BROUGHTON FARM ONE OF BEST IN THE COUNTY

Every Modern Convenience Found in Cities On this Farm, and the Whole is Surrounded by All Kinds Live Stock and Bumper Crops. This is a Tractor Farm.

One day last week the editor, wife and little daughter drove out to look at the crops, but primarily to visit a few minutes in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Broughton, old friends of the family. Mr. Broughton served four years as county and district clerk and four years as our county judge, and most of that time lived as our nearest neighbor. Several years ago, he sold his city property and made purchase of a choice section of land six miles north of this city, and began improving it. Today, it is one of the most lovely homes in Terry county.

Mr. and Mrs. Broughton have a nice well built home, which contains every convenience found in the best city homes, with the exception of electric lights, and they have the next best lights, using carbon for lighting and ironing purposes. The home is well arranged, the rooms large and airy, and is surrounded with a wealth of blooming shrubbery and flowers. These flowers are now at their best, and we don't believe we have seen a more attractive place this year in or out of town. They have a big concrete cellar lined with all kinds of fruit and vegetables which have been canned this year. Of course there was almost a fruit failure this year with the exception of plums and grapes, but they put up lots of them. They are now canning beans and corn.

Mr. Broughton, two renters and his son-in-law, Richard Castleberry who lives on the place, have one of the best all round crops we have ever seen, and absolutely the best sudan field we ever saw growing anywhere any year. The corn gives the appearance of real old river bottom corn, and their maize and other row grain crops are simply prize winning in appearance. If these people wish, they can have a whole show themselves at the Terry County Fair, for they also have a few apples which the late freeze failed to get. They have 600 acres in cultivation on the Broughton farm. They informed us that they had a good chance for a cotton crop if the worms let up any time, in the near future.

Mr. Broughton and Mr. Castleberry are tractor farmers, having bought a new Case tractor this year, and after finishing the crop, they are more than pleased with their investment as well as the cost of operation. Mr. Broughton says they figured up operating expenses the night before, and found that they had been out $240 for fuel and oils, and had probably $40 worth of fuel on hand at the present time. He says they could not have operated teams that would have been required to cultivate their land for anything like that money. The tractor had the appearance of being in just as good shape as when they started last spring, and Mr. Broughton says the company agrees to go over it before farming time next spring and make every piece and part as good as it was when brand new.

Visiting the barns and feed lots, we found hundreds of well bred chickens and thoroughbred red hogs. But they informed us that they had lost two fine brood sows after farrowing during the recent extremely hot weather, as well as most of the pigs. Molasses making will soon start on this farm and Dave sure knows his okra when it comes to making Terry county sorghum molasses.

It is not only good for sore eyes to visit the Broughton farm, but if you are a pessimist and think you are in for starvation it would be good for you to visit this farm, get an eye opener and then throw your hammer down a dog hole doggone you.

Nazarene People to Start Revival Sunday

Mrs. Lizzie Williams, pastor of the Nazarene church, was in this week to have some printing done, and informed us that their meeting will start Sunday at the city tabernacle and will run for two weeks. She informed us that they had secured the services of Rev. Lee L. Hamric, who has held revivals in nearly every state in the union. He is said to have been instrumental in the conversion of some 30,000 souls. The song services is to be under the direction of Miss Bertha Wardlow, who is also a noted soloist, and besides the many good choir and congregational hymns, there will be special songs at each service. You are invited.

AVC Stores Purchase The Fain Co. Stock

We are pleased to announce that the A. V. C. Stores, (Associated Variety Co.) have purchased the Fain & Co., stock here which was recently sold to the highest bidder under the Federal bankrupt act. This company have stores at Plainview, Lubbock and Shamrock, Texas, and at Clovis and Tucuman, New Mexico, and are very proud of their latest addition here, and propose to make it a permanent fixture. A huge sale is to start to-morrow to remove surplus stock and make room for new goods, they are now at the market purchasing. In fact, some of them have begun to arrive.

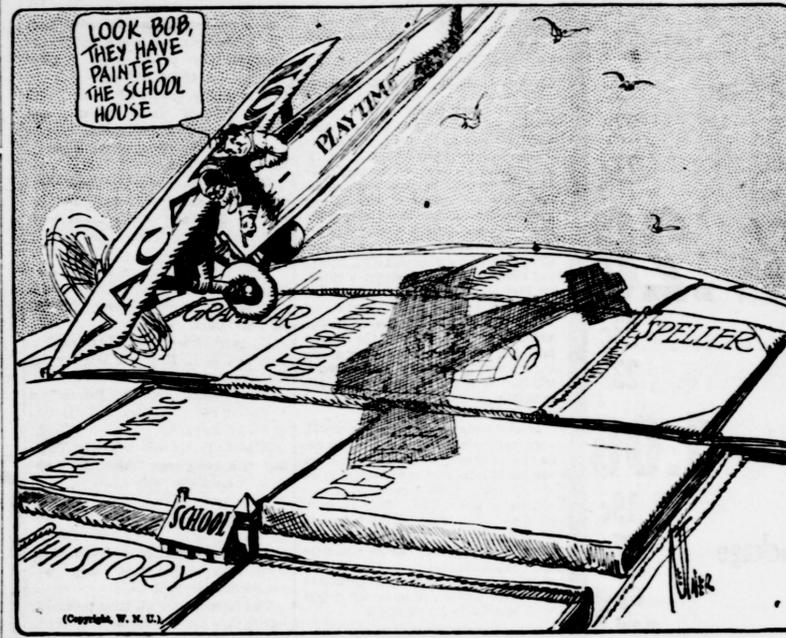

Mr. Aubrey Smith will be the local manager, and Mr. J. L. Hunter will be here through the sale. In conversation with Mr. Hunter, he said. I think a great deal of Brownfield and Terry county, and am glad we are to have a part in its development, as I think its agricultural possibilities unsurpassed in Texas. If you have a farm here, says he, stick by it and develop with it, for it certainly will be a heritage in the years to come. He believes the peak of depression has been reached, and from now on there will be a steady mounting of conditions, and that the price of cotton, feed and live stock will begin to command better prices. The Herald welcome this good firm of West Texas folks to Brownfield.

Barber Shop Moved to Location on W. Main

The Nelson Barber Shop is moving this week to a new location at 109 West Main street, where the fixtures are being put down and modern plumbing is being installed. The shop will be opened Saturday for barber work, of all kinds as well as an up to date shine parlor. Virgil Bynum, one of the best barbers in the city has joined hands with Guy Nelson in ownership, and they aim to make it one of the best tonsorial shops in the city, as well as one of the most attractive.

Cye Tankersley has moved his cleaning plant in the rear of this shop, and is also to the attractiveness of his plant. Both are building in for permanency, and are to be congratulated. Both places are to be opened Saturday, and they want their many friends to call in and see them whether or not they have any work at that time.

Coming Down to Earth

Railroad Com. Meets With T. & P. Officials

The Railroad Committee appointed by the President of the Chamber of Commerce last week, was called in conference with some of the Texas and Pacific Railway officials Tuesday afternoon of this week. These officials two of which were here last week when the proposition was made to Brownfield to build through here. There officials were Judge G. O. Bateman, general attorney of the T. & P. and vice president of the Texas & New Mexico, recently completed into Lovington. We might also state that he will be the vice president of the Texas Pacific Northern if it is built; also L. C. Porter, traffic department manager of the T. & P. and C. L. Evans, of Marshall, agricultural agent of the Texas and Pacific Railway Co.

We wish to state right here that the above gentlemen are exceptionally fine men, and we believe the railroad committee and the people in general in Terry county are going to get along with them splendidly. They are, while holding high positions with a wealthy railway company just boys with us, and when they get thru with their business sessions, they love to talk and joke just like the rest of us western people. Absolutely they give off no airs that they would high hat a friend any more in Dallas or New York than they will right here in Brownfield, and people right here who have known them for years tell us that they are fine citizens and willing to do their share in developing a country. Let us also state that they are thoroughly sold on this country, and are going to put up a real hard fight with the I. C. C. to build through this section.

Their business here this time was two fold. To make a contract with the citizenship to guarantee the right of way through the county, and to get the people lined up against any obstacles that may arise in opposition against the building of the road. As to the contract, the committee asked a little time in order to get as many of the progressive business men and farmers of the county to guarantee the right of way as possible. This is in order that we have all the co-operation possible, and as little chunks thrown in the machinery here at home as possible. However, we must say that we anticipate nothing like this at present. Also, they wanted at least one influential citizen from this section to go with citizens from other town the railroad will touch to Austin next Monday to talk with the railroad commission and Governor Moody to get them to pull for the road if possible. Judge W. W. Price has been asked to represent Brownfield at Austin as he is personally acquainted with Hon. Pat M. Neff, railway commission chairman, and reasonably well acquainted with Gov. Moody.

