By Aesculapias

Saturday we pulled off our second election. The first one for city officers was a rather tame affair scarcely causing a ripple on the usual quiet stream of daily routine.

But like most rural communities there is always a school problem here. In this instance there was nothing to cause a ruction but when the signs got right it doesn't need anything but a little whetting of the prejudices of people to start the ball rolling and when once in motion the mole hill becomes a mountain.

The opposition to the old trustees who had built the new school building and had gone ahead and employed the old superintendent for another year, precipitated the fight. They were successful in defeating the members of the old board who stood for election, but just what has been accomplished by the maneuver it is difficult to state unless we could call it spite.

The people have a perfect right to have whom they please to serve them in the capacity of trustees and no one should feel hurt at their choice. It wasn't necessary to arouse harsh feelings by accusing one another of all sorts of little things to accomplish the defeat of the old board.

Unfortunately the churches were mixed up in the affair and for a season at least the brotherly love and so forth that is supposed to flow from such fountains didn't run very rapidly. They will perhaps refuse to hear each other preach and fail to recognize each other on the street. Even the evolutionists will look better to them than one another. The family row, a church ruction and the school squabble can keep the neighborhood in a wrangle. The minority should take their defeat with meekness and sacrosanct spirit so very evident in a church and school rucus.

We sincerely hope that all will settle down so that when July gets around we can talk about the virtues of Jim Ferguson and vices of Tom Love, of Morris Sheppard and Prohibition, of Bob Henry and modification of the Eighteenth Amendment. These will be live topics and doubtless some of us will make quite as big asses of ourselves as many of you did in the school racket.

Tom Love has opened his campaign with Tammany and Ferguson for his theme. He took a side swipe at Jim Young and he won't get far until he takes a pot shot at the balance of his competitors. Tom takes credit for most of the legislation that has been of real benefit to the people for the past twenty years. Just what that particular legislation consists in he doesn't say. He would have us believe however that he starts the Sun every morning on its diurnal journey, governs the phases of the moon by which the farmer plants his crop, controls the tides and sends the needed rain to the parched earth. He is also going to keep the Goblins from getting us. If you think I have overdrawn the picture read his speech. Tom still calls himself a democrat, and prates of his conscience just as if some one had accused him of carrying such a political curiosity about with him. As a turn coat he would put the chamellion to shame. He tries to excuse his republican proclivities by flings at Ferguson and Barry Miller, for once failing to vote the Democratic ticket. But Tom, neither of them consorted with coons and republicans. In any event it would not be sufficient reason for supporting you if you should prove that both are as sorry as you politically. We may have something more to say about you in the future.

The third installment of the Literary Digest twenty million poll is at hand and the modifiers and repealers are very much in the lead. Texas and some other Southern states make their appearance for the first time. They are all against repeal but those voting for modification and repeal continue to lead absolute enforcement.

Just which side of the line the Modificationist should be placed on is a puzzle. In my judgment he or she should be placed among those demanding repeal, for the very good reason, if one has become disgusted at the make-believe enforcement we are having they have lost their enthusiasm for the Amendment.

There is nothing binding of course in this poll, but it may continue to be an eye opener at the condition of affairs. It may however bring a referendum in many states. In this as well as other states there is no vote of the people but the matter was handled altogether by the various legislatures. The course was a very revolutionary one, dealing with the habits and personal liberty of the individual who have drank alcohol in one form or another since history began and doubtless will continue in spite of all regulations and extreme penalties provided for the violator in this country.

Last evening, Monday, I hid away to Brownfield to attend a meeting of the four county Medical Association, composed of Terry, Lynn, Dawson and Gaines. It was my first attendance at such a function since coming to the Plains. The attendance was small and after supper at the hotel we repaired to the Court House and listened to the reading and discussion of several papers, after which the meeting became a rather informal affair and we talked over past experiences, the present trend of medicine toward concentration in the larger cities and towns, and the absolute elimination of the old family doctor. Who like the American Indian, the archaeologist may in ages to come find some traces of him.

"But as a race he has withered from the land."
Gray hairs is now an indication that you should hunt another doctor. "So fare-the-well and if forever, still forever fare-the-well."

FINDS STATE BANKS WELL SUPERVISED

Bankers Body Sees Less Politics in Banking Departments With Better Facilities in the Hands of the Responsible Officials.

