The Whole Doggone Country Goes G. O. P.

Terry county has always had a few birds who were Democratic in July and Republican in November—so has the rest of Texas—but until recently the whole vote of them was hardly noticeable, but this year all of them, including the birdies, tried to find a roost on the Republican band wagon. What has come over people? Religious prejudice pure and simple.

With the present drift it will not be ten years until there will be a clergy party in Texas controlled by the protestant preachers of one or two strong denominations and the people will have to rise up and smite it just like they have down in old Mexico. Watch our prediction, we are not talking about the little pastors of our small towns either, but the big fellows higher up and who are going to try and use the "little" preachers.

As to Mr. Hoover we are of the opinion that he is an honest conscientious man, but in view of the fact that he has received the biggest vote of approval in our country's history, has he the moral fortitude to stay the hand of the grafters in his party. Believing their course is overwhelmingly endorsed, it would not surprise us if they tried to sell the nation's capitol, and personally we look for the biggest orgy of graft and corruption in the next four years than any 50 in our country's history. The past six years have been bad enough, but having the nation's endorsement Messrs. Daugherty, Denby, Sinclair, Fall and others will sure enough sow their wild oats.

Hoover was leading in Terry county by 169 votes, which lacks three small boxes being complete. Only two boxes in the county gave a Democratic majority. We don't consider this a vote for Hoover but a vote against Al Smith.

Farm Notes of Interest to Our Farmers

R. B. Davis, county agent, attended the meeting of the catalog committee of the Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show at Plainview, Monday. A bigger and better spring dairy show is being planned. Among the new features of the exposition this year will be the dairy products department in which will be entered butter, different kinds of cheese, ice cream and all other products of dairying. Special classes for 4-H Club boys and students of vocational agriculture will be made in jerseys. Judging contests for club boys and voc. agri. students will be held in connection with the show. The Terry county boys will have to begin to study up on the dairy cattle and be ready for the contest.

Farmers are learning that corn alone is not an economical feed for fattening hogs. Corn with tankage or corn with commercial protein supplement have given excellent results. J. W. Childers of Seminole, recently sold a bunch of well finished hogs that made an average gain of one and three fourths pounds per day on corn and tankage fed in a self feeder. This is a good gain when the fact is the hogs were a mixed lot. C. W. Westcott reports a gain of more than two pounds per day on the same feed. A hog can no more thrive on corn and water than a man can on bread and water.

Jess Smith purchased a car of feeder pigs a few days back and will fatten them out. Feeding of hogs and cattle under normal conditions pay.

Howell & Lovelace have a nice bunch of calves in the feed lot at the Tankersley dairy. These calves will be watched with a great deal of interest as it is one means of marketing cheap feed.

—By R. B. Davis, Co. Agent.

MARRIED

C. B. Worsham of Tokio and Mrs. M. M. Hayes from Louisiana came in last Sunday afternoon and were married by A. L. Burnett at the Hotel Brownfield about 7 P. M. We understand that they will reside on the Worsham farm near Tokio.

Our Schools Moving Along Splendidly

We have heard nothing so far but the best of reports from our school this time, so we have arrived at the conclusion that everything is moving very smooth, although, we like perhaps hundreds of other patrons have not taken the time off from chasing the Almighty Dollars to even stick our nose inside either grade or high school building.

Where there is smoke there must be some fire, as the old saying goes; but when no smoke is seen at all, on the other hand, we must conclude there is no fire, and that everything must be in harmony at our schools.

We have heard no complaint from any patrons, from no children, and we have taken occasion several times to speak about the school to faculty members with whom we are acquainted and we always get the same answer—"just lovely."

When perfect harmony in all branches of the school is at its best, you may be fully assured that good work is being done, and that the three parties most interested are working together for the advancement of the school, and at the end of the term there is always a larger percent of those passing their grades than any school where there is even a rattle of confusion.

The schools of our land may be compared to a factory in which are being moulded and turned out the future citizens of our land. If harmony prevails in the factory and each are cooperating from the president to the janitor, you may be assured that a maximum of products are not only being turned out, but they bear the stamp of the best quality too.

Let us not fail our schools, for they need our hearty cooperation in order that they may do the best work.

American Legion to Observe Armistice

The local American Legion and ex-service men of the A. E. F. are making preparation as usual to stage the Armistice Celebration in Brownfield, and they invite their many friends to join them in whatever program they may be putting over. It is fitting that we as a people and a nation pause once a year in our efforts for worldly gain to pay our respects to the boys who fell in France that our liberty and freedom of thought might be preserved, and on especially this day in which the bloodiest and most costly war of history came to an end.

Sunday morning the boys will have a service at 11 A. M. appropriate to the day and occasion at the Rialto Theatre, and the boys invite their friends to meet with them and help them by their presence with the program for the morning.

As usual on Monday, the boys and their friends will meet early at the Hall to shoot anvils, and breakfast will be served in army style around the campfire. We understand that the boys will enjoy a turkey supper at the hall Monday night.

Now let's not do like we did last year—accuse every Buddy that risked his life in the muddy and insect ridden trenches of France of being drunk just because he yells when the anvils go off. It may be that a few of the boys got just a little too much corn juice last year for their own good, but in all cases they were carried home and bothered no one. Why can't we forget our usual decorum once a year on an occasion like this and be just boys again without someone with a long nose and flapping tongue trying to take all the pleasure out of life?

We are authorized to announce that the W. M. U. of the Baptist church will have a box at the Jones Dry Goods store all next week for donations to the Buckner Orphans home. They ask that all who have anything they wish to donate to please leave it at this store.

Grandpa and Grandma J. W. Spear have moved back to Brownfield from Post. We welcome this splendid old couple back to our midst.

Herbert Chesshir Wins Free Trip to Chicago

Herbert Chesshir, pig club member of the Meadow Mighty Money Makers won one of the nineteen free trips to the International Live Stock Show, at Chicago, Dec. 1-8, given by the Santa Fe Railway to 4-H club boys each year.

These free trips to the greatest of all live stock shows, is given by the Santa Fe to Club boys who are fourteen years old or over, and are selected on the basis of 30 points on gross receipts, 30 points on net profit, 20 points on record book, and 20 points on story of project. A committee at A. & M. College select the nineteen best records from all records sent to them. Only one boy from each county in which the Santa Fe operates is eligible for competition.

The record of Herbert Chesshir was chosen by a committee of Terry county and sent to the A. & M. College and he was one of the nineteen boys who will see one of America's largest shows and cities at the expense of the Santa Fe railroad.

Herbert is one of the boys who borrowed money from one of the banks and bought a pig out of the shipment from Lillard's last June. He fed his pig all the skimmed milk he would drink and pastured her in the stack lot where there was plenty of green feed.

He won second prize in Duroc gilts at the Terry County Fair; first prize Duroc club pig and first prize pig in the open classes at Lubbock. He also won the free trip to the Dallas Fair given by the Terry County Fair.

The trip to Chicago is perhaps the highest and most coveted trip that a 4-H Club boy can win on his project. Terry County can well be proud of Herbert and his record as a first year club member. However Terry county must still be prouder of the hundreds of other boys and girls that have worked hard this year and have made good records.

