County Agent's Column

W. R. Coombs & Son shipped in a car of stocker hogs that averaged 110 lbs. in weight. After feeding for 19 days on ground threethread milo and grazing them on sudan, twenty-five of the best ones were sold weighing 180 lbs. Mr. Coombs says that they are getting excellent gains on pasture and grain without the use of expensive protein feeds.

Plenty of exercise and a little green feed will give a hog an appetite for grain and that is what you want him to eat.

Mr. Coombs has sowed 15 acres in rye and wheat for winter pasture and he expects to make money feeding hogs through the winter.

E. M. Regenbrecht, Swine Specialist of the Extension Service, is expected to visit Terry County the first of next week and he together with the county agent will plan some demonstration in curing of fancy pork. What is the use of selling all of your market hogs on foot or eating salty hams and sow belly when you can cure your meat in such a way that a premium will be paid for any that you do not need for home consumption?

The boys feeding barrows for the Bell-Endersen Hardware prize money are reporting some huge gains. One boy says his pig gained eighty-three pounds in August. That is about two and three-fourth lbs. per day. He expects his pig to make three lbs. per day in September and that little red-headed kid will just about make that pig do it. Another club boy says his will weigh around 400 lbs. by fair time.

Who are these boys? What kind of pigs do they have? How did you select them to put on this show and what are they doing? The answers and records will be at the Fair at Brownfield Sept. 27-28 and you can see with your own eyes.

Herbert Chesshir attended the meeting of the Terry County Fair superintendents Sat. afternoon. Herbert reports another nice family of eleven pigs from his prize winning sow of last year.

Mr. K. L. Kirkland, fieldman of the Feed Control Service of A. & M. College, was in Brownfield Monday. The Feed Control Service regulates the sale of feed as far as feed analysis is concerned. He stated that the amount of mixed feed sold had increased many times in the past few years.

Mr. E. A. Miller, Agronomy Specialist of the Texas Extension Service, Mr. Keating, Supt. of the Experiment Station at Big Springs, and Mrs. Osborne, Supt. of the Exp. Station at Lawton, Okla., stopped in Brownfield last Thursday. These men looked over the deep breaking demonstration in Gaines and Terry Counties and were favorably impressed with the crops on these plots. The best crops they had seen on their tour was what they said about the crops in these two counties.

Big Engine Installed At the Power Plant

The writer called at the city power and light plant Monday afternoon and was shown through the plant by the obliging engineer at that time, Mr. Mullins, who goes on duty in the afternoon. Especially were we anxious to see the new gas engine that was recently installed to help carry the peak load, and to give the plant two units in case of accident. And when we saw gas engine, we do not mean gasoline, for it is run on natural gas right out of the West Texas Gas Co., mains just the same as your cook stove and heater uses now.

This is a new type of gas engine which has proven very popular and economical in the gas and oil fields, and the government is using them very satisfactorily at their helium plant in Amarillo. They are very simple of operation, and Mr. Mullins said he believed he would like them equally as well as the Fairbanks-Morse as soon as he became more familiar with them. Its simplicity was likened to the Ford engine, as it has almost the same oiling and cooling system, and even to the spark plugs which are fired with Bosh magnetos. The engine is manufactured by the Bruce-McBeth Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, and the electrical parts by General Electric Co. It is rated 165 horse power type, but is said to carry more than rated horse power.

This engine gives the municipal plant a total of 600 horse power at the plant, but Mr. Mullins informed us that it took three of the largest now to pull the peak load at night, especially when the gins are running. They are having trouble keeping the voltage up when big motors are suddenly turned on, but Mr. Mullins informed us that a volt control had been ordered for some time and was momentarily expected. When installed this will automatically raise the voltage when a large type motor is turned on without dimming the lights over town, and would automatically lower the voltage when the motor was turned off.

MANLESS TEA

The Maids and Matrons will give a "Manless Tea" at Tuders Garage, Saturday evening, September 21 at 8:30. The characters will be represented by local men dressed in ladies clothes and fun and amusement will be carried out throughout the evening. Admission 25c. Everyone invited. Proceeds for the Library. Etc.

Mr. Smiley Wilson, of the Western Windmill Co., of Lubbock, was a business visitor here Saturday. Mr. Wilson informed us that his firm had quit the retail trade, doing wholesale entirely at present.

Big Hail Does Damage Here Sat. Afternoon

A destructive looking cloud came up from the northwest Saturday afternoon, and when it arrived it proved to be almost as bad as it looked, for it carried a full quota of hail stones, many of them nearly half the size of a hen egg. There was considerable wind with the cloud too, but nothing was damaged from that source.

One and one half inches of rain fell here according to the government gauge at the courthouse, and since that time something like a half inch has fallen up to Tuesday afternoon when this is being written. It is still dense cloudy and drizzling, and gives the appearance of having plenty more stored up where the other came from.

But the hail belt did not cover anything like the territory that it was thought to have covered. A streak from one to two miles wide about six miles up and down Lost Draw that passes through town were the worst sufferers. True, some were entirely wiped out a few miles northwest of the city, but most of those who got hail at all lost anything from 25 to 50 percent of their crops. N. W. Jones, one of the Hogues, and several others in that neighborhood seemed to have suffered most. We are told that it was estimated that there was something like four wagon loads of cotton bolls washed out of one field into the draw up there.

Several we have seen who have visited the worst damaged sections as well as the less damaged sections, estimate that 3,000 acres are damaged 50 percent and 3,000 acres damaged only 25 percent. All the county has received good rains which will offset the hail damage, although falling hard on the losers. With the drought broken and cooler weather with us, it is thought that there will not be any more hail damage. A flurry of hail passed over the city from the southwest Sunday afternoon, but not enough to damage anything, but it was the most jagged edged hail we ever saw, and would have cut like a knife.

Slight Trouble With Young Negro Here Sun

The timely arrival of officers probably averted the serious wounding if not the death of a young negro here Sunday morning, who lost his head and insisted on cursing out a white boy, calling him names that he would not want a white man to call him. Other white boys took a hand in the matter, and after a base ball bat had been bounced off the head of the negro, he retreated to a cafe where he washes dishes, where the proprietor defied everyone to come in. Just what provoked the quarrel, we are not prepared to say. Possibly the white youth said something he ought not to have to the negro, but we understand that he only called him a negro, but this may have been in a sneering way for all we know.

Sheriff Telford and City Marshall Tiernan got the negro in the Brownfield Hotel basement, we understand, and carried him and the white boys to the court house where fines were assessed against them. Late that night, the negro boy was put aboard an outgoing bus and told to make himself scarce here from this on, as it would be rather dangerous for him to return here from this on.

Right here it would not be amiss for the Herald to give a little advice to both races. To the white people, we, as one who was raised in a section of our country where there are many negroes, and where the two races have always gotten along well together, but both have been taught from infancy to keep their places. Of course whites sometimes call them negroes there, but not in a sneering way. On the other hand, most all negroes except the ignorant or smart Alex knows that is the real name of their race, and that such men as Booker T. Washington and other educated negroes so recognized it. It simply means dark or black, and nothing else, and for them to flare up at being called a negro is the height of folly just as it would be folly for a white man to swell up if called a caucasian.