A survey of state banking departments by the State Bank Division, American Bankers Association, discloses a distinct tendency the past five years to take bank supervision out of politics, to increase the discretionary powers of bank commissioners, to lengthen their terms of office, to supply them with adequate forces of qualified examiners and to relieve banking departments of duties foreign to banking, says a recent statement issued by the association.

"We have consistently urged that the office of bank commissioner be a free from partisan politics as the judiciary itself and that it be divorced from all other functions of state government," the statement says. "Further, that his term of office be made more secure and lasting, with sufficient salary and power granted to attract and retain the services of men of outstanding executive ability, courage, resourcefulness and successful banking experience."

"Five years ago the first survey of state banking departments by the division demonstrated the need for improvements. On the basis of data now in hand it is evident that, through the revision of statutes in many states, rapid steps are being taken in the right direction. One by one the states are coming to recognize the primary importance of strong, competent banking departments. The demand for increasing the effectiveness of banking departments is beginning to be met."

How Bank Commissioners Are Chosen
The office of bank commissioner is now operated as an independent department of state government in thirty-four states, the bankers find. In two states the bank commissioner is elected at general elections; in one he is appointed from eligible lists of the civil service and in another, he is selected by the banks. In one state the bankers' association elects a list of five names from which the governor appoints one as superintendent of banks; in another he is appointed by the State Corporation Commission and in another by the State Banking Board.

Terms of office of bank commissioners have been lengthened in several states during the last five years, the report says. "In 25 states the term is four years, in one, five years, and in three it is six years and in some the term is indefinite. A short term is condemned on the grounds that the commissioner has insufficient time to become thoroughly conversant

THE FIRST REALLY NEW OIL IN 25 YEARS

This is the simple story of the new oil that is now enjoying such remarkable acceptance: Conoco Germ-Processed... In the first place, this new oil is an extraordinarily fine paraffin-base lubricant. And then... under exclusive Conoco patents, this oil is endowed with the unusual faculty of penetrating and combining with metal surfaces. This faculty, we call "Penetrative Lubricity." The Germ Process, by adding a precious oily-essence lacking in all other oils, does this... And so provides constant un-falling lubrication for your motor under any conceivable strenuousness of motor operation. Germ Process is the first fundamental improvement in refining methods in the last quarter century.

So won't you come into the next station you see bearing the Red Triangle and join the thousands of other motorists who have changed to Conoco Germ-Processed Oil in the last few weeks?

Chevrolet Gets Sweepstakes in Economy Run

Los Angeles, April 1.—Competing against a field of 41 other entrants, a 1930 Chevrolet six cylinder coach, driven by Mrs. Paul A. Lawrence of Los Angeles, won sweepstakes and first place in its class in the annual Gilmore Blue-Green Economy run here February 14th.

Every type of road and grade was encountered in the run that covered 200 miles between Los Angeles and the Wrightwood mountains. Mrs. Lawrence's Chevrolet demonstrated its economical operation over a course that included city traffic, country roads and mountain stretches along a circuitous route rising from sea level to a elevation of 6,000 feet.

To win the event, the Chevrolet coach traveled 36.71 ton-miles to the gallon of gasoline, averaging 20.5 miles to the gallon for the 200 miles traversed. The total weight of the Chevrolet coach, with its driver and four passengers, was 3580 pounds. No oil and no water was used during the run.

The economy test was staged under the supervision of the Automobile Association, sanction number 2306 and was limited to stock cars. Six classes of cars were represented among the 42 entries. The Chevrolet coach, with Mrs. Lawrence at the wheel, not only won first place in its class, but, in addition, won the sweepstakes for all classes.

Effect of Salt Water on the Human System

Some of our common credulities, writes Prof. J. Arthur Thompson in John o' London's Weekly, refer to the supposed susceptibility of our body to certain influences; and a good example is the widespread belief that drinking salt water brings on madness. For subtle physiological reasons, concerned in part with the density of the living matter and the difference of fluid material from cell to cell, the health of the body depends on a delicate balance between the inorganic salts in the blood. If there should be a lack of salts in the food, things may go badly wrong; and similarly if through lack of fresh water or its equivalents there should be an accumulation of salts in the blood, everything goes wrong in the working of the body, and delirium is likely to set in.

Fooling Hummers

Ralph J. Ayer, a farmer near Colorado Springs, Colo., has succeeded in taming humming birds, even to the point where they will feed out of his hand and allow him to touch them, according to Miss Frances E. Haines, who reports the feat. Mr. Ayer tied bottles containing sugar sirup near the flowers the birds used and built little stands for them to rest upon. Later he moved the bottles to the windowsill, and then to his hand, but still the birds came. So eager were they to get the sirup that two pairs nested near the window last spring.—Nature Magazine.

