

FAIR CROP AND RAILROAD BUILDING TO BRING PROSPERITY

Chamber of Commerce

By the Secretary

A number of people have been in the office inquiring as to when we may expect a report, or rather an order, from the Interstate Commerce Commission, authorizing construction of the Texas & Pacific Northern Railway. It is the opinion of the writer that we will not be advised of their decision under thirty days. The recommendation of the Examiner was made on June 24th, and the railroad officials were allowed twenty days in which to file an appeal and the commission is supposed to render an opinion within thirty days after the time, but they can take more time if they so desire. After the final order is made, it will be about sixty days before any actual work is commenced and this will place breaking of the first dirt around the 15th of October or 1st of November. The railroad officials have assured us that local labor will be used wherever possible and construction of the line should solve our labor problem for the winter and would to a large extent, remove our part of the "depression."

The Charity Association, is practically out of business, because it is out of funds. We have been broke two or three times before this, but the secretary has got out and collected enough money to nearly pay us out of debt but encountered some difficulty, because the attitude of a number of people, was that the harvest season was here and that there should not be any calls at this time. They are reduced, it is true, but just this week, we were called upon to provide food for a woman and five small children, who are camped in town and the only thing that they had to eat, was a few pounds of flour. The father had gone to the harvest fields and left them without either food nor money and they haven't been here long enough to come under county care. Now we may be able to get by under the present plan during the remainder of the summer, but when winter comes, a different kind of an organization is going to have to be formed or we will just have to do without at any. The present plan is not feasible and cannot be continued.

The annual meeting of the Fort Worth-Brownfield Highway Association, will be held at Stamford on August 10th. We would like to have several people from Brownfield, in attendance. Both the secretary and president of the association live here and we are all interested in the route. New officers will be elected at the Stamford meeting and it is probable that some arrangement will be made for advertising the route as a federal highway.

Ain't this a funny world? A few weeks ago the secretary was solicited to undertake to work up interest in the employment of a county agent, but last week, several of the boys jumped on him and wanted to know what in the h— he meant by trying to put over anything of that kind. Well the point is, that if we do not need an agent in these strenuous times, why do we need him at any time? Anyway, we are going to try to put it over but may fall down.

We did not mention it last week but Captain Ed Kennedy, was in town and advised us that he was well on his way to building the railroad from Corpus Christi to Roswell. Well he may be on his way, but has a long hard road to travel.

A number of people have reported that sucking insects are ruining their gardens. Here is a remedy that is said to be destructive to them. One teaspoonful of Nicotine sulphate (40 percent solution) soap 1 inch cube. Water, one gallon. Dissolve soap in a small quantity of water, (hot) dilute with remainder of water and add nicotine. Use a spray and be sure that under side of leaves is reached. Direct contact with insects necessary to kill. This is also good for cucumbers, cantaloupes and watermelons.

LOAN FIGURES TO VETERANS ARE REVEALED

Washington, July. — New loans made to veterans since enactment of the 50 percent loan law totaled $792,436,116, on June 27.

These were made to 2,064,609 veterans.

A tabulation issued today by the veterans administrator showed the Washington office led all others in the amount and number of loans made, paying out $152,858,078 to 417,804 veterans.

CONSIDERABLE RAILROAD TALK AT TATUM, N. M.

Citizens of That City Have Their Eyes on at Least Three Major Lines. Believe Their Long Wait for a Rail Line to Soon Be Rewarded With One or More.

The people of the little city of Tatum, N. M., were considerably excited over railway talk last week, and predictions are that some one of the several railroads looking to that section will construct a line into or through Tatum in the next few years at least, opening up to settlement a large scope of country now without close railway facilities.

One of the most talked of roads is the Corpus Christi-San Angelo and Roswell, which is believed being promoted by the Missouri Pacific of which the Texas & Pacific is a subsidiary. It is learned that a committee of this road met with a committee of business men of Tatum last week, at which time it was stated that they already had a charter to Brownfield, at which point a rail line would likely lead west to Roswell.

American Legion and Their Families Picnic

The American Legion boys and their families, the Auxiliary members and families went to the Ray Brownfield ranch last Thursday afternoon, where they had one of the best picnics and programs put on here by any organization for a long time. It is said that everyone seemed to have forgotten hard times, and thoroughly entered into the spirit of the occasion.

Akers Buys Rambo Abstract Business

Glen Akers, who for the past three years has been with the Industrial Eng. Dept., of Armour & Co., of Fort Worth, and for the past year at St. Louis, has purchased the Rambo Abstract business here and took charge this week. Glen worked for Mr. Rambo here several years, and understands the business well, and will be able to take hold where Mr. Rambo left off. We are certainly glad to have him and wife re-locate in Brownfield. She will be known as Miss Christine Harrison to most here.

Johnson Will Speak Here Saturday P. M.

Mr. J. A. (Sweet) Johnson of the Los section, will speak from the band stand in the courthouse lawn tomorrow afternoon at 8 o'clock. He will speak on a subject that is of interest to farmers. He remarked that the preachers had been holding forth for the past several Saturdays, but that he hoped they would give way for a talk to farmers this coming Saturday, and that the preachers could use their pulpits Sundays for what they wished to say for one Saturday at least.

Mr. Johnson is an interesting talker. He is well posted on current events, being a heavy reader, and will be able to give some information that may prove valuable to his fellow farmers. To use Mr. Johnson's language, he holds no "Doctor's degree" from a farmer's college, but was an actual dirt farmer, but he believes he can tell farmers something that will be just as valuable to them as if he had all kinds of handles to his name.

Mrs. Retha Clay, of Van, Texas, is here under treatment of Dr. Castleberry, her old family physician.

A Trip to Taboka The Past Sunday

The writer and wife accompanied by Mrs. Walter Duke and little daughter made a trip to Taboka Sunday, partly for the outing and to see the country, meet old friends, and to attend the revival now going on there conducted by the writer's brother. They are having a fine service, and as the morning was cool, the church building was quite comfortable, so that we did not dose even one time during the sermon.

The crops between here and Taboka are rather spotted. In the sandier lands of the eastern part of this county and western Lynn county, many of the farms are badly blown, but the crops that were well up when the sandstorms started, look good. In fact, they are much better than on the harder lands over near Taboka where they do not blow, but where much more rainfall is required to keep them fresh.

Taboka, like most towns in this section is on the standstill at this time. Indeed we do not know of any that has grown very much in the last year or two. So that fine little city is behind no one on that score. One thing very pleasant can be said of Taboka, it has more pretty homes of any town of its size we know of. We do not mean by that they have any mansions, but they have so many homes costing from $4000 to $8000 that it is amazing to most people. So many towns started off with a lot of shacks scattered over the residence section that it spoils the looks of the better homes about them. Taboka seems to have escaped this affliction.

But, we believe as a whole, Brownfield has more pretty yards. We do not know whether they have a water limit over there or not, but it seemed to us that they were not using the water on their yards that is being used in Brownfield. At least the flowers and shrubbery did not look so fresh as here.

Brownfield a One Bakery Town Again

The Sanitary Bakery closed their doors last Thursday and quit the town, as far as we can learn. Just what the cause was we are not able to say, but some thought that bread at 5c per loaf was too much cut, and the stronger of the two bakeries was the one to survive.

