What's The Matter With Texas?

By S. W. Adams—Room 65, Driskill Hotel, Austin

Under the plea of more taxes (which the people will not have to pay) there is being fought for down here, a new commission, the oil and gas commission, and it is going to require a lot of work on the part of the boys at home to defeat it.

The only protection the people have today is the country weekly. Conditions are going from bad to worse. If you would take up with your readers, thru your columns, these matters, and publish week after week, signed protests from your people, or your signed demands for right sort of legislation, then send your paper gratis to every member in your district, you would find that you would wield tremendous influence. These legislators down here, the majority of them, want to do what you people want, but the have no way of knowing.

If you do not act, chambers of commerce, bankers or special interest groups will act—and one man will send 75 or 100 telegrams down here from your town, and create the impression that your communities are for a thing, when as a matter of fact, perhaps he is the only one for the measure, or against it.

I would suggest that every weekly in Texas request that their Representatives and Senators send them copies of every communication they receive from your community; then you can meet them, and assist the Legislators in knowing the real meaning behind the communication.

Wrong publicity is the bane of Texas, and it will not improve until each community weekly takes care of its own area's publicity.

Why should OIL take up the major portion of our time down here? It is not the most important industry. It does not directly profit over ten percent of the people of Texas, while it is a charge against 100 per cent of them. Every time a law is passed giving the 10 per cent more for their products, it will cost the 100 per cent that much more as consumption costs.

There is one bill down here that has more merit in controlling production of oil than any other bill ever proposed, and it is the graduated gross production tax bill, and every editor should study it and fight for it.

The gasoline tax places a direct tax of over thirty millions on all the people of Texas. This gross production tax bill would lay only about 17 per cent of the tax burden on Texas people; the other 83 per cent would go to other states and countries where 83 per cent of our oil products are consumed.

Our fight on lobbyists has been taken up by the Fort Worth Press. It is important; but only the weeklies will make safe Texas from the lobbyist, and when every weekly sees the difference between a citizen petition his state, and paid lobbyists who use every known method to defeat good legislation, the fight will be won—come down here and see these fellows, day after day, button-holing legislators, and you will rebel too, as others, who sit in, have.

John Chisholm is Enlarging Poultry Farm

John Chisholm, hustling local poultry and hatchery man, is remodeling and enlarging to some extent, the poultry housing at his farm just outside the city limits, and when his work is completed, John will have one of the best equipped poultry farms in this section.

We are informed this week that they now are taking off some 6,000 baby chicks each week at the hatchery. They appear to be big, healthy chicks, and despite abnormal times, they are having a nice sale of them.

Our Preachers Out After the Beer Bill

Our good friends, the preachers of Brownfield, seem to be out after beer good and proper—not that they want to consume any of it, but to get its goat—hit it where the chicken got the ax. They don't seem to have any sympathy whatever with us thirsty souls that dream of the cool, refreshing, snappy, frothing stein. They seem to believe that we have been so LONG without liquor in America that the big cars will run over the little ones in our streets if lager returns. It is our understanding that all or most of the churches took a vote Sunday and again buried old John Barleycorn, and wired the results to Thomas and Duggan at Austin. So, that's that.

On the other hand, many of the business and professional men here are writing these same men, but in another vein. They are asking that the bill to legalize three point two in Texas be passed, and Ma has agreed to sign it. These men argue that all the states around Texas will have 3.2 beer, and the exodus of Texans to these states to take a vacation, will leave little spending money for these same business and professional men. Louisiana will have beer on the 13th, New Mexico later in the year, and both houses in Oklahoma have voted for 3.2 per cent beer. (Some think brother Alfalfa will hash this bill, but others remember that Gov. Murray made it rather bluntly plain to the W. C. T. U. at Washington in a speech last fall that he believed light wines and beer would be a great step toward real temperance.)

