CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The writer and Judge H. R. Winston, were in Lubbock Saturday in attendance upon an advance hearing of the Panhandle & Santa Fe application for extension southwest from Seagraves. It is not clear to us where we are to be especially benefited by the proposed building program, were it not for the fact that the Texas & Pacific has applied for a permit to cover virtually the same territory and the Santa Fe application is the much preferred of the two by us.

In company with Geo. W. Neill, Glen Harris and A. L. Burnett, the writer was present at a meeting of the Carlsbad Cavern Highway Association, which was held at Carlsbad, Monday. Practically every town between Oklahoma City and El Paso was represented and the affair was interesting from start to finish. Delegates from Oklahoma made the statement that they routed an average of fifty cars daily by way of Fort Worth who were desirous of reaching El Paso, for the reason that no other marked highway was open, but that they would send them through by Brownfield and Carlsbad as soon as the line was properly lined out, as a saving of about 150 miles in the distance would be had. The next meeting of the association will be held at Altus, Oklahoma, within ninety days and it is hoped that all plans for marking advertising by a strip map will have been completed by that time.

Don't forget the annual banquet, which is staged for Friday night, February 15th. Several new directors will be elected at that time and they are the ones who will choose your secretary for the next year. A report of the accomplishments of the past twelve months will be read. Those of you who have not been in close touch with the organization, might be surprised at the number of matters of interest to the county that have been taken care of since the last annual affair.

She Didn't Savvy Our Prairie Dog Laws

A letter was received this week at the State Bank from a lady owner of some land in Terry county whose residence was given as New York wanting some information about our "dog laws."

She stated that she had received orders from our sheriff's department that dogs on her land must be killed, and she wanted to know what breed of dogs they were, how came them on her land and what we wanted them killed for.

The good lady probably belongs to the humane society and has great abhorrence to unnecessary destruction of "lap pets." We hope the bank went into as final details with her as they do with us when they explain, so that we can understand it thoroughly, that it is against their policies to carry any overdrafts.

District Court Ends Session This Week

This is the fourth and last week of the District Court of Terry County and a lot of jurymen were on hand Monday but little seemed to have been done, as most cases were either dismissed, continued or tried during previous weeks. The next term will be held in mid-summer.

District Attorney T. L. Price says the people of Terry county are unusually good or refuse to tell what they know, one or the other. Both, perhaps. We know our people generally speaking are the best on earth, and we believe Judge Price will agree.

Commissioners Court has also been in session this week in their regular monthly meeting. A big crowd was here Tuesday, but most of them had come to attend the funeral of Mr. Brownfield.

C. Sears, one of our best farmers still thinks Terry an ideal place in more ways than one. Read his article this week.

Well, How Did the Weather Suit You?

Those of us who have been beefing about not having any winter can now close our hay-mows and go to wishing for the approach of spring and with it the bursting of buds, the call of the birds to their mates, the blooming of wild flowers over the prairie—and an occasional sand storm, for the later portion of last week ought to have satisfied anybody outside a full blood Eskimo.

The blizzard started with a snow and almost ended the same way, but it did not amount to much more than two inches altogether—it was too blasted cold to snow much. The weather man began to pour it on in sizable chunks Thursday afternoon and night, only to increase in fury Friday and Friday night, and up to this time there has not been enough sunshine and southwest winds to ever mellow the atmosphere to any great extent.

Some say Thursday night was the coldest, but those with thermometers say Friday night had it skinned a few notches, for it dropped about 5 below zero that night.

Anyway, it was simply uncomfortable, bursting a number of residential water pipes as well as other conveniences, and if there is anything it worms and bugs getting frozen on their last year's eggs being chilled beyond incubation, then we won't have a bug or worm in Terry county next year, except possibly some bed-bugs. We have no more complaints to make on not having any winter. It came—it stayed—it conquered.

Prairie Dog Killing Campaign in Action

Mr. R. J. Powell, of the U. S. Biological Survey, mixed up three tons of prairie dog poison last week. Mr. Powell has gone out and scattered some of this grain for some of the farmers and reports almost a hundred per cent kill on the dogs and a large number of rabbits are found dead. Now is the time of the year to thin out the jack rabbits. You know every female rabbit that is killed now means that there will be from two to three rabbits less to eat on that crop this year. It would be a good time to get those field rats at this time also. Just hang a bucket of poison grain on the lister and throw out a little when you see some rat holes and you will not be bothered about getting a stand of corn this spring. With the County furnishing the poison grain at cost there is no reason for a farmer to lose part of his crop or have his grass cut short by rodents. Of course you must remember that this grain will kill horses, cows, etc., if they eat it, but if the grain is scattered on the ground and the bucket or sack kept out of the way there is no danger.