More Showers Visit Terry Co. Sunday

What in the world has come over our section of the state anyway that we have for the past several months had more rain than we wanted. Have we suddenly changed ends with east Texas. It would seem so, for some of our citizens have been getting letters from as far away as Brazos Co. which report that all the surface tanks are dry and that they are watering the stock at the wells. This is very unusual there, it is said. Or do you suppose it could be caused by our people turning to the Republican party, which in reality is the wet old party? Let echo answer.

Be as it may, just about the time we thought the people could get back into the cotton fields last week, it had to haul off and rain about a quarter inch again Sunday and following this will prolonged cloudy weather, there has not been a good stride reached yet this week, and on this, Tuesday night, it still looks threatening.

Maybe, when the country goes Democratic again, we will have a change for the better.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Burnett, a girl, Friday. Both mother and baby doing nicely.

Don't seek experience, you'll get enough if you just let nature take its course.

Herald Sends Out Subscription Notices

During the past few days the Herald has sent out several hundred subscription statements to those who are behind or about to get delinquent on the books, and it hopes that there will be a generous response to these statements from our friends and subscribers, for we are needing the money to meet our increasing obligations.

The Herald, like every other business institution has heavier obligations as it increases in size and circulation, and its bills must be paid. In fact, we are supposed to and do meet our pay roll of the employees weekly and all our paper and other bills by the tenth of each month. To keep a good standing with paper houses, a paper must meet these bills promptly. But owing to the fact that many of our readers are shy of money during the mid-summer months we have not pressed the matter of subscriptions, but now that they are harvesting their money crops we expect a prompt settlement, and we anticipate and believe we will have a hearty response from them.

No newspaper, large or small can exist without collecting for its subscriptions. While they barely pay the expense of paper and postage, it is very necessary that they have this or a deficit appears elsewhere in the conduct of the business. Even Henry Ford, with his millions tried to conduct a magazine with a free subscription list, but failed in it. Then, conducting an address paper, he took some advertising, but still the expense mounted with no corresponding coverage in revenues, and he finally discontinued the magazine as a bad venture. Some think lawsuits against the magazine by Jews stopped it, but in truth it was not a paying proposition and Henry Ford don't want any such a business.

We wish to say to those who have received these notices that while we hope to retain each and all of them on the books, we cannot if they fail to respond. We shall give them two weeks, and at the end of that time if they have not sent in renewal or arranged for a slight extension of time, we shall be obliged to cut them from the list.

Large Crowds Attend Zander-Gump Wedding

One of the largest crowds seen out on an affair where admission was charged was on hand last Friday evening at the Zander Gump wedding at the Rialto Theatre and put on under the auspices of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church, and from reports gathered here and there those who attended got a thrill and many hearty laughs at those who attempted to mimic the character of the daily comic strip characters.

The net proceeds of the play, we understand, will be used in helping to lift the indebtedness of the church part of which is coming due, and the young ladies of the church wanted to do their part to this end.

F. B. Condra was in Tuesday with a fresh porker which he disposed of with local town folks who wanted to see some more red-streaked gravy.

Stranger (at party): "Dull, isn't it?"

Other: "Yes, very."

Stranger: "Let's go home."

Other: "I can't, I'm host."

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

FEEDING FOR CREAM

At this time of year when the pastures are dead and no green feed is to be had the old cow is inclined to do as the hen—stop producing. And it is right when cream, butter, and eggs are highest and taste best.

Feed is the biggest factor in keeping up the production. Plenty of alfalfa hay or a green wheat field is what we need for winter production; but since we don't have it why not turn to some other ration. The two big things in feeding is giving feed that will give production and the other is the cost of the feed. Both are very important.

The cheapest dairy ration for this country is probably that used by the Texas Tech which consists of one part cotton seed meal, one part wheat bran and two parts ground milo, kaffir or higer heads or ear corn with chuff, this is probably the best and most economical ration that can be fed to dairy cattle in winter. A cheap ration is two and one-half parts ground corn cob meal or milo heads and one part cotton seed meal. Both of these rations are to be fed with all roughness that the cow will eat.

Never feed unground corn or heads to cows for milk production. Never feed a ration of cotton seed and bran. It is not balanced and is entirely too expensive.

Club members are reminded to attend the last meeting of the year at Brownfield, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Record books should be turned in at that time if they are not already in my office.

I have several letters of inquiry from buyers wanting maize heads in ear lots, and want to buy direct from the farmer. I will be glad to turn these letters over to or assist any farmer or farmers who wish to sell their maize direct to the consumer. There seems to be certain sections of Texas where feed for another year will have to be bought. Future prices of any commodity are more or less uncertain, but you have noticed that feed is usually a great deal higher during the summer. This with the fact that it is a good plan to hold a year's supply on hand, until another crop is assured makes it unadvisable not to sell feed if it can be properly stored or kept until summer.

Rotary Club Enjoys A Splendid Program

One of the best programs that has been put on at the noon luncheons of the local Rotarians, was had last Friday, and being an abrupt change from any recently put on, was the more enjoyed by the club.

There was supposed to have been a contest for a $5 hat donated by the firm of Cobb & Stephens for any who could quote the code of ethics verbatim, but it was soon found that not even the best posted of the boys could hit 'er off like it should be. It was therefore deferred until some future meeting and another attempt will be made at it. The hat is still up, we understand.

Some very fine music was furnished by Mrs. Dallas at the piano and Miss Baldwin with the violin. A duet by Misses Baldwin and Walker with Mrs. Dallas at the piano was also greatly enjoyed. These ladies certainly know music and how to render same for the edification of their auditors.

The last thing on the program was a bit of rich gossip by that great and incomparable gossip, Judge Geo. W. Neill. Judge Neill has that gift of being funny without seemingly to try not unlike that old cowboy, Will Rodgers, and reading Rodgers and hearing Neill leads one to believe Will has nothing on George. Just why he don't try the stage and quit trying to lawyer in this section is beyond us. He has another Rodgers aid, too, he is just about as ugly.

How well we are policed by the gossips!

Texas Compress Co. Now Mashing Bales

The writer was a visitor at the Texas Compress and Warehouse Company plant in the northern part of the city Monday afternoon and was immediately taken in charge by the most accommodating of fellows, Mr. I. H. Eidson, local superintendent of the plant, and shown about the place wherein they have perhaps thirty or forty thousand invested in their huge plant.

We found that the machinery had already been installed and the plant actually working, but they were short on some needed material that Mr. Eidson expected on every train now coming in. Their huge boilers and presses as well as other machinery are brand new—no old junk shipped in from some other place. The Santa Fe has allowed them to build a switch track along side the sheds in order to make it convenient for loading purposes.

The first hundred bales of cotton was pressed the first of the week, and hundreds of others are awaiting the press when we called. This means a great saving to the shippers, a difference of about 50 cents per bale of compressed and gin pressed cotton intended for shipment to ports. In fact the railroads will not, we understand take cotton for shipment further than the first compress.

There is another big item in having the cotton compressed in Brownfield, for some 18 hands are employed here for about five or six months of the year at good wages, and these people in return turn part of this money to the city in one form or another, and everybody in the city benefits indirectly from this big pay roll.

These people are boosting Brownfield—let's boost them.

HOW TO RUN A NEWSPAPER

Men will take the liberty to tell you how to run a paper, when they would not think of hinting to the merchant how to conduct his store or tell the preacher how to preach. They pay money for schools, and do not know whether Johnny is learning the rule of three or how to hold a cigarette gracefully, but when it comes to the newspaper, there's where they all get off.