Just what results either side will gain by wires, letters, commands and entreaties, remain to be seen. It is our idea that just about the time the legislature gets ready to adjourn and all the appropriations are in, and it is found that they are in excess of expected taxes, a grand rush to legalize beer and tap a new source of revenue will be made. Most all the officers we have heard of are of the opinion that 3.2 beer would make their road much easier, as it would tend to stop the sale of so much hard liquor. Few of us realize that a hard liquor is thrown on our officers trying to enforce these unpopular laws.

The people are the law, and when a majority of them speak, the Herald is always willing to abide by that decision. But here is a prediction. Listen to it: "When the people of Texas get a whack at the 18th amendment at the polls, it will be a goner to the tune of from 100,000 to 150,000 majority. Clip this out if you wish and file it. There will have to be a mighty change of sentiment if this does not prove correct. We are going back to our old county local option laws that we used to have and that came nearer being enforced than any prohibition law we have ever had on the statute book. But a hundred million of our people living in the most populous of our state are never again going to let 10 or 15 million in the smaller states dictate what they shall drink.

Supt Sanders Gives Out School Closing Program

The early closing of the schools this year brings us to the commencement exercises sooner than usual. These exercises are of considerable interest, not only to the class of the year, but to their parents and the community as well. The Senior class and the school folks are glad to announce that the services of Dr. J. W. Hunt, President of Mc Murray College at Abilene, have been secured for delivering the graduating address this year. Dr. Hunt is said to be the best platform in the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church South. This is no small tribute to this man's ability as a public speaker. Dr. Hunt comes as a representative of the people who believe in clothing the background of education with Christian ideals and orthodox principles. The virtues of this type of teaching cannot be over-estimated. In these times when we need something solid to tie to, it is fine to have the best scholars of the country filled with the best type of service that we want the younger people to hear.

The program will be held in the auditorium of the Brownfield High School at 8:15 P. M., April 28, 1933. The public in general is invited to hear this good message from a Christian gentleman.

Connally Hits Reckless Loaning of RFC Funds

Washington—Reckless loaning of the government's money was assailed in the senate here recently in two powerful speeches by Sen. Tom Connally of Texas, that have evoked strong commendation from leaders of the new administration.

"I am getting tired of trusting people with the government's money to do with as they please," the Texas Senator said in citing the action of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in lending huge sums to various so-called "self-liquidating" projects in several sections.

Local Greenhouse To Open Saturday

It has been the custom heretofore to get all our cut flowers from out of town, but Mr. John King, local nursery man is opening up a brand new industry in our city Saturday, in that he will have his own greenhouse, and will be able to supply this section in flowers and bulbs of all kinds.

It has been his ambition for years to put a greenhouse in Brownfield, and his dreams have now come true. You are invited to visit his place Saturday sometime during the day. And this applies to rural people the same as town folks.

You will be give a carnation with the compliments of Mr. and Mrs. King.

Hearst Steers Still Making Rapid Gains

Those who have visited the pens where the Babicora ranch steers are being fed out, see a big change in the past few weeks, especially in those first received here. Their hair is shedding, a new growth of darker hair on the better breed of Herefords, and this hair is as sleek and glossy as you please. Also, they are making rapid gains in weight, and it is believed by some that the steers will not have to stay the full 180 days on feed, unless the feeders so desire it.

Farmers, ranchmen, feeders, packer buyers, as well as the ordinary business men who are interested in good cattle and feeding are coming to watch the feeding operations of this vast herd of 6,000 steers. Mr. Leon Goodman, who persuaded Mr. W. R. Hearst to put these steers here on feed, is himself a graduate of the Iowa A. & M. College, and the steers are being fed according to the best formulas developed at feeding experiment stations in America as well as in foreign countries. Not a detail that would tend to make a better steer and a more prime, tender, or more nutritious, palatable piece of beef, is being overlooked. They are fed just so much corn, make, cottonseed meal and bundle stuff. They must have plenty water, lime and the proper amount of the vitamins. The feeds are so mixed that each animal gets the right proportion of each of these every day.

