NUMBER 30

Chamber of Commerce By the Secretary

The Farm Short Course is a thing of the past and according to opinions of those who attended it was one of the most successful meetings of that nature ever held in our county. Two statements that were made by Hon. H. S. Mobley, (who was in charge of the party) that we should be proud of, was first that in his experience of more than twenty years, the Brownfield meeting was the first one in which all arrangements had been completed and that commenced on time. A subsequent statement made by him was, that our school children were the most orderly and best controlled of any that he had ever had the pleasure of addressing. You will remember that the Santa Fe Agricultural party made the same remark as to the children. Statements like the above speak well for the training of our children both at home and in our schools.

The directors of the chamber of commerce held their first monthly luncheon Tuesday at noon and disposed of several matters concerning the development of our country and it is believed that much good will result from the program outlined. Several important matters had to be carried over until another meeting on account of not having sufficient time within which to dispose of them.

Several citizens who have not heretofore been affiliated with the chamber of commerce, have joined within the past few days, but there is still some who should be assisting toward the development of the country with either time or money and it is hoped that these will be with us before the month is closed.

Have you ever thought of Brownfield as being in the center of the agricultural activity of the county and how much the town depended upon the country for its support. If not, here are some statistics that cover the percentage of business done with farmers by merchants who reside in the towns of agricultural sections: 58% of the dry goods; 64% groceries; 62% hardware; 41% drugs and 39% garage are sold to farmers. That being the case we need more farmers and the principal work of the chamber of commerce this year will be directed toward securing them. In the event that the farmers desire it, the chamber of commerce will secure the services of an experienced man to visit each school district in the county within the next few weeks, for the purpose of giving practical demonstrations of seed selection for planting. The man we will secure is a practical farmer and knows the seed selection game from start to finish. If residents of the different districts will get in touch with the secretary right away we can get our man in time to have our seed demonstrations made to use them for the present crop.

A rat extermination campaign may be sponsored by the chamber of commerce within the next few weeks. If it is successful, it will be necessary to get every school district in the county lined up for it.

SANTA FE PASSENGERS UNDER A NEW SCHEDULE

The new time card went into effect on the Santa Fe last Sunday and for the first time for several years Portales now has a daylight passenger train.

Number 91, going south, now arrives in Portales at 10:07 in the forenoon. It formerly arrived at 10:15 at night.

Number 92, going north, now arrives at 6:55 in the evening instead of 7:35 under the old schedule.

The change in the time of No. 91 has wrought a drastic change in the life and mode of living in Portales, but has lightened the load, or rather takes the early morning work off the postoffice force and throws it on them just before noon.

When the train came in at night the mail was distributed by the time the general delivery window opened at 8 o'clock, but today the post office is about deserted until "the train comes in." The Amarillo Daily News formerly carried to the city on a bus, now comes all the way on the steam cars.

We may get used to it, but we'll never in the world look quite the same.—Portales News.

Rotary City Beautiful Committees Appointed

President Morgan Copeland of the Rotary Club has announced the following committees to serve this year on trying to make Brownfield a cleaner and more beautiful town.

Tree Planting Committee: Earl Alexander, Jim Miller and Glenn Harris. This committee is now functioning and has a good plan ahead, as published last week.

Boy Scout Work: Tom May and E. V. May. This committee is also functioning, and hope to put over a great work for Boy Scouting this year. Watch for announcements in these columns from them.

Clean Up Campaign: A. J. Stricklin, H. W. McSpadden, and Earl Anthony. This committee will not begin its work until the corn buying and shelling season is over.

White Washing and Paint Up Committee: H. R. Winston, Ben Hurst and Flem McSpadden. This committee will also do most of its work after the sand storm season, and will not only encourage white washing of private premises and trees, but will try to get the court house park trees white washed again this year. They will also encourage the liberal use of paint on homes that need it over the city.

Reports Say Inglefield Oil Well a Gusher

It is reported on the streets here on good authority that the Inglefield well about ten miles southwest of Lovington, N. M., and about 85 miles west of Brownfield, was given a shot of nitro the first of the week and was throwing oil 40 feet in the air the last account we heard from there, and that all available storage capacity around there had been filled. This well has been standing about 3000 feet in oil for some time.

A consequence of this well coming in, property in Brownfield has taken a decided turn for the better, as Brownfield is one of their nearest railroad points and may be the real distributing point for any development out there. One property owner informed us late Tuesday afternoon that he had been approached twice that afternoon for some corner lots on the square.

Further developments in that section will be watched with interest by our citizens.

Grimes Advises Neighbors to Read Herald

Mr. J. C. Grimes of the Lahey community was in Saturday afternoon and informed us that he was continuing to advise any neighbor or friend in his community that did not take the Herald to become a subscriber, and he had done an especial lot of talking since we had on the cheap combination rate with the Dallas Semi-Weekly Farm News. The editor knows of at least two, probably more that have come in the past week or two through the influence of this good man and friend of his home county paper.

