Chamber of Commerce

By the Secretary

The next meeting of the Fort Worth-Roswell Grand Canyon Highway Association, will be had in Fort Worth on the 20th and during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention. This route has recently been enlarged and covers territory from Fort Worth to California and is destined to be one of the principal Coast to Coast routes. New directors will be elected at this meeting and plans for thoroughly advertising will be inaugurated. The secretary will be in attendance upon the convention and will undertake to distribute several thousand pieces of literature where it will be the most beneficial.

The barbecue is going to be pulled off in good shape. The committee was out yesterday asking for increases on subscriptions and the response was very liberal, not quite enough money has been raised, but it is believed that the remainder needed will be secured.

Mr. R. L. Portwood, who is representing the Salvation Army, is here this week for the purpose of putting on a drive for funds to be used in the support of that organization. His committees have all been appointed and will circulate a subscription list among the people this week. The "Army" does not use the tambourine any more, but just puts each town on an annual basis and only collects once each year.

The Directors of the chamber of commerce had meeting today (Tuesday) but not very much in the way of activities was put up for their attention. Highways and highway designations was discussed and while it was made known that some changes in routings and some widening of right of ways would have to be looked after within the next few weeks, it was thought that nothing could be done until more definite understanding of the wishes of the highway department were made known. However it was decided to call the attention of the State Engineer to the fact that the North and South route was pretty important and urge him to set another date for inspecting it. He was rained out the first time and has probably been to busy to look after it since that time.

The chamber of commerce is not trying to dictate to any individual or organization, but it is for the development of Brownfield and Terry county and its only excuse for existence is, that more beneficial and lasting results can be accomplished by an organization than can be by an individual. It is not a closed corporation and everyone is eligible for membership in it no matter what line of endeavor is pursued by him. It would be a real pleasure if we could add a considerable number of farmers to our list and whether they are members or not, their advice would be appreciated, especially along certain lines of our activities.

Candidates Open Campaign Mon. at Lahey

The county candidates joined by the precinct candidates as far as the later pertained to the Lahey voting box, opened their campaign before a good crowd at the Lahey school house Monday night of this week. From what we could gather from conversation with some of the candidates, all seemed to be running strong at the conclusion of the speaking.

Not being well limbered up and strung out for speaking, it is thought the whole program lasted less than an hour. Some of them it is said kindly choked up, but upon being cheered anyway, seemed to have pulled themselves together and for a minute or so almost layed old Patrick Henry or Daniel Webster in the shade.

They will speak three times a week from now up to the 27th of July, or the day before the primary, closing on that night in Brownfield.

Many Flags For Texas

Houston, Texas, June 11.—Delegates and other visitors to the Democratic National Convention in June will find Texas rich in historical interest. Over this land has flown the tricolor of France; the red and yellow of Spain; the red, white and green of Mexico; the Lone Star of the republic of Texas, the stars and bars of the Confederacy and the stars and stripes of the United States.

More Rain and Very Much Hail Lately

A big rain fell in Brownfield Sunday afternoon that covered most of the county southwest, south and east, but not much of the west and north-west portions of the county got rain, but they are not suffering for rain at this time.

Several severe hails have fell over portions of the county recently, besides the big hail in the Meadow section reported in these columns last week, which fell on Sunday the 3rd. About Wednesday of last week a strip of hail set in just south of the other one and ruined a great many crops by either hail or great amount of rain falling in a short time which washed in the dirt covering the plants in the furrows. Saturday night another hail fell east of the Pleasant Valley school house and ruined several more crops. County Clerk Jay Barret informed us that it only left about 50 acres on his place. He thought that the greater damage was done by the heavy rain which amounted to about six inches in about an hour. Replanting is in order in these sections, but most of them are done in the area covered by hail last Tuesday or Wednesday.

Sunday afternoon another hail fell in the Wellman section covering a strip about four miles wide and several miles long that tore up the crops. It was accompanied by such a big rain that replanting operations could not be started until Wednesday of this week, but neighbors on each side of the streak were preparing to help their neighbors.

Last Thursday a wind of cyclonic intensity came up from the southwest and in the sandiest soils covered up crops that will have to be replanted. J. C. Grimes' barn near Lahey was torn to pieces, and we heard of some other damage to out buildings. A hard wind from the southwest Tuesday all day did other damage to growing crops in the sandiest soils.

Crops here were never started off prettier in the history of the county, but for the past two weeks it seems that most everything imaginable has happened to them. We hope though that the worst is now over and everything will go on to perfection.

Salvation Army To Ask For $200.00 Here

The Home Service Appeal for the Salvation Army has begun in Terry county. A meeting of the local Advisory Board for the Salvation Army was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at nine o'clock Tuesday morning. A quota of $200 was adopted by the board of Terry county for the ensuing year. The members of the board are as follows: Judge H. R. Winston, president; M. L. Copeland, secretary-treasurer; The other members are: Jim Miller, J. E. Shelton, E. G. Alexander, C. R. Baldwin, W. A. Bynum, Ben Hurst, and W. H. Collins. Robert Welch was appointed as the chairman for Meadow.

For the benefit of the public upon whom the Salvation Army so largely depends for finances for the conduct of this very necessary and helpful efforts for the relief of humanity, some of the work is here given:

More than 250 women, girls and their infants found refuge in the Woman's Home and Maternity Hospital at San Antonio last year. Very many of these women and girls came from the small town and rural communities of Texas. No effort is spared to make this Salvation Army place of refuge a real home for unfortunate girls who have been betrayed, and who, outside face social ostracism and moral disaster.

There is only one drive a year conducted in Terry county for funds which is conducted by local citizens which compose the Advisory Board, any other solicitation made by people who say they are the Salvation Army are imposters or do so without the authority of the Salvation Army headquarters located at Dallas, Texas. R. L. Portwood, campaign director arrived in the city Monday to assist the local advisory board in conducting the annual drive.

When you are called on to give "DIG DEEP" and help those who would help you if you needed it.

Mrs. J. W. Welch and daughter, Miss Norma Dell of Snyder were here the middle of the week on business.

County Agents Column

By R. B. Davis, Agent

Let me caution you boys again who have well bred pigs which you aim to keep as brood sows not to get them too fat. This is what happens when you feed a young pig too much fattening feeds and do not give them sufficient exercise, that excessive, inside fat crowds the reproductive organs until they can't develop; as a result of this development you have a sow that brings small litters and runty pigs. Sure you want your pig to grow but not like a fattening hog. You want growth of frame, bone, height, length and not a little dumphy fat pig, that is too lazy to get up. Give that pig plenty of exercise, green feed, coal or charcoal, milk or protein supplement. You know we have the best bunch of breeding gilts in Texas and we want the best bunch of brood sows and the finest lot of pigs that can be found next spring. Those pigs should make from thirty to forty-five pounds of growth this month, and lets make it real hog and not fat.