During the past week a friend wanted to know why we did not try to run a paper a little more along the lines of how Christ would run a paper. We don't know how that would be. In the first place, if Christ was back on earth we don't believe he would go into the newspaper business at all. There is not an editor or a preacher that could tell the whole truth for thirty days and stay in the community in which he lived. If our friend doubts this statement let him try telling the absolute truth just one week and see where he gets off.—W. A. Fletcher, in the Oak Grove (Mo.) Banner.

DIED

Joe Davis, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Davis of the Johnson community, died Tuesday morning of typhoid fever followed by pneumonia. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon by his pastor, Rev. E. V. May at the local Baptist church, followed by burial in the Brownfield cemetery.

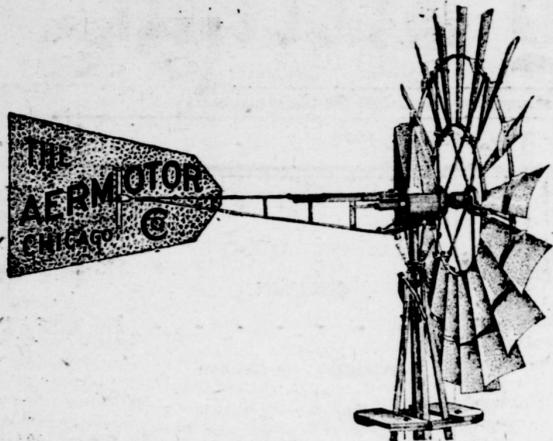

Herald joins the many friends of the family in offering condolence in this time of their sorrow.

PUBLIC RECITAL

At the Grammar School Auditorium Wednesday evening at 7:15. Mrs. W. B. Toone will present in recital her class in Dramatic Art and Public Speaking, assisted by piano pupils of Mrs. Dallas and Miss Fogle. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Several of the Tech students were noticed to be home for the week end. None of our students seem to have been in the wreck that happened to returning students from the T. C. U. Tech game at Fort Worth. They seem to have been mostly Littlefield students.

WOULD STABILIZATION HELP THE GAMBLERS

Mr. S. Odenheimer, president of the Lane Cotton Mills Company and also president of the Permanent International Trade Exposition, New Orleans, in a recent interview said:

"In my opinion, stability in the price of cotton would be of tremendous benefit, not only to the cotton farmers, but to the cotton mills and also to the consumers of cotton goods. Large and frequent fluctuations are a very great menace to the rational demoralization in prices of cotton goods is extremely bad for the mills and their customers, and all this reacts unfavorably upon the cotton farmers who are injured from every standpoint by such fluctuations.

"I am convinced that the cotton mills have a further vital interest in the stability of cotton prices because I believe that any improvement in that direction will increase the prosperity of the cotton farmers and thus will increase their purchasing powers."

Mr. Odenheimer said a great deal in a few words, but he spoiled it all by concluding with the following:

"Of course you understand that at this time I am in no position to pass upon the merits of any particular plan for approaching and dealing with this extremely intricate problem."

Mr. Odenheimer like many other big business men who recognize the evils attending a fluctuating cotton market is apparently afraid to look for the source of the trouble and remove it.

Farm and Ranch again suggests that those who profess to be interested in stabilizing the market are sincere, they should make an effort to learn what influence unrestricted and unlimited gambling in cotton has in bringing about the fluctuations complained of.—Farm and Ranch.

SAYS LEPROSY MAY NOT BE CONTAGIOUS

Scientist Hopes to Substantiate Theory.

San Francisco.—Possibility that leprosy is not contagious and that victims of the dread scourge need not be isolated in colonies of the so-called "living dead" was disclosed here by Dr. E. L. Walker, professor of tropical medicines in the University of California medical school.

The theory, supported for the first time by definite evidence, was advanced by the University of California scientist upon his return from a 14-months' stay in Honolulu. His investigations and experiments were conducted in a laboratory at Kailahi hospital, a receiving station for lepers destined for incarceration at Molokai leper colony.

Doctor Walker, who said his findings are only tentative, explained that authorities long have suspected that the actinomyces bacteria might be involved in leprosy, but that no laboratory evidence hitherto had been obtained to support the suspicion. This particular bacteria, classified as a plant fungus, is said to be a soil-growing organism, like that causing lock jaw. It appears reasonable to suppose then, according to Doctor Walker, that leprosy is an infection from the soil.

The theory is materially strengthened, according to the scientist's findings, by the known fact that leprosy is most prevalent in countries where the natives run barefoot. Investigation in these places, with the soil origin of infection in mind, the adoption of shoes and the careful disinfection of wounds, provided seemingly positive evidence of the truth of the new theory.

The stumbling block in the way of obtaining experimental proof that actinomyces is the actual cause of leprosy, Doctor Walker said, lies in the fact that animals other than man are immune to the disease. In other words, it is impossible to try these bacteria any other way than on a human, and that is considered too dangerous. However, in his experiments in Hawaii Doctor Walker found them always present in leprosy tissue.

Hope of substantiation of the theory that leprosy is not contagious and that governments need not condemn the unfortunate victims to "living death" in a lepers' colony, Doctor Walker declared, lies in the East Belgian Congo, the Ivory coast of Africa and other known districts where the percentages of leprosy are high and where necessary experiments and observation may be made.

Ancient Cuban Tiles for American Homes

Curio dealers of Havana are acquiring old Spanish art tiles to supply the demand in the United States. As each old house is torn down, the bidding for its art tiling is active, although there is nearly a 90 per cent loss in breakage—the tiles having been so long cemented to the walls that they have become as brittle as porcelain.

The Spaniards and Cubans have always been fond of tiling, and their residences are often faced with geometric designs in vivid colors, strongly reminiscent of the Moorish influence on Spanish art. The tiles may represent hunting and marine scenes, mountain vistas, battles, sieges and religious subjects. One set depicts important passages from the Bible and gives the text from which they are taken. These tiles were taken from Holland by the Spaniards during their occupation of the Netherlands, and after several centuries' use in a house in Madrid crossed the Atlantic to Havana.

American visitors to Havana purchase, besides the tiles, much Spanish bronze, copper and beaten brassware. Cuba was at one time rich in such curios, but the supply has been practically exhausted, so that the dealers now spend their summers in Europe to renew their stock. Spanish glassware is another fad of the visitors. The older pieces offered for sale are extremely beautiful. When Carlos III ruled Spain he imported hundreds of glass workers from the Capo di Monti factory at Naples, and the delicate products of these craftsmen is today highly valued.—New York Times.

How Policeman Came by Nickname "Copper"

After a century or so of suppression in London the story has leaked out—how a policeman came to be called a "copper" or "cop."

'Twas evening, ah, bitter chill it was, and the policeman was courting a cook. He was devouring a feast of pie and ogling his bygone darling when her mistress was heard approaching. "Idle! idle!" was her smothered cry of dismay. He hid in the only refuge he could see—the huge copper laundry vat. Alas! It seemed the mistress had come to order the fire lighted beneath that very vat, that she might have some hot water. Forced to comply, the cook soon saw her brave lover leap out and with one tense backward look of reproach, vanish into the night.

Agas ago that lover fled into the storm, but still the ghost of his seared romance follows him and he must answer to the name of "copper."

