemen, I suppose you have no doubt? I have none." The passing of the sentence was: "Jones, we have met before; we shall not meet again for some time." The whole proceedings occupied two minutes fifty-three seconds.

QUESTION BOX

ON HEALTHY subjects Edited by STATE DEPARTMENT of

HEALTH

J C Anderson, M.D. State H.O.

THIS column will be given to discussion of matters pertaining to public health. Any questions regarding public health administration, prevention of diseases, child care, sanitation, etc., will be answered in succeeding issues of this paper. Questions in regard to cure of diseases will not be answered, as the scope of this Department includes only disease prevention. Address: Question Box, State Department of Health, Austin.

ASK ME ANOTHER

1. Is there any virtue in the old saying, "let a child be exposed to children's diseases and get them over with?"—Mrs. F. J.
2. Give a general diet for small children.—Young Mother.
3. Is the jack rabbit a carrier of the organism causing infantile paralysis?—Mrs. A. D. S., Mies.
4. What causes infantile paralysis, and is there any way of preventing it?—Mrs. L., Lubbock.
5. What is the cause of measles?—Mrs. B., Lubbock.
6. What service does the Bureau of child Hygiene offer mothers in this state?—Reader, West Texas.
7. How can a county receive state aid in establishing a county public health nursing service?

Answers

1. It is never wise to expose a child to any disease. As a rule, the younger the child, the more severe and permanent are the "after effects" or complications of a disease. Then, too, the older the child grows, the less his susceptibility to most diseases becomes. If he escapes infection from children's diseases when young, he will probably escape them for life, and will be just that much better off physically. The good health and lives of many children have been needlessly sacrificed through the foolish notion that a child should have children's diseases while young and "get them over with."

2. A general diet for children include from a pint to a quart of milk of safe quality daily; two vegetables each day, one of which should be of the leafy variety; fresh fruit every day if possible, and dried fruit on days when no fresh fruit is given; cereals once a day with milk or cream and bread and butter sandwiches; soft cooked eggs; very little sweets—none between meals; very little meat; no tea or coffee. Parents having children who are sickly, or who have delicate digestive systems, should see their family physician as to a diet suited to the individual needs of such children.

3. While a few have advanced the theory that the jack rabbit might be responsible for the transmission of infantile paralysis, there is no proof of this theory. This supposition arose, perhaps, from the fact that there occurs in lower animals, as rabbits and dogs, a form of paralysis with symptoms somewhat similar to those found in infantile paralysis.

4. Anterior poliomyelitis, which is the proper name of infantile paralysis, is caused by a specific organism, but the mode of transmission of this organism has not been definitely determined. This caustive germ apparently exists in the nose and throat secretions of the victim of the disease, and frequently in the secretions of a contact. The bowel discharges may also contain the contagion. There may be other methods of transmission.

5. The cause of measles is unknown. While measles is usually a mild disease, it is unwise to consider a case of measles lightly, as not infrequently a secondary lung complications arise which may result in death. Never expose a child to measles unnecessarily.

6. The Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health, Austin, offers to expectant mothers a series of prenatal letters, giving instruction as to diet, hygiene, and other health matters pertinent to this critical time in a woman's life, as well as giving patterns for approved maternity dress and baby layette. This service is all free for the asking. This bureau also has literature on infant and child care, which is sent upon request.

7. The State Department of Health has a limited fund which is used for establishing a public health nursing service for counties on a cooperative basis. Any organization interested in establishing such a service in their county, should write the State Department of Health for further information.

"I AM THE COUNTRY WEEKLY"

Lest we forget the fundamental place of the Country Weekly in the lives of any community, or misunderstood the rise or decline of a community because of the presence or absence of such an essential to modern progress, let us read and reread the following characterization by Prof. Bristow Adams of Cornell University, says the Research Department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers: "I am the Country Weekly. I am the friend of the family, the bringer of tidings from other friends; I speak to the home in the evening light on summer's vineclad porch or the glow of winter's lamp. I help to make this evening hour; I record the great and the small, the varied acts of the days and weeks that go to make up life. I am for and of the home; I follow those who leave humble beginnings; whether they go to greatness or to the gutter, I take to them the thrill of the old days, with wholesome messages. I speak the language of the common man; my words are fitted to his understanding. My congregation is larger than that of any church in town; my readers are more than those in the school. Young and old alike find in me stimulation, instruction, entertainment, inspiration, solace, comfort. I am the chronicler of birth, and love, and death—the three great facts of existence. I bring together buyer and seller to the benefit of both; I am a part of the market place of the world. Into the home I carry words of the goods which feed, and clothe, and shelter, and which administer to comfort, ease, health, and happiness. I am the work of the week, the history of the year, the record of my community in the archives of the state and nation. I am the exponent of the lives of my readers. I am the Country Weekly."