Mr. Grimes stated that the combination made an ideal group for the busy farmer that did not care for the expense of a daily. The local paper giving the news of the county, much of which would be worth more than the subscription price for a year in one single article. The Farm News coming as it does twice a week took the place of a daily, as it gave a gist of the state, national and international news in a brief form, not to mention much farm information.

While he said there might appear occasionally something that he did not endorse or agree with from time to time in the course of a year, he did not figure that of any consequence, for while it did not suit him, it might be the opinion of another man or woman just as honest in their conviction as he. This last expression of Mr. Grimes shows a state of broadmindedness that is indeed commendable. There are already too many of the other kind who think everything absolutely worthless unless it is their opinion also.

All Who Attended Like the Short Course

The International Harvester Co. Short Course is now history, and all who were in any way connected with it are more than pleased with the attendance and results. The business men and farmers who succeeded in getting the short course to come here, as well as the speakers and lecturers are all pleased. In fact, they were agreeable surprised at the reception accorded the short course here. Mr. Mobley, who had the Short Course in charge paid Brownfield and the committees in charge a glowing tribute the very first speech when he announced "that it was the first time in his some 30 years of platform experience of this nature that he found everything in readiness upon his arrival, and that they could start right on the dot advertised. For this we can all thank our energetic secretary of our chamber of commerce. But just the same, all committees so far as we know, worked unusually well, and thereby Mr. Mobley broke a record. Up to last Thursday that gentleman quit thinking there was any such "animal" as having everything ready for the short course.

There was however nothing "short" about the Short Course except the building. It was entirely too small to house the crowd in the daytime, but seated them very well at night. This was the best that could be done, however, the Baptist church officials have the hearty thanks of the community in general for their large auditorium which was so graciously donated to the occasion.

While the editor after finding the auditorium was crowded each day, and that many men had to stand, did not attend the short course, feeling that the space he would occupy could be used to better advantage by farmers and their wives, we did take the trouble to ask many farmers what they thought of it, and the unanimous verdict that it was fine and that their time was well spent in attending it. We heard of a few possibly that say it was no good, but when you summed it up you found that they did not even attend, and of course their word is worth nothing, so far as this Short Course is concerned.

Following as it did right on the heels of the Santa Fe A. & M. Demonstration Special, both together have succeeded in working up a big interest in diversified and dairy farming among our farmers, together with better stock and poultry of all kinds, and the results are bound to be felt here for a long time to come.

The business men of Brownfield are more than pleased that they were given such hearty cooperation in this short course undertaking by the people of the surrounding communities, and hope they got the same amount of benefit and pleasure out of it that the business men derived.

To Advertise South Plains in Oklahoma

Col. Joe Seale of Lubbock, general auctioneer, was down this week to interest our chamber of commerce and real estate men in an advertising scheme he has to place the possibilities and natural advantages of the great South Plains country before the people of north Texas and southern Oklahoma. It need not be stated that Col. Seale is a good talker, for many of the citizens here have heard him officiate at too many auction sales to need such a statement.

It is his purpose to go into these sections with a large truck loaded not only with products of this section of all kinds, but an immense lot of literature in the shape of booklets, which he proposes to hand out only to those who are interested and express a wish to see the South Plains section. Names of these parties will be sent back to the real estate men and chambers of commerce of this section each week, who may fortify the good impression and start that has been made toward bringing them to the South Plains by Mr. Seale.

The advertising plan is both unique and also original, and it looks as if it might be the very thing to impress the people back there with the importance of this section. Mostly they have heard of this country through people who made a failure here and

Another Space Grafter Here This Week

The Herald was approached this week by a pretty slick looking buck for some hundred or two dollars in advertising to be delivered once a week for an indefinite period in chunks of about $25 or $30 per week, and got rather excited and charged because the manger of this sheet did not become excited about the matter and agree to the scheme. But we have a family to support and other obligations to meet.

These birds, if possible, always remember to bring a local dealer around with them to try and impress the importance of the matter on the local publisher. It was so in this instance. Of course the local dealer is usually innocent of any intention of trying to put over anything that would cost any local man real money with no direct benefit, but the traveling representatives use them as a shield just the same.

This representative in question represents one of the biggest corporations in America, dealing not only in packery products, but also the produce business, and to approach an ordinary country editor with a proposition that could not but indirectly benefit the editor, but directly benefit the corporation, with most of the expense to be met by the paper instead of the corporation, is almost the same thing as offering an insult to the intelligence of the publisher. Yet they have gall and nerve enough to try and put it over. Its almost the same thing as hijacking but instead is done under the guise of business(?)

This bird informed the writer that this was the first paper to turn down the proposition. If these free ads appear in any newspapers of this section without being underwritten by the local produce men, we are badly fooled, and we'll almost agree to eat all such ads that appear without being paid for by the local produce men.

