

State Democratic Convention At Lubbock

Lubbock, Texas, Sept.—One of the most important state Democratic Conventions ever held in Texas will convene in Lubbock, Sept. 13.

The State Democratic Executive Committee meets here Sept. 12, and several hundred politicians are expected to be here on that date.

Monday evening, Sept. 12, at the Uptown Dance Palace where the convention will be held, H. S. Platner, operator of the Dance Palace will have a Democratic Ball at which three governors, or more, will likely attend, Governor Ross Shaw Sterling, present governor of Texas, ex-governor Miriam "Ma" Ferguson, ex-governor James E. Ferguson, and perhaps ex-governor Dan Moody, ex-governor W. P. Hobby and others.

South Plains people will have a better opportunity to meet the prominent visitors to this section Monday evening than during either of the busy convention days.

Predictions are that the huge Dance Palace will be taxed to capacity Tuesday when the delegates and visitors crowd in for the convention, however, the seating committee will erect movable circus bleachers at the back of the building in an effort to accommodate the visitors who will come here to attend the convention.

This is the first State Democratic Convention ever held on the South Plains of Texas, and will likely be the last one to be held within three hundred miles of the South Plains in the next several years, officials of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, figure.

Election Results In Yoakum County Close

While some of the races in Yoakum county were too close to be comfortable, others were not so close. In the first election we understand that the county judges tied, in the first count, but the official count gave it to Judge Lynn by a few votes. Most reports in the dailies had Jno. N. Thomas of Tahoka carrying the county, when as a matter of fact, Homer Winston of this county carried the county by a little better than 2 to 1. The vote follows:

Governor	167
Sterling	167
Ferguson	244
Railroad Com. 6-year
C. V. Terrell	218
Lee Satterwhite	158
Railroad Com. 4-year

South Plains Fair Two Weeks Off

Lubbock, Texas, Sept.—With just two short weeks left before the opening of the Panhandle South Plains Fair Sept. 25, directors and other officials of the annual South Plains show window are busy early and late completing last minute arrangements.

Three good will trips will be made over the South Plains by automobile before the fair, including stops to practically every town on the South Plains. The 40 piece Lubbock high school Western Band will accompany the fair boosters and approximately 150 people are expected on each trip.

"Heads up" has been adopted by the fair directors as the slogan for this year.

"The South Plains exposition is one of the two regional fairs being held this year," W. G. McMillan, president, said in a recent statement. "Crop conditions are good, prices are coming back. This exposition gives us an opportunity to show the world that the Plains is coming back strong so we urge the people of the Plains to bring in their exhibits and come see the exposition and have 'heads up' from this day hence."

The John T. Wortham Show with 350 people, 25 railroad cars, 40 stellar attractions, 12 riding devices and with a world wide reputation, will be here for the fair. Free football games will be played, fireworks and free acts will likewise be offered.

Mr. and Mrs. Leverett and Mr. Adams of Abilene were here last week in the interest of their farm. They were guest of Rev. and Mrs. Tharp.

An Interesting Letter From Asia Minor

Haifa, Palestine, 8-16-32. Dear Folks:—Well, at last I am in Holy Land. Arrived here the 15th at 4 P. M., came off the boat and went through Custom House. A Mr. Johnson whom I knew and worked with in the States met me and we went to his home, which is located on top of Mt. Carmel, and had a cold drink. The central mess, of what is called the central mess, it is a nice dining room, and for dinner mess we ate outside under the trees which makes it very pleasant. We had a four course dinner, which was very good. However, I did not eat much as I had been eating grapes on ship just before, and speaking of grapes, they are sure cheap over here. Bought a basket of about ten pounds for 18c American money, of the large white variety.

I like Haifa so far. It has a beautiful setting right at the foot of Mt. Carmel, and of course built around the sea shore. The town is much better than I expected, with a population of about 160,000. I live on Carmel street just across from our offices. My flat is located on the second floor; have mosquito netting around my bed to sleep under. Came by the Monastery on Mt. Carmel, where Elijah called fire from Heaven to consume the sacrifice. Did not stop but will go back later. We're only 28 miles from Jerusalem, and of course will go down there and to all interesting places possible.

Tomorrow or next day we will start for an inspection trip over the entire line, which will be approximately 2000 miles. We go east from here to Kirikk, located in Iraq, then come back from there to Tripoli, in Africa, and from there home. It will take about 15 days for this trip. We want to make it before the work is started in order that we may know how the land lays.

The weather over here in the desert is nothing to worry about as it gets just as hot during the day in Brownfield. The hottest it has been on the desert so far this year is 128 in the shade, with an average of 118. So you see its not so bad. The heat is perfectly dry and at night drops down to 40 and 50 right in the middle of the desert. The heat here at Haifa is a sticky heat, but we have a sea breeze. Water is the hardest item, and they ship it in from some place. Can get any kind of vegetables over here as the Jordan valley is very fertile. Living conditions are far better than I expected. In fact, if they had proper sewerage, etc., I think it would compare with American towns. However, the houses are nothing like yours. All are built of stone and strong. Lots of Arabs with their funny customs. When you start down the street in your car you walk all over the street and will hardly get out of your way. Yesterday we were going down the street in a Buick and had to jam brakes twice to keep from running over them. Am going out this afternoon to buy my white clothes and toupie, which is hat shaped, or more like a turtle's back. Everyone except Arabs wear them in day time. They wear red fezz caps and baggy trousers. My valet at flat is an Arab, but speaks good English. While writing this am facing Mt. Carmel and can see traffic winding around the road clear to the top, paved all the way, and many beautiful houses. Many paved streets and nice trees and flowers. Will send a lot of cards from here, and be sure to save them.