It is not believed at this time that not much if any opposition will develop at Austin in view of the fact that public construction in which $13,000,000 will be spent will greatly reduce unemployment in Texas. It will also aid all sections of the state, as Mr. Bateman informed us that one million dollars alone would have to be spent with east Te. as farmers for cross ties. We were informed that there was a little undertow of opposition in one city to the east of the proposed line. While the chamber of commerce of that city as a whole had endorsed the road, some who were kin to officials of other roads were trying some to hinder the movement, giving out the fear that the development of cities west of them would work to their injury.

The Herald does not believe that any great amount of the people in the city referred to above will take any stock in opposition to the new railroad, as they are endeavoring to build up a wholesale center, and they cannot hope to do so unless the country about them develops. There must be other cities and towns to ship their goods into. Besides, the towns which the Texas Pacific Northern will touch have helped in every way they could for that city to land educational institutions and other railroads. Would it not be poor policy on their part to turn on their friends and oppose their growth and development? They just can't afford to do so. They can't afford to rebuff the very people who have helped to make the city they have already build.

This new line will mean much to the farmers as well as to the people of Brownfield, and it is imperative that they line up with our town people in getting this road. It will not only mean a cheaper rate on car loads of corn, cotton and feed to the markets of Fort Worth, Dallas and El Paso, but it will mean a direct overnight haul of our poultry and eggs to El Paso, the best poultry and egg market this side of Chicago and the Pacific coast. We just can't let anything interfere in getting this road that can be done in reason.

After their short business session here these officials left for Levelland where they had a meeting scheduled for five o'clock, and one at night at Littlefield. Wednesday and Thursday they expected to finish this work in the towns further north. At Big Spring and Lamesa Tuesday morning they were met with enthusiastic support on all proposition, and committees are at work. It is expected that surveyors will be here this week with the preliminary survey, and we can then tell within a few hundred feet just where the new road will be located. The new road, let us say, will be a great aid to any school district it passes through, as all railroads pay their share of taxes, which will help them out each year with tax money for the schools. Also, their valuations for the county as a whole will add to our tax rolls to where we may not be raised any more for perhaps years, if our taxes are not actually lowered by their coming.

Let's all pull for the Tee & Pee. Toot! Toot! Also, while we are at it, why not get the I. C. C. to hold their sessions in Brownfield, so they can really see the country through which the proposed new road is to pass? Our own Commissioner, Mr. L. L. Brock, of the Union community, brought the Herald some fine plums this week which will make some good preserves and jelly, and two big melons and a lot of roasting ears. Thanks a heap. J. S. Avants, formerly of this place, but now of Cone in Crosby county was here this week. No crops there he says.

Brownfield Football Boys Now Practicing

Football practice was started Monday, August 24 in what promises to be the most successful foot ball season that Brownfield high school has ever had. Ten lettermen and several new men reported for practice with a great deal of enthusiasm, which is one essential for a winning team. The official season will open on September 12, with the Post antelopes as the opposition. (This game may be moved back one week.) This should be the greatest battle that has ever been fought on a Brownfield grid, as Post has always been able to lay it on the Cbs and make them like it. There should not be a foot ball fan in the country miss this tussle between these ancient rivals. A large delegation is certain to be here from Post as they still have memories of what happened in Post last September 20, when the Cubs all out, defeated that regional champion club.

Following the Post game, there will be other leading teams of this district playing in Brownfield. Among these will be the Lamesa tornadoes, last year district champions and favorites again this year, who may strike a stumbling block where they meet the fighting Cubs. The district has been divided into four sub-districts and the following schools along with Brownfield are members: Lamesa, O'Donnell, Tahoka, Slaton, Wilson and Idalou. Brownfield will endeavor to be champions of this district and gain a playoff with the champions of the other sub-districts. Any game lost outside of these schools will not count in the district standing.

We are anxious for the people of Brownfield get behind the team.

TERRY COUNTY TO GO ON WITH ITS COUNTY FAIR

The Fact That Some of the Nearby Counties Are Calling Off Their Fairs Will Make Ours the More Valuable. To Have Greatest Show Here in Our History.

The Herald notes the fact that a number of the neighboring counties to our east are not going to put on fairs this year for several reasons, among them being oppressive times and short crops. For this very reason, Terry county is going to put on one of the very best fairs of its history, and this is saying a great deal we know. We know that times are hard with most people, but with Terry county people they are no worse than last year. In fact we have a much better crop prospect than at the same time last year. As for the "repression" as Andy says, we believe that is mostly in our own imagination, and if we would quit talking hard times so much and get busy, we would forget them. In fact, there is no immediate prospect of starvation. Indeed, we have enough corn, beans and peas in Terry county to feed the present population for five years if they were all properly harvested and used.

It would almost be unthingable for us to fall down on the fair this year, for we have one of the best crops in prospect in our entire history. And due to the fact that some of the neighboring counties are falling down on their fairs, make it even more imperative that we do go on with ours, for no doubt we will for this very reason have one of the largest attendance records in history. People will be here from all the neighboring counties to see the fair and other amusements. Not only that, but being one of the very few county fairs in this section, we ought to draw many people from the rich counties under the cap rock, who have been hit hard this year, but when they get plenty rainfall, make huge crops. We get the great majority of our settlers from these counties, and we want to especially impress them this year what our sandy lands are capable of doing under circumstances. So if you have any friends who are contemplating a visit to Terry county, write them and urge that they make their visit here during the fair. Maybe we can get them interested in making this their permanent home.

In the meantime, the fair catalog and prize list is now in the hands of the Herald publication, and will be gotten out the very first minute possible, although brought in very late. There will be no advertising in it this year, and it will not take quite so long to get it up. As soon as they are out, call for one and make your preparations to win some of the many prizes offered.

The merchants of the city seem to be supporting the fair unusually well this year, and promise to have many prize winning booths down there. As usual the fair will be held under the big warehouse in the west end of the city. Make your preparations to be there and see the fine agricultural exhibits, some of the fine poultry, cows and hogs for which they are so justly famed. Bring the children to see the carnival and other attractions, for we really need something to make us laugh and forget hard times—if any—for a little while.

Hankins Says Carlsbad Meet Very Important

Lubbock, Texas, Sept.—An urgent call has been sent out by J. H. Hankins, of Lubbock, President of the Carlsbad Cavern Highway Association to representatives of all towns on the route, to attend a regular quarterly meeting of the Association at Carlsbad, New Mexico, September 9.

"The Association faces a situation that makes it absolutely imperative that each and every town respond to this call with a goodly sized delegation," Hankins declared in his letter. "To date the Carlsbad Cavern Highway has been promoted, organized, advertised, publicized, improved Federally designated without one single person receiving one single dime of remuneration for their services," Hankins further stated in his letter.

"It is my desire to continue the management of the Association on this same basis to hold for the original promoters and towns on the route all the advantages we are entitled to because of our hard work and the monies we have spent."

"But, unless we go to Carlsbad with large delegations well organized and there make every definite plans for continuation of this policy, we are liable to have our work for naught."

From 40 to 50 Lubbock citizens are planning to make the trip and reports from a number of other towns on the line indicate that a large delegation will be present.

State Officials Support Extension of T. & P.

Austin, Texas, Sept.—The machinery of the State Government will be with the Texas & Pacific Railway Company in its petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to build a line from Big Spring to Amarillo by way of Dimmitt, with a line to Vega and a branch to Lubbock. The line was chartered Monday in the name of the Texas & Pacific Northern, with plans to construct 333 miles into the Panhandle. Pat M. Neff, chairman of the Railroad Commission, and E. L. Bobbitt, Attorney General, said Wednesday they are in favor of the new line and that the State will support the petition for a permit. O. W. Fox, brother of Mrs. J. S. Webber, was a visitor in our city Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Clark, of Clovis, N. M., are here this week, visiting Mrs. Clark's sister, Mrs. G. W. Jones.

Terry County Cow Wins a Silver Medal

Meadow, Texas, Sept.—Producing 499.49 lbs. of butterfat and 9,091 lbs. of milk in a 305-day official production test, Masterman's Pearl S., owned by T. L. Causseaux here has recently won the Silver Medal award of the American Jersey Cattle Club for her excellent production record. Started on this test when 3 years and 1 month of age Masterman's Pearl S. yielded more than 50 lbs. of butterfat per month for six months during the test. Her total yield is the equivalent of 624 lbs. of butter and 4,228 quarts of milk produced in 305 days. Mr. Causseaux owns a nice herd of purebred Jerseys and has been successfully carrying on production testing for some time.

Preliminary TP Survey Passes Through Wed.

The large crew of surveyors making the preliminary survey for the Texas Pacific Northern, passed through Wednesday, spending the night in this city. They left Wednesday morning in the direction of Levelland. This preliminary survey is being rushed in order that right of way committees can tell where to work.

Rev. R. R. Lewis reports that the survey which is now being made passed through his orchard, but as he said, the final survey may be moved several feet one way or the other. Mr. Lewis thinks the road will mean much to Brownfield and Terry county and he is in his part of the expenses, he reports.

