BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY NOVEMBER 30, 1928

NUMBER 15

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

We are butting into the business of the county agent to some extent by writing about what to plant and how to plant it, but have just read an article in the Oklahoma Farmer which gives directions as to how to get a stand of sweet clover on sandy land and as clover would be a valuable addition to our farm land, not only from a pasture and hay standpoint, but from soil improvement also, the plan is given with the hope that numbers of our farmers will see fit to try it out on our Terry county lands. Leave the land in its present condition through the winter, even if it is foul with weeds and about the first of March, disk the land, not too deeply, only just sufficient to stir the surface, sow the seed and either permit the next rain to cover them or cover with a drag harrow. Planted in this manner is said to prevent the land from blowing and a good stand is assured. Use the white bloom clover as stock have to be starved to where they will eat the yellow bloom. The same authority advises that higerz and cotton seed or cotton seed meal, is no a balanced ration for milk cows and says that ground oats, bran or mill run shorts should be added. He lists the following as a very good ration: 100 lb. ground higerz heads, or corn in shuck, 100 lb. bran or shorts, 40 lb. cotton seed meal or 65 lb. cotton seed and in addition, all of the bundled roughness that they will eat.

We do not seem to be very clear as to what actually occurred at the recent meeting at Austin in which the highway department was asked for final designation of highway 53 from Brownfield to Odessa, but the writer has arrived at the conclusion that the section from Brownfield to the south line of Gaines county, was accepted without any strings being tied to it and that section from that point to Odessa would be taken over as soon as Ector and Andrews counties vote bonds for hard surfacing of it. The commission recently passed an order that they would not accept any more dirt roads, but made an exception in our case upon account of the fact Rev. E. V. May left Wednesday in company with Woodrow Wilson, Jeanette Brown and Mary D. Price to attend the State B. Y. P. U. Convention which convenes at San Angelo, Thursday and Friday.

that we had had the matter up with them for several months and the delay in disposing of it had been caused by the inability of their engineer to find time for inspection of it.

Fifty Three is not the last of the routes that we expected to request designation upon and the Lamesa highway was next on our program. We may have hard sledding on this but inasmuch as Dawson County, contemplates putting over a bond issue and is as desirous of the designation as ourselves, that we may be able to get favorable action by the commission with Dawson's assistance.

The county wide campaign for destruction of rats, which has been held in abeyance upon account of the fact that all schools were not in session, will probably be commenced the latter part of January and it is hoped that all school districts will fall in line and assist in putting the program over in order that a clean sweep may be made.

Petitions are in circulation, calling upon the county commissioners to employ a home demonstration agent and it is hoped that they will be freely signed and that a way may be found to pay her salary. The commissioners are in sympathy with the movement, but have not figured a way for caring for the salary end.

Misses Robbie M. Hardie and Vivian Winston are expected home for the Thanksgiving holidays. They are attending Abilene Christian College and like fine, we understand.

Getting Ready For District Court Again

It will now soon be time for the January term of District Court, and one only has to hang around the court house but a little while until this is discovered, for many cases, mostly civil, of course, are being filed for the January term, in order to have everything ship shape for the battle royal.

It is expected to be a rather heavy docket, and together with the fact that some of the old officers will be going out and some new ones coming in at that time, will cause even more stirring around, although little or no confusion on this account is anticipated. There are, we understand a number of criminal cases to be tried, some of which have gone over from time to time for one cause and another until they must come to trial. One or two cases from the last term of court, new trials, etc.

If we do not have any more fair weather this coming month than during November, it will be a very busy month for the farmers to remain away from their work to attend court, but we hope December gives them a better chance to get out their cotton and feed crops.

Railroads Permit City Name on Depot Roof

We have a communication from Col. W. E. Easterwood, of Dallas, the man who made Orbit chewing gum famous, and who is also greatly interested in aviation, to the effect that most all the big railroad companies in Texas have granted permission of towns along their lines to paint the name of the town on the roof in order to guide aviators who may be in the air or lost and trying to locate their position.

One can often see them circling over a town or city trying to find some mark to indicate the name of the town, but in view of the fact that they are too high in the air to read any signs, they are often at a loss to locate their position, as reading vertical signs is out of the question for them. A large sign on the roof of a depot, and depots are easily distinguishable because of their being generally surrounded by rail tracks, would be easy for them to read.

Col. Easterwood did not state whether the Santa Fe was one of the roads granting this privilege or not, but we believe it would be advisable for Brownfield to take the matter up with the proper authorities through our chamber of commerce, and paint

Red Cross Drive Here Tommorrow All Day

There has not been a Red Cross drive here since the war, although many people are ready and willing to contribute to this great national organization any time when called upon to do so. At the close of the war Mrs. S. Powell was the local president of the organization, but after the Armistice the people seemed to think that any active organization was unnecessary and as the president could not get enough people together at a time to carry on the work as it should be, it had to be dropped, although some $175.00 now remains in the treasury of the local organization. But it seems under present conditions no one is allowed to check on the fund.

A representative of the national Red Cross was here recently and agreed if Mr. Powell would personally conduct the drive this year she would return some time next year and perfect an organization in order that the association might properly function. This he agreed to do, and the people of this section are once more permitted to join. Mr. Powell has selected a bevy of young ladies to approach the people in the matter Saturday, and when you see them, don't dodge, but get your name on the dotted lines, for we can't know when we as a people are going to need the ministering offices of this semi-national organization, which, in a way, being backed up by the government, there is little room for wholesale squandering.

Everybody knows the benefits it offers, for several great disasters of the past two or three years are sufficient evidence that they are ready at a moment's notice to get on the ground and start relieving the sick, binding up the wounds of the crippled and feed and shelter those made homeless by disaster. We only need to mention the storms of Florida, Porto Rico, the Mississippi floods, and last but not least our own Rock Springs disaster. Let's all join the Red Cross.

Several of our local firms have combined to give away a real motor car for a Christmas present to some Terry county boy or girl. The car is really motor driven, has a 2 1/2 horse power engine, and is said to be capable of traveling 25 miles per hour with only a gallon of gasoline consumption to every 75 miles.

Several Big Sales Now On Among Our Stores

Some of the greatest sales in the history of our section are now on. They are no merely big high pressure circulars to attract the public, but are real bonafide reduction sales that mean an actual saving. Some of these prices are now the wholesale market price of the article advertised, but were purchased for slightly less money during the summer. The people are not fooled but realize they are getting bargains, and are flocking in from miles away to take advantage of these sales.

Some of these sales started last week, among them being Head-Hargrave, Babb's Cash Dry Goods Co., Baldwin's Dry Goods Store, and Jones Dry Goods Co., and this week Collins join them in a big cut to the quick sale of his immense stock. These merchants bought heavily in the early summer when it appeared that Terry county would get anywhere from 25 to 30 thousand bales of cotton, but now that he crop is cut more than half into, they are giving their customers the benefit of close summer purchases in order to move their big stocks. If you are in need of anything in the dry goods line, it will pay you to travel 50 miles or more to Brownfield in order to make your purchases and save money thereby.

Some of the merchants of Brownfield informed us this week that they had the biggest business last Saturday that they have had since they have been in Brownfield, and we do not doubt it, for at times last Saturday afternoon it was almost impossible to get into a store, and the sidewalks were literally lined with humanity. This is the reason we say that the people realize they are getting their money's worth in Brownfield.

The Edwards Dry Goods Co., of Meadow, also have on a big sale. The Herald put out several thousand two page sale bills for them this week. Mr. Edwards informed us that he was going out of business in Meadow as he had other business interests elsewhere that is calling for his entire time.