Brownfield has become quite a town, and has an immense territory, and another bakery will no doubt be put in as soon as conditions justify. Bread was immediately hoisted to 8c per loaf after the closing of the Sanitary, which we understand is about in line with bread in other towns.

Commissioners Sitting As Equalizers Tues.

The Commissioners Court are sitting as a board of equalization this week, and many people are appearing before them which denotes that quite a few have had notices of a raise although the Commissioners informed us that they believed the valuations would total less than last year. They were, they said, trying to get property that was valued too low raised some, and that too high lowered, taking into consideration the improvements on the property.

T. P. N. TO CARRY ON FIGHT FOR 333 MILE LINE

Washington—Attorneys for the Texas and Pacific Northern railway will soon file exceptions to the proposed report of Interstate Commerce Commission Examiner Weed which recommended against construction of the railroads projected 333-mile line in West Texas.

Texas Utilities Co. Making Good Ice Here

It has been some time since we gave our ice plant any kind of boost. Not because we had anything against the Company or its management, but because we hardly ever get down that way. In fact, we count Earl Wilson, local manager as one of our very best friends, and we believe that he would do most anything to accommodate us, and we know that we would return a like favor.

Can't Put One Firm Out of Business

Did you know that it was a hard matter to put even the weakest firm in a city out of business? No one but some fellow with a weak mind and a twisted imagination would try it. No one but has his circle of friends and supporters, and any time one has little enough gumption to try to put that person or firm out of business, these friends will come to his rescue. In other words, we kinder make a martyr out of him whom we would destroy. And no matter how detestible the fellow may be to us, he has his circle of friends. Let us not forget that.

Terry County Singing Convention Here Sun.

Commissioner G. M. Thomason was in Monday to see us and informed us that the Terry County Singing Convention would meet here again this time at the high school auditorium. The first session will be held Saturday night, and it will convene again Sunday morning as soon as the crowd gathers.

MARRIED

Mr. Ruben Sharp, who works on a ranch in the Pampa section, came in July 2, and after spending the night here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. Sharp, went on to the P. M. Williams ranch in Pampa county, where he was married to Miss Sallie Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Williams.

GOOD CROPS FOUND IN JOHNSON COMMUNITY

The Johnson community 10 miles northeast of Brownfield is considered one of the best farming sections of the county. They have a red clay land, somewhat mixed with some shinnery that is very productive, and if they get any amount of rains through the winter and early spring, summer showers will provide them with an abundant harvest in the fall. We drove out late Sunday afternoon through some of the Johnson community, saw a lot of mighty fine crops. We later attended preaching services at the school auditorium, and one of the largest crowds we ever saw at a community preaching service anywhere. The auditorium was well filled, and the people of that community said it was the largest preaching crowd ever seen there.

Some Few are Badly Damaged, But Most of Them Will Make More Feed and Cotton Than the Community Can Harvest. Example of Individual Farmer Given.

Just planted makes nothing, the community will still make more than they can gather to save them. It appears that the cotton crops has been considerably cut, however, from what it was last year. There may be a few who will have to depend to a great extent on late feed crops and no cotton.

"Texas Night" Was a Big Affair at Toronto

Toronto, Ont. July.—The Texas delegation of Lions arrived here yesterday morning by special train for attendance at the International Convention of Lions Clubs which opened with over 5,000 Lions and guests in attendance.

Julien C. Hyer, 1st Vice President of the International Association and Logical Successor to the Office of International President during the coming year, was host during the evening to Lion President Earle W. Hodges of New York City.

Most of the talent for the Texas Night celebration was brought from Texas. The famous Romanelli's Orchestra of Toronto assisted in the program.

Texas Night was an open bid for the support of other Lion Districts in bringing the 1932 Convention to El Paso, Texas, and for the support of their favorite son, Julien C. Hyer as International President.

Julien C. Hyer of Fort Worth was elected President of Lions International.

I generally guarantee everything I sell or do, but failed to make one item good. A gentleman bought a pair of hose savers from me and it wasn't long until he brought them back. He said they wouldn't stay on. I asked him what seemed to be the trouble. He didn't know. Every time he turned the water on they would just come off. I told him to try them in a pair of shoes instead of on a water hose, and he left satisfied, I hope.

W. L. Ellwood Pays $100,000 For Ranch

The sale of 6,720 acres of improved ranch lands to W. L. Ellwood by Bob Scott was announced here Tuesday. The properties are located within the old H. S. Ranch at Hyman, and the ten and one-half section were sold at a consideration of $15 per acre.

Ellwood is not to have possession of the newly acquired ranch properties until May 1, 1933.

This is the second ranch purchase made by Ellwood in that immediate section during the past year. Last year he acquired the John D. Lane ranch, located not far from the Bob Scott lands.

Ellwood has owned extensive ranch properties in Mitchell county for several years. The Renderbrook Ranch owned by the Ellwoods and of which O. F. Jones is manager, is among the largest and best improved cattle ranches in this section of West Texas. He also holds extensive ranch properties near Lubbock and at other points in West Texas.—Colorado Record.

Miss Adelia French, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert French of Deming, N. M., is here visiting relatives and friends. Miss French was born in Brownfield some 19 years ago.

BANKERS ON ADVERTISING
Bankers are hard-boiled business men, basing their deductions on proven facts, and the following, published in the American Bankers Magazine, is sound advice:
"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned if you do not use more than a 2 line space. A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertiser. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business men."

HOUSE CATS ATTACK LOCKHART RANCH HAND
Canadian, Texas, July.—Fighting off a pack of house cats to keep from being eaten alive, "Boots" Tipps, employ on the Lockhart ranch near Glazier and Higgins reached a neighbor's house last night with a wound in his body from a 44 calibre rifle.
Tipps had left the ranch house on foot to shoot rabbits for his cats. In crawling through the fence he accidentally discharged his gun, a bullet passing through his left side and out in his back.
He walked back to the house and was attacked by the cats which smelled the blood on his body.
After fighting them off Tipps saddled a horse and rode three miles to the Wilson ranch. He was so weak from the loss of blood that he was barely able to mount his horse.
He is expected to recover in a Higgins hospital.

Thirty-five cars of wheat had been shipped from Spur last week. We understand that wheat is bringing 25c per bushel at Demmitt this week.

Special Session Chance To Stabilize Values

Austin, Texas, July.—Fifteen cent cotton and dollar oil are bright possibilities if producers of these two great Texas commodities are given government supervision to assure orderly production and stabilize values, in the opinion of Agricultural Commissioner J. E. McDonald.

He expressed the hope that the legislature, in special session, would recognize the soil as the greatest natural resource, and take steps to insure orderly production of agricultural crops as a means of lifting the state out of its depression.

A conservation commission to govern the output of natural resources, he said, would restore confidence in values, and such a restoration would go far toward wiping out the greatest cotton surplus in the history of the south. "We must remember," he said, "that of our enormous surplus of around 9,000,000 bales the federal stabilization corporation has 1,300,000 bales safely tucked away, merchants shelves are bare, and the public is in dire need of cotton goods. With the re-establishment of confidence in values, there would be a cotton buying movement which would start the wheels of industry spinning, a buying movement such as this old world never witnessed. It would put the idle to work and bring back prosperity."