The woman was playing golf one fair day, and, although her score was assuming alarming proportions, her enjoyment of the sunny weather and the invigorating exercise kept her from becoming quite too downcast. "Well," she confided to her companion, as she trudged off into the rough after a particularly poor drive. "I understand there's a woman at the club who has a handicap of 80. I shall have to look her up."
This remark seemed to make a profound impression on the caddy, who, against all regulations, contributed his ideas on the subject.
"Holy smoke!" he cried, "she must play in de thousands!"—New York Sun.

WHY BE AN EDITOR

Running a newspaper is just like running a hotel, only different. When a man goes into a hotel and finds something on the table which does not suit him, he does not get up and raise hades with the landlord and tell him to stop his darned old hotel. Well, hardly. He sets that dish on one side and wades into some of the many dishes that do suit him. It is different with some newspaper readers. They find some article occasionally that does not suit them exactly and without stopping to think it may please hundreds of other readers, make a grandstand play of their supreme asininity and hasten to stop their paper.—Ex.

Earl G. Alexander purchased the Laird Drug Store at Plainview recently completing a chain of four drug stores in this section; at Levelland, Littlefield, Plainview and Brownfield. We are sorry to report that the Alexanders will make their home in Plainview as soon as they can find a residence up there.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On When Women Come Into Money.

As Aunt Emmy sipped her tea she heard the conversation drift to the Slade sisters. The fact that they had inherited a large fortune and would have to administer it themselves created considerable comment.

"My husband says old man Slade made a big mistake not putting it in trust for them," said Mrs. Burt. "He says women never should handle large sums of money because they are 'financially uneducated'—he really means 'dumb.'"

"All women aren't dumb about money matters, are they, Aunt Emmy?" exclaimed Miss Pringle.

"Of course not," Aunt Emmy agreed. "There are all sorts and kinds of women all the way from very prudent to very foolish."

"Well, anyway, an awful lot of women have been victimized in financial things—just look at all the widows that have been robbed," insisted Mrs. Burt.

"There won't be so much of that in the future as in the past," Aunt Emmy said. "Women have been easy to victimize because they knew so little about money affairs, but now they are realizing this danger more and more and are taking advantage of the financial advice departments their bankers have set up for them. One thing that has led to women's financial undoing is their natural love of pretty things. This trait often leads them into foolish investments and speculations to get money quickly. Once a woman sets her heart on a thing she can't wait until it is hers."

"But if women didn't buy things, there wouldn't be any business," spoke up Molly. "Women are the natural spenders of the family, Dad says."

"Yes, but they would have more to spend if they'd go a little slower," replied Aunt Emmy. "Every time I see a woman falling for some silly get-rich-quick scheme I think of the nice things she could buy with the money she is going to lose. If they'd go slower—they'd get farther."

"From what I know of the Slade girls," Molly began—but just then the Slade girls themselves came in.

"We're so sorry to be late," they apologized, "but we have been having our first lesson in finance down at the Trust Company. They are going to give us quite a lot of time and explain all the things we ought to know about money to keep us out of financial trouble."

"Well, my dears, you are going to be right school," said Aunt Emmy. "If every woman would do that there'd be less trouble and more pretty things for all of them."

The Cynical Flounder

Wisdom may not be in the depths but enough things are there to keep wise men thinking deeply, and millions of men at work, preparing pot ash and ammonia; drying sea weeds to use among other things for decoration, on the Japanese New Year, as an American uses holly on his. We think of paper made from kelp and of mattresses stuffed with eel grass, of glue and of Irish moss, "used as an ingredient in kalsomines, shoe stains, shaving soaps and cosmetics," according to Dr. Donald K. Tressler, authority on such things.

American Birds

By far the most abundant birds in the United States are the robin and the English sparrow, but several others are common enough to make their total numbers run well into the millions. The counts so far show that the most abundant bird on farms in the northeastern states is the robin. Next to this is the English sparrow, and following these are the song sparrow, chipping sparrow, meadow lark and catbird, in the order named.

BAPTISTS WILL MAKE GOOD SHORTAGE IN HOME MISSION BOARD'S ACCOUNTS

Honor Day is Set for Sunday, November 11. When Churches Are Asked to Lay $953,000 in Cash on Altar for This Purpose

In order that the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention may not suffer the permanent loss of a single dollar, through the reported shortage of its former treasurer, Baptist churches throughout the South are expected to lay a cash offering of $953,000 on their altars Sunday, November 11. This day has been designated Baptist Honor Day and the appeal for this offering made, by the Promotion Committee of the Convention, following a thorough canvass of the situation.

It represents a trust fund created for aiding congregations in erecting houses of worship, and the committee feels that the obligation to restore the money taken from this source is just as binding upon Baptists as the repayment of the bank.

Need to Restore Full Amount

In his report to the Promotion Committee, Dr. Cree said the Home Board expected to realize $500,000 from the lending company and possibly as much as $1,000,000 from the recent treasurer's estate ultimately. The bulk of this estate consists of real estate, however, and it may require a period of years for a full realization upon that. With all these considerations in mind, the committee felt the churches should be asked to restore the entire amount of the shortage immediately and the date for such offering was fixed for Sunday, November 11. In the case of rural or village churches not having preaching services on that day they are asked either to take this offering at the Sunday school hour on that day, or else take it on whatever preaching date falls nearest November 11. A goal of as many dollars as there are members is recommended to the churches.

Big Retrenchment Made

Drastic retrenchment has been in the work of the Home Mission Board, following its reorganization. Forty per cent of all current receipts are being applied to the reduction of the previous indebtedness of the board, making it necessary to cut the current operations to 60 per cent of the current receipts. All special offerings from whatever source are being applied to the reduction of the obligations at the banks. Dr. Cree has secured the consent of the banks carrying the bulk of the board's indebtedness to carry the present paper at a reduced rate of interest a little while longer in order to afford the churches an opportunity to make a cash offering for the relief of the board. The Promotion Committee has asked the Georgia Baptist Convention to continue its loan of Dr. Cree to the Home Board until the Southern Baptist Convention meets in May.

The demand for a special cash offering for making good the Home Board's shortage came from practically every section of the South, and Dr. George W. Truett, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, and other officers expect to see the full amount raised in a cash offering November 11.

DR. ARCH C. CREE
Acting Executive Secretary of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board.

At the meeting of this large committee October 3, Dr. Arch C. Cree, acting executive secretary of the Home Mission Board, reported that the auditors gave the sum of $953,000 as their best estimate at that time of the shortage, in the treasurer's accounts. Of this amount approximately $350,000, was taken from the Church Building Loan Fund, the auditor found, while the remainder of the shortage is accounted for chiefly through the sale of the notes of the Home Mission Board to banks in various Southern states. While the Church Building Loan Fund is the property of the denomination,

The Lorenzo Tribune started off the fall trade in that city last week with a 14 page Fall Business Issue. The edition was brim full of ads from local merchants, and some mighty good reading matter about that section interwoven.

If people must play football, and the world seems to be determined to do so despite the danger and the maiming of hundreds of youths annually that perhaps handicaps them physically for life, we would suggest that they adopt the slogan of Ralls, Texas. Most of us, if we put out any signs at all, have one reading, "Beat the Blankville Bears," instead of one reading, "Welcome, Blankville Bears." If football is a game of sport, we should make it a sporting matter and take a sporting chance on winning after the game starts, and play a square game while it is going on, and at the same time make the visitors feel that they are our guests instead of our deadly enemies.