Louis Whitaker, of Seminole, came up this week to help the Herald during the rush of fall and winter. He is a brother of Emmett, present Herald employee, and gives promise of making a good printer, as he has already had considerable experience.

The Herald has a few pecans sent by the editor's brother, both native and budding that we will sell at a reasonable price. Call at the Herald office and see them.

Judge Geo. W. Neill Favors County Hospital

We should appreciate the move, to erect a County Hospital in Brownfield, even to vote bonds for the purpose. Ordinarily I am not a bond enthusiast, but believe a hospital is now such a badly needed, useful and necessary institution for our county, and be such a great saving in money, time and in many instances a life, that it seems yielding to wisdom and humanity to support the project.

To vote bonds for building and equipping a Hospital, levy tax to pay off same, under supervision of Commissioners Court, and a Board of Trustees appointed by them, is fully authorized and provided by the law. It is estimated one of sufficient size and equipment could be built and equipped for about $25,000.00. To pay interest and create proper sinking fund to retire bonds at maturity, would require raising about $2500.00 annually, to do this, with our present five million dollar county valuation a five cent tax on the $100.00 valuation is sufficient, or fifty cents on each $1000.00 worth of property. This would not be a free hospital, but reasonable rates would be made, which revenues would undoubtedly pay operating and maintenance expense and perhaps later help pay it out, or add to it. In fact if the charge were the same as some we know of the first few patients would pay off the debt. I for one, am getting tired of these double header operations, first they pull your appendix and then pull your leg, charging high for both.

This county has for many years, and is yet, being "operated" out of thousands of dollars annually, that just as well be spent at home. We could at least save transportation. It would be much cheaper and so convenient to have a nice place here for our sick and injured, in easy reach of their home and families. It can be provided and is expected, that such a hospital is a place for the patient, who can have his own local physician attendant, and in event of an operation, a surgeon of his own choosing. Our local physicians, whom we think are well up to the average, could with this institution render better service, and with experience which after all brings efficiency, could soon become as skilful as some of the boasted best elsewhere.

If some person or group of persons will build and equip one individually, all well and good, but if this cannot be perfected soon, then I hope our folks will get into this move and bring the county hospital to an early reality.

A Review of County Teachers Institute

The Terry County Teachers' Institute was held at the First Baptist church, November the 22nd and 23rd, with 62 teachers in attendance which includes all the teachers in the county with the exception of Brownfield.

H. R. Winston presided over the meeting, and the program seemed to be enjoyed by all. Miss Bess Baldwin, Mrs. W. H. Dallas, and the Gipsy Chorus Girls furnished the music which was a real treat. Rev. E. V. Day and Liff Sanders rendered the Devotionals. The speakers were J. J. Gordon, Dean of T. T. C. Roy B. Javis, County Agent. Judge W. W. Price, who also arranged a quartette; Miss Parker, T. T. C.; Hon. W. B. Egoe, City School Superintendent; J. W. Chisholm, pastor M. E. church; Jr. Jackson, T. T. C., who substituted or Paul W. Horn; and John R. Freeman of the Littlefield College. All of the speakers treated their subjects well, and the teachers think that they will do them some lasting good.

At 2:45 P. M. Friday the 23rd, the Brownfield teachers joined the institute and L. L. Martin of Meadow in the organization of the Inter-cholastic League. Mr. Martin was elected Director General, but the writer has forgotten the other officers as this is written from memory. The next thing that came up was the election of the place to hold the League meeting, and Meadow was put in nomination and one of the teachers made a speech for Meadow and said that Brownfield merchants seemed to not appreciate the meeting for the past two years for he reason they did not donate any money for prizes for the winners, and that the Meadow merchants were progressive and would certainly dig up the cash, and appreciate the opportunity of doing so. At this point harmony ceased and Prof. Toone took the floor and said that he was a new comer here but wanted the teachers to know that they were welcome to Brownfield and they could get anything they wanted if they would let their wants be known, and that he would vouch for the Brownfield business men, that they would raise what money was needed in offering prizes and etc. Mr. Thompson of Union and Mr. Kerby of Wellman and Miss Elizabeth Jumas of Brownfield also expressed their preference for Brownfield and upon the motion, Brownfield was elected for the meeting place, with the exception of Basket Ball which will be decided upon later by the executive committee of the League. Some think they will either select Lopes or Seagraves, for basket ball, as they are the nearest indoor courts unless Brownfield provides one by March. At this point harmony prevailed and every teacher pledged to make this meet the best that Terry county has ever had. The Institute then adjourned to see the football game between Brownfield and Slaton.

THE NEW METHODIST PASTOR

The Northwest Texas Conference, which closed its session at Lubbock last Sunday night, moved Rev. J. W. Chisholm from Brownfield to Panhandle, and appointed Rev. B. W. Dodson, D. D. to the pastorate of the Brownfield Methodist church in his stead. Doctor Dodson is a graduate of Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn., and has filled some of the leading stations in the Northwest Texas Conference, and was also a presiding elder for a number of years. He has recently returned from New Mexico where he went on account of health conditions in his family. We feel sure that the Methodists of Brownfield and all the rest of our citizenship will give Dr. Dodson a hearty welcome to our little city.

We had a notice this week from E. W. Hagan to change his paper back to Brownfield from Mooresville, Okla. Now he is the fellow that wrote us such a glowing account of the above place less than a year ago, saying he had just moved there from Arkansas, and predicted then that he was on his way back home. We never miss him.

Miss Irene Dobbs, of Wink, who is in a hospital in that city, is expected this week to visit home folks and add to our community.

Prominent Pastor Says "King of Kings" Best

DALLAS, Oct. 8.—Speaking of "The King of Kings," the motion picture story of the life of Jesus, which because of its overwhelming success throughout the country, has been engaged as a special added attraction for the State Fair of Texas, the Rev. Otho B. Morris, pastor of the First Methodist Church, of this city, declared from the pulpit Sunday evening that the picture was the best he had ever seen.

"I have seen it three times since it has been in Dallas," he stated in his sermon, "and every time it means more to me. I think I have a score of sermons which I may deliver as a result of seeing this picture. I am profoundly glad it has shown in Dallas. I wish it would remain here for a month. "I pray that thousands may see it and be led to a closer walk with God," he concluded. "The King of Kings" was shown in its entirety at the Fair Park Auditorium on Saturday afternoon, October 6, the opening day of the Fair and will show on every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons during remainder of the Fair period. These are the only times when the Auditorium is not otherwise occupied. The State Fair engagement will give thousands of Texans an opportunity to see this remarkable film, who, otherwise might never have the chance.—Dallas News. NOTE—"The King of Kings" will be at the Rialto Theatre, Brownfield, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Lilac Always Blossom of Love and Lovers

The lilac is an oriental blossom, coming to us originally by way of Turkey and Spain. It is supposed to be the flower of love and lovers, marking the heyday of spring. The love lore of the "lilac" to give it an old-world name is varied and pleasant. A spray of white lilac, buried on the eve of a May moon, is a midland charm which maidens practiced, believing that by the time the lilac died they would have the heart of the man they desired. If as many lilac petals as composed the name of a lover were strung on triple threads of white silk, and worn in a little bag next to the heart, before next lilac time came the lover would be won by this secret charm. If you have lilac in your garden no ghost can enter your house; if white lilac grows beside your door you will never be without love and luck; if you pluck a spray of lilac without your lover's knowledge when walking with him, put one of its petals in his drink; if he swallows it, he is yours forever and a day. A "luck lilac," usually found on white lilac, has five divisions of the petal instead of four. If you are in love, look for a luck lilac, swallow it, and your loved one will be faithful for all time! Thus love and lilac are irrevocably related.