My trip from London here was perfectly marvelous, and the scenery gorgeous. There was a four day sail down the Mediterranean, passing all those small islands you see on the map south of Greece. Cyprus is the largest and Larnaca was the town we stopped at three hours. I had the best coffee there I ever drank. It was Turkish and so thick it was almost like cream, and the most wonderful flavor. It is ground as fine as powder. They make each order fresh in a little brass pot the size of a cup. Lots of love,

Note: This letter was written by Lawrence Stewart to his sister, Mrs. Claude Huggins and family of this city. A few personal matters were left out of the letter. Interesting portions of others will be printed from time to time.

Great First Monday Crowd Was On Hand

What many say was the best Tradesday crowd since its inauguration last year, was here Monday. It was a much better crowd than was here last Saturday, and Saturday's crowd was no shidiepoik by any means. The merchants report a fine day, especially in the afternoon, and are already preparing for the great first Monday Tradesday in our history for the first Monday in October.

As usual, there were people here from much greater distance than come on Saturday, and these people are gradually turning to Brownfield as a trading point. It is up to our merchants to hold them, and we believe they are succeeding by giving them real values.

RAIN! rain! rain! is about all it does these days, but if you know anything we can do about it, be sure that you tell us. It is not only discouraging to farmers and merchants, but get monotonous.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Cruce motored to Slaton, Monday.

Jackie Cooper On Bill In Gripping Role

Plays with "Chic" Sale In "When A Feller Needs A Friend"

Jackie Cooper, the eight-year-old film star, undertakes a type of role different from anything he had previously attempted in "When A Feller Needs A Friend," which will open Friday and Saturday at the Rialto Theatre.

In this picture the screen's newest juvenile sensation has the part of a cripple boy, with Charles "Chic" Sale co-starring in the other leading role of the story. It is said to be more gripping than "Skippy" or "The Champ."

"When A Feller Needs A Friend" is an adaptation of William Johnston's novel, "Limp," the continuity having been prepared by Sylvia Thalberg and Frank Butler.

Harry Pollard Directed
Harry Pollard, who directed "The Prodigal" and "Shipmates," directed the new picture. The supporting cast is headed by Ralph Graves and includes Dorothy Peterson, Andy Shuford, Helen Parrish, Donald Haines, Gue Leonard and Oscar Apfel.

The action of the picture takes place in a typical American small town, and a large number of juvenile extras of Jackie Cooper's age were engaged by the production staff to appear in various dramatic episodes of the story.

First attention prominence as a featured actor in Hal Roach's "Our Gang" comedies, Jackie Cooper advanced in the space of a year to a top place among the real personalities of the picture world. His first full-length features, "Skippy," established him as a brilliant new discovery, and from there he has gone on to other notable triumphs.

Ginning Costs Are Discussed At Lubbock

A committee appointed by President R. E. Patterson of the Plains Ginner's association here Saturday afternoon suggested to the 300 or more operators and supply men that 30 cents a 100 pounds for seed cotton was the minimum cost at which this season's crop could be ginned. The committee termed $1.25 a "fair price" for bagging and ties.

Last season cotton was ginned at 20 and 25 cents per 100 pounds and bagging and ties cost about $1.00.

At the concluding business session Saturday afternoon at Hotel Lubbock the ginner's passed resolutions ranging from assumption by farmers of control of Texas Cotton Cooperative association gins to an appeal for Philippine independence.

Seven directors re-elected were R. E. Patterson of Lockney; J. W. McDonald of Lamesa; J. S. Edwards of Slaton; Ray Grisham of Plainview; Len M. Davis of Floydada; and G. A. Simmons and R. D. Holmes of Lubbock. Grisham, secretary of the association, and Simmons are cotton oil company representatives.

Thompson Is Speaker
Principal speaker was John C. Thompson of Dallas, secretary of Texas Ginner's association, who pleaded for cooperation in upholding price of ginning and who assailed price-slashing and entrance of the government in business.

Independence of the Philippines was favored in resolution because huge quantities of coconut oil are imported tariff-free from the islands. Independence of these United States possessions, sponsors of the resolution said, would enable a tariff against the oil which is a serious competitor of cotton seed oil.—Lubbock Avalanche.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRE. NO. 4

I take this means of thanking each and every one for their loyal support in the last election and to those who supported the other man, I have no ill feeling toward them, and with the cooperation of all, try to serve you better the next two years than I have in the past.
I am yours, resp.,
G. M. Thomason.

Why They Don't Buy Terry County Sorghum

One or two of the farmers have spoken to us of late about the matter of the local grocermen buying east Texas sorghum instead of sorghum made in Terry county. One of them said he aimed to have an article in the Herald before long on the subject. He remarked that the local merchants were always hitting at the farmers for ordering out of town, and that they themselves ought to practice what they preach. Which is all true and the Herald agrees and wishes to include ordering anything that may be had here and this includes printed stationery.

But there is always two sides to every question, and before the Herald had too much to say about the matter, it quietly had a little confab with some of the local grocermen. They were quite frank to tell us the trouble. It seems that an out of town owned grocery here bought something like a 1000 buckets of east Texas syrup at a price that they could sell several cents under what the Terry county molasses makers proposed to wholesale their. In self defense and in order to meet competition, the other grocers had to buy and sell the same kind of product. Terry county producers can now draw their own conclusions.