Not Tired All Over

Six-year-old Jimmy, more than half asleep, stumbled his weary way home after a long, happy day at the state fair.

SALADS RECOMMENDED TO PREVENT SPRING FEVER

A salad a day keeps spring fever away, doctors and dietitians are agreed. The inclusion of too fresh vegetables in the menu during the winter months is one of the factors to which they attribute "that tired feeling." While more green stuffs are now eaten than ever before, the age-old ailment has by no means been conquered.

The more palatable the salad ingredients, the more appetizing it becomes, they point out. If vegetables can be kept fresh and full-flavored until served, more than half the battle is won—and the patient stands a good chance of complete recovery.

In line with this campaign against lassitude, not only in the spring but throughout the year, Frigidaire Corporation has just issued a salad recipe booklet, showing how a wide variety of salads can be made with the aid of its new hydrator. This device, a moist air storage compartment, which keeps vegetables crisp and tasty for indefinite periods, works an improvement in the palatability of vegetables, some authorities have declared.

The booklet, distributed free of charge by dealers everywhere, describes numerous foes of spring fever, among them the following combination salad, containing a variety of vegetables rich in just the needed elements:

A combination salad is as it sounds, a combination of vegetables, served fresh from the hydrator. Combine tomatoes, peeled and cubed, with sliced cucumbers, small radishes, green onions, chopped celery and tender green beans or white wax beans, the last-named cooked in salt water and then chilled. Combine these ingredients by tossing together lightly in a mixing bowl. Add mayonnaise or salad dressing; then serve on crisp lettuce.

Television was tried out this week in a way at a Jersey City theatre in connection with talkies, which was transmitted to nearby homes. Only the top portion of the body could be seen. So we see that television is still in the crude, but like talking pictures is coming. At present, it takes two instruments to get both sound and vision. So none of our timid souls need be afraid that they will be caught in a bath tub scene for a long time yet.

Our local theatre is in line and has a dandy chance to win one of the Medals of Merit offered by the World-Herald at Chicago for the best sound producing theatres. The Herald has been favorably mentioned and are doing all they can to get one. The Herald is doing all it can to help them, and other friends might do a lot to boost them toward the goal. All who have heard sound pictures in other towns and cities tell us that there are some superior to the local theatre.

This has certainly been a fine week, and the most of last week was ideal, balmy weather, making that lazy spring feeling come over us town people, which led us to think of the ripping waters rushing past the cool, clear hole near the old wild tree; a can full of good bait, a good hook and line. On the other hand, it had a very different effect upon the farm population in this section. It made them restless to get into the fields and begin to sow their seed for the fall harvest. The trees are almost in full leaf, and the grass comes creeping everywhere. Spring seems to be here, in the air, in our bones and we can hardly get enough sleep to save us. No we have not considered spring poetry—too lazy to write it.

We have been hearing a lot lately from a certain band of politicians about New York and Tammany Hall and their crime record, but little is said about Chicago or Philadelphia, both of which government statistics show have a greater crime record per one hundred thousand inhabitants than Gotham. But the two latter cities mentioned both went for Mr. Hoover, and that must not be mentioned. When it comes to homicides, our own southern states with Memphis, Birmingham and Houston heading the list show the greatest crime records of the United States, and that goes for the entire world. These statistics, of course are based on the one hundred thousand population. Yet we hear little of them from the press of politicians in the south.

Lubbock, Littlefield and some of the towns in Crosby county have more than 40 cases of jake poisoning, according to the Lubbock Avalanche, but so far as we know not a case has shown up in Terry county. Yet, to hear some talk, there is a lot of hard liquor consumed in Terry county. However, we have never heard of much else of it in this county as the drought is not seem to hinder it.

No One Knew there was a Woman in England

ABOUT fifty years ago an Englishman came to one of our large American cities. He built up a fortune in real estate. He sold large pieces of property and built hotels. He married. Both the Englishman and his wife died. All deeds and titles to the man's properties, conveyed and mortgaged, were, seemingly, in good order. His will was probated. Everything appeared right. The purchasers of the properties slept in peace. One morning a young Englishman appeared in a lawyer's office in the American city. He had come to "secure his grandmother's dower in the estate." No one had known of an English wife—still alive. Innocent property owners were forced to pay thousands of dollars to an unknown woman across the sea—losses which could have been protected by title insurance.