There are many jokes going the rounds, but about the best one is that the Pope was packing Monday for his journey to the U. S. A. But we presume he could easily unpack if the election goes adversely. That reminds us of one wherein a fellow was orating on the supposed doctrine of Catholics when a big red faced guy walked up and said what the speaker had put out was all wet, that he was an Irish Catholic himself and knew what he was talking about. Whereupon the speaker assured him that he was not talking about Irish Catholics, but Roman Catholics.

One can talk about good things to eat that come on with the different seasons; of getting letters or visits from old friends; of receiving this and that bit of luxury as blessings of life, and many other pleasures of this life, but about the most exhilarating letter ever dropped in our mail is the one reading, "enclosed find check."

Another thing that makes us glad to still be found on top of the terrain and kicking, despite bill collectors once each month by the score and scouts out after us all between times, is the fact that once each year about this time spare ribs, back-bones and country sausage taste just like they did when we were a kid. Therefore temporarily we forget all the trials of life when either of these adorn our humble board.

VETERAN-RELIEF IS BIG RED CROSS TASK

Service to Disabled in Ten Years Since Armistice Has Cost $65,800,000.

In this year of the tenth anniversary of the Armistice, which ended the world war, the American Red Cross still finds a great army of disabled and sick veterans requiring assistance, and whose families also must be aided, according to a statement by James L. Fieser, vice chairman in charge of domestic operations of the Red Cross at Washington. In the ten years since November 11, 1918, the Red Cross has expended approximately $65,800,000 in veteran relief work, Mr. Fieser said. There is a daily average of 25,500 disabled and sick world war veterans enrolled in Veterans' Bureau and other government hospitals which care for these men and women, and about the same annual average of veterans succumbing to wounds and illness, for whose dependents the Red Cross is pledged to give required assistance, Mr. Fieser pointed out.

In addition, the Red Cross, under its charter granted by Congress, has a definite duty towards service men of the regular establishment of Army, Navy and Marine Corps, and follows them to all foreign ports or duty. The expenditure in this work for the year ending June 30, 1928, was $367,453, the annual report states.

"Upon the Red Cross rests the sacred obligation of carrying on relief work for the disabled service and ex-service men and women and their dependents, taking up the work where the Government is not able to carry on," Mr. Fieser said. "The Red Cross has 349 trained workers, serving either full or part time in the field, in liaison work, camps and hospitals, who are always in personal contact with the sick and disabled in hospitals, with the men in the regular Army, Navy and Marine Corps, and who stand ever ready to serve veterans back in civil life, who need the help of a friendly agency to aid in establishing their rights and claims.

"To maintain this staff and to support the practical services they render, the Red Cross made expenditure of $1,169,795 for the year ending June 30, 1928. In addition 2,709 Red Cross Chapters, in that number of communities, who have established special work for the disabled service and ex-service people, expended during the past year $1,732,000."

The annual report states that the number of death claims alone of veterans which are handled through the War Service at national headquarters of the Red Cross, has increased from 12,010 in 1923-24 to 24,662 in 1927-28. During the year ending June 30, 1928, War Service assisted Chapters in adjusting Government claims amounting, in benefits to veterans or their dependents, to $692,200.42 in awards for compensation, insurance, adjusted compensation, burial expenses, etc. In addition to this amount, which represented lump sum payments, awards were obtained for $182,359 in monthly installments of insurance and compensation and in quarterly adjusted compensation payments.

Mr. Fieser points out that Red Cross Roll Call comes once each year, and that it is the only occasion upon which the Red Cross asks for funds with which to carry on its activities, of which War Service is one. From Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day the American people are asked to support this work through their Red Cross memberships.

Flour From Corn

Corn flour is corn meal ground and bolted until it is as fine as wheat flour. It is used in considerable quantities by bakers and as a binder in sausage-making. During the World war it was widely sold as a wheat flour substitute for use in quick breads, cakes and general cooking, but it is not ordinarily found on the retail market. Some of the pancake flours on the market contain corn flour or fine corn meal, usually mixed with flour made of wheat, rye, barley or other cereals. In England the term corn flour refers to the separated starch, which in this country is called cornstarch and which is used for thickening sauces and puddings.

Beautiful Actress . . . Countless Admirers

—The secret of her blasted life told for the first time

"MAGDA, the saintly," her friends called her. For though this beautiful actress had countless admirers, she steadfastly refused to let the slightest suspicion of love or romance enter her life. Then something happened. The treacherous tongue of scandal linked her name in an ugly way with that of a man of great social prominence. For some strange reason Magda neither denied nor confirmed these rumors. The poison spread. One by one her friends deserted her. Even her youthful protegee, a young man in the cast whom she had encouraged and helped with all her strength, publicly denounced her as unfit for decent people to associate with. Had he known the truth he would have cut out his tongue rather than breathe a word against her character. Then Magda's play suddenly closed. Crushed and in despair, she sought out the man responsible for her wrecked reputation, and threatened to expose him—to tell the world the truth. "I dare you to!" he snarled through evil lips. And Magda knew her fight had just begun. Until now, the sensational truth about the venomous scandal which blasted her life has remained securely locked in Magda's aching, grief-ridden heart. But now her story can be told. It is entitled "Beyond the Pale," and appears complete in December True Story Magazine.

TEXAS COWBOY LITERATURE DISTINCTIVE FEATURE

Austin, Texas, Nov. 5.—"Literature relating to the cowboy and his activities is the most distinctive contribution of Texas to the literary world," Dr. L. W. Payne, Jr. professor of English at the University of Texas, said in commenting on his new book, "Survey of Texas Literature," which is to be ready for distribution about the middle of November.

A sketch of the first book printed in Texas, as well as summaries of the first foreign novel concerning Texas and of the first novel written in Texas, is included in the book. It is only since the Civil War that Texas writers have attracted National attention, according to Dr. Payne, and for that reason, the latter part of his book is considered of more importance from a literary standpoint than the first half.

JERSEY BULL CIRCLES

Written Especially for the Herald
by R. B. Davis, County Agent

Visiting and working at the National Dairy Show this year convinced me more thoroughly that the greatest improvement that can be made in building up a dairy herd is by using a proven bull.

When you study the history of any breed of livestock you will find, with few exceptions, that some sire placed that breed on the map and the great improvement is always made by the sire. Some cows, as Sophie 19th of the Hood farm will always stand out and due credit must be given to the females but it is the sons of these great cows that make the cows famous. Sons of old Sophie, Pogis 99th of Hood farm, and Sophie 19th's Tormentor have made a greater gift to the Jersey world for their progeny is so much greater. Bulls like Dairy-like Majesty who has more than 125 register of merit daughters, and Royal Majesty of St. Cloud, the greatest producing bull Texas ever had, have done more than a herd of good cows can do towards building up the production of Jerseys.

Good cows are desired by any breeder and they are very essential in the building up of a breeding herd, but the thing that troubles an experienced breeder is getting the right bull. One that will build the herd up instead of tearing it down. I talked with breeders who won and they told me that their herd bull had justified their judgement and had made their herd, others said they made a mistake on their herd sire and it would take them ten years to overcome the bad influence of his breeding. One of the latter breeders searched the country for another herd sire. He at last found and paid $2500 for a bull that he thought would blend with his strain of Jerseys and he said the next four years would be spent anxiously watching to see if his judgement was good in the selection of this herd sire.