As to the merits of the products, the Herald cannot say. The local manufacturers claim their sorghum is equal to the east Texas product, while others say that the brought in syrup is raised on a light loam soil in east Texas that gives the syrup a flavor not attained here. Anyway, perhaps our farmers can find a market for their products in east Texas just as the east Texans are finding one here, for you know we all think it is better if it "comes on."

In the meantime, Donothan Brothers are preparing to start their mill and have been in to see about labels. These boys are old east Texas lasses makers, and claim they can make as good syrup here as anywhere. Several other mills will also be started here.

Most every theatre going family in the city, as well as many from the surrounding communities were on hand last Friday night to see the first run at the Rialto since they closed for repairs about two months ago. The Trial of Vivienne Ware was just the right kind of show to start off with, and many compliments were expressed to the management for this fine picture. It was one that all, young or old could enjoy, not to say anything about a ripping good comedy and a fine news reel. The latter gave us a view of just how Babe Didrikson of Texas did the job at Los Angeles at the Olympic games.

Saturday afternoon and night, the people living further off on farms and the smaller nearby towns saw the show and enjoyed it very much. Another good run was had Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to see The Wet Parade. Many compliments were passed on the painting and decorations that were installed during the shutdown.

Our Farmers Preparing To Feed Out Again

There will be another immense corn and feed crop produced in Terry county, larger than last year by a great deal, for the late rains will guarantee that there will be a heavy crop made on all late corn, maize and higeria. The old corn and feed has already demonstrated that Terry again stands supreme in south Plains counties in corn yields. Besides this heavy yield and increased acreage this year, thousands of bushels still remain from last year's crop on Terry county farms.

With the prospect of a large yield of corn and fields in other sections of Texas where we usually market our crop, not to mention another heavy yield in the corn producing states of the north, nothing remains for Terry county producers but to prepare to feed out their corn and other feeds. It has been the custom of the banks to loan money to buy feeders, but if this arrangement cannot be made this year, it is our understanding that the Reconstruction Corporation is prepared to make such loans.

But the Herald is sure that it would be best to talk to your local banker first if help is needed as he usually keeps up with marketing conditions better than anyone else. Almost every Terry county farm is well supplied with hogs that can be fed out perhaps profitably.

Called Meeting For Turkey Raisers Sat.

J. A. Johnson and C. J. McLeroy were in Saturday afternoon and informed us that a meeting of the Terry County Turkey Raisers Association was called for their first meeting this year at the Courthouse tomorrow, (Saturday) afternoon at three o'clock. It is very imperative that you attend this session, according to these gentlemen.

Mr. Johnson stated that one of the largest if not the largest turkey crops in the history of the United States was making ready for market, and if the farmers and producers of turkeys do not stick together, they will almost have to give them away.

Size Of Cotton Crop Depends On Weather

We have heard the Terry county cotton crop estimated this year from 15,000 to 20,000. We have heard it estimated much higher than either of these figures, but there were too many ifs in the way to even consider these estimates. To say the least, much of the cotton is very young yet and has to make. A lot of it was planted late in June and some around the first part of July. This cotton is just blooming good now, and the old saying that all blooms up to September 10th will make, if it holds good this year, will leave little cotton to many acres.

Then too, the acreage is small. Many that were hailed, blown or washed out late, planted corn or higeria instead of cotton on the land, and many farmers have small fields of from 20 to 40 acres this year instead of in the 75 and 100 acres as they intended to have. If a freeze or killing frost comes this year at the usual time, say around the middle of October, the 15,000 estimate will be enough perhaps. The later the freeze, the bigger the yield. However some estimate the Meadow section alone will get 10,000 bales, as most all their cotton was planted in May, and that would leave only 5000 bales for the rest of the county.

Then there is a large scope of country in the south and southwest portion of the county with old cotton to come in, some of which of course will be ginned at Seagraves and Loop, not to mention Lou, in Gaines and Dawson counties, but some of it will come to Brownfield, Wellman and Tokio. The hardest hit section by hail was a ten mile streak through the middle of the county from east to west.

If—note the if—the weather will clear up and stay clear, there are many, many acres in the Forrester and Lohry sections of the county that will yield from a half to a bale per acre. But if it keeps on raining and the plants growing, it will not open till a freeze hits it and you know what a hard freeze means to green sappy cotton. We had an experience like that in 1926.

Rialto Crowded At Its Opening Show

WARNS AGAINST IMPURE SEED FOR PLANTING

College Station—Citing the Biblical command "Thou shalt not sow thy seed with mingled (mixed) seeds," E. A. Miller, agronomist in the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service warns farmers at the start of the fall planting season to beware of buying seed from irresponsible parties. "The only seed that a farmer can afford to buy is good seed of quality," he says: "Be sure that the seed is pure and at least carries a tag showing the per cent of germination, per cent of weed seeds, etc. There is always a risk in buying seed from any trader or peddler who happens along and who has no business reputation to uphold.

"In these days of low prices big yields are more important than ever, and they can only be obtained by planting seed of high yielding strains. The handicap of inferior seed cannot be overcome by good soil, good rainfall and good cultural methods, although these factors are very important. Seed that look good may have a very poor pedigree or none at all, and may be full of weed seeds or disease germs. Germination alone does not give a true idea of the value of seed, for it often happens that poor seed look good and germinate well. The safest way is to buy only tagged seed or seed of known origin."

RAILROAD MAKE PRE-WAR FAIR RATES

Pre-war railroad rates of one-half cent per mile have been adopted by Texas railroads for the State Fair of Texas season, Oct. 8 to 23. It has been announced here by general passenger agents of the State.