Beds of Clay Reveal the Passage of Time

Geologists can follow the tracks of the sun and tell the time, year by year, in geological ages—so ancient that even by millions of years they are hard to count. Not far from Stockholm there are some remarkable beds of clay, regularly arranged in alternating bands of sand and clay. These turn out to be the layers deposited by the melting glaciers of the ice age, each one laid down in the spring and summer when the sun was hottest. And as there was a freeze-up each winter and melting each summer, the layers become almost as accurate an index to the antiquity of the ice age as the annual rings of a tree are to the age of the tree. Moreover, the same system of measuring geological time has now been extended over all Scandinavia, and parts of India and South America. Everywhere the layers appear to correspond so closely in the variations of their thickness, year by year, that there seems no doubt they were laid down in corresponding years.—Baron Gerard de Geer.

Gas From Oil Wells

Vapor that rise from oil wells and which has hitherto gone to waste is now being bottled and sold as fuel. This vapor is obtained from wells that have been pumped out, and burns with an odorless gas flame after it has gone through various processes.

It is first refined and compressed until it becomes a low-pressure liquid that reassumes its gaseous form on being released from the steel bottles in which it is stored. These bottles are attached to heating appliances by pipes and tubes. When the valve of the jet is turned on the pressure of the gas forces it through an air mixer similar to that of any gas range.

Timber Loss by Insects

The standing timber of the country suffers a serious loss by reason of the operations of various insects which either destroy the wood or damage it to such an extent that it must be placed in a lower grade by the dealer. The government agents have recently given this matter some investigation and an elaborate report has been prepared advising growers and handlers how to cut down this loss. The principal damage comes under two types of defects, designated as wormholes with no living worms or decay, and powder post. Powder post occurs only in the seasoned or partially seasoned sapwood or heartwood. This type of injury is dangerous, since the grubs continue their destructive work in the wood and also infect other timber near by.

False Alarm

Mr. Linkins, the junior member of the firm, had a peculiarly irritating sneeze. It began with an elaborate and terrifying series of facial convulsions, and ended with a most lame and impotent paroxysm that always disappointed the expectant observer. "Your sneeze," volunteered Mr. Jenkins, senior partner, after watching him through one of his performances "is a regular circus." "A circus?" questioned Mr. Linkins. "Yes," was the rejoinder. "The performance never comes up to the advance notices."

MINERALS ALONE BRING SOUTH OVER $2,000,000,000

Ninety-nine per cent of the Nation's sulphur was shipped last year from two Southern ports and an equal amount of the country's phosphate was produced by two Southern States. In discussing the basis of the South's industrial development, and possibilities for future development, Arthur Coleman, through the medium of Holland's, The Magazine of the South, tells in the current issue how nearly one third of the Nation's mineral value in 1927 came from the South.

Se says, "During the past year, over 32 per cent of the Nation's mineral value came from Southern mines. More than $2,000,000,000—11 per cent of the productive power of the entire South. A $2,000,000,000 industry in less than half a century. A business the value of whose products has multiplied 15.5 times in 25 years, as compared with a multiplication of the entire country's mineral values by 5.6 during the same period.

"The New South produces 99 per cent of the country's graphite and carbon black, 93 per cent of its asphalt, 85 per cent of its fuller's earth, 63 per cent of its petroleum, 57 per cent of its zinc, 50 per cent of its quicksilver, 45 per cent of its lead, 4 per cent of its feldspar, and 39 per cent of its coal. In short, of 56 minerals produced in this country in considerable quantities, the South alone gives the Nation 30, in quantities ranging from 25 to 100 per cent of the country's whole.

"There's coal in the hills of the Virginias, of Kentucky and Alabama and Oklahoma and Tennessee. Beneath those corn patches, ragged though they be, may lie many honest coal deposits. In fact, it is practically certain they do lie there; for while the South mined more than 273,000,000 tons in 1927, it left beneath the surface, as far as can be estimated, well over half a trillion tons. Enough for more than 2,000 years' supply, it would appear.

"Several years ago, the iron and steel centers in Pennsylvania declared that the South could never compete with the East in the quality of iron and steel. But two years ago, when the Steel Corporation's plans in the latter section were running at but half capacity, the Alabama plants of the Steel Corporation were running day and night, at full capacity, to care for their trade."

Explained

The newly appointed pastor of a negro church faced a packed audience when he arose to deliver a sermon on the burning question: "Is There a Hell?"

"Bredren," he said, "de Lord made the world round like a ball."

"And de Lord made two axles for de world to go round on, one axle at de North pole and one axle at de South pole.

"And de Lord put a lot of oil and grease in de center of de world so as to keep de axles well greased and oiled."

"Amen!" said the congregation. "And then a lot of sinners dug well in Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas and Mexico and Russia, and steal de Lord's oil and grease."

"And some day dey will have all o' de Lord's oil and grease, and den axles is gonna git hot. And den, dat will be hell, bredren, dat will be hell."

CHISHOLM'S

PROVINCE OF A NEWSPAPER

It would be comical, were it not some what pathetic, the way newspaper offices are besieged every day by their friends, urging them to "roast" this and that; to "see to it" to have this and that done in the city or country; to start this and that kind of government to correct evils in the state government. These that it is the newspaper's business to handle all these affairs.

But a self-respecting newspaper, though ready and willing to carry all reasonable responsibilities, must remind its readers that they, the people, are the authority upon whom rests the responsibility for the present state of affairs, local, state and national.

A self-respecting newspaper tries to report the news of what actually happens, not what it might wish had happen d. The relation of a self-respecting newspaper to the general public is not always understood. It is the duty of a newspaper to be in a position to support any good act and criticize any bad act of public policy. This relationship cannot exist where favors are asked and granted. If objectors don't like the way things are going, they should qualify as voters, and then raise cane about it.—Lake County Times, Hammond, Ind.

Booker is experiencing much building activity. This ranges from barns in the rural districts, to houses and garages in the residential district, to a brick business house with a fifty foot front on main street.

O'Donnell's next progressive acquisition will be a modern sewer system. Those responsible for the improvement realize that it will mean new homes, increased population, and added industries.

By diligent co-operation of all cattle men eradication has been practically completed.

Two hundred and fifty thousand pounds of wool were sold at Rock-springs, as a price calculated to be 35 cents. Edwards County will market approximately 1,700,000 pounds of mohair this year.

Some idea of the progress Wood-son is enjoying may be gathered from the fact that 182 cars of commercial freight consisting mostly of cattle, cotton and cotton seed and sheep have been shipped from the place during the last seven months.

The main street of Rotan has been much improved by the grading and improving of Snyder avenue through to the west end of the thoroughfare. A railroad switch in the center of the street will be removed as soon as the street is opened for traffic.

The contract has been signed and the work will probably be started within thirty days on the installation

Fair weather again, by the way, but how long—yea, how long. A few moderate spring dusters would be appreciated by many.

We hope the good teachers of Terry county enjoyed their stay with us last week. We certainly enjoyed having them.

Now that political contests are over for awhile, and we have nothing mean to say about our neighbors who voted the other way, we might talk about how mean his kids are and what an old gossip his wife is.

Father has begun to have his annual sleepless nights—we believe the medical profession calls it insomnia or something like that—studying about how he is going to meet the Christmas bills January 1st, and at the same time be able to pay his taxes by February 1st. Poor old pa, he has no joy from one year to the next.