As to the feed, thousands of tons of corn, maize and bundle stuff cover the hillside, much more perhaps, than it will take to finish these animals. This leaves one to surmise that the feeding operation here has already gone far enough to convince the promoters that it will be a success, and that other cattle belonging to them will be shipped in from time to time for feeding.

Pleased With Plans to Entertain PTA Here

Rotan, Texas, April 4, 1933. Editor Herald, Dear Sir: As you perhaps know Mrs. Jas. B. Day, president of 14th Dist. P. T. A. and I were in Brownfield last week-end in conference with city P. T. A. chairmen and Terry County Council.

We were delighted to learn of the cooperation and spirit of Terry county in preparing for the District Conference that meets in Brownfield, April 21st and 22nd. And because of this cooperation, we feel that this conference will be one of the outstanding of the fifteen district conferences held in Texas this Spring. We realize there has been many hindrances, so appreciate the fact that your community has gone up with the plans for this meeting. As far as I can learn, no district in Texas has ever failed to have its spring conference.

We feel that our stay with you will be greatly enjoyed and when we depart for our homes, we will carry kindly recollections and personal memories of Brownfield, Terry county and their people.

Sincerely yours, (Mrs. J. R.) Vera B. Strayhorn, Publicity Director 14th Dist. P.T.A.

Mrs. Lela Toone, postmistress here, informed us this week that those in need of Internal Revenue stamps will be able to get any kind they need at the postoffice from now on.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Flippin of this city, are visiting relatives in Fort Worth.

Thousands of Pretty Trees to Adorn Streets

For the past two weeks, several hands have been busy putting out the famous Chinese elm on our streets. These trees were furnished by the Brownfield Nursery, owned by John B. King, and were purchased by the thousands by the three civic clubs of the city in hundred lots. By doing this, they were bought for 10 cents for the small trees, and 15c each for the larger trees. The larger trees were from four to five feet high in the nursery row. Work was given these men, practically all of which were heads of families, and the work of transplanting was done with R. F. C. funds. All that it cost the property owner was for the few trees it took to go next the street on his property.

In conversation with Judge W. W. Price, who seems to be taking a leadership part so far as the Lions club is concerned, informed us that the notice he gave the matter in the Herald columns a few weeks ago, certainly got results, and he is now a firm believer that people read the Herald, and that it pays to advertise. We called his attention to the fact that on several vacant lots, or a few residences that do not have tenants at this time, there are no trees, leaving an ugly void in the street.

He informed us that a supreme effort was being made to get the property owners in these few cases to furnish the trees, but in a few cases he thought the civic clubs would buy the trees at their own expense, for the main streets at least.

Roy Wingerd was around this week collecting from property owners who have put out trees, and informed us that while the nursery still has thousands of trees in the nursery rows, that this campaign had just about took most of the trees in at least five of the long rows. We will perhaps learn before long just how many trees were transplanted in our city during the campaign.

Now, if each owner or renter will just give these trees a little water through the hottest part of the summer, in a few more years, Brownfield will look as if it had been laid out in a forest instead of on a bald prairie. And it will be a beauty spot and at the same time cooler in summer and a break against howling northerners in winter.

Trying to Stop Gas Rate Reduction Bill

Austin.—If the new Natural Resource Commission is created, as is planned by House Bill No. 213 in the legislature here, all the work done toward reduction of gas rates by the Railroad Commission of Texas will be lost. There is no saving clause in the bill that would carry over this work from the hands of the R.R. Commission and place it in the hands of the Natural Resource Commission.

SPANISH PLAY WINS FIRST IN TOURNAY

Representatives in Los Alegros won the Spanish play tourney sponsored by the Pan-American League convention two weeks ago in Dallas by flipping a coin with C. I. A. players who tied with A. C. C. players in this contest. A bronze medal was offered the winner by Miss Heloise Brainard, chief of the bureau of the Pan-American Union of Washington, D. C.