This rate will be in effect from all points in Texas.

A meeting was held early this month of all general passenger agents of the State, at which the very low rates were agreed upon.

Sun's Eclipse Disappointing To Scientists

Big clouds wasted more than half the $1,000 a second which astronomers from several nations spent to study the total eclipse of the sun Wednesday.

The all-important corona was blotted out by clouds for only about half the expeditions, but these included a high percentage of the largest and most elaborate plans to do something new.

The radio eclipse was a success, and the Kennelly-Heavyside layer was caught in the act of rising during totality the same as it is supposed to do at night. This was determined by Tufts College scientists at Newburyport, Mass.

The Einstein measurements of Northwestern University were completed in light clouds. It will require months to calibrate the readings.

Ships at sea saw the moon's shade distinctly racing 2,000 miles an hour over the waves. From an altitude of 10,000 feet in an airplane over New Hampshire, Dr. Clyde Fisher of New York saw the shadow sweep across snowy cloud tops.

Spectators fared better than astronomers, for the eye was better than the camera in this eclipse, and much the admiration of millions.

New York took to its skyscrapers for a better view of the phenomenon. The thousands of visitors from all over the Nation who had turned the little town of Conway, N. H., into a city trooped away in disappointment that the vagaries of the weather had in great measure spoiled their view of the totality.

President Hoover and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt each halted with the Nation at Washington and Albany, N. Y. respectively, to turn their eyes skyward.—Dallas News.

CONTRASTING HOOVER'S TWO ACCEPTANCE SPEECHES

(The Pathfinder)
1928—I do not favor repeal of the 18th Amendment. I stand for the efficient enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder. Whoever is chosen president has under his oath the solemn duty to pursue this course. Our country has deliberately undertaken a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose. It must be worked out constructively.

1932—It is my belief that in order to remedy present evils a change is necessary by which we resumption a proper share of initiative and responsibility which the very essence of our government demands shall rest upon the states and local authorities. That change must avoid the return of the saloon. It is my conviction that the nature of this change, and one upon which all reasonable people can find common ground, is that each state shall be given the right to deal with the problem as it may determine, but subject to absolute guarantees in the Constitution to protect each state from interference and invasion by its neighbors, and that in no part of the United States shall there be a return of the saloon system with its inevitable political and social corruption and its organized interference with other states.

C. W. TANKERSLEY'S BROTHER DIED IN FT. WORTH

The funeral of County Attorney S. G. Tankersley, 76, of Glen Rose, will be held in that city at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Glen Rose Methodist Church. Burial will be in Glen Rose Cemetery.

Judge Tankersley died in a hospital here Thursday morning after an illness of two weeks. He was county judge and served two terms in the Legislature from Wise County before moving to Fort Worth, where he resided until 1913. For the past 19 years he had lived in Glen Rose and recently was renominated for county attorney.

Born in Arkansas, he came to Texas at the age of 20. He was admitted to the practice of law in 1892. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Fannie Fields Tankersley; four sons, J. D. and S. G. Jr. of Glen Rose, and Albert and N. B. of Fort Worth; a daughter, Mrs. Priest Lipscomb of Fort Worth and two brothers, C. W. of Brownfield, and A. P. Tankersley of Fort Worth.—Star Telegram.

MADGE EVANS and RAMON NOVARRO "HUDDLE"

Rialto, Sunday, Mon. and Tues.
Miss Quenelle Sawyer entertained on Monday evening at her home. There were sixteen couples to enjoy this occasion.

R. I. Cook, commissioner elect of No. 3, was in this week and called on the Herald.

Can You Pay Your Subscription Now?

The Herald has faithfully carried hundreds of delinquent papers through the dull season of the year in order to be a help to its readers who wanted the paper on. We knew that it would be useless to send notices to them, as they had to make every dollar count until they had something coming in. The last time we sent notices to farmers was well back in early spring. Along in July we sent notices to out of county and our town readers, but we sent none to Terry county farmers for the reasons given above.

We have now carried the load just about as far as we can. Our expenses have not been greatly lessened, but advertising fell off during the summer months at least 50 percent, making it the hardest load we have ever had to carry in the 23 years we have edited the Herald. It looked at times like a hopeless task, but we kept on, sending out an issue each week. Lots of them were small, but it was the best we could do at the time. We have never been regarded as a quitter, and never intend to be as long as we keep our health.

But we know that we have many subscribers in Terry county who can now see where they are until cotton comes in enough that they can at least spare us a dollar on subscription, and we want to see just how many will voluntarily come in Saturday and hand us a dollar if possible. If you are not able to hand in a dollar, give us a half dollar till you get out some cotton. Uncle Sam has made it too expensive to send out notices at the price we get for the Herald, so save us that expense. It costs us three dollars to send out 100 notices on routes.

District Court Is Still Grinding This Week

This will probably be the last week of the summer term of district court, as this makes the third week, and nothing much was left except civil cases, many of which were perhaps would be tried without a jury. All in all, this term will go down as less to do than any term for a long time.

Some six or seven criminal cases came up last week, being mostly burglary and bootlegging cases. About two of those will have to go home with Uncle Bud and stay two or three years, while most of them, young fellows who broke into houses, got a suspended sentence.

But it appears that the next term will have to work. We understand the grand jury found 27 bills of indictment, all felonies.

RESEMBLANCE
She was the kind of woman who could be relied upon to say the wrong thing wherever she was. At a recent dinner she turned to her neighbor and said "Doctor, can you tell me who that uncouth-looking man is over there?"
"I can," replied the man. "That is my brother."