There were twenty five boys to report for the first workout in grain and livestock judging at Brownfield Saturday evening. Three classes of milo and corn and two classes of dairy cows were taken. This was just a preliminary. Grading for the teams will begin this coming Saturday and every boy should be present by two P. M. who wants to try out for the team. Every boy thus far has the same chance but if you miss a few more times the other boys will have the jump on you, so you had better start out now.

The County Agent is busy trying to locate registered pigs for those who did not get one in this first shipment. Some predicted that a lot of the boys and girls would drop out and never keep a record on a pig but more are joining every day. The pig club membership will almost reach one hundred and twenty-five if that is not some pig club I would like to see a county have one.

Grapes should be sprayed now with black leaf 40 in order to kill the leaf hopper that later makes the leaves spotted and causes grapes to shrink. Black leaf 40 can be used on all plants that are attacked by lice or any sucking insect. Cantaloupes, cucumbers, watermelons and the like are always attacked by this insect. A thorough spraying according to directions will aid in the control of these lice or midew.

A little commercial fertilizer applied to growing gardens will pay. Ammonia sulphate which can be purchased at any Ford agency is perhaps the best fertilizer that can be had for this soil.

Revival Unday Way At First Christian

The church is not free because it is cheap. The church is free because it is priceless. No parent, however rich, can buy for his child the benefits and blessings which the church freely gives. God's best gifts are always above price and the church is one of God's very best gifts to man. Those children who from childhood enjoy the rich benefits of the church will in their maturity and old age rise up and call their parents blessed for leading them in this way.

Evangelist John L. Rice under the auspices of the local Christian church is in your midst to present the plea of the New Testament church. Sarah E. Rice is pianist and young peoples' worker. They are strangers in your community on business for their King. They will soon learn if this a friendly, hospitable or a selfish conceited people. Do you sing? Do you play a musical instrument? Do you pray? Do you love your God? Then you my brother are invited to attend these evangelistic services. Come and get your heart right in the "sight of God."

Junior choir and Bible drill at 8:15. Evangelistic worship at 8:45 each evening.

LAMESA MAN ENDS LIFE WITH BULLET

LAMESA, June 8.—Wade Pratt, 21 son of L. M. Pratt, groceryman here, shot himself to death in the rear of his father's store in which he was working here this afternoon. The bullet pierced his heart.

Clean-up Campaign Last Week in June

The annual clean up campaign is to start the last Monday morning in June and last until Saturday night of that week in order to have the city as near spotless as possible for the contemplated celebration here on the Fourth of July, so decreed the committee from the Rotary Club which met last Friday afternoon at the offices of the Chamber of Commerce. Of course this is not saying that no one can start before that time. On the other hand those with a great deal of grounds are privileged to start as soon as they like, but officially the last week in June is to be known as Clean-up Week and Paint-up Week. The mayor of the city will be asked to issue a proclamation in conjunction with the Clean-up Campaign.

After due deliberation it was decided to divide the city into three districts for this purpose. District No. 1 will consist of that section laying north of main street, beginning on the east side of the public square. District No. 2 will consist of that section laying south and east of the same streets, main and 5th. District No. 3 will be and include everything west of 5th street, which is the street on the east side of the public square.

There will be two sets of prizes, one for the largest pile of old tin cans and other rubbish, and there will be three of these, 1st, 2nd and 3rd, and will apply to any section of the city. There will be one capital prize for the entire city for the cleanest and most attractive premises, and one purse of three prizes each for each section of the city. They will run as follows:

Can and Rubbish Piles
First prize	5.00
Second prize	3.00
Third prize	2.00

Capital Prize
Capital prize	15.00

The above prize may be won by anyone in any section in the city for the cleanest and best kept premises in the city.

Sectional Prizes
The following three prizes will be given in each of the three sections of the city for the cleanest and best kept premises therein:
First prize	5.00
Second prize	3.00
Third prize	2.00

Total amount of prizes	55.00

An effort will be made to persuade the city to furnish wagons for hauling the accumulated trash off, but trash and tin cans must be piled in alleys or where it can be easily reached by the teams and wagons. So please remember this or you may have to pay for your own hauling. On the day that the rubbish and tin cans are to be carted away, your place seems to have been forgotten, get in touch with those whose duty it is to haul it away.

As to the prizes for cleanest and best kept home, the clean up committee will have nothing whatever to do with their awarding so far as examining the premises are concerned, but will appoint a committee of the ladies of the town to examine and award the prizes. The Clean-up Committee merely suggests to the committee of ladies that they take no consideration of the cost or pretention of the house or other improvements in awarding prizes, for this is primarily a clean up campaign and not a beauty contest. Judge solely on cleanliness.

The committee wishes that it had funds and authority to offer prizes to the most beautiful homes based on buildings, flowers and shrubbery, but just at this time we have no such authority. Probably later on we can pull something of this nature.

The clean up campaign committee and the entire Rotary Club craves the full and hearty cooperation of every civic club and individual in the city during the life of this campaign. Let's make old Brownfield so clean that it'll be the talk of this section as well as having favorable comment from the thousands of tourists that will pass through this summer. At the same time we make our city more healthful by these clean up campaigns, which may in turn mean the saving of many lives from outbreak of contagious diseases.

Christmas Necktie

She.—Where in the world did you get that horrible necktie?
He.—The laugh is on you. You gave it to me last Christmas.

Fouth Celebration To Be Put Over Nicely

The committee to solicit funds made sufficient headway this week that it looks like our Fourth of July celebration will be an assured fact. Several beeves have been donated, and more than $600 is in sight this week with which to buy more, so everything is looking lovely toward that end. Several of the donors have doubled or increased their subscriptions this week, and others will be asked to increase as much as possible, while a few others who have not been seen as yet will probably increase the buying funds to where the celebration can be put over in good shape, and once more Brownfield will, in its old time style be able to entertain the thousands who come here to celebrate along with us.

Many forms of entertainment will be prepared, and besides there will be a number of prominent speakers here on that date, including Hon. Marvin Jones, our present congressman, who is a candidate for re-election. At that time he will tell the voters how he stands on the issues of the day.

The beeves will be cooked pot roast style, as it can all be better utilized when thus cooked, and served army style with pickles, mashed potatoes, bread and coffee. Herald will probably be able to give more information about the program in the next issue.

Brownfield Fireman Leaves For Convention

Eunice Jones left Sunday afternoon for Denton, Texas, where he will attend the State Firemen's convention in session there this week. Mr. Jones is fire chief of the Brownfield volunteer fire department, and hopes to pick up much information there that will be of benefit to the department here. He is being sent at the expense of the boys who belong to the department here, who are receiving no salary whatever, for their services. We call this patriotism and civic pride of the deepest water.

He will be gone the most of this week, and while it won't be exactly a holiday or vacation for him, it will at least give him a change of scenery, and rubbing elbows with the best firemen in the state. We believe he will not only come back rested, but with new ideas that will put into execution and make our fire department even more efficient.

