NEW SCHOOL LAW IN EFFECT 1930

Contrary to the belief of some that the new school law permitting children of 6 years of age to enter school this September, Supt. Faubion points out that it does not go into effect until September 1930. However children of 6 will be permitted to attend school this year at a charge of $2.50 per month so long as they are able to accommodate them, the board decided at a recent meeting. In case they are forced to stop, efforts will be made to add a kindergarten department.—Wilson Pointer.

WOMAN MAKES MONEY

Professional beggars are flocking into Canyon and other towns of the Plains. Along with them are all kinds of grafters. A woman last week collected $59 in one day for a so-called church directory. It cost her $12, making a net gain of $47 for one day's work—which is pretty good wages for one with a slick tongue. Pass up the beggars and grafters.—Canyon News.

Mrs. Stricklin and Miss Dollie Miller visited in Tahoka, Tuesday of this week.

"SNATCHING 'EM FROM THE CHAIR"

Our loose, expensive, and procrastinating ways of enforcing the laws of the State and inflicting punishment is commented upon by the Wichita Falls Times in a kind of language we can understand. It is plain talk such as is used in Farm and Ranch in the discussion of our courts and in the methods used in the practice of law. We quote The Times as follows:

"The course to be followed by attorneys for prisoners under sentence of death is now pretty well charted. First, exhaust all the possibilities of the courts themselves. Second, use every available means to obtain executive clemency. Then, when these have failed, wait until the eve of the execution date with an affidavit by someone alleging a belief that the prisoner has become insane.

In the Mackenzie case this worked successfully enough. Mackenzie, at a hearing conducted under the archaic system in use in Texas, was adjudged insane and thus escaped the gallows. It remains to be seen whether it will prove equally effective in other cases.

We may expect to see this device adopted regularly hereafter, when the death sentence has been pronounced. It is working nicely."

Farm and Ranch is indeed glad that the newspapers of the State are beginning to pay some attention to the workings of our judiciary in Texas. If the Press would keep pounding away on the subject Texas would have a model system of courts in a few years, and the law as a profession would again assume markings of respectability.—Farm and Ranch.

CHEVROLET PLAYS PART IN FLIGHT RECORD

The St. Louis Robin has already made aviation history, but were it not for the humble part played in its dramatic exploit by a specially equipped Chevrolet six cylinder truck, it is possible that the story might have been different.

A special brand of gasoline was being used in the Robin, and on Sunday, July 21, the flyer's second Sunday aloft, the supply was nearly diminished.

The nearest point where an additional supply could be obtained was Tulsa, Oklahoma, but the train which started forth immediately from that point with a new supply was unfortunately blocked off by a wreck ahead.

News of the mishap was sent on to St. Louis and the reply came back, "Send it by truck."

So a huge tank containing 800 gallons, was placed on the sturdy Chevrolet, and the drivers were ordered to "give it the gun."

Now, speeding a truck is alright for most conditions, but never so if it is a transport for gasoline. At a speed fairly within the bounds of safety, however, the truck started on its 450 mile trip late Sunday afternoon over a road that was mostly gravel.

Shortly after noon the next day the trip was completed without mishap. Amid cheers the Chevrolet pulled up alongside the refueling plane, and thus was obviated the necessity of switching brands of fuel—a step that was feared both by the pilots and the designer of the Robin's engine.

An interesting point in the part played by the Chevrolet was that it had been run only 15 miles before it undertook its emergency mission. Nevertheless, according to the drivers, not once did the motor heat up nor have there been any consequent engine difficulties.

Official paper of Terry County.

Well, we are still looking for that trash mover that we have been expecting for the past twenty days, but local forecasters say it is due any day now. The moon filled in the morning.

Possibly the guys who have been predicting that the world will finally get so cold that our great cities will be covered in icicles the year round, will not reach the conclusion that it will be finally smothered with broiling heat.

That deep plowing is a success can be demonstrated by merely driving by the plot just west of the city. The corn, cotton and maize on it are not only holding up better, but are a third bigger than on adjoining land of the same nature, but which was only listed.

A real old paddy printer called on the Herald for work last week. He gave the appearance of having changed shirts some time in the early spring, and possibly had a bath two or three years ago, maybe. We never have needed a hand when one of those gents came around.