There was an awkward pause while the woman racked her thought for something to say. The doctor was enjoying her discomfiture.
"Oh, I beg your pardon," she stammered, blushing. "How silly of me not to have seen the resemblance."

THOMASON THANKS VOTERS

Got in too late last week to get my card of thanks in the Herald, and not because I did not appreciate the several hundred votes I received for Sheriff and Tax-Collector. But even though I was defeated, I want you to know I appreciate your vote, and hold no ill will toward anyone for the way the tide of votes went.

Sincerely,
Malcolm Thomason.

Well, we pulled another boner last week about when the school opens. The Abilene Times has the following to say about the Herald's recent birthday:

The Herald has no doubt been a great factor in building up and pioneering the way into the great West, and unto the plains of West Texas. Editor Stricklin has done his bit, and more than that, toward the development of his section of West Texas, and the people fully realize that a newspaper has a great deal to do in bringing to their county and town men and women who do credit to any community.

For more than 23 years, A. J. Stricklin has been editor, owner, publisher and no doubt, a good part of the time, type setter, errand boy, devil and head pusher of the Terry County Herald, Brownfield, Texas.

OUR APPLE HOUSE is now open with a good stock of Apples and Peas, and next week we will have in a good stock of vegetables of all kinds.

BROADWAY CHURCH OF CHRIST The revival meetings are now over for the season. So all of our regular meetings will be as usual.

Editor Bayless Jeffery of the Tri-Town News, published for Meadow, Ropes and Wolforth, was down this week and called on the Herald and delivered the first copy of that newsy sheet we have seen, although it has been published for several months.

There has been a row binder on display in front of one of the local stores for the past two weeks, but whether they have found any buyers we did not learn. Not many, however, we are sure. Most farmers have overhauled and repaired the old ones.

Fisher county reports a little more than 40 inches of rain in the past 12 months. Clyde Briley was in from the farm Tuesday.

Drink Water With Meals Good For Stomach Water with meals helps stomach juices, aids digestion. If bloated with gas add a spoonful of Adlerika. One dose cleans out poisons and washes BOTH upper and lower bowels.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Cox were in after supplies Tuesday.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

The house was pretty well filled last Sunday. Indeed the best crowd we have seen outside of revival meetings in a great while. We were glad to see all new converts there, most all on time for Bible study.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

MRS. ERVIN RAMBO HOSTESS

The Friday 42 club met at Mrs. Ervin Rambo's home last Friday. After a number of games were enjoyed the hostess served a sandwich course to Mesdames Cruce, Holgate, McPherson, Clint Rambo, Hamilton, Brothers, Earl Jones, Gore, W. C. Smith, Downing and Miss Bernice Weldon.

Miss Gertrude Rasco has returned to Brownfield where she will teach music again this year.

Mrs. Geo. Warren has returned from Glen Rose where she spent several weeks for her health. She was very much benefited.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmo McClellan and Robert Tharp of Lubbock, son and daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Tharp, visited in the Tharp home Sunday. Ada Mary Tharp accompanied them home.

Mrs. E. H. Byers entertained the Brownfield quartet in her home Sunday afternoon. Sandwiches and iced watermelon were served to James Michie, John L. Cruce, Lee Brownfield, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jackson and son, Misses Mildred Bingham, Freva Webb, Byers, Messrs. Malcolm Anderson, E. M. Smith and Ellis Byers.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Davis are moving this week to McCamey where he will work in a drug store. Mr. Davis has been employed in the Boone Hunter's Drug store for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Sawyer and Christovia made a business trip to Lovington and Roswell last week.

Mrs. W. H. Collins was hostess to her circle in a Missionary Social Tuesday. The hostess served punch and ice box cookies.

NO SPEED LIMIT

This truthlet popped into my head While soaking in my bath: You won't find many speed cops on The straight and narrow path.

And this one barged into my brain While shaving at my dresser: There must be lots of cops required On the way of the transgressor.

METHODIST MISSIONARY SOC.

The Methodist Missionary Society did not meet this week until Thursday.

Ed Shelton reports that we have received more than 19 inches of rain in Terry county since Jan. 1st, which is already above normal.

W. P. Elmore, one of our progressive west side farmers, presented the Herald with one of his fine melons last Saturday.

Terry county melons are coming in abundantly now. They are about a month late this year. But we will have them until frost.

A. P. Stewart of Tokio, was in Monday with the crowd.

Miss Virginia Youngblood of Roscoe is visiting her aunt, Mrs. M. V. Brownfield this week.

Mrs. Basham and son from Roby visited her daughter, Mrs. Morris Davis over Sunday.

Mrs. Ola Tinkler visited her sister, Mrs. Cobb in Lubbock latter part of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Gilliam Graham left last week for Waco where they will enter the Baylor University for the coming year.

Quite a number from Brownfield plan to attend a Methodist meeting in Lubbock Wednesday. Bishop Boaz will be the principal speaker.

W. B. Collins and family of Lamesa visited W. H. Collins and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Toone and Mr. Carpenter attended the Postal Service meeting at Littlefield Tuesday. Some of the other post office force and mail carrier's went, but we failed to get their names.

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

Taken from the Herald of September 7, 1909.