County Agent Attends Dairy Show Ass'n.

R. B. Davis, county agent attended the directors meeting of the Panhandle Plains Dairy Show Association in Plainview, Friday. Plans were begun for a greater Dairy Show for next spring. Plainview is going to build new barns and other buildings to house the show and according to Mr. Hopkins, who is the secretary-manager of the show as well as the secretary of the City Board of Development, the buildings will be up to date in every respect.

Classes for Club boys and girls and for the students of vocational agriculture were added to the premium list. There will also be a dairy judging contest for club boys.

Mr. Davis was one of the five elected on the executive committee, and was reappointed on the catalogue committee.

CATES OUT FOR WEICHER WELLMAN PRECINCT

We are authorized to announce P. R. Cates as a candidate for weicher of the Wellman or Precinct No. 4, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries in July.

Mr. Cates is a well matured man, having lived in Terry county for the past four years. As to his qualifications, he has worked at gins, and has acted as bookkeeper for gin plants. He feels that he is in every way qualified for the place, and promises to give the farmers and buyers both a square deal at all times to the very best of his ability. He asks that you thoroughly consider his application for the office before casting your vote.

Commissioners Court was in regular monthly session this week.

Our Gas Line To Come From Tahoka

Yes, we are going to get natural gas, and in time to start the gas stoves by the first norther, if nothing unforeseen happens, so you just as well begin figuring on making connections, and our stove dealers had as well begin figuring on stocking with gas stoves for use in the city.

As stated in the chamber of commerce column last week, they are to be here before their franchise expires January 1, 1929, and the reason they will be able to do so, is the fact that they are coming to Brownfield from Tahoka instead of the north as we anticipated for awhile. For a long time it was believed here and on authority given out by the gas company that a line would be built from Hereford via Littlefield, Levelland and on to Brownfield, and as nothing had been done, and Hereford some 175 miles away, led us of course to the conclusion that they would not make Brownfield on schedule time, but since they are coming from Tahoka, only 29 miles away, things have assumed a different aspect.

Those who have been to Tahoka in the past few days say that the line toward Brownfield has already been started, and was at that time about a mile this side of the line that runs on to O'Donnell, Lamesa and Midland. and if they lay even a half mile per day, which is a low estimate, they will be in Brownfield by the middle of August with the main line, and by the middle of October at the outside, we ought to be able to tie on for service.

Thus, with plenty of electricity for every need, a well lighted town, modern sewerage system, a fine system of waterworks and fire fighting apparatus, together with natural gas, Brownfield will be just about as well fixed as the best of them, and will of course be a more desirable city in which to make your homes, and to bring in other home makers. Natural gas is not only the cheapest fuel that can be secured here or anywhere else, but it is the best, and cleanest.

Plows Up Skeleton of Human Near Wellman

Emmett Orcutt, son of L. E. Orcutt of near Wellman, while plowing rather deep on a knoll in their field last week plowed up the skeleton of a human, presumably a man, from its size on day last week, and brought the skull of it to town, and it is now on exhibition at the courthouse. One side of the skull was either torn away by the lister, or it had rotted. He was only plowing about 8 inches deep when the skeleton was found.

The location of the find was about four miles north of the old Dumas place, and about three hundred yards from the the Orcutt place, on a small hill of hard land. This is in the S.E. corner of section 20, block D.D.

Physicians who have examined the skull are of the opinion that it has been buried anywhere from 50 to 150 years, and that it belonged to a Mexican, from the fact that its feet was to the west and the head to the west. We understand that this is the way Catholics bury their dead. It also appears that it was an unusually large man, probably in the prime of life, as the teeth seemed to not be badly worn nor decayed and all seemed to be in place when buried. In measurement the bone from the elbow to the shoulder was some three inches longer than the ordinary man of the present day. Mr. Emmett Orcutt is an ordinary sized man, and he said it measured full three inches longer than the bone in his arm.

Now this skull is still at the court house and all you "ologists" can now freely examine same and as freely make a "guess" about the matter.

CRADLE OF LIBERTY

Houston, Texas, June 11.—Near Houston, scene of the Democratic National Convention in June, visitors will find the famed San Jacinto battleground, now a park. On that battlefield on April 21, 1836, Gen. Sam Houston led his small band of Texans, inspired to heroism by memories of the Alamo, to victory over the Mexican Army, freeing Texas from Mexican domination.

"Hay fever is a wonderful thing. It never lets the initiate get lonesome. When he isn't blowing his paste horn he is getting ready to snort, and when he isn't doing either of these pleasing stunts he is rubbing bleared eyes, trying to get his bearings sufficiently to amble home, out of the way of speeding limousines and lumbering trucks. Escape From Danger Makes For Pleasure

In escape from dangers of all kinds we find one of the greatest thrills in life. The small child asks to be chased and squeals with delight as she escapes; small boys skate over thin ice; grown men hazard their fortunes by gambling, and women risk their reputations by reading risqué stories—all that they may have the thrill of escaping from something.

The stories of universal appeal, from "Little Red Riding Hood" and "Jack the Giant Killer," up to the highest tragedies, are stories of escape or attempted escape. Even our spiritual struggles are dramatized stories of escape. "The Pilgrim's Progress" is the story of Christian's escape from the City of Destruction, though the interest is sustained by a number of minor escapes, beginning with the Wicket Gate whereon was written "Flee from the wrath to come" and ending with his final escape from the river, which he found deeper or shallower according as his faith grew weaker or stronger.—Thomas Nixon Carver, Harvard Professor of Political Economy in the Magazine of Business.

Films of Rare Wood Used for Furniture

The growing scarcity of the more beautiful and valuable woods has made necessary the substitution of other and cheaper kinds. Thus hardy and furniture nowadays is made of solid mahogany, and inferior materials have very generally taken the place of the disappearing "cabinet woods." Indeed, high-grade timber of any kind is now so costly as to prohibit its common use as the solid body of furniture. Manufacturers are resorting more and more to the use of veneers. Articles of furniture, ranging from tables to phonograph and radio cases, have skeletons of cheap wood covered with a thin skin of high quality wood.

Now the skin is not usually more than one-twentieth of an inch thick. A thousand board feet of lumber will produce 10,000 square feet of veneer. Thus a great economy is obtained, and the furniture so made is as attractive as that of solid wood.

Famous Bachelors

Bachelors are the targets for many hard jolts in the world of tears. But let's give bachelors their due. Look at the batting average of the bachelor and see what he has accomplished. Single blessedness has been no barrier to success. There are John G. Whittier, Washington Irving, Phillips Brooks, Walt Whitman, John Randolph, Thaddeus Stevens, James Whitcomb Riley, James Buchanan, the only bachelor President.

But why go farther? Let's leave the United States and see the names of some of Europe's illustrious bachelors. Here they are: Sir Isaac Newton, Michelangelo, Mendelssohn, Beechey, Pitt, Raphael, Buckle, Gibbon Macaulay, Locke, Handel, Galileo Kant and Sir Joshua Reynolds. Hats off to bachelors!—Chicago Daily News.