This has become a cotton country, and it is very needful that we have people here of the colored race to help make and gather it, but the two races must live like lawful beings if they are to get along together, as citizens should. It therefore devolves the law abiding leaders of both races to do all they can to keep down trouble. Indeed, some of the older and more sensible negroes did their best Sunday to keep the young buck out of trouble. From this on, it would be best for the leaders of the colored race here to meet all new comers of their race and tell them that if they want to stay here they will have to keep their tempers and their tongues under control. It has not been so long past when one of their race would not have been allowed here at all, and a few more breaks like that of Sunday might bring about another such condition. And if there are white men here who ag on trouble between the races as we heard hinted Sunday, it would be best for them to desist and try to help keep the peace.

White people in their turn should treat the negroes as humans should be treated, and avoid sneering remarks toward them, and the two races will live together without friction. This is written in a spirit of fair play to promote peace between the two races here.

Lady Badly Cut in Auto Accident Mon. Night

While Mr. and Mrs. Carl Smith were returning from Lubbock Monday night, the steering apparatus of his car locked somewhere near Ropes, which caused the car to go in the ditch. They were later picked up and brought on to Brownfield for medical attention.

It seems that Mr. Smith was not badly hurt, but Mrs. Smith was thrown into the windshield, and an ugly cut was made from her ear to the throat which exposed the jugular vein. Local physicians report that it required nine stitches to close the wound. After receiving medical attention, they went on to their home at Loup.

Bowers Bros. Install Modern Milling Plant

There are of course larger milling plants at other places than the one Bowers Bros. are installing here, but there are none more modern, or any that will make any better grade of meal, for they are installing what is known as the rolling mill, which is considered by experts to be the best system of making corn meal yet designed. When the machinery is in place and ready to run, which they hoped to have ready by the middle or last of this week, they will have spent more than $3,000 for this machinery and installation.

A writer for this paper called on them the past Friday and were shown over the new plant, and had the privilege of seeing the new machinery and having its working parts, as well as the duty for which it was designed explained to us by Mr. Jim Lindley, who will have charge of the plant when it is completed. Mr. Lindley has been with the firm for several years as miller, and since they installed the modern crushing machinery and mixers last fall, has also had charge of that also. Mr. Lindley informed us that he would now have in his charge machinery that would make just as nice and clean meal as any shipped in, no matter where made, as he would have identically the same machinery as they.

The first machine the corn will enter will be a recleaner, made by the Great Western Mills Co. This takes out all the pieces of cobs, silks, or other foreign matter, and from it the corn is carried to the second floor where it enters a scowering machine. The corn passes through a series of brushes, which takes off all the dirt that may have been left after passing through the recleaner even the little tips on the end of the grain which fastens it to the cob. After which, it is now ready for the mill proper.

This mill is a series of rollers, each being a little finer than the preceding one. After passing through the first, the corn would be but little finer than that intended for chicken feed, but it has to pass through three more of these yet, and the last one reduces the size to the finest of pearl meal. The mill again finds the meal on the first floor. It is again carried by elevators to the second floor to the series of sieves, which removes every particle of bran from the meal, and it then comes down an elevator into sacks snow white and as near free of every impurity as it is possible for modern machinery to make it.

With this machinery installed and at work, there will absolutely be no excuse for any merchant in this section to order corn meal outside this city, for they will get the same product here now as if they ordered from the largest rolling mills in the country, and the beauty is it will all be made from corn raised in this immediate section. When customers order meal from their merchants, they should ask for and insist on home meal, for they will then be helping themselves.

Fair Supts. and Assistants Met Last Sat.

Terry County Fair Superintendents, assistants and Presidents of the 4-H Clubs of Terry County met in the County Agent's office last Saturday afternoon and discussed plans for the coming Fair.

The General Manager, J. E. Shelton, gave assurance that the big compress shed would be in readiness to receive exhibits as early as noon of Thursday, September 26th and that the clubs could count with their decorations by that hour.

A complete system of checking, labeling and bookkeeping will be employed by the Supt. and everything should run smoothly.

It will be the desire, and the intention of the Supt. to aid the exhibitors in every possible way and they expect with their helpers to solicit the aid of every person to make this the most successful and best Fair on the Plains.

Mr. J. E. Shelton and R. E. Wester, of Lubbock, were through this week on their way to Brownfield, where they will be in charge of the Fair.

SMITH HEADS COMPANY TO BUILD 80-STORY STRUCTURE

New York.—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith has announced he will head a company that will erect the largest building in the world, an 80-story skyscraper, on the site of the old Waldorf-Astoria hotel at Fifth Avenue and 34th Street.

The structure, to be known as the Empire State building, will tower above the street nearly 1,000 feet, about 200 feet higher than any existing building in Manhattan.

It is to be completed in a year and a half at an estimated cost of $60,000,000. Sixty thousand persons will be housed at one time in the building.

As president of the Empire State Building corporation, the former governor will be in executive control of construction and maintenance and operation of the building. The New York World today quotes a friend of Mr. Smith as saying he will probably receive $50,000 a year and a stock interest as salary.

THOSE ARSENIC BLUES

"Julius," confessed the dying Rachel "I haf it ah confession to make: I haf not been true to you."

"Tell it to me somedings dot I don't know," answered Julius. "For vy do you think I poisoned you?"

We were in the West Texas Gin this past week and took a look at the method of using natural gas for fuel, the first we had ever seen. It was working, and the management informed us that it was probably more economical than coal.

Monday of this week we met the new manager of the Hogan Dry Goods Store in this city, Mr. J. A. Woosley, of Tahoka. He and family are now located, and he seems to be well pleased with both his job and Brownfield. We found him a real optimist, and that is the kind of guys we like to "shake" with. Misses Ann and Addie Hamilton will continue to assist in this big store.

Rev. E. V. May informed us this week that he had just closed one of the most successful revivals the Baptist church has had in a number of years at Gomez. There were nineteen additions from all sources, 11 of which were baptized Monday morning.

Mr. John Gathing informed us this week that the Independent Gin of which he is manager, is spending some $5,000 on their plant this year, putting in some of the best cleaning machinery made.

"Hello," called a feminine voice over the telephone, "is this the Humane Society?"

"Yes," the reply. "Well, there's a book agent sitting in a tree, teasing my dog."

SEYMOUR entertained bankers from Baylor, Haskell and Knox counties on September 2. Eighteen banks are represented in this bankers association. Bankers in Throckmorton county will probably be present next year. A committee of Seymour women entertained the wives of the bankers.

The El Paso Chamber of Commerce was visited last week by President-Manager Bourland of the WTCC and plans were made for the eleventh annual convention of the regional organization, to be held October 24, 25 and 26, in the border city.

CHILDRESS was host to a joint encampment for 4-H Club boys and girls on August 30 and 31. Miss Mary Sitton, and Bill Pinson, Home demonstration agent and county agent respectively sponsored the activities of the 200 young people.

If our plans don't go wrong, we expect this to be the last issue put out on the little press, as we have finally located a man to install the new one.

Man Here to Contract Breaking Deep Soils

Mr. John I. Chesley, manager of the Lone Star Grader Co., of Lubbock was in Brownfield last Thursday and conferred with the county agent relative to contract breaking of land. According to an agreement he will break one-hundred acres of sod for Arthur Sawyer at a depth of 16 inches.