On the first page of our issue of September 10, 1909, we reproduced a long editorial from the Houston Chronicle on the possibility that some objection would be raised when Virginia got ready to place her two statues, Washington and Lee, in Statuary Hall. Of course any objection would have only been to the later, but we find there was no serious objection raised when the time came. Big Spring had received their first Auto Fire Engine as they were then called, and it proved good in tests made. That government had ordered 3,600,000,000 post cards to be used in the succeeding four years. Another article told of the great natural resources of Texas. Another tells us of a trip of a Fort Worth man to the Plains, who saw at that early date the possibility of a large population in the Panhandle with big fields and truck patches, making their own living at home. The Lubbock Avalanche was complimenting the Jackson House that has just been completed in that city, containing 30 rooms. Of course that would look small at this time, but it was great at that date. Mr. Jackson is now an honored citizen of Brownfield. He was one of Meadow's early merchants, moving to Lubbock from there.

On the editorial page, we announced that a fever was raging in Brownfield, not Typhoid, but Santa-Fe-oid. Mr. M. V. Brownfield had called a meeting of Brownfield and Gomez people at the court house as he had a letter from Santa Fe officials stating that they were considering a branch to this county for a bonus of some $50,000. He proposed to make a trip to Chicago after the meeting to see further about the matter. A box supper at the Baptist church was well attended and patronized. Wonder how many would attend one now? The two sons of U. S. Marshall Abernathy, aged 7 and 5 had started their journey from Guthrie, Okla., to Santa Fe, N. M. on horse back.

Seventeen members of the local Odd Fellows lodge went to Tahoka to give the degrees to 14 Tahokaites.

On the local page we find that Mrs. Lou Key, of Gomez, was in Brownfield. J. R. Hill had business in Lubbock. Jack Bryan and family were in town. R. H. Baugh sold his section to J. S. Clark. Chas. Copeland was making daily round trips to Lubbock over the new auto road. O. M. Daniel closed a deal for a lot on the square. Our merchants had begun to order supplies via Lubbock instead of Big Spring. Arriving prospectors were all praising Terry county. Judge Geo. L. Bealy of Lubbock, was here on business. Mrs. W. R. Spencer was on the sick list. Public school was to open following Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Little had moved to Lubbock. A. P. Seitz was having his residence painted. Miss Elma Neill of Howard county, was visiting her brother, Judge Geo. W. and family. Dr. J. W. Ellis carried Mrs. C. A. McDaniel to Fort Worth for an operation. Misses Rajena and Weebelle Hargett had left for Toyah where they were to teach. W. R. Hampton, wife and daughter, were here from Merkel, prospecting. Luther French had accepted a position as bookkeeper at the State bank. Edwin Groves brought in some fine samples of maize and corn. Dick Brownfield was preparing for an outing on the Concho. Among the births reported was a boy to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Adams; a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Pyeatt; a boy to Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Ross, and a boy to Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shepherd. Carl Sams and family were here from Benjamin, visiting the J. O. Jones family. J. E. Goree was contemplating a building on his lot, the lower floor for a store, and the upper floor for shows and a dance hall. E. E. Stephens of Big Spring was here instructing Royal Arch Masons. Elbert Hughes, Herald type, was taking a vacation in Lynn county. Prof. Herring from Glen

MEADOW BRIEFS

The Farmer Institute advertised for Meadow appears to have been a "water haul," so far as attendance was concerned. It was put on while a meeting was in progress and this added to the bad weather prevented attendance.

The aftermath of the recent primary promises to be a much more interesting affair than the pre-primary battle. Ross Sterling and his cohorts are up in the air. Ross declares that he will be elected Governor in November. Now he may be as bad a prophet of the future as he has certainly been in the past.

He proclaimed his election while Mrs. Ferguson was only a few hundred votes ahead and called on all his friends and henchmen to come to Lubbock and assist him in thwarting the will of the people. This morning, Sunday, she has climbed up to nearly 4000 and it isn't probable that it will be reduced. Then why should Sterling want all his friends who may have been elected delegates to be present at Lubbock? There is a loop hole in the primary law allowing the convention to declare the Nominee. With a majority of Sterling delegates present a majority might be found, who have no sense of self respect for their obligation to name the candidate having the greatest number of votes as the candidate of the convention.

This would entail great trouble and expense on the candidate really elected in establishing his rights in the courts.

It is of course probable that wiser counsel will prevail than now seems probable and the Convention will proceed to declare the candidate having the largest number of votes the nominee of the party. Any other course would be suicidal to the party organization in Texas and jeopardize the national ticket. I cannot imagine a Ferguson supporter with brains enough to get to the polls that would vote for a minority candidate.

I cannot imagine a Ferguson supporter with brains enough to get to the polls that would vote for a minority candidate.

One thing certain, this crop has probably been made at less expense than any heretofore that we know of. Not much has been borrowed from the local banks or the federal government, neither have the farmers bought on credit.

Rose, had arrived to take charge of the schools. Miss Georgie Cooper of Hico, had also wired that she would be in to take charge of her grades. Dr. Griffin was over from Gomez and reported that his brother-in-law of Alvarado would establish a huge supply house and bank at Gomez. V. E. Hargett had bought the Georgia Benton place southwest of town, and was feeding out 100 hogs.

It is right amusing at this date to read of an excursion Chas. Copeland had run over his auto road to Lubbock, having hired Lee Almon and his car to help. Among the passengers were Dee Brownfield, Walter Dixon, Fred Custis, H. H. Longbrake, G. F. Higbee, O. M. Daniel, J. R. Cook, Luther French and A. J. Stricklin. We stated that it took a little over two hours to make the trip with but a few mishaps. We stayed until after the show and got back to Brownfield at 3 A. M.