Harmony Happenings

(Delayed)
Well, we folks around Harmony had a real time the fourth. We celebrated the day by having one of the biggest "blow-outs" of the year. It was indeed a "blow-out." Some farmers not far from here says they had about two hundred acres of young feed that was just up to a good stand, to blow out. It was not just a few of them but every one of them was badly damaged by the storm. But they seem to have some of that grit lodged in their system, for they went back this morning to try it again.

We had a very good rain after the sand quit, which will help some but this old sand is so dry and hungry for water, that it would take a deluge to wet it entirely.

Bro. Richards preached to a large crowd Sunday. When he preaches, he never fails to deliver something good and always has a crowd to hear him. Sunday school was well attended, as well as singing. We had a visiting singer from Brownfield with us.

The young folks class of the Harmony Sunday school enjoyed a social last Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Denison.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Banks of Colorado, Texas, and Mrs. Elsie Holder of Monroe, visited their cousin, Mrs. Dessie Stone, Sunday.

Alfred L. Stone who has just recently returned from Annapolis, Md. where he was stationed with the U. S. Marines, visited his brother, Marion and family last week-end.

We were very glad to see that Mrs. Sweatt was able to attend singing Sunday night. She has been ill for several weeks.

Mr. Allgood is also greatly improved. He was at services Sunday, and he and family visited with the Williams.

SETS NEW WORLD RECORD

A new world's record for production for cows over twelve and one-half years of age, has just been established by Beebe Buoy's Violet of City View, a fourteen-year-old purebred Guernsey cow owned by J. C. Penny. Belle Buoy's Violet was put on test on April 22, 1930, and was milked steadily for 365 days. She was milked twice a day for the first five and a half months of the test period, and for the remaining six and a half months she was milked three times a day. The total production during the 365-day period was 17,234.7 pounds of milk and 958.5 pounds of butter fat. This exceeds the best previous production of any cow of any breed over twelve and a half years of age, by 7 pounds of butter fat.

Pasture day and night during the test period, this record-breaking cow during the winter months, was fed all of the silage, wet beet pulp, mangels, alfalfa, and clover mixed hay, mostly home grown, she would eat. Her average daily grain ration was only 11 pounds, and she consumed a total of 2 tons of grain during the year. At the beginning of the test she weighed 1,260 pounds, and at the finish weighed 1,490 pounds.

The usual age at which milk cows have heretofore considered at the peak of their productive capacity has been about eight years.

J. T. Pippin has purchased the Fields & Winston filling station and auto supplies in the Texas Service Station, where he will be found by his many friends. Mr. Pippin is a fine man and a good citizen. Look him up.

Mrs. Lense Price was in this week to set up their paper another year, and said they had a very good crop this year.

Union Make-ups

Bro. Weaver Lovelace preached at the First Baptist church house Sunday morning and Sunday night. Bro. Hale preached for us Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Six preachers were present to hear the sermon. Rev. Will Draeger of Quitaque was here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Draper over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Lewis are the proud parents of a new girl, which arrived July 6. We are more than glad to say, Mr. Day and family have moved into our community. Mr. Day is our principal for the following year. A jolly crowd of young people attended the party Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Durham. Miss Connie Roe entertained the young people Saturday night with a play party in her home.

WHEN A MAN OWES

Nothing so paralyzes that part of a man that gets him ahead in the world as worry. And few worries emulate the corn-borer more than the worry over money owed. Debts are no disgrace, per se. Most of the business of the world is done on borrowed money and will continue to be, for credit is a basic principle of the prevailing economic system. Yet, emergencies do happen. And if the wherewithal to repay money owed is not in sight, all is not lost. Human nature is such that if the harried debtor goes to his creditor and explains honestly and frankly his situation, a way out usually will be found. Perhaps it will be the partial-payment route. Maybe it will be a deferment of all obligations. Anyway, the tension will have been eased, and all important self-respect restored.—The Rotarian.

Rotarians Study Their Code of Ethics

Yes sir, the Rotarians have a code of ethics, eleven of them, and if everyone lived up to them as they should, they would be a mighty good citizen in any community. We don't say they would be a good Christian, although they might be as good as most Christians morally, but nothing takes the place of Christianity according to our notion, anymore than we believe that because one was a good Odd Fellow that would automatically make him a good Mason. He has to first assume the obligations of Masonry.

Robert Drennon had charge of the program and most of the members had their talks down until they were quite inspiring, and probably had the effect of causing most of us to give the code a real critical inspection, and personally the writer came away from that meeting with a more wholesome respect for what Rotary can and is doing for community life. The only trouble was lack of time, and not quite enough members to handle all the eleven sections of the code, as several are one vacation at this time.

The membership is looking forward now to a meeting with their families out at the sandhills pretty soon for a picnic and program.

PUTTING A LITTLE TOWN ON THE MAP

Sometimes a little town gets into the head lines by accident. Sometimes a disastrous storm makes it the center of interest for a few days. An unexpected oil well brings publicity and much undesirable population, and occasionally an atrocious crime will cause people to thumb their road maps in an effort to find its location. But when a little town gets on the map because of the development of some industry which brings money to the pockets of producers and adds generally to the prosperity and happiness of the community, that town has a good chance of getting frequent date lines in the metropolitan press. Indeed, such a town is worthy of mention in as widely circulated a journal as Farm and Ranch.

Chico is a little town in the northwest corner of Wise county, Texas. Its name is printed on the map in small, like letters, but it is in the headlines in 36 point blackface. The man responsible for this prominence, according to the Wichita Daily Times, is J. R. Hester, station agent of the Rock Island railroad. Whether Mr. Hester had in mind the increasing of tonnage for his railroad or the welfare and happiness of his neighbors and nearby farmers when he began encouraging the production of cantaloupes and other fruits and vegetables in and around Chico, does not matter. In fact, he has benefited both. For several years, Mr. Hester studied conditions of soil and made a survey of markets before he was ready to launch his campaign for changing the farm program. He experimented with cantaloupes and learned that he could produce them of unexcelled quality. He tried planting them on different dates in order to bring them to maturity at a time when they would be in demand, and so Wise county, and particularly that section around Chico, went into the business on an ever-increasing scale. Montague and Parker counties adjoining also follow the example and according to late reports the crop this year will exceed all others in both quantity and quality.

Mr. Hester was not satisfied with knowing how to produce and when, but in his market studies he was able to find a way to induce buyers to come to his town, and thus far no trouble has been encountered in finding a ready sale for the products of 2,000 acres in Wise county and 1,500 acres in Parker and adjoining counties. Beans, potatoes, cabbage, blackberries and tomatoes will figure in the shipments, but cantaloupes are proving to be the big item.—Farm and Ranch.

BETTER THAN THEORY

A large New York coal company decided to replace its horse-drawn delivery wagons with motor-trucks. The management had the good and uncommon sense to notify the agent of the teamster union six months in advance of the change. When the shift from oat to gasoline power came, the corporation heads were surprised to find that each of the drivers had qualified himself to operate motor-trucks. Because these men knew the company's customers and policies, there was no hesitancy in re-employing them.

This is a true and typical instance of the way employers can cooperate in giving to the men who work for them a "break." Workmen, if they know far enough in advance of impending substitution of machines for men, often will retain themselves at vocational schools for other jobs.—The Rotarian.

DR. LUSK CHOSEN LEVELLAND MAYOR

Levelland, July.—Dr. H. N. Lusk has been named mayor of Levelland to succeed the late L. N. Graham, who died several weeks ago. Mr. Graham was elected in April for a term of two years.