South Plains Scouts To Meet at Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Texas, April 7.—Boy Scouts from all over the South Plains of Texas will gather in Lubbock for the fifth annual Field Day for the South Plains Area Council. D. T. Jennings, new area council executive has announced, the meet to be held here May 17.

Jennings is urging all troops to be represented in the meet here which will include such contests as knot tying, first aid, signalling, fire making, arrow throwing, string burning, games such as relay races, antelope races, chariot races, and others. An inspection of the troops will play a big part in the contest likewise.

Jennings took over duties at the beginning of last week. He has formerly been with the Kansas City organization as field executive of the council for the past four years.

The South Plains council includes thirteen South Plains counties: Lamb, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Gaines, Dawson and Borden.

Jennings is already making plans for the summer camp to be held at the Scout park near Post.

Details of the contests are to be sent out to all the scout masters within the near future and in the meanwhile scout masters are drilling their scouts on the work that will be included in the contest.

Five years ago, April 5, the South Plains Area Council was formed.

THE "RED" FIZZLE

The far-flung demonstrations of the Communists last month on "International Unemployment Day," having been widely advertised by the "comrades" in advance, were quickly checked by the various police bureaus in the principal cities of the world. Nothing seemingly was accomplished with the exception of the entertainment furnished bystanders, who in many instances were given graphic evidences of law and lawlessness opposing each other.

According to the press, the ring-leaders of the various Communist uprisings received their orders "direct from Moscow." It was also noted that the demonstrators who became unruly and were, as a result, placed under arrest were quickly released after paying a small fine or receiving a lecture in court. American leniency and tolerance permitted these dangerous revolutionists to slip away and return to their dives to concoct new plots against the national security of this country. Here, it would seem, would have been a golden opportunity to enmesh all of these agitators in the net of the law and deport them to the countries from which they came.

However, the demonstrations arising from the celebration of the day named were clearly upon the surface and easily countered. How much more subtle and result producing is the secret work of the Soviet agent who is indoctrinating Communist ideals into the minds of school children. It seems almost incredible of belief that despite our vaunted police systems, to say nothing of the Department of Justice and the Secret Service, alien agitators are invading the very citadels of America's democracy—the public schools—and are poisoning the young minds of many of the students.

It has reached the point where certain students who have developed Communist tendencies have flatly refused to salute the United States flag. They do not recognize the Constitution of this country nor the laws upon its statute books. Furthermore, they are influencing their fellow students to follow their example and their efforts are being crowned with more or less success.

Thus patriotic citizens are awakening to the danger confronting this nation and recognize the fact that remedial steps will have to be taken in the near future to combat this growing menace. It seemingly does no good to arrest leading Communists, fine them a few dollars and release them. The only effective way to handle these objectionable and un-American characters is to oust them from the country with all possible speed and to guard carefully our gates against their return.

Most of Northwest Texas in Good Shape

DALLAS, April 7.—The crop map of Texas for the month of March, as reported by the Public Relations Department of the Southland Life Insurance Company, is curiously spotted. Prospects, in general, are excellent—perhaps more so than they have been in years. In some communities, however, the planting of crops has been seriously hampered by dry and unseasonable Spring weather. In others, strangely enough, the opposite is true—it has been far too cold and damp. Divided as to communities, these reports are indicated as follows:

Northwest: Conditions very good with spotted dry places in Southern portion, and slightly cool. North: From "fair" to favorable, with good season in most places although cool in spots for corn growth and cotton planting. Northeast: A number of counties report cool weather and reports of cool weather and rains. East Central: Spotted, though generally favorable; rain needed in several counties; some complaint of winds and cold. West Central: Dry conditions reported generally, although recent showers have helped situation; some counties badly in need of rain. West: All reports indicate need of rain; dry weather has seriously hampered crops. Southeast: Generally favorable now, but late spring and excessive rains have retarded activities. South: Generally favorable except that some northern counties report rains and cool weather have delayed work; warm weather needed.

One of the most encouraging aspects of the entire situation is that there are certain indications that diversification finally has taken a real hold with farmers of Texas. Almost without exception, reports indicate far greater diversification of crops than ever before. More feed crops will be raised; the dairy industry is proving popular and profitable; poultry raising has become more widespread; and farmers, almost without exception, are apparently convinced of the wisdom of "raising their own living." Business conditions are decidedly more hopeful. Money is still tight, but in spite of these facts, income tax collections and other certain indicators have proven that money is available and that the recent stock market crash had but slight influence and did but slight harm in Texas.