Mr. Chesley has been connected with this deep breaking every since its conception in Gaines county in the spring of '28 by the use of road graders. Large crawler type tractors and mold-board plows will be used in breaking this piece of land.

Breaking of this plot is largely an experiment in an effort to arrive at a cost of deep breaking and if it can be done at a reasonable low cost there are other farmers who will have as much as 100 acres of sand turned under this winter.

Wellman Entertainings

This community was blessed with a good rain Thursday eve.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Cates visited in the Hunter settlement Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Paul and two sons, Charles and Taylor visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Pace Tuesday night.

The revival meeting conducted by Elder Glen Wallace of A. C. C. is progressing nicely having some wonderful gospel lessons. Everybody come and bring some one with you.

Mrs. Estelle Crews and mother Mrs. W. B. Christopher visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Friday evening.

Wellman Gin received its first bale of cotton last Friday brought in by Mr. Moss of Hunter.

Mr. J. F. Singletary is very low at this writing.

J. F. Singleton returned home from Ralls last Wednesday evening.

Our opening program was given for the benefit of all the patrons, therefore we were honored with an audience of about two hundred people. Not all were Wellman people, some from Lahey and Prof. Rudd of Forrester Singing School and a goodly number of his students who were kind enough to entertain us with a number of quartets and yodeling songs such as "Dady at Home," "I'm in the Jail House Now" and several others accompanied with a guitar which was wildly applauded by every one. Just business meeting and concluded the program. Then delicious cake and ice cream was served to everyone after which we all went home thrilled over the nice entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder and family went to Sagerton to take her sister. Reported plenty of rain and hail.

Mr. and Mrs. Orcutt will leave for Estelline Wednesday to visit their daughter.

Mr. Paul Cates from Ackerly is visiting his brother Mr. P. R. Cates of this place.

Rev. J. W. Chisholm, former pastor of the Methodist church here, but now of Panhandle, sent us a front page of the Panhandle Herald the past week, which announced that the Methodist folks there led by Rev. John, were constructing a $30,000 church building. The Herald offers congratulation. John can get some work and construction out of most of 'em.

BIG CHAUTAUQUA CO. USES CHEVROLET SEDANS

For the first time in its 16 years existence Redpath Chautauqua is this year employing passenger cars to transport the members of its DeLuxe circuit. Buses and trains have been used in the past, but the comfort that the passenger car alone affords accounted for its ultimate selection.

The cars are Chevrolet six-cylinder sedans and the fact to which they are placed in transporting "bag and baggage" the 40 members of the company is indeed a formidable one. The itinerary of the group trails jaggedly from Florida to northern Wisconsin. The jaunt started April 1 and will not conclude until September at which time approximately 7,000 miles will have been traversed.

Unless one has traveled with a Chautauqua troupe it is almost impossible to realize the rigors entailed by travel of this sort. In the first place, the troupers are in the strictest sense not really troupers at all. They are persons who because of an outstanding reputation are drafted to traverse the smaller cities, many experiencing the life of the road for the first time.

J. M. Hill, of the Biological Survey, met the Commissioners' Court of Yoakum County, Monday. He reports that this County will likely follow the lead of Terry county in exterminating prairie dogs. Mr. Hill plans extensive dog killing campaigns over the South Plains this fall and will work out of Brownfield.

We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. John T. Henry to our city asidents and citizens. He is the district Supt. of the Continental Oil Co. in this section, and has been making a mesa his home. He considers Brownfield nearer the center of his district.

There is extra prize money on the best stall of cotton and the who wins that three dollars will have to have some stalk. It will be different this year in the cotton stalk class and so different that we wonder just how many bolls there will be on the first prize stalk?

Mr. and Mrs. Moon have moved back to Brownfield from Wellman, as they have sold one store and leased the other at that place. He could not get his residence here as it is rented at this time, and will have to rent another house for awhile.

Official paper of Terry County.

Lamesa has selected the site for the erection of their quarter million dollar milk plant. While this section will be just a feeder for the plant under present arrangements, it is said that we will indirectly benefit from its establishment.

Reports of the opinion of the Hockley county agent in last week's Levelland Herald, back up the opinion of that of the Lynn, Terry and Gaines county agents in their opinion that deep breaking is the salvation of our deep sandy lands.

There is now strong talk of a number of the cities and towns along the Denver road below the cap forming a corporation to pipe water from the shallow water belt of the plains down there for drinking and other domestic purposes, but does the Plains want some twenty million gallons of their water per day piped out of that section?

Editor J. W. Smith and sons, of Lamesa have sold the Lamesa Reporter to other parties, who call the publication The New Reporter. Elbert W. Smith, no relation, we understand, heads the new owners as president of the company. They promise Lamesa and Dawson county a good paper, and the first issue under the new management confirms this promise.

If the Interstate Commerce Commission abides by the recommendation of the commissioner who heard the evidence at Lubbock early this year, both the Santa Fe and the Texas & Pacific will be allowed to build into Lea county, N. M. It is said that the Santa Fe will only be allowed to build to Lovington from Seagraves, while the Texas & Pacific will come to Hobbs.

Lots of lives are being lost every week by people who ride the air. People who imagine their time is worth a great deal will risk traveling by air, but our time has never required faster transportation any time than the express train, or an ordinary automobile. In fact, an ox wagon would be used by us in emergencies rather than the airplane. That mode of travel is still far from safe.

If two races of people are to live here in peace, and we believe they will, both must allow to the other the respect, courtesy and consideration that is due the other. There can never be such a thing in the South as race equality, and there is no use talking about the matter, and the better class of negroes are as much opposed to it as the white people. They don't want it. They prefer to have their own society, church and schools to themselves.

Well they tell us that Brownfield is within 40 miles of a real oil well over in Cochran county. The well is standing from 1500 to 2000 feet in real oil, they tell us. While the fact has created no excitement here worthy of mention, it nevertheless more and more confirms the fact that there is a pool of oil in this section. There are now oil fields in every direction, and geologists are all badly fooled if there is not oil in this section, and lots of it. But the time has come when new fields are being opened so fast that none of them create the excitement that they used to do, and cause people to lose their heads and make foolish investments.

As far as we can see at the present time, there seems to be nothing at all to write any long winded heavy editorial about this week except to say that it has finally rained and we don't mean maybe. We certainly have a fine season in the ground at this time, and folks can now sow turnips and bring us a mess later on—if they want too. Many are already aching at this time (Wed.) for it to let up, as they have scarcely seen the sun since last Saturday, but let us remind one and all that if it had not been for the heavy rainfall of last winter, we would have been blown up for a crop this year. It really was not the amount of rain we have had this year that gave us an average crop, but the bottom season that was supplied last fall. Come to Terry. The sun will shine later Nellie.

We read recently where some fellow who was suffering with the heat weighed his wife's clothes and then weighed his own. Her garments, including shoes, weighed a little over a pound; his tipped the beam at seven and one-half pounds. It does seem strange how men will weigh themselves down just to follow the custom while women keep shortening their skirts and taking off something else to gain more comfort. Fashion and convention play too great a role in our every day life, and while we laugh at the women and call them "style-crazy," we are the ones who really dress uncomfortably and actually do the suffering. Maybe some day we, too, will get up as much nerve as the women, so we can tell the clothing makers, as they tell the dress designers, to either give us something comfortable or we'll quit wearing clothes altogether.—Miami Chief.