Baptist Association Here September 16-18

Brownfield Baptist Association meets with local Baptist church, September 16 and 18. The first session will be held Tuesday evening September 16 at 8 P. M. Mr. R. E. Key of Tahoka, is the moderator of the Association. Lynn, Yoakum, Terry, and parts of Gaines and Hockley counties are included in the Association. A large number of messengers from the churches are expected to attend. The members of the church here are making preparation to provide entertainment for all who come. Hugh Snodgrass, assessor elect, of Yoakum county, was over this week. He was being congratulated by his many friends in Terry county. Alfred Mangum and family have moved to Plainview, Texas.

TAKING THE GUESS OUT OF BUSINESS

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
 President American Bankers Association

BANKERS and business men err in not adopting more universally the tactics of the scientist. When the scientist wishes to fathom the mysteries of the universe or to solve things into their component parts he calls to his assistance the magnifying power of the microscope. There before him, like an open book, lie the secrets of nature which unaided eyes cannot observe.

The uncanny power of the microscope's all-seeing eye has revealed countless secrets for the material and intellectual progress of humanity. It has enabled us to study the processes of growing cells in plant and animal life, trace the causes of disease and successfully combat the ills of mankind; it has aided the engineer in his search for stronger and more serviceable materials, giving us taller, lighter and more sanitary structures, and better highways; it has disclosed the defects in steel rails and brought us an era of safer railway travel; it has added to the food supply of the nation; in fact, it has affected favorably nearly every activity of the human race, whether it apply to production, distribution or consumption, in time of peace or in time of war.

In the business and banking world, economic research and analysis serve as the microscope through which we are enabled to see basic factors more clearly and thus determine the causes of success and failure. Only recently have we begun to realize the full value of research and analysis and apply them in such a way as to eliminate the guesswork that was characteristic of industry a few years ago. "Eliminate the guess and reach success," might well be a motto for all of us.

Banking Conducting Continual Research

The American Bankers Association is daily submitting every phase and every department of banking to searching scrutiny and study, says John G. Lonsdale, president of this the world's greatest financial association. The findings of these investigations are made available to the 29,000 members of the organization for their guidance.

"It is a fine tribute to the spirit of cooperation among bankers that it is able to carry on this work," he says. "Bankers from one end of the country to the other are constantly giving freely and unselfishly of their skill and experience so that the association may produce the truly great results that are being accomplished."

Statistical information on national and state banks, savings institutions, trust companies and trust departments, clearing house groups and general banking is prepared after exhaustive inquiry and distributed for the use of all bankers. The organization's investigations have resulted in the passage of beneficial legislation, revision of banking practices and innumerable changes for a stronger and more efficient banking structure. It has set up an educational system through its affiliated American Institute of Banking, where 45,000 ambitious young bank men and women are now availing themselves of the opportunity to advance in the banking field.

"It has been well said that the American Bankers Association, exclusive of the Federal Reserve System, has been the greatest single nationwide source of stability and improved conditions for banking in the United States," Mr. Lonsdale says.

Banking Grows More Complicated

DENVER, Colo.—The increase in the technicalities of the banking business in the past dozen years was shown by a speaker before the American Institute of Banking which held its annual convention here recently when he pointed out that in 1918, when the institute last met in this city, it gave only three courses, while today it gives 10, with more subjects in preparation. At the earlier date, he said, the curriculum of the institute consisted of elementary banking, commercial and banking law, and money and banking, whereas today it consists of banking fundamentals, commercial law, negotiable instruments, standard economic, standard banking, credits, investments, trust functions, analyzing financial statements, and public speaking, while the two new subjects of bank operation and organization, and bank management are to be added.

The New Pace of Business Change—Business evolution used to move slowly—it measured off its gradual changes almost invisibly, like the hour hand on the clock. But today its tempo is that of the second hand. The moment of evolution that is quickening business with rapid changes is alarmingly visible and makes it difficult to keep up with them.—R. S. Hecht.

"Hy, bo! Where you been? Ain't seen you for thirty days."
 "Ain't nobody seen me for thirty days."
 "What a been doin'?"
 "Thirty days."

In leaving Brownfield this week, Roy Davis, former county agent left a note expressing thanks for the Herald's cooperation during his stay. The cooperation was mutual, and we want to return the thanks with interest.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DISAPPEARANCE OF LEVELLAND MAN

C. B. Hankins, whom our readers will remember was the victim of three hi-jackers at Hobbs, New Mexico, several weeks ago, has disappeared and the matter so far remain a mystery.

On Thursday last week his wife and mother, who resides here, had a letter from him mailed at Amarillo, stating that if he did not get a job within a short time he would come home. On the day following they received a message from the officers of Erick, Oklahoma, stating that his car had been found there and that circumstances pointed to foul play.

In the pocket of the car was found a note, supposedly written by one of two men who had found Hankins dead. This writing stated that the writer and a companion had discovered the car in a ditch between Plainview and Amarillo and that the driver was dead. As he had some money in his possession, the two men secreted the body and drove away in the car. The writer stated that he had carried his companion home and that by the time the car was found, he himself would be at home and no one would be the wiser. He closed by stating that he knew that he had done wrong.

Those who have seen the note

state that is is not Hankin's handwriting.

C. B. Bass carried Mrs. Hankins and his mother to Erick Sunday and states that the car was not badly damaged, the windshield being somewhat shattered, but that the car contained no blood stains, as had been previously reported.

Hankins is still missing and it seems the only possible clue is the note, the truthfulness of which is a subject of conjecture on the part of the authorities.—Levelland Herald.

Cavern Short Route Boosters Hold Meet

In an effort to secure more tourist travel thru Seagraves, Seminole and Hobbs, N. M., to the Carlsbad Cavern, delegates from here and Hobbs met with the Chamber of Commerce at Seminole last Monday night for the purpose of outlining plans to inform the tourist of the short cut route thru these towns.

Oscar M. Herring of Seagraves presided during the meeting and after some discussion from the attending delegates as to the methods suggested a committee of two members from each town was appointed to make plans for the kind of publicity needed, this committee reported that road signs would be the more suitable means of telling the motorist about the shortest route to the Cavern and the meeting endorsed this recommendation.

One large sign will be placed just out of Lubbock on highway 53.

Relief From Curse Of Constipation

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause." But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water softens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store, Alexander Drug Co.

another will be erected at the city limits coming into Brownfield, these two signs will be electrified and will be silent reminders to the public that a "short route" to the cavern can be had by coming thru Seagraves, Seminole and Hobbs, still further signs will be erected at Seminole and Hobbs and at Carlsbad N. M.

In addition to these large signs the usual small markers will be used from Lubbock to Seminole constantly reminding the tourist of this saving in miles and will no doubt induce many more of them to come our way.

There is no good reason why more tourist should not be directed thru here as we have as good roads as other routes offer and in addition a saving of more than 25 miles can be had by taking this cut-off.—Seagraves Signal.

BIG TRAINING SCHOOL OPENS SUNDAY

The Standard Training School of the Lubbock District Methodist Church opens in First Church Lubbock, Sunday afternoon at three o'clock with a select faculty composed of Dr. Horn and Dr. Evans and Miss Mary DeBardleben of Texas Tech and others including Rev. Bigley of Lubbock, Presiding Elder of the District. Advance Registrations indicate a record attendance.

Commercial Course For Employed People

In order to serve Brownfield and its community more completely, Brownfield Public Schools will seek to obtain State and Federal Aid for Cooperative Commercial Classes, under the Smith-Hughes Act.

Mrs. John M. Rountree, elected to teach the Commercial Course in the Brownfield High School, will also offer to the employed people, Courses in Commercial Education, including Shorthand, Typewriting, Book-keeping, Business Mathematics, Business English, and Spelling. Such courses are designed to meet the need of the employers for more efficient workers, and to give to the workers and office assistants an opportunity to learn while they earn.

Persons over fourteen (14) years of age, regularly employed in offices, or stores are eligible to take this Business Course with no tuition provided the employer of such men and women will excuse them from duty during the working day, thereby permitting them to attend class during their working day.

The length of time an employee may be in class will depend upon the time which the employer will be able to spare him from his store or office duties.

In order to obtain free tuition, it is necessary to have a minimum enrollment of eight employed persons, who attend class during their working day. Eight is the minimum requirement. This number must be maintained throughout the year; therefore, it is advisable for a larger number to enroll in order to insure aid through the entire year.

Industrial Commercial Courses are an asset to any town or city as they help the workers while they are "on the job", and also present an opportunity for many to secure business training who would not otherwise be able to secure same.

Cooperative of all merchants and business men in aiding their employees by excusing them from duty from one to two hours daily (excepting Saturdays) will be greatly appreciated.

Any worker interested in improving his knowledge in any of the above courses should immediately interview Mr. Toone, Superintendent of Schools, or see Mrs. Rountree, Commercial Instructor, at Smith Hotel, Sixth Street.

THE FARMERS CARRIES ON

Newspapers, of late, have carried numerous articles telling of men in the city suddenly thrown out of employment, of families in dire want, and, now and then, of breadlines.

But on the farms, combines have been humming; binders clattering. Tractors chug their steady way, and men, machines and horses are at work.