The new mayor has been a resident of Levelland for several years and is well known throughout Hockley county. His appointment was sought in a petition filed with the city commission shortly after the death of Mayor Graham.

It was decided by the commission, as soon as the new mayor qualified, to change the form of government from a commission to that of an aldermanic type. Petitions calling for an election to decide on this action are to be circulated.

B. L. Thompson has the contract to build a residence for Mrs. Jim Lewis in the southern part of the city across the draw, and a nice residence at Lovington, N. M. He is also constructing a new service station for Cris Quante at the juncture of the Tahoka and Lubbock roads.

While Mr. Langford and Jim McCollum were repairing the Big Lake road last week, they witnessed a combat between a big rattlesnake and a cottontail rabbit.

Mr. McCollum said they heard the loud whirring of a rattlesnake in the weeds near where they were working. On investigation they saw a large rattler's head raised above the weeds, while a cottontail was making quick leaps at the creature in an effort to bite it. After watching the strange combat for a few moments, they proceeded to kill the snake and when they did so, they found the snake had swallowed several young members of the rabbit's family and the mother rabbit was making a heroic fight to save her little ones. They found only one of the young brood left.

Mother love will make even a timid rabbit fight for its young.—Sterling City News.

Twenty-one Mason county club boys and girls started 27 calves on feed May 15th with a ration of 60 percent oats, 30 percent corn and 10 percent cottonseed cake screening fed self feeder style and supplemented by fine stem hay and nurse cows. The calves weighed 232 pounds at the start and will be fed 290 days.

ARMADILLA IS CAUGHT IN DAWSON COUNTY

Occasionally an armadilla, East Texas animal, strays up on the Plains and nearly every time, he is captured before he migrates far. One of those armoured beasts rambled over Mrs. A. C. Costin's farm last Friday at about midnight and he raised such a ruckus that Mason, son of Mrs. Costin, had to get up and capture him. With the help of some dogs, the armadilla was caught. He was brought to Lamesa Saturday and several hundred of the July Fourth celebrators got a peek at him at Cleveland's Feed store.—Lamesa Reporter.

SPEAKING OF DRY PLANTING

J. H. Airhart, of Big Spring, an early settler and former citizen of this community is back for a visit with relatives and old time friends, and Thursday dropped in to pay his respects to the Texas Spur.

In commenting on the growth and general depression he had a story of early day agriculture. He said that in the year 1862 cotton crop was planted on the McArthur place to the south of Spur and that three years later cotton came up to a good stand on a crop.—Texas Spur.

We saw an article the past week that showed how it was possible to dress on $50 per year. We did our on much less than that—such as it was.

It is said the depression is hitting the panhandlers and other bums. Well, so far as we are concerned this is one kind of business that can close their doors forever and we'll never shed a tear or bat an eye.

Jack Medlin, partner of W. N. Townley in the publication of the Fyote Signal, has taken charge of the paper as the later has to retire on account of ill health. The paper will be changed back to the Ward County News, as it was originally.

We advise our farmer friends to go out and hear Mr. Johnson tomorrow. You may not agree with all he says. You may have another panacea for the ills of the farming industry, but he will tell you something good, we are sure.

Well, we are filling up the Herald this week with a lot of citations on lands and two divorce cases, which reminds us that District Court is just around the corner. And, incidentally a grand jury will be in session. So better start now to forget all you ever knew.

Those two books by Jules Verne put out two generations ago known as 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea, and Around the World in 80 Days, and which we read and termed rather "fishy" are considered very tame these days. In fact, the 1931 model airplanes, sephas, and undersea crafts would put Jules' imagination to shame.

If you had been at the bank Tuesday afternoon about three, you would have heard a Commanche yell and thought some wild man had broke out of his cage. But the bank officials did not even reprimand the customer, but rather rejoiced with him, for it was a yell of rejoicing. This editor took up his last linotype note.

After years of hard work the Carlsbad Caverns Highway Association finally got Federal designation from Mayfield, Ky., to El Paso, with extensions to Niagara, N. Y. Now comes another proposed route to the north of us claiming to be the "Short Cut." But actual measurements disclose the fact that the "Short Cut" lacks 19 miles being as short as this route from Childress, Texas, to Carlsbad, N. M. Some people can lie with the "sweetest" conscience.

It seems that it is the hardest matter in the world to suit all people. Last week we sought to try and help the grocerymen by trying to get them together and quit cutting prices below cost. Saturday a farmer told us that several farmers did not like the article, but wanted them to keep cutting prices as it was a benefit to farmers and other grocery buyers. We did not advocate boosting prices out of reason, far from that, but stated that every man, and this includes farmers, are entitled to a profit on his labors whether he gets it or not. But when groceries are selling under Lubbock prices 40 miles from the wholesale houses, something is radically wrong. It is no good reputation for a town or community to have a lot of their citizens face the bankrupt courts. It just don't look good to us.

Not long ago a seed company received the following order: "Please send me one dozen strawberry seeds, one pair bees with hive complete, one dozen plum seeds, ten square yards of grass and six wall flowers with pieces of wall. Also send enough baskets to hold the strawberry and plum crops, and some back combs for the honey. The grass should be green in color and the seed a flavor unpoplar with chickens." — Boston Transcript.

Over in Lynn County, Texas, the sheriff took into custody a rum runner and much bottled in the barn liquor. On said bootlegger, they found a note book in which were the names of numerous citizens of that and adjoining counties. It is alleged that some of the names were prominent men. We glory in the sheriff's punk in giving chase and arresting above mentioned booze peddler, but we'll bet a dollar to a doughnut that the names contained in the little book are not exposed.—Ropes Hustler.

Why so Nyles? Have you already fixed things up with the Lynn County Sheriff?

We believe that the Hoover proposal for a moratorium has already done much to restore confidence and to assist in bringing the world back to "normalcy." Debt has been hanging over the nations of Europe like a pall. Especially has Germany been depressed by the vast reparations payments that she has been required to make. We have little sympathy for the ruling classes in Germany and none at all for the war lords that brought about the terrible world conflict in 1914. But there is no business sense in keeping a nation's nose continually to the grindstone. Germany should be given a chance to rehabilitate herself. Nations should assume a more charitable attitude toward one another. The old bickering and strife should be forgotten—or ignored. One of the benefits to be derived from the Hoover proposal is the good will that it has engendered on the part of Great Britain and Germany toward the United States.

Now if we would tear down our high tariff walls and show other nations that we really want to trade with them and to give them a chance in the business world, this good feeling would be greatly enhanced.—Tahoka News.

"Better than cotton and not near so much work" remarked V. E. Kiser of Kaufman county to the county agent after gathering a little over eight tons of hay from the first cutting of a five-acre alfalfa demonstration.

One or more than 80 Houston county farmers who scattered clover seed in their pastures last fall, Burton Wallace now has five varieties of winter clover growing in his five-acre pasture demonstration from five pounds of seed costing $1.25. A full stand was not obtained from this small amount of seed but the county agent says a good stand will be had next fall with a little help in scattering the seed now maturing.

MINERAL FED SOWS STOP HAIRLESS PIG FARRROWING

Wheeler—Ground wheat and equal parts of tankage and cottonseed meal fed in most cases in self feeders is the ration used by 39 Wheeler county farmers who are conducting hog growing demonstrations with Jake Tarter, county agent.