A publishers space is his stock in trade, his butter and bread, and if he gives it away he is doing an injustice to himself and family. Local people never ask any unreasonable thing of the local papers, but it is usually a big concern, well able to do their own advertising but don't give a tinker's dam how some your local paper has to close its door just so they get their part of free publicity while it can buy print paper, ink, and pay its bills before the sheriff takes charge.

The Herald has always consistently advocated and agitated better dairy cows, balanced rations, etc. Indeed hardly a week passes that we do not do this, together with better poultry, hogs, horses, etc. But as long as we have to pay the paper, ink and other bills connected with the publication of this journal, we believe we have a perfect right to select ourselves just what we want to put in our columns, this big corporation to the contrary notwithstanding. The Herald claims the friendship of their local dealer here as one of its best friends, and respects and admires him for his business ability, but we know he will never ask us himself to do such an impossible thing as this representative asked.

A New Physician Opens Offices Here

Dr. W. A. Fletcher, of Hamilton, Texas, came in recently and has opened offices in the building over the American Cafe. He informed us that he would also prepare some rooms up in that building for emergency hospital cases. You will note his ad in this issue of the Herald.

The doctor informed us that he brought his wife with him and two children of his sister's to make this their future home. We welcome the new doctor and family to Brownfield and bespeak for them a portion of the practice here and a general old time western welcome from the good people of this section.

went back there, and this will give them an opportunity to hear the other side and see real products from this county. Mr. Seale says he aims to give them nothing but facts, as facts about this country will sound almost like fiction to them.

Conditions Here Better Than Were in 1927

There could be no better barometer of business than a bank statement and we wish every reader of the Herald would peruse the two statements of our banks published in this issue and combine the two and note that there is now on deposit almost 875,000 dollars and that the loans are correspondingly lower for the time of year than for many years past, according to the amount of resources.

There is still another factor. Without but a mighty few exceptions, our merchants will tell you candidly that their business is much better than this time last year, and practically all cash with scarcely a mention of credit so far. This condition applies to nearly every line of business and also hold very well with the professional men. The Herald can truthfully state that its business is at least 25 percent better than at the same period last year, and we believe it would more nearly run 50 per cent better.

Also reflected conditions are the fact that our farmers are buying implements of the latest models as probably they have never purchased such merchandise in the history of our county. New automobiles are everywhere in evidence, and the new cars are about equally distributed between town and farm districts, showing that prosperity is equally distributed. A farmer only this week informed us that he had a good farm and was well satisfied; that he found it easier to farm and make something here than any place he ever lived, and that he believed we were just learning the first principles of what our country is really capable of. He figures that 160 acres will be a big farm here in the next ten years, that they will more nearly average 80 than 160 by that time.

Almost every train brings in some blooded live stock or poultry to bring up the average of our farming conditions. These alone reflect the trend of affairs as well as financial conditions. C. R. Rambo informed us this week that he was purchasing a Jersey bull from an Austin breeder whose sire cost $12,000 and whose dam was a seven gallon cow. This bull will head his herd of high grade jersey cows. J. C. Bohannon informed us that his little ad in the Herald was selling fresh Jersey cows almost every day, and these fine heifers are going on the farms of Terry county.

We, as a county are not producing the amount of cream we should per cow. This is partly on account of poor stock, but that part is fast being overcome. It would seem that our main trouble is a balanced ration, and we have learned much about that with the coming of the Santa Fe Demonstration train and the Short Course. With more experience and by reading books sent out by the state and national departments of agriculture and the A. & M. College, we will be able to learn much, pending getting our county agent.

Yes, Terry is alright.

CHURCH STARTS NEW BUILDING AT TAHOKA

Workmen are busy this week tearing down the old church building owned by the Church of Christ, situated near the northeast corner of the public square. As soon as the structure is out of the way, work on the construction of a new building will begin.

The new building will be a neat edifice, 40 by 70 feet in size, finished with stucco outside and sheetrock inside. It will face the north, the entry being from the paved street leading east to the Santa Fe station. It will contain a baptistry and will be furnished with comfortable pews.

The building which is being torn down is one of the old landmarks of the town, formerly being the property of the Baptists and being one of the original church buildings constructed here. Two years ago it was sold by the Baptist Church to the Church of Christ and the latter congregation has been worshipping in it since.

The new structure will be a credit to the town and marks one more step in the march of progress of Tahoka.—Tahoka News.

Uncle Jimmie Green came across with about his 24th dollar for his Herald the past week. He has been taking the paper since its birth.

NEWSPAPERS ARE BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM

The newspaper is the best advertising medium, states J. C. McQuiston, advertising manager of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, in addressing the Advertising Council of the Chicago Association of Commerce recently.

"One great advantage of newspaper advertising is reader interest," he said. "We have grown into a nation of newspaper readers until today nearly every worthwhile American buys and reads his news paper. As a result, any message in the newspaper comes to the reader fresh and welcome and secures immediate attention."