A quarter century is a long time for the existence of a newspaper, much longer than the average, it is said. But the Herald still feels youthful, and hopes there are many happy days coming to it yet. The Herald is really older than Terry county, because organization took place several months after the birth of the Herald.

The Spur Times came to us this week with an industrial edition of 56 pages, which gave one a good idea of the importance of that city commercially, educationally and religiously. In fact it was brim full of information in the form of regular news and store news. But man, it made us feel tired to even think of the amount of work in the print shop that was bound up in that edition.

The report comes from Austin that each child in Texas within the school age will draw the sum of $17.50 from the State toward their schooling. Thus Texas is gradually oozing to the front in taking care of education of her people, and it should not be long until ignorance is banished if the compulsory school laws are enforced. It has not been many years since $10 was considered all the children needed.

Five kids with an old Ford car that runs by spells were having the time of their lives here the past week. There was not much danger, as all but small children or the aged could easily get out of its way. It reminded many of us older people who were raised among the hills back east of old times with the fore wheels of the farm wagon, or an old buggy which we tugged our best to bring to the top of the hill in order for a rough ride down the hill, and woe be unto him who fell off in front of the thing. But most of us lived to get grown in spite of all danger—and they do yet.

This has not only been a dry summer, but to our notion will prove to be the hottest summer on record here. We have perhaps before this had some days just as hot or hotter than this year, but not so protracted. The year 1917 was the driest on record here, so far as we know, but there were some cool days, and the nights would be cool. This year, the nights have been hot and sultry and many of them not a breath of air seemingly. This is unusual, and is proven also by the regularity on the ranches that engines must be used to pump water. Some few say perhaps we have forgotten, but thermometers as well as your feeling will tell you that the summer 1929 has been unusually hot. And not only here, but reports from other sections of the United States and Canada, as well as foreign countries coincide with this belief.

Scare heads in the daily news papers tell of the great wealth or account of the wheat crop, and of its value at present prices. Those big boys like to kid themselves. They like to make a sad attempt to show how much the gamblers love the farmers. As a matter of fact, the present price of wheat is about 30 cents per bushel more than the actual producers go for their wheat, and whatever profit was made on the wheat this year was the result of gamblers who probably would not recognize a wheat field should they have been driven down a country road. Its great to be a legalized gambler.—Canyon News.

Insanity is the pet hobby of criminal lawyers. Let a man be convicted of murder and sentenced to death and they at once raise the question as to his sanity, going far back into his family history to show that his forebearers were tainted with a disease of the brain, and he therefore was not responsible for the act that he committed. As we have said before, "horse collars" or some such expression. The said murderers were sane enough until he faces the "hot seat" then his reason became dehorned—they take it up with the courts, and a bunch of doctors, and in a short time the news is broadcasted that he is "crazy" and as the state does not electrocute a crazy man he is put in the insane asylum. It's mighty nice. In most cases it is discovered he is but mildly insane, and harmless, and soon has the run of the institution, with the probability that he will be turned loose again on the people in a few short years. Justice has become a sham, and trick lawyers have made Texas Criminal Laws a joke.—Ropesville Hustler.

Shanghai, China, July 11th, 1929.

Dear Editor:
Here comes a letter from this land of intrigue, graft, warfare, famine, suffering, chaos, to tell you and the readers of your excellent paper about China's new woman who has a share in the "goings-on."

If a woman in China, twenty years ago, had been given a Rip Van Winkle sleep, she would be more surprised than he was, should she awake today. Then women had to stay indoors and work something like domestic animals. Or, if of a better family, be cooped up at home and stay there. She was allowed to be seen only by her husband or brothers.
Now what a change! The modern Chinese young women skip around the streets with a spring, grace and freedom that's quite refreshing when he remembers the women formerly obbling along on bound feet supported by amahs. Now girls, bob, single, or permanent wave their hair. That's a sign of freedom! They ride bicycles, play tennis, basket-ball and engage in other athletics. Formerly he parents arranged the marriage. Now one often sees the young ladies talking very affectionately arm in arm with their "best boys," and the young people often do the arranging. The dress used to be the most modest of any nationality. Now women are often seen with short sleeves and very low-necked frocks even at mid-day. Sometimes they're seen with the most up-to-date up-beyond-the-knee short frocks and flimsy silk hose and very high-heeled shoes. Indeed the Chinese girls are quite amusing flappers sometimes—shocking sometimes—so much so that the officials have felt it necessary to issue proclamations commanding them to dress modestly. The girls have even learned to flirt in the most up-to-date way. That's freedom. They dance in the latest style. They ride horses, astride, with boots and riding breeches. "That's English, you know."