Not much of interest on the back page, save that we were still after the housefly with another article. Eddie Green, son of the famous Hettie was in New York bragging on Texas. A big iron ore deal had taken place at Rusk, and the registration fee on registered mail had been raised 2 cents. All for this week.

Grover McMahan, who owns the bus line from here to Lubbock, believes in keeping his business at home as much as possible, and is now giving the Herald a lot of his printing. And the Herald must say that Grover is making good too, with his line, as he has made his two round trips each day this week despite the mud. Buses were tied up in each outer direction out of Lubbock except north, and not much rain fell in that direction and paved roads to boot.

John Chisholm has a very unique ammunition display in his hardware store you should see next time you are in there. John believes in window decorations as well as inside displays. But he also uses some newspaper space regularly and believes it pays.

Flem McSpadden was carried to Lubbock Tuesday to have some foreign matter removed from his eye which he got in there while working in his shop. He got a piece of steel in the other eye about a year ago which came near ruining his eye.

County Democratic Chairman informed us this week that they found a few slight changes in the vote of Terry county in the official count last Saturday, but not enough to call for a new printing in the Herald this week.

WELLMAN NEWS

The meeting of the Church of Christ started September 2nd, and has continued with good interest and large crowds. Evangelist Otis Gatewood is doing the preaching and Bro. Richard Chisholm is leading in the song services. All day services will be held next Sunday and dinner will be spread on the ground. They would be glad to have visitors to come and be with them. At 2:00 o'clock next Sunday afternoon they are expecting to have singing for about an hour and after that, preaching services. Several quartets will be there and they cordially invite all singers to be with them.

School opened Monday morning, September 5th, with good interest. Mr. Gatewood, who is holding a meeting for the church of Christ gave the opening address. The school authorities are looking forward to the best school year this year that Wellman has yet had.

There will be preaching at the Baptist church next Sunday.

WOMAN ANALYZED

A chemist (a man) reports that he has at last been able to analyze woman, and here it is: Symbol—W. O. A member of the human family. Occurrence—can be found wherever man exists. Physical properties—all color and sizes. Always appears in disguised condition. Surface of face seldom unobscured by coating of paint or film of powder. Boils at nothing and may freeze at any moment. However, melts when properly treated. Very bitter if not used correctly. Chemical properties—extremely active. Possesses great affinity for gold, silver, platinum and precious stones of all kinds. Violent reaction when left alone by men. Ability to absorb all sorts of expensive foods. Turns greasy when placed next to a better appearing sample. Ages very rapidly. Fresh variety has great magnetic attraction. (Note—Highly explosive and likely to be dangerous in inexperienced hands.) Now will some woman reader analyze man?—Pathfinder.

PAID IN FULL

A merchant in a small town was about to become bankrupt for the seventh time. He called in the accountants to go over his books. When they had finished they told him he would be able to pay 3 cents on the dollar. A troubled look came over the merchant's face. "Heretofore," he said, "I have always paid 10 cents on the dollar, and I'll do it now," he affirmed as a benevolent smile overspread his face. "I'll pay the rest out of my own pockets."

Mrs. G. W. Graves and daughter, Mrs. Jack Holt, and son, Jim, returned from Dalhart Monday, where they had been attending the bedside of an old family friend, Dr. Lovell. Reports have been received since that he died Tuesday morning. Dr. Graves aimed to attend the funeral, but bad weather and roads prevented.

Read the Ads in the Herald

READABLE, AFTER 15 YEARS

By Bruce B. Brewer, Vice Pres., Ferry-Hanly Advertising Co.

An advertising salesman for a magazine thought he had me cornered the other day. We were discussing the many advantages of weekly newspaper advertising.

"I'll tell you something that's wrong with your arguments," he said. "Some of the subscribers don't live in the old home town any more. I take my home town paper, and I live more than 500 miles away."

"Why do you take it?" I asked.

"Well, I just like to read about what my old friends are doing," he answered.

"How many years since you moved away?"

"About 15."

"Well, if you're interested in reading about folks you haven't known well for 15 years, what do you think is the interest of the people who live in your home town? You've been away all this time, and that paper still holds you because it carries the most interesting news there is—news about people you know."

"When you talk to advertisers about your magazines, you tell how interested your readers are in the articles and stories that appear alongside the advertising. That is the main thing any advertising publication has to sell—the interest of its readers."

"You simply can't get away from it, the best read publications on earth are these weekly newspapers with their news, news about people who live nearby. Don't you really wish your hold on your readers was so strong it would last for 15 years?"

"Yes, I see your point," he answered, and then, "Well, if it's so darned good, why don't merchants flock to use it?"

"I don't know," I answered, and it remains one of those unexplainables. Why don't merchants use more frequently and more generally the best read, most highly appreciated paper on earth—the weekly newspaper? The only answer is, they don't know what a whale of a buy they're getting in their weekly newspaper."

SURE WAY TO CATCH A RIDE

Abernathy, Sept. 2.—Here is the latest method for securing a ride while hitch-hiking. A Hale county resident reports giving a "lift" to a young fellow recently who had a placard on his back reading: "If you don't give me a ride, I'll vote for Hoover."

A program for the Baptist Workers Meeting intended to be published last week, was received too late for publication last week. It was mailed from Wilson on Tuesday, but for some reason was not received here until after we had gone to press. The meeting was held at Tahoka the past week end.

Sam White was in after turnip seed Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Word Skaggs were here Monday and Tuesday from Lampasas. They plan to lease the Bowling alley and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Thomas while here.