"We believe that you can make a sale with a newspaper advertisement today that it will take you a month or a year to get in any other medium, if you get it at all," said Mr. McQuiston in explaining why his company has centralized the bulk of its advertising in the newspaper.

J. R. Hartman of the south route is now numbered with the new readers.

T. M. Dobbs of route one is a new reader complimentary of his daughter Miss Irene.

Jim Smith, candidate for Sheriff, is now loaded for bear, as he came in for 2,000 cards the past week.

Tokio School Notes

Good morning Hunter reporter. We enjoyed reading your warning about basket ball playing. Well, all we have to say is, come right over. We are always ready to learn something new.

Oh yes, we enjoyed the ball game with Wellman, Thursday evening. The scores were 14 and 15 in favor of Wellman. We are very busy making out orders for referees, one special order for Wellman. Sear's and Rosbuck has been suggested as they return orders promptly.

Our singing school closed Friday night. We all had a nice time during the school and hated for it to close.

Our music teacher received a telegram yesterday telling her to come at once her father was very ill, so we won't have any music lessons this week.

PROMINENT YOAKUM COUNTY MAN PASSES

R. L. Knight, of Yoakum county, passed away at a hotel in Lubbock last Saturday night, while on a visit to that city, of apoplexy. He was up there on business and was attending a show in company with a friend, and upon complaining of rheumatism as he thought, was carried back to his hotel where he soon passed away.

He was a very substantial, well liked citizen of Yoakum county and holding considerable property interests. He leaves a wife, a grown son in California, a grown daughter who is attending C. I. A. at Denton, and three smaller children who with their mother are residing at Roswell, N. M., attending school.

PRESENTS PLAY AT LEVELLAND

Mrs. Randal and her Sunday School Class of the Methodist church took the play "Mammy's Lip Wild Rose" that they presented here last week to a large crowd at the Rialto, to Levelled Wednesday night and presented it to a good crowd there. The personnel of the cast included W. E. Williams, Fladger Tannery, E. G. Nene, Keith Gore, Mary Ann Bell, Tom Glover, Margaret Bell, Mrs. Leo Holmes, Espie Castleberry, Sue Crawford, Faye Brown and Lois Adams.

T. I. Brown renewed for his paper this week and had us also send it to his father at Coleman, Texas.

Prof. Fugala requests us to ask all who have a child who will reach 7 years of age on or before September 1st, this year, to please report to him at once, as there will be scholastic based on the 1928-29 term and will be entitled to draw $15 to this district from the State. Don't neglect this.

C. W. Tankersly and son, L. E., were visitors to Lubbock last Saturday.

The Santa Fe Railroad tied on to our city mains last week and are now using city water, much to the relief of local agent R. L. Harris, who also had to run the pumping apparatus.

A great many of our readers guessed wrong on the picture on the front page last week thinking it was Rev. Chisholm, the Methodist pastor, because we had a write-up about him just under the cut. Wrong, it was Rev. Earnest May, the Baptist pastor. But they can fight the matter out as to which out-favor.

We are requested to announce that Rev. Mrs. Myrtle Ahern of Post, will fill the pulpit at the Presbyterian church Saturday night, Sunday morning and night at the usual hours, under auspices of the Nazarene church. Everybody invited.

Jack Bailey, Orb Stice and Mr. Cline, of Midland, were visitors here last week end. Mr. J. D. Bailey is spending the week here from Midland. W. D. Smith; also of the same place spent the week end here.

G. G. Gore was in on a "hoss tradin'" expedition, Tuesday.

W. S. Smith and J. C. McQuerry are both new readers.

Mrs. G. W. Chisholm is visiting at Sherman, Texas, this week.

John Burnett came in recently to renew for his Herald and had us send it to his daughter, Mrs. Tom Glenn, in Palo Pinto county.

an abundance of ice from their own pure drinking water. This machine will be installed as soon as it comes from the warehouse at Ft. Worth, which will be in about a week. Mr. Stricklin realizes that refrigeration at temperatures recommended by the government is proper, and that with such temperatures, food spoilage is reduced to a minimum. Foods kept in a damp atmosphere and at a temperature of above 50 degrees such as in an ordinary ice box, soon become unfit for human consumption, but with the colder temperature and a dry atmosphere such as Frigidaire produces, foods may be kept for unbelievable lengths of time, and kept in an absolutely edible condition. Up to a few years ago, little was known about proper preservation of food, but thanks to science, we now Frigidaire keeps food in your home in know that foods can be spoiled as long as 36 hours before we can see, smell or taste this spoilage. In the warmer months children often have stomach disorders from drinking milk or eating some left over food, and if this was traced down we would find that if the milk was improperly kept or if the left overs were starting to spoil, nothing else could be expected. the same proper condition that the government forces the food manufacturers to keep it, up to the time we buy it from our local markets.

There's Varnish and VARNISH

There are about as many grades of varnish as a cat has lives—probably more. Unless you are a varnish expert what chance have you of judging varnish correctly?