THE CORRECT DIMENSIONS

The theory of "FOUR DIMENSIONS" has bothered scientists and mathematicians for ages past, but if you consider this bank as your banking connection, you will find its three correct dimensions to be:

- 1.—Large enough that its strength, security and facilities may be adequate for your every requirement.
- 2.—Broad enough in spirit and perspective to assist you to realize all the possibilities of your endeavors.
- 3.—Small enough that its officers may know you and be thoroughly acquainted and heartily in sympathy with what you are working to accomplish.

Are these not the correct dimensions for your bank?

Vital Statistic Law Should Be Enforced

According to figures compiled from data secured by the scholastic census enumerators and checked with the birth certificates on file with the State Health Department only 73% of the children born in Terry County during 1928 were registered by the physician or midwife in attendance, as required by law. This shows that the doctors and midwives are failing to comply with the law and are thus depriving many children of your county of the protection of a legal record of their age, parentage and citizenship.

This failure is also causing the veterans of the World War and their widows a considerable amount of trouble and expense in filing claims for compensation with the Veteran's Bureau.

A concerted drive is being made at this time in an effort to improve registration in Texas so that it may be admitted to the Federal Registration Area during 1929. If this is to be done the combined efforts of all civic agencies and local officials is necessary. Only two other states are outside of the Area at this time. 90% efficiency is required for admission.

J. T. ROBISON IS CALLED BY DEATH ON 1st VACATION

AUSTIN, Sept. 7 (AP)—J. T. Robison, commissioner of the general land office for 21 years, died of pneumonia in New London, Conn., early today. He had gone there for a visit with his son, Dr. J. T. Robison, Jr., leaving here last July. It was his first vacation from the general land office since he entered its employ as a clerk 34 years ago.

He left here soon after the house of representatives had exonerated him of proposed impeachment charges involving his administration of the land office. At the time of his departure, the 67 year old commissioner, who held the distinction of being Texas' oldest official, both in years and point of service, was plainly fatigued.

Burial in Austin

Robison's body will be brought to Austin for burial in the family plot beside a son and daughter, who preceded him in death. The daughter died after reaching womanhood.

Funeral arrangements will not be completed until after the body is received here next Monday afternoon.

Robison suffered a nervous breakdown soon after reaching New London and later contracted pneumonia. His condition had been precarious for several days.

Robison was a nephew of Joel Robison, Texas patriot who was with the group at San Jacinto that captured Santa Anna.

Flags At Half Mast

The Lone Star flags on the capitol and land office were flown at half mast in memory of the veteran official.

Governor Moody is empowered under the constitution to appoint a successor, to fill out the unexpired term which ends in January, 1931. Until a commissioner is appointed, J. H. Walker, chief clerk, under the law, will be acting commissioner. He was serving in this capacity during Robison's absence.

Troubles Started

After having served in public office for many years without accusation of wrong-doing, Robison's troubles began last January, when he refused to postpone sales of mineral rights in University of Texas lands, after he had been importuned to do so by the board of regents, Governor Moody and the attorney general's department.

Pie-Town Poetry Written As Prose

We started for Pie Town on Monday morn. To see if we could homestead a farm. For Mrs. Mattie Donaldson had told us there—was the place for the future World's Fair. Ralph and O. M. and two they called Bill; Anton, Elmer, Arvol and Mr. Hill. This is the bunch that took this trip. We went in a truck which we called our ship. The roads were fine we went pretty fast. We ate our supper and the day was past. Got up next morning and started again, we hadn't slept on account of the trains. We ate our dinner in the middle of the hills, our appetite was great and we needed no pills. That very same evening we crossed the divide. If you say it is hot there, I'll tell you, you lied. We arrived in Pie Town that evening pretty late. We went into a cafe and some pies we ate. We camped in a camphouse nearby, the signs all said "Pie Town for Pie." Of our third days wandering I'll give you the key, we started out Mrs. Mattie Donaldson to see. We met two pioneers on the way who said that country didn't pay. They said that farming is a hundred to one bet and no rancher has ever made money there yet. We turned around but found the road worse, some of the bunch wanted to curse. I'll tell you some of the things you'll find there. There is mountain grazing and mountain air. I'll have to admit the scenery is fine, lots of the mountains are covered with pine. We landed in Reserve at the close of day with the nearest railroad over 100 miles away. We heard the frogs there, 'twas a pleasant sound; We saw the clouds rise from out of the ground. Our next day's roads were dangerous and risky, and saw four deer which were beautiful and frisky. On our fifth day out we arrived in Hot Springs, the town was full of tourists and such things. The water there is mineral and hot, some people like it, but I do not. The memory of that town remains with me still. It rained so hard, water ran uphill. We went out and west thru Elephant Butte Dam. This great structure was built by Uncle Sam.

We went out on the lake and took a boat ride, we went around the Butte and back on the other side. We left there Sunday and made pretty good time. Went over in Mexico and drank some wine. We drove late that night it wasn't very warm; We finally camped in the town of Van Horn. It rained on us every day, sometimes I wanted to cry, but when we got home we found it still dry. We got back home alright, for the driver was a Dane, I had so much fun that trip I wish I could go again.

Awards Given Several Local Boy Scouts

The representatives of the South Plains Area Council, Boy Scouts of America held Court of Honor in Brownfield on Friday night, September 6th at the Baptist church.

Rev. L. G. H. Williams, President of the Council, H. B. Yates, Acting Executive and W. R. McDuffie, Deputy Commissioner made the following awards:

Merit Badges—Lee Brownfield received badges in Safety First, Conservation and Woodcraft. Ray Brownfield was awarded badges in Firemanship, Agriculture and Safety First.
Donald King received badges in Gardening, Firemanship and Bird Study.
Vernon Bell was awarded badges in Personal Health and Public Health.
R. L. Bandy was awarded badges in Civics, Bird Study and Camping.

Ray Brownfield was recognized as an Eagle Scout, having passed all requirements for this honor and will receive his badge at the next meeting of the Court of Honor in November.

Scouts Spencer Kendrick and Lee
Brownfield were presented with Eagle Scout badges in a very fine talk by Rev. Williams as President of the South Plains Council. Rev. Williams pointed out that Brownfield was now the only town on the Plains excepting Lubbock which could boast of more than one Eagle Scout.

Scout Spencer Kendrick received special recognition for his outstanding Scout work in the form of a Scholarship from the University of Texas. He is the first scout in this section of the State to receive this honor. It will be remembered that Spencer carried off all honors in swimming and diving events at the summer encampment at Post this summer and is also the only Senior Red Cross Life Saver in this section.

Preparations are now under way for establishing a second troop of Boy Scouts in Brownfield and it is believed that organization will be completed within a short time.

PARIS STAYS UP ALL NIGHT NOW

No Real Parisian Knocks Off
His Evening Pleasure
Until 4 A. M.

Paris.—Smart Paris is developing insomnia. Night life has become early morning life, and no real Parisian would think of knocking off his night's pleasure now, before four o'clock in the morning.