In some of these herds and in others where sows were farrowing hairless pigs the trouble was overcome by adding a mineral mixture to the feed of the sow during the gestation period. The mineral consists of two pounds of bone meal mixed with one ounce of tincture of iodine.

D. 1931, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 25th day of July, A. D. 1930, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 1536, wherein Brownfield Independent School District, a public corporation, duly incorporated and created under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Texas, and situated in Terry County, Texas, is Plaintiff, and J. G. Loudon is Defendant, and said petition alleging:

That the defendant is the owner of that part of Section No. 127 in Block "T" in Terry County, Texas, lying east of the S. P. & S. F. Ry. Co. right of way, containing about 200 acres of land, more or less, and was the owner thereof during the year 1928 and 1929; that said land and premises is situated wholly within the limits of said plaintiff School District, and as such was subject to taxation for the years 1928 and 1929; and that in due course of law said property was levied and assessed for taxes for the years mentioned by plaintiff and that by virtue of said levy and assessment for the years mentioned defendant became liable and bound to plaintiff for such taxes for the years mentioned, which are as follows:

For the year 1928 principal taxes in the sum of $57.00; For the year 1929 principal taxes in the sum of $61.56; and that the defendant has failed and refused and still refuses to pay the same or any part thereof; and by virtue of such failure and refusal a penalty of 10 percent has accrued on said taxes, together with 6 percent per annum interest on said amounts as is provided by law.

That by virtue of said assessment and levy of taxes as aforesaid said debt is secured to plaintiff by tax lien on said property hereinbefore mentioned, and that the same is still a valid and subsisting lien on said property to secure plaintiff's debt for taxes as aforesaid.

dian of the estate and person of Phillis Holgate, May Holgate, Richard Holgate, Shelby Holgate and Zellica Holgate, minors, Phillis Holgate, May Holgate, Richard Holgate, Shelby Holgate and Louise Holgate, are Defendants, and said petition alleging:

That on the 20th day of May, A. D. 1917, B. Tidwell made, executed and delivered to plaintiff his certain promissory note for the principal sum of $1,000.00, payable to the order of Plaintiff at Brownfield, Texas, on or before ten years after its date, bearing 8 percent per annum interest from date, interest payable annually, and providing for 10 percent attorney's fees if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, which note was given in payment for a part of Sec. 102 in Block "T", Terry County, Texas, described as follows:

10 acres lying just North of Small Street and just East of "D" street in the East addition to the town of Brownfield, Terry County, Texas, being 300 yards in length East and West by approximately 162 yards wide North and South, and bounded on the North by a 10 acre tract that was theretofore deeded to Chas. C. Triplett by A. M. Brownfield and wife, and the Vendor's Lien was retained in said Deed to secure the payment of said note, and acknowledged in said note.

That by conveyance from B. Tidwell and wife to O. T. Holley, and from O. T. Holley and wife to R. O. Wilson, and from R. O. Wilson and wife to W. H. Dallas and by W. H. Dallas and wife to the defendant, Robert Holgate, the defendant Robert Holgate became the owner of said property and assumed the payment of said note and that said Vendor's Lien is now and has been since its inception a valid and subsisting lien to secure said note, on all of said land, except that a tract 150 feet in length running north and south, and 65 feet in width running east and west out of the extreme northeast corner of said 10 acre tract was by plaintiff released from the operation of his Lien at the request of defendant, Robert Holgate.

That said note is now long since past due and unpaid, and that there is now due and owing on same the sum of $1822.02, and account of having had to place same in the hands of an attorney for collection 10 percent has been added to said amount, to all of plaintiff's damage $2,000.00. That the defendants Louise Holgate, Phillis Holgate, May Holgate, Richard Holgate, Shelby Holgate and Zellica Holgate are claiming some interest in and to said property, but what ever interest they may have in and to same is subject to the Vendor's Lien of plaintiff securing said note.

Wherefore plaintiff prays for citations to issue to defendants, for judgment for his debt, principal, interest, attorney's fees and costs of suit, for foreclosure of his lien on said land securing said note, for order of sale, and such other and further relief, special, general, in law and in equity, to which he may be entitled, etc.

THE TIME TO Advertise

BY SHELLY E. TRACY

President, Tracy-Locke-Dawson, Incorporated
In the Texas Commercial News

"Every business man shares the responsibility of doing his part to speed general business recovery. Let's go! Individually, we can help by thought, example, conversation and action. Best of all, this will help make profits as is indicated by definite experience of those who are applying this formula.

"It is a striking fact that the firms who are going after business aggressively ARE GETTING IT.

"I know of dozens of firms who increased their advertising budget during 1930 and 1931. Every one of them is showing sales increases. More aggressive advertising has a tonic effect on the organizations of these advertisers that seems to pull them out of the 'dumps.' They are too busy to talk about hard times. They find that the business is here if we go after it with intelligence and with a will and determination. Firms like Dr. Pepper Company, Continental Oil Co., Duncan Coffee Company, Philco Radio Company, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, and dozens of manufacturers and hundreds of retailers have increased advertising and have shown substantial sales increases. There is one retail store in Texas where the sales for the first quarter this year are more than 20 per cent ahead of the sales of any previous first quarter.

"Such results, which are legion from one end of the country to the other, come from intelligent merchandising based on alert, adequate buying, plus a basic policy of aggressive advertising. Visit these establishments. You will observe nothing to indicate the abnormal or subnormal. Everyone is busy, cheerful and optimistic. All employees are hard at work and most of them apparently quite happy on the job. There is no talk of hard times; none of the negative suggestions that lead to the postponement of the consumer purchase because of fear of the future or lack of confidence in the present. The whole atmosphere of the store or the factory is cheering, confident and happy. And that fact alone is quite vital in improving general conditions. The time when the majority of establishments maintain such an internal condition for a reasonable period will mark the end of the depression.

"Economists tell us that the difference in total volume of business done in depression is only about 15 per cent less than in periods of 'good times.' If though more aggressive advertising and more intelligent merchandising, a majority of merchants and manufacturers increase their sales 15 per cent, the collective effect will automatically end the depression. This has been done by many firms during the worst of the present period and can be done now by many more. In some instances the increased volume maintained or improved the net profit results. In others the net may decrease. But if the aggregate effect hastens the return of a saner and more normal attitude on the part of the public, the investment in money and net profit will be returned many fold in the near future."

Northern Editor's "Impressions" of South

The following article appeared in Country Newspaper advertising following the National Editorial Association convention at Atlanta, and a tour of Georgia. This Northern editor changes his opinion of the south.—Editor.

Des Moines, Iowa,
June 15, 1931.

Dear Frank:

There was a twinkle in your eye, when I told you I was going to Georgia in the summertime. It seemed to say, "Why go to Georgia at any time, let alone in June?"

Now, I can tell you. I've been there, and I'm going back sometime—yes, in the summertime. They do have hot weather down there, to be sure, but during the two weeks I was in Georgia I experienced no weather as hot as it is back here in Iowa, today, as I am writing this, a week later.

Nature Kind

During our ten-day tour of the state, there were but two hot days and every evening brought cooling breezes that made sleeping so much more restful.