PEE GEE Floor Varnish

When you buy floor varnish you expect it to have the following qualities—toughness to withstand hard usage and at the same time a flintlike surface to withstand the usual wear and tear that a floor is subjected to—it must not crack, check or mar easily and it must not turn milky in color if water, hot or cold, is spilled on it.

These things and more you will find in Pee Gee Floor Varnish—and it's cheaper to use than the so-called cheap varnish.

Come in and let's talk about it.

Save the surface and you save all.

BROWNFIELD, TEXAS.

THIS ADVISE GOES FOR BROWNFIELD, TOO

For more than three years the Cherokeean has been boosting Rusk merchants, and town business men. Why? Because our merchants stand by their home town at all times; at all times are willing to lend a helping hand in the support of every home enterprise and because they back every move that is for the best interest of Rusk.

But we wonder if the citizens in and about the community realize the worth of the home town merchants—of the many things that they do for the town and its people, and how much we, as a people, owe to them.

Back of every movement for good—for progress, development and uplift are the home town merchants, and usually only the home town merchants, while others "pass the buck" except during beneficial showers.

Who contributes most to community welfare—to church, to school, to society, to civic movements, to charity and improvements? Usually, only, the home town merchants.

Who are the vital forces in every organization having to do with community life and improvement? Usually, only, the home town merchants.

Who are the first to work for needed improvements, for better streets—for a cleaner city, for city beautification—for the very things that make us proud of our home town? Usually only the home merchants.

Who are the first to combat the things that are injurious to our community—to society—to our industrial, commercial, financial and moral life? Usually, only, the home town merchants.

Who digs into their pocket-books deeper than the home town merchants to support community benefits. "Day by day, in every way," home town merchants are contributing at their time, their energy and money to make this community a bigger and better place to live.

It is proper and fitting then that we give more than a passing thought to the debt we owe the home town merchant and that we come to the realization that this debt can be repaid by giving to them the trade of the community, a trade well earned and rightfully theirs.

The truth of the matter is, home town merchants are selling goods at, or less, than prices elsewhere, and if we will be fair and include additional expenses incurred when trading away we are bound to admit that it is cheaper to trade at home besides showing a spirit of reciprocity.

Spend your money elsewhere, and

GASES ONCE WASTED TURNED INTO MONEY

Industry and Public Benefited by Chemistry.

East Pittsburgh, Pa.—Modern chemistry is demonstrating that even odors can be turned into dollars and cents.

Gases that have polluted the atmosphere are now being captured and converted into the liquids from which they originated, to the profit of both industry and the public.

Experts of the materials and process engineering department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company decided that too many smells were going up the chimney in the process of treating insulation with resinous materials. So they trapped the gases as fast as they were generated, mixed them with water and then distilled this liquid, recovering from 80 to 90 percent of the solvents used in the formula.

How far chemical engineers can go in eliminating and using fumes by liquefying them before they are discharged into the air has not yet been determined, but experiments now under way suggest that far-reaching results are possible. The saving already effected by the capture of used solvents is said to be considerable.

Chemists point out, however, that recovery methods might be too well perfected, for it is possible that some of the agents recovered from gases would themselves be difficult to destroy.

Seeks to Make Blend of Light and Music

Philadelphia.—A basic patent for an invention to blend light with music has been granted to Mrs. Mary Hallock Greenwalt. Mrs. Greenwalt has been conducting experiments in the blending of light and sound for 27 years. She believes that her patent is the first granted for a new means of expressing human emotions in rhythmic form.

While music is being rendered by singer, violinist, pianist or orchestra, Mrs. Greenwalt's apparatus floods the performer with lights of varying intensity. The fluctuations in light are intended to enhance the emotional and intellectual appeal of the music. The apparatus may be operated with a keyboard.

Years of training in music, of professional experience as a concert pianist, of study of physics, mechanics, physiology and psychology went into the achieving of the results now recognized by the granting of the basic patent.

Mrs. Greenwalt was born in Beirut, Syria, the daughter of Samuel and Sara Tabet Hallock. She came to the United States when a girl of eleven. After she left school she took up the study of music.

Mystery Blasts Being Studied by Scientists

White Plains, N. Y.—Residents of northern Westchester county are searching to find a solution to the mysterious blast which rocked buildings and spread terror over several miles of the countryside. The heavy, dull roar and the quiver of the earth kept the county police busy answering telephone calls for hours.

Similar blasts have occurred at intervals of exactly six months within the last two years. They always come at night. The ground was shaken and the noise of the explosion was heard, but on each occasion it was unaccompanied by any flare or light such as would have been the case had the explosion been due to powder or gasoline or other known explosives that are set off by friction or heat.

Scientists have been asked to study the terrain in the vicinity and ascertain if the blasts are being caused by some disturbance deep under the earth.