"Las Viajeras" was the play used by the A. C. C. entrants, with Louise Nelson playing the part of La Senora, V. L. Allen playing El Senor, and Marguerite Rader taking the role of La Hija de La Senora. Frank Traynor was La Vendidor le libros, and Willie James McDonald played El Mozo. The play was directed by Prof. J. W. Trent.

Players entering this tourney were from Kansas City, Atlanta, Miami, Austin, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Beaumont, Wichita Falls, New York City, Denton, Abilene, Cuba, and Brazil. The next session of the Pan-American League convention will be held in Atlanta, Georgia.—A. C. C. Optimist.

To the above, we might add that the Miss Nelson mentioned in it is a Terry county product, being the daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. Nelson of Meadow. She graduated from Meadow High School with the class of 1930, and is a senior at Abilene Christian college now. It is stated that Miss Louise is prominent in the affairs at college, being recently cast in a Spanish Play that won first place at the Pan-American League convention held at Dallas. She is a member of the Choral Club, Dramatic Club and the "W" Club, a women's honor organization.

Rev. H. D. Heath, the big 1000 acre farmer of Yoakum county, was a business visitor in our city Saturday. All the land on this farm is now ready for the planters when it rains.

Our Public School Is Nearing Its Close

The Brownfield public schools are nearing the closing time for the 1932 and 1933 term, and despite the fact that for financial reasons, the school has to be shortened a month at this time, good progress has been made. And by the redoubling of efforts on the part of both the students and teachers, a number of students will graduate from high school with fine grades to their credit. Not only that, but the entire school from grammar school on up thru junior high and high school, we understand that a fair average will be promoted to the next grade up.

It is no fault of the teachers or the students that some of us did not or could not pay their taxes. An unusually short cotton crop last year, together with low prices, hit the local school a hard jolt. If we had been given an average crop instead of a half crop, many more farmers in the district could have paid their taxes, not to mention the town people who were also affected by the crop failure too. But hail and too much rain in late summer and early fall saw to it that Terry county be cut half on its cotton crop, while most of the neighboring counties were either making an average, or in some instances the largest cotton crop in their history. This was not a true of Lubbock county.

But better times are in the offing, we believe. People have not lost faith in their school. Nothing of the kind has happened. But natural causes over which they have no control have willed that we be given a short measure, and this condition of necessity had to be passed on to our school, as bad as we hated to do so.

The trustees have had a hard pull of it in trying to make one dollar do the work of two. In the better times of a few years ago, when there was no money question involved, the trustees had a reasonably easy time.

But it is different now. They have possibly spent more midnight hours this year than any body of trustees of this school before them. This was especially true when they were trying to decide whether they could get enough money to run eight months, or stop the school at the end of the sixth month. It took work until late hours. It took persuasive measures. It took courage and patience, but they were equal to the task. And while we are complimenting the trustees, let us not forget the corps of loyal teachers, who, while on short pay, were working as if they were being paid in full and time and half for overtime.

Times like these try men's souls. But it often brings out the best that is in us. And if there is any cowardice or fear in our makeup, it will also show up. After the storm will come the sunshine, and in a few years we shall forget the hardships, heartaches and trials of the past two or three years.

Those Favoring Farm Holiday Hold Meeting

A county wide farmers mass meeting was held at Brownfield Saturday the 8th. After speaking by J. A. (Sweede) Johnson, Dr. Stevens and others, the constitution of the Farm Holiday Union was read and adopted, and a permanent county Farm Holiday was organized.

There are some features about constitution that does not meet the approval of a few farmers. Perhaps the criticisms offered are well founded. But at any rate the bad features can be weeded out later if the farmers will jump in and help land the boat. There is no time now for farmers to be chasing lizards—your house is on fire.

The object of this movement is to discourage all foreclosures in the country and city. Time and a fair deal is all the farmer wants. We further pledge ourselves to cooperate with President Roosevelt in every way possible to bring about a better economic condition among the farmers.

This union will meet on Saturday 15th, at 2 P. M. in Brownfield. The doors are open to all.