The head of one of the State's largest financial institutions sums up the situation as follows: "Prosperity in Texas, greater than the State has ever known before, is in the offing. With even fair crop conditions, Texas should be jubilant by the time these crops are harvested, and if this is true, the State will find itself on the soundest economic basis it has ever known."

Plains Odd Fellows to Meet at Slaton Apr. 22

SLATON, Tex.—Preparations are being made here for entertainment of the South Plains Odd Fellows Association session to be held in Slaton on Tuesday, April 22. At least 200 delegates, Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, are expected to attend, according to J. W. Scott, of Slaton, who is president of the association and also heads the Odd Fellows lodge here.

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are expected to send delegates here from the following South Plains cities: Lubbock, Ralls, Sudan, Amberst, Abilene, Littlefield, Crosbyton, Tahoka, Post and Brownfield. Officials of the various lodges are especially wanted here for the convention, according to officials of the South Plains association, and all members of the various organizations are invited.

A. M. Holt, Sudan, and Mrs. C. A. Baird, of Littlefield, are vice president and second vice president, respectively, of the association. L. Alexander, of Slaton, is secretary.

Officers have announced that Ray Rector, of Stamford, grand master of the I. O. O. F. grand lodge of Texas, will be in attendance. A splendid all-day program is being arranged, they said. Morning, afternoon and evening sessions will be held.

DR. COVEY HAS SEVERAL OF HIS RIBS BROKEN

Dr. W. L. Covey, living four miles northwest of town fell Monday, breaking two or three of his ribs. He was resting easy at last reports.

Dr. Covey is a man of wonderful vitality considering his age. He has always lived an active life, much of the time in the open. He was a ranchman until near middle age, when he decided to study dentistry, which profession he followed with remarkable success until a few years ago.

His many friends trust that he will soon recover.—Levelland Herald.

N. R. Marchbanks had us send the Herald to his son, R. T. at Clarksville, for one year.

OVERPLANTING EXPENSIVE AND WASTEFUL SAYS HYDE

ARTHUR M. HYDE, Secretary of Agriculture of the United States:

The cotton acreage of the South has been expanded to a high level. Apparently in the past cotton farmers have planned each year's operations on the basis of last year's income or prices. When the previous year's income has been fairly satisfactory, they have expanded acreage without regard to the next year's demand of cotton. This has led to frequent overplanting. Overplanting is expensive and wasteful. Many times in the past it has been demonstrated that planting a large acreage not only wastes the time, energy and money that the farmer puts into the additional acreage, but the increased production has reduced the entire value of the crop by millions of dollars.

The present depression in cotton prices should be taken very seriously by farmers. A large crop in the face of present conditions would present the Farm Board with a very difficult problem. If the Farm Board is to be of assistance in helping to stabilize agriculture, the producers of the South must co-operate by planning to adjust their production to demand.

The expenses of production can be reduced by producing more feed stuffs and eliminating unprofitable acres from cotton. By doing this cotton producers can hold the actual cotton area to a basis that with normal or even better than normal yields may produce a crop that can be marketed at reasonably profitable prices.

HOOVERCRAT ADVICE

Former Gov. William E. Sweet of Colorado, in the course of his recent visit in Dallas, commented upon the state of the Democratic party, and gave his advice as to its future policy. Mr. Sweet, who is a prominent Hoovercrat, is for throwing Tammany out. He doesn't say that he would refuse to accept Tammany votes, but he wants none of its satchels in the party councils. Mr. Smith and Mr. Raskob and all their works would be in outer darkness amid weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth if Governor Sweet had his way.

Governor Sweet also feels that the two-thirds rule is wrong. It is usually about this time of the political quadrennium that the movement for the abolition of that rule begins, but it never gets anywhere. The Governor is right about it, of course, and yet it was the two-thirds rule that gave us Woodrow Wilson. Without it Champ Clarke would have been the nominee at Baltimore.

But abolishing the two-third rule will not throw Tammany out. Tammany could operate even better if the requirement were done away with. It really ought to be called the one-third rule, since it amounts to giving veto privilege to any faction that can muster a one-third minority. It has been the South and not Tammany that has most insisted on its retention.

With regard to Mr. Smith, it will perhaps make little difference whether he is thrown out or not. Should he be nominated in 1932 he would encounter the same obstinate and even passionate defection from Democratic ranks. And if someone else is then nominated, he, too, will be defeated by the rancors surviving from 1928—unless President Hoover has the mis-