Life on the farm may not all be roses; but many a former farm boy who has walked the city streets vainly searching for work can testify that the farm is not such a bad place after all.

In one of H. M. Railsback's "Songs of the Soil" appears a poem that seems to be written for just such times as these:

"No bread line's on our eighty,
No kitchen dolin' soup,
No hunger problems weighty,
No starvin', wide-eyed group
Awaitin' blasts that summon
(The factory whistle-call.)
When wheels will start a-hummin',
An furnish work for all.

"The world ever be needin'
The products of our soil.
Demand will be exceedin'
The yield, soon, of our toil,
There can't be any reapin'
Unless some sowin's done—
By fightin'—not by weepin',
The battle's always won."

Were any proof necessary of the oft-repeated statement that the farm is the backbone of the Nation, experience of the past few months would be sufficient to establish its truth.—R. A. Jones, in Farm and Ranch.

Lamesa Planning to Pull For New Railway

Lamesa, Sept.—In organizing the committee work of Dawson county to establish facts and gather information with regard to the proposal to build the Texas and Pacific Northern railway, W. W. Evans of Lamesa, chairman of the industrial committee of the local chamber of commerce, made the following statement:

"Our citizens have committed themselves to the proposal building of the Texas Pacific Northern railroad. The exigencies of the times mark the courage of the proposition; the spirit of the proposition is advanced by the open need; the worthiness of this undertaking exists but must be established and proven. Our committees are devoted to this task by the authority of the public need and demand based upon justice, fairness and established fact. In undertaking this work, in cooperation with other neighboring counties, we are complimented by the wisdom of the offer of the Texas and Pacific officials to make this offer at a time when the economic conditions and products with millions of unemployed men and women, and the most serious drought in the history of our country. These are problems within themselves that too often encourages the timidity of capital; retards expansion and effects the conduct of the people.

The offer is a compliment to the early efforts of the pioneer settlers of the South Plains to build rail transportation south and east and having failed, resigned themselves to the inconveniences. By faith and perseverance, subsequent development of agriculture and industry have apparently justified the undertaking. Science, skill and perseverance have changed public opinion about a land once branded as a barren waste and called the Llano Estacado into a favored land in which the possibilities for future development in agriculture, animal husbandry, industry and mineral development are only limited by the permission to grow. If the need of such transportation facilities ever did exist, it exists now, if the need does not now exist will not be granted and the name of men and women and the homes and institutions of this community, we ask the support of the general public on a high plane without indulgence in prejudice or selfish interest that the unity of purpose that has distinguished the development of this section of Texas may be had for the general good of the whole."

BUNK WON'T RESTORE PROSPERITY

Advisers are working overtime, thru various publications, urging people to speed up, buy more stuff, spend more money. If you haven't the money, borrow it but spend it and prosperity will return.

Too much "speeding up" and nothing else in the world is the whole cause of the present hard times.

Multitudes of people, a large majority of the entire population, strained their credit to the breaking point to buy luxuries, and then kept on buying every conceivable thing offered for sale.

When the banks, the merchants, and the wholesalers, the manufacturers and money lenders could absorb no more of this inflated credit, the bubble burst and these same multitudes found themselves passed for payment, with nowhere to turn for help.

There was no help. The 25 percent of the people who had maintained sanity through it all, spent legitimately and saved the balance and wisely invested it in homes and now willing to lend their money to safe securities were not and are not the crowd that got drunk on spending.

Second hand luxuries in amounts running into billions of dollars have been dumped back onto the dealers and manufacturers. So all down the line to the fellow who went in debt to splurge, there are hard times. Less "speeding up" and normal expenditures would have saved the day.

Men and women must learn to live within their incomes. The cause of this distress is that the man who earns $100 monthly has been spending $125. Debt and misfortune always result from such action.

There is a Remedy. It is so simple and easily applied that just a few of the "speeding up" crowd have grasped it. Let's:

First—Shave and bathe, smile, wash up and go to work for $1.00 per day if we can't get more.

Second—Let's stop standing on the street corners knocking the town and "cussing" President Hoover, and go to work.

Third—Let's stop knocking our employers on the side, and go to doing an honest day's work.

Fourth—Let's stop buying things we know we can't pay for, and go to work and pay for what we have already bought.

Fifth—Let's buy a home while they are cheap, and work and pay for it. By the time we do, say ten years, we will be prosperous men and have a sane and sensible family.

Sixth—Let's go to our bank, renew the note and then start working and paying it off. Don't get mad at the banker because he wants the money. We got it, owe it, and should pay it. If we don't get our credit restored, we are "dead numbers" and will stay dead.

Seventh—Let's quit talking and joy riding so much and do some reading.

Eighth—At all hazards, let's have a family conference instead of a family row.

The important thing is to work; work, and actually earn our wages. During these years of crazy buyers, workers were scarce and employers contented with lots of loafing. They are going to quit that row; there's plenty of workers, and the jobs will go to those who honestly and intelligently work. If this country will go to work we will again see prosperity.

These simple things will bring prosperity and start it up the day we start—H. C. Glean, in Crosbyton Review.

Scudday News

Fifteen Raha for Scudday, our school opened this morning. Most ever parent in the community was present. There were several nice talks made by the parents and pupils. Everyone is backing our teachers and pupils. We are going to make Scudday one of the best schools in Terry county.

Miss Kathryn Lowe is real sick this week.

Mrs. Nixon and children were visitors in Mrs. Elbert Norris home last Tuesday. Miss Eunice Norris spent Saturday night with Miss Gladys Green.

Mr. Cunningham and family had relatives visiting them Sunday.

Miss Syble Mutt spent Monday evening with Miss Mirel Bowdin.

Mr. N. J. Rainwater has been sick for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Bowerman were visitors in the Ray Sparkman home Saturday night.

Mr. Frank Walters and family had visitors from Briscoe county with them last week.

Mr. Preston Cunningham from Yoakum county is staying with his uncle, Mr. Will Cunningham and going to school at Scudday and we are proud to have him back here at Scudday, because we missed him very much last year.

Miss Lillian Hill left yesterday for Childress, where she will attend school this year.

Rev. Chas. D. Owens, who is to lead in the B. Y. P. U. Revival here, will preach at both morning and evening services, at the First Baptist church, Sunday, September 6th.

The Associational B. Y. P. U. Revival will be held in Brownfield Association September 7-14. All the workers of the different churches will meet with the local Baptist church, September 6th at 3 P. M., for a conference and then each afternoon during the week. All Baptist churches are urged to co-operate in the work.

The Herald had a communication from W. E. Beard this week, who is a brother of our A. C. Beard, who wants a place here to work next year.

Mr. Beard says things are in a bad way in Arkansas where he lives, but we imagine it would be best for him to come out and look for a place, as people generally don't like to rent to some one they have never seen. His address is Wheeling, Ark.

Walter Condon of Leeds, Eng., was sent to prison for a month for sticking pins in his mother-in-law.

Official paper of Terry County.

Several cases have been and are being tried in District Court here this week. Three have been given penitences when this was written, two whisky cases and one chicken theft had resulted in one year sentences.

It seems that lots of planes are now falling into houses and other buildings, endangering lives and ruining property. There may arise occasion to prohibit planes from passing over thickly populated centers.

Let us insist once more that the better class of renters, who are really able to pay rent want modern homes. This is just a gentle hint for some here who have empty houses to modernize them and see how long they stay empty.

The Dallas News says the Texas Pacific Northern decided to build when they knew that Sterling was to be governor. If so, no officials that have visited Brownfield have hinted so much. On the contrary they tell us that they have had the plans worked out for some time.

Preparations are going forward to open school here Monday morning whether or not the new building is finished or not. But it is believed that there will be sufficient class rooms finished in the high school building to make out with until the entire building is turned over to the school board.

Some day there is going to be built a line from Big Spring to San Angelo and San Antonio to connect with the Missouri Pacific at that place on the tide water at Corpus Christi. In the meantime let us give whole hearted support to what is now before us.

There are 53 counties in West Texas calling for aid. Usually these counties make bumper crops of feed and cotton, but have failed for the past two years and some for the past three years. This is no disgrace, and help now will be returned to the helpers with interest later on.

Why not as the Chamber of Commerce Secretary suggested, ask the Interstate Commerce commission to hold their sessions here in November when they sit to see whether or not the Texas Pacific Northern is to be built? Why not let them see the real thing instead of viewing the country from the side lines?

Mr. Creager says the Democratic factions in Texas cannot lie down together without fighting. How about Creager and Wuzbach and such factions in the Republican ranks. Creager just as well prepare for his semi-annual cleaning this fall. Ferguson followers will lie down with Sterling better than they will Creager, and we don't mean maybe.

The county commissioners of Terry and Randall counties had their regular quarterly financial reports published last week. The old stall that nobody observes the law in such cases is slowly dying out as the different financial boards over the country take to obeying the law regarding stated reports.—McLean News.