Fourteenth District of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers

Mrs. J. R. Strayhorn, Rotan, Fourteenth Dist. Publicity Director.

The Fourteenth District of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers will meet at the High School building, Brownfield, Texas, April 21st and 22nd.

Each association is entitled to one delegate for every ten members. This means that Fourteenth District, composed of twenty-four counties is entitled to send a host of voting delegates to this conference.

The theme of the meeting is "Safeguarding Childhood Through this Crisis." Several noted people will appear on the program, among them being: Dr. Bradford Knapp, Pres. Texas Technological College; Dr. E. W. Prothro, Director of Nolan County Health Unit; Mrs. J. M. Crane, State Publicity Director; Miss Bonnie Dysart, Texas Tech; Miss Helen Hardy, Division of Child Welfare; Miss Mae Murfee, Co. Supt. of Lubbock County; Mrs. A. C. Surman, State Chairman of Mental Attitudes and Past President of Fourteenth District P. T. A.; and Mrs. Jas. B. Day, President at this time.

Besides the addresses on the different phases of the theme of the conference, there will be exhibits of year books, record books, posters and pamphlets, and instruction on all Parent-Teacher work.

The people of Brownfield, assisted by the Terry County Council, are preparing to give lodging and breakfast, besides the complimentary tea, and luncheons, to all delegates and visitors.

"Safeguarding Childhood through this Crisis," is the name of the short program that will be put on with local school talent under the direction of Mrs. M. L. Penn, during the district PTA here next Friday and Saturday.

Baccalaureate Sermon By a Local Pastor

The Baccalaureate Service of the Senior Class of 1933 will be held in the Auditorium of the Brownfield High School at 11:00 A. M. Sunday, April 23rd. The class invites the public to hear Rev. J. M. Hale on this occasion.

It is the custom to pass this honor around among the various churches that are represented in the community. Last year at this occasion Elder R. P. Drennon delivered a most excellent sermon to the class. In the year 1931 Rev. Bickley, a presiding Elder in the Methodist Church, preached the sermon. The year preceding, the pulpit was filled by Dean Gordon of Texas Tech, who is a prominent layman in the Presbyterian Church.

The singers from all the churches are asked to assist in the singing for this occasion. Mrs. Roy Herod is in charge of the arrangement for the singing and will appreciate the assistance of all who will help to make the music a success.

Roosevelt O.K. Says Washington Laborer

As I was coming up the elevator tonight to my office, I said in rather a careless way to the young man running the "lift," "How do you like the way this man Roosevelt is running things over at the White house?"

He must have thought that there was something in my tone, or in the question, or in the way I said it, that left the impression of doubt about President Roosevelt being more than 100 percent all right.

Did he resent it! He flashed a look on me, first questioning, then vigorously defensive of the man, who is, apparently his idol, and said, "I think he's doing fine. Don't you?" There was a challenge in that question. Of course I told him I felt the same way about it. This young man reflects what I believe is the overwhelming sentiment everywhere, and from all quarters of the U.S., I sense that the great run of the people, Republicans as well as Democrats—everyone, it seem like except the communists and the die hard opposing partisans—feel the same way. President Roosevelt, to them is right, thru and thru, and they want him to have his own way, because they believe in him.

I have never seen anything like it in all my political experience, and I wonder why it is. Of course the settings were just right for him. The other man had made an abject failure, and everybody so recognized it—nearly everybody. This man seems to be fired with the enthusiasm of youth and with the inspiration of the crusader. He is an adept politician, knows how to appeal to the people, is an expert showman, is able and honest, and above all, his sympathies are with the people and he can make this stand out all over him. He keeps Congress on the move, and keeps the people guessing as to what he will do next. He is decisive and full of courage.—W. D. Jamieson.

Chas. Hubby was in from the ranch this week and dropped a nice little green piece of paper on our palm. Thank!

A USEFUL LESSON

Note the change in the Miller & Gore ad this week. They are no longer asking you to prepare for winter.