Once the ideal for girls was that they be able to do beautiful needlework at home. Now they are doing other things. They are clerks in stores; some are typists and stenographers. Some are bankers. They play the organ or piano or other musical instruments. Some are becoming movie artists or actresses. Some are lawyers and judges and doctors, are teachers and kindergartners. They even become soldiers and sometimes they become Generals' secretaries! Women also become street-corner politicians and scream the Revolutionary platitudes such as, "Down with imperialism," "Give the people freedom," to beat the most zealous men Revolutionaries. Rarely do you see meetings for propaganda or riots without seeing girls or women taking active part in them, urging on the riots. I am glad to say that some few of them are taking part in the Red Cross work in relieving the suffering of those wounded in battle. Women, too, occupy places of influence in the government in Nanking. Once women's faces lacked all hope and ambition, and there are still great hosts of women who are the same drudges at home or—worse—in great factories. But among the younger generation they have ambition—ambition that carries them to extremes.

I'm glad to say that there are many in which the people have been brought up for ages in filth, physical and moral; but a new generation is coming on, born anew in the church of Christ and in these clean Christian homes. We are expecting much for China from such.

Terry Co. Day 30th at Experiment Station

The annual field day of the Lubbock Experiment Station will be held during the week of August 27-30, thus dividing the time so as to give more personal attention to those visiting the Station. Terry county day will be Friday, Aug. 30. It is well worth the time of any farmer to visit this station and to see what has been done and what is being done in the way of crops and orchards. The Supt. Mr. D. L. Jones is thoroughly familiar with the problems of this country and can show in actual demonstrations and in figures the answers to a lot of things that you have been wanting to know.

There is probably no Station in Texas that has done more for its locality than the Lubbock Station. It has perfected types of grain sorghum and varieties of cotton that are particularly adapted to this country. A great deal of work has been done in shade trees and orchards and some valuable contributions have been made in these lines.

As Chum Owens says, "We never get to where we can not learn" and this another opportunity to learn something that might be worth quite a bit to you. Those who are interested in making this trip to the Lubbock Station should see me so I can send in the approximate number coming.

R. B. Davis, County Agent.

Sweetwater opened their airport one day last week, and received quite a spanking from the Colorado Record, because the Sweetwater folks are alleged to have blocked the Bankhead highway and made all tourists chip in with 50c or detour. The Highway Department at Austin claim that Sweetwater had no authority to do this, and it would seem that it was a pure graft to pay expenses of the pening, and they may come in for a serious mixup with the State Highway department.

Ralph Bynum has joined the Herald force to learn the trade, and says he is going to stay till he learns it. He shows great aptitude and gives promise of becoming a good one.

TELEVISION TO BE IN YOUR HOME SOON

The following paragraphs are taken from an article written by C. Francis Jenkins, the inventor of television, in the Saturday Evening Post:

Today it is possible to state rather than to prophesy that by the presidential election in 1932 men and women from Maine to California can, in the comfort of their homes watch the face of the President-elect as he delivers his inaugural address; witness the Yale-Harvard football game in the bowl and the final game of the World Series.

This is a near future, but there is still an near one. By the autumn of 1929 television will be in the home in the form of moving pictures to be received on an apparatus included in a cabinet similar to the present radio cabinet with the exception that it will have an opening with the curtain resembling a miniature stage.

The programs will at first be very simple black and white moving pictures arranged in much the same form as the average moving picture program—that is, a comedy, a long feature, and variation of television shows.

ens, that is a special entertainment executed by living artists in the television broadcasting studios.

The body goes to work a lot more readily than the mind.

This City and Meadow Visited By Burglars

This city was visited by burglars again Sunday night, having entered the McSpaden Battery and Electric Shop here and later the bank of Meadow. The door was torn away from the First National Bank of Meadow, but they failed to get into where the money was kept in the vault.

They seem to have been frightened away from the job.

