CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Terry County Fair, will be held on Friday and Saturday, September 27-28. The premium list and catalog is being prepared and will be ready for distribution within the next few weeks. A carnival has been secured and other attractions are being arranged for. Fire works both nights and the display will exceed the exhibition of last year. Indications point to a larger agricultural exhibit as many communities not present last year are arranging to show their products at the coming exhibition. The livestock exhibit in all divisions will be much greater and arrangements are being made to care for them in an adequate manner.

July 28th is the date set for the Annual Farm Short Course at College Station and it is hoped that many farmers will take advantage of the low rates that are offered and attend it. A special train will be operated over the Santa Fe out of this territory and the total cost of the trip, which includes meals, room and railroad fare, will not exceed $25.00, and will be worth many dollars over this, to any person, no matter what his avocation.

Signs are being placed over the Carlisbad Cavern Highway from Oklahoma City to Carlisbad. News articles concerning the route are appearing in papers of other states and this is resulting in increased travel thru this section. Brownfield, as usual, is in the ring and paying her portion of the expense.

Another highway that is being promoted is routed from Texarkana to Roswell and is almost air line east and west. Two thirds of it has Federal designation and is hardsurfaced. Efforts of the promoters are being directed to securing Federal designation for the entire distance. It is easily accessible to both Fort Worth and Dallas and the distance between either point and Southern California is shorter than it is over the Bankhead highway.

Crops Looking Fine Over the Territory

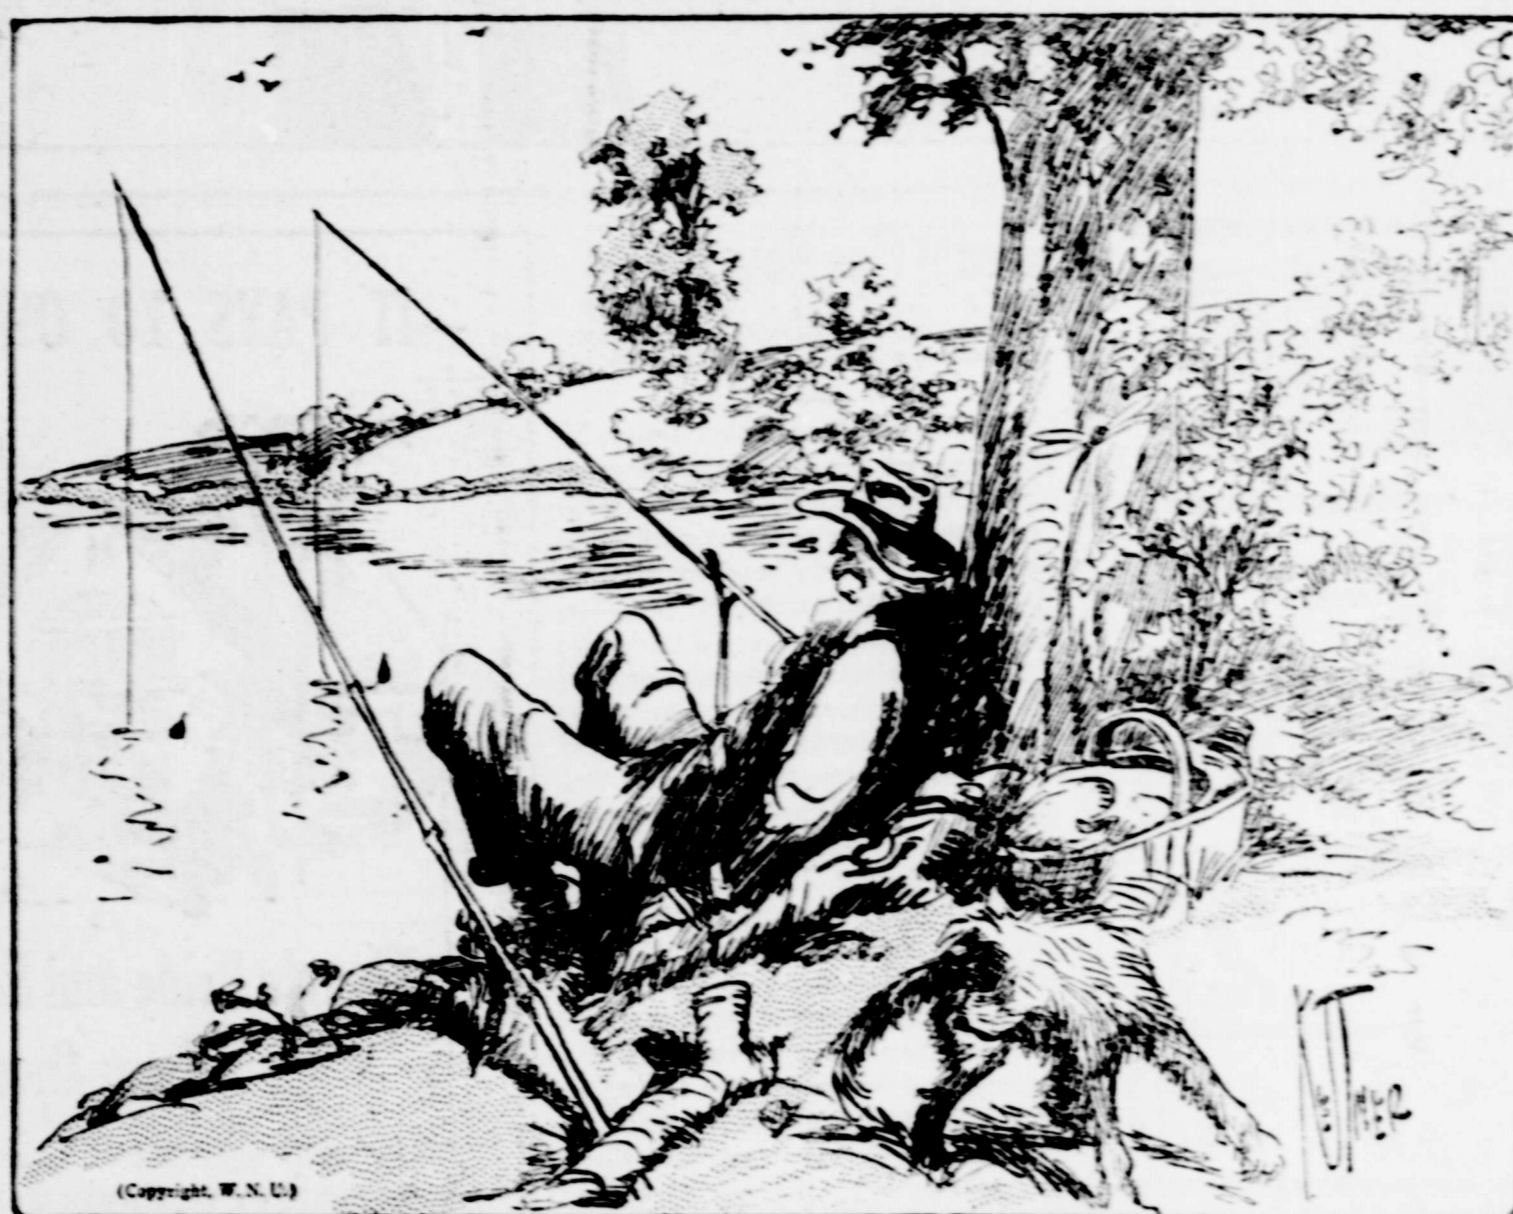

Those who have driven out into the country in the past few days are made to feel good over the prospects for crops here. While most of them are young, there is an almost perfect stand in most of them, and if they are not hit with hail or some other calamity, and with the warm summer weather of the past two weeks, they are growing as if out of a hot bed, for abundant moisture is under ground to hurry them along.