During the winter, the smart set was hard put to find something new to do. Spring weather has solved that problem by permitting all night revelries. Blase Parisians, tired of Montmartre and its cabarets, fed up with the ordinary plays of the theaters this winter and looking for something new to tease their jaded appetites, have leaped to this opportunity.

So to be really smart you have to stay up all night. At the start, it must be pointed out that Paris is in a world of its own. Tourists can never get a visa to that set, and the smart Parisians shun tourists like poison.
They stay out of the tourist cabarets and that is why they have been so hard put to find diversion.

Montmartre Is Dead.

Montmartre is dead to Parisians.
True, the lights still burn brightly on the hilltop, the girls dance with the same gay abandon, and negro jazz or Argentine tango bands sit on every doorstep, but even Montmartre knows that it is doomed.

Montparnasse is killing Montmartre, and Americans are to blame. The tourists have gotten off the beaten path of the "Grand Duke's tour," which used to climb around the hilltop of Montmartre, and they are now knocking about the Boulevard Mont-parnasse between two and four o'clock in the morning.

Just a few years ago Montparnasse began and ended at the corner of the Boulevard Raspail and Montparnasse.
The two famous cafes, the Dome and the Rotonde, stood on opposite corners and were filled with artists of various calibers.

Commercializing Gayety.

Now even the creameries stay open all night and once staid umbrella shops have given way to dance halls, paint shops to cabarets and Montparnasse is commercializing gayety for the tourists.

But smart Parisians do not go there.
They have found amusement places still farther out. Not far from the fortifications in the Vaugirard quarter are several ballrooms and bars patronized by West Indies and Central African negroes. There the smartest of the smart Parisians trek every morning around three. There they find all the excitement their blase appetites crave.

Paris at night, as it is advertised for tourists, is not exactly the Paris discovered by the real noctambules, men who boast they never see the sun, whose day starts at seven in the evening and goes on all night, and whose real pride is to discover something new in the way of pleasures.

In past ages night life consisted of a play, then to Neully for the fair, and on to Montmartre in the places where good "diseurs" used to sing French songs, with some witty side-cracks on the celebrities of the day.
We still have some theaters of that kind but it is considered quite "bourgeois" to go there.

Night Life Changing.

Night life in Paris is changing and the cafes of the Bohemian painters are transformed into night places for high society and millionaires. To make a success of a place it must not be too big; then cubist paintings on the walls, more chairs than tables and many more people than places to move.

Frequently charming places with good dancing floors, tasteful decorations, agreeable atmosphere, turn out to be perfect failures. In Paris the smaller the place is, the greater success it has. The newcomers must always have the impression that they are let in just because they are they.

It is interesting to watch how unknown back shops suddenly metamor-phose into notorious night places where cars pour out millionaires from all parts of the globe, because night life in Paris has always had a strange fascination on foreigners.

Some Parisians take great pleasure in piloting their friends to an unknown place and after a few dances and drinks suggest to the owner a funny name for the place which the crowd adopts without protest from the owner.

These anonymous places are adopted by the people who are present and who bring along their friends, they shake hands with the owner, calling him Alfred or Gustave, and every one has a sort of paternal feeling toward the place until the day tourists hear about it, then the prices go up with an unthinkable rapidity. The godfather is treated like a poor cousin, making him hunt for another place.
That is how the innumerable new night places which are springing up at every corner of Montparnasse can be explained.

Former P. M. Issues
Statement to Public

There seems to be quite a bit of speculation as to why I transferred from the position of postmaster here to Rural Carrier, and it is my desire to make it known to the public that I transferred to the position of Rural Letter Carrier of my own volition, and did so on account of my health, the indoors works being detrimental to my health. I also wish to make clear to the people that I was not a Political Postmaster as some seemed to think, but I was a Classified Civil Service Employee, and was termed a Service Postmaster.

I desire to thank the public through the columns of our good paper for the splendid co-operation given us at the postoffice during my short period of service as your postmaster, and I might also state that I have been in the Postal Service 15 years, and have been employed in several different postoffices throughout the South, and I have never served a more considerate bunch of people than we have here in Brownfield.

CLAUDE JONES,
Former Postmaster.

NOTICE

A meeting will be held at the high school building at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon for those who are interested in an Extension Course from Texas Technological College. Mr. J. F. McDonald, director of the extension work will be here in this meeting.

J. J. Gaston says that he has already put a melon in the cellar for the County Fair. Mr. Gaston had first prize melon last year and the writer knows it was good for he helped eat the melon.

Mrs. Mack—"I'm bothered with a little wart that I'd like to have removed."

Doctor Williams—"The divorce lawyer is at the second door to your left."

Rotary Club Host to Our College Students

The Brownfield Rotary Club had as their guests to a luncheon last Friday evening eighteen boys and girls of this city who are going away to College this year. Tom May acted as program chairman and started the program by the club singing two familiar songs. This was followed by string music furnished by Jesse Garrison.

Morgan Copeland made a fine, inspirational talk and was responded to by Robbie Hardin.

John King, Homer Winston and John Winston were the unlucky Rotarians in having to make extemporaneous talks but were the lucky ones in that they received a bunch of stick candy, a sponge, and a bar of soap as prizes.

A former negro minstrel gave some excellent demonstrations in dancing and he left no doubt in the minds of the gathering but that he sho' could handle those feet of his.

A quartet composed of Clyde Lewis, Chris Quante, Warren Dodson and Mrs. Joe McGowan sang one song beautifully but unfortunately they were encored back and they gallantly tried another but in order to preserve harmony each were taken out and promptly shot by George Tiernan which closed a pleasant and a profitable program.

Student guests were Louise Holgate, who is attending West Texas State Teacher's College at Canyon; Vivian Winston and Robbie Hardin, Abilene Christian College at Abilene; Uyless Graham, New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell; and Glenn Webber, Madeline Elliott, Bill Collins, Larue and Christova Sawyer, Louise, Bessie and Jessie Chisholm Harlan Howell, Jim Cousineau, Lolan Flippin, Adolphus Smith, James Harley Dallas and Elizabeth Hargraves who will attend the Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Everett Michie and Bob Bowers have charge of the program this week and have procured the services of Mr. Harley Sadler, who will give an excellent program with his troupe of players who are in Brownfield this week.

TIME HERE TO PLANT SMALL GRAIN PASTURES

College Station—Pointing out that oats, barley, rye and wheat are all valuable winter pasture crops for livestock and poultry in most parts of Texas, as well as serving a very useful purpose as cover crops to hold available plant food in the soil, E. A. Miller, Extension Agronomist, suggests early sowing of these crops to get the most out of them. Experience has shown, he says, that small grains sowed by the middle of September furnish more grazing than crops seeded later.

To get early pasture these crops may be drilled between cotton or corn or grain sorghum rows with a small grain drill, or may be broadcast and then covered by use of a fine-tooth one-row cultivator, harrow or other scratcher. Seeding should be thick, at the rate of about 90 pounds per acre, if grazing is desired.