It is presumed the burglars entered the McSpadden Shop here to obtain tools with which to try to get into the bank, as it is known that acetylene torches are kept in his shop. So far as the Herald knows, no clue to their identity has been discovered.

Local Citizen Has 25c Bill of Civil War Times

Our old friend, J. A. Miller, was in one day the past week and showed us a bill of the 25 denomination that was issued in the early sixties while the Civil War was in progress. While it was rather worn and faded, it can easily be read, and is said to be worth more than the face value at this time. This was not quite the size of the new bills being issued by the U. S. Treasury. It was the smallest in value that we have ever seen, except foreign bills.

Mr. Miller had also put away one of the old dollar bills that was in fine, crisp shape that was discarded July 1st for the new and smaller bill, and the day may come that it will be of value.

Granddaughter—"But how risky to put it just where it could be seen."

Brownfield Loses Game to Roswell

The Brownfield team accompanied by some 25 local baseball fans motor-ed over to Roswell the past Sunday, and were defeated 13 to 0 by their team. The home team let Roswell have most of their runs on two bunches of errors.

Our team was really too weak for Roswell in that several of our best players decided not to go after the game was matched, and Roswell had at least two, pitcher and catcher who had played on some of the big city teams, and they were paid $50 a piece to win this game. Artesia and Roswell played the other game of a double header.

The Brownfield team was treated royally by the people of the New Mexico City.

CAN EVERETT ANSWER THIS?

In the August number of Southwestern Resources published at San Antonio, the editor, Milton Everett, conducts a tirade against Hon. T. J. Robison, land commissioner, and in answering the charge that the big oil companies were behind the move to impeach Robison, Everett says: "The demand for impeachment of Robison arose through the unjust and autocratic manner in which Robison treated—not big oil men—but the common citizens of Texas."

In the first place, Everett is either ignorant of the proceedings and of the attitude of the public towards the trial of Robison, or is deliberately misrepresenting the matter. "The common citizens" of Texas—from every section—wired, wrote and came to Austin in behalf of the veteran land commissioner. They pledged him support, and when the trial came up in the House of Representatives there were 1,000 men and women in Austin, paying their own expenses, begging for an opportunity to testify in behalf of the commissioner. Who were those there to testify against him? They were Bob Holliday, Judge Batts, and other oil men—attorneys for the big oil companies. Everett, how can you explain that? What can you say when you know that R. L. Holliday was with the major oil company of the world as attorney? What can you say when Judge Patts, member of the board of regents of the University, admitted he was chief attorney for the Gulf Production Co., and had been for years? What else can you say when you know that the chief attorney for the Humble Company was a member of the board of regents when this body started the move to have the oil lands taken off the market? When the board of regents of the University is dominated by a majority composed of chief attorneys for big oil companies, and they were the chief opponents of Commissioner Robison, even though they hide behind the cloak of official duties on the board, why can not it be said the big oil companies were the ones after the land commissioner? Answer these questions if you can. Because these members of the board of regents were appointed by Governor Moody, it can just as truthfully be said he is dominated by the big oil companies. His acts in telling Robison and the Attorney General "the land should be withdrawn from the market, law or no law" prove that. If the Governor is not dominated by oil interests, why did he name oil attorneys as members of the board of regents—to handle the University oil lands—in practically every case where appointment was made by him? Too, if the big oil companies were not against Robison, as you say, why did these companies, their attorneys and their employees prove to be practically the only ones to seek impeachment of the commissioner? Just answer these questions and you will find you were either ignorant in the beginning or trying to mislead somebody.

In another paragraph of the article in the Southwestern Resources, Everett tries to mislead the public. He says: "Was not his (Robison's) principal attorney the attorney of some very major oil people?" No! You know that is not true. You know that Dayton Moses, attorney for the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers' Association, and former Senator Lloyd Price were Robison's attorneys, and that they volunteered their services in behalf of Robison free of charge, because of their friendship for him and their belief in the commissioner. Lloyd Price had represented Gibson & Johnson, independent oil operators of Abilene, Texas, in their efforts to buy some of the university lands. Why did the Regents (attorneys for the big oil companies) try to keep Gibson & Johnson from buying these lands, when you say yourself, "they offered nearly a million dollars bonus for wildcat oil leases on University land?" The answer is simple. Why should they let anybody have oil lands?—Colorado Record.