Most of the fields are in good state of cultivation, though some are weedy. But with some fair weather, and a crew of "knifers" on the job from sun up to sun down, these will be taken care of with dispatch. Farmers of this section have learned that it will not do to leave weeds in their crops any longer than can be helped, for we do not as a general thing have an over abundance of moisture, and what we do have must be conserved as long as possible. It seems that one weed will sap up as much moisture as two or three cotton stalks. This may not be true, but seems so at least. However, this year we have had sufficient moisture for all needs, but there is no telling when a drouth will make its appearance, and then it is very essential that the crops be clean. A weed will lap up enough of the moisture while it is in the ground to seemingly stand an indefinite drouth.

We had sand storms last year until August, which is very unusual, and we hope they will not continue their very long and unwelcome visit here this year. We heard a farmer say recently that he had stuff blown out last year as late as August, and we remember distinctly that one raged all day last Fourth of July. While the wind has been rather high a few times recently, it has not reached the stage of injuring crops.

Mrs. W. E. Thompson and daughter, Miss Amelia, were in Monday from the Union community shopping.

West Texas Gas Co. Putting In Stock Here

The West Texas Gas Company have leased the Hankins building just east of the Rialto Theatre, in which they have on display a full line of gas heaters for all purposes from the bath room to the largest rooms. The display also includes a full line of cooking ranges to fit the pocket book of all from the small family to the largest; also water heaters for the bath rooms and the kitchen. Representatives of the company here informed us that they would stand behind all the goods they sold, that they were the best line they could find after years of trials wherever natural gas is used for heating or cooking.

The company is unloading two car loads of piping here this week which we understand will be used on the line from here to Tahoka and also for laying their main in the city. We understand that all surveying is now completed, right of ways obtained, etc., and that the company will rush construction on the main line from Tahoka over here with all speed, as they intend to comply with their franchise this time, and have put up a $25,000 bond with the city council to do so. Then, too, they are aiming to rush the laying of mains in the streets here in order to have them all down before paving starts.

So, it won't be long now until Brownfield will be enjoying another utility which many eastern cities with millions of people would give untold wealth to exchange their coal burning apparatus for.

A citizen who visited one of these cities not long ago informed us that he could not see a hundred yards early any morning, for coal smoke, and all their nice buildings had to be washed down frequently in order to rid them of ugly coal smears. Dallas and Fort Worth use gas, and are the envy of visitors from the east who are forced to use coal.

We might say also that a number of our local dealers are stocking gas heaters and cooking ranges, and will be glad to supply your needs in them.

MARRIED

Mr. Martin Line, employee of the Cicero Smith Lumber Co., went to Tahoka Monday night, where he met a young lady whose name we failed to get, but whose home is in O'Donnell, and they proceeded to get themselves hooked up for life's journey in double harness. After a short vacation, they will return to Brownfield to make their home.

Grandma Bragg returned Sunday afternoon to her home in Levelland, after a ten day visit here to take in the meeting at the church of Christ.

Small Fire Here Monday Night at 11:30

A fire alarm was turned in here Monday night close to midnight and just after a shower and severe electrical storm, which caused a number of people to think it was set by lightning, but it was set from burning trash, according to the firemen. It was a chicken house belonging to Erik Greenfield, just off Main Street and highway 84. It was totally destroyed.

It seems they had been burning some trash just before night and thought it was all extinguished, but the breeze that blew up with the shower started the fire up again, and after the shower gained enough headway that it was impossible to save the building. The chickens were all saved.

Great delay was experienced in getting started to the fire on account of the name of the party being given instead of the plug number. Now the fellow that drives the wagon probably does not know where you live, but he is thoroughly familiar with where every fire plug in the city is located, and it is much easier to give a number than the name of some person which may not be understood. Besides people move some times, but the plug numbers are never changed. In this instance, the truck driver had to ring back and get the location of the building afire, and then passed up the plug he should have tied too as he was not right certain of the location.

If you do not have a plug number on or about your telephone, apply for one from the fire department, as they have them for you. The small space of five minutes sometimes means the saving of the loss of your property, and perhaps the loss of some of your loved ones or one of our voluntary fire boys who risk their lives for us every time an alarm is turned in, and they charge not one red penny for their services. In view of this fact, let's be considerate enough of them to turn in fire alarms by NUMBER.

INJURED BOY RETURNS FROM SANITARIUM

Weldon, S. son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Banks, returned to his home Monday, in the Gomez community. He has been in the Lubbock Sanitarium for several days, caused from an auto wreck in Brownfield, May 25, as it necessary that part of his hand had to be amputated. He seems to be getting along as well as could be expected.

The Herald takes this means of thanking Mrs. W. W. Ditto for a nice supply of blackberries from her garden, which we appreciated very highly.

Marshall and Firemen Off to Galveston Con.

Three of the local firemen, chief Eunice Jones, Loyd McClish and Henry Chisholm, and City Marshal, Geo. E. Tiernan, left Sunday morning for Galveston to attend the State Firemen's Convention, which went in session there Monday morning to last three days. The Santa Fe railroad graciously furnished transportation to these four men free of charge. This shows what a great railroad system thinks of firemen and what they do and mean to municipalities, and it should be an incentive to we local people and make us think more seriously about what these fire boys mean to us.

In going to these conventions, the boys hear good talks by men who have been in the service for years, and have had experience with every angle of fires, and know how to get on the job and get water and chemical playing on the fires in the shortest possible time. Besides this, the boys are permitted to see fire apparatus and firemen, both voluntary and paid crews in action in contests, many of which are staged every day during the convention. Further, they are brought into contact with the old veteran firemen who are so endowed with enthusiasm that a large amount of it will naturally slosh over and is picked up by the other fellow. They also see the latest apparatus in use, and learn how to use it.

So one can easily figure that upon their return, these boys will be more efficient; will know more, and they will in their monthly sessions tell the other boys what they saw and heard. Speaking further on the Santa Fe's reason for furnishing free transportation to them, this railroad has thousands of dollars worth of property here that these boys stand ready to protect any minute, night or day, just the same as they will your property or my property.

Saturday Last Day For Pig Club Registration

Saturday, June 15th is the last day that pig club members may register for the market class of fat pigs. If you have not signed up do so at once. Rule 3 should read: Pigs must have been farrowed on or after March 1st, 1929. This includes all pigs in the junior classes.

R. B. Davis, County Agent.

A large balcony has just been completed at the Bell-Endersen store for display of furniture. This is one of the most complete and best arranged stores in this section now, and the managers should be commended for their faith in the future of this city.

Terry—Safe and Delightful Place to Live

At this writing there has never been a time when crop conditions were more favorable. It is true that a small portion of the county has suffered from hail and the rains have caused quite a bit of replanting, but these damages have not been county wide and no irreparable loss has occurred.

With the excellent weather at present, cotton and other row crops are coming up fast and growing off in fine shape. Weeds likewise are showing fast growth, but as a whole the fields are fairly clean and can be kept clean.

The frequent showers have left the ground in ideal condition and a sand-storm or high wind could cause great damage to young cotton and grain sorghums. If there is no high wind Terry county has an excellent chance for a fair crop and one that is reasonable early.