When the crop is to be saved for grain or hay as well, it is advisable, Mr. Miller states, to spray oat or barley seed with a formaldehyde solution at the rate of one pint of formaldehyde to ten gallons of water to prevent smut. This amount will be enough to treat 40 bushels of seed. After spraying, the seed should be shovelled over two or three times, placed in a pile and covered with a wagon sheet for several hours. It may be sowed without further drying.

Wheat smut is controlled by the copper carbonate treatment. The seed is placed in a tight container so arranged that it can be revolved on an axis. From two to three ounces of powdered copper carbonate should be sprinkled on every bushel of seed and thoroughly mixed by revolving the container.

Advertisers should remember that readers of country newspapers read every line, advertising included, and they buy everything from paint on the roof to cement in the cellar floor, from the separator in the kitchen to the daughter's silk stockings. The greatest influence on public opinion rests with the ten thousand country editors.—Arthur Brisbane.

Big Milk Plant to Serve Eight Counties

With the large powdered milk factory which is to be built at Lamesa dairying in the eight Lower South Plains counties will be given a boost. This plant is to cost $225,000.00 and will likely be in operation in January next year. The Douthitt Engineering Company of Chicago, Ill., is furnishing half the Capital and local business men of Lamesa and O'Donnell are subscribing half the money to build this, the first factory for this area and for the farmers of this section." The eight counties that will be served by this plant are: Dawson, Borden, Howard, Martin, Andrews, Gaines, Terry and Lynn. From the plant milk routes will operate some thirty miles. At such points as Tahoka, Brownfield, Seagraves, and other points where production is sufficient cooling stations will be built and from these stations milk routes will radiate as from the plant bringing milk to the cooling station and from here large thermos trucks will haul the milk to the plant.

Cow finance organizations are being formed for the purpose of placing more good jersey milk cows in the area. In this area a survey reveals there are now 12,000 to 15,000 head of good milk stock. It is the plans of the cow finance organizations to bring from 1,000 to 2,000 head more good cows into this section for each county that will be served by the plant.

So, with the milk plant assured for there are now 12,000 to 15,000 head feel optimistic for the future. Cotton will be velvet money crop and the farmers of the area who patronize the milk plant will have their living assured at home. Again, the thousands of acres of good tilable Lower South Plains Land will fast go under the plow for good stock farmers will be induced to the section now that in this "land of feed" a sure and better market for these products are to be realized through the dairy cow. The new slogan to be adopted for this area with the installation of the milk plant is "The Land of Milk and Sunshine."—O'Donnell Index.

The Who? What? and How? of the Co. Fair

Just what will be the best part of the Fair this year? Will it be the clubs with their artistic back grounds and fronts with the products of the score card neatly arranged so as to attract the eye of the judges and the visitors? Will it be the booths of the merchants who are joining hands with the rural people in making this a complete Fair? Will it be the massive teams in harness, the colts who are in town for their first time, the Herefords with their spotless white faces, the meek Jerseys whose coats are as fine as silk, the sleek fat hogs that are the pride of their owners, or the beautiful chickens and turkeys who have the cocks to crows for them?

Will it be the part that contains the fine and beautiful works of home arts or that undeniable beauty given to flowers by nature?

Will it be the Automobile section with its collection of flashy cars ready for the tests of the motorists?

Will it be the people with their interested and smiling faces or will it be ALL OF THE FAIR?

C. of C. Sec. Mailing Out Fair Catalogs

By the time that this issue of the Herald reaches the readers. More than 2,500 hundred fair catalogs will have been mailed to people in Terry, Yoakum and Gaines Counties, Texas and Lea County, New Mexico. We have tried to reach every family in each of the four counties, but of course numbers of them have been left out, because we did not have their address. All who do not have a catalog by the end of the week, may secure one by calling at the chamber of commerce office.

We are arranging to take care of a large crowd to see the best fair that has ever been staged in this section. More and better fireworks, music and other attractions will be provided. As good a showing of hogs and a better showing of dairy cattle will be had than was the case last year and more of the merchants are going to display their wares. In short, every department will be more complete and will be displayed to such an advantage that visitors will be able to spend a pleasant and profitable time on September 27th and 28th.

THE F. M. S. ENTERTAINS

Invitations, in poetry form, were received by the college students, Wednesday, inviting them to a clever party, given at the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. V. May, Thursday evening, at eight o'clock. This token of thoughtfulness was sponsored by the Federated Missionary Societies of Brownfield. When the guests arrived, they were asked to register, after which the young men were given white and the young women yellow novelty caps to wear throughout the evening. The students were then led to the dining room where Mrs. L. A. Townsend served punch. Exciting games were played, one of which was "Object Fantasies," in which Miss Fay Brown won high and Miss Bessie Chisholm next to high. They were each asked to give their first reading. Another contest of the evening was one in which the names of songs were involved. Miss Elizabeth Hargrave and Miss Fay Brown won high in this, an Irish potato. Many other games were enjoyed, each, adding to the evening's entertainment.

Lastly, the guests were given white ribbon streamers and thumb tacks, which they attached to a large map, hanging from the mantle, at the location of their respective schools. When the net had been woven with the ribbons, Mrs. May very beautifully explained that the white ribbons represented love which would still bind the students to their friends at home. The hostess was very competently assisted in the success of the occasion by Mesdames S. H. Holgate, C. R. Baldwin, Flem McSpadden, J. H. Griffin, and L. A. Townsend. Lovely brick ice cream and cake in yellow and white color scheme, were served to Miss Christova Sawyer, Vivian Winston, Madeline Elliott, Bessie, Jessie and Louise Chisholm, Brown, Elizabeth Hargrave, Robbie Hardin, Louise Holgate and Messrs Gnn Webber, Blue Graham, Jim Cosineau, Denison Cook, Harlan Heell, Lolan Flippin and Spencer Kdrick.

Rotary Club Banquet

gain the College students were deghtfully entertained when the Rotary Club sponsored a banquet at the Hotel Brownfield. This we understand is reported elsewhere in this issue by one of the club's members. This was, indeed, a clever program and a lovely meal, and will long be remembered and appreciated by the honorees as one of the most enjoyable occasions of their remembrance.

Miss Mary Perkins, who is to again teach English in the Brownfield High School, came in Wednesday from her home in Brownwood, Texas. She will be at home with Mrs. A. M. McBurnett.

THE I-DEAL CLUB

Mrs. Ike Bailey, Wednesday afternoon, entertained the I-Deal Club with a bridge party. A very pretty boudoir lamp was given Mrs. L. M. Wingerd for high; and for next to high, Mrs. W. R. McDuffie was given a clever mayonnaise set. To Mesdames W. H. Collins, Ralph Carter, D. B. DuBois, A. W. Endersen, Leo Holmes, MsSpadden, McDuffie, Wingerd, McGowan, Ray Brownfield and A. M. Brownfield, were served stuffed tomatoes, cheese sandwiches, refrigerator cake and iced tea.