Body of Tom Ross Brought Thru Monday

A Lubbock hearse brought the body of Tom Ross through here Monday morning on the way to Lovington, N. M., where it was buried that afternoon. The casket was said by those who saw it, to have been banked with flowers.

A great many of the old timers here were well acquainted with Ross, whose real name was said to have been Loftin, and have been in his home at the ranch on the Gaines county, Texas and Lea County, New Mexico line. All say he was a hospitable host to visitors and was a very quiet man except when he would lose his temper.

Also several here were skeptical about the body being that of Ross, but did not learn whether any of attended the funeral or not.

Tells His Experiences in Old Terry County

Brownfield, Texas
February 7, 1929.
The Terry County Herald—
Dear Editor:

We want to drop in a few lines from over on Nuben Hill. We want to renew for the Herald, we have been a continual reader of the Herald for ten years. We think it is a good county paper and every citizen should take his county paper. Besides the Herald we are readers of Cappers Weekly, Dallas News Semi-Weekly, Haskell Free Press, Farm and Ranch and Hollands. So we have plenty to read. When we came to Brownfield here were two brick buildings and one stucco, and the first one was being built. It began operations in October and ginned over six hundred bales by the end of the season. And now we have twelve cotton gins in the county and gin up the thousands of bales. I think we have one of the finest little towns on the Plains. We have some of the best and most accommodative bunch of business men I have ever met in Texas. When we came here there was but one doctor but had the practice for four counties. Now we have six good doctors as you will find most anywhere.

Six good preachers are numbered with us, so we should keep old Terry going good for nineteen twenty-nine. I am proud of our new court house. I am also proud of the Santa Fe Railroad. Without it we would have had a hard struggle to make Brownfield and Terry what it is today. I think the Santa Fe has two of the best gents they have had since I have been here. They always have a smile on their face and ready to help you in any way they can.

As for diversification, we have diversified ever since we have been in the county. I have farmed here ten years and made one failure out of the ten. We always have plenty of hogs or our meat and our Jerseys and a bunch of red chickens. I think we farmers should divide our crop a third a cotton, a third in corn and a third a maize. We would get more for what we make.

I think Terry has got some as good people as you can find anywhere. We have never lived at a place where we had more friends or any better neighbors than we have here. Three years ago while I sat on the back door steps to my home and looked across my field where the hundred and six men were hoeing and seventeen cultivators were running; then I turned back and looked to the east where my companion lay with the fever, and wondered what a man would do in this world without friends and neighbors. Jack, you can give a man barrels of money but if he has no friends, there isn't much left for him.

I think the cows, chickens and dogs have done as much to save our country as anything else.

I am proud of our Irish editor. He did not have much to do when we came here, but it keeps him jumping sideways to keep up with his work now.

So, here is for the Herald and all its readers.

C. Sears and family.

New Store Building a Model Architecturally

The new W. A. Bell building on the northwest corner of the square is near enough complete at present to give one an idea of what the building is going to be like when it is completed, and we can safely say without fear of contradiction that it will be one of the prettiest in this section of the state. In fact every expression we have heard of the matter from anyone, was that it is the most beautiful they have seen.

There is first presented to the vision one of the deepest alcoves to be seen in a store building in this section, and with beautiful bevelled mirrors, gives the building the appearance of some of the best on real "main street" cities. In fact, size considered, there are none in Fort Worth or Dallas more beautifully appointed.

The interior also has its many surprises, for the space could not have been more appropriately proportioned for beauty or convenience, seemingly.

The Herald congratulates the owner, the leasee, the builder and the city of Brownfield in the possession of such a building.

Trip to Houston and The Magic Valley

If I were to write a long story about my trip to Houston and South Texas I would begin it by saying that I am proud to get back to Terry County. This statement is true despite the fact that at this season of the year we are having our most unpleasant weather and South Texas is supposed to be having their most favorable weather. In speaking of weather, it is just as changeable in South Texas as in West Texas. Why it was so hot in Houston when we arrived that we had to turn on the electric fans to sleep and when we left Houston, and the same was true at Corpus Christi, I never got colder in my life.