While we are prone to judge the condition of the county by its crops or field crop conditions, yet, possibly the county's greatest assets are not in the cultivated fields, but in the hog pens, cow pastures, and around the place in the form of chickens, gardens and orchards. These latter declines are of more value than any crop that will be gathered.

Ranges are good, never saw them better, and the calves have been sold or can be sold at a price that makes beef cattle raising a paying business. Probably no greater improvement has been made in any line than has been made in the quality of range cattle. Despite the fact that any white or mottled faced calf would sell at a good price yet we find that such ranchers as Ray Brownfield and Bill Poole have gathered together a nice bunch of Registered Hereford heifers and are mating them with bulls that are as good as can be bought. Not only are they building up Registered herds of Hereford cattle but they are have been using nothing but good registered sires with their grade herds.

You can not drive over the county now without noticing more and better Jersey cows in every pasture. There was a time in Terry county when most every milch cow was either brindie or showed a beef cow and Jersey cross, but now you see Jerseys that are just about as good as the pictures in the paper, and when you go around the cow pen at night you will not find the housewife and maybe the girls milking with one or two of the boys holding the calves off. Instead you find the cows in a stanchion or stall eating ground corn or heads mixed with cotton seed meal and the farmer and all the boys are milking or helping the women folks milk and the calves are in a side pen and will get their meal when the milk has gone through the separator and has been divided with the pigs and the chickens. There was a time when cows were just milked so the coffee could be weakened and bread could be made, but now they are milked so as to feed the chickens, pigs, family, and buy gas for the car.

Hog raising too is changing. Used to you would find one or two pigs in a very small pen that was filthy like a pig pen was supposed to be. The new way now is to have one or two purebred sows in a small pasture with pigs about weaning age, ready for market. With the higher standard of pig living it does not take twelve months and all the profit to make a market hog.

When you are driving over the county take notice of the small brooder houses scattered around the place and try to count the growing chickens around them. Some of us used to think that a chicken would not be brought up right if there was not a hen for each half dozen baby chicks, but now they receive better care and form the egg-laying habit much sooner by being brought up in large numbers as orphans. There will be a great many laying flocks in Terry County next year that will number from two hundred and fifty to one thousand hens and these hens will be the off spring of high egg production birds.

Another thing that the county has this year is a good fruit crop. We have waited these many years for another such and now there are plenty. It is to be hoped that there will be enough saved to supply the

Pierce-Fordyce to Build Wholesale Station

E. C. Roberts, of Seagraves, manager of the Pierce-Fordyce wholesale station at Seagraves, was up last week and closed a deal with A. M. McBurnett for a 50X140 lot on the corner of Hill and Seventh, where he will erect a wholesale station for his firm in the immediate future, or as soon as material can be put on the ground. The station will consist of a warehouse where all kinds of greases, oil and other products of this company will be kept in wholesale lots. Two large storage tanks will be erected in the rear of the warehouse, one for gasoline and the other for kerosene.

Mr. Roberts informed us that it was his intention to also obtain property for the erection of a real up-to-date filling station as soon as a suitable location can be found. So you see this company is going to help greatly in boosting building permits here during the good year 1929.

This will make the sixth wholesale oil station for this city, the others being Magnolia, Texas, Gulf Refining, Continental and Phillips.

Local Ball Fans Enjoy Double Header Sunday

Two very interesting ball games were witnessed here Sunday, both of which were won by the Brownfield team at the ball grounds out on the Lamesa road. A big crowd attended the games and seemed to enjoy them very much. The batteries for Brownfield were Anthony, Graham, Townsend and Hilyard in the first game; in the second game, Anthony, Graham, Townsend, Hilyard and Gandy.

The first game was with Lubbock and resulted in their defeat by a score of 8 to 4. The second game was with Seagraves, resulting in their defeat by a score of 7 to 6.

While the home team practiced very little, they have been whipped into a good teaming to the fans here, and it is hoped to match a number of games in the next few weeks.

Born to Dr. and Mrs. Lester Treadaway, a fine boy last Sunday.

It will be a pity for a single gallon of fruit to be wasted for there is nothing more healthful or appetizing than a dish of fruit. We are inclined to forget the fruitless years we have had and to think that there will be an abundance next year or we just simply want look ahead.

Fruits of any kind are easily canned and preserved and while the season is short we should lay up that supply that will be needed in the months and possibly years to come. You know the gardens are mighty good this year. Irish potatoes are just simply as good as can be bought and with the other vegetables coming on shortly why it is not going to take much money to have a mighty good dinner. Too bad that we can not have such eats in the garden and orchard everyday in the year but we can not. But we can have it just about as good by the way of the canner. The person who lets this season pass by without having filled their cellar with jars and cans of fruits and vegetables will have used poor judgment and no efforts.

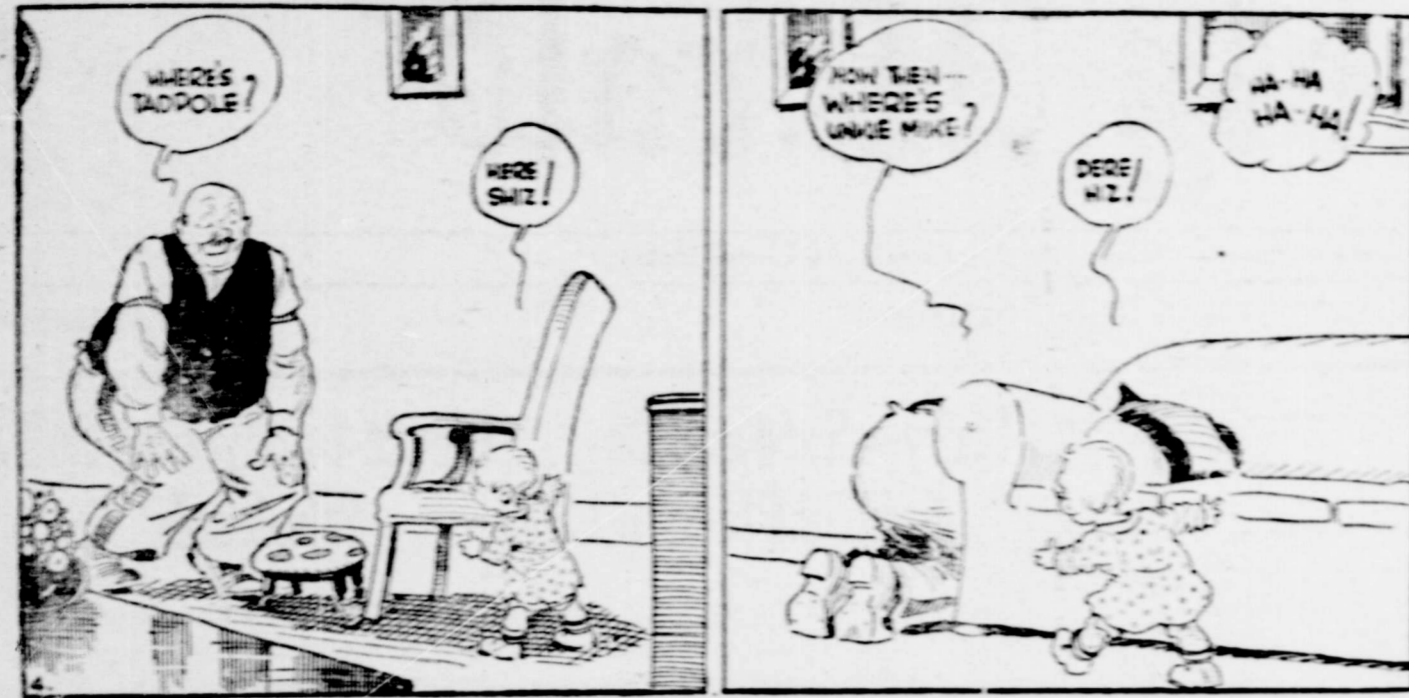

As is shown in this article, times have changed for the farmer. No he is not making a million dollars, and he never will. However, the farmer owes less for a living than he ever did, and with a normal crop and fair price most of the houses can be paid out.