CONTRACT BRIDGE CLUB

Friday afternoon, Mrs. R. L. Bowers entertained, very delightfully, the members of the Contract Bridge Club. For high score, Mrs. W. R. McDuffie was given a very pretty hammered design silver jewel box. Lovely silk lingerie was given as table prizes. Delicious angel food cake and apricot sherbet were served to Mesdames J. E. Michie, W. R. McDuffie, A. W. Endersen, John King, Ray Brownfield, C. Hudgens, D. B. DuBois, and Jim Miller.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A number of the young friends of Miss Shirley Bond were entertained at a lovely lawn party Monday on her tenth birthday, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Clyde Bond. After many games were played, the guests were served on the lawn. The honoree received many nice presents from her guests: Virginia May, Julia Ruth Markham, Bonnie Dale Gross, Kathy Madge Hunter, Helen Quante, Wanda Graham, Ima Gene Wall, Eunice Michie, Ora Dee Eiche, El Ray and Vondee Lewis, and E. V. May, Jr.

Norman Blackstock left Tuesday for Plainview, Texas where he will enter Wayland College for the incoming school year.

TULLIA has a farmer named Muirhead who is past 80 years of age who successfully farms his 100 acre farm alone. This year he had 80 acres in wheat which averaged 20 bushels per acre. All of the work except combining was done by him. The land was summer fallowed with a team of mules.

Night Watchman—Young man, are you going to kiss that girl?
He (straightening up)—"No, sir."
Night Watchman—"Here, then, hold my lantern."

WILL THEY COME BACK?

We heard a very ardent democratic supporter of Hoover in the last campaign express the fear the other day that many thousands of democrats who left the party in that election would not come back into the field, as he has done.

He went on to add that he had serious doubts as to whether they could be induced to come back even at the earnest solicitation of their leaders. This man is a very ardent prohibitionist and his fears were not so great for the perpetuity of the party as they were that the democrats who supported Hoover would be unable to control the next primary if too many of them stayed out of that primary.

We believe his fears are groundless. Undoubtedly a few thousand who voted the republican ticket last November will remain in the republican camp. They were republicans at heart to start with. In Texas are hundreds of thousands of persons who in recent years have come from northern republican sections. When they came to Texas in order to have any voice in local or state politics they got into the habit of going into the democratic primaries, which is the election that has nearly always settled the issues.

Now, that they have actually seen the state go into the republican ranks once in a presidential election they will be enough heartened to stay with the party to which they originally belonged for a season.

But it is our guess that that number isn't sufficiently large to again jeopardize the chances of Texas remaining for a good many years in the ranks of democracy, unless it should again face conditions similar to those of last year.

The plea of Oscar Colquitt that democrats who voted for Hoover remain out of the primary and nominate an opposition ticket in the November election seems to have awakened but little response. We have yet to hear of any of the other leaders endorsing his views. On the other hand we believe most of them are anxiously urging that dry democrats get back in to the fold and control the party, instead of trying to wreck it. That is as it should be.—Houston Mirror.

Roy Draper had business in the city, Tuesday.

A SOUND CRITICISM

The following was published in the San Antonio Light under head of "Interviews" and is to the point.

"Dad Moody's administration should serve as a warning to the people of Texas for many years to come that a lawyer, especially a young prosecuting attorney, is not fitted by training in the economic and practical affairs of life to be Governor of Texas. Moody's administration has been the most foolish and fruitless down thru the years it has been my opportunity to observe.

"Lawyers have filled the Governor's chair for many years and Hobby has been the only constructive Governor Texas has had since Hogg and Hobby was not a lawyer. The people should resolve not to elect another lawyer for Governor for many years to come and should see to it that not more 50 per cent of the Legislators are lawyers. Lawyers have their place in this country of us, they are a necessary evil, but they should not predominate in the Legislature nor in the administrative affairs of the State. If the Legislature was made up of all newspaper men or doctors or merchants, it would not be long before we would all be working for either one or the other class of which the Legislature might happen to be composed as most of us are now doing for the lawyers. A lawyer Legislature plants a new crop of laws every time they convene and the product is a crop of litigation by which only lawyers profit.

"It is high time for a 'new Deal' and to call people from other walks of life to make our laws and administer our government."

More Wear From Every Pair

—that's why I always choose Wolverine Horsehides!

THREE years' wear from one pair of work shoes! To the man accustomed to wearing out a pair of shoes in a few months, this may seem impossible. Yet there are many actual cases on record where Wolverine shoes have worn two and three years. Here's the reason—Wolverines are made of Shell Cordovan Horsehide (the part over the hips of the horse), recognized as the longest wearing leather because it has two wearing surfaces.

Wolverines also stay soft despite rain or snow, slush or water. You'll find they stand up longer against acids, rips and tears. And you can't scuff the uppers. That's why Wolverine always look dressy. Whatever style you wear—for whatever purpose—we have a wide range of Wolverine styles to show you—at prices that save you money in the long run.

BLESSED BREVITY

There is a story, so old that to some it may be new, of an Irish section foreman who, being told to cut down his lengthy and loquacious reports, achieved a real epic of brevity in reporting the derailing of a fast freight when he wrote: "Off agin, on agin, gone agin—Finnegin."

Even though our grandfathers may have chuckled over this story, it still points us to the real value of brevity. Almost every day we must listen to those who ramble on and on in their conversation, talking so much that they have little time to think of anything worth saying. Such random discourse is a sign of the unorderly mind, mental processes fast losing their power through lack of use.

The more we think, the less we have to say; for logical thought disposes of many considerations and leads us to conclusions which can be more briefly stated.

We hold no brief against conversation which follows thought. It is when the order is reversed, or when thought is dispensed with altogether, that we are bored. How easy it is to slip into the habit of just talking, or that even worse affliction of reminiscing of things or occurrences of trivial, uninteresting, pointless nature—incidents in the old home town, back on the farm, etc.

How often do men belittle themselves by what they say, being so eager for speech that their sentiments or expressed opinions do not truly represent their real beliefs or convictions. Blessed is brevity of speech, for it gives time for thought.—Southwestern Ambassador.

Gives Hints on Selecting Exhibits For Fair

In selecting all exhibits for exhibition you pick out the best that you have. Now this BEST is often confused with Biggest. The first prize ten heads of grain sorghums or ten ears of corn will most likely not be the largest on exhibition. Compact heads that are mature, well filled out with grain and of UNIFORM size and shape will win. Ten ears of corn that are well filled out at both tips and butts, with straight rows of grain, and that are uniform in size, shape, and color, will win. Cotton boll exhibits should be large five-locked bolls that are clean and fluffy and of GOOD staple. Cotton stalks need to be well fruited with as many bolls as possible and more of a medium sized stalk. Extra large stalks with scattered bolls will not win. Watermelons, kershaws and pumpkins should be large but smoothness counts also. In vegetables and fruits the proper size is that size which is best for eating or selling. Don't select the largest onions or beets that you can find, but get those medium sized ones that are smooth and of the same size. The same thing is true of potatoes, okra, or any other edible exhibit shown in quantities. Be sure that you have the amount called for in the catalogue and the best that you have on the place.

I will be glad to help any exhibitor, as far as I am able to do so, if you will call on me at my office.

THE BANK'S PART IN THE FARM PROBLEM

By H. LANE YOUNG

Member American Bankers Association
Agricultural Commission

ONE of the most discussed and least understood questions regarding the farmer's problems is the part the bank has played, or is to play, in financing the farmer. The basis of co-operation between the two, however, is a very simple one.

H. Lane Young

Both sides are subject to criticism for the condition that exists today. The major share of the blame rests on those banks that have failed through disregarding fundamental principles in loaning other people's money, that have encouraged the farmer to expect bank loans without first putting his business on the earning basis which would justify a bank to lend him money.