Joe A. Merritt of Snyder was winner in the race for representative of the 118th district over his opponent, Fred C. Haile of Spur, by a vote of 3974 to 3497. It will be noted that district cast a little over 7000 votes, whereas, this the 119th cast nearly 20,000 votes, showing how badly this section need redistricting.

Lasater Prophecy Of Hoover Admin-
tration Comes True

(Editors Note: The following article was published in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in its issue of Tuesday, October 16, 1928.)

Dallas, Oct. 15.—It would be a terrible blow to the hopes and aspirations of the average man and woman of America if Herbert Hoover should be elected President of the United States and his election would work irreparable harm to the American ideal of government, it was declared in a formal interview here Monday by Ed C. Lassater of Falfurries.

Lassater took sharp issue with the declarations of Secretary of the Treasurer, Andrew W. Mellon, made in a radio address at Washington on the night of Oct. 11, in which Mellon gave unstinted praise to the Republican party for its "fulfillment of promises" and to Hoover as the ideal man to carry out the "prosperity program" of that party.

Lassater was war time associate and subordinate of Hoover as United States Food Administrator.

Prior to the World War period, Lassater had achieved nationwide prominence by virtue of his activities among livestock producers. In Texas he had been prominent in the "Bull Moose" movement that attended Theodore Roosevelt's candidacy for the presidency in 1912. He had been the Republican nominee for Governor in Texas. He had been among the most active officers of the American National Livestock Association, and the Cattle Raisers Association. He was regarded as a natural choice when, as Food Administrator, Hoover called him in July, 1917, to be the chief of the division of Livestock and Animal Food Products. He had not served in that office four months before he was moved to tender his resignation in a two sentence letter that contained this one declaration:

"I do so because I have become convinced that the policies which control it are harmful to the common welfare."

After his connection with the United States Food Administration had been severed Lassater wrote:

"I was convinced that the action of Mr. Hoover as Food Administrator destroyed the confidence of the farmers and stock raisers in the fairness of their Government, caused directly an incalculable loss to them as a body with the effect of financial ruin to many, and above all, put this nation in a position where, if the war had lasted the expected-five years, or had continued one year longer than it did, it would have been impossible to procure the necessary fats and meat supplies for the Allies and ourselves. If Mr. Hoover's slogan, 'food will win the war', meant anything, we might well under circumstances have been faced with defeat.

"I sincerely believe," Lassater said, "that I am no alarmist and I know that I am utterly sincere in the fears I entertain of the domination of this country's mental attitude. I believe after exercising all of my powers of reasoning that no more dreadful thing could come to the masses of the country man for Herbert Hoover to be elected the President of the United States. I sat by his side for months, I examined his mind as he examined mine, when we sat in council over the food problems of the war. I believe I know his sympathies—and he has none for the common man. I came to believe as we sat and tried to solve the problems that came to us, that he looks on the American farmer precisely as he had looked on the coolies who had worked under his direction in China. Mr. Hoover is not a conservationist and he never was. He has been always the exploiter and he knows naught of men as units of society and industry but to exploit them as the agent of big business that he is and ever will be whether as Secretary of States or promoter of mining enterprises. A great number of the people have been hypnotized by a myth of a man who does not and never has existed.

"The Hoover that I knew in 1917 when the producers of agriculture and livestock needed a friend and found none in Mr. Hoover, has not changed his spots. I believe it is conceded now by all persons, and certainly Secretary Mellon not only concedes but boasts, that all is well with the commercial and industrial fabric of the country, but no man will say that prosperity has blessed the pocketbook of the man who produces agricultural commodities in any of its forms. For every hour of the time that Mr. Hoover has been a member of the cabinet of two presidents agriculture has stood in need of a friend in the Government. Of all the men who have sat in those two cabinets he had most reason to know, beyond all peradventure of doubt, that the rest of this country was prosperous at the expense of the producers of our basic wealth. In rapt admiration Mr. Hoover has been called Secretary of Commerce and under-secretary of all other departments. When he took his seat in the cabinet the pleas of the producers of this country for a square deal were still ringing in his ears. He has made no move to give them even the semblance of a square deal and promises of Herbert Hoover to bring relief to agriculture when he is a candidate for President of the United States are worse than idle, they are little short of insults to the intelligence of the American producers of raw material.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Jones of Amarillo, visited his mother, Mrs. S. W. Jones and other relatives Sunday. Jake Beal was down from the Meadow section attending the Trades day and renewed for his Herald.

"SIX CYLINDERS

No more . . . No less"

Compare a Chevrolet Six whose speedometer reads over 10,000 miles with any other low-priced car of about the same mileage. Compare bodies. Compare chassis. Compare the way the two cars have stood up. Compare the gas and oil mileage each is getting. You'll be surprised at what a difference there is in favor of Chevrolet.

Chevrolet's wood-and-steel Fisher body remains tight, staunch and trouble-free. Chevrolet's chassis stays rigid and solid—shows none of the ill effects of age or wear. Chevrolet's six-cylinder engine continues to purr along smoothly, quietly and dependably. And it continues to give the same all-around economy as it did when new.

The reason for this difference after 10,000 miles can be summed up in three major facts: First, Chevrolet is such a wonderfully well-built car. Second, Chevrolet has adequate weight, unusual ruggedness and strength to withstand the effects of long, hard usage. Third, the Chevrolet engine has SIX CYLINDERS. And SIX is the fewest number of cylinders you can have in a car, and avoid destructive vibration.

Play safe, in choosing that low-priced car of yours. Put your good money in a sure thing. Buy the automobile in which the majority of American motor car buyers have placed their faith ever since January, 1931—a new Chevrolet Six.