Changing Sin Styles

We people in Junction City wish the idea of sin wouldn't change so often. It gets us so that we don't know where we're at. It'd be lots more comfortable to know what sin was, so that there wouldn't be any doubt about it, and then we could get out and fight it. Sometimes, just as we get busy fighting sin and the devil, we find that it isn't sin any more at all, but is what everybody is doing.

What we need is stabilized sin. It's plumb disgusting to get out and fight a thing for years and then find that it existed only in our imaginations. We in Junction City don't want sin changed on us. We're fighters. We don't care what sin we're fighting, just so we're fighting it.—Homer Gray in Plain Talk Magazine.

Salt in Hudson River

There might be a slight indication of salt in the Hudson river as far up as Troy. However, this varies with floods. In case of floods the sea water is pushed back and the salt water does not go very far up. Without floods, however, the water is brackish as far up as Troy.

Judgment

A man of accurate judgment cannot have a great flow of ideas, because the slighter relations, making no figure in his mind, have no power to introduce ideas; hence accurate judgment is not friendly to declamation or copious eloquence.—Lord Kames.

Husband's Title
The wife of a man whose title is "Dr." may refer to him as such, or, if she prefers, she may speak of him as "Mr." when it is necessary to give her husband a title. Many people regard the latter as being in better taste. Of course, when a woman is speaking to her social equal she uses neither the phrase, "Mr." nor "Dr." She speaks of him as her husband, or by his given name.

Olive Oil in Commerce
The extraction of oil from olives probably was discovered by man at about the same time he found how to make wine—for in the dim past when he was taking his first agricultural steps. This is today far the most important aspect of the olive industry as it affects commerce. More than 95 per cent of the Spanish crop goes into oil manufacture.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Stone Roads in Italy
Practically all highway in Italy are built of stone that is crushed by hand. All day long the peasant laborers sit in the shelter of their sun shades and make "little ones out of big ones." Although the method of road building is very primitive, the highways are excellent when complete.

Big American Lakes
The geological survey says that the largest fresh water lakes in the United States rank as follows: Lake Michigan, 22,450 square miles; Lake Okechobee, Fla., 730 square miles; Lake Pontchartrain, La., 625 square miles; Red Lakes, Minn., 441 square miles.

"Red Metals"
According to the American Society for Testing Materials the term "red brass" shall be used for zinc-copper alloys only containing more than 50 per cent of copper in which the color varies from a golden to a copper red. This is also known as "red metal."

Obeying Golden Rule
The man who refuses to "do unto others as he would they should do unto him" harms himself more than anyone else. Violation of the Golden Rule usually causes but little annoyance to the other fellow, but irreparable injury to yourself.—Grit.

SAYS CAMPAIGN PROMISES SHOULD BE KEPT

FORT WORTH, June 11.—In a statement given to the press today, Louis J. Wardlaw, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the governorship charges that since his election and up until May 15th of this year Moody has spent less than half of the working hours in his office. He also alleges that gross favoritism has been shown by the Highway Commission in extending money in the vicinity of Houston and Abilene, the homes of Ross Sterling, Chairman, and W. R. Ely, member of the commission.

The statement in full follows: "To The Voters of Texas.—In the campaign two years ago Dan Moody made certain specific promises to you concerning his proposed acts if elected. I charge that the conduct of the administration has been but a train of broken promises and pledges.

I charge that in the face of his solemn pledge to avoid tax increases and to practice frugality the general appropriation bills under his administration have been $10,000.00 greater than ever before in the history of the State.

I charge that the chief executive has been neglectful of the enormous responsibility that has been his as your Governor and that he has not been in his office more than half the time during working hours prior to May 15th this year.

I charge that the administration of the Highway Department by his agents and appointees has been one of favoritism for certain sections. I charge that the great majority of the counties of Texas have aid in hundreds of thousands of dollars more than they received back in the form of maintenance and new construction and that this money, in the main, has been expended in territory adjacent to Houston, the home city of R. A. Sterling, the chairman of the commission, and around Abilene, the home city of W. R. Ely, a member.

Governor Moody in his campaign two years ago asserted from the stump that every administration should stand on the record it had made. The Governor, at that time, did not believe that the issue of a second term should enter into the matter. I agreed then and I agree now, with the proposition as stated by him. If Governor Moody's administration will bear the scrutiny of the public; if he has faithfully complied with his campaign promises; then he is entitled to a second term and I do not expect your support.

If Governor Moody's administration will not bear scrutiny; if he has not kept his pledged word, then the statements he made from the stump two years ago applies to him and he should be retired to private life.

PLEASANT VALLEY BOOSTERS CLUB

We are very sorry that you haven't heard from us sooner but we have been very busy since school ended.

My! but you should see what we have done, and are doing. One girl will soon have chickens large enough to fry. Some are just getting their eggs set, but most of them have chicks between two weeks and one and a half months old.

Our President set two hens. Under each hen she put 16 eggs. One hen hatched every egg. The other still has some unhatched eggs. She told me that she would get about 28 chicks from 32 eggs—pretty good, eh? We think so.

The boys got their pigs Tuesday and you should see how proud they are. Say, you other club boys had better get to work if you intend to beat "The Booster Boys"—they're some workers I'll tell you.

When Mr. Davis came to visit our club, he taught us a yell—"The Fifteen Pigs." It's "fine, and if 'practice makes perfect' we shall soon be perfect.

We elected a yell leader the last meeting, Miss Lila Stockton. She is the one who has us almost perfect. A song leader comes next.

Mr. Williams hasn't paid us a visit yet, but he told us he would. We have been terribly grieved because Mr. Davis could not be with us longer. But we are sure we are going to like Mr. Williams almost as well.

I had almost forgotten to mention the gardens. They are beautiful. A girl has been eating vegetables from her garden for some time. She has canned greens that she will put against any of you other girls work.

Everyone here is happy because we have such fine prospects for this year. I hope each club member in Terry county can say the same, so feel at the fair if we win we won't feel guilty of having had the advantage.

PLAYING THE GAME

By J. G. Burr
Game, Fish and Oyster Department
If you don't play the game fair the game will play out. Baseball and the hunting game resemble. In hunting, the foul ball is one that is fired at protected game in the closed season,—that's a foul ball. There is this difference: In baseball the foul ball does not count for the team but in hunting every hit counts. The hunter usually fires the foul ball with the idea that one wouldn't count much. No man who disregards the law feels that the little game he kills will affect the grand total; but if every man should feel and act that way the destruction of game would become complete. In voting for candidates mighty majorities are made up of individual votes and it takes a lot of them to get a man into office. The candidate is careful to get every possible vote. It does him no good for you to say, Mr. Doe, I like you personally and I believe in all you stand for, but I am for your opponent. It is fine to believe in the game laws and in conservation, but if game is to win out you've got to vote for it. A running candidate needs your vote, but he can live without it but a game candidate cannot because it is running for its life.
Now, a majority will elect a candidate to office, but a majority observing the game laws will not elect game or make it plentiful. A small minority can make it scarce and rob the majority of law observers of the right to a successful hunt. A majority of hunters do obey the law. Are you voting and acting with that majority, or do you bolt the game ticket?