RUTH BRYAN'S GOOD EXAMPLE

Congressman Ruth Bryan Owen (why should we call the women members Congresswomen, anyway?) is setting fellow members of congress a splendid example in at least one regard—that of making her constituents know Washington better. Everybody in the country should know our capital better than we do. It is not only the capital of our country but it is getting to be the capital of the world. She is doing two outstanding things in this matter:

(1) During the Congress vacation she is going all over her district holding meetings and telling her people about what Congress is doing, and then she has moving pictures of Washington showing them in a vivid and personal way what things are like in the District of Columbia.

(2) Better than this, she is selecting 36 boys and girls, two from each of the 18 counties in her district, who show the best "school citizenship" and will bring them to Washington next year to study governmental Washington.

She is evidently staying close to the people—what else could you expect of William Jennings Bryan's daughter?

Prof. Marlin Hayhurst, one of the teachers in the Brownfield public school, came in Tuesday of this week, to be ready when school opens Monday week. His many friends were glad to see him back again, as he is a great favorite with both parents and pupils.

Elder A. L. Burnett reports that he is in the midst of a very interesting meeting for the Church of Christ at Ragtown, Texas, some ten miles from Post. The meeting started Saturday night, and there had been 13 by primary obedience up to Monday night.

E. C. Roberts was up from Seagrave, Monday, on business.

FARM BOARD CAN'T HELP COTTON THIS YEAR

The wheat crop produced in the United States in 1928 was given a farm value of $877,193,000 by the crop-reporting board of the Department of Agriculture. The cotton crop of the United States, including seed, was valued at $1,579,089,000. Cotton is the greater crop of the two, from a value standpoint, by more than 80 per cent. While both crops are of major importance to the general welfare of the people, cotton outranks wheat in the production of wealth and in its general usefulness in all things except as a food. Without cotton thousands of factories would close and millions of men and women would be thrown out of employment. Without cotton the balance of trade would be reversed and the United States would be paying out more than they receive.

Notwithstanding this relative position of the two crops, complaints from wheat growers are quickly acknowledged. When wheat started down with the beginning of the harvest in the Southwest, the Hoover Farm Board made haste to hold a meeting and announce a plan for helping the wheat farmer. This was done even after weather conditions had forced an advance in the price of wheat, making the crop profitable to everyone having an average yield.

But—when the cotton growers of the South, with a prospect of a yield much larger than that of 1928, suggested the need for immediate attention, the Farm Board, if newspaper reports are true, announced that it was too late to do anything with cotton this year. Something could be done for wheat right in the midst of harvest time, but nothing can be done for cotton even though farmers will be marketing it for another five months.

Farm and Ranch would not be placed in an attitude of hasty criticism of the Farm Board. It realizes that the board is new and has had but little time to plan its program wisely. What Farm and Ranch cannot understand is, why a mere signal of distress from wheat farmers receives immediate attention while the call for help from cotton farmers is scarcely noticed.—Farm and Ranch.

Later: The board has finally decided to help the cotton farmer market his crop.

THREE MEANS OF GRACE

"I thank you." And this is the notice the minister wrote: "Mount Memorial Baptist Church, Rev. John Walker, pastor. Preaching morning and evening. In the promulgation of the gospel, three books is necessary: The Bible, the hymn book and the pocket book. Come tomorrow and bring all three."—The Christian Register.

TRUE BLUE GIRLS

The True Blue girls of the Baptist church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Savage. In the business session it was decided to divide the class into two groups to make the class work more interesting. Refreshments were served to the following: Janet Brown, Juanita Tankersly, Juanita Bailey, Mary Dee Price, Stella Mae Parks, Jimmie Thomas and Mrs. Savage.

Twins, a boy and girl were born to Mrs. Lena Maude (King) Bridges, at Plainview on the 16th. This makes their second set of twins, but only one of the first set lived. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. King, have just returned from a visit with their daughter and family.

It's perfectly amazing how suddenly a little gossip will divert attention from an intellectual conversation.

Edwin Holt and family, of Tatum, N. M., were over Sunday, and visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Holt. Also Mrs. Holt's mother, Mrs. M. E. Kinard. Jack Holt returned home with them for a visit before returning to his home at Hollywood, Calif.