But, the delightful Georgia June weather isn't what impressed me most. Neither is it the gorgeous scenic beauty, of which she rightfully boasts. Nature has been kind to Georgia, from her green mountains in the north; her "old red hills" of which she sings; to the salt marshes, her ocean island play-grounds, just off her shore, with their fantastic moss-covered trees. Her many flowing wells; her unique springs with their interesting settlements; her year-round flowers and always green trees, make everyone who loves the great outdoors continually happy.

Neither is it Georgia's industrial and agricultural development, of which she has every right to be proud, that impressed me most. Her peach orchards are wonderful and her pecan groves impressive. What she is doing with diversified farming is of interest and importance to the whole country. Cotton, of course, remains her most important crop.

Her industrial development under the most ideal living conditions has to be seen to believe. Her mountain streams furnish ample power for even greater development than has already been made. As many as four and five big dams on one river alone, with their tremendous water heads and their reservoirs forming great lakes, make guessing at Georgia's future development along industrial lines almost beyond human capabilities. Doubt if one could put it too high.

Even Chamber of Commerce figures, which are, of course, available, do not paint the picture one gets when he sees these developments and contemplates them for himself.

These things all go to make Georgia attractive, but even they do not reflect the biggest impression I brought back with me. Georgia's story cannot be told by picture post-cards.

Nor is it the historical back-grounds of the state, which go back two hundred years and more. Georgia has preserved landmarks that recall the parts she played in the Revolutionary war, the War Between the States, and before that the Colonial wars with the Indians and the Spaniards. All of which made one feel privileged to tread her soil—the sacred spots where our great nation's future was determined.

There are real thrills for one who enjoys the historical development of our country, when he stands on a fort built by General Oglethorpe years before New England was settled and as he contemplates the ammunition chambers still lined with bricks made of England's clay and brought over in the sailing vessels of the time. On the top of the fort, the rusty barrel of an old colonial cannon, left there by Oglethorpe's men; the church nearby on the spot where John Wesley first preached; and the still-in-service more than two hundred-year-old Midway church with its ancient graveyard nearby; remind one of the determination and sincerity of purpose of our country's first white settlers.

This is again brought home as one stands before the monument of the site of the "Battle of the Bloody Marsh," where in one day long ago it was decided that the southern half of our great country was to be English and not Spanish.

Henry Grady's Pen

Georgia holds sacred the places where her great men lived and worked—the oak at the edge of her salt marshes under which Sidney Lanier wrote his world famous "Marshes of Glen;" the home of Joel Chandler Harris and his immortal Uncle Remus' Br'er Rabbit stories; the John Wesley oak under which met the religious group that became the great Methodist church years after John Wesley's death; the Henry Grady monument commemorating the important part his editorial pen played in reconstructing the whole war devastated South. To Henry Grady, almost alone, goes the credit for the "New South" of today. It was his conception, and his persistence that put it across.

Likewise Georgia points with pride to her educational development. From the mountaineer school teacher, who travels 20 miles each day to instruct his 70 pupils—of all ages—and who runs a gasoline pump on the side to help support his family, to the highly educated instructors of her great state universities, and her world famed special schools for men and women, one finds this same sincerity of purpose—to make it possible for each succeeding generation to live a better, more worth while life.

These things impressed us immensely, but the one thing I liked best of all about Georgia is her delightful people.

Somehow their adversities—and they've had their full share of adversities, though they do not refer to them unless you make inquiry—seem to have brought out their finer qualities. Southern hospitality and southern friendliness is no longer a myth to me since I've toured Georgia. Individually and collectively Georgia people are sincerely interested in each other and in their visitors, whether they come from the south, east, north or west. They are genuinely concerned about making you feel at home and they do it in such a friendly, whole-hearted way that you are perfectly at home among them before you realize it.

It is easy to see why the southern people seem to get so much out of life, they put so much friendliness and real living into it.

All Equally Friendly

My analytical mind keeps wanting to divide the people of Georgia into four groups, each with its own delightful individualities and all imbued with a real idea of living a contented wholesome life. Each group seems to be striving toward its own ideals, but all are equally friendly to the stranger in their midst. They make you feel they'd like you to stay and live among them and you feel you'd like to do it.

Our hosts were mainly of my first group, sometimes called the "aristocratic southerners." For the most part they are descendants from Georgia's first white settlers—those who built their homes in the fertile fields and valleys of Georgia. Means of communication were comparatively easy there. Thus it was possible for these early settlers to keep in touch with each other and progress together. Their descendants today have inherited and retained many of the finer things of life this earlier community cooperation developed—things that are often overlooked in the mad rush to get ahead which concerns so many of us. As a rule they are not extraordinarily wealthy in worldly goods, but they are certainly richer in the art of living happily than most of us are. They think together, constructively, which seems to be the basic solid-south trait.

Their men folks are gentlemen, always. Their soft spoken, friendly answers to our numerous questions which at times harbored on impertinence, impressed us immensely. Their genuine interest in telling us about the things we found interesting and their kindly courtesies made

Service

WHEN YOU LIGHT THE BURNER of your gas appliance and the flames springs to life instantly, you see results—comfort—convenience—not cases.

Seldom, if ever, do you see the Service agencies that make this ideal fuel supply. Pipe lines, gas wells and manpower, Service!—the combination of efforts that brings natural gas to your burner and which plays a major part in the cost of your fuel supply.

It is Service that provides heat at the burner automatically, when and as you want it, without ashes, smoke, or soot, or the need for extra labor or storage. Back of the flame of your burner stands the Service of your gas company with its skilled employees and its facilities for delivering the gas. Service must be maintained! Service is what you are paying for!

The fact that your gas company must maintain the year round, at great expense, capacity equal to the coldest day of the year—even though this peak capacity is not required except on a few cold days in winter—is merely one of the items of this responsibility called SERVICE.

Your Gas Company takes pride in the fact that it pioneered the distribution in this section, of the only available fuel that can be utilized by the consumer without special handling or the use of costly mechanical accessories. Realizing our responsibility we take the utmost precaution to assure you permanent fuel satisfaction by providing a dependable flow of gas—regardless of the weather.

Marshall Brown invited Councilmen Marion Craig and Bruce Knight, also the writer, to go with him to the Sewer Disposal Plant, Tuesday afternoon. Gene is the right man in the right place.

SEAGRAVES IN DEFAULT ON INTEREST ON BONDS

The little city of Seagraves is in hard circumstances just now. It is unable to pay the interest on its indebtedness and is faced with the possibility of having the United States court take charge of and appoint a receiver to administer its affairs.

A few years ago the city was almost wiped out by a disastrous fire. Having no waterworks or other protection, the insurance rate was so high as to be almost prohibitive. The city voted bonds and installed a waterworks system and all appeared to be lovely. But pay days and hard times came on together, just as they usually do, and now Seagraves finds itself with three installments of interest in arrears. The bond holders want their money and threaten court action unless they get it.

The issuance of waterworks bonds seems to have been a necessity for Seagraves, and it is unfortunate that it is without the money to pay its interest at this time. But many towns have been dispensed with, and have found themselves in the same condition as Seagraves. The temptation to get the money and spend it simply because it does not have to be paid for many years and only the interest is due every six months, is too great to be resisted. The municipality as well as the individual that goes as largely on a cash basis as possible is usually most prosperous.—Lovington (N. M.) Leader.