POT LICKER

While I once upon a time took the stump against potlicker, when a fellow in East Texas declared it as great a beverage as buttermilk, and while I have no regrets for meeting in forensic debate the fellow who claims that buttermilk can be equaled as a beverage, I am by no means an enemy to potlicker, and have frequently run to its defense when it was attacked by enemies who sought to destroy it. I have denied somewhat heatedly that the beverage of the pot makes people oven-shaped, that it is responsible for hookworms, and that it makes people bowlegged. So in answering an inquiry as to how to make potlicker and what effect it has upon the human frame and the human disposition, I feel that I can be fair to the wonderful brew. Potlicker is distilled in an iron kettle, preferably over a wood fire. It is brewed from bacon and cabbage. Some people contend that the bacon must be the jowl of the hog but this is not true. The bacon may be from the jaw, the bosom or the side of the hog. It is the condition or state of the meat that counts, and not the exact spot of the porker from whence it is taken; but it must be bacon. The cabbage should not be the bleached hot-house product, but cabbage with some white and some green, some leaf and some stalk. The concoction must simmer until the grease on the top is a quarter of an inch thick. The potlicker is served in big tin cups, but is not eaten until all the cornbread that the licker will thoroughly saturate has been mixed therein. When so prepared, no dish is more popular with Southern folks, negroes and hound dogs. A true son of the South fed up on potlicker will love his neighbor as himself, and the hound dog that feasts freely upon the brew will chase all the varmints out of the country.—J. H. Lowery.

Now if Congress can stop the Mississippi from flooding the whole valley, why can't we persuade them to come over to West Texas and try their hand on our sandstorms? Both would be a fight against nature and nature is no stronger here than in the Mississippi valley.

While the delegation from here to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention at Fort Worth this month, will be small, we are of the opinion that whoever does go should cast the entire vote we are entitled to, for Dr. P. C. Coleman of Colorado City. The Herald believes that if anybody in West Texas deserves the honor of being the president of this great organization, it is this venerable West Texas physician.

It was through his great efforts largely that the organization was brought into existence, and he has always stood for and worked for the up-building of this section. He was also one of the leading men that worked for and finally succeeded in locating the Tech College at our very door. Let's give Dr. Coleman the Brownfield vote as long as his name is before the convention.

Thieves recently swiped the Lynn county sheriff's car at Tahoka while he slept, from the garage near the house. We call that nerve spelled with a big N. Brownfield has been wonderfully lucky so far in that few cars or anything of high value has not been hijacked from their owners, but we have a line of petty thieves here that would make the Bowery district in its prime days set up and take notice. They will break off your hydrants, steel the brass bearing out of machinery, get your milk off your front gallery, drain your car tank and pilfer your home brew bottles, rock your cats, enter your house and muss it up or any other dirty, mean thing they can think of. What our bunch of thieves need more than anything else is a load of No. 6 shot in the seat of their pants.

While the Herald believes papers should occasionally remind the merchants of the town that advertising pays and give examples if need be of those who have succeeded in life by using newspaper space in a business likeway, we are on the other hand of the opinion that some papers actually bore their merchants with so many editorials on the subject of advertisers, or rather non-advertisers which are sometimes actually slurring in their tenor. No one can be driven into doing what he does not want to do by coercive arguments in these free States, but reason and good will should be maintained toward the man who is backward in his advertising. If the nonadvertiser can finally be won over by a policy of good will and helpfulness on the part of the publisher, he usually makes a good, consistent advertiser in the long run. Sometimes the Herald thinks if the newspaper folks would spend less time in lambasting these backward merchants, and give more of it toward mixing with them and trying to find out just what their aim is, and volunteer some time, suggestions and assistance, they would come nearer winning over a party that will become a source of future revenue. We should not prop our feet upon the desk in the front office and expect every class of merchant to come rushing in with a page ad every week.

It is reported to the Herald that a man holding forth here Sunday afternoon says all the papers in the United States are owned or controlled by the Pope, and intimated that the Herald is in the same boat. We always imagined we owned the Herald but perhaps not. Of course this fellow knows, but we wish by-gum the Pope would happen along about tax paying time and every Saturday when we have to shell out wages.—Terry County Herald.

We heard that same charge made in Tahoka once by a speaker who ought to have known better—a man who holds a high position and wields much influence in the politics of this state. We have heard similar statements made at other times and places. It is all pure bunk. Of course it is possible that a newspaper here and there may be owned or controlled by Catholics. Possibly many of them are so owned and controlled in the cities of the North and East, for there are many Catholics there. But that the Pope of Rome undertakes to direct or control the politics of these secular newspapers in this country which happens to be owned by Catholics even, is absolute nonsense. The country weekly in particular is independent. In ninety-nine cases out

Tides of Puget Sound Enormous in Volume

Puget sound, the many-branched inlet of the Pacific ocean, is one of the most picturesque bodies of water in this country. Its shores, once densely wooded, have been denuded for the most part by the lumberman's ax, but the neighboring mountains offset this loss and afford a wonderful background to the scene. Although the natural beauties are many, the treacherous waters of the Narrows, a contracted part of the sound which opens farther south into quiet bays and the ports of Olympia and Shelton, are feared by all who are acquainted with that locality. The tides are extreme and their ebb and flow causes a rush of water through the Narrows.

Twenty-five or thirty miles above the Narrows, in the upper reaches of the sound, the tides attain a height of twenty feet or more. Viewed from the shore, which is generally precipitous, the surging of the water as the tide sets in is magnificent, but this is the scene of many tragedies which occur each year. Tremendous whirlpools are formed in the slender passage and rarely have rowboats and such small craft escaped when gripped in the swirling water. Even large steamboats creak and groan under the strain of breasting these twisting currents. The roar of the tides when running at full resembles the distant boom of the surf.

speech. At one time I believed that it was impossible. "Later, the subject was brought to my attention by prominent educators. Under the stress of arguments presented to me I weakened in my judgment, and was willing to go on record as saying that it might be possible to standardize English speech, but after two years of close study of the whole subject I feel that my first judgment was right. "It is as impossible to standardize the sounds in American and English speech with the hope of having the standardization accepted throughout the English-speaking world as it is to stem the tide of the sea."

Successful Only in West

The English walnut originated in southwestern Asia and has been under important cultivation in the United States since 1890. It is successful only in the far western states, mainly in California, Oregon and southwestern Washington. The principal center is around Los Angeles in southern California. Planting is constantly being increased in central California, northwestern Oregon and contiguous territory north of Portland. It should be grown under 2,000 feet of altitude. The climate requirements are moderate but uniform temperatures, considerable moisture, and freedom from radical drops in temperature.