Caught in the Gust! Sometimes a little gust of wind comes along and almost blows you off your feet. A strong wind can do much worse. It can damage or destroy your house. Financial Safety Lies in WINDSTORM INSURANCE. C. R. RAMBO Bonded Abstractor of Land Titles, Loans and Insurance.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is reported to be using a lot of geographers for putting the information or rather lack of information Texas children get out of geographies they study that West Texas is a barren desert, with nothing but a few long horn cattle. They do not mention our maize, wheat, corn and cotton fields, or our oil and gas wells, the greatest in the world. But better not insist on an investigation of some sections by the geographers right now.

For the life of it, the Herald cannot see any disgrace in accepting government aid in the time of drouth and calamity. It is reported that some east Texas counties in the throes of drouth are too proud to accept aid except locally. The best counties in the world have been subject to drouth since the dawn of history. It was drouth in the land of Canaan that caused Jacob to migrate to Egypt. Egypt experienced one while Joseph ruled that country of seven years duration. Naomi and family moved away from Palestine on account of drouth. There was another bad one in the time of Elijah, and we learn from the New Testament that the Gentile churches contributed to the poor saints at Jerusalem who were in the midst of drouth. Palestine was called the land of milk and honey and they had them. Some of the best States in the American Union have been very dry this year. Then why burden local people for help when the more prosperous parts of the nation are offering to help? This is one time where pride runneth before a fall it looks to us.

The Brownfield editor and his excellent newspaper, The Herald, celebrated birthdays together, last week. The editor blushingly pleads guilty to having seen 50 summers and most as many winters and the Herald acknowledges to one more than half that number. Both are steadily approaching the age* of maturity and bid fair to enjoy a ripe and mellow old age. We can't remember a time when A. J. Stricklin wasn't bossing things around the Herald plant and likewise we can't remember when the Herald wasn't a corking good newspaper. Mutual congratulations are in order and the town of Brownfield and the county of Terry share in the felicitations. Stricklin is always bragging on his "enviroonment" and with the recent announcement of the T. & P's intention to build through his town, he will be more swelled up than ever concerning his good judgement in picking out a place to settle down and settle up the country.—(Amarillo) Southwest Plainsman.

WHEN YOU GET INTO POLITICS, THEY SAY:

(By Gee McGee) "Well, I think Bill Smith is a pretty good fellow but he orders all of his clothes and shoes from Spears & Joeback and he let an out-of-town man fix his dog house last summer."

"I meant to vote for Sam Hipps, but I just heard that his great granddaddy was a Tory, and it will be a dangerous thing to put such a man into the office of treasurer."

I notice that Peter Biliken is out for Mayor. He has made a mistake. He shaves himself, and that means that the barber will fight him: he folks have it in for him. His wife's folks have it in for him. His wife's cousin is a Catholic and that is enough for the Baptist to fight him on. Nope he can't make it.

"Jule Smoots is probably all right to run a bank, but he is a high-barter and he drinks some at night (and I heard this morning that he refused to buy any War Saving stamps in 19 and 17. The Methodist will scratch him because he doesn't believe that Jonah actually swallowed the whale. Looks like he would have more sense than to run for congress."

"I thought old man Bulldozer was a fine man until he came out for the senate. He broke up 5 different bird's nest when he was a boy, and he snores in his sleep, he eats with his front teeth, he won't let his girls run around at night, and he owed the Last National bank a note for $11.00 when it busted. He won't get the vote of his kinfolks—as he endorsed and paid notes for nearly every one of them."

So, friends, when you enter politics you invite smut toters and the gossipers and the "they say" folks to riddle you and your family and your character and their religion from Adam to last night. They will talk about you and your dog and your debts and your everything else, and the worst part of the whole thing is —is often times so. (Selah.)—Donalee County Leader.

Abe had shot a man, and was sentenced to be electrocuted. On the morning of the execution the warden told him how sorry he was and how it was going to cost the state five hundred dollars to electrocute him. "Bum business," spoke up Abe. "Give me fifty dollars and I'll shoot myself!"

RADICAL CHANGES TRANSFORM BANKING

National Commission Sees Changing Opinion on Branch Banking Issue—Studies Group and Chain Banks.

NEW YORK.—Modification of the attitude of bankers on the long disputed branch banking question is forecast in a review and report covering rapid changes going on in banking issued here by the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. The report, however, after referring to recent proposals that national banks be given branch banking powers within the business territory surrounding their location, declares that "we do not believe that so-called 'trade-area' branch banking is likely to gain the support of any large percentage of the banking fraternity."

The commission says that the "most important development that has affected American banking in recent years involves the rapid growth of multiple banking organizations in the form of group, chain and branch banking systems," and adds that "we present this report as an unprejudiced economic study and have no theories or policies to urge at this time." The statement says that the commission's information indicates there are now 239 group or chain bank systems, which control 122 banks and $15,285,000,000 in aggregate resources, and that there are only six states and the District of Columbia where it does not find any group organizations.

The Commission's Investigation "We have been in touch with the managers of many important bank groups," the report says. "Aside from the obvious economies of centralized operation and control a number of these organization heads very frankly tell us that they do not feel that the system has been in operation and tested long enough to justify them in making positive or sweeping statements as to its advantages or disadvantages compared to unit banking."

"The Banking and Currency Committee of the House, which is conducting an investigation into banking developments, has called a number of operating heads of some of the great group systems. These men declared that they found, under certain conditions, definite operating and economic advantage in both group and branch banking over independent unit banking. Some thought group banking was only a transitional stage, that branch banking was preferable and if it were permitted on an extensive enough scale they would change their groups over to branch systems. Others held that group banking was preferable."

"Some held that the ideal plan was a combination of the two with group bank units for localities strong enough to support complete banking institutions and with branch offices extending further into the smaller places requiring banking services but not large enough to support complete banks. Several of these who advocated multiple banking declared that nevertheless they believed there would always be room for vigorous independent unit bank competitors."

Government Officials Express Views "The Comptroller of the Currency recommended that national banks be given branch banking powers within 'trade-areas.' The Governor of the Federal Reserve Board appeared to be in general agreement with the Comptroller. He said there were 24,645 banks and 3,547 branches, a total of 28,192 banking offices; that in this total, 6,353 offices were either branches or bank members of groups, or both, leaving 21,839 banking institutions that might be definitely termed independent unit banks, having no branches and in no way connected with group affiliations. He said all the banks had total loans and investments of $55,500,000,000, of which the group and branch systems held $30,000,000,000, or more than half."

"He opposed nation-wide branch banking at present but said that ultimately if bankers became trained and experienced in the larger technique of 'trade-area' branch banking he thought it would in time evolve nation-wide branch banking under control of relatively few banks, but he did not believe this would mean monopoly or lack of competition. He favored branch over group banking which, however, he said represented an economic development along 'trade-area' lines and would spread unless something else were substituted and thought 'trade-area' branch banking would serve this purpose."

"It is the intention of the Commission to develop its own studies in these questions, watch carefully every move that is made and every bit of information that may develop in this connection and keep itself prepared to give an unbiased and accurate statement of the facts of the case whenever that is desired," the report concludes.

Federal Reserve Pays Government. In the fifteen years since its establishment in 1914, aggregate net earnings of the Federal Reserve System's twelve regional banks have amounted to $515,216,000, of which $90,672,000 has been paid to the member banks as dividends, representing 6 per cent annually on their contributions of capital to the reserve banks, while $277,484,000 has been added to the surplus of the reserve banks and $147,110,000 has been paid over to the Federal Government as a franchise tax.

Democratic Nominees Declared by Ex. Com. HOLD YOUR TEMPER. The other day I saw a man lose an order for some goods, just because he could not hold his temper. I was reminded of an ancient and wonderful bit of Oriental philosophy: "The price of anger is failure." We human beings like to fool ourselves into the idea that we can get some things for nothing. We can't. We never get anything for nothing. Old Mother Nature runs a kind of store. We go to her counter and take what we want. We say to her: "My, what a nice, fiery temper you have there in the showcase! I like it and I will take it. I suppose there is no charge for it." "Take it if you like," says Mother Nature. "There will be some charge for it. But don't you worry about the cost. I will see that you pay." And she does see that you pay—with a ruined stomach, or a lost job, or something of the kind. Old Mother Nature's collection department is perfect. She has had debts—collects from everybody—says little about it—and often tricks you into thinking that you have carried off something for no nothing. But you haven't. You can't steal anything. There is no shoplifting around her place. So, go over your stock of goods once in a while and see what you've bought; not what you think you have got free, but what you have bought. For you have bought, and you are paying for everything you possess. What have you got? Is it a nice case of laziness? All right—don't whine if other people have more knowledge, better clothes to wear, and more to eat than you have. You wanted laziness and took it. But you are paying for it by having fewer comforts. Are you dishonest and a cheater? All right. You got what you chose. But don't yelp now if people shy away from you, distrust you, and don't like to have you around. Are you so engrossed in your own personal advancement that you have no time for family or friends? Very well. That's yours. But don't kick if nobody loves you. You have bought the privilege of playing a lone hand in the game of life, and you will have to look to yourself for all the approval, all the affection. Don't expect anything from others. You bought what you wanted—now you can pay for it. If the bargain was a bad one, don't blame other people. The selection was yours. I am not going to list all the goods procurable in Old Mother Nature's shop. Many of them are valuable and many are useless. I am merely suggesting that you look over you purchase, find out what they are costing you, and see what kind of a buyer you are.—Ex. Getting Up Nights. Mr. Rockefeller Advises Brain, Money, vs. Babies Salary, One Million? Ocean Air Travel, Perhaps

John D. Rockefeller lives quietly, plays golf, leaving men younger than ninety-one to run Standard Oil. But he keeps track of the world and when he advises he advises wisely. Much wisdom was condensed into the few words he said to a player in his foursome, "Be deliberate" and "Talk less and play better." That is a good "How to succeed" recipe.