It is not possible or advisable for a farmer to buy high priced cows or a high priced bull for that matter. The revenue from cream would not justify paying an enormous price for a cow or for a bull. The price paid for a bull would be worth it if you could use him more than two years but at the end of two years the bull must be sold to keep from inbreeding. Bull circles make it easy to have the services of a good bull for a period of eight or ten years for the price of one bull. This is made possible by the swapping or exchanging of bulls every two years.

There is absolutely no way of building up a herd of cows which means increasing that ever dependable cream check like belonging to a pure bred bull circle. It is the quickest, cheapest and surest way to start and stay in the cream or dairy business.

If you are interested in bull circles or any part of dairy improvement, see the county agent.

"MY OLD HOME TOWN"

By Richard H. McCarty

"Tain't big like some other towns—Ain't got no sky scrapers like unto the big cities—No great white way, wide boulevards, play parks; smoke stacks and factories it has none—No union depots nor boat landings where foreign ships cast anchor—Best of all, it's minus gambling hells, gangster dens and bawdy houses—Yes, it's just a little old country town away in the middle of a big cow pasture, where the white faced cattle browse upon the hill sides and graze in the fertile valleys—O yes, situated out in the big open space, plenty of elbow room, where the sky is blue and the air is pure—Get your lungs inflated with the fruited air, puts kick in blood and pep in your heels—Your brain children go scampering in, the wild woods, plucking bouquets of beauty and building play houses of fiction. O yes, just a little old poke easy, sleepy cowmans town, not in much of a hurry, don't make much noise about it business, but it gets there just the same and brings the bacon home on pay day—Not many of us here, yes, in numerical strength we can't match the larger towns, but what we lack in number, we make up in quality—O yes, counting quality, we are the biggest little town on the map of creation—Ain't got much, don't need much—But satisfied with our capital stock—Just a few of us here, we know everybody and everybody knows us—Hello John and Jack and Dick and Tom and Harry, how's rheumatism and when do you think it will rain?—Crop conditions, political situation, revival services and the town meetings are our stock in trade—And we doggone sure whoop'em up in season. The town paper, Albany News, just a dinky country sheet, been here every since after the war, a little bit, a Country Campbell press, ten by fifteen job press, a shirt tail full of type—It enlightens the population about the deaths, the births, the hen and the sow and the cow, revival meetings and commencement exercises—What else in the h— is there to know—One fellow said to us come over in a larger field Dick, where big opportunities loom—Nothing doing boy, said I—We have no banking for the mad mob on Main Street, where men struggle and stryie and scramble for gold and place—Where the hungry maw of big presses mess up white news with all that devilish dirty stuff they call news—Not me boy—I like the big open space, the little old country town—My Old Home Town—Where one can breathe the air of freedom, be ones own individual self, say what you think, say it out loud in the meeting. No, no, this is the life for us, away from the mad mob, out in the countryside where the green grass grows and the wild flowers bloom, where the frisky brooks babble, and the cows come home at eventide mooing an dthe milk maids sing—Why all this fuss boy, why all this struggle? The clothes you wear out, the victuals you eat and a plot of ground six by three—That's your portion down here, then you look God in the face, and present your plea for a crown—MY OLD HOME TOWN Best place on earth.

Seventeen bales of last's years cotton was lined up on the north side of the square Tuesday to be auctioned off to the highest bidder. This cotton has been in litigation for about a year. Just before the sale started he sheriff got a paper in the shape of an injunction restraining the sale of he cotton. So we suppose it is in for more litigation.

One's Life and Principles

There are people who tend to shape their lives in accordance with definite principles—and others who prefer to adjust their principles to the contingencies of their own particular fate. In both cases, all that is involved is an effort to make life as comfortable as possible; while the important thing is to face each new experience without prejudices or assumptions, even at the risk of continual mistakes. —Arthur Schnitzler in Vanity Fair.

Angler Catches Rabbit

A Scot who was fishing in a quiet back water of the Tyne during a recent flood was surprised by the arrival of a wheat sheaf on which a young rabbit was a passenger down stream. Throwing his line across the strange raft, the angler hooked it successfully and landed both sheaf and rabbit. Bunny was none the worse for his trip.

What Ed Howe Likes

I love accomplishments, good taste, success. The greatest enjoyment I find in a "show" is the cleverness of those who attract the audience. I like to see people attract attention; display taste and sense, earn large wages, and be worth their big pay. —E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Not Much Attraction

"We shall be changed in form perhaps," our favorite radio preacher recently declared. "but otherwise immortality will find us the way we are." Comforting to many, no doubt; but don't tell that to a man with hay fever and expect him to cheer. —Farm and Fireside.

Heredity

The man who believes there is as much exercise in cutting the grass as there is in playing golf has a son who thinks there is as much exercise in running to the store as there is in chasing an outfield fly. —St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

May Weddings

The superstitious belief that May marriages are unlucky is merely because the church, in the old days, banned that month. It is not when you marry, but whom, that matters. May is as lucky as any other month.

Invisible Ink

The simplest of all invisible inks is milk or, better still, buttermilk. If used with a perfectly clean new pen and on unglazed paper, it will not show. The easiest way to bring it out is to iron it with a hot flatiron.

Success

Success in any of life's endeavors is the product of study and thought. It requires close application. But achievement is possible to any man who has the initiative and determination to equip himself. —Grit.

Thought for Today

It was the policy of my father to make his children feel that home was the happiest place in the world; and I value this delicious home feeling as one of the choicest gifts a parent can bestow. —Washington Irving.

It's Side-Splitting

A European scientist predicts that within five years we shall be able to split an atom. And to think that a few years ago we sneered at people for splitting hairs! —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

That's It

We like the man whose impulse it is to say yes much better than the one whose impulse is to say no, but the trouble is that the former never has anything to lend. —Ohio State Journal.

CONSTANT EXPANSION

—to serve Chevrolet owners better

SINCE January 1st more than a million new Chevrolets have been delivered to owners—making the Chevrolet Motor Company, for the second consecutive year, the world's largest builder of automobiles!

This outstanding achievement has been attained not only because of the quality and value of Chevrolet cars—but also because there has been a constant expansion of Chevrolet service facilities.

In order to bring these mammoth facilities of the Chevrolet factories to Chevrolet dealers and owners everywhere, there have been erected 26 huge parts warehouses in the principal centers of distribution. This expansion program is continually going on—for four great additional warehouses will be in operation by January first and seven more by the summer of 1929.

Into the service departments of all Chevrolet dealers, Chevrolet has brought special tools and shop equipment—designed under the supervision of Chevrolet engineers. This equipment definitely assures maximum speed and precision and the lowest possible cost in the performance of every Chevrolet service and repair operation—which are charged for on a flat rate basis.

Furthermore, all of these tremendous facilities have been made available to 15,000 authorized service stations manned by skilled mechanics, over 25,000 of whom have been factory trained to efficiently handle every repair operation on a Chevrolet car. In addition, there are over 4,000 other points where genuine Chevrolet parts may be obtained.

Uniformly efficient, uniformly reliable and within easy reach of everybody everywhere—this great service organization is maintaining at peak efficiency the fine performance for which Chevrolet cars have always been renowned.

We cordially invite you to come in and see how our service facilities reflect the influence of this great national service program.

Eat 75 Square Foot Strawberry Shortcake

Kilbuck, Wash.—Seventy-five square feet of strawberry shortcake, said to be the world's largest strawberry shortcake, was eaten by more than four hundred fifty citizens of the lower Columbia river district at the banquet here for the quarterly meeting of Lower Columbia Associated Chambers of Commerce.