E. R. Woodridge has moved to the Tokio section, where he will make a crop.

Lense Price was in from the farm one day last week, and called on the Herald.

One of the most useful services rendered by the national bank holiday was the resultant public education about the relative places which currency and credit occupy in the economic life of any community.

How a relatively small amount of cash is pyramided through credit agencies into a volume of working capital large enough to transact the every day business of the community could not have been better illustrated. It was dramatically, and in some cases painfully proved to us that we cannot do business on a currency basis—not even if the present supply of currency was multiplied many times by inflation or otherwise. We must have credit, and to have credit there must be confidence.

It is for that reason that the outlook is more encouraging, because of the hiatus in banking. Confidence has been restored. We have had a salutary lesson in what happens to us when depositors and bankers both freeze on to their cash. From now on the way to full business recovery should be much less difficult.—Dallas News.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner Hayhurst of Plains, attended the movie show here Monday night.

Local merchants report a fair business here Saturday, but not so good as the Saturday before.

The Texas Light and Press Association

The Texas Light and Power Company held a mid-winter meeting of the Texas Press Association at Austin last month.

For the reason that much legislation of a seriously regulatory nature has been offered in both houses, the meeting was most appropriately timed. However, it is rumored about the State House that the light and power interests are not greatly worried. It seems they harbor the illusion they have a great many "outs."

First, they doubt that any adverse legislation will pass over the protests of the newspaper organization. Second, should any such legislation pass they anticipate that it will meet with a Ferguson veto. Third, should both of these "outs" fail them, they employ a multitude of lawyers eager to attack the constitutionality of adverse measures.

It occurs to us, however, that in these three cases the power interests reckon upon false premises. For instance, the Press Association is composed of a body of independent thinkers who will not follow blindly the dictates of the power-control Dallas and Austin offices of their association. Second, a new Jim Ferguson is established on Capitol Hill; he is determined to give the people an administration that will remove permanently the shadow of doubt that invariably cloud a Ferguson regime. And, finally, a new legal philosophy threatens to tear loose the grip in which entrenched interests here to fore have held the body politic.

In all probability, both the power industry and the Press Association will suffer for the unholy alliance so brazenly exhibited to Texas people and Texas editors.—Texas Opinion.

SAYS HER HUSBAND LOST 16 POUNDS IN 4 WEEKS

"I have never found a medicine that 'peps' you up like Kruschen Salts and better still, leaves you 'pepped up.' I take it two or three times a week—not to reduce but merely to feel good and clean. My husband took it to reduce, he lost 16 pounds in 4 weeks." Mrs. E. A. Ferris, Washington D. C. (December 29, 1932).

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

Taken from the Herald of April 16, 1910.

Taken from our issue of April 16, 1910, we find the following items in the Meadow Letter: A fine rain was reported in that section, and their hand man, Mr. W. G. Howard was agitating the planting of much cotton. Mesdames Gist, Howard and Whitley were shopping in Meadow. Mrs. J. W. Peeler was attending the bedside of a sick daughter in Eastland county. Mr. Long had returned from the Panhandle Cattlemen's convention at Amarillo. Miss Pearl Evans was visiting relatives in Lubbock. Miss Nannie Campbell was also visiting in Lubbock. Miss Ethel Stroud of Amarillo, was visiting Miss Hattie Robinson on the ranch near Meadow.

On the second page the Herald was complimenting the communities of Terry county for the erection of such nice school houses. The hardy pioneers here then had a good school spirit. We also told of a trip that consumed almost three days and two nights to the Ed Neill bonus in west Yoakum county. We were on a deal to trade the Herald for the bonus. But it looked too lonesome to us over there. A good rain had fallen that had covered most of the county, and planting operations were to be started.

DEATH: The Gomez Review was no more. It had been suspended the week before and the presses and type had passed through Brownfield on their way back to Dallas, together with Editor W. T. Richardson and family. We had learned to like our competitor fine, but there simply was not enough business in Terry for two papers. We have had to chronicle the death of three or four competitors in Meadow. But the Herald, oldest business institution in the county has somehow survived even Hoover Prosperity this far.