NEGRO INSULTS WHITE GIRL; THROWN IN JAIL

A negro bootblack, commonly known as Andrew, who has been working in a barbershop at O'Donnell, is incarcerated in the jail here for an attempted or threatened assault upon a little white girl of O'Donnell, about 12 or 13 years of age. Andrew was brought to Tahoka Tuesday afternoon by Sheriff Wesley Simpson after he had been arrested by O'Donnell officers and placed in the city jail at that place. Upon his arrest and imprisonment there Tuesday morning and upon the facts of his offense becoming generally known a crowd of about two hundred men gathered, according to officers, and their attitude became so menacing that peace officers of both Lamesa and Tahoka were called to prevent possible mob violence. Sheriff Wesley Simpson was accompanied by deputies Dee Sanders and W. M. Lee. Reports of the negro's offense are to the effect that on Monday morning he wrote a note to the little white girl asking her to meet him at a certain place that afternoon. She did so and he then gave her another note. At this meeting he attempted to grab her but became frightened, it seems, and desisted from his foul purpose. The frightened girl went to her home and later told her father what had happened. Still later the negro saw her again and begged her to tell no one what had occurred but she told him that she had already informed her father. His arrest followed. Andrew is about 25 years of age and has been working as a bootblack in a barbershop at O'Donnell for a year or more.

Just what action will be taken by the courts with reference to his alleged offense is yet to be determined. In cases of this character people sometime become unduly excited and expect the courts to deal with the offender more severely than the law really permits. But those most directly interested may be assured that this offender will be dealt with according to his deserts.—Tahoka News

Pyrenean Farms Laid Out on Small Scale

In the little pocket-like valleys of the Pyrenees the soil is black and rich, though it has been in use for many centuries. The farmers know the value of their land and they cherish every foot of it. They keep it built up by constant fertilizing, mulching, composting, cultivation and crop rotation.

But what great odds they have to labor against! Our American farmers would hardly have such farms as a gift. Here we come to a little farm where a man is plowing with a yoke of oxen and a very crude plow, just as in Bible times. Again we see an ox and a cow yoked together, for this farmer can't afford a pair of oxen. There goes a man who has borrowed a plow of a neighbor, and it is so light that he is carrying it on his shoulder.

As we view the slopes from some height, the country looks like a piece of patchwork. The farms in the big valleys of course are much better than the hill farms. Cow paths and sheep paths make a network against the velvety gray-green of the pastures. Sheepfolds built of rails, and small barns of stone, are found on the summits, to furnish the sheep protection at night or in bad weather. Some of the shepherds carry a blue umbrella strapped to their back in case it storms.

Women and children are helping to bring in the hay. Often it is done up in canvas so it can be loaded on the back of a donkey. The fields are inclosed by walls of stone or fences made of saplings or twisted twigs.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Of Course She Could Have Anything—but

It must have been her birthday. The young couple stood before the jewelry counter of a downtown store, looking over the stock that ranged from diamonds to cuff pins. "Now, dear," he was heard to say to his fair companion, "this is your present, so anything you want I will get. You pick it out and I buy it; that's all there is to it. Just look everything over and then tell me what

"It will be."
She beamed on him. Could anything in the world be sweeter? Her eyes left his face and went back to the trays of jewelry. Suddenly, with a gasp of delight she held up a freize string of beads.

"Oh, Harry, look! Could I have this? I just love it," she exclaimed. Harry, thus addressed, looked it over beneath drawn brows.
"Well, now I don't know, Mary," he answered slowly. "I really don't think you would care for that. You would probably break it first thing. Those beads don't last long. Let's look down the line farther and see if you don't find something you would really like."

Conciseness of Nature

Nature is always consistent, though she prefers to contravene her own laws. She keeps her laws and seems to transcend them. She arms and equips an animal to find its place and living in the earth, and at the same time she arms and equips another animal to destroy it. Space exists to divide creatures, but by clothing the sides of a bird with a few feathers she gives him a petty omnipotence. The direction is forever onward, but the artist still goes back for materials and begins again with the first elements on the most advanced stage; otherwise all goes to ruin. If we look at her work, we seem to catch a glance of a system of transition.—Emerson.

And There You Have It

"I hear your son has taken up a profession, Mr. O'Casey," remarked the visitor to the house.
"He has indigle," rejoined the host.

"He's plowin' they call a 'cross-examiner.'"
"That's too much for the stranger."
"And plowin's a 'cross-examiner?'" he asked.

For a minute or two O'Casey was at a loss, but eventually he pulled himself together.
"Sure, it's a fellow who asks you questions an' you answer the questions an' then he questions the answers," he returned easily.

WHY I AM STILL HERE

I have been bawled out, bawled up, held up, held down, bulldozed, black-jacked, worked on, cheated, squeezed and mocked, stuck for war tax, dog tax and syntax, liberty bonds, baby bonds, and the bonds of matrimony, red cross, green cross, and double cross, asked to help the Society of John the Baptist, G. A. R., Woman's Corps, Men's relief and stomach relief. I have worked like hell; and because I won't spend and lend all the little I earn, and go beg, borrow and steal I have been cussed and discussed, boycotted, talked to and talked about, lied to and lied about; held up, hung up, banged up, robbed and damn near ruined. And the only reason I am sticking around now is to see what the hell is coming next.—Exchange.

Claim to Veneration Not Conferred by Age

The young will be ready to learn from the old in proportion as their teaching is not thrust upon them. We all have to be learners till the day of our death, and we learn most from one another. If the young see that the old are as anxious to learn as they are to teach, they will be ready to listen to them, but there is no room now for the attitude of superior wisdom which tries to impose experience and knowledge. It is foolish to claim attention and veneration on the ground of years only. The weakness of old age should be treated tenderly, just as all other weakness is treated, but to claim attention simply because of years which may have been spent in lazy acquiescence to existing standards and conditions is unjustifiable. The wisdom which life has given to those who have always been learning will make itself felt and will be recognized, it need not be asserted.—Exchange.

Lizards That "Fly"

Natives of Bon and Badu, coastal islands of Australia, are reporting experiences with flying lizards. They brought one in for a missionary to examine and he found the creature had a parchment-like skin stretched from body to forelegs.

Experiments showed the reptile actually could volplane from tree tops of considerable height with uncanny accuracy. Natives say it will not attack the passerby if it is seen but if one takes one's eyes from the creature before out of its range of flight, one hears a faint hiss and almost instantly feels sharp claws in the back.

The natives previously had brought to the missionary a snake which can run forward or backward with equal ease.

Discordant Note

The bureau of standards says that Helmholtz' explanation of why a discordant musical note will offend the ear is as follows: The essence of dissonance consists merely in very rapid beats or changes in intensity of the sound. Two consonant tones flow on quietly side by side in an undisturbed stream; dissonant tones cut each other up into separate pulses. These pulses may be too rapid for the ear to separate, but their existence may be demonstrated. The nerves of hearing feel these rapid beats as rough and unpleasant because every intermittent excitement of any nervous apparatus affects us more powerfully than one that lasts unaltered.