One of the underlying reasons for the failure of so many country banks has been the existence of too many banks. With the limited business of the community divided among too many banks it was impossible for them to make enough money to justify the employment of officers with the proper ability to manage the bank successfully. Then the scramble for business was so hard that good judgment and foresight were forgotten in granting loans, with the resultant failure of the weaker institutions.

In the future, banks are not going to loan the money of their depositors without the kind of security that can be immediately realized upon in case the loan is not paid, or unless the applicant presents a sound and successful record of business operation—whether that business be manufacturing, merchandising, or farming.

Farming-Banking Interdependent

This is a perfectly obvious attitude, because country banking cannot be successfully and profitably carried on unless farming is successfully and profitably operated—the two businesses are dependent upon each other. There is no longer any question that the time has arrived for these interdependent businesses to reach a common ground of understanding of the requirements that both must meet for their mutual welfare.

There is no doubt but what the future prosperity of the farmer and the basis of cooperation between banker and farmer is the intelligent diversification of crops. It is necessary, however, to have the right conception of diversification.

The mistake that many farmers have made in attempting to diversify has been to invest too much money, time and land in a new and untried crop—sometimes a hazardous crop, or one for which no immediate market has been developed, resulting in a loss of the initial effort and discouragement of future efforts on a more conservative basis.

Disregarding the primary and essential principle of farming—namely, increasing earnings by decreasing the cost of production through the practice of building up soil by crop rotation and intensive cultivation, is responsible for a large share of the farmers' trouble today.

As An Agriculturalist Sees Farm Board's Job

The new Agricultural Marketing Act approaches farm relief from a materially different point of view from that of former bills before Congress in recent years, says Dean H. L. Russell of Wisconsin University College of Agriculture in the American Bankers Association Journal.

"It contains a new idea, fraught with the greatest possibilities—the organization of a Federal Farm Board," he says. "It has been possible for farm cooperatives to borrow from Federal-aided institutions before, and at a materially lower rate than city business men had to pay for working capital, but this is the first set-up made by the government in which a commission has been carefully chosen to give undivided attention to an effort to solve the problems of a farm group."

"It is hard to conceive of a higher degree of responsibility than must be assumed by this commission. No board ever created by congressional action has been clothed with as wide plenary powers. It is authorized not only to advise but to execute, to plan and put its plans into effective action, to buy and hold, to dump, to dip into the Federal treasury to accomplish its ends with what would be almost unlimited resources to any private commercial concern. The board's only job is to succeed, and no governmental agency even during the war time emergency had a wider latitude."

"Many will think the farm relief program will be universally applicable to the individual land owner or operator. Such procedure is far from the case. Aid is to be extended through cooperative organizations by making it possible for such groups to obtain cash advances to hold crops so as to permit of more orderly marketing."

"While the primary relation is with cooperatives, the individual or unorganized farmer will also profit by the activities of his organized fellows. If a stabilized program of merchandising is able to eliminate the surpluses that exert such depressing influence on prices the general price relation should be improved. If this occurs the individual farmer should also benefit.

"It is here the government is proposing a novel attempt in economics. Through stabilization corporations for each commodity it is proposed to make possible the handling of the surplus so as to lessen its disturbing influence on prices. With non-perishable products such a program is, of course, conceivably possible, but one wonders what would happen if a stabilization corporation had to handle a perishable crop in great quantities."

"Is it going to be possible for a stabilization corporation to stabilize? It would be one thing if it had merely to stabilize the American situation, but often that situation is complicated with world conditions. Perhaps the very fact that such a stabilization corporation is in position to function may have a steadying effect on the market."

"Markets respond to psychological stimuli as do individuals. The very fact that the government has now definitely stepped into the breach with all of its resources available to make the new plan work will exert undoubtedly a strong stabilizing effect."

"It would be presumptuous to forecast what the ultimate effect of the new act will be. It can, however, be definitely stated that in the present plan much of the philosophy that had been so drastically criticized as economically unsound has been eliminated. The existing plan is worth trying. It will undoubtedly cost the Federal treasury no inconsiderable amounts of money, but if it produces the hoped-for result it will have been well worth while."

NAVAL RESERVE TO SEE SEA SERVICE

Will Spend Two Weeks on a U. S. Destroyer.

Washington.—Plans for giving each of the 9,000 naval reservists of the United States two weeks of training at sea during the coming summer have been announced by the Navy department.

Ships from the destroyer squadrons of both the scouting and battle fleets, aided by other vessels assigned for this special duty, will be detailed by the department for the cruises, it was stated.

Destroyers have been selected as training ships, the Navy department explained, because it is to this type of vessel reservists would be assigned in time of emergency. The United States navy now has 106 destroyers in commission and 156 in the laid up fleet. The latter would be manned by the trained reserves in event of mobilization.

Concentration of reserves for the summer cruise will begin July 6 and continue in various naval districts until September. The continental United States is divided into 13 sections. Separate training plans have been made for the reserves of each of them.

Three Criminal Cases Tried—One Yesterday

District Court is still in session and moving along nicely. Most of the civil cases have been disposed of by trial or continuance, and three criminal cases have already been tried, and another came up yesterday, but at this time we are unable to give the readers its disposition.

The two men who were caught near Carlsbad, N. M., as related in these columns some four weeks ago, whose names were given as Lewis King and Monroe Wise, and who were alleged to have broken into the McSpadden Battery and Welding Shop here to use in burglarizing the Meadow Bank, were tried on the first case and admitted breaking into the battery shop and were given a minimum sentence of two years in the pen. They implicated three other men, Parker, Harris and another man whose name we failed to get. Harris is in jail now at Pecos on a Federal charge of transporting a stolen car from one state to another. King and Wise were not tried on the Meadow bank case, but were not promised immunity for giving state's evidence in that case.

Coy Maroney, of Tokio was tried last week for alleged assault to murder on another citizen of that community, and given two years in the pen. His attorney asked for a new trial, and that being refused he has appealed to the court of criminal appeals.

The case on docket for Thursday of this week was State of Texas vs. Maroney for alleged theft of chickens. Sheriff Telford delivered King and Wise to a penitentiary representative of Floydada Wednesday, who will in turn carry them to Huntsville to begin serving their sentences.

BANKERS DEVELOP NOVEL INSTITUTE

The Georgia Bankers Association in cooperation with the State College of Agriculture has sponsored a series of farmers' institutes in various parts of the State of an entirely new character. The principle feature is a large and comprehensive exhibit transported in four large trucks and set up at each stop. When set up it fills a space 40 by 60 feet and consists of panels, charts, and models on practically every phase of agriculture, including agronomy, horticulture, agricultural engineering, poultry, animal husbandry, soils and fertilizers, home economics and marketing. A large electrified farm model, showing the uses of electricity on the farm, model farm buildings and the ideal layout and landscaping of the farmstead, is one of the most elaborate and attractive exhibits.

Local bankers in each locality visited gave the money to cover expenses for the transportation and installation of the exhibit in their territory and assisted in the preliminary advertising and publicity. The College of Agriculture assembled the exhibit and conducted the tour through its various extension specialists.