A trip like this is a wonderful sight to a West Texan nevertheless. Leaving a country where the pastures are bare, the trees without foliage, the fields bare except for last year's stalks and shocks, and go into a country where the pastures are green, the trees with their green leaves and ripe fruit, the fields covered with cabbage, carrots, lettuce and spinach that are being harvested and the corn and beans growing nicely and the old cotton stalks with green leaves on them still—all this makes you wonder whether you are seeing things or if you are in another world. But the truth is that it is all in Texas.

I will not go into detail and tell of the inspirational talks that were made during the four days of the Agricultural Workers Convention at Houston, the pleasant auto tour thru the wonderful Rio Grande Valley, the wild game banquet at Matamoros, Mexico, and the pleasant visits to the famous King and Taft Ranches, but will say that I enjoyed it thoroughly, but that I am glad to be back.

R. B. Davis, County Agent.

Mrs. Cross dropped in recently and had us order a rubber stamp for her as she wants her name on all her butter. This not only protects Mrs. Cross, but also her customers, as no substitute for her butter can be palmed off on her regular customers.

Father of Our City Passed Away Mon.

One of the saddest moments in the history of the city came during the noon hour Monday when the news quickly spread that Mr. M. V. Brownfield, for whom our city was named, had passed away while driving home from town.

It seems that W. B. Downing had ridden with him as far as his home and when he alighted from the car, Mr. Brownfield was apparently alright, but he had gone but about a block until it seems he must have become entirely paralyzed and lost control of his car, which was a late model Ford, which he always uses instead of his big car for trips about town. It appears that he lost consciousness in making the turn at the Spear residence corner for the car ran upon the embankment slightly, which probably swerved the car and it headed toward the Hahn Filling Station directly across the street. The car first ran into the oil barrels, tearing them away from their concrete moorings, threw them out of the way and stopped against the wall of the building near the east side of the door. Those behind in cars say he was not going over 25 or 30 miles per hour.

When Mr. Hahn and clerk reached the car, they found deceased had already slumped into the seat and apparently scarcely breathed. A physician was hurriedly summoned but failed to start the heart and lungs to functioning.

Deceased was about 75 years of age and was born in the state of Pennsylvania, but came to Texas with his parents, who settled near Keller in Tarrant county, when he was a child. After reaching manhood he followed the call of the west and came to Nolan county and entered the ranching business, and here lost his first wife. He came to Terry county about 30 years ago and started the old "saucer block" ranch south and east of this city. He has been a very successful man in collecting a comfortable fortune in lands, cattle and city property here.

All business houses in the city closed Tuesday for the entire day in honor of the man who was regarded as the "Father" of our city, and who had been the friend to all, rich or poor, young or old. Although having possession of material things, whose values will run into six figures, he was just one of our citizens, dressing and acting like the rest of our whole-souled pioneer settlers.

Mr. Brownfield was a Mason, Odd Fellow and a member of the Universalist church, and in his younger days attended their meetings regularly. He leaves a wife and daughter 15, by the last marriage, three sons, A. M., A. R. and A. D., the latter living at El Paso, and a daughter, Mrs. Roscoe Wilson of Lubbock, by his first marriage, who are joined by a host of friends to mourn his departure. He will be sincerely missed.

Following the funeral services conducted by Rev. E. V. May at the family residence Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock the body was taken in charge by the Masonic lodge and carried to the Brownfield cemetery and laid to rest with Masonic honors.

A truck was required to bring the flowers down from Lubbock, and the funeral procession was the largest in the history of the county.

Native Hawaiians to Be Presented at School

Friday evening, February 15, 8:00 P. M., the High School Annual Staff will present "The Famous Kailu Family Group" of genuine Hawaiians at the Grammar School Auditorium.

They will introduce every kind of native musical instruments, producing weird and enchanting music that everyone loves to hear. They sing Hawaiian songs and melodies as only a native Hawaiian can. In addition to their own native instruments, they play the violin in 31 different ways, mandolins, Chinese fiddles, hand saws, shovels, files and produce music from orange crates!

Oklahoma Boosters for The New Highway

A large delegation of Quanah, Texas and Oklahoma men passed through here Wednesday on their way home after attending the Oklahoma City-El Paso Highway meeting at Carlsbad N. M., and among them several called on the Herald while here.