Etna's "Cloud-Tree"

One of the most striking phenomena of the last outbreak of the central crater of Mount Etna was the formation of an "eruptive pine," or "cloud-tree," directly above the crater. A famous example of these volcanic smoke-trees was seen standing over Vesuvius during the destruction of Pompeii. But Etna is a far mightier and loftier volcano than Vesuvius. The verge of its great crater is nearly 11,000 feet above sea level and the "eruptive pine" mentioned rose more than 10,000 feet above the crater. It was finally blown off by the wind, hiding the sun as it drifted away in an elongated black cloud.

Was She Dumb?

A girl, inspecting bargains in a department store, picked up a pair of golf gloves.

Examining the left-hand glove, the girl said to her companion:

"I wonder why this one is padded in the palm?"

"Don't you know?" the other said. "That is a golf glove."

"Oh, I see," was the reply, "and that's the hand you catch the ball with."

ETIQUETTE A LA ERIN

It is freely admitted that this one is of exceedingly ancient vintage, but it is a railroading story, and railroad men like their stories to be well seasoned with age.

It is a year which the late J. T. Hanrahan, president of the Illinois Central system, was fond of telling on himself.

Mr. Hanrahan was sitting in his office at Chicago one day when a burly person entered, without ceremony of knocking. "Me name's Casey," he said. "I want a pass to St. Louis. I wurk in the yar-rds."

"That is no way to ask for a pass," said Mr. Hanrahan. "You should introduce yourself politely. Come back in an hour and try again."

LOCAL CHEVROLET DEALERS HELP PLAN ADVERTISING

Detroit, Mich., June 12.—Renewal of a unique series of advertising conferences, in which the automobile dealer is given a voice in the national advertising program of the factory, was announced here today by John E. Grimm, Jr., advertising manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company.

This company is now in the midst of the largest and most comprehensive advertising campaign ever undertaken in the history of the automotive industry.

The first of the new series of dealer conferences, held under the general supervision of Mr. Grimm, took place here a week ago when dealers selected from the domestic Chevrolet organization met with factory officials to discuss the publicity plans of the company for the next few months.

"The object of these advertising conferences," Mr. Grimm explained, "is to keep the home office constantly in touch with problems faced daily by the dealers so that Chevrolet advertising may be guided by actual field conditions and thus prove most effective."

"The assistance given by dealers in these monthly conferences," he continued, "is of invaluable benefit in adding to the efficiency of our advertising. This is particularly true of the newspaper advertising, which, of course, forms the greatest retail advertising force for each individual dealer.

"While every type of advertising, from newspaper, magazine, outdoor and electric spectacular signs to trade papers is discussed, major interest attaches to the newspaper schedule because this makes up by far the largest part of the year's budget. There are now more than 5,500 leading newspapers carrying the Chevrolet message to practically every city, town and hamlet in the United States.

Walter Bond will leave this week for Levelland where he has accepted a position as prescription druggist with the Alexander Drug Store at that place, which is under the management of George Bragg, formerly of this place. Walter will therefore feel at home from the jump go up there.

COOL SUMMERS DRAW STUDENTS TO TECH

Lubbock, Texas, June 11.—More than 800 students have already enrolled in the third summer session of Texas Technological College, and this number will be considerably augmented as enrollment still continues. E. L. Dohoney, registrar, estimates that the registration for both summer terms will run well above 1,000. This is fifty per cent increase over the attendance of last summer.

There is a notable increase of transfers from other institutions who have come to Texas Technological College to pursue graduate study during the summer months on account of the cool and pleasant climate of the South Plains. With a light norther blowing on opening day students from the lower altitudes wore coats with fur collars and went about shivering with the temperature below 40.

R. M. Goodpasture has opened a real estate office up stairs over the State Bank.

ESSAY ON NEWSPAPER MEN

(Palo Pinto County Star)

I don't know how newspapers got into the world, and I don't think God does, for He ain't got no record of it recorded in the Bible. I think the editor is the Missing Link we have read of, and stayed in the bushes during the flood and then came out and wrote the thing up, and has been kept here ever since.

If the editor makes mistakes, folks say he ought to be hung, but if the doctor makes mistakes he buries them because they can't read or write Latin. When the editor makes a mistake there is a big law-suit and swearing, but if the doctor makes one there is a big funeral, cut flowers and perfect silence.

A doctor can use a word a yard long without him or anybody else knowing anything about it. If the editor uses one he has to spell it. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife he charges for the visit, but if the editor goes he gets a charge of buckshot.

Any college can make doctors but editors have to be born.

HIDDEN PETRA MAY BE REAL "MOUNT SINAI"

Believed to Be Place Where Moses Got Decalogue.

Washington.—Discoveries which have led some archeologists to accept the view that the hidden city of Petra, near the Dead sea, is the real "Mount Sinai" from which Moses obtained his laws, gives that mysterious and unique city a new interest. A bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society tells of Petra and its unusual site.

"Petra is like a fairy city hidden in a mountain," says the bulletin. "It is as though a huge peak had been dismembered and the ancient city set down in the chasm.

Enter Through Canyon.

"The old entrance to the city, which was an important factor in its strength, can be used today. From a semi-desert plain one enters a narrow canyon which is a mere cleft in towering walls of red sandstone. Along the bottom of this canyon a little stream flows. The high, jagged walls, at many places overhanging, give the passage a gloom even at midday. At one point the floor of the canyon narrows to 12 feet, and at no place is it wider than 40 feet.

"After one has followed this tortuous chasm for two miles he comes out unexpectedly into an open plain, approximately a mile across, entirely surrounded by sheer cliffs and precipitous slopes. Through the center winds the little stream, a municipal water supply ages ago. On the level ground on each side of the stream rose the ancient city.

"Nearly all traces of the ancient structures that rose on the plain have disappeared. But against the cliff walls remains a unique, and almost imperishable Petra. One-piece buildings have been carved out of the solid sandstone and are almost as well preserved today as when the chisels of their creators were laid down.

"One of the most striking of these creations is the so-called 'Treasury of Pharaoh,' a product of the Greek period several centuries before Christ. The front of the edifice stands in deep relief, its pillars, capitals, pediment and superstructure intact. A doorway leads into the cliff from which rooms were hollowed.

"Another carved masterpiece is the rock-hewn Greek theater that seated some 5,000 spectators. Temples also are carved in the cliffs; but the most numerous of the monuments are tombs. Thousands of them look down on the Petra plain, many showing the most elaborate and exquisite carving.

Ancient Distributing Center.