Now every dealer in merchandise, whether pumps or pants, newcomer or old settler, should analyze his own contribution to his Country Weekly in the way of subscriptions and paid space. If he hasn't helped make that paper, he hasn't done his full duty by his community, nor has he reaped the full harvest from his selling efforts as a result.

Gorgeous Floral Welcome

When the triennial Episcopal convention met in New Orleans, besides the welcome of handshakes visitors were greeted by flowers of purple and gold, nodding and smiling from every garden and porch. Nooks hitherto unplanted were coaxed into showing what they could do. Much care was given to planting to produce the desired floral effect. The facility with which flowers can be grown in Louisiana warranted expectation that the city would present a brilliant picture. The purple salvia, dwarf yellow marigolds, zinnias and cosmos, all of which are at their best in September and October, were associated with purple budelya, lantern and wild ageratum to produce the effect desired for the official flower welcome to the visitors.

Lapland Impressions

Dora Lazarick in the London News says these things most impressed her in Lapland, which she recently visited:

The absence of night. The sight of a herd of reindeer fording a river, the young being towed across by holding on to the left ear of the mother.

That many of the wild flowers are the same as those of an English meadow.

The smallness of the trees. The sad faces of the Lapp women. That, unlike Switzerland, nothing is commercialized; one pays no admission fee to gorges and waterfalls, nor even to Lapp huts.

Impressive Lesson

A motorist from New York city with a feminine companion was regaling her with chocolate creams at Hartsdale, N. Y. As they munched and gazed they threw out the paper wrappings on the parkway. Then Officer McCabe, of the parkway police, shot up beside them and asked if they were enjoying themselves. When they admitted that they were, he said that it was the intention of the parkway authorities that all others should be similarly privileged; and he made the young man walk back four miles and pick up all the papers, personally conducting him on his motorcycle.

No man's world is any bigger than the man himself. That which his eye can see, his ear can hear, his heart can feel, make up for him the universe. For no man has anything he can't use. What good is money to a Hottentot, or a magnificent picture to an idiot? The whole world for you lies under your hat, and it is just as large and just as varied as your own mind will let it become—Aspermont Star.

To our notion it is going to be many years before air navigation is as safe as land traveling or even water navigation, and in view of the fact that only in the past few days several have lost their lives trying to fly to the Sandwich Islands, not to mention those a little early that tried to come over from France and have never been heard of since. In the face of all this, there are people who will stand up and argue that there are less people killed in airplanes than in automobiles or trains. Sure, there is per mile traveled, perhaps, but while the plane generally carry one or two automobiles and trains are carrying their thousands.

Who gives a tinker's dam about Terry county outside of its own people, its own business men and its own newspapers? Does the fellow away off in the big cities care whether the farmers raise a bale of cotton or a load of corn or not? Who else cares how many leaf worms we have, or how many of our people are sick, crippled or hungry? Who else in the world is ready to sympathize with us in the loss by death of a relative or friend? Who else but Terry county folks cares how many of our merchants go broke? Therefore, when we consider these facts we cannot but help admit that it is to our advantage to stay with the home farmer, the home merchant, the home preacher and teacher, and the home paper.

Local bankers inform us that there is plenty of money at the command of the local bankers now at the cheapest rate that money could be had for several years past, in fact at a rate between 3 and 4 percent, and it is not call money either. However, there are very few small corresponding banks that are availing themselves of this money for the reason that there is not a great demand for money, as people are living within their incomes more than for years past. It was our understanding a few days ago that neither of the local banks had borrowed a penny this year, but were using their own money altogether. This being the case all over the country, has cheapened money until there are gobs of it to let at a cheap rate of interest.