These people, including A. B. Wey of Quanah and Editor S. Arledge Cook of the Eldorado (Okla.) Courier were all enthusiastic boosters for the highway. The Oklahoma City delegation stated that they had been routing tourists from the north and east by Fort Worth, 150 miles out of their way, but from now on they would be routed through here. They expressed agreeable surprise that this section has such fine roads already in operation.

Mr. Wey informed us that a great motor train would be formed in the near future in Oklahoma and pass through on their way to see the caves. He also stated that they were going to send some folks over here to invest in this land that produced good cotton and bumper corn and feed crops. "Simply carried away" is the way to express the attitude of the delegates concerning this section and the eighth wonder of the world, the Carlsbad Caverns.

Another Tragedy Tues. Night Shocks City

Following the shock of the death of Mr. M. V. Brownfield, Monday, the citizenship of the city had another Tuesday morning early when most of us learned that the two small children of John Dumas had eaten some strychnine tablets Tuesday night, which resulted in the death of the baby about two years old and the serious illness still of the little girl about four years old. We understand the little girl is about out of danger at this writing.

It seems the little fellows were visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Dumas and found the tablets on the dresser. It is thought the little girl eat at least three, and no one knows how many the baby swallowed.

The little body was prepared for burial, and following funeral services at the Church of Christ by Elder Liff Sanders, it was laid to rest in the Brownfield cemetery.

This was a great shock to the parents and grand-parents, coming as it did so quickly upon the heels of the death of a sister and daughter some three weeks ago.

Brownfield Nursery Putting Out Bargains

You have probably received a circular and also seen the ad of the Brownfield Nursery in these columns in which they are offering some rare bargains in staple fruit and shade trees as well as shrubbery. Most any nursery will offer bargains in fancy stuff that no one wants or probably will not grow here if put out, but Mr. King is offering you good stuff that has been tried out here and does well.

In patronizing your home nursery, you can rest assured of getting what you ordered in variety, the size you pay for, and that it is stuff already native to this section and will quickly grow off. You can also rest assured that is fresh dug, and that all the root system is green, healthy, and ready for an immediate growth, while stock you order from a distance may not be properly packed and with possible delay in transit, may come in with a dead or frozen root system and are then of course worthless.

Don't take chances, but get stuff you know will grow, for every year you lose in growth is not only money thrown away for dead stock, but sets you back one more year until you get fruits from your trees.

Husband (in car): "Great Heavens! The engine is terribly overheated."

Wife (calmly): "Then why don't you turn off the radiator?"

On account of the weather being so raw, the last Saturday crowd was somewhat off.

A. C. C. IN TEMPORARY QUARTERS AFTER FIRE

Only ten days after the fire of January 28 which destroyed the Administration building of Abilene Christian College the students of A. C. C. are meeting classes in a temporary building built to meet the emergency, friends of the institution will be interested to know. During these ten days workmen worked through sleet and rain to finish the needed accommodation. In the meantime students met classes in dormitory rooms and the gymnasium so that, after the fire, only part of the classes of one day failed to meet.
The trustees are rushing plans to finish seven new buildings on a new campus east of Abilene. Three of those buildings, a $150,000.00 administration building and two large dormitories, are under construction now.

FRIGIDAIRE DEALER SEES NEW PRODUCTS AT MEETING

"Amazing," is the only word to describe adequately the engineering progress reflected in new Frigidaire products, shown at the organization's convention in Fort Worth, according to Clyde Gross, local dealer, who has returned from the meeting.

"The electric room cooler exhibited at the convention, indicates that refrigeration will ultimately rank with heat in its importance to the welfare and comfort of the human race," he declared. "This cooler in tests has lowered the temperature of an average size room ten degrees in thirty minutes and at the same time reduced the humidity ten per cent.

"Personally, I was most interested in the new cold control for household models, which was also displayed. This is a small dial, with six notches. Simply by turning this dial, the housewife is able to get any one of six freezing speeds in the dessert and ice trays. The freezing time of ice cubes is cut nearly in half. Ice cream now keeps perfectly, with this device attached.

"The convention went wild with enthusiasm when informed that the cold control has been made so that it can easily be attached to models now in use."

A new household model, selling at the lowest price in Frigidaire history also was announced, the local dealer said.