Young ladies, graduating in a college for women, are urged by Rev. Dr. Robert Parrish to "be brain and money women."

We owe much of education, science and art to rich men, says the doctor, and must not "despise wealth." No tendency to despise wealth is visible in this country. But many still maintain that the "brain and money woman" is not as desirable as the "charm and baby woman."

Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel company, Charles M. Schwab's creation, declined to answer questions about his salary. Lawyers asked: "Is your salary more than one million a year?"

Mr. Grace replied, in substance: "None of your business."

Once the mention of a $1,000,000 salary would have shaken the stars in their courses, almost. Now it shakes nobody. Everything is a matter of percentage. If you earn $5,000 a year for your employer, you are worth about $2,500.

If you earn $5,000,000 a year, you are worth $250,000. If you earn $50,000,000 a year, you are worth $2,500,000.

Doctor Eckener's recent exploit, flying from Friedrichshafen to Brazil, to the United States, and home across the Atlantic, may mean the beginning of ocean travel for everybody. Before the Zeppelin sailed Charles E. Mitchell, head of the National City bank of New York, Colonel Deeds of the United Aircraft company, and others, discussed seriously with Doctor Eckener the proposition of regular transatlantic air travel.

The boy that invested one dollar in a derby lottery and won $149,000 "split the money three ways." His brother got $35,000, he kept $35,000 and gave his father $79,000.

There was no quarrel. Each felt that he was getting about all the real money in the world.

Everything is comparative. Many men in the United States would call the total $149,000 "not worth thinking about."

The London Daily Mail is agitated because 3,000 men marched through the street at Poona, in India, "openly abusing the government, carrying a portrait of King George, Emperor of India, decorated with old shoes, in token of contempt."

The Mail correspondent thinks something should be done to make the Hindus respect their British emperor.

The fact that not very much is done shows how wise the British are. Great Britain will let you talk to your heart's content, if you don't act.

In Hyde Park, a few blocks from Buckingham palace, you may say whatever you think about King George. Nobody will disturb you while you only talk.

A wise nation knows enough not to sit on the safety valve. Man's mouth is his safety valve.

Mr. and Mrs. Will A. Hamby of Simpsonville, N. C., have a girl baby, three days old. She weighed at birth 17 ounces. Her father feeds her with a medicine dropper and is building an incubator box to keep her warm.

That interests every woman in the wide world. They are interested, also, in the fact that every mother bear, even big bears weighing 1,000 pounds, have tiny babies that bother them not at all. They are born while the mother bear is asleep, hibernating.

Some day science will find a way to modify Eve's severe sentence and make childbirth painless. Small babies, like Mrs. Hamby's, would help, as they help the bears.

British mountain climbers abandon the attempt to conquer Kanchenjunga and transfer attention to another mountain in Asia called Jomsong, 24,300 feet high.

In proportion to earth's size the Jomsong peak is not as high as one of the little rough spots on an orange.

Intra-microscopic creatures climbing such an orange "peak" would equal the achievement of any human climbers. We climb or fly up less than one-thousandth part of the earth's diameter and praise ourselves.

The Yale Daily News says half the undergraduates are guilty of cheating at examinations. And such cheating, according to the Yale News, is "a matter of amusement to the faculty."

It ought not to be a matter of amusement, and the faculty denies the charge.

A student who cheats in examinations would consider himself disgraced if he cheated in sports or at gambling. Why go to college if your brain is not more important than your legs? (See 1929 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

A cat saved the lives of five children of Timothy Ryan of Dublin by jumping on the bed and waking them when the house caught fire.

No Medicine Ever Helped As Did Konjola

Stubborn And Painful Stomach Ailment Readily Yields To Power Of Famed Compound.

MRS. EDNA BARNETT

"Each day for a year I was in misery," said Mrs. Edna Barnett, 713 North Pearl street, Dallas. "My system had become weak and ran down from indigestion. Food failed of digestion and I had a constant burning sensation in my throat and stomach. Gas formed and I often belched violently. My nerves were upset and little things upset me terribly. I did not sleep well at night.

"The number of local people getting results attracted my attention to Konjola. I noticed a change for the better in my condition after I had taken the first bottle. I have taken four bottles to date and my health is again normal. I eat what I wish without a trace of indigestion or bloating. My nervous condition is much relieved and I sleep well at night. No medicine ever helped as did Konjola."

The files of Konjola contain thousands of such statements. It is recommended, however, that this medicine be given a thorough trial, in the average case over a six to eight week period.

Konjola is sold in Brownfield, Texas.

S. A. Lawrence, of Lorenzo, old friend of Geo. Warren, was here this week. He has recently sold his business at Hobbs, N. Mexico.

W. P. Watts and wife were here last week from Tulsa, visiting in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Green.

The membership of the Church of Christ are expecting their new minister, J. S. Drennon, of Roaring Springs, and family in this week. He comes very highly recommended as both a preacher and citizen, having been with the Roaring Springs church for the past six years, and could have remained longer. He will fill the pulpit at both hours here Sunday.

HEARSE BOOTLEGGERS

Instances of bootleggers using hearses for transporting their contraband product have been noted in the American press, in the Detroit case an entire "funeral" procession, including the hearse and cars of the "mourners" having been found full of liquor.

A similar incident is reported from Italy, where a Mussolini edict forbids the baking of bread whiter than the prescribed "economy loaf" made of either whole wheat or a mixture of wheat and other grain.

As a hearse passed slowly through the streets of Naples, Fascisti police sniffed the odor of fresh bread emanating from the funeral car and pounced upon the luckless "undertaker." Finding the hearse filled with pure white loaves, he was promptly lodged in jail, while his wealthy customers waited for him in vain.

To make matters worse, a list of these customers was found on the culprit's person and they were at last accounts nervous through fear of being arrested also.

The moral of all this would appear to be: Don't try to pull off a funeral without a real corpse.

Marketing Ass'n Lecturer Here Past Week

Judge Gough of Amarillo, representing the Farmers Marketing Association, as State and National lecturer, as here all last week, speaking at practically every community center in Terry county, and reports are that he had wonderful success.

A. W. Lusk, head of the Terry county organization informed the Herald that some 80 farmers signed up over the county to market their cotton through this association. As the Herald sees the matter, every organization whose aim is to hold cotton off the market is going to be beneficial to boosting the price of cotton this year. We advise all farmers to get in some holding association or other.

West Texas Gin Installing New Machinery

The writer with several others were down to the plant of the West Texas Gin Co., last Saturday afternoon inspecting the new machinery that has just been installed. Thousands of dollars worth of new machinery in the way of new stands, hullers, cleaners and presses have been installed this year, and Mr. Jones, manager, believes there is absolutely nothing better.

New belts, pulleys and all have been installed throughout, and the whole interior treated to a new coat of paint, giving the plant the appearance of being new throughout. They have been running the machinery a great deal of late, limbering it up for the season's run. They let us pull the cord and toot their whistle a little is the reason we are giving them this free ad.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Perkins, accompanied by Jack Stricklin Jr., were visitors over the week-end with relatives of the Perkins' at Amherst.

"Guess you heard that Mike Strong whipped his wife about 20 years ago while he was living out West? Well they say he did that thing. And furthermore he believes in evolution: that kills him with the Presbyterians, and his oldest son has jake paralysis and he won't get a single prohibitionist vote. And he ain't fit for the leg-islature now. He don't pay no taxes except the poll and the dog. He's already beat."

Baptist People Close Successful Revival

The local Baptist church closed a revival here Sunday night that in point of interest, attendance and visible results, was likely the most successful that has been held here in several years at least. The tabernacle, which seats close to a thousand people was comfortable filled most of the time, and actually crowded both Lord's Days. We understand that there were fifty odd additions to the church from all sources, and some of the other denominations received members as a result of the meeting.

The membership of the church were more than pleased with the efforts of Rev. Douglas Carver, as well as Mr. Blankenship and wife who had charge of the musical program, and the Booster bunch of young people. The meeting, we understand was well financed, and the evangelist and singers went away pleased with the results obtained here as well as the monetary help received from the people of their faith in Brownfield.

STATE TAX MEN AND BANKERS IN ACCORD

Months of Negotiation Lead to Agreement on Changes Broadening Method of State or Local Taxation of National Banks.