The shortcake, heaped high with Cloverdale strawberries and covered with twelve gallons of cream, proved a tasty finale to the banquet and more than merited the publicity it has received. The cake was fifteen feet long and five feet wide. It was baked by Otto Engelman, proprietor of a local bakery, and was assembled by Mr. Engelman, Mayor Lyle Felton of Kalama and O. H. Springer, Kalama.

Gov. Roland Hartley was a speaker at the banquet.

RED CROSS NURSES AID IN HURRICANE DISASTER

In addition to their year around work in the Public Health field, the Public Health nurses of the American Red Cross have answered a number of calls to combat epidemics, and in disaster work during the year just ending, the Red Cross states.

Their greatest task was in the relief following the West Indies hurricane when 20 nurses were dispatched to Florida and 22 to Porto Rico, to assume charge of the health work there. Epidemic conditions were especially grave in both places, and inoculation of several hundred thousand persons had to be arranged in order to prevent spread of contagious. Nursing the injured, the sick, aged and young and caring for the newborn were heavy tasks in both areas.

The Red Cross nurses also were called upon for work in epidemics in communities, including the serious septic sore throat epidemic in New England and a typhoid epidemic in New York state.

More than 580 Red Cross Chapters throughout the nation operate nursing services which they support altogether or in part.

Red Cross Membership Is Sound Investment, Business Leader Says

"We believe that individual membership in the American Red Cross is a sound investment, yielding the investor tremendous returns in personal satisfaction," is the statement of William Butterworth, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in endorsing the twelfth annual roll call of the American Red Cross, Nov. 11-29. Mr. Butterworth's statement follows:

"The men engaged in carrying forward the business and industry of this nation are quick to respond, and respond generously, when human suffering calls for their assistance. They welcome the existence of an organization authorized by international treaty and congressional charter to act as their agency, and the agency of all the people, in providing relief in disaster and promoting their beneficial services to humanity. The nation's business men take particular pleasure in supporting The American National Red Cross because it has applied sound and efficient business technique and administrative methods without sacrifice of sympathy and understanding in the prevention and mitigation of human suffering.

"The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, as representative of the nation's business, has such confidence in the American Red Cross that it calls upon its member organizations to contribute to relief in disaster only upon Red Cross assurance that an appeal is necessary.

"We believe that individual membership in the American Red Cross is a sound investment, yielding the investor tremendous returns in personal satisfaction. The Red Cross is seeking to increase its membership to five million; the opportunity to join its ranks is presented by the Red Cross Chapters throughout the nation from November 11 to 29. It is good to be a link in this great chain of service reaching around the world."

(Signed)
WILLIAM BUTTERWORTH,

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Religious Faith No Secret in Jerusalem

In Jerusalem, the little city of great things, religious observances play a part in daily life unknown in other capitals. Since it is the center of three great faiths and all their subdivisions, can it be wondered at if each faith and branch thereof jealously guards rights and rites acquired throughout centuries, often through famine, siege and untold hardship?

In a modern city, one meets people daily for years without knowing their religious beliefs. This is impossible in Jerusalem. Be he occidental or oriental, every man's religion is known to all and also the fidelity with which he carries out the obligations imposed by his faith.

The religious festivals bring their own pageantry to the city. There are Moslems with their adherents from northern Africa, India, Afghanistan, Bokhara, Arabia, and the Sudan; Christians of all denominations; Latins, including many of the religious orders and the Uniate churches which acknowledge the supremacy of the pope; the eastern churches, which comprise the Orthodox, the Armenian, and Syriac, Copts, and Abyssinians; the Anglican church; the Jews, divided into Ashkenazim, Sephardim, Karaites, Yemenites, Georgians, and Bokharans.—National Geographic Magazine.

Cartoon in Japan Not Inspired by Politics

In Japan, apparently, the cartoon did not have the democratic beginnings of its occidental counterpart. Here in America the cartoon was originally used in magazines and newspapers as a political weapon, but the Japanese cartoon was more than eight hundred years old before the first issue of the Yokohama Mainichi Shimbun, first of the Japanese dailies, appeared in 1871.

The first Japanese cartoonist was a lordly person, a Buddhist monk, Kakuyu, abbot of Toba, who was born in 1653 A. D. He employed most of his eighty-seven years laughing at the follies and vanities of the decadent Kyoto court and at pretentious low-brows everywhere. His influence over that branch of Japanese art was as great as that of Shakespeare on the English drama. In fact, for centuries the only Japanese name for the cartoon was "Tobase"—"Toba Pictures." No cartoons appeared in Japanese newspapers until a few years ago, but now they have become so popular that in all the large cities they are printed as daily features.

Apple Tree's Monument

Because it is the parent tree of a variety and, although sixty-three years old, is still producing fruit, an apple tree at Peru, Iowa, has been honored by a monument. Last year the tree yielded more than five bushels of sound apples, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Tree surgeons are credited with keeping it alive. Periodically the decayed wood of its trunk is removed and concrete filling applied, while most of the lower part has been rebuilt with steel members. The branches are kept pruned so that the roots will not become exhausted in supplying nourishment to useless twigs and leaves. A pioneer orchardist is said to have set out a tree of Bellflower variety in his garden in 1861.

Breed Songsters

A recent visitor to the canary breeding region of Germany reports shoemakers and tailors as the largest breeders of the feathered songsters. Despite the rising demand for canaries and the increased breeding activity in Germany as a result of the use of bird cages in America for decorative effects, these trades have maintained their leadership over farmers, peasants, housewives and other tradesmen, all of whom breed canaries as a sideline. German shoemakers and tailors carry on their work in their homes and are able to be with their birds all hours of the day.

Rye Long Used as Food

The nativity of rye appears to have been in the region between the Black sea and the Caspian. Its culture has been chiefly in the north, and, though ancient, is not of the highest antiquity. It bears more cold than any other grain, thrives on light and otherwise barren soils and can be grown continuously on the same spot. It is most extensively grown in central and northern Europe, where it forms the almost exclusive breadstuff of large populations. It is less nutritious than wheat, though in that respect standing next to it.

Torrid or Temperate?

The geography lesson was concerning the earth's temperature zones. The teacher asked whether some one could tell her what a zone was. Bernice, eager to display her knowledge, waved her hand. The teacher called on her for the answer. Imagine the teacher's surprise when her confident pupil arose and said: "A zone is a place where you can park your car."

A WEST TEXAS EDITOR GETS HIS BACK UP

(From Snyder Times-Signal)
A West Texas editor, weary of giving free puffs of undeserved publicity, adorned with flattering references, to a lot of individuals and organizations in his town, published the following editorial:

Here you will find a schedule of prices from which no deviation will be made, but we hope to donate a certain percentage of our earnings toward founding an asylum for those feebleminded people who believe we are running this paper as a philanthropic enterprise.

"For referring to some drug store sheik as a talented young man with a promising future, when everybody knows he never earned a dollar in his life and will wind up in the penitentiary, $10.18.

"Referring to one as a hero and a man of courage who will stand by his convictions, when it is common knowledge that he is a moral coward and would sell out for a dime, $4.13.

"Referring to some gossipy female as a charming lady whom it is a pleasure to meet and know, when any man in town would rather see Satan coming, $8.10.