Official paper of Terry County.

No matter how pretty the home, if the surroundings are not well kept, the whole effect is ruined. Level up and put out some trees, shrubs and flowers.

The stingiest man has been found. He paid his poll tax but said he would not pay the 28c state and county taxes, and this man did not live down in East Texas or Arkansas either. We'll bet he hasn't less than five or six children to educate at public expense, and would be the first to apply to his county for aid should misfortune overtake him.

We are no bugologist, but why is it we keep talking about deep freezes to eradicate bugs and worms, when they make cotton in south Texas every year where it never freezes. Also please explain why they have destructive insects in the north where it gets 40 below and freezes four feet deep? Answer us that, as Jeff says.

The Herald has recently received a copy of the 1929 Dallas News Almanac, complimentary of the A. H. Belo Co., in which was enclosed a letter saying they hoped the Herald would find it of value in our work. We can only say that their hopes are more than realized, for it is of actual value. When we want to get the "low down" on anything about Texas, our Dallas News Almanac is the first thing we think of, and nine chances to ten we get all the information we want without trouble of hunting other reference books. We sincerely thank the publishers for this volume of computed facts about Texas.

It would seem that it is no more possible for our national legislature or state law-makers to meet without a series of disclosures and investigations. With these things in view, it would leave the impression on first thought that our people are really deteriorating and hardly fit for self government when we hark back to the beginning of our government and find that we seldom heard of a defrauding official. But the difference is that our forefathers looked them out men of repute and integrity to fill the trusted places in our government, whereas nowadays, the man with the most political pull gets the jobs it would seem. It is said that Abraham Lincoln appointed some of his most bitter political enemies to places in his cabinet because they were men of high ideals and qualified to fill the offices to which he assigned them. But then days seem to be gone forever.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

"Now he belongs to the ages," muttered Secretary Stanton, when the great spirit of Abraham Lincoln had left its earthly abode. Probably the speaker himself, even in that moment of prophetic insight, failed to realize the great truth in these simple words.

Today a statue of Abraham Lincoln occupies a prominent place before the House of Parliament in England. One of the greatest and most successful plays of recent times was written by an Englishman—John Drinkwater—and devoted exclusively to certain phases of Abraham Lincoln's career. Spanish thinkers, French historians, German scholars, and intellectual leaders everywhere unite today in venerating Lincoln as one of the finest characters and one of the ablest men who ever trod the face of this earth.

Several thousand books have been written devoted to his career, and yet within the past two years two new, great, Lincoln biographies have appeared and met with generous popular response. The American school-boy has Lincoln set before him as an example from the time when he first begins to read. The Chinese or Hindu scholar studies the emancipator's career and finds it a great source of inspiration.

How may we account for the vastness of this fame—the growth of this Lincoln legend, if one would so term it? His rise from a humble log cabin in the prairie to the whitehouse may account for it in part. But there have been many other similar careers in our own country and in other lands. His humanitarian and tolerant attitude toward the suffering and errors of common people accounts for it still more. But that is not the whole story either. The character of Lincoln is loved by ordinary folks everywhere, but the ability and power of this same man is respected by statesmen.

He put his bitter political opponents in his cabinet, because of his high regard for their ability. He heeded their advice in all matters and then decided everything for himself. He hated war, but he led his nation into war for the preservation of a principle for the sake of temporary advantage. He was always sympathetic toward the weak and afflicted, but powerful to the strong and arrogant. He was both a kindly man and a heroic figure—a rare combination in the entire history of the world.

The Lincoln legend may well be preserved, and even embellished for succeeding generations, for nowhere may there be found a better ideal of statesmanship.—Wilson Pointer.

WHO'S INSANE NOW?

"Hamlet lived too soon," says Milton MacKaye in an article on insanity as a legal fiction, writing in a recent issue of the Outlook and Independent. He means, of course, that Hamlet could have had a lawyer and an insane plea. Mr. MacKaye remarks:

For the defense council it would have been as simple an assignment as bribing a District of Columbia juror. Hamlet up for murder? Two pages of soliloquy would have provided a dozen alienists with enough material for a dozen diagnoses. They might not have agreed about anything else but you may be sure they would have agreed that this fellow Hamlet was suffering from a mental aberration. The verdict is self-evident. Not guilty because of insanity. Headlines, handshakes and a vaudeville contract.