Both the Herad and its editor are celebrating birthdays this week, the Herad being 23 Friday and the editor—well, we're no spring chicken as age goes—yet we are not an old stove up rooster, either, for we feel our keeping yet, and sometimes our lack of dignity kindly grates on the nerves of our better half, when company comes, as well as perhaps some of our friends. We still get ticked at comic picture shows just like other kids, and there are people right here in Brownfield who wait until they find out what night we are going in order to get a double kick—at the picture and our laughing. The Herad has been making the present owner and family a tolerable living for more than 18 years of its existence, for which we thank it.

A preacher, says an exchange came at a newspaper in this way: "You editors do not tell the truth, if you did you could not live, your newspaper would be a failure." The editor replied: "You are right, and the minister who at all times and under all circumstances tells the whole truth about his members, alive or dead, will not occupy his pulpit more than one Sunday, and then he will find it necessary to leave town in a hurry. The press and the pulpit go hand in hand, with whitewash brushes and pleasant words, magnifying little virtues into big ones. The pulpit the pen, and the gravestone are the great saint-making triumvirate." And the minister went away looking very thoughtful while the editor turned to his work and told of the unsurpassing beauty of the bride, while in fact she was as homely as a mud fence.

WHAT CHRIST MEANT TO TENNYSON

One evening in his maturer life, Tennyson and his skeptic college friend walked in the garden and talked about many things—living over again the happy golden days of youth. The visitor, shifting the conversation, said, "Alfred, I cannot believe in the tenets of your religion, but I do believe in you, your integrity, high moral purpose and unspotted purity; pray tell me, what does the prophet of Nazareth really mean to you?" The poet, after a moment's reflection, plucked a rose from its bush and, holding it up to the radiant splendor of the setting sun, replied: "My friend, what that sun yonder is to this flower, giving it vitality and beauty and fragrance—that is Jesus Christ to my soul and life."—Select-ed.

Four samples of Brownfield city water was recently sent to the Department of Health at Austin. All were found to contain no contamination.

Tom May and Walter Gracey, the managers of the C. D. Shamburger Lumber Co., and the Magnolia Petroleum Co., have put some nice seats in the Courthouse park. If other business firms would follow suit, we would soon have a fine place for the people to be seated.

S-I-X-T-Y AND NO REGRETS

Age should have its compensations. It should be free from all worries and responsibilities of younger years. There should be no financial worries, and there are none for the man who during producing years spent less than he earned and banked the difference.

At any age, it is neither too soon nor too late, to be moderate in all things and become comfortably independent. This bank has a special department which is prepared to serve you in connection with your saving plan. Let us explain how it can be of assistance to you.

Jew Even Now Is Not at Home in Jerusalem

One morning, with much the same feeling as when I stepped from the pullman to the edge of the Grand Canyon or entered Charley Brown's barber shop to get my first adolescent shave, I passed through the Jaffa gate, writes H. Bon-Shanar in the Menorah Journal. Ahead of me strode a lemonade vender, clinking his brass cups to call the thirsty to the pinkish mess that filled his enormous glass jar. From a distance rose the cry of an oriental market in the full swing of advertisement and vituperation. As I stumbled over the rough paving I was vaguely aware of the stone mass of the Tower of David. Once it was behind me I considered that after all my trepidation and dallying I was at length in Jerusalem. I raised my head and looked about. I saw the offices of a tourists agency.

I entered a long stone passage, lined with shops, more a flight of steps than a street. It was bound together with stone arches. It was hung with drapers' goods, dead sheep, shoes and kerchiefs. It was thronged with an unwashed multitude, their heads bobbing up from the lower depths as they climbed the grade, turbaned heads, skull-capped heads, veiled heads, wimpled heads (women of Bethlehem), turbaned heads, cap-packed heads, derby-crowned heads, nose-and-ear-ringed heads. It creaked with noise. It brayed with asses and tinkled with camels. It danced with gesticulation.

Vegetable, fruit and meat shops grew thicker, the odor of garlic began to mount, the earlocks fell longer, strings of sausage swung into view, and I saw a sign, "Nathan Straus Milk Station." I was in the Jewish quarter. There is pathos in the phrase, "Jewish quarter," and more in the reality it describes. One does not and cannot speak of a French quarter in Paris or an American quarter in Washington. But the Jew, traditional, orthodox, Yiddish-speaking or Sephardic Jew, native to the city for generations, is as much a stranger in Jerusalem as he is in London. Despite the fact that the majority of the population are Jews, Jerusalem is again as it was those thousands of years gone, one of the cities "which ye build not, yet ye dwell in them."