Dr. John May was here on a flying trip from Arkansas this week to visit his brother and sister, Tom and Mrs. W. B. Downing. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. May, of Lubbock, will return with him to spend quite some time in the mountains of that state.

There was a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Brown last week. They were visited by all the children who live out of town, being Mrs. Frank Turner and children of Snyder, Okla., Roland, wife and baby from Hereford, and Terry and wife of Abilene.

According to Vernon Davis, young banker of Tahoka, who was a visitor here Tuesday night, Tahoka received her first bale of 1929 cotton, Tuesday. Brownfield is also expecting her first bale this week. We noticed one of the gins fired up Wednesday morning.

Well, it has happened at last. They all come back to Terry sooner or later. W. R. Bridges and wife have moved back to Brownfield after a sojourn of several years in Red River county. They will build in the near future near the site of their old homestead adjoining the Santa Fe addition on the north. E. L. Duke owns his old home. Welcome.

Mrs. C. A. McDaniel was a pleasant caller at the Herald office one day the past week. She has been living at Coleman, Texas for quite awhile, but will now remain in Terry county for a few months.

L. Townsend of Yoakum county was in the city Monday on business. He reports that the weather is getting dry out his way and that crops are beginning to suffer quite badly, but he looks for a rain in a few days—perhaps.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Rodgers and children, Mrs. C. E. Lester and son Bert, of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Lewis of Doyle, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Johnson of Lamesa spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. O'Connor.

By the time you're able to boast about how well you hens lay you fine hat everybody's hens are laying.

STATE FAIR TO HAVE NEW PARKING SPACE

Dallas, Texas.—Plans are being completed for additional parking space on the State Fair Grounds for more than 3,000 automobiles, it has been announced here by T. E. Jackson, president and Roy Rupard, secretary of the state exposition. The entire infield of the race track will be converted into a parking space.

The race track infield is now being laid off into the parking space. There will be no charge for any parking space on the grounds, and there will be no automobiles parked on the main thoroughfares.

The infield will give parking facilities for the two new attractions on the ground—the rodeo in the Livestock Coliseum and the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus in front of the Grand Stand. There will be a box office entrance from the infield to the circus. The parking space next to the auditorium will be used for "Red Robe" patrons, and that around the stadium will be used for football fans.

Four new entrances will be built into the infield making it accessible from any part of the grounds.

ANOTHER USE FOR NEWSPAPERS

What is more useful than a newspaper? When new it supplies news and advertising that give its readers essential information. When old, it is used to wrap things in, in place of a table cloth at picnics, etc. Now another use has been found that should interest every housewife.

May Kiethline, of the South Dakota State College, has discovered that old newspapers make an excellent substitute for moth-proof bags for storing clothing during the summer months. She says if clothing is wrapped carefully in several thicknesses of newspaper, protection is provided at very small cost. Newspapers make especially good moth-proof wrappings because printer's ink is objectionable to moths.

She recommends that garments be dry cleaned before being stored away for the summer, since soiled clothing attracts moths more than clean clothing. Garments should also be brushed to remove moth eggs which may have already been deposited. Thoroughly sun the garments—then put them away—and, if you are inclined to believe in the efficacy of Miss Kiethline's idea, use the newspaper.

We all know what we should do, but most of us do as we please.

GAS FITTING

After Aug. 25 I will do Gas Fitting from Hudgens & Knight's Store. Also can sell you water heaters. Have had 8 years experience with this work.

MEADOW BRIEFS
(By Aesculapias)

Recently, having business in a nearby city to which I frequently go, feel a little dry and wishing to quench my thirst, I repaired to a drug store where such articles are kept and seated myself at a table, in as inconspicuous place as possible, being of the modest habits I ordered a milk shake. I had just given my order when my attention was directed to the door and immediately two pretty damsels followed by two young men came down my way and settled at a table near me. They gave their order for a nut sundae and a package of one of the popular brands of cigarets.

The conversation was animated and covered a recent motor drive into the country at night giving the names of the parties who composed the entourage. They described the kinds of beverages and its effects on the company and the delightful mix up following the carousal which made an old timer think of the Red Light District in the good old days of 50 years ago when we went to market and stayed—or rather put up at a wagon yard—and after imbibing freely bumbled about town.