Mr. MacKaye proceeds in similar vein, contrasting American farce trials with British procedure. In the last twenty years about one murder defendant in three has been found to be insane, but the difference is that the insane murderer is incarcerated for life. If he recovers from his insanity he is still in jail on the healthy theory that, having got out of head and out of hand at once on a former occasion, he might have a relapse.

What happens to insane murderers in England happens swiftly, surely and without much argument. The result is that sane men pretty generally refrain from homicide. And hocus-pocus insanity pleas are not popular. They do not fare well. "Something is wrong" is Mr. MacKaye's judgment of American jurisprudence in regard to this matter. He is right about it. The law is crazier than the defendant.—Dallas News.

The Needmore basketeers led their friendly rivals of Challis a close race last Friday afternoon. After playing an extra five minute period the boys nosed their way to the front with a two point lead. The Challis girls were not so fortunate as their speedy brothers, yet we must say that all in all theirs was an interesting contest. The Needmorites say that the spelling bee will give them more work but no more pleasure than the ball games.

IMPRESSIONS

A corporation may spread itself over the whole world, may employ one hundred thousand men,—yet the average person will form his judgment of the corporation through his contact with one individual. If this person is rude or inefficient, it will require a lot of courtesy and efficiency to overcome the bad impression. Every member of an organization, who, in any capacity, comes in contact with the public, is a salesman; the impression he makes is an advertisement, good or bad.—From the Metropolitan Press.

John Deere No. 668 Two-Row Lister

Here is the lister you will want this year. It will cut your labor costs almost in half and do your planting quicker and better than ever before. You'll be convinced if you come in and see its many features.

With the No. 668 one man and six horses can do as much work as two men do with two one-row listers and eight horses—saving the cost of one man and two horses every day.

The No. 668 is equipped with genuine John Deere bottoms—that means long life, good work, and clean scouring.

The famous John Deere "999" corn drop and the John Deere saw-tooth cotton picker wheel insure accuracy; no skips or misses to cause losses.

The rows you plant will be exactly parallel, making them easy to follow later with a two-row cultivator. You can quickly adjust row spacing to 36, 38, 40, or 42 inches.

We will be glad to show you this John Deere No. 668 any time.

Ohio Farmer Heard From Second Time

The following is another letter from F. F. Shriber of Akron, Ohio concerning his farming operations in old Mexico, but we are of the opinion that it would be no more possible to raise two crops of corn on some land in Terry county than in Ohio, for we are possibly 1,800 miles north of the portion of Mexico he farmed in. That is a semi-tropical country and this the north temperate. His letter follows: "In answer to my article in the Herald of January 18th, ult, I have been asked to give my plan of planting and the care of crops. First, I would advise early and deep plowing, mixing the top with the bottom soil in order to retain moisture for your growing crops. For corn I get the best seed possible, and I prefer the 90 day variety. When the corn is young I cultivate very deep as the roots soon begin to fill the furrow, and extend from one row to the other. As it advances I avoid deep cultivation, but plow shallow to retain a dust mulch to hold moisture after each rain. When the corn gets in roasting cars, I used a lister and listed as deep as possible between the rows of growing corn with one mule ahead of the other and followed up with a one horse drill planter, to plant second crop. The first crop is gathered on a wagon when the second is from one foot to 15 inches. Cut old corn stalks and place between rows of new crop. Follow with disc cultivator until ground is level. Sometimes the third crop could be made the same way. Don't know about Terry county. With cotton I prepared as corn with level cultivation. Pick cotton, take a nine inch plow and cut your ground away from your cotton rows as close as you can. Cut old stalks and place in furrow. I used a disc cultivator until the ground was level. I could grow as much cotton as the first crop as it would grow right off. I raised two crops of peanuts the same way, and two crops of sweet potatoes with only one planting. Rather have level cultivation on all crops. Must keep free from weeds and grass to handle one or more crops. Two men can cut five acres of fodder per day. I used it for mulch, depended on natural rainfall and used no fertilizer. I never made a failure while there, but you must study your ground and crops.