We have an idea that most of our readers noted with interest, mixed with more or less animosity the good, bad and indifferent map published recently by Commercial Dallas, Inc., which gave most of West Texas counties as poor, and most east Texas counties good and best. Also, they may have seen the beautiful reply to it in the Sunday Star-Telegram. This makes us especially sore when we remember that there are dozens of corn buyers in Brownfield right now buying both corn and maize to ship to this "best" section of the state, and the big mills of Dallas, McKinney Greenville and elsewhere are shipping out Terry county corn to fill those benighted "best" sections of a mixed breed of poor white trash and chimney corner negroes with corn pone for the next year. They are also drawing heavily upon the store houses of the north Plains counties for wheat bread for the "best" families of that section. As for the Herald it has just about decided that from now on, anything it needs that cannot be had in Fort Worth, or Wichita Falls, we will order from Oklahoma City, Kansas City, Wichita, Kans., and other places where our trade will be appreciated. We just about got our fill of Dallas a month ago when we were down there. They are nothing much anyway but a bunch of bloated gutted Jews who care nothing for your friendship and crave your dollars. We used to be proud of Dallas. It appeared as the New York or Chicago of the South, but in makeup and sentiment they are just as far from West Texas as the moon is from Mars. If West Texas would cut from Dallas for six months, you could buy Commerce street lots for one thousand dollars, and while we do not believe in boycotting, they deserve it to the fullest extent—their whet stomachs, knock-kneed cockroaches.

PUBLIC TASTE CAN'T BE JUDGED IF THE MENU OFFERS NOTHING BUT HAM

By Robert Quillen

One of the critics says the future of the talkies will depend on the box office. If patronage continues, or continues to increase, the talking moving picture is here to stay. If patronage decreases, producers will return to the silent drama.

That is apparently logical, but the box office is not trustworthy as an interpreter of public opinion. Beggers can't be choosers. In hundreds of towns the public has no choice. It must patronize a movie made irritating by the addition of speech or remain at home.

The public usually accepts without complaint whatever is placed before it. It will denounce or boycott a show conspicuously vile, perhaps; but when every drama in town, silent or oral, is spiced with sex and suggestiveness, it will continue to spend its money for entertainment, not because its taste is depraved or vulgar, but because it can do no better.

The American public is essentially decent and cleanminded. It likes romance, but it doesn't like filth. Nor does it like filth.

The sex and filth magazines may have a combined circulation of millions, but all are read by the same hundred thousand or so perverts and morons.

In one sound picture there is a scene in which an actor admonishes an elderly dancer. The action is brief—but both are unspcakably vulgar and suggestive.

I witnessed it as part of an audience of typical Americans—an audience that wept and laughed at the proper places. But this vulgar bit, obviously inserted as comedy relief, harvested no chuckles. The audience accepted it quietly, but with an uneasy stirring of obvious distaste. And that the box office couldn't know unless it possessed finer sensibilities than producers seem to possess.

The clinging, open-mouth, passionate kiss that ends the love story of the pure-hearted heroine, thrills nobody in the audience except the perverts. The majority, sensing its approach, is beginning to put on wraps r make its way toward the aisle. And those who wait for the kiss usually snicker and make smart Aleck remarks.

The kiss spoils the story. It is like a guffaw after a benediction—like a wise crack about lilacs. It is distasteful, but the box office doesn't realize it and patrons suffer in silence because they are afraid of being classed as cranks.

The American public is meek and accepts what is provided if given no choice. But the box office can learn the truth by offering solid merit and plain filth in competition.

Mr. Hargraves, one of the proprietors of the Head-Hargrave stores here and at Ralls and Quitaque, was down the later part of last week and had with him on this trip Dick Hyatt, editor and publisher of the Ralls Banner. Mr. Hyatt is very popular among the publishers of the South Plains and we were more than pleased to make his acquaintance. He reported that he liked Brownfield very much.

Mr. Price, employed by the O'Donnell Index, was a pleasant visitor in our city and at our sanctum the past week. He, also, is thinking of rejuvenating the Meadow Review.

Jno. C. Seudday, Sr., informed us this week that he was leaving for Alpine next week where he will spend the winter.

Matter of Invention

Subject to Dispute

Among all the inventors of whom popular history tells, only three, Archimedes, Ericsson and Edison, have been credited with more than one important invention. Others may have equaled them in genius, but not in luck. So, leaving aside these three "great inventors," let us take up the "inventors" who did everything else, and later the question of who were really great inventors.

Who invented the telegraph? Any American who has been through the eighth grade knows that it was Morse and Vail, in 1844. But there was an English commercial line seven years earlier, and the German credit telegraph to Sommering, of Munich, in 1849, and in Switzerland there was an electric telegraph in 1774, and one was proposed in Scotland in 1753.

The matter becomes rather confusing for the eighth grade. Who invented the friction match? There are so many claimants that we don't know who invented it.

Who devised the aneroid barometer? In Paris in 1848 two men, Vidi and Bourdon, each claimed it, with apparent sincerity, and different courts decided for each of them. But 152 years earlier the philosopher, Leibniz, had suggested such a barometer, describing it exactly.—Scientific Monthly.

Only Five National Holidays in America

Although individual states observe many holidays every year there are only five days a year which are celebrated everywhere in the United States and its possessions, explains Grace Robinson, in an article in Liberty.

"These holidays are New Year's day, Washington's birthday, Independence day, Thanksgiving, and Christmas," Miss Robinson points out.

Some of the more important holidays which are not celebrated by all the states, the writer explains, are: Labor day which is kept by 46 states; Election day, by 43; Memorial day, by 28; Columbus day, by 35; Lincoln's birthday, by 26; and Armistice day by 23. In the South the birthdays of Jefferson Davis and Robert E. Lee are still observed by ten and nine states, respectively, and four states celebrate April 26 as Confederate Memorial day.

Beautiful Flame

It may not be generally known away from the seaside that a vessel's old sheathing, which has once been covered with yellow metal or copper, at the expiration of a long voyage makes a most beautiful flame of different colors when burned in an open fireplace or grate.

This is caused by the sheathing coming in contact with copper nails and other composition with which the sheathing is covered.

Years ago this wood was considered worthless and was usually given away to poor people for fuel.

But of late years it has been used quite extensively in New Bedford, Mass., and vicinity.

It is placed upon other wood or coal, when the flames from the burning of the old sheathing present a beautiful sight, producing different colors, which shoot forth from the copper nail holes.

Large Island Unexplored

The fifth, and possibly the third, largest island in the world, is almost unknown. It is Baffin Island in the Arctic circle, and its area is estimated at from 200,000 to 300,000 square miles. It is owned by Canada. The Norsemen probably knew it in the year 1000. In 1576 when Martin Frobisher was seeking the Northwest passage, 100 English colonists actually tried to make their homes on its bleak southeastern coast. Some day, perhaps, when the world becomes overcrowded and modern conveniences make a cold climate livable, Baffin Island may be the home of a nation.—Copper's Weekly.

Symbol of Good and Evil

Bats are found in all parts of the world, and, as might be expected from their powers of flight, inhabit many remote islands such as Bermuda and New Zealand. They are absent, however, from the coldest parts of the world and are most numerous in eastern tropics. In Chinese art the bat signifies happiness; as the Chinese character Fu, meaning bat, is identical in sound with the character Fa meaning blessing. Among Bicolos and other Malays the bat is the messenger of Asung, "God of Evil."

Announcing -

The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History

- a Six in the price range of the four!

The Chevrolet Motor Company announces The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History... a Six in the price range of the four!