Another thing that Terry county has this year, and that it cannot sell—thank goodness, is flowers. You can not keep from appreciating the beauty of the multi-variety of flowers that cover the pastures, and some of the fields. The roses and other yard flowers are as pretty as can be found in the world. Dr. Moorhead at Meadow has a collection of flowers in his front yard that would rank along with a flower garden of any one's country.

All these things make Terry county a safe and a delightful place to live. —Contributed.

Herald Has Few Pump-kin Seed For Farmers

Along last fall or early winter, N. W. Jones, of the Harmony community presented the Herald with a pumpkin of the winter squash variety that had the best flavor, and more meat to the square inch than any pumpkin, squash, kershaw or other allied pumpkin families that we ever saw or tasted, and we want to see as many farmers as possible get a start of them. They make the best pies that we have ever popped our lips over, too, especially of the pumpkin kind. We have planted a few of them ourselves, and sent some out on the route last week to J. S. Siddons, who had requested some of the seed.

He was in Saturday and informed us that they were already in the ground, and we guess they are up by now. We had a few left, which we will give any farmer requesting them, as we believe that there is plenty of time yet for them to mature. We fully intended to distribute them out before this, but never could think to bring them down to the office. If you want them, call at the office. We only have about 50 or 75, which will make lots of good food if planted right away.

Miss Lou Ellen Brown returned home last week after a two months visit, the guest of Mrs. Joel C. English, Bryan, Texas, and Mrs. J. R. Simmons, Houston, also spending one week end in Galveston.

Miss Bessie Thompson has returned from the East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce, where she has been attending school the past term. She informed us that she now has a permanent certificate, and is expecting to teach the coming year if she finds an opening.

A very heavy hail storm visited the western and northern part of Lynn county last week destroying thousands of acres of growing crops in some of the best agricultural sections of that county. In some instances live stock were killed, some people injured and lots of chickens, rabbits, etc., killed.

Rev. R. A. Hoover filled the pulpit at the Baptist church Sunday night. He is at present manager of the Jones Dry Goods store here, but announced that he would resign in the near future to take up ministerial duties. A good crowd was on hand to hear him.

Arnet Bynum has been helping the Herald with press day of late as we have been short handed. Arnet formerly worked with the Herald before entering the picture show business here, and his good help is greatly appreciated.

Rev. D. D. Johnson and wife have just returned from east Texas, where he spent his vacation of two weeks visiting her relatives. Rev. Johnson is missionary of the Brownfield Baptist Association. He reports that country considerably washed and late, grassy crops, but fine gardens. It rained eight of the ten days he was there, he reports, but said they sure enjoyed the vacation and visit.

Mrs. Herald has been on the sick list this week, and as she is advertising solicitor, we beg our advertisers to bear with us if we have not given them the usual attention.

A Great Throng of Buyers Here Saturday

One of the largest crowds in many weeks was here Saturday, and they were evidently busy buying their needs for the coming week in the way of dry goods, groceries, hardware, drugs, etc., for despite the fact that the sun came down and little air was stirring, the stores were crowded throughout the afternoon, and the merchants and their help was kept on the jump until almost sundown, when there was a lull as the people left for home. It seemed that the merchants and clerks were glad of the opportunity to come up for air, for they had certainly been on the trail during the entire afternoon.

People were here from the four adjoining counties, as well as New Mexico to share in the feast of bargains being offered by our merchants, and all seemed to be well pleased with their buys. Thousands of dollars worth of merchandise went out on the farms and ranches of this section in boxes and bags when the rush was over and some of the popular trading places looked as if a cyclone had struck the interior of the store when the rush finally ended, and the help worked late to make the store have presentable appearance on Monday. The crowds come here each Saturday primarily to obtain their supplies for the following week, but secondarily, they are permitted to meet with friends from all over the county, and it becomes almost a farmers forum. They find out what their neighbor or friend is doing, how he is getting along with his work, etc., and the exchange of ideas is valuable to all concerned.

SUMMER BOY SCOUT CAMP

The fourth annual Boy Scout summer camp will be held at Camp Post, Post, Texas, in two periods, July 1st to 10th and July 10th to 19th. From all prospects this will be the biggest and best Scout camp ever held on the South Plains and an attendance of 200 Scouts is anticipated.

This camp will hold to the strict requirements laid down by the National Camping Department, Boy Scouts of America, as to health and safety of the Scouts and every known precaution will be taken to safeguard the boys.

Every boy will be taught to swim and given every opportunity to pass Scout tests and the Red Cross Life Saving test. Boys will also be given the opportunity to make their own bows and arrows, firebuilding sets, bead work and leather work trinkets. A regular camp program will be followed every day including drill, scout work, swimming, life saving, hikes, games, camp fire programs, and three big meals.

The camp will be ably supervised with one adult leader for every ten Scouts. H. B. Yates, who had charge of the 1927 camp will be the camp director. L. C. H. Williams, Council President, and K. N. Clapp, Scout Commissioner, and many of the Scoutmasters will be on the camp all of the time. The camp has telephone connections with Post, Texas.

The camp fee will be $10.00 for the ten day period. Scouts are urged to make application through their Scoutmasters or direct to Scout Headquarters, Lubbock, Texas.

A BIG SPRING building is nearing completion. It is the $55,000 Read building which contains seven stores on the ground floor, and a 25 room hotel on the second floor. It extends the business district one block on East Seventh. Other buildings nearing completion are the Alta Vista Apartment house, Studebaker plant and six-story Petroleum building.

NEW MEXICO NEXT LOGICAL "MOVIE" CENTER

Reswell, May 23, 1929.—"New Mexico is the next logical location for a moving picture center," stated Jack Irwin, director of the moving picture company now working on a story featuring Carlsbad Cavern. The company was at work at Dexter where the entire town has been changed to a frontier town for the picture.

"I have been asked by local people whether or not there is anything behind the rumors going around of major producing companies coming from Hollywood to make their headquarters in New Mexico," he went on. "My answer is 'decidedly yes'."

"California locations are worn out. The trade papers are criticizing the producers for using the same old scenes. After nearly a score of years of making pictures in California it is only natural that all locations are growing old and burned out. New Mexico on the other hand is virgin territory. Moreover, it has scenic views that cannot be duplicated or even approached in the nation.

"Location scouts have been touting New Mexico to the producers for years but the general inaccessibility of the best locations because of lack of transportation facilities has made it impossible for us to come to this state to work. Now, with the fine system of highways which has been built here in recent years and the plans for an even greater system which I hear your governor has promised, New Mexico becomes the ideal locale for the future center of the motion picture industry.

"New Mexico has all the sunlight Hollywood has," he went on to explain, "and with another great advantage—that of the lack of high fog which frequently spoil California days for working. Besides this the almost unlimited number of new and smashing settings in this state fairly astound the location men."

Average rainfall over Texas as a whole is 31.98 inches. There is a difference of 35 inches between the annual rainfall in extreme East Texas and extreme West Texas—the Beaumont area showing 45 inches and El Paso 10 inches.