I cannot see why potatoes would not be a profitable crop in your sandy land. You must plow deep, but would not advise too much new soil at first plowing. By planting early could have early crop and also a fall crop. I have had good success with them in Ohio, Oklahoma and old Mexico. I sometimes used oats as a mulch for the late potatoes, planting from June 1st to 15th. Don't cover too deep, and work your ground to your plants as they grow, as the new potato forms about the seed you sow. There is a wrong and right way to cut seed potatoes. I always pick medium sized potatoes, and slice from root end to sprout end instead of cross-ways, as you will have better and more uniform potatoes in size.

If there is anything you do not understand about this letter, I will try to explain it."

License for the marriage of Mr. Geo. Southerland and Miss Lois Cox, was also obtained Saturday afternoon.

Our drayman friend, A. R. Smith made us smile with a renewal recently.

Politeness is like an air cushion. There may be nothing to it, but it cases the jolts wonderfully.

SOME INTERESTING HAPPENINGS IN TOM ROSS' LIFE

SEAGRAVES, Feb. 6.—The news of the fate of Tom Ross, who took his own life after killing B. C. Howard, foreman on a cattle ranch near Harve, Montana, last Sunday night, brings back many memories among the old citizens of Seagraves and was the principal topic discussed on the streets today.

The stories told date back to when Ross was a boy and came from Mississippi to Wilbarger county, Texas, to go to work on the Waggoner cattle ranch.

Negro is Murdered

Some years later a negro was murdered and the blame seemed to be cast in Ross' direction. As a boy and easily influenced, he got into bad company and took up with Pie Beckman, who had been sheriff of Baylor county, and was charged with embezzlement of county funds. They went across the Oklahoma line from Vernon, where Frederick now stands, and where later the "dugout fight" took place one winter night in 1894. Beckman was shot and fell back in the snow lying in Ross' arms.

Ross came to Gaines county about 1900 and went to work on the J. Cross cattle ranch, 10 miles north of Seagraves, at which time Chas. Toms, sheriff from Stanton, and Texas Ranger Captan Tex Rogers attempted to arrest Ross for alleged robbery of a grocery store at Altus, Oklahoma, some time before.

Toms introduced Rogers to Ross, then Ross took Rogers by the hand, pulled him from his horse and rode away while Rogers and Tom fired at him. The story is also told that Ross shot the bridle reins from Roger's horse.

About this time Ross married Trixie Hardin, a young West Texas cowgirl. Ross then left for the Dakotas and made a trip to South America, returning in 1904.

He returned, went to work as a cowboy on the Triangle ranch, where Seagraves now stands. His case was thrown out and he settled down as a peaceable citizen, accumulating nine sections of land and stocking it with cattle.

He built up a good reputation and credit and made many friends, was kind to his friends and helped the poor. A baby girl was born into the home.

While Ross was in a hospital at Lubbock in 1923 he was indicted for cattle theft. A few weeks later he and Milt Good shot to death, Cattle Association Inspectors, Allison and Robertson in a hotel at Seminole. They were tried and received long sentences. About a year later Ross and Good overpowered the prison guards and escaped. Good was soon afterwards recaptured, but Ross succeeded in evading the officers.

Today Mrs. Ross is a little, gray-headed, pleasant appearing woman, living with her father, Frank Hardin, at Knowles, N. M. The daughter is now Mrs. Herman Culp living at Monument, New Mexico. It is expected that Ross' remains will be shipped here to be buried at Lovington, New Mexico.

MARRIED

Mr. Lonnie Rutherford and Miss Cleo Edwards obtained license last Saturday afternoon and applied at the Methodist parsonage where Rev. B. W. Dodson said the words that united them for life.

The Herald added a reader in Florida and another in South Dakota, this week. Some contrast.

We note that Rev. W. F. Markham, former missionary of the Brownfield Baptist Association, is now pastor of the Baptist church at Seminole.

Chas. Hubby, who is manager of the Brownfield ranch in southwest Terry and over in Yoakum, renewed for his Herald this week.

WOOLWORTH TO SPEND $3,000,000 IN ADVERTISING

The Woolworth chain of stores announce plans for the year including a $3,000,000 advertising campaign for the first year. Woolworth has abandoned the theory that selecting the right location makes advertising unnecessary, and it proves the wisdom of the president, H. T. Parson, in going to newspaper advertising alone.

Competition who did use newspaper advertising forced Woolworth and the chain to this conclusion.

True, the best position in the trading center of a town is important. It pays to obtain the best location, but at the same time it is still more paying to get the best "position" and the best copy for your advertising in a newspaper.