"Petra has been called by poets the 'rose-red city half as old as time.' Its deeply colored walls—rose, purple, yellow, crimson—are indeed beautiful; and the skillful use of the colored strata in the carvings shows that the Petra artists made the most of the esthetic possibilities. But Petra did not exist for beauty alone. If it had possessed a chamber of commerce in its heyday of importance, that organization could have boasted truthfully that Petra was the world's premier distributing center and that its weekly 'bank clearings' ran into many hundreds of talents.

"The city was the Suez and Panama of its day, a meeting place for the chief trade routes. Incense, spices and other treasures of the East came from India, Persia and farther Arabia to this 'safety deposit city' of the desert. From there goods were distributed to Egypt, Palestine and Syria, and through Tyre and Sidon to the Mediterranean countries to the west. An important special traffic of the city was the furnishing of Dead sea bitu men to the embalmers of Egypt.

"How far Petra reaches back into antiquity is not known, but its history is at least known sketchily from about 600 B. C. It is now suggested that the more ancient town may have served as a distributing center for the religious ideas of the East as its successor served in forwarding Eastern goods."

Huts 1,000 Years Old
Still Exist on Thames

London.—Remains of huts at least 1,000 years old still exist at East Tilbury, on the foreshore of the Thames. These huts, circular in shape, vary in diameter from eleven and one-half to twenty feet.

Consisting of three rings of pointed stakes, each one and one-half to two inches in diameter, which formed a framework for wattles, the "skeletons" are preserved in the mud just as they are made.

These huts were provided with planked floors and burnt roof tiles as floor coverings. Yorkshire charcoal burners still build circular huts formed of stakes and covered with turf. Bark peelers in the Lake district still are building an even more highly developed construction, using similar materials. Without doubt the construction has been handed down through countless generations from primitive times.

From the time of Chaucer comes the rhyme "teapot hall, all roof no wall," which actually describes these early hongs.

HARRIS MOTOR CO.

CHEVROLET SMASHES ITS OWN RECORD AGAIN

Detroit, Mich., June 12.—All previous production records in the six-year existence of the Chevrolet Motor Company were shattered here in May when the company turned out 140,700 units.

The output for a single day also reached a new level on May 28 when 7075 finished cars and trucks rolled off the assembly lines.

These figures, released here today by W. S. Kunders, Pres. and general manager, lent substance to a growing feeling in automotive circles that Chevrolet would not only equal its 1927 volume of a million cars well before the close of 1928, but that it also would duplicate its 1927 performance of building and selling more cars than any other manufacturer in the world.

HER OWN JAILER

Recent press dispatches told of the death of a girl who for fourteen years had been her own prisoner. The dark angel put an end to her self-enforced sentence and although she was 27 years old at the time of her death knew little more of the world than she did at the age of 13, when she retired from its activities.

The history of the life of this girl, a resident of Key West, is the history of a foolish sacrifice. At the age of 13 she quarrelled with her lover. In a fit of temper he told her he never wished to see her face again. She retired to the privacy of her own room and only once in fourteen years which preceded her death was she seen by anyone—and then it was a close relative. Entreaties of the lover were in vain as the misguided miss pined away, surrounded by the four, gray walls of her boudoir.

There are some people who will sympathize with the girl. Sympathy, however, is wasted in this case. Pity for her ignorance—mingled a wee bit, perhaps, with admiration for her iron will—is the only sensible reaction. Her life was wasted. It was useless. As far as the rest of the world is concerned she might just as well have died fourteen years ago. She was of no good to humanity.

And now we come to the moral of the tale.

Many of us are doing the same thing in a different way. Many of us are of the minimum, rather than the maximum, good to our fellow men. Many of us forget the world in our mad rush to satisfy our own whims. And many of us, like the girl of Key West, allow minor things to dominate our lives, robbing us of our influence which we might exert for the good of our fellows.

We only live once you know, and the span of human life is not too long. It behooves us then, to try to smooth the path as we tread along so the fellow who follows us along the torturous road may find the going a little smoother than we found it. The world is full of people like the Key West girl when just a little sane thinking would change the complexion of things for lots of folks.—South Plains Farmers.

Tokio Notes

As you all know our school closed the 25th of May and so that spells we don't have any more school notes but Oh boy we sure will have some TOKIO NOTES.

All the people out at Tokio are very busy since the rain. Some are planting June cotton instead of June corn, but there is some June corn being planted.

We are planting our crops in the summer, working them in the fall, gathering them in the winter.

Watch out Brownfield, Tokio is going to catch up with you and take the courthouse away from you like you did Gomez. For the new highway has already passed Tokio and we have a grist mill and a filling up place all ready on the right side of the new highway. It is one mile south of old Tokio. This going to be called New Tokio instead of New York. All of your fashions will be coming from New Tokio in two or three years.

The hail that we had out here last week didn't amount to very much right in Tokio, but off a little ways from here it got pretty plentiful and the dose was pretty hot.

We still have some whooping cough out here. I don't think they took it at home and I am sure they are not going to stay at home while they have it.

Everyone should have been out to Tokio Friday night May 25 and heard Judge H. R. Winston give the class address. It sure was fine and we want to thank him for his kindness toward our school work. I am sure if it was left up to the 7th and 10th grades about the voting that everyone of them would vote for him. Mr. Knoll also made a good talk that we all enjoyed.

Well everybody remember that we have singing at the Community Hall every Sunday night and everybody is invited out. I am sure of you would come you would come back again, because we have splendid singing.

—A pupil from Tokio school.

Miss Stephens, of Oklahoma City came in this week on a visit with her mother, Mrs. Ed Black. Her sister has been here some two weeks.

A PRESIDENT MAKER

Houston, Texas, June 11.—If the Democratic nominee at the quadrennial convention of the party in Houston in June wins his way to the White House he will not be the first president elected in Texas. Nearly a century ago Gen. Sam Houston was elected president of the Republic of Texas.

Roy Wingerd made a business trip to Midland the first part of the week.

GAINES COUNTY MAKING EXPERIMENTS IN SOIL MIXING

Acting upon the supposition that if from 4 to 8 inches of clay was turned up and mixed with top sand on shirery land a clay loam could be made that would be tillable and could be handled under most conditions, the commissioners court of Gaines county had two ten acre plots plowed to the depth of 24 inches, using the county tractors and graders for the breaking.

These plots were broken in February and neither blown. They have just been planted and the seed came up quickly and are growing off faster than are the plants by the side of the plots.

The soil looks quite different to that which was not broken. It is of a clay-sand loam that cultivates well and does not blow. While it will take time to determine the productiveness and the holding qualities of this new soil, yet it offers a possibility that may turn this worthless deep sand area into one of the best farming sections of the South Plains.

Soil experts of the U. S. Dep't of Agriculture, as well as of the Texas Experiment Station and manufacturers of plows are also interested in these experiments of Gaines county in her effort to make a top soil that can be held.

One plot is located on the farm of O. L. Berry of Seagraves while the other is situated on the farm of J. H. Woodard near Seminole. It will be well to pay a visit to these plots and observe the soil and growth made by the crops.