Fine rains were reported in the Pleasant Valley community. There was to be two sermons and dinner on the ground out there the 4th Sunday. The new school house had been completed. Mrs. Rushing of Big Spring had been visiting her sister, Mrs. John Burnett. L. L. Forrester was attending Federal court at Abilene, and Miss Vera Scott had come in to stay with his wife and her mother while he was away. (This Miss Scott is now the wife of Tom F. Hunter, who made the race for governor last year.—Ed.) J. W. Black and daughter, Ola, were visiting in Stanton. Elmer Spurgeon had returned to the community after an extended absence. Redge Burnett had attended the cattlemen's convention at Amarillo. Bro. Trammell had filled the pulpit at Pultight the Sunday before.

On the third page: Mat McPherson was over from Gomez. Some $20 and a lot of blue and red ribbons were to be awarded to farmers in a stock show here on our first Trade Day. Not bad for a village of 300 people. Atty's Spencer & Spencer and G. E. Lockhart, had legal business in Lubbock. Uncle Tom DeShazo of Gomez, was over on business. The Mercantile was putting on a delivery wagon. Will Moore was erecting a nice residence three miles west of town. R. R. Hughes was on the sick list. Dr. Griffin and Mr. Biggestaff, of Gomez, were over. Judge Neill and G. A. Pyron were Midland visitors. A crowd from here took in the commencement exercises at Gomez. E. L. Duke had begun taking the Federal census in west Terry. Messrs. Martindale and Geo. Bragg of Gomez, were here.

Joe Lane was having the Herald sent to his father at Cisco. G. F. Higbee had opened a notary office. (Mr. Higbee later became the first postmaster of Slaton.—Ed.) Rev. P. E. Riley had written W. A. Bell of the arrival of a little daughter at their home. Lonnie Alexander was given a birthday party. L. L. Shook went to Loop for cottonseed. Rev. Trammell had gone to the north plains presumably after the future Mrs. Trammell. M. V. Brownfield and J. F. Winston were Plains visitors. M. D. Williams had gone to Big Spring to purchase a car. F. Hefferman had purchased 35 good mules in Terry county, and carried them to Big Spring. Mr. Greenhill of the Greenhill Bros. Grocery, at Lubbock, was a visitor here. Some Lubbock ladies were to give a musical recital at the Baptist church here.

M. V. Brownfield was preparing to build a new residence on the block west of the Merc. Judge Copeland showed us some mighty fine cabbage in his garden. Gomez defeated us in the opening ball game of the season by a score of 14 to 8. All for this week.

Mrs. G. G. Gore was in Saturday and called to renew. We asked why we never saw the "old he" anymore. She reports that he is feeding about 500 head of hogs which keeps him just about busy.

A. C. Holcombe of the Gomez community, was in Tuesday after supplies.

Editor Nyles Morris of the Tatum, (N. M.) Courier, was a business visitor to our city, Tuesday.

The rose was chosen as the flower. The motto: "Climb the ladder of success, tread the road to happiness." The song has not been decided on.

REGULATE THE EXCHANGES IF YOU DO THE FARMER

Washington, March.—If the government is going to control the business of the farmer it should also control the exchanges which allow speculation in his products, in the opinion of Senator Tom Conally of Texas, who has announced his intention of introducing amendment providing for this control to the Roosevelt-Wallace farm relief plan when it comes up in the Senate soon.

For many years Senator Conally has worked for a Federal check on the activities of cotton exchanges, believing that the farmer can be aided by curbing the speculators. He has introduced similar proposals in Congress before, but they have never been adopted.

I recent days he has been working on an amendment to the farm relief bill which would allow the Secretary of Agriculture to regulate the cotton speculators in the interest of the cotton grower, and it is expected that he will offer it in the Senate shortly.