LAWYER GOVERNMENT CONDEMNED

It seems that Texas is not the only State in which the Legislature and State Government is in control of the lawyers. Nor is it the only State where the people are growing tired of lawyer control. Up in Missouri they are having the same difficulty in securing a simplification of court procedure as we are meeting in Texas. In fact, the cases are almost parallel. In Texas the Bar Association, after careful consideration and much discussion, presented a program of court procedure reform to the Legislature. It was promptly killed. In Missouri a committee of eminent lawyers also presented some court reform measures only to have them ignored by the lawyers in the Legislature. In Texas every constructive court procedure reform measure was killed in the committee room. They did not dare to permit them to go before the body of either the House or Senate because open discussion of prevailing abuses is the last thing trick practicing lawyers want. The same thing happened in Missouri, and now the Missouri Ruralist suggests that they either keep lawyers out of the Legislature or off the committee on judiciary matters.

It would take a lot of glamour out of the practice of law and a lot of taxes off the shoulders of the people if common-sense rules were in vogue in our courts. But until we displace about 80 per cent of the lawyers in the Legislature by men who appreciate the value of giving "Justice" an even break in our courts, we will fail in our efforts to bring about reform. The leading lawyers of the State may continue to recommend constructive legislative programs on the subject of court procedure reform and reform in the practice of law, but while the pettifogger and trick practicing lawyers are in the majority, their efforts will be wasted.

HAD A REAL RADIO
A group of traveling men were swapping tales about their radios in a Smith Center drug store, as Tom Kiene tells it. An old man had been listening silently.
"Get a radio, old man?" asked one of the drummers.
"Yeah," replied the old fellow, "I got a little tube affair. It's a pretty good one though."
"Can you tune out these little stations with it?"
"Well, I was listening to a quartet the other night, and I didn't like the tenor, so I just tuned 'em out and listened to the three of 'em."
PERRYTON will soon have a modern three story hotel. It will contain 41 rooms and will supplement another good hotel under construction containing 26 rooms. Paving of 14 1/2 blocks in the business district is under way and a $50,000 theatre, equipped with vitaphone is nearing completion.

THE MAYOS COMING TO TEXAS
News comes from Mineral Wells that one of the Drs. Mayo was there a few weeks ago, and made arrangements to add four stories to the new hotel in course of construction.
The Mayos say that most of their patients now are coming from the Southwest, and that to show their appreciation to Texas they are going to open a big sanitarium in Mineral Wells, and will give the same care and service to their patients as they do in Rochester, Minn.
The WICHITA FALLS cheese plant is buying 27,000 pounds of milk a day from farmers and dairymen in the area, which means an income of $600 daily and $20,000 monthly from a source that was non-existent only a few months ago. Other creameries and purchases of milk in that city still the total considerably.

WATER NOT ONLY LIQUID FOUND IN HOUSTON FLOOD
HOUSTON, June 1.—Water was not the only liquid which swept down the swollen Buffalo bayou here during the present flood. One of the rescues reported was that of two cases of supposedly Sunnybrook whiskey.
The liquor was washed out of some store basement.
Several business men, wading in the water in an attempt to salvage their goods, saw the cases simultaneously.
A mad scramble resulted, two of the business men falling down in the rush. Three reached the prize at the same time and decided to split it.

Testing Jersey Cows For Terry Farmers

The farmers of Terry County are satisfied with having just Registered Jerseys but are placing the one official register of merit test. Mr. D. H. Timmons' cow, 'Ceilia Bonnie' made a high test of six and nine-tenths per cent for May. Another cow, Masterman's Consistent Pearl, owned by T. L. Causeaux has milked close to forty pounds for almost sixty days. These cows are under four years old and will qualify for the Texas honor roll for the month of May.

Two cows owned by S. W. White are on test and promise to qualify for register of merit certificates.

In addition to official testing, cow testing by mail has begun in Terry

County. A. Parks, R. H. Timmons, T. L. Causeaux, and C. L. E. Meils have placed their herds on test and have mailed their first sample cases to the testing laboratory of the Tech College where the milk samples will be tested and results sent back to these men.

Terry County will come to the front rapidly in Jerseys for already there are a number of Registered bulls out of high producing cows in the county and a number of purebred heifers that were brought in from the Taft Ranch this spring. With good breeding and with testing as a means of weeding out the poorer cows and proving the high producers a class of known good cattle will come within a few years.

Little Miss Queenelle Sawyer is spending a week or so visiting her aunt, Mrs. Ransom King, at Big Spring.

Some 85,000 Baby Chicks Hatched Here

Now that the hatching season is practically at an end for the year, we are able to give some figures on the number of baby chicks that have been hatched here this year in the two large hatcheries to go out in the farm zones of Terry county and the Brownfield trade territory to grow up into full fledged broiler, fryer and oast chickenhood to whet the appetites of the people who live in the big centers of population, far from the open spaces where they were raised.

Therefore we called up the proprietors of the two hatcheries this week and found that their totals will run in the neighborhood of between 80,000 and 90,000. This is not taking into consideration the thousands that have been hatched on the farms in the old style way of putting old Biddy on them for some 21 days, or the numerous chickens produced from small family size incubators which are scattered over the entire country side. Most all these birds are from the best stock obtainable, and some of them came from the best breeders in the state. Thousands of the pullets from these baby chicks will be kept on the farms of Terry county to keep the country supplied with good fresh eggs through the long winter and early spring months.

We also found that the incubator men here have had a world of experience in the business in the few brief months they have been operating the machines here, and one of them frankly told us that the last few hatches were far above the average of the ones earlier in the spring when the machines were put under way. L. Chisholm informed us that his last hatches were better than 90 percent of the eggs, but the first few were far below that.

One can now begin to estimate what it will mean to the county and the city when these birds begin to come on the market. It does seem that there would be an over production of chickens one of these days, but it seems that the American people are especially fond of chicken meat, and it is rather hard to overdo the market. Chicken is mighty good eating and it is more easily digested than most meats, it is said, and can be given to sick people with less fear of suits than any other, although it is very nourishing.

VET WEATHER RETARDING CROPS OVER TEXAS

DALLAS, June 10.—Indications of another unusual year for Texas crops, especially cotton, appear in the May report of crop conditions compiled by the Department of Public Relations of the Southland Life Insurance Company.

Although certain Western and Panhandle counties report generally improved conditions, rains over North East, Central and South Central Texas have seriously retarded cotton and indeed an entirely different aspect in conditions as compared to last month. Extreme western and southern counties show best chances for cotton, owing to more favorable weather. Grain crops generally are reported as doing well.

In those sections where cotton has been worst retarded, chopping is badly needed because grass and weeds are spreading during wet weather. Many farmers facing replanting intend planting in some other crop.

Insects, reported in a number of counties in South and Southeast Texas, seem to have spread less than at this time last year, the reports say immediate fair and warm weather is needed to arrest further development.

Despite the rather doubtful outlook for seasonal cotton crops, there exists a general spirit of optimism over the final outcome of crops in general. Business conditions in over three fourths of the reports received are shown as being better than 80 percent normal, due probably to farmers having safeguarded themselves by diversification, particularly in dairy products. The opening of new creameries and milk plants over the state appears to have given great impetus to dairying.

In the forests of East Texas are standing 17,000,000,000 board feet of pine and 7,500,000,000 feet of hardwoods. Annual production of 1,500,000,000 board feet keeps Texas near the top in American lumber production.