Spectacular as Chevrolet's achievements have been in the past... notable as its engineering triumphs have proved themselves to be—this remarkable new car dwarfs every previous Chevrolet accomplishment. Not only does it introduce into the low-priced field an entirely new measure of performance, comfort, beauty and style—but it is sold at prices so low as to alter every previous conception of motor car value.

The new six-cylinder valve-in-head engine—developed from more than a hundred motors designed especially for this sensational car—stands out as an engineering masterpiece. With a power increase of approximately 32% over the previous Chevrolet motor, with sensationally greater speed and faster acceleration—it offers a type of performance that is literally astounding... even to those who have been driving cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

Throughout the entire speed range, it performs with a smoothness and quietness of operation that have never before been approached in a low-priced automobile. At the slower speeds of city traffic it idles along with wonderful silence and ease. On boulevards and country roads it responds with an eagerness that is a constant delight. It takes the longest and steepest hills with an abundant reserve of power that is a source of pride to the driver. And its economy of operation averages better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

This revolutionary performance has been achieved as a result of the greatest array of engineering advancements that Chevrolet has ever announced. A high compression, non-detonating cylinder head... a new heavier crankshaft, statically and dynamically balanced... automatic lubrication of the entire rocker arm mechanism... semi-automatic spark control... hot-spot manifold... gasoline pump and filter... new and larger carburetor, with automatic acceleration pump and improved venturi choke... fabric camshaft gear... heavier driving gears... heavier differential gears... improved crankcase breathing system... improved lubrication... new 4-wheel brakes that are powerful, safe and quiet under all conditions—these indicate the importance of a group of engineering advancements that embrace every major unit of the entire chassis.

In appearance, this Outstanding Chevrolet is destined to become an automotive sensation—so smart, so stylish and so distinctively appointed that it rivals the costliest custom creations. The new Fisher bodies are longer, lower and roomier with adjustable driver's seat in all closed models—and reveal the matchless artistry of Fisher designers.

With their modish new colors, their smart dual moldings and their distinctive concave pillars, they achieve a degree of original beauty that has seldom been equalled in motor car design.

You are cordially invited to visit our showroom and secure complete and detailed information on this sensational new car which will be ready for delivery beginning January 1st.

Goal Of Red Cross 5,000,000 Members

Disaster Relief and Work for Veterans Cause Heavy Drain on Resources.

In order to enable the American Red Cross to carry on its broad activities, ranging from service to the world war veteran to instant response in time of disaster, a membership of 5,000,000 should be enrolled, and in this year of 1928-1929 that is the goal set for the twelfth annual roll call, to be held from November 11 to 29, Armistice to Thanksgiving Day.

John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross at Washington, in calling upon the nation for 5,000,000 adult members, directs attention to the great expenditures required of the Red Cross for disaster and veteran relief work, and for its many other activities devoted to health preservation and improvement and to cutting down the number of accidental deaths, through life saving and first aid courses.

"The Red Cross should at all times have a large reserve fund," Judge Payne stated, "because when disaster strikes, and this organization is called into instant action, there is no time to stop and raise funds. Dollars may mean lives, so we should have at all times a good reserve. We have been forced each year to draw upon our reserves, and we find that the demands are increasing annually."

Judge Payne pointed out that in the fiscal year of 1927-28, the Red Cross had extended aid in 66 major catastrophes in the United States and its insular possessions, and in 22 nations abroad. This does not include the West Indies hurricane disaster in Porto Rico and Florida, which occurred after the close of the Red Cross fiscal year, June 30, 1928.

The Red Cross expenditures for disaster in that period were $16,544,258.87, of which approximately $13,000,000 was expended in the Mississippi Valley for the flood relief work, which came from a fund contributed by the public. More than $1,000,000 was expended in the St. Louis tornado damage, and more than $1,000,000 in New England. In both cases public relief funds were raised, although in New England the Red Cross contributed in excess of $500,000 from its own funds for the relief work. In the majority of the other 66 disasters, and in all of the 22 foreign catastrophes in which the Red Cross extended aid, the money came from its own resources.

The largest item in the annual budget of the Red Cross is for its veteran relief and work for disabled ex-service and service men, upon which it expended in this year $1,169,795.

Every man and woman is asked by Judge Payne to join the Red Cross during the roll call period, to aid in these humanitarian enterprises.

Ten years after the Armistice, the American Red Cross still carries on for the world war veteran, providing comfort and entertainment for him in hospital, aiding his family where necessary, preparing and following through his claims for insurance, compensation or disability.

COMMON PURPOSE

Anthropologists tell us that man in his early state lived apart with his own little family, and archaeologists say the first communities were formed by confederated families brought together for a common purpose—protection against man's natural enemies. Today, man is distinctly a gregarious animal attracted more and more to community life. And men still build cities for a common purpose, or common purposes.

In the city one finds protection against fire, disease and the enemies of society. One goes to the city for good schools and monumental churches, paved streets, employment, art, entertainment, the society of other men and comforts of life denied the rural citizen. There is found the front rank of civilization.

The people of Brownfield have a common purpose. It is the advancement of the community as a whole. That common purpose is hardly distinguishable from the purpose of each individual. That which benefits the individual usually benefits the entire community and that which benefits the community reacts to the benefit of each of its citizens.

Prosperity and progress come to those communities whose citizens have their eyes upon the largest number of common purposes. Success crowns the efforts of the man of purpose, and the city with a common purpose works as one man.

"Common purpose" creates new industries, increases business, minimizes unemployment, makes cities better places in which to live and performs miracles in community betterment.

Lunch Away From Home

Married men of Eibar, a Spanish town of 10,000 inhabitants, never go home for lunch. They have a local proverb which says it is unlucky if men lunch at home more than twice in their lives—on the day of their marriage and on the day of their death. Every man in Eibar, therefore lunches at a restaurant or at the factory or shop where he is employed. It is believed the fact that most of the women work away from home during the day has given rise to the proverb.

Pudding Is "Detoured"

The mister had a boyish habit of visiting the pantry after the cook's departure and devouring all surplus sweets. One morning after a night's invasion of the pantry the cook asked her mistress:

"What you all want for dessert for dinner?"

"I think the date pudding left from yesterday will be sufficient for today," said the thrifty wife.

"That pudding's been detoured by that meddlin' husband," was the irritated reply.—Indianapolis News.

Roberta Knew

Roberta, aged four, had been told by her grandmother she would wear her tongue out, if she did not stop talking so much. Coming in one day from playing, the child excitedly told her grandmother that she had just seen a woman who had worn her tongue out.

Grandmother asked her how she could tell and she said: "The woman was talking on her fingers."

Grandmother figured out that the little girl had seen some deaf and dumb persons.—Indianapolis News.

Fat Men Stand Heat Best

Fat men can stand high temperatures better than thin ones, according to tests made by the bureau of mines. The fat men lost more weight but were less exhausted after the experiments were over, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The trials revealed that high pulse rate rather than the mere increase in bodily temperature is the important factor that brings discomfort under high heat and humidity.

Odd Mixture Made of Business and Religion

In uptown New York there is a negro church in which attending services is an all-day affair on Sundays. The congregation spends from eight to ten hours in the house of prayer, and meals and social circles interlard sermons and Bible classes.