Slightly Exaggerated

One of the recent batch of Florida stories had it that Brown, a former resident of Columbus, Ohio, had made a killing in Florida real estate. He had cleaned up $50,000 in three months at Miami, Fla., so the story went.

A former neighbor, hearing about it, became quite excited and hustled into Brown's brother's office and said: "By George, that's great about Bill making $50,000 in Florida in three months. It's just great, now, isn't it?"

Brown's brother said: "It wasn't in Florida, Texas in California, and they got the story mixed just a little. It was three years and not three months."

"That doesn't make any difference," interrupted friend neighbor, full of enthusiasm. "By George, he made the money!"

Brown's brother continued: "They also got the amount wrong. It was $5,000 instead of $50,000, and—and he didn't make it—he lost it!"—Forbes Magazine.

Audrey's Opinion

Little Audrey gazed in rapt fascination at a contortionist in a vaudeville show.

"Mamma," she laughingly said to her mother, "That man has no more bones than a plate of ice cream."

NOT ON THE SPOT

Little Tommy had a sore toe, so his mother thought this a good opportunity to make him eat his cereal.

"Tommy," she said, "if you eat your oatmeal, it will cure your toe." Shortly afterward Tommy came to his mother with a very disgusted air. "I ate my cereal," he said, "but my toe isn't any better. I guess the darn stuff went down the wrong leg."—Judge.

Have you ever made good on one job.. for 39 years?

THE extra mileage you get from Dunlop tires starts with the fact that Dunlop has had thirty-nine years of tire-building experience—more than any other tire-maker.

Each part of each Dunlop is built right. Dunlop owns its own cotton mills to spin selected long-fibre cotton into the special Dunlop cable-twist cords.

These cords mean extra strength—an added factor of safety against constant load and pounding of roads—longer life and greater mileage.

They mean extra "stretch"—so the tire carcass will give under blows, and come back to its original shape without the slightest injury.

Every Dunlop you buy has extra miles built into it because Dunlop knows each part of its job. That is why we recommend you put Dunlops on your car.

BEWARE OF THE DEADLY DOTTED LINE

By W. R. MOREHOUSE
Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

WITHDRAWING the family's savings account at the bank where it is safe, and losing it through speculation is a serious matter. It may bring great hardship, especially to the mistress of the home. It may force great economies in household management or amount to actual privation. It may mean that the children will have to go to work before they complete their education. The loss of the family's accumulations may even result in physical breakdown on the part of the wife through worry over the loss of savings which she helped to accumulate at the sacrifice of home comforts, but was not consulted when it came to investing them. The making of investments by men who are heads of families and inexperienced in finance should not be undertaken without consulting her. But even if both agree the venture should be talked over with the local banker or information about it obtained from the National Better Business Bureau in New York, which serves without cost and purely in the public interest. If this is done a lot of trouble and quite likely many regrets and heartaches will be avoided.

W. R. MOREHOUSE

There is one point in the activities of the inexperienced investor where he should have above all a red light stop signal to cause him to pause and investigate and that is just before he reaches the decision to "sign on the dotted line." Before you part with your savings in the bank by signing a contract placed before you by sharp promoters, stop, examine and investigate! It will pay to read the contract several times, even reading it aloud, all the while weighing every term. It will pay to be on guard against the deadly fine print usually incorporated in most contracts,—so small that it strains your eyes and causes you to skim over it superficially. Do not sign blindfolded. It will pay well to take plenty of time to study the contract by yourself where all is quiet and you are free from the personal influence of the persuasive promoter, for to sign without the calmest consideration may spell your Waterloo financially.

Unless dealing with a responsible firm or individual, never sign on the dotted line. If in the least doubt, don't sign. Never sign on verbal assurances that you are fully protected. Terms stated orally but not incorporated in a contract are not binding. Glowing promises, wild exaggerations and gross misstatements of facts are seldom reduced to writing or made in the presence of your witnesses. Your failure to read and to understand a contract before signing is not a legal excuse. When you sign a contract you proclaim that you agree with its terms and will abide by and endeavor to carry them out.