The Texas syrup crop, from sugarcane and sorghum, is valued at $4,600,000 a year.

Texas produces more sheep and goats and more wool and mohair than any state in the union.

CHIEF ENGINEER DISCUSSES UNUSUAL POWER CHEVROLET

In response to an unexpected number of inquiries for an explanation of the unusual power found in the new Chevrolet six, James M. Crawford, recently appointed chief engineer of Chevrolet Motor Company, discussed this subject with technical editors last week.

"The abundance of power found in the new Chevrolet six is made possible by its short stroke engine design, which embodies an advanced method of cooling," he said. "This construction brings water around both inlet and exhaust valve seats. It differs radically from the Siamese system of valve ports, and makes for greater durability of the valve train. "In starting off any new engine design, one of the early considerations is how long shall the motor be in order to lay out the chassis into which it must fit. On account of the importance of wheel base, it is desirable to keep the motor length down to a minimum. This is one of the conditions which has brought the small bore, long stroke, high speed engine into the picture.

Durability being one of our first requirements, we did not feel that we could shorten the engine to meet a certain wheel base. We chose, rather, to design a motor of the short stroke and medium bore type. In order to insure round cylinders, we decided to circulate water completely round all the bores. Therefore, after the bore was determined the cylinder length was automatically governed by the bore size, and therefore the bore was determined after taking the lead that a short stroke, low speed engine was the only way we could insure durability.

"This is quite the contrary to the way most engines are laid down, where cost is an important consideration. Generally, the designer shorts the motor by increasing the stroke and reducing the bore. In his case the length of the cylinder block is they determined by the valve gear rather than the piston head area. In account of this limitation, in taking advantage of the small bore and keeping the cylinder block as short as possible, the water is invariably taken from between the valve ports, at least between the inlet and exhaust valves. Racing experience and dynamometer test work, where high engine output is maintained continuously, have definitely proved that a compromise in this direction is responsible for a falling off in horse power on account of valve warpage caused by uneven temperature at the valve seats.

"In the Chevrolet six design there has been plenty of room allowed for water completely around all the valves, both on account of the piston diameter and the fact that the valves are comparatively small. A large diameter is not necessary on account of the comparatively low maximum speed of the engine.

"In addition to the value of well cooled valve seats, it is important that the proper valve clearance be maintained at all times. In this respect the overhead design is at a considerable advantage compared to the L-Head construction in that the adjustment for the valve clearance is much more accessible. In the ordinary side valve design, it is necessary to remove several plates to get at the valve adjustment. Invariably the valves are located in an inaccessible place and special wrenches, together with a great deal of care, are necessary when making adjustments. In the overhead design, it is only necessary to remove a single cover and the valve adjustment is in plain sight. The proper clearance can be obtained quickly by means of an ordinary screw driver and a standard end wrench."

NORTH CAROLINA SOLVES HIGHWAY FINANCE PROBLEM

North Carolina has virtually solved its highway problem. This bit of information, the declaration of Frank Page, former chairman of the North Carolina State Highway Commission, should have a cheering effect on that part of states which seem to be making little headway in combatting mud, high-cost of car operation, excess road upkeep, and so on.

Since 1921 North Carolina has spent a considerable sum of money on highway improvement, but so have many other states which certainly have less to show for it. North Carolina's highway planners looked into the future, decided that the pay-as-you-go plan was usually slow, inefficient and unprogressive, and issued bonds. These bonds, $15,000,000 worth, have enabled that state to lay some 2,370 miles of concrete rural roads, in addition to other improvements. These roads, let it be remembered are in use; they are being paid for by the motorists of today and those of tomorrow as well.

In effect, North Carolina has purchased a highway plant on the installment plan. And now that plant is earning large dividends for its motoring stockholders.

Through the income from the five-cent gas tax and motor license fees, North Carolina has enough money to take care of the annual retirement and interest requirements, with a sum left over after maintenance that provides for considerable additional pavement construction.

North Carolina's achievement is being taken as a model by nearby states; South Carolina has just adopted a $65,000,000 issue and Georgia, with but few connected improved roads, is likely to issue seventy-five or a hundred million dollars worth of bonds.

A large part of the job in North Carolina is done. Trucks and busses, trolley and limousines in growing numbers now scurry from population center to population center without getting off the concrete. The saving in operating this vast herd of cars over these improved roads makes the gas tax look like an atom.

FROM RADIO SPEECH OF CONGRESSMAN JONES, JUNE 7

Mr. Jones spoke in part as follows: The purpose of the debenture plan is to make the tariff effective on products of the farm and ranch, just as it is now effective on manufactured articles. It would do this by taking a part of the money collected on foreign goods brought into this country and with that fund pay an export premium on surplus crops shipped out of this country.

Its immediate effect would be to increase the price of all wheat in America 20 cents per bushel, which would mean millions by way of increased prices to the wheat growers of the United States. It would mean millions in increased prices to the cotton growers of the South.

This has been the effect in every country that has tried it. The whole domestic price level of the commodity immediately rises the amount of the debenture.

As an independent proposition no one would advocate it. But as a part of a system no one can deny its logic and justice. It is merely restoring to the surplus farmer what is now taken away from him by force of law in the form of increased prices on tariff laden articles.

Let any farmer compare the price he now pays for his farm wagon, his tools, his clothing, his furniture and his supplies generally with the prices he paid for the same commodities in 1914. Much of this increase in the price of the supplies which he must use is due to the tariff system.

The railway rate on steel from Chicago to San Francisco when intended for export is 40 cents per hundred. When intended for domestic use the rate is $1.00 per hundred. This difference is a direct export bounty on steel for the purpose of stimulating world trade. Just why is an export premium on steel sound and an export premium on wheat and cotton unsound? Just why is one a subsidy and the other good business? What peculiar charm is there about steel? Is it somebody's pet? Understand, I do not say that an export premium on steel in the form of reduced rates as a stimulus to trade is unwise. The rate structure of this country is a tremendously intricate one. But, if it is justified on steel, why is it not justified on cotton or wheat?

The farm problem is the nation's problem. For years we have through chambers of commerce, through trade journals, through booster talks, encouraged the building of cities. But important as this is, we may become over-industrialized. We cannot crowd all our population into the smoke laden cities. Our great surplus crops constitute our raw material supply and margin of safety. Without them our smokestacks would rust in idleness. The one cannot permanently prosper without the other.

SINCLAIR VS. THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

American citizens will breathe more freely now that the barred doors of the District of Columbia jail have swung shut behind Harry F. Sinclair. Not that Sinclair is a dangerous man to have loose in our streets. He is cultured, affable, friendly. Crimes of violence are not in his category of sins. But it is good, none-the-less, that he has been locked up.

For Harry F. Sinclair belongs to that class of rich men who believe that their riches are more potent than righteousness; that money makes morality. He acted on the assumption that, with cash enough, he could get away with anything. But he found out that he couldn't. Money, we were told, would keep him out of jail. But money didn't. The law, mildly, has given him three months of restricted leisure in which to reflect on his faith in the purchasing power of the dollar. And others, who think with him, but have not (yet) gone with him to jail, may be led by his experience to similar salutary reflections.

We hope so. Money has a large place in American life—for good and ill. But that distinction—between money for good and money for ill—can be lost only at the peril of our civilization. In the case of Harry Sinclair the American people were on trial. They were on trial to prove that this sense of difference had not been blunted; that the law still operated without financial distinctions.