NEW YORK.—Months of conference and negotiation between an American Bankers Association special committee and the Committee of the Association of States on Bank Taxation have resulted in an agreement on a form of amendment to the Federal statute dealing with state or local taxation of national banks that "maintains the integrity of the protective principles of the section and is satisfactory to the commissioners' committee," says the American Bankers Association Journal.

Thomas B. Paton, the organization's General Counsel, in making the announcement says that previously proposed amendments to the statute, which is known as Section 5219, have been opposed when it was felt their terms would enable any state to place banks in a tax class by themselves.

"The law as it stands today," Mr. Paton says, "permits state or local taxation of national banks or their shareholders in one or the other of the four following forms: the shareholders upon their shares, a property tax; the shareholders upon their dividends, a personal income tax; the bank upon its net income; the bank according to or measured by its net income. Only one form of tax can be imposed, except that the dividend tax may be combined with the third or fourth form if other corporations and shareholders are likewise taxed.

"The conditions permitted are: the tax on shares must be at no greater rate than on other competing moneyed capital; the income tax on shareholders must be at no greater rate than on net income from other moneyed capital; the tax on bank net income must be at no higher rate than on other financial corporations nor the highest rates on mercantile and manufacturing corporations doing business within the state; the tax measured by net bank income is subject to the same limitations as the tax on net income of the bank but may include entire net income from all sources."

National banks and their shareholders are taxed in different states under a diversity of systems, he says. The U. S. Supreme Court has held that the low millage rate on intangible personal property is in violation of the present law where it results in national bank shares being taxed at a rate greater than that assessed upon competing moneyed capital. A number of states, unwilling to use the income methods permitted, had the alternative of either repealing the intangible tax laws or limiting taxation of national bank shares at the intangible rate. Therefore they sought a broadening of the permissive provisions.

Also, Mr. Paton points out, a Supreme Court decision held a state's excise tax on corporations invalid where it included income from Federal and local government bonds in the excise measure. This created doubt as to some state bank excise taxes.

"Conferences have been held to reach some agreement which would protect the banks, satisfy the tax commissioners and avoid a contest in Congress," Mr. Paton says. "From the standpoint of the tax authorities, the main objective has been an amendment which would permit certain states to retain their low rate tax upon intangibles and at the same time derive an adequate, but not excessive, revenue from national bank shares, and an amendment which would permit certain states to tax corporations on their net income, excluding income from tax-exempts, and at the same time derive the same revenue from the banks as heretofore. From the standpoint of the banks, it has been deemed imperative to maintain the protective principles of Section 5219.

The Changes Agreed On

"In the proposed amendment the existing provision permitting taxation of bank shares no higher than the rate upon competing moneyed capital has been modified with respect to certain intangible tax states only by a provision under which, instead of the moneyed capital limitation, the rate shall not be greater than the rate upon the shares of other financial corporations, nor upon the net assets of individuals, partnerships or associations employed in the banking, loan or investment business, nor higher than the rate assessed upon mercantile, manufacturing and business corporations with head office in the state.

"Also an added fifth alternative permissive method, designated as a specific tax, permits a state, in place of an ad valorem tax on bank shares, to add together total dividends paid the preceding year and the increase in capital, surplus and undivided profits, less additions to capital or surplus paid in by stockholders, and to divide this total by the number of shares. The state may tax the shares based upon this amount, but not to exceed the rate on other corporations in proportion to their net profits.

"This method is designed for states which have heretofore taxed national banks upon their entire net income from all sources at a proportionate rate to that assessed upon business corporations. The amount which is the basis of the tax is the equivalent of the entire net income from all sources, but being assessed against the shareholder upon his property in the shares and not a tax upon the bank, it is not open to the objection as an indirect tax on exempt income."

Roy Davis, former county agent, and Rev. Ernest May, former pastor of the local Baptist church, both turned in their resignations at the Rotary Club last Friday. Both were fine members and Rotarians regretted they had to be severed from them.

Mrs. J. W. Cotten of Amarillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Sawyer, has been their guest the past two weeks.

THE INDIVIDUAL YET NEEDED BY BUSINESS

By JOHN G. LONSDALE
President American Bankers Association

SOME seem to think that the day of the individual in business has passed. But they are wrong. While the individual may not attract such outstanding attention as he did in the days of old when institutions were conducted on a smaller scale, he nevertheless is to be found in any large corporation, dominating the situation, giving orders here, operating there and shouldering the responsibility of keeping a large group of lieutenants, captains and privates working in unison and moving forward under the banner of progress. And all of these are held accountable to the public because the public has entered into a partnership agreement with the corporation through purchase of stock.

Welfare of Workers
Even in the gigantic mergers that have taken place within the last two years there remains more than ever the necessity for a leader, an aggressive personality, whose duty it is to see that basic principles are not forgotten, that the rights and privileges of the individual workers and the customers they serve are as well provided for as in the smaller business units.

It is gratifying to note that our corporations are giving more and more concern to the welfare of their workers. Numerous benefit organizations have been formed, opportunities offered for advancement of education and position, hospital service established and insurance and retirement pensions provided.

This general humanitarian movement in reality is the outgrowth of analysis, which has disclosed the need of improving the well-being of our individual workers, realizing at the same time that our institutions will benefit.

"How is it, Uncle Mose, you are asking for credit when you had a good cotton crop?" Asked the store proprietor in a southern town. "De ducks got 'bout all dat cotton, suh," was the mournful reply. "What do you mean by the ducks got it?" "Well you see," explained the old man, "I sent dat cotton up to Memphis, an' dey deducks the freight, an' dey deducks the storage charges, an' dey deducks the commission, an' dey deducks the taxes—yes, suh, de ducks got 'bout all dat cotton an' dat's why I'm here."

PREPAREDNESS IN BUSINESS

By R. S. HECHT,
American Bankers Association.
My observations for many years, both as an employee and as an executive, have convinced me that the reason some men and women go ahead and others do not is that some keep themselves constantly prepared to accept and fulfill larger duties and responsibilities as they offer, and some do not.

Grant, as we must, that there is a certain element of luck in the conditions under which opportunity for promotion comes to different men and women, we nevertheless must also see that it is each individual's own state of preparedness which determines his ability to seize opportunity if and when it comes, and having seized it, to succeed in meeting the greater demands which it inevitably places upon him.

Real advancement never means going ahead to easier tasks, but always to harder ones. Opportunity for advancement is worthless unless in accepting it you are able to carry with you the abilities and qualifications that prepare you to meet the heavier exactions that are an inherent part of opportunity.

It is far better to go into action in the field of enlarged responsibility prepared and qualified, rather than that you and the institution you work for shall be exposed to the hazard of your having to build up to new responsibilities after having assumed them.

Bank Bandits Active

The greatest number of bandit raids on American banking ever recorded in the figures of the protective department of the American Bankers Association were reported during the six months ending last February. Bank members of the association reported for investigation 311 forged cases, 107 holdup robberies, 16 burglaries, 3 sneak thefts and 8 mortgage windfalls while non-member banks, numbering less than half the total enrolled in the association, suffered 86 holdup robberies and 9 burglaries, non-members being burglarized or held up once for every 89 banks, as compared with once for every 164 member banks. The association detective agents caused the arrest of 143 of the 236 bank criminals apprehended during the period covered.

The association's report on these conditions urges support of the movement to provide city police departments with radio-equipped cruising automobiles which have proved particularly effective in Cleveland and Detroit in the broadcasting of alarms and the closing in on criminals immediately after or even in the midst of the perpetration of crimes. Last year the average time elapsed between the receipt of radio calls by these cars and the 1235 arrests which followed was one minute and forty-two seconds, the report says.

JAIL BREAK MADE BY GAINES PRISONERS

Sometime Saturday night between nine and ten o'clock, the four prisoners who had been confined to the county jail, and who had been allowed the freedom of the run-around, decided they wanted more freedom, left their boarding place and failed to leave a forwarding address. Two being the ones caught with 125 gallons of bootleg whiskey by Deputy Taylor recently southwest of town; one being held here for Andrews County officers on a car theft charge, he being placed in the local jail as Andrews County has no jail; and the other being one of the men who robbed a filling station at Seagraves. There were two in the filling station robbery—the one not participating in the escape Saturday night had decided not to proceed further on a trip with Sheriff McCleskey to central Texas and on passing through Big Spring quit the party and has not sent his present address.

Rotary-Lions Club Ball Game Friday P. M.

Well folks you have waited a long time for the kind of game that you wanted to see, here it is Friday evening, 4:30. The Lions Club will boast of such players as Judge Neill, W. E. Henson, K. W. Howell, W. A. Tittle, W. W. Price and others, while the Rotary Club will be comprised of such veterans as Dr. Graves, Dr. Schofield, Bob Bowers, Joe McGowan, Tom May and others.

It will be a real treat to see these fellows get in there and hustle, and do not forget that there are plenty of others in both of these clubs that are old time league players and are plenty capable of uncovering a good brand of ball playing anytime they are called on.