Don't sign just because some high-pressure salesman tells you that you are a wonder, or that you show good judgment, or that you have a lot of sense. Sign only when you are fully convinced that your interests are fully protected.

Prominent Men Used as Scenery
A number of slick promoters recently organized in a certain city an "automobile club" with the assurance that it would soon erect a number of downtown garages where busy business men could park their cars. As an inducement for business men to take out memberships, charges to them for storage were to be nominal, much less than a like service could be obtained elsewhere. A Board of Governors was organized with the names of prominent local citizens, among them two eminent judges. No sooner was the organization of the board complete than the promoters armed with the endorsement of these outstanding men, went forth to reap a great harvest by selling memberships. They got the members—but the building of the garages remained an idle dream.

When the members of the Board of Governors were later interviewed as to how they came to consent to the use of their names they stated that they thought the additional storage facilities were needed in the downtown district and they signed up without looking into the proposition carefully. Imagine their chagrin when told that a reading of the by-laws of the organization showed that the Board of Governors had no powers but had been used merely as scenery in order to sell memberships in a fake proposition!

Because these prominent citizens were careless with their names and failed to read and to investigate the enterprise, hundreds of business men bought memberships only to lose their money. Signing without reading is about the most dangerous act of financial carelessness that can be committed.

NEW FORD IS COMING OUT IN ABOUT TWO WEEKS

The new Ford car, described as a little brother to the Lincoln, will be introduced to the public within two weeks according to the Chicago Herald-Examiner.

Although failing to give the source of its information, the Herald-Examiner offers a brief description of the new car, which W. B. Tudor, manager of the Tudor Sales Co., local Ford dealer, believes to be substantially correct. The Chicago newspaper article continues as follows:

"A standard gear shift with clutch actually a small sized Lincoln transmission, replaces the old planetary system. The engine has a larger bore and longer stroke and will, it is said, develop a speed of 55 miles an hour in second gear, and 68 miles an hour in high. Four wheel brakes, wire wheels and balloon tires are standard equipment. The new car, it is said, will sell for $30 to $50 more than the present model. It will appear in almost any color combination the buyer desires.

The motor has four cylinders, I-head type cast in block, with a 3 7/8 inch bore and a 4 1/2 inch stroke, developing 2,500 to 2,700 revolutions a minute. A high gear ratio gives the car its speed. The timer, the bugbear of Ford owners, is replaced with a Lincoln type of distributor. There will be no part of the new Ford interchangeable with parts of the model T, it is said, the car being entirely new.

The car will appear in six models, sport roadster, business and sport coupes, tudor and four-door sedans and touring cars, and a ton truck."

SMALL BABIES CAN'T ADJUST TO HEAT

Small babies have a hard time in hot weather. Their delicate systems are unable to cope with extremes of temperature, for they are not adjusted to the rigors of life, explains Dr. J. L. Blumenthal, director of the bureau of child hygiene of the New York City health department.

Part of the process of growing up is this adjustment of life which concerns, to some extent, the sympathetic nervous system. This nervous system controls such involuntary processes as digestion and, being extremely delicate, is easily upset by changing external conditions. That is why so many babies have digestive difficulties during the hot weather and why their food supply must be especially safeguarded from spoilage or infection.

ONE-ARM DRIVING

"Girls were harder to kiss in your day, weren't they, grandpa?" asked the bright young college freshman. "Mebbe," was the response, "but it wasn't so blame dangerous in them days—the old parlor sofa wouldn't smash into a tree just about that time."

Distriet Attorney T. L. Price became a regular reader of the Herald this week.

SO THAT'S THAT

Our attention has been repeatedly called to a heading in last week's Advance, which said: "Former Young Lady Married," etc. It is not our policy to acknowledge an error, no matter how glaring it may be—it is much easier to justify the error. Hence, we maintain that no correction is needed. She "was" a young lady, and theoretically and technically she is no longer a young lady after marriage. Married ladies are old ladies, at least they are older than they were before marriage. Marriage brings age to the bride and humility to the groom, there's no getting by the proposition.

We do not have space to go into a comprehensive discussion of this matter, but those who are interested will find our point fully sustained in Mr. Kgladmezkersky's "Aping the Ape," volume XXXVVVIII, page 984762. —Rotan Advance.