And the American people won. That's a fact to be broadcast. The world in general, America included, needs to note well what happened to Harry F. Sinclair. It needs to note that Americans have not yet enshrined Mammon; that in this case, at least, they jailed him.—Plains Progress.

Dr. Lester Treadaway Church of Christ Revival Closed Sunday To Go To Lamesa

Dr. Lester Treadaway of this city has purchased half interest in the Dunn Sanitarium, at Lamesa, which was formerly known as the Sandifer Sanitarium, and is to leave immediately for that city to take charge of his interest. He is reported to have paid in the neighborhood of $13,000 for half interest.

Dr. Treadaway graduated some two or three years ago from State University medical department at Galveston, with high honors, specializing in surgery, and this is the reason he is leaving Brownfield and connecting himself with a hospital, as he likes surgery. He spent one year in Sealy Hospital at Galveston, and one in the Greer Memorial Hospital at San Antonio. He has stood two examinations before the National Board, and in these ranked third highest of the entire number who took them.

He came home about a year ago and started practicing here with his father, Dr. T. L. Treadaway, and in that brief time has built up a fine practice. His many patients, patrons and friends will regret to see him leave here, as he was practically reared here. Indeed, we believe the first school he ever attended was the old two story frame that used to stand west of the railroad track, but before there was a railroad track.

Gaines Co. Agent Buys 4 Terry Club Sew Pigs

Mr. R. F. McFarridge, county agent of Gaines county, and Mr. O. L. Berry were looking for club pigs in Terry county last week. While here they purchased four Poland China sow pigs from J. O. Hobbs and Darrel Verner.

The good pigs of the Terry county pig club boys are in demand for they have the right kind of pigs, and of the best breeding. Boyd Hogue had some Poland China male pigs here Saturday, the best as can be found. Anyone wanting the best of pigs of either Polands, Durocs, Hampshire, or O. I. C. would do well to see some of these club boys for they have pigs that are cheaper and better than any that you would order.

The revival under the auspices of the local church of Christ that had been running for the past twelve days at the local church building, came to a close Sunday night with two large crowds Sunday and much interest manifested. The first part of the meeting was hindered considerably with bad weather conditions, but the last part saw open weather and good attendance despite the fact that farmers were very busy with their crops, and few of them could attend. Everyone seemed to be pleased with the sermons by Elder T. W. Phillips and the song services led by his son, Cecil. There were several additions to the church by baptism, and the church seemed to be greatly builded up and strengthened to go on with the work after the close of the meeting.

Among the places represented here Sunday, were Lovington, N. M., Wellman, Union, Meadow, Levelland, Lubbock, Tahoka and Idalou, Texas.

In turkey production Texas leads all the other states in the union, but in other kinds of poultry it is well down in the list.

Texas produces from 30 to 40 per cent of the cotton crop of the United States and from 20 to 30 per cent of the cotton crop of the world.

Proof That a Few Milk Cows Will Pay Amply

Proof that there is money in the milk cow is evident when seven grade Jerseys belonging to Mr. A. C. Beard, who lives three miles north of Brownfield, return him around a hundred dollars a month through cream checks. Four of these cows are heifers with their first calf, but with ground feed and the excellent pasture at present they are paying a nice profit. The time is fast passing when a farmer of Terry County puts a mortgage on his future cotton crop to buy groceries with. He, as Mr. Beard is doing, pays for his bought, living by the cream check method.

10 OF 14 "HONOR PRIZES" GC TC FORDS IN RACE

Under conditions more difficult than those which confronted Joffre's immortal "taxicab army" in its frantic dash to the Marne in 1914, Model A Fords swept to victory in a specially arranged contest based on war emergencies staged by the military first aid section of the General Finnish Automobile Association.

Competing against fourteen different makes of automobiles manufactured in the United States and one Italian-made car, the sturdy Fords captured 18 out of 29 prizes. Ten of the fourteen "honor prizes" went to the Fords. Every Ford which entered the contest finished the 400 kilometer route. One was driven by a woman.

The purpose of the Finnish Automobile Association is to promote all-around driving training of its members in order that they may be able to take an active part in war maneuvers in a sudden emergency. Drivers received instructions regarding the route, parking places, and average speed required two minutes before the start of the race. No restrictions were placed on the size of the car or cylinder volume, which brought the Fords into competition with the more expensive and larger cars.

The race started from Helsingfors, and the cars were started at intervals of a few minutes in different directions. "Control Stations" were located at various points along the course to check the speed and other requirements. Reports of the outcome of the competition have just been received in this country.

10 GET STRONG PIGS. BALANCE SOW'S RATION

College Station.—"The feed a sow gets during the gestation period has to do with the strength and size of pigs at birth," E. R. Eudaly, Swine specialist in the Extension Service, says. "This has been repeatedly shown experimentally, and it is also a fact often observed on farms. "Take Edwin Deaver, a club boy in Lamb county, for instance. He fed his gilt protein supplement and grain during her pregnancy. Another boy on the same club fed his gilt only slop and corn. Both gilts farrowed the same day this spring, but Edwin got nine strong, healthy pigs without using a one, while the other lad got eight weak, runty pigs from his gilt. Four died from lack of vitality the first day. The gilts were much alike and had the same attention except for feed.

"A pregnant sow should be given freedom to exercise and have a green pasture of Sudan or other good grass or legume crop to graze. There should be plenty of fresh water and shade provided in the summer, and her ration should be balanced. A good way is to feed her one pound of protein supplement a day together with a few ears of corn or heads of grain sorghum."

MILD LANGUAGE

A certain woman resident, shocked at the language heard between two men who were busily occupied in mending a telephone cable, wrote in to the company about the matter. The foreman was asked to make an official report on the incident. He did, and in the following way: "Me and Bill was on the job. I was up a pole and accidentally dropped some hot lead on Bill's neck. Then Bill said to me, 'You really must be more careful, Harry.'"—Hamilton Herald-Record.

BROWNFIELD BOY GIVES FALSE ALARM; PINCHED

A mischievous youth who resides in Brownfield was a Tahoka visitor Sunday night and as he was in the act of leaving the city some evil spirit prompted him to sound the siren attached to his automobile in imitation of a regular fire whistle. Some of the fire boys and other peaceful citizens, hearing the weird, shrill scream of the deceptive contrivance, leaped from their beds and hurried to town, only to find that there was no fire.

The car number of the offender was obtained and the next day he was located by the sheriff in Brownfield. A charge of disturbing the peace was filed against him in the county court here and he was invited to explain his behavior to the county judge. Not being able to do so satisfactorily to his Honor, and confessing to the error of his ways, he was required to "dig up" in the sum of approximately thirty-two bucks to satisfy outraged justice. Judge Grider made it light this time, but it is thought that the penalty was sufficiently severe to cause the thoughtless young man to think a long time before he pulls another similar stunt.—Tahoka News

Working Wives
By Geo. W. Neill

We have read and heard a great deal lately, about our unanimous prosperity, modern conveniences, labor saving devices, highly mechanized methods, and the up to dateness of things in general. Recently I made a little investigation in a moderately small town, on one phase of our social life, and am somewhat puzzled over the situation. I just wondered why it was, that with all the things above mentioned, why has it become necessary for such a large proportion and such a great number of married women to have to hire out and work for wages? In that small town I was informed, there were over 30 married women, with living husbands regularly employed in the various mercantile establishments, public offices and the school rooms. On Saturdays this was nearly doubled, only 7 or 8 of these were working in businesses owned or operated by their husband, the other 25 employed by different concerns, have husbands also employed in lucrative business, either of his own or for others, and some of them drawing rather fancy salaries. About 15 of these have no children, the other have but one or two. We were also shown there were only 18 single girls and widows thus employed, and some ten grown orphan girls, and grown girls of a large family with poor support, and some 8 widows with dependents, cut of work and needing help, as well as several unemployed men with families. Surely this situation isn't necessary, for in most cases the salary of one would support both. Then is it socially and economically right from a community stand point? Doesn't it hinder the diversification of employment, and the growth of the town? Here is suggested another question, that may apply as well to several other features of our social life.—Is patriotism limited to war time only? Does Christianity stop at "belief," or can it be carried into practice?