Perhaps the most practical feature of the weekly gathering has to do with business. Members of the flock are invited to pass along their special wants to the pastor and he in turn proclaims them from the pulpit. Thus, if one has a piano or a parlor set for sale it may be described as alluringly as desired, the price mentioned and the name and address of the "brother" or "sister" broadcast. If one wants a job or a boarder the details are set forth in the same manner. Recently a case of theft was handled as follows:

"Mah dear brothers an' sistern, Mis' Amanda Rose Abernathy has lost her beautiful pearl brooch—at least she likes to think it were lost, but she know the devil often find things for folks what ain't lost—so if any of you have found it, in such eventually please return it to the lawful owner thereof. An' to save embarrassments and humiliations I would suggest that the finder of the lovely brooch put it in de little collection envelope."—New York Sunday Times.

"Singing" Mud Rivers Alter Andes Skyline

One of the most interesting features of the Andes, the great backbone of cordilleras covering the northern part of South America, says Nature Magazine, is its "singing" rivers of mud.

During certain seasons of the year rain falls in torrents, converting the foothills of the mountains into actual streams of flowing gumbo, and so rapidly is this erosion occurring, the whole outline of a chain of mountains may become unrecognizable in the course of a year.

The higher cordilleras, with altitudes of 10,000 to 12,000 feet, are being washed down at the rate of five feet or more a year, and it is believed that in a few centuries the Andes will be leveled and formed into vast plateaus like the hinterland of Patagonia.

The mountains are composed, for the most part, of glacial moraine, a mixture of powdered rock and clay. The winter rains carry this alluvial material down the valleys in a semi-liquid state and form vast plains. It gurgles with a musical sound like poured molasses.

The new Ford has a very simple and effective lubrication system

THE lubrication system for the engine of the new Ford is as simple in principle as water running down-hill.

A gear pump in the bottom of the oil pan raises the oil to the valve chamber reservoir. From here it flows on to the main crankshaft bearings and the front camshaft bearing. Overflow oil drops into the oil pan tray and runs into troughs through which the connecting rods pass.

As the ends of these rods strike the oil they scoop up a supply for the connecting rod bearing. At the same time they set up a fine spray that lubricates the pistons and other moving parts.

From the tray the oil runs into the bottom of the pan, and is again drawn up through a fine mesh screen and pumped to the valve chamber.

This system is so effective that the five-quart contents of the oil pan pass through the pump twice in every mile when you are traveling at only 30 miles an hour. Yet there is only one movable part—the oil pump.

As a matter of fact, the lubrication system for the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires practically no service attention.

There is just one thing for you to do, but it is a very important thing . . . watch the oil! Change the oil every 500 miles and be sure the indicator rod never registers below low (L).

If the oil level is allowed to fall below low, the supply becomes insufficient to oil all parts as they should be oiled.

To insure best performance it is also advisable to have the chassis of your car lubricated every 500 miles. This has been made easy in the new Ford through the use of the high pressure grease gun system.

Proper oiling and greasing mean so much to the life of your car that they should not be neglected or carelessly done.

See your Ford dealer regularly. He is especially well-fitted to lubricate the new Ford and he will do a good, thorough job at a fair price.

WALTER DAMROSCH TO DIRECT NEW MUSIC EDUCATION HOUR

Arrangements have been completed for a special series of 24 educational orchestral concerts to be broadcast next season, beginning in the fall. The new Music Education Hour sponsored by the Radio Corporation of America will be under the direction of Walter Damrosch, the dean of American musicians, who made the Hour of the past season one of the great accomplishments of radio broadcasting.

In response to the nationwide demand for an educational hour of music for young people and children, next season's program will be given Friday mornings at 11 o'clock Eastern standard time, so that it can be heard in the schools. It is planned to use 28 stations of the National Broadcasting company and associated stations, covering the entire country between the Atlantic Coast and the Rocky Mountains.

In making the announcement, David Sarnoff, Vice President and General Manager of the Radio Corporation of America, said:

"Since the first days of broadcasting we have confidently looked forward to the time when radio broadcasting and reception would be so perfected that it might be used for universal education as well as entertainment. Millions of dollars have been spent in the development of broadcasting, with the belief that this new means of universal communication would become of great public service, supplementing and augmenting other means of education.

"When Mr. Damrosch came to us some time ago with a plan for inculcating a better appreciation and understanding of good music, we were immediately impressed by its great possibilities. And the many thousands of letters recently received from teachers, parents and educational authorities, from all over the country, following on three experimental lecture-concerts, have confirmed our judgment.

"The time for music education over the air is opportune, because of the perfected state of radio broadcasting. The best music can now be entrusted to the microphone with the full assurance that it will issue forth from the loudspeaker in the school or the home with a true approximation of the original rendition."

Magister
When called upon recently to settle a quarrel between two Jewish women a London magistrate handed a copy of the Bible to the official interpreter, saying: "Take these women out of court and read them the One Hundred Thirty-third Psalm. One of the women has only a limited knowledge of English. Translate it for her into Yiddish." Later, the interpreter returned to court and reported that the magistrate's scheme had been entirely successful. The first sentence of the psalm reads: "Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity."

French Houses Pretty but Not Comfortable

Have you ever—but of course you have—raced down in a too swift train from Cherbourg to Paris, through the French countryside on a spring afternoon when all the apple trees in Normandy are in full bloom? And through the trees you catch a glimpse of little old farmhouses that have stood there in the midst of their flowering orchards for centuries? Enchanting, these little houses; but according to modern standards hardly comfortable, says Arts and Decorations. Once inside, we should find the rooms too small and crowded; the windows too small to admit of proper ventilation; the kitchen antiquated, and the work done there made doubly difficult because of lack of equipment. No, these little houses are lovely to look at; on a walking trip, if night came on too quickly, one might enjoy staying over night, perhaps, sharing a French supper with the farmer's household, en famille, gathered about the kitchen table; sleeping in one of the little rooms under the thatched roof, listening to the sleepy chirp of birds in the long soft twilight. But to live in one of these houses—impossible. It remains for our own young country to combine much of the charm of these old Norman farmhouses with Twentieth century comfort.

Flour From Corn

Corn flour is corn meal ground and bolted until it is as fine as wheat flour. It is used in considerable quantities by bakers and as a binder in sausage-making. During the World War it was widely sold as a wheat flour substitute for use in quick breads, cakes and general cooking, but it is not ordinarily found on the retail market. Some of the pancake flours on the market contain corn flour or fine corn meal, usually mixed with flour made of wheat, rye, barley or other cereals. In England the term corn flour refers to the separated starch, which in this country is called cornstarch and which is used for thickening sauces and puddings.

The Hobo Instinct

One of the primal instincts of man which refuses to be eradicated is the wandering urge. It originated, undoubtedly, from necessity. The need for changing hunting grounds and camp sites was always present in prehistoric and early historic times. Later when people settled down, founded towns, and agricultural districts became established, the necessity for this urge ceased to some extent. The instinct of wishing to see new lands, however, has continued and undoubtedly that is one of the reasons for the present popularity of motor camping.—Field and Stream Magazine.

His Preference

A Scotch member of a golf course near London took a business friend for a day's golfing. After the morning round they lunched very sparingly on biscuits and cheese. "Man," cried the enthusiastic Scot as he gazed through an open window, "this is my favorite course. Isn't it yours?" "Er—not exactly," replied the starving guest. "I should have preferred a good steak and onions."—London Answers.

Finale

The lecturer was emphasizing the demoralizing effect of divorce. "Love," he said, "is a quest; a proposal, a request; the giving of a daughter's hand in marriage, a bequest, and marriage itself the quest. But what is divorce?" "Voice from the audience—"The inquiry."

Labor Head Asks Nation's Workers to Support Red Cross

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in Washington, calls upon the workers of the nation to support the twelfth annual roll call of the American Red Cross, November 11-29, in the following statement:

"Through the American Red Cross we find expression for some of our noblest ideals. It is an effective instrument for magnifying many times our personal service to humanity.