HEROES AND PATRIOTS

In a western town there lives a hero a fireman who carried a child down a ladder from a burning tenement in the midst of flames and smoke. He was badly injured while performing his brave deed and spent many weeks in the hospital. He received the acclaim of the public. We laud his courage. This is as it should be.

There is another man in the same city who has received little or no attention. No one has ever thought of calling him a hero. He is the quiet, hard-headed business man who builds his tenements so that those who live in them are free from the fear of fire. He has saved dozens of lives by preventing fires.

It is too bad that fire prevention cannot be made spectacular. However, we can at least honor the man who minimizes fire loss by spending thought and money in its prevention.

She: "All is over between us and I am going to give you back your ring. There is another man."

He: "Tell me his name and address."

She: "You are going to kill him?"

He: "By no means! I want to sell him the ring."

Both revivals here are still under way and both drawing good crowds. The fact that revivals are under way in most of the communities hereabouts.

MEADOW BRIEFS

By Aesculapias.

The plant of the Meadow Review is being prepared for removal to another location. The plant was bought by Mr. Stockton Henry of Lubbock, and the paper by Mr. Redman. The paper has been of great benefit to Meadow and while the paper will be continued, we regret to see the machinery taken away. We hope the new management will be given all the patronage possible as a paper is almost indispensable to a growing town.

The former editor, Mr. James A. Greer, was here Saturday and prepared his household effects for removal to Rochester, Texas, and the family left in the late afternoon for their new home. Our people regret to part with them. They were great favorites in the social life as well as church workers in our town. We wish for them the very best that can happen.

The past week found our people in the midst of a meeting at the Church of Christ. The program was carried out altogether by some of the young men of the church and much favorable comment has been made on the efforts of the youngsters. Two additions to the church were made as a result of the meeting.

Wednesday night the Methodist began a meeting with the Rev. Watkins doing the preaching. His sermons are interesting and he appears to be very much in earnest. The attendance is large, and the meeting still in progress and may go on through the week.

Revivals everywhere seem to be attended with better results than for many years. May the work continue and the country be put on a better basis religiously.

Mr. Robert Findley and Miss Willie Forgas were quietly married Wednesday evening, Rev. Tiner performing the ceremony. The youngsters have a host of friends who wish them success and happiness in the new relation. Who will be next? We continue to hear surmises.

The school board has raised the value of most of the property hereabouts, much to the displeasure of many. However, if we are to have a nine months school, the raise was an absolute necessity. I don't fancy paying big taxes, but the people have built a house at big expense, made application for an affiliated school, and it is folly to kick at the added expense. A little cussing on the side will perhaps end the incident.

Our friends, Perry Deckard and Perkins have returned from their pilgrimage spying out the promised land, but unlike the spies of old, they didn't bring back any large bunches of grapes I used to see pictured when I was a lad. Besides they seem completely cured of the Ozark fever that has been prevalent in these parts. There are worse places than the Plains. Perry may go some, where but it won't be the Ozarks.

BLUE RIBBON ENTERTAINMENTS

The newest constructive enterprise in connection with popular motion picture entertainment is to the direct benefit—strange to say—of the picture going public. Picture patrons themselves, through the managers of local theatres throughout the State of Texas, are given an opportunity to indicate in a very emphatic way the general character of the entertainment they demand "for the whole family."

This is all to the credit of the organization known as the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Texas, and to leading daily newspapers, which have been prompt in giving their cooperation. These influences, whose interests are identical with those of the picture going public, have created a Screen Committee of experts which previews the new films produced at the different studios as soon as they are received at the Dallas centre of distribution, and from among the best of these select one each month which is found to be the most deserving of the honor of its Blue Ribbon Award.

In this way the Texas theatre owners expect to be able to add twelve pictures of the year's program of 100 per cent entertainment, in addition to the year's list of outstanding productions which are so early and well advertised that the public knows all about them in advance of any opportunity to actually see them. Blue Ribbon pictures, for the most part are those unassuming, little-advertised productions, which, because of the human interest in their stories and their flawless interpretations, are found so fascinating by both young and old.

With characteristic thoroughness the theatre owners have provided striking colored seals, which they display on the advertising posters of all Blue Ribbon pictures. The most distinguished feature of this seal is its bright yellow centre, which stands out in big black letters the promise, "You'll Want

Thank You." Watch your local theatre's posters, and the newspaper advertisements and you can't miss the Blue Ribbon pictures.