"Calling an ordinary preacher an 'eminent divine,' 54 cents.

"Lambasting the daylight out of John Barleycorn, at the behest of the local dry forces, $6.77.

"Whooping'm up for the repeal of the Volstead Act in the interest of the local White Mule Club, $6.77.

"Referring to a local merchant who never advertises and who is too stingy to contribute a cent toward needed public improvements, as a progressive business man and leading citizen, 344.99."

Caller: "Are you sure the manager is not in?"

Dignified Office Boy: "Do you doubt his word, sir?"

HUNTER NOTES

Our school started Monday. Mrs. J. L. Lyons and Mrs. Hutchinson are the teachers. We all hope for a good and better school this term.

Mr. H. H. Machen from Baylor county is visiting his son, Elmer Machen this week. Mr. Machen shipped a car load of mules out here for pasture on account of shortage of water and grass at Seymour.

Miss Lita Mae Woodall is on the sick list.

Mr. J. E. Woodall and son, Everett, are visiting in Baylor county, this week.

Mr. Deward Williams visited the Edwards boys, Sunday.

Mrs. E. L. Williams and Mrs. L. L. Simms visited Mrs. R. B. Offill, Saturday.

Mr. Ray Offill spent Saturday with Mr. Jim Price.

Most everyone are wishing the weather would fair up.

There was preaching at the school house Sunday. The sermon was enjoyed by all, thanks to Bro. Amos Montgomery.

J. M. Lemley of Mt. Morris, Pa., accompanied by his twin daughters, Mrs. C. D. Haines and Miss Helen and chauffeur, Delbert Wade, were here recently looking after their holdings in the Johnson and Gomez communities. While here they spent their time in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Blackstock who are looking after the Lemley interests in Terry county. Mr. Blackstock informed us that these splendid Pennsylvania people seemed to have enjoyed their trip and stay here very much.

If you can get amusement out of your own follies you should be able to work up a smile almost any time.

HATS OFF TO JUDGE PIPPIN

The people of Texas, and more particularly the citizens of Dallas county, have reason to congratulate Judge C. A. Pippin of Criminal District Court No. 2 for his courageous handling of the absent-witness trick so often used as a means of getting a continuance of a case. Without going into the merits of this particular case and refraining from passing judgement upon the reasons offered by witnesses for their absence, Farm and Ranch feels that Judge Pippin has set a worthy example to other judges in this State.

The case in question was one where a man was to be tried on a charge of murder. Three hundred and fifty citizens of the county had been summoned to appear as prospective jurors. Nearly all of them were men of affairs and left their work to go to the courthouse where they were detained for several hours to await examination. At this point the lawyers for the defense requested the call of witnesses, and it was learned that several considered most important, were not present. This, of course, was an excuse for postponement of the case. Judge Pippin, however, was not satisfied that the excuses offered were sufficient, and he promptly fined the principal witness $500 and put him under a bond of $2,500 to insure his appearance at the next call of the case. Many other witnesses were obliged to furnish bond for the same purpose, and so it is reasonably sure that this case will be tried without much further delay.

As previously stated, Farm and Ranch is not in a position to pass judgement of the validity of the excuses offered, but makes bold to state that the trick of "absent witnesses" is almost as old as the practice of law in America. It has been the cause of unnecessary expenditure of millions of dollars of the people's money. It has been the means of congesting the court dockets and has wasted the time of hundreds of thousands of citizens called from their work at various times to serve on juries. It is a practice that should be dwelt with in a most severe manner. As a rule, cases are set far enough in advance for both the prosecution and the defense to make all arrangements for witnesses, and it should not be necessary one time out of ten to delay trial on account of the absence of any person whose testimony is considered essential. Farm and Ranch congratulates Judge Pippin and expresses the hope that other judges will follow suit.—Farm and Ranch.

ONE OF SPEEN BREAKING CARS GIVEN A REST

With more than 53,000 hard driven miles on its speedometer, a famous car which made automobile history has at last come to rest in the museum of transportation maintained by the Studebaker Corporation in its administration building at South Bend, Indiana.

The car is one of the 2 Studebaker Commander roadsters, each of which climaxed a series of stock car racing victories last year by traveling 25,000 miles at a sustained average speed of 65.31 miles per hour. With this achievement, these cars shattered all previous speed and endurance records for fully equipped stock cars and established new distance records which stood until broken less than three months ago by the Studebaker President Eight run of 30,000 miles in 26,326 minutes.

More than half of the 53,304 miles on the car placed in the museum were covered at speeds in excess of 65 miles per hour. After its record breaking performance on the speedway it made a tour of the United States in the hands of Ralph Hepburn, racing pilot, who is now touring the country in one of the President Eight roadsters which have proved to be the only cars capable of breaking the Commander's endurance and speed records.

HEARSE AS JOY VEHICLE

"Students Buy Hearse For Ride To Game" screams a headline.

The story then relates that eight Cornell students left Ithaca, N. Y., in a motor hearse to attend the Cornell-hearse of the vintage of 1917, purchased at Princeton, in a chase by the youths at auction.

The public, especially in college and university towns, have become accustomed to student "pranks," some of which have led to serious consequences.

A football game in the college centers is the occasion for a gala day in which the exuberance of youth holds full sway. No one wants to deprive the younger generation of all the joy they can get out of college life and the games that have become so prominent a part of college activity.

It seems to us that the hearse incident is carrying things too far. As we view the matter, one naturally thinks of the hearse only in terms of bereavement—not of the merry-making incident to some big athletic event.—Merkel Mail.

B. M. Wade, prominent citizen of the Tokio community, was a visitor to the county capitol Tuesday.

We are very sorry to report Grandma Adams very low this week. The children other than those who already live here, were called home. They include Bluford and Oscar Adams and wives of Brownwood, and Lester McPherson and daughter, Miss Thelma, from San Angelo. Very little hopes are entertained for Mrs. Adams' recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Caldwell of Electra have come to Brownfield for the winter upon advise of physicians that this climate was necessary as a relief from asthma for Mr. Caldwell. They have a place near Tokio.

Abernathy was host to a band of musicians estimated to be about 300 strong on October 20th. The musicians were members of bands from neighboring towns, and during the day played in concert and individually.

The Commissioners' Court of Lamb county, in regular session recently voted unanimously $1,500.00 toward paying the salary of a County Demonstration agent. Twelve hundred is to be supplemented by the government.

Experience in managing men doesn't seem to count for much in the art of managing women.

Irvin: "Is zis the other side of the street?"

DeLay: "No, it's over there."

Irvin: "S'funny, I was over there a minute ago and they told me it wuz over here."

ITINERARY

Two colored gentlemen had just emerged from the funeral line, where they had been taking a last glimpse of an old-time crony. Tears stood in the eyes of each, for the recently deceased had been one of their best friends.

"Po' ol' Sam was a nechel lookin' cawpse, wasn't he?" asked the first.

"He sho' was all dat," the second agreed. "So doggone nechel Ah come nigh axin' him whah in hell he was gwine."

Stock and manufactured articles took a big jump up on announcement of the big Hoover landslide. Agricultural products went the other way.

Mrs. Stricklin came in home yesterday morning from Coahoma, but left again in the afternoon as her father is not expected to live but a few days at least.

We are going to be in position the coming week to be able to tell our readers of another handsome business building for Brownfield.

Men are always complaining that they don't understand the women, but the women seem to have no trouble in understanding the men.