"Lifer" Sues Woman; Charged Cruel to Cat

Boston.—Jesse Pomeroy, "lifer," who entered the state prison at Charlestown a seventeen-year-old boy, nearly fifty-one years ago, is the plaintiff in a $5,000 action in which he denies charges that he has been cruel to animals while in prison.

Pomeroy remains in his cell while two attorneys represent him before the Suffolk Supreme civil court.

The defendant is Alice Stone Blackwell of Dorchester, publisher of a magazine for women; who told the court that "she felt it a public duty to write a letter to a Boston newspaper in 1925 in opposition to a pardon for Pomeroy. The letter described his crime as much worse than that of Leopold and Loeb and repeated a rumor that Pomeroy, when permitted the companionship of a kitten, 'had skinned it alive.'"

Counsel for Pomeroy told the court that the suit was brought to "spike a lie," and said that animals had been Pomeroy's only friends in prison.

CHEVROLET REACHES PEAK REDUCTIONS AGAIN

Responding to a demand unprecedented in its history, and with its factory and sales organizations operating at peak efficiency, the Chevrolet Motor Company in February set a new high monthly production record, while retail domestic deliveries were more than 20,000 units above February, 1927.

Production for the month just ended was 116,943 cars and trucks. The best previous Chevrolet month was May, 1927, with an outlet of 115,623 units. Production this February shows a 36 percent gain over the 85,817 cars and trucks built last February, and is more than four times the 28,081 units built in February, 1925.

Domestic retail deliveries for this period are estimated at 80,000 units as against 58,233 in February, 1927.

Since introduction of the Bigger and Better Chevrolet on January 1, previous records have been consistently shattered before the buying enthusiasm displayed throughout the world. A large number of cars now being built are going into the export market to meet the demand for the new Chevrolet evident on every country on the globe.

The fourteen domestic Chevrolet plants are operating on full time to keep production on an even keel with orders piling up. Day and night shipments are going out from the seven assembly plants in the United States to keep dealers everywhere stocked with an ample number to assure prompt delivery.

March promises to out-do even the high figures set during February.

As February volume set new records, so January production and sales exceeded by a wide margin any similar performance for the month in the history of the company.

So long as we call a place home, we should respect and speak of that place as if it was home. If we don't like a place, the world is wide, and we should drift—we'll not be missed by the citizenship.

The Miami Chief, published by our old friend Bob Haynes, came out with a special edition of eight pages last week in addition to the regular edition, that was a dandy.

There is some worth while information these days to the effect that there have been sensible consolidations of newspapers in towns that are just naturally one paper towns. We hear much talk of making two blades of grass grow where one grew before, but soil with a capacity of only one blade should not be overburdened with two blades. Both will of necessity be dwarfed.

It is reported that northern girls are carrying baby horned (lizards) frogs in their vanity cases as pets. It does look like the Mother Eve instinct in womanhood would cause them to have a natural horror for anything resembling the serpent.

While the eastern part of our State are rejoicing over the Box labor bill, it may prove a real Jonah to West Texas in years of over production. East Texas has an abundance of negro labor both present and in adjoining states. West Texas must depend to a great extent on Mexican laborers. So far as that a part of the bill goes which intimates Mexicans are Bolsheviks, it is a huge joke, and every westerner knows it.

And while we are on the subject of nullification, we might mention the fact that the congress of the United States have been busy nullifying the constitution of the United States for the past eight years, and no big roar has gone up. Texas ought to by all rights of population have two more representatives in that body since the 1920 census, but it has gone on with only 18 because in the readjustment of population several states would lose a congressman or two. This is not only nullification, but is taxation without representation in a way.

The Herald had a communication from the Womens League of Republican voters of New York the past week advising us about Al Smith from an entirely different angle—that he failed to carry New York outside of the city—that foreign born people elected him. We have heard him attacked as a wet, probably true; as a Catholic, true again; a nullificationist, we can't say; that he failed to carry upstate N. Y. each time, most of us knew that. But what bothers us is who in the Sam Hill gave the Republican ladies of New York the brief to tell southern Democrats how they ought to vote. Another thing, after several efforts, we utterly failed to pronounce the name of the chairman of this league. Talking about foreigners, the name SMITH sounded a heap more American to us, than the one she carries around with her.

TO KEEP GOVERNMENT OUT OF THEIR BUSINESS

A bill, backed by 15,000 newspaper publishers of the United States has been introduced into Congress prohibiting the Post Office department from competing with private business in the printing of envelopes. This bill was presented on December 15 by Senator Oddie, of Nevada.

It is in line with the policy of President Coolidge that the government should not attempt to do what can best be done by private enterprise. At the present time the government prints return notices on envelopes on order from customers. The sponsors of the bill—National Editorial Association, composed of small town publishers and printers—believe that this is rightly business for commercial printers, and not a function of government.