Many to Attend Tech Coaching School

Lubbock, Texas, July.—One hundred and sixty-three coaches from fourteen states ranging from Hubbard, Oregon to Pittsburg, Pa., have enrolled for the Wade-Phelan Coaching school at the Texas Technological College, August 3 to 15.

Practically every coach in the southwestern conference, a majority of the other colleges of Texas and a large number of outstanding high school coaches of the state have enrolled.

Twenty coaches from Oklahoma have enrolled and others are expected.

Outside of Texas and Oklahoma, coaches are coming from New Mexico, Mississippi, North Dakota, Ohio, Louisiana, Arkansas, Iowa, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Arizona and Illinois.

Wallace Wade of the University of Washington and Jimmy Phelan of Duke University will handle football at the school. S. D. Burton of the West Texas State Teachers College and Jimmy Kitts of the Athens High School will handle basket ball.

Three hundred are expected. The School is being sponsored by the Athletic Department of the Texas Technological College with Pete Cawthon and R. T. "Dutchy" Smith, coaches in charge.

Noble Brothers now have a much better location for their garage, corner 7th and Main in the Spear building. They want their friends to call on them.

MEAT PRICES HIT PRE-WAR LEVELS

Housewives of America today can purchase meat at the low prices which prevailed before the war. From the National Live Stock and Meat Board comes the information that retail meat prices have declined from 20 to 30 per cent below the prices which prevailed a year ago. The Board bases its conclusions on statistics compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture from surveys made in markets in typical cities of the country.

This is surely good news, because it is very much easier to serve a well balanced meal on a moderate budget if meat may be included; for we are advised by nutrition authorities that there is a minimum requirement for fresh meat below which it is not safe to go.

The diet must contain a certain amount of protein at all times, even in the summer, when we feel that we are more comfortable if we cut down on the amount of food we eat. Here is where meat is especially valuable, because meat is such a good source of the best protein that the amount of other protein-yielding foods may be taken in lesser amounts with meat in the diet. In this while the diet will contain less bulk it will be balanced in regard to essential proteins and minerals.

The price reduction extends to all cuts and kinds of meat and so we may have our favorite lamb chop beef steaks, and center cut slices of ham as well as those cuts which are less in demand and consequently always lower in price.

Moreover, it is a fallacy to argue that cuts which require long slow cooking have no place in summer meals. As a matter of fact a roast or a pot-roast simplifies the problem of summer meals. Cooked with a slow fire, as they should be, very little heat is created in the kitchen. And then, too, a piece large enough to have some left over for other meals may be prepared.

$50,000 Love Balm Suit Results in Mistrial

Abilene, Texas, July.—With the jury unable to return a verdict in the $50,000 breach of promise suit of Miss Madge Roberts against Louis Keel, after thirty-one hours of deliberations, Judge M. S. Long late Friday afternoon declared a mistrial. The trial had extended eleven days. The jurors divided, 7 to 5 in favor of the plaintiff on the opening ballot, taken Wednesday morning, and failed to switch on succeeding polls.

URGES FIRESAFE HOME HOME MATERIALS

Chicago, Illinois, July.—"Homes that won't burn up are being built in increasing numbers for, with present day materials, fire hazards can be built out at no excessive cost. Although burnable structures still predominate in construction, noteworthy recognition is being turned toward quite recent development which make it as easy and economical for fire-safety to be introduced into the home as into the modern hotel."

This statement was made here today by F. R. McMillan, technical director of the Portland Cement Association, while attending a session of the American Society for Testing Materials. That engineering group is holding its annual meeting here this week. It is being attended by approximately 1,000 members whose studies and research work have an important bearing on the country's progress in regard to the use and composition of materials of all kinds.

Mr. McMillan has been supervising the most extensive fire tests of concrete masonry ever conducted. In these tests, more than 100 wall panels of different types of concrete masonry have been subjected to the direct flames of a testing furnace for periods up to three and one-half hours at temperatures up to 1900 degrees F., nearly the melting point of copper.

MAN BITTEN BY RATTLER LAST SUNDAY MORNING

A. G. Lagow, prominent farmer who lives west of town, drove calmly into O'Donnell shortly after noon Sunday, and very unconcernedly imparted the information that he had just been bitten by a three-foot rattler, and 'thought maybe' he'd better come in and see whether or not he ought to have a snake serum.

None being available at local drug stores and no airplane being in town, Ralph Beach was dispatched to Tuhoka for a dose of the serum, which was administered to the victim of the irate reptile.

SUPT ELLIS RESIGNS AND GREEN ELECTED

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Levelland Schools held Wednesday afternoon the resignation of Prof. A. R. Ellis, who has been superintendent of the schools for the past two years, was accepted and Prof. L. T. Green, who was superintendent here for the year 1928-29 but who has since been at Slaton was selected in his stead.

It is understood that a similar action was taken at Slaton in which Prof. Ellis was elected to the superintendency of the schools on the resignation of Prof. Green. Thus it seems that the two towns have exchanged superintendents, but according to information available it was done at the solicitation of the two men involved.

The Levelland schools have progressed rapidly within the past few years until they are now recognized as going in the forefront of South Plains institutions. Both men are capable school men and have been instrumental in the growth of efficiency and recognition. — Levelland Herald.

DEATH

Joe Nokes 46, of the Johnson community passed away Tuesday afternoon at about 6 o'clock, following a brief illness. Funeral services were conducted at Johnson at 3:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, followed by burial in the Brownfield cemetery.

Mr. Nokes had been operated on some two months ago, and was feeling much better, and decided to run a go-devil one afternoon, and seemed to have gotten too hot. Late in the afternoon the wind came up and chilled him, when he became seriously ill again.

Dee Elliott and family were called to Ardmore, Okla., last Thursday by wire which stated that his brother there had a serious stroke of paralysis. His mother was also here on a visit from that city and returned to Okla., with them. We understand that his brother died Sunday and was buried Monday. His many friends here deeply sympathize with Dee, and his old mother, who had just come down here to make her first visit, and was called home so suddenly by this sad message.

Cowboy Jefferson, (colored) came in this week from his old home in Texarkana. Cowboy says that he likes Brownfield better than down there because it is cooler here, but says he, they sure have lots of good "licker" down there, and beer selling for 10c per bottle.

Mr. McLeod of the Brownfield Laundry came up this week and got a few of the writers shirts and did them up in good style and returned them next day. Boy they were some clean, and faultlessly ironed. They know their okra at the Brownfield Laundry.

We are very sorry for the mistakes in the J. C. White Grocery ad last week. It just so happened that no one read that ad before starting the press, and it is always the one not read that has the ugly mistakes. We hope the people were able to make sense out of it anyway.

A MYSTERY

Modern Daughter—"But smoking

 how did you ever come to take it up?
 Fair Young Real Estate Agent—

Northern Editor

us middle-westerners conscious of our own rougher, shall I say, thoughtless, mannerisms.

Their women folks enjoy leisure without seeming to be pampered. They are the general managers of their homes and their families. Household help, almost invariably colored, is comparatively economical, but it requires capable direction. This duty falls upon the women of the south.
 They are adept at it. Their homes are so organized and directed that the lady of the house needs but give her orders in the morning with full confidence that they will be carried out, according to her desires. Then if she wishes to make a call before noon on some friend she can do so knowing that she'll be welcomed, for her friend's household is equally well organized and directed.