The girls were dressed or rather undressed, having on what seemed a rather diaphanous outer garment with something a little more transparent underneath. They were stockingless, shoes with French Heels about four inches high. The hair was waved and treated with something that gave it a glistening appearance and adhered closely to the head. The lips were richly endowed with some carmine cosmetic and cheeks aflame with a kindred substance. The figures were of the usual spare variety, busts as flat as a board. They wore no sky pieces. I would judge them about seventeen years of age. Just a pair of giddy girls, out for what they call a good time.

I sipped my shake slowly and listened to their conversation which was principally slang and giggles. When they had finished their Sundaes the cigarets were opened and all of them lighted one and puffed the smoke through the nose, commenting on the various brands of cigarets.

One of the girls finally arose and wandered over near me to a mirror that hung on the wall and proceeded to dose her lips with some more carmine. I summoned courage to ask her if the stuff she was using was kiss proof. She looked down on me rather depreciatingly and said, "No sir, that claim is a hoax." I then suggested that she try it on me as my wife was away from home, and if she felt sure it would wash off. She tilted her pretty head to one side and her nose in the air and walked back to her companions who were smiling out loud at her discomfiture.

"Oh would some power the giftie gie us,
To see ourselves as others see us
It would from many a blunder free us,

The nude does not necessarily indicate unchastity nor does it prove that the person indulging in such innovations is a paragon of virtue, but undoubtedly the burden of proof is with the individual who puts aside the cannons of good taste in dress and manners.

It is the smoking however and not the attire that I wished to talk about. Now I freely admit that whatever a man does a woman may do if she wishes, and should be just a little criticised for so doing. Their natural rights should be the same. However I was brought up to believe that a woman was made of just a little better fibre and endowed with very much more virtue, that her thoughts and aspirations were of a higher order than the average man. Now if she is to ape the habits, foibles and follies of the male sex she is due a fall in the estimation of men and of the majority of her own sex.

Much has been written on the deleterious effects of tobacco on the human organism, and it is the human alone with the exception of a worm, that will use the miserable weed. On the adult it is probably true that used in moderation its evil effects are rather small. On the young however its use is attended often with serious consequences. Smoking in any form is much worse than either chewing or the dipping of snuff.

In most of those who use it over a long period of years, the heart, throat, if you smoke, the central nervous system and eye sight are all seriously damaged by its use. Blindness is not uncommon.

In women whose nervous organization is much more irritable than man, its use in the form of smoke inhaled is fraught with grave danger to the nervous mechanism.

Why in heavens name should any young girl or woman wish to smoke a miserable cigarette, whose odor

[THE NEW EMBLEM DEDICATED TO BETTER MOTORING]

What the MARLAND CONTINENTAL Merger MEANS TO MOTORISTS

THE consolidation of the resources and facilities of the Marland Companies and the Continental Oil Company, under the latter's name, is more than a corporate merger. It is a happy union of well balanced production, manufacturing and marketing operations from which will come a host of unusual advantages to the millions of customers and thousands of distributors.

Wide Field for Crude Selection

Out of a total area of more than two and one quarter million acres in eight states, Continental selects the crudes best suited for its manufactured products. Raw materials for oils, greases and gasolines may often come from widely separated regions. Continental controls its own crude supply and chooses the best for each refining operation and thus assures a standard uniform output from year to year.

Strategic Location of Eight Refineries

Economical and efficient operation of petroleum manufacture frequently depends upon the relative locations of the raw product, the refinery and the market. Continental is fortunate in that its eight modern manufacturing plants are well placed to afford prompt and economical delivery both before and after refinement. These properties are located at Baltimore, Maryland; Ponca City and Sapulpa, Oklahoma; Artesia and Farmington, New Mexico; Wichita Falls, Texas; Florence, Colorado; and Glenrock, Wyoming.

Exclusive Processes Insure High Quality

Continental refinery engineers enjoy a national reputation in the oil business. Not only have they adopted the newest and most efficient mechanical equipment for these big refineries but they have designed machinery and developed processes which are exclusive to this company. Under centralized control, these facilities now are made available in the manufacture of petroleum products of exceptional quality.

Conocoland Covers Tremendous Area

More than forty years marketing experience has spread the distribution of Conoco products over an area which reaches from the western slope of the Rockies, far east to the Mississippi River. Practically half of the United States is dotted so closely with Conoco Stations that a motorist may drive anywhere in that tremendous area without introducing other than Conoco products to his car. The outposts of Conocoland range from the Pacific Northwest to the shores of the Great Lakes and from the Atlantic Seaboard to the California boundary.