"In the face of great disasters, when the injured and homeless run into the thousands, there is little we can do individually. Consolidating our strength through membership in this great organization, our opportunity for service is unlimited.

We must not forget that every day is a day of disaster to thousands. Into homes where disaster strikes your Red Cross goes in your name to be friend and counselor to those upon whom misfortune has laid her heavy hand.

"As President of the American Federation of Labor, I hope and feel confident that the workers of the nation will respond to the Red Cross Roll Call and have a part in this organization's great work."

(Signed) WILLIAM GREEN, President American Federation of Labor.

LUBBOCK HAVING GREAT ERA OF GROWTH

Lubbock, Texas, Nov. 26.—Lubbock, the home of Texas Technological College, is enjoying a steady growth as shown by the building permits. With 635 permits already this year the total is well above the three million mark. This places Lubbock in the lead of such cities as Amarillo, Waco, Abilene, Galveston, Port Arthur, Austin, and many other cities larger in population.

With part of November and all of December yet to go the total will go beyond the 1927 total which amounted to $3,250,000. According to conservative estimates the present population of Lubbock is nearing the 25,000 mark.

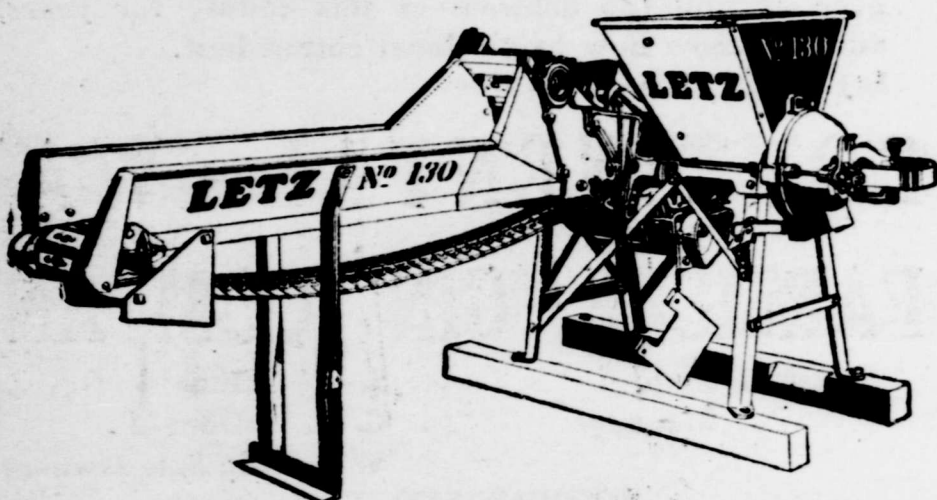

Lunch Away From Home

Married men of Elber, a Spanish town of 10,000 inhabitants, never go home for lunch. They have a local proverb which says it is unlucky if men lunch at home more than twice in their lives on the day of their marriage and on the day of their death. Every man in Elber, therefore, lunches at a restaurant or at the factory of shop where he is employed. It is believed the fact that most of the women work away from home during the day has given rise to the proverb.

TECH GETS SOME NEW ANGUS BLOOD

Lubbock, Texas, Nov. 26.—Foundation stock for the Aberdeen Angus breed of cattle at Texas Technological College has just arrived from Sam H. Hill & Sons Terra Alta ranch. W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department, spent two days at Terra Alta selecting the animals. Six heifers were purchased and the ranch lent the College two bulls, a steer and a calf, and five steer calves to be used by judging and feeding teams.

Pays for Itself in Bigger Profits—

Letz No. 130 Mixed Feed Maker

When you put a Letz Mixed Feed Maker on your farm your feeding costs go down and your profits go up—even though you feed but a few head of stock.

The Letz No. 130, with the double automatic, all-steel feed table, will cut, grind, and thoroughly mix from 2,000 to 4,500 pounds of roughage and grain per hour! It will pay for itself in a single season through the increased profits from your live stock made by properly preparing feeds.

Remember, there is no waste to ground feed. It has 20 per cent more feeding value than whole grain and roughage—your stock eat all of the feed, and it is more easily digested. There is no loss of time or labor in hauling when you grind your feed at home. Your supply is always at hand—when you need it.

The No. 130 will cut and grind roughage—stalks, stems, leaves and all—as well as ear corn and small grains, and it won't clog if the grain is green or wet. Plates are self-sharpening and self-aligning.

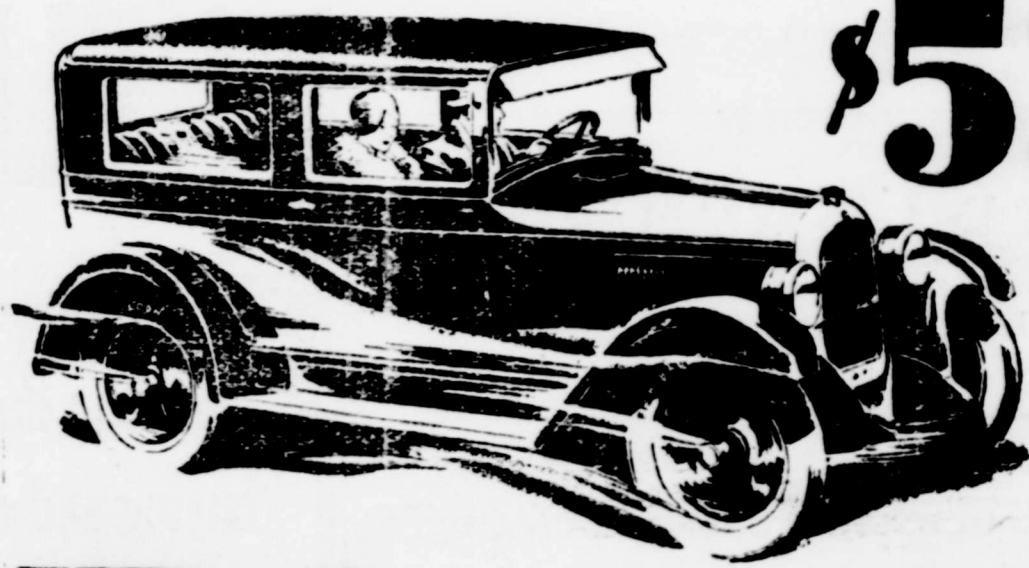

Come in and get complete facts on this money-making feed-maker next time you're in town.

PLOW REPRESENTATIVES INSPECT DEEP FLOWING TESTS

Mr. L. A. Spoons, district representative of John Deere Plow Co. of Dallas, and Mr. Cotrel, of the John Deere Plow Co., of Moline, Ill., were shown the deep tillage plots on the farms of O. L. Berry at Seagraves and J. E. Woodard of Seminole by the County Agent.

Both men were favorably impressed with the results as shown by the hundred per cent increase in production this year and in the texture of the new soil.

Mr. Cotrel is primarily interested in a new cotton stripper that he is working out for the John Deere Plow Co., but he has had a wide experience in the building of plows and designed a large number of plows which were used for various purposes. He expressed the belief that it was economically possible to plow to a depth that would turn up enough clay to make this sand a safe farming country and he thought that his company had plows that would do the work satisfactorily.

While there are several factors that will affect deep plowing such as rainfall, depth to the clay, horsepower, and the length of time that the new soil will not blow. It will take time to work out all of these things but the chances look good enough on the tests this year to warrant considerable more deep breaking.

It is hoped that within a short time we will find the proper plow and a plowing demonstration can be given for those who are interested.