Have in stock what the people want and then let the people know you have it is the secret of selling success. Big merchants, little merchants, big towns, little towns, with any class of trade, there is no better way to put a business before the thinking public than advertising in local papers.—Ward County News.

Leo Holmes, assistant cashier of the Brownfield State Bank, handed us a renewal check recently.

F. F. Bozeman of the Needmore section was in Saturday after supplies.

ROPEVILLE HAS AN ENTERPRISING NEWSPAPER

The Hockley County Herald is now no longer the only newspaper in Hockley County. "The Ropesville Hustler" is the name of a new paper which made its initial bow for public approval at Ropesville last week.

Niles Morris, formerly of Ralls, is the editor and publisher, and the first issue was liberally patronized and full of interesting local news.—Hockley County Herald.

Saint Valentine's Day

If everyone had a Sweetheart
As good and as dear as you,
What a wonderful place this world would be,
With happiness ringing true.
Not a reason for disappointment
Nor doubt would there ever be,
If everyone had a sweetheart
As good as you are to me."

TOKIO NEWS

This beautiful sunshiny weather is making all of us feel very much like spring is near at hand.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Proctor are the happy parents of a new baby boy. The new comer was named Jackie. We are expecting something unusual from such an unusual little fellow.

Mrs. A. A. Comstock is very ill at this time. The girls are having to miss school this week on the account of the illness of their mother.

Viola Sappenfield is also ill. The doctor told her Sunday that her heart was out of order and that she must remain in bed for some time.

Anyone wanting lessons on "How to skate on thin ice," see Mr. Sam Day. Mr. Day is learned and experienced on this subject.

Also anyone desiring information on how to start a Whippet in cold weather, ask Miss Ida Mae Pippin.

We hear that Mr. H. Snodgrass and family are planning to make an extended visit in Arizona soon. We hope they have an enjoyable trip and return to tell us all about their good times.

The Tokio High School will go to Ropes Saturday to play in the County Tournament. Their first games will be with Forrester. This game will determine whether or not they will play another.

DUKE SURRENDERS FOLLOWING DEATH KLONDYKE MAN

Between 9 and 10 o'clock last night (Wednesday night) Mr. Cox, at Klondyke, was shot and killed. A double-barrel shot gun loaded with buck shot was used. The load lodged in his head. The remains are at the Higginbotham Parlors.

Rev. W. E. Duke, also of Klondyke surrendered to the officers but has made no statement.

Since the details are lacking, the above is all the information we can give our readers.—Lamesa Reporter.

Says 4-H Cub Work to Be Resumed Soon

Mr. Davis, County Agent, advises that he will begin devoting part of his time to club work. Last year was a great year in club work for Terry County, in fact it is doubtful if another county in Texas had as live clubs as were to be found in this county. This year the work should be much better. Every boy and girl between the ages of ten and twenty can well afford to carry on some definite piece of work. The things that were done last year was just a beginning to what can be accomplished this year. Let's set our marks high in Club Work for this year and start shooting at them.

Mr. Davis will visit the schools, distribute the membership cards and set a date for organizing the clubs. Instructions in judging dairy cattle may be had by calling at the County Agent's office. The first practice judging will be held in Brownfield, Saturday afternoon, February 23rd. A team will be chosen to represent Terry County at the Dairy Show at Plainview on April 2nd. All club members will be eligible, except the three who were on the team last year.

Get 1/3 More Value from All Your Feed!

THE W-W Feed Grinder turns your alfalfa, oats, snapped or ear corn, maize heads, barley, and all other grain and roughage into nutritious, mixed, balanced feed that has a third more feeding value.

By grinding and mixing all your feed crops, from the ground up, you utilize that 35 per cent of the feed usually wasted in stalls and stems which the stock will not eat unless ground.

In fourteen years of actual service on thousands of farms the W-W has proved to be the world's outstanding feed grinder. Built for a lifetime of service. Powerful steel hammers do the work with lightning speed. No burrs, gears or knives to work loose or give trouble.

There is a W-W Grinder that will just fit your feeding needs and your pocketbook. Six sizes—blower, elevator, or new self-feeder for any grain or roughage. Every W-W has Timken Tapered Bearings—Alemite-Zerk lubrication—Rockwood pulleys.

Come in and examine this profitable grinder. We will gladly give you a demonstration on your farm with your own feed and power.