STOPPING THE PAPER

We all know that fellow who stops his newspaper because it doesn't agree with his political views. The majority of the people are not that way, and it's a good thing they aren't, for if they were this would be the most newspaperless country you ever saw—why even the editor would be without a daily newspaper of the southwest, for their editorial stuff plumb disgusts us as a rule. But we take a newspaper for what it is—a "news" paper, not for the sake of arguments of its editor. The editors who can congratulate themselves that their editorials are the main attraction for their subscribers are few and far between, and their names are household names in America.

Any editor who tries to please all his readers editorially would be crazy—if he wasn't crazy when he began to try, he would be a lunatic after trying.

And the funny part of it is that the man who stops his paper because he doesn't agree with the editor, is generally a man whose own views are as inconsistent as the affections of Cleopatra; nevertheless he expects the editor to keep up with him.—Rio Grande Farmer.

R. S. Heartsill came in late Tuesday afternoon and stayed so late he was afraid the dogs would bay him when he got home.

MEMORIAL TREES

It easily may come to pass that the cities' parks—as well as the cities themselves—can become overcrowded with monuments, equestrian statues and all of the cousins of the "Arche de Triomphe" idea. But there never will be too many trees.

The memorial tree was a happy thought. Joyce Kilmer might have said that any individual or community with sufficient money and sentiment might erect a monument "but only God can make a tree." A tree with "a nest of robins in its hair" and "which intimately lives with the rain" as a monument to the deserving far surpasses cold stone. Longer lived? Perhaps—but while a tree is living it is giving beauty to the landscape and beauty is one of the great civilizing influences.

People become so used to seeing monuments and statues they forget their purpose. A tree is always a tree to humanity. When it attracts by its inviting shade, the little bronze tablet reciting its reason for existence will but add charm to the joy of being in the shade of a tree. If it adds a bit to the glory of him who inspired the tree's planting, it will be given wholesomely and appreciatively. But whether it does or not, it is a tree that has given some person one of the elemental touches of nature.

"The groves were God's first temples." In the oldest and most magnificent temple ever built, we find niches where memorials can be placed in memory of those who have earned permanent places in the life of the community. When it dies, there will be a vacant place which can be filled but with one thing—another tree. There should be nothing more wholesomely within one's ambitions than so to live that one may expect a tree planted to one's memory. The name plate and the date are sufficient. The tree is there. If the generation which picnics in its shade wants to know the history it can be acquired. But if the reputation doesn't linger, the tree serves the purpose.

Who ever derived a moment's pleasure from the shade of a monument? —Star-Telegram.

GAS TRAPS BIRDS IN PARK CAVERNS

Perish in Caves Poisoned From Below

Yellowstone Park, Wyo.—Natural poison gas, seeping up through fissures in the earth into caves, is frequently the cause of the death of birds and small mammals in Yellowstone National park, and Park Naturalist E. J. Sawyer is attempting to find out why the luckless little victims venture into these deadly traps.

He is disinclined to believe the theory most commonly advanced that the birds go into the caves for shelter as cold weather comes on in the fall.

Impelled by Restlessness.

"It is my present belief that, in general, the bird victims are not particularly attracted by anything at all, but that in the restlessness characteristic of their spring and autumn movements they venture into all manner of accessible places and are then overcome by the gas. The species affected are small perching birds of various kinds, such as sparrows, warblers, wrens and thrushes; nor has it been observed that any species or group of these pays a toll out of proportion to its relative general abundance.

"That a desire for warmth is not the main attraction seems further indicated by the fact that the Townsend solitaire is so frequently found dead in the caves. This bird, an all-year resident in the park and apparently unaffected by even the extreme cold of midwinter, would scarcely be impelled to seek extraordinary warmth in spring and fall.

Confined to Smaller Birds.

"One of the most abundant species of small birds in this region is the Clark crow, or nutcracker, yet I have seldom if ever found a Clark crow in the poison caves, and yet it would seem a comparatively short step from his ordinary habits for the nutcracker to enter one of these shallow caverns—not so pronounced a departure from routine as it is in the case of the tree-loving warblers, which are among the most frequent victims.

"It is my belief that the nutcracker does enter the caves, but, owing to his greater size and greater power of resistance, emerges with impunity—though doubtless, in each case, an older and a wiser bird. Indeed, so far as my frequent observations go, it is a rare thing to find any bird larger than the small thrushes that has succumbed to the gas."

Relic of Washington's Found in Old Box

Adderbury West, England.—In an old box of parchments purchased for a shilling T. J. Bennett has discovered the oldest connecting link between the ancestral family of George Washington and Sulgrave Manor, the Washington family home.

This is a deed bearing the signatures in plain handwriting of Laurence Washington and Robert Washington. Beneath each signature is attached a seal of the Washington family.

The deed is dated 1597 and relates to a transfer of land at Sulgrave. A deed at Sulgrave Manor house, hitherto thought to be the oldest, is dated 1599. Laurence Washington was the original Washington owner of Sulgrave Manor.