Prestige Established in Foreign Lands

The Continental coastwise and export fleet operate from terminals at Texas City, Texas; Newark, New Jersey; Baltimore, Maryland; and Norfolk, Virginia; to a dozen foreign countries. Petrol pumps deliver Conoco gasoline to automobilists in the shires of England and Conoco motor oils lubricate industrial plants in north Europe, South America and the Orient.

In brief, the joined forces of these two great companies afford greater, better service to the users of motor fuels and lubricants wherever the sign of the Red Triangle is displayed.

THE GREATER CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY

after a years use would put any self respecting man to flight, if he was seeking a wife, unless he drank whiskey, eat onions, garlic, assafoetida, or used high life on his handkerchief. Carmine lips and cigarets would keep me from wanting a kiss, be the woman a country lass or a princess. But of course they don't wish to kiss me. But there are very many men like me in taste when they decide they want a wife.

Girls remember that the pictures shown in magazines, and on posters by the road side is the work of manufacturers of cigarets, that the women who endorse certain brands are paid for it in cold cash, that the actresses and actors in the Movies are many of them very poor objects to imitate, in private or public life, and that any person whomsoever that would sell his influence to saddle any unsuspecting girl or boy with the damnable habit of cigarette smoking is just as disreputable as favouring companionate marriage or concubinage. Most of the male actors have mistresses. Do you wish to be one?

Girls should at least leave the habit alone. "Like wine, at last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." One girl told me that her grandma smoked why not she. So did mine but are you imitating the virtues of that grandmother as well as her vices? Look at that three feet of leg without a stocking in public, with a skirt that isn't a skirt, just a breech cloth without the virtue of the savage breech cloth, in that yours doesn't need the X-ray to tell what is beyond.

Yes, I have girls and they don't dress to suit me a little bit, but so far they have not joined the line of the stockingless, nor carried a hip pocket flask or indulged in cigarette smoking. When they do there will be two girls less in this world of feminine decline.

In the dawning I see in my dreams a more glorious outlook for women, when they will have returned to sanity and concluded to be the mothers of the future and the repository of all the virtues, as in the past.

"Woman, O woman, thou should'st have few sins of thine own to answer for. Thou art the author of such a book of follies in man that it would take the tears of all the angels to wash the record out."

"In the end of the Sabbath as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week" came not Mary Magdalene nor the other Mary, but the descendant of the ancient Aztecs, whom Cortez found in Mexico the good year of 1519 and promptly slaughtered and robbed for the glory of the Catholic Church and his Catholic Majesty Charles the V of Spain. How many of these simple people were slaughtered in the search for gold "Gold will have kept a better account than I have," says Las Cassis his lieutenant.

We have not started to give an account of the Conquistadors and just gave you this by way of Preface. This particular Mexican was in trouble and announced that his wife had been trying to have a baby for the past three days and needed help. Would I go and help her. Most certainly, that was what I was cut out for and I went.

When it was over they were happy and contented and asked the bill. "Twenty-five dollars sir." "Thank you Doctor hear is the mon, me save 'em for that purpose. This makes us nine."

This was a simple ignorant Mexican making a living for ten at a daily wage paying as he went as no one would trust him for anything. Yet he saved and paid the doctor for his services without a murmur. He lives within his income let it be great or small.

What about us Nordics, Lords of Creation, Champion Swash Bucklers of the Earth? Why we pay when compelled to. Not before. The world owes us a living and if we can't get it one way we will another. We'll rob a bank, murder our mother-in-law or ruin our best friend if he is foolish enough to go on our note.

I know of some prominent citizens who have families of four that have never paid a Granny Bill, and they keep on getting them.

Well, commend me to the Mexican, we have too darned many Nordics now, unless the "Leopard will change his spots."

P. S. I might add we can use a little rain.

PREPAREDNESS

An old maid went to have her picture taken. The photographer noticed her tying a piece of clothes line around the bottom of her skirt.

"What's the idea of that?" he asked.

"I can't take your picture that way."

"You can't fool me, young man," said the old girl. "I know you see me upside down in that camera."