The women in this group of Georgians dress becomingly. They seem to prefer in dress, comfort and attractiveness.
 They follow styles when styles complement them and avoid those whose only merit is that they are "the latest."

Their children, equally well mannered, are trained in the air of successful community life. They are given the best of educational advantages.
 They love the outdoors and make the most of their many opportunities.

Most Modern Conditions

Those who make up my second group,
 I understand, are the products of more recent educational and industrial development among Georgia's middle class. Most of them are native southerners who have taken advantage of their present-day opportunities to get ahead. They are the more progressive group descending from the original settlers who went back into the hills and the woods. They live in the most modern homes and under ideal conditions. They are referred to as "Mill People," because, for the most part,
 they work in the great cotton mills that are coming south so rapidly. Their cities are usually laid out and built by the cotton mills, making possible the most modern living conditions, with carefully guarded ideal surroundings.
 Their schools and social development excel anything one would imagine.
 Athletics, music, pageants, dancing and the like are a regular part of their children's education. The things they accomplish in these directions would do credit to any university.

Like true Georgians, these mill people are most friendly and know how to work together for their common good. They, too, are good citizens.

The third group I have in mind are the picturesque people of the south.
 They still live in the hills and are sometimes called "Georgia Crackers."
 Their ancestors settled in the hills, and the present generation still lives
 there. Because means of communication with the outside world were difficult, these early settlers became individualists. They worked out a sort of a personal idealism. They are, perhaps the most religious of all southerners, although religion seems to be taken more seriously in the south than elsewhere in our country.

These hill people have their own ideas about the rights of an individual and live accordingly, minding their own business. As long as you respect their rights and privileges, as they see them, you are a welcome guest. They will share their last loaf of bread and glass of raspberry preserves with you and do it cheerfully.

They will not interfere with your business or tell you what you ought or ought not to do and they expect you to treat them in the same way.

Happy With Their Lot

The "niggahs" as they are known all through the south form the fourth group. They are a class, happy with their lot, with no worries whatever.
 They are genuinely anxious to please white people, from wherever they may hail.

They are grateful for favors shown them and are always willing to reciprocate. They like to entertain with their singing of the Negro spirituals that have been handed down to them from generation to generation. Give them half a chance and they'll sing, dance and play their string instruments for you. Their melodious voices charm you. Rhythm seems to be a truly natural trait. They sing while they work, even while changing a tire at the side of a hot, dusty road. Give them a worn-out second hand automobile and they are in heaven whether or not they get where they are going.
 For the most part they are like happy children and are treated as such. The southerner regards them as wards that have to be looked after.

Though some of them become quite skilled and are paid accordingly, for the most part they hire out as common labor at from one dollar to one dollar and a half a day. They work cheerfully five and one-half days.
 Saturday afternoon is their big day.
 No "niggah" would think of working then.

Their employer has to furnish them
 a shack in which to live, without rent, and perhaps even give them an order for groceries occasionally when there is no work.

A good "niggah" depends upon his regular white employer to look after him—even to his health, sending him to the hospital, if necessary.

A "niggah" cook in a home works
 for two or three dollars per week.
 She expects to and does carry off enough food to feed her own family.
 "Tote," she calls it. Her employer knows it, but doesn't let on that she does. It seems to be sort of a game.

These "niggahs" are loyal to the white families they serve and the white families are fond of their particular "niggahs." At Christmas time the whole "niggah" families are remembered.

As a class the "niggah" does not worry about his right to vote. Primaries are, of course, conducted along party lines and being "white" is a part of affiliation with the south's leading political party.
 If a "niggah" wants to vote he can. When he does it his vote is almost invariably republican, regardless of the issues, candidates, etc.,
 because of "Abraham Lincoln."

A northerner who lives among the southerners, even for a short time, loses what ideas he had about the southerner's treatment of the Negroes.
 He soon becomes willing to accept the southerners' handling of the situation, as fair and logical—in the interests of the welfare of all concerned.

One soon realizes there is no Negro problem in the south today—that the Negroes are happy and are given the opportunities they are able to embrace. Time, with its evolution of living conditions, may gradually change the situation, but a radical departure from the present procedure now would work real hardship on those it intended to benefit.

Let me repeat, the southerners are ahead of us in the working out of their home and community life.
 They have conditions peculiar to their part of the country. They are facing them and solving them in a way that makes for better living for all concerned. What more can be expected?

Produces Friendliness

In fact, if the newspaper men and women from the north, east and west who were on our tour took back home with them that something that produces such friendliness and ability to work together, among all classes,
 which we observed in Georgia,
 the whole country will benefit because of our having been there.

We were told when we were invited to make this tour that we didn't understand the south of today and that as "Georgia is the Heart of the South" this tour was arranged for our education as well as for our enjoyment. We have been amply rewarded.

And there isn't any doubt in my mind but that the whole south will benefit along with Georgia from this National Editorial Association tour, because of the better understanding these newspaper men and women
 now have of the south's conditions, problems and advantages.

There is not an editor who made the trip who will again refer to the "backward south" in his newspaper.
 What has been seen, enjoyed and learned, while living among Georgia people for even so short a time will continue to bear fruit in the years to come.

Let me urge you to treat yourself to a sample of Georgia life—yes, in the summertime. Sincerely,
 C. A. Bumgart.

MARK TWAIN ON SATAN

I have no special regard for Satan but I can at least claim that I have no prejudice against him. It may be that I have been a little in his favor, on account of his not having a fair show. All religions issue Bibles against him, but we never hear his side. We have none but the evidence for the prosecution, and yet we have rendered the verdict. To my mind this is irregular. It is un-English, it is un-American.

Of course, Satan has some kind of a case, it goes without saying. It may be a poor one, but that is nothing; that can be said about any of us. As soon as I can get at the facts I will undertake his rehabilitation myself,
 if I can find an impolite publisher.
 It is a thing we ought to do for anybody who is under a cloud.

We may not pay him reverence, for that would be indiscreet, but we can at least respect his talents. A person who has for untold centuries maintained the imposing position of spiritual head of four-fifths of the human race, and political head of the whole of it, must be granted the possession of executive abilities of the loftiest order. In his large presence the other popes and politicians shrink to midgets for the microscope.

I would like to see him. I would rather see him and shake him by the tail than any other member of the European Concert.

RED HAIR NO SIGN OF TEMPER, SAYS WIGGAM

It isn't always darkest just before the dawn. Every cloud doesn't have a silver lining. Opposites do not usually marry each other and beauty
 very often does go with brains.

These are just a few of the many popular fallacies that are based on general acceptance of a catchy phrase rather than on scientific fact. Actually, according to Albert E. Wiggam, author of "The Marks of an Educated Man." Conclusions based on most such commonly accepted catch phrases are wrong.

Under the title "You're Wrong
 About That," in the July Cosmopolitan magazine, Wiggam bares the falsity of a score of popular beliefs.
 These run all the way from the fact that Betsy Ross didn't design the American flag to the belief that counsels shouldn't marry and that blind persons have an extraordinary sense of touch.

"General notions, impressions and beliefs about matters of fact and natural law," Wiggam insists, "provided they are not the outcome of scientific investigations, are always wrong." And in proof of this statement he proceeds to attempt to wreck a lot of commonly accepted opinions.