Family Troubles

"Steven, dear," whispered the burglar's bride, as he started on his evening's work, "try to be a little more quiet when you come in tonight."

"Certainly, dear," replied the fond husband. "Did I wake you up last night?"

"No, but you awakened mother, and I don't want her running up to prison and complaining to father that I married an amateur." Birmingham Post.

Clerk of District Court in and for Yoakum County, Texas. (Seal)

THE FOURTEENTH REVOLTS

Mr. Wurzbach is entitled to a recount in the Fourteenth Congressional District. A margin of 138 votes in as many as were cast in the close McCloskey-Wurzbach race is subject to too much liability of error to accept it as conclusive until a careful official check has been made. No intimation of election irregularity is involved in that belief. It is merely that in a very large number of voter accuracy should be certain before a result obtained by a very small majority is accepted, especially where the vote for the position is only one on a long ballot. Mr. Wurzbach's apparent defeat registers another upset in this year of surprises in Texas elections. He has been for three terms a member of Congress. His victories were registered in years when Texas and his own district went overwhelmingly Democratic as far as other offices were concerned. In the year in which the State cast its electoral vote for a Republican nominee he is defeated. Mr. Wurzbach has represented the sole consolation for that outnumbered partisanship that hopes to see Texas a biparty State, even though they have been forced to the unwilling conclusion that the Fourteenth voted for Harry Wurzbach the Republican, borne out by the fact that he served two years as County Attorney and eight as County Judge before he was sent to Congress. It is a question, however, whether a defeat for Wurzbach will be a severe blow to the "regular" Republicans of Texas, the organization with which he has never been in sympathy and almost always at odds. With a Democrat in Wurzbach's chair, Messrs. Creager and Nolte at least will have no ripple of disturbance on the surface of patronage disposition in a year when the electoral vote has given them a better claim to it than has ever before existed. Mrs. Rich Bennett has returned to Brownfield and has again taken charge of the Sanitary Barber Shop Beauty Parlor, where she will be glad to meet her old friends and make new ones. S. L. Greathouse, of the Pleasant Valley Community, purchased a fine registered Jersey heifer from M. M. Murphy of Snyder last week. Mr. Greathouse is a firm believer in pure bred livestock and says he intends to weed out his milk cows until he has a bunch that he knows will pay. Mr. Marchbanks, who lives north-east of Brownfield, bought a registered Jersey bull last week. Mr. Marchbanks is of the opinion that the quickest, cheapest and surest way to build up a herd of high producing cows is by using a good bull.

Twelve boys in the Winters territory now have registered Jersey calves. They are members of the Vocational Agricultural Class sponsored by the Lions Club, and are planning to compete with one another in the Second Cow-Sow-and-Hen Show next Spring. The largest Saturday crowd in the history of the town was her Saturday according to the opinion of every one talked with—and they were a buying crowd too. The Club and Vocational Livestock Exhibit is an institution in De Leon, and is held on the streets of that city. The streets are roped off, pens and stalls compacted for livestock, and feed crops exhibited in designated places. Competition is keen for prizes offered. Mrs. Uyles Sawyer who is in the sanitarium at Lubbock, is reported to be real sick, but is thought to be some better.

Headlight Law Enforcement Planned Here

The Texas Automobile Headlight Law will be strictly enforced in Terry county, according to F. M. Ellington, County Sheriff.

He states that the State Highway Department has called to his attention the fact that there has been a laxity of this law's enforcement within the State, and his department has been called on to see that this enforcement will be carried out in Terry county.

The law provides that every car, whether new or old, have its lights tested by a license testing station before the state license is issued. The tax collector has instructions to refuse to issue license without the certificate from the testing station showing that the lights have been before the screen and approved, and certificate issued at the time of approval. Warning is given to the county test stations and also to the automobile owners and operators that no certificates will be issued except only when the car lights have been actually tested before the screen and approved as specified in the law. The following test stations have been issued licenses for the 1929 testing period—Briek Garage, McSpadden Battery Shop at Brownfield and H. S. Lusk, of Meadow.

Notice is also given that enforcement of the law regarding tail-lights will be strictly enforced, and it behooves every car owner to have the tail-light of his car working properly so that he will not be arrested.

A CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends and especially Mrs. Walters, for their kindness in the illness and sad death of our beloved husband and father. May God's richest blessings rest upon each of you.

Mrs. R. N. Craven and son.

GROUND TO BE BROKEN FOR HOME FOR AGED

On Wednesday, November 14, the ground was broken for the first building of the Woodmen Circle Home for Aged Members and Orphan Children at Sherman, Texas.

An interesting sentiment connected with the choice of November 14 as the date to break ground is that it is the birthday of National Secretary, Dora Alexander Talley of Omaha, Nebr. Mrs. Talley was born in Texas and made her home in the state until she became national secretary. For many years it has been her ambition for the society to have such a Home as is now being started.

Immediately after the ground-breaking ceremony active work was begun on the excavation for the Administration building. It is the aim of the Woodmen Circle eventually to have not just one home but rather a community of homes at Sherman.

National President Mary E. LaRocca of Omaha, Nebr., will turn the first dirt with a silver pick which is treasured by the Sherman Chamber of Commerce.

The ceremony was a birthday celebration in another way, for State Supervisor, Etta Davidson, of Houston, a member of the home committee had announced that all applications received by the 14th would go to make up a huge Birthday Class in honor of Mrs. Talley. Texas recently began a year's campaign, the Rainbow of Progress, with the goal set at four million dollars worth of new business.

Mrs. Lottie Head, financial secretary of grove No. 462 is among the secretaries who are sponsoring the Rainbow of Progress for November.

There is to be a beautiful Avenue of Trees leading to the Home. The trees will signify the devotion of members of the society to their loved ones, for members have the privilege of contributing the sum necessary to buy a tree and each tree will bear a small metal band giving the name of the donor. Many trees will bear the loving sentiment beginning, "In memory of."

Texas members have contributed more than $10,000 to the home fund. They have also made many pledges of articles to help furnish the Home and these articles will be exhibited at the state convention to be held next spring.

Names of individuals contributing $10 to the home fund will be placed in the corner stone of the Administration building. These names will also be inscribed in a large memorial register which will be kept in the reception hall of the same building.

NATURAL GAS CENTER MOVES TO SOUTHWEST

Tulsa, Okla., is not only the oil capital of the United States but has become the center of the natural gas industry, according to H. J. Struth, of Cincinnati, editor of Natural Gas.

The rapid development of natural gas properties in the Southwest has brought about the complete change in the status of the natural gas industry. Mr. Struth says, with the result that Tulsa now supplants Charleston, West Virginia, as the true center of the industry. Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana now supply nearly half of all the natural gas produced in the United States. This is bringing about a period of expansion in those states that has never before been equalled in the history of the natural gas industry.

In a report recently presented to the natural gas department of the American Gas Association, it was stated that the industry is spending approximately $171 a minute in drilling new gas wells. An expenditure of $365,000,000 during the present year will be made by the industry, it is said, for drilling wells, laying new transmission lines, and building compressor stations.

Dr. Millard Swart phones from Lubbock that he will be on hand at the Boone Hunter Drug Store next Wednesday to fit glasses.

Several of our nimrods have been up on the north plains of late trying to get some geese, but we understand they had poor luck as they could not get in shooting distance.

Uncle Mose Dumas was in one day recently and renewed for his Herald and the daily and Sunday Star-Telegram.

Mrs. Emmett Whitaker left this week in company with her father for a visit with the family at Petersburg, Texas.