The collection of old parchments belonged to Bennett's late uncle. The old deed box was put up with other odds and ends for sale after the uncle died, and Bennett secured it for a shilling. Lord Lee of Fareham has given Mr. Bennett an opinion that it is of great value.

High Compression
Motor—RIGHT NOW

THERE are two kinds of high-compression motors. In one the compression ratio has been raised purposefully by the car manufacturer to produce more power; the other is a high-compression condition caused by the natural formation of carbon in the combustion chamber. This condition exists, to some extent, in every motor.

But in either case there is one best fuel to release the full power caused by high compression. That fuel is Winter Conoco Ethyl Gasoline, the super-gasoline that knocks out the "knock," turns carbon into power and assures a smooth-running motor at any speed and under practically all operating conditions. It gives the extra pull you need for snow and slush and muddy roads. It is the last word in motor fuels.

S. F. LANE

LYNN COUNTY CITIZEN IS NOT GUILTY

The jury in the Bartley case returned a verdict of not guilty soon after noon Wednesday.

This case went to trial Monday morning and all day Monday and a part of Tuesday morning were consumed in procuring a jury, a special venire of 117 men having been summoned. Rapid progress was made, however, after a jury had been selected and sworn, and before Tuesday night the testimony in the case had been completed. Judge McGuire read his charge to the jury Wednesday morning and the forenoon was spent in the argument of counsel. The State was represented by District Attorney T. L. Price while the defendant was represented by G. E. Lockhart and Franklin D. Brown of Lubbock.

The defendant, W. R. Bartley, was charged with the crime of rape upon his own daughter, a girl fifteen years of age at the time of the alleged offense. He was indicted several months ago, since which time he has been incarcerated in the Lynn county jail.

Bartley had long been a prominent citizen of this county, residing in the New Lynn community, and the trial attracted the largest crowd, perhaps, that ever crowded into the Lynn county court room. All seats on both floors were filled and standing room was at a premium during most of the trial, all doors being jammed.

The testimony of the daughter in the case was of a very shocking and sensational nature and her testimony was largely corroborated by her brother, but the jury evidently doubted or disbelieved the testimony of both witnesses, for it required only a few minutes deliberation for it to reach a decision. It was not out more than thirty minutes after the case was given them.

This brings to a close one of the most repulsive and shocking episodes in the criminal history of Lynn county.—Tahoka News.

There has been so many renewals the past week (58 to date) besides the new readers coming in like all rips that we cannot hardly mention all of them, but they sure have our many thanks just the same.

C. L. Williams called us into the store this week to renew for his paper.

W. L. BANDY

—at FARMERS PRODUCE—

MAKE PROVISION FOR INSECT POISON NOW

During the course of almost every season farmers are faced with the necessity of combating a heavy infestation of one species of insects or another attacking the cotton crop, advises R. R. Reppert, Entomologist, Extension Service, A. & M. College. During the past six or seven years there has scarcely a season passed but that a wide area of the State of Texas has been affected by damage from the cotton leafworm, and several of those seasons the farmers have suffered exceptionally heavy loss because of the shortage of poison, resulting in an added cost for the poison actually obtained, and of cotton ruined because it could not be obtained at all.

The advance in price of poison during a period of excessive demand may, in some few instances, be due to the inclination of some dealers to profiteer at the farmer's expense. A moment's consideration, however, will suffice to convince one that a considerable advance is to be expected under such conditions. In the first place factories adjust their operations in the early season to produce quantities of calcium arsenate sufficient to meet normal demands, and increased production in the face of an unusually heavy demand is attended by a disproportionately heavy expense to them. Likewise dealers hesitate to stock supplies beyond what they ordinarily expect to dispose of. When a sudden demand for poison develops an advance in price is necessary not only to cover increased cost of quick production, but in many instances to cover increase cost of transportation, which in many instances is by express. Hence an advance in price from seven or eight cents in early spring to twelve or fourteen cents in late summer, as has sometimes occurred, is no more than can be expected.

A remedy for this situation lies in the farmer's foresight in anticipating a probable infestation and supplying himself with sufficient poison at this season, or at least in contracting for such supply so that he may be able to handle an infestation when it occurs.

We have not yet been informed as to the probable prices of poison this season; presumably they may be expected to be approximately what they were a year ago; that is, about seven and one-half cents per pound in car load, or about a cent higher in 100 pound containers.

We believe the farmer should encounter no serious difficulty in financing such a movement, since the control of insects has now become an even more important matter in the production of cotton than many other agricultural practices, and bankers accordingly should be as ready to advance loans as in the matter of purchase of seed.

The first railroad in Texas was started in 1851. It was the Buffalo Bayou, Brazos and Colorado, now part of the Southern Pacific System.

In the last three years there has been more railroad construction in Texas than in any other state. Florida ranks second.

Texas has 60 cities of 5,000 or more population.

More than 300,000 acres are under irrigation in the Rio Grande valley and tentative projects would add 100,000 more.

There are 850,000 acres of irrigated land in Texas, according to the best estimates.