In pursuing this investigation, I interviewed Mrs. Newlywed, an agent of the Working Wives Union, which recently severed connection with the Widows and Maids Association and who had just drawn her first pay check, after having got married and accepted a position. She said:
"Working wives are not getting their just dues. Having underbid and taken over the positions heretofore held by the widows and spinsters, and got the public trained to it, we should now demand salaries equal to our matrimonial prestige. The Trusts and Monopolies used to do that in business and why not the W. W. U. To make this situation permanent, we will sponsor a bill before the coming Assembly to prohibit employing women until they can show a marriage certificate duly executed, that has not since been annulled." Of course this may cause more women to seek work, to get a husband, and vice versa, but if does, it will at least have a good moral effect, for it may stop these endurance flirtations, and companionate stuff, and make the girls get serious with the first beau she catches. It will tend to make marriage more permanent, for the law would also provide, when she lost her hubby, by death or divorce, it cancels her employment, and when she lost her job it would grounds for divorce, and these modern husbands might seize the chance, and further it would likely diminish this husband-killing fad (unless for good cause shown). "No," she further said, "I do not think it works the hardship on single girls and widows, as some think. They can get employment, taking care of the children (what few there are) and doing the housework of the married women who have positions, and with a few months of this experience, the single ones would be less anxious to marry, and the widows would re-learn to let well enough alone, and this would offset the other theory, and thus keep the supply of applications under control." When further questioned she exclaimed: "Oh, no, no, you misunderstand us, we don't mean to place a reward on childlessness, nor punish those with dependents, by depriving them of the opportunity to earn a living. While it is true this may seem to encourage birth control, which we do not favor, still you will have to admit, there has been an over production in population and if Congress can't stop it thru immigration, maybe we can—some way. Anyway we are working on a plan now, whereby this feature can be solved by production, like they did crude oil. "Yes, it is true our employment may keep many deserving boys and girls in the country from seeking better employment and opportunities in the town, or working their way through school, but there's where we do the country good. There has been a Back-To-The-Farm movement urged for some time, that doesn't seem to work, so we are just helping to keep 'em down on the farm." Back to the personal feature of it she smiled and said, "Yes we enjoy it, you see we can do so much more visiting this way, and can pick up the news from a more direct and quicker source, keep a better check on hubby through the day, and he has no excuse to escape at night. It is economical too, we both ride to our work in the same car, eat at the same cafe,—and he has no extravagant dinners either—and this saves lots of apologies and explanations at home. And then too, while we are at work, it reduces attendance and static at the Federated clubs meeting. It is necessary for some to work out this way, to meet the installments on these economy-in-the-long-run-conveniences and devices at home. We haven't the situation perfected yet but are arranging to have employers to give our vacation the same week as hubby gets his, and prohibit chain stores from sending husbands to one town and the wife to another. Some of the husbands are not lending much assistance to these aims, but with a threat to quit work, we will win. Well there comes my husband now, by after me, we will have to rush up to the apartment and roll up, and drive over to the City, they have a special talkie on tonight, so ta, ta."
"Yes," I replied, and I gotta take some liver and sausage home, and stay with the little children, while my wife guards the girls to church to keep some Coupe from picking them up."
So there you are.
"HOT SHOT" MARRIAGES ARE TO END JUNE 12
"Hot Shot" marriages will be a thing of the past on and after June 12, when the new marriage law requiring that a three day notice be given in the State of Texas before the nuptial ceremony may be performed.
Numerous reports of early June marriages indicate that many contracting couples will begin wedlock before the new law takes effect.—Littlefield Leader.

Former School Principal Comments Terry
Lexington, Texas
Dear Mr. Stricklin:
Enclosed you will find my check for a years subscription to your paper. I want to thank you for sending me the paper, you see I intended to go by the office and give you a check before I left but the matter just slipped my mind.
Personally I am very much interested in Brownfield and Terry county. It has been my home for the past two years and I refer to it as my home now. Therefore I want to be informed on the progress it is making. In most every case you find teachers that are merely interested in the town for a few months that they are on the pay roll, when they leave it they forget it, it is not true in my case. At all times I tried to have the best interest of the people at heart. I wanted to take part in its civic work, I wanted to have a part in its growth. I appreciate what the people did for me, I always felt at home and it made me feel good to be slapped on the back and called Williams without any title. Thus the two years I spent in Brownfield, were indeed pleasant ones. I shall always treasure the friends in Brownfield and shall retain the kindest feeling for each pupil that I had under me. I have not seen a higher type of young manhood, or a more lady-like group of girls in my life. They were always straight forward, truthful and loyal to their own convictions. I recommend them to any teacher who wants pupils that are willing to work but the same time develop that initiative that is necessary to carry them through life.
No doubt you have been hearing about the rains that we have been having in these parts, some reports may be true but in most cases they are misrepresented. True we have been having lots of rain here, the crops in some cases are drowned out but on the average, conditions are fair. We have lots of weeds and grass, corn is looking good, no doubt we will have a big crop. Cotton is late but has a good chance to come out and make good. However we have to fight the insects, excessive rains and storms. Farm hands are very scarce.
It is the big canning season now, every one is canning up the winter supply. Few people realize how much could be saved by constructive canning. It is often you see a farmer putting up over two hundred cans of vegetables, fruits, meats and the like. A person that does that, can easily get money at the banks if he needs it. I think that this country is in fair shape but I believe the possibilities of West Texas are by far superior to this section. When Davis conquers the sand you will enter on a new era of prosperity.
I am on my way to A. & M. I will be there this summer and next year. I would like to see a big delegation at the short course. I feel that you would enjoy the trip very much.
Give my best regards to the people. I trust that you will have a successful year. Thanking you for the kindness you have shown me, I am,
Very truly yours,
Wilton E. Williams.

KELLARS WARNING SOUNDED ON TRUCKS
With the harvest season just around the corner, farmers and truck drivers of this section should begin to watch their truck weights, J. C. Kellar, division state highway weight and license inspector, declared.
"Should trucks be registered un-weight, additional tonnage permit may be secured by applying at the office of the county tax collector," Mr. Kellar said. "Tonnage on all trucks should be watched carefully," he said.—Lorenzo Tribune.

The Dalhart News, launched a few months ago, has suspended publication, according to announcement of its publishers. Dalhart was being served by a good paper when the News was started, and no small town is big enough for two papers, so one had to quit, and as is usual in such cases, the new paper could not compete with the prestige of the older one. It takes many years of faithful effort to make a newspaper worth while to subscribers and advertisers. There must be earned prestige before it becomes more than an advertising circular. Merchants have learned that they can be more adequately served with one good paper than by a duplication of efforts of two struggling ones. Two papers in a small town advertise to the world that the town is divided into two factions, a fact that hurts the town with every outside reader.—McLean News.