ORDINANCE NO. 8.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MEADOW, TEXAS,

An ordinance granting a franchise and certain privileges to the West Texas Gas Company (a corporation, with its principal office in the City of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas), and establishing rules and regulations for the use of natural gas for lights, heat and power, and establishing a maximum limit for price to be charged for such gas.

WHEREAS, the West Texas Gas Company (a corporation) has applied to the Mayor and City Council of the City of Meadow, Texas, to grant said West Texas Gas Company the right to lay and maintain and operate a gas plant for the distribution of natural gas and light, heat and power within the City of Meadow, Texas upon the following terms and conditions and reservations, such rights and franchises to be as follows, to wit:

SECTION 1. That the right to furnish, distribute and sell natural gas for light, heat and power, and for all such other purposes for which gas may be used within the City of Meadow, Texas, for a period of thirty years from the date of the passage and approval of this ordinance is hereby granted to the West Texas Gas Company (a corporation), its successors and assigns, hereinafter called the grantee, subject, however, to the provisions hereinafter incorporated in this ordinance and for such additional period of extensions of the said term of years, and upon conditions then found to be satisfactory to the officials of the City of Meadow, and to this grantee, and provided that this ordinance and franchise is to be in effect and run from and after the day and date of its passage and approval.

SECTION 2. That the said grantee is to have the right to lay mains, pipes and equipment, and to construct such buildings and install such machinery or equipment and to sell or lease such equipment to the citizens of Meadow, Texas, as may be necessary or advisable in their judgment for the proper performance of the service to be rendered to the City of Meadow, and to its inhabitants and citizens to the best interests of the gas consumers and to have, at all times, access to the streets and alleys of said City for the purpose of laying such mains, pipes and equipment as may be needed from time to time during the term of this franchise, or any extension thereof, provided, that at no time shall the grantee obstruct such streets or alleys so as to interfere in the public use thereof for a period longer than forty-eight (48) hours, and that immediately such mains, pipes or equipment is laid and tested same shall be covered and such streets or alleys shall be replaced in the same or as good condition as before such work was done.

All excavations to be properly guarded by barriers by day and by red lights at night, and the said grantee shall hold the said City of Meadow harmless from any and all damages to persons or property resulting from their negligence in the manner of constructing such distribution plant or system and guarding the same while under construction, by a good and sufficient bond executed by the grantee and some reputable surety company permitted to do business in the State of Texas, in the penal sum of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00). It is not intended that this bond shall be kept in force permanently, but during the "initial" construction period, and this period ends when gas is used inside the city limits.

The work done in connection with the construction, maintenance and operation of said plant and transmission system, and the location of regulating stations, vent pipes, valves, gate valves, gauges, stock boxes, manholes, low, intermediate, and high pressure mains, pipes, feeders, service pipes and conduits, and service pipe extensions and all appurtenances in the streets, highways, alleys and other public places in the City shall be subject to, and governed by the regulations, rules and ordinances now in force in the City of Meadow or that may be hereafter lawfully adopted by said city.

SECTION 3. That all mains shall be at least eighteen (18) inches below the surface of the ground, and so laid as not to interfere in any manner with water mains or pipes or sewer line of said City, or pipes or conduits of other utilities already installed; and that the connections between the gas mains and pipes shall be placed and laid to the property of the consumer at the expense of the grantee. That the grantee shall not be required to extend main lines more than one hundred and fifty (150) feet to any one consumer.

SECTION 4. That said grantee shall at all times after said gas distribution system has been established and placed in operation, be prepared to furnish said City and its inhabitants with a good quality of gas for light, heat and power, and other purposes and said grantee shall furnish such gas for all purposes for which same may be used in sufficient quantities to supply the needs of the said City and its inhabitants.

The said gas shall be furnished to said City and its inhabitants for domestic use at a net price not to exceed one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) for the first 1,000 cubic feet or less, and sixty-seven and one-half (67 1/2) cents per thousand cubic feet for all gas used in excess of first 1,000 cubic feet; provided however, that gas used for heating public buildings, churches, hotels and apartments shall be sold at the following rates:

For the first 1,000 cubic feet or less used per month $1.50.
For the next 49,000 cubic feet used per month 67 1/2 cents per M.
For the next 100,000 cubic feet used per month 50 cents per M.
For all used in excess of 150,000 cubic feet per month 40 cents per M.

That the maximum rates for industrial gas shall not exceed the rates set out in the following schedule:
For the first 1,000 cubic feet or less used per month $1.50.
For the next 49,000 cubic feet used per month 45 cents per M.
For the next 150,000 cubic feet used per month 35 cents per M.
For the next 300,000 cubic feet used per month 30 cents per M.
For the next 500,000 cubic feet used per month 25 cents per M.
For the next 10,000,000 cubic feet used per month 22 1/2 cents per M.
For the next 20,000,000 cubic feet used per month 20 cents per M.
For the next 29,000,000 cubic feet used per month 18 cents per M.
For the next 60,000,000 cubic feet used per month 16 1/2 cents per M.
For above 120,000,000 cubic feet used per month 15 cents per M.

That all above rates are to be charged for gas used through one meter only.

That all bills shall be due and payable monthly and within ten days from date rendered, and in case of default or non-payment within said time the grantee shall have the right to discontinue service to said consumer, and to make an additional charge for the gas used for any purpose equal to one-ninth (1/9) of the bill rendered. And in case said consumer shall make application to have services reestablished and gas re-connected with his premises, he shall be required to pay all delinquent bills, together with the penalty thereon, and to pay a cut-on charge not to exceed $1.50 for domestic use and heating purposes, and $2.00 for industrial use. It is further provided that the grantee shall be allowed to make a minimum charge of $1.50 per month for gas for domestic and heating service and $25.00 per month for industrial gas service.

All gas furnished or supplied by grantee shall be metered, and for this purpose the grantee shall, at his own cost and expense, provide and install for each consumer a good and accurate meter of standard cubic feet used per month and maintain at its proper cost and expense, a standard meter prover of not less than five cubic feet capacity, equipped with suitable thermometers and other necessary accessories, which shall be maintained to the accepted standard of accuracy, all to be to the satisfaction and approved by the City Council.

Such meters shall be and remain the property of the said grantee and the grantee shall have the right to require the customer or consumer to deposit with him a sum equal to the maximum monthly bill to the consumer, provided, however, that no deposit shall be in a less sum than $10.00 for domestic meter, and $15.00 for industrial meter.

SECTION 5. The natural gas to be furnished hereunder shall be at all times kept to a standard of not less than hundred British thermal heat units or higher per cubic foot at the point of consumption, at a temperature of thirty-two degrees Fahrenheit, or zero Centigrade.

Each consumer of gas shall install and maintain suitable piping within his property lines and suitable appliances and fixtures, except meters, subject to the approval of the City Council or such supervisor, inspector or other representative as may be authorized by said City Council to pass upon the same.

SECTION 6. The City reserves the right to lay and permit to be laid electric conduits, water and other pipe lines or cables, and to do and permit to be done any underground construction, by a good and sufficient bond executed by the grantee and some reputable surety company permitted to do business in the State of Texas, in the penal sum of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00). It is not intended that this bond shall be kept in force permanently, but during the "initial" construction period, and this period ends when gas is used inside the city limits.

The work done in connection with the construction, maintenance and operation of said plant and transmission system, and the location of regulating stations, vent pipes, valves, gate valves, gauges, stock boxes, manholes, low, intermediate, and high pressure mains, pipes, feeders, service pipes and conduits, and service pipe extensions and all appurtenances in the streets, highways, alleys and other public places in the City shall be subject to, and governed by the regulations, rules and ordinances now in force in the City of Meadow or that may be hereafter lawfully adopted by said city.

SECTION 7. The right to use the streets, alleys, highway or other public ways or places of the City of Meadow by the grantee, as provided in section two above, shall be and is subject to the following restrictions, limitations and conditions, viz: that in laying additional mains or lines of gas said grantee shall build and construct the same along and under the alleyways, where alleys exist, and shall only use the streets for so far as may be necessary in connecting from one alley to another, and shall maintain and place in operation, be prepared to furnish said City and its inhabitants with a good quality of gas for light, heat and power, and other purposes and said grantee shall furnish such gas for all purposes for which same may be used in sufficient quantities to supply the needs of the said City and its inhabitants.

The said gas shall be furnished to said City and its inhabitants for domestic use at a net price not to exceed one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) for the first 1,000 cubic feet or less, and sixty-seven and one-half (67 1/2) cents per thousand cubic feet for all gas used in excess of first 1,000 cubic feet; provided however, that gas used for heating public buildings, churches, hotels and apartments shall be sold at the following rates:

For the first 1,000 cubic feet or less used per month $1.50.
For the next 49,000 cubic feet used per month 67 1/2 cents per M.
For the next 100,000 cubic feet used per month 50 cents per M.
For all used in excess of 150,000 cubic feet per month 40 cents per M.

That the maximum rates for industrial gas shall not exceed the rates set out in the following schedule:
