

Explanation of Tickets For the Election

The voters who will participate in the election Saturday, August 26th will be presented with three tickets, and all of them are easy to vote if given just a little thought, but in as much as the voter will not have the opportunity to get to look at these tickets until he or she gets to the voting place, this writer will attempt to give an explanation of just how the tickets should be handled.

The large ticket which is about six inches wide and about twenty inches in length covers the issue of the repeal of the 18th amendment and nothing else. The only explanation is that if you wish to repeal the amendment run a line from top to bottom through all the names appearing in the column on the right of the ticket. If you wish to keep the 18th amendment just as it is run a line through the names appearing on the left of the ticket from the top of names to bottom of names, and that is all there is to that ticket.

The next largest ticket has to do with the state election as to four amendments. This is almost a square ticket, and has two columns. In the left column appears for amendments and on the right column appears against the amendments. This ticket is easily understood.

The third ticket is very short and deals with the election in Terry county. This is a one column ticket and has at the top for the sale of beer in Terry county and below this against the sale of beer in Terry county.

The voter should bear in mind that if he is for the proposition the "against" must be scratched out leaving "for" undisturbed.

The three tickets are explained as follows: The long ticket represents the United States, and you vote on a Federal proposition; the second largest ticket has to do with state proposition's four amendments. The third is for Terry county only. This is almost a square ticket and has to do with Terry county only. Keep these in mind, National, State and county, three tickets.—Swiped from Abilene Times.

Call on All to Vote For the Bond Issue

The following resolution was unanimously adopted at the State-wide mass meeting held last Friday in Austin at the call of the Governor:

WHEREAS, the Federal Government has in the recent months carried the burden of caring for the hungry and destitute of Texas and is at the present time caring for in excess of one million two hundred seventy thousand citizens of this State; and

WHEREAS, the Federal Government cannot, will not, and should not be expected to continue to carry this burden if the people of the Empire State of Texas are not willing to carry their just share of this burden, and will cease to provide the needed funds immediately in the event the people of Texas do not vote favorably for the proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of emergency and relief work bonds on August 26; and

WHEREAS, no people will survive or ought to survive who do not care for the hungry and provide for the destitute; and

WHEREAS, the emergency relief work as provided for in this proposed bond amendment is an integral part of the program of the President of the United States for the rehabilitation of this country;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that this meeting, composed of representative citizens and taxpayers from all sections of Texas, go on record as unanimously endorsing the proposed relief amendment and call upon all good citizens who have faith in this State and a Christian regard for their duty to care for the needy and destitute, to rally to the support of the constitutional amendment on August 26 to the end that Texas shall not be found wanting.

An Exact Copy of the Relief Amendment

Following is reproduced an exact copy of the principal section of Senate Resolution submitting the proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to issue relief bonds.

"Section 51a.—The Legislature shall have power to authorize by law the issuance and sale of bonds of the State of Texas, not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million ($20,000,000) Dollars, bearing interest at a rate not to exceed four and one-half (4½) per centum per annum; and payable serially or otherwise not more than ten (10) years from their date, and said bonds shall be sold for not less than par and accrued interest, and no form of commission shall be allowed in any transaction involving said bonds. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds to be used in furnishing relief and work relief to needy and distressed people and in relieving the hardships resulting from unemployment, but to be fairly distributed over the state and upon such terms and conditions as may be provided by law, and the Legislature shall make appropriations as are necessary to pay the interest and principal of such bonds as the same becomes due.

"The power hereby granted to the Legislature to issue bonds hereunder is expressly limited to the amount stated and to two years from and after the adoption of this grant of power by the people. Provided that the Legislature shall provide for the payment of the interest and redemption of any bonds issued under the terms hereof from some source other than a tax on real property, and the indebtedness as evidenced by such bonds shall never become a charge against or lien upon any property, real or personal, within this state."

Vice-President Garner Urges Repeal Vote

"Because it violates a fundamental principle of government and has not produced a satisfactory or effective solution of the temperance problem," Vice President John N. Garner calls upon the people of Texas to vote for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

The Vice President's plea was contained in a letter addressed to Roy Miller, Texas Director of the Democratic National Campaign, and released from Austin headquarters on the 17th. He did not state his views or how he would vote on legalizing 3.2 beer.

Buy "Blue Eagle" Goods Johnson Tells Women

By General Hugh S. Johnson National Recovery Administrator

Washington.—Since the inauguration of the President's emergency employment campaign, the statement has been made many times: "This is a real war in which we are engaged." Possibly many persons may have felt that such statements merely were the outbursts of well-intentioned but rather over-emphasized emotion. There are no soldiers marching along our streets, no bands are playing martial airs to encourage the enlistment of recruits, no lists of casualties are coming in from the front, no foreign foe is seeking to land an invading force upon our shores. Yet, the fact remains that we are at war with an enemy that has invaded our shores and reduced one third of our population to destitution, thereby causing, perhaps, as great a sum total of suffering as any war in which this nation ever engaged.

And it is in this spirit that the people of America should view the present situation. For the first time, our forces have been drawn up against our enemy and the Nation is now moving to the attack with a solidarity that is so typical of our country when it is confronted by a great crisis.

This is a peculiar war, and because of its peculiarity—its dissimilarity from anything that ever has been witnessed in any country at any time before—the women of the land can play really a more important part than would be the case if we were sending the boys "Over There."

Our objective in this war is the re-employment of 6,000,000 persons before winter, in addition to widespread increases in wages. With this objective reached, we shall have broken the back of the depression. Of this I am sure.

Now, this enormous addition to the mass buying power of our people through reemployment and higher wages will, as one can quite readily see, place large additional burdens on the employers of labor. Therefore, the great mass of Americans must rally to the support of these loyal employers who have signed the President's agreement and supply the compensating patronage and support. You can tell who these employers are by the Blue Eagle which they will display in their establishments.

The women of America control a major amount of the buying power of the country. Have heard it quoted as high as 80 per cent. The women of the nation have it within their power to throw the business of the nation into the hands of Blue Eagle firms.

Many of these merchants have gone into the campaign feeling that their profits will be tremendously curtailed for a while—possibly wiped out entirely—but it is the price they are willing to pay to restore national prosperity. We are in duty bound to support and protect them. We must not go through another winter such as the last three have been.

It is impossible to over emphasize to the Nation the great seriousness of our situation, and the tremendous responsibility that rests upon them at this time. We, in Washington, who are working in this drive against unemployment, are counting on them to back us up loyally and vigorously. The watchword is "look for the Blue Eagle." Buy at Blue Eagle establishments. Buy Blue Eagle merchandise. And buy just as liberally as your purses will permit.

If the women of America will follow these simple suggestions we will be well out of this depression within the next few weeks.

Two-Day Agricultural Meet at Plainview

Plainview, Aug. 21.—An invitation is extended to the citizenship of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma and particularly the actual farmers to a two day agricultural conference that will be held in Plainview, Texas, August 30-31 ending the second day with a recognition demonstration to Congressman Marvin Jones, Chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the lower house of Congress, for the services he rendered in the enactment of agricultural legislation at the recent special session of Congress.

Prominent men of the State and National Departments of Agriculture as well as the governors of the three states, presidents of agricultural colleges have been asked to be on hand and address the audiences. Included in this will be grain and cotton men from all over the nation.

Some Reasons Why Texas is In the Red

The Herald recently received a report of the Senate Investigating Committee of the 42nd Texas Legislature, and we only wish that every citizen not only of Terry county, but of Texas, has access to a copy. The committee was composed of Senators Carl C. Hardin, George C. Pearl, J. W. E. H. Beck, Joe M. Moore and Tom DeBerry. They made a thorough investigation that contained 96 pages. They highly complimented the present State Auditor, State Comptroller and Attorney General's departments for the assistance rendered in the investigation. Many former state and county officials in Texas should be sent to the pen, but have escaped on statute of limitation. We will give just a few cases of gross irregularities:

The sheriff of one county drew on and got $11,111.05 from a former comptroller and state treasurer, which was just ten thousand dollars more than was due to him. Just how such bills got by these officials that have the custody of the people's money, is a mystery to the investigating committee. This sheriff escaped on limitation of law. Other sheriffs have embezzled the state on mileage, charging in some instances for 400 miles when the state highway map showed only 101 miles. All mileage bills from this on will be paid according to highway map mileage. But some sheriffs beat that even. They made one trip to two or three county seats for prisoners, but charged mileage as if they made separate trips. Some made charges for transfers from city to county jails, when the police did that themselves.

One of the most glaring and costly of our court workings is an example on page 48, wherein a prisoner was indicted for robbery in five different counties, and some had as high as three cases in one of these counties. A total of eight cases. The prisoner was given a total of 308 years and 2 life sentences. Either one of the life sentences would have done the work and saved the State thousands of dollars. But the fee gaffer seems to be with us always. Then followed page after page of appeals and reversals in these cases costing tens of thousands of other dollars.

In a certain other county, officials collected at one setting of district court the sum of $9,152.15 in fees alone and a total of 263 cases of felony dismissed by the court, headed by 222 liquor cases. The committee found that in a number of counties the Constable and Justice of the Peace have "rackets" of their own to prey upon the travelling public. Strangers are arrested on a minor infraction of the highway law, witnesses are charged when none are summoned; bonding, charge, when none was made; trial fees when none was had; county attorney's fee, when he was miles away, until $17.50 in fees was extracted from the unfortunate tourist. Of course they never go back there to contest, but pay off and are on their way.

Then there is the usual multiplicity of habeas corpus hearings around some court houses. The committee called in witnesses from some of these county seats. These witnesses frankly admitted that "it was the general understanding around the court house that these hearings were held to get fees for the county attorney. State Auditor, Moore Lynn was sued by one sheriff because he held up a payment of $2100 when the state only owed him $472. A Supreme Court Ruling held that just because a District Judge merely approved an account with his signature as a special act in order that it be presented to the Comptroller for payment, and the Comptroller has the right to investigate whether the bill is just or not. It is said that this ruling has saved the state a million dollars in the past 18 months.

Last, even some of the court reporters have been "padding" their accounts against the state and counties. One case was cited where a court reporter drew $125 for a blanket warrant, when he was only entitled to $25 by actual count of words. Even grand juries have been guilty of "padding" in some cases, and the investigating committee recommended to District Judges that no person serve on grand juries or grand jury commissions more than once in every two years.

The investigating committee also recommended that many of the district Courts be redistricted. Some of them were created when there was an oil boom in that section, and now that conditions have settled down to normal, some of these courts are not needed at all. We could go on and fill the Herald with other questionable schemes of county officials to get fees. But these are enough. But the investigating committee

Terry County Should Vote For the Bond Issue

Many of the best citizens of the town until right recently have been opposed to the Twenty Million bond issue, but there has been many changes in that viewpoint recently, and especially those who have taken the opportunity to visit sections of Terry county that have not a blade of anything growing. Some of these citizens have never before voted for a bond issue for any purpose, and have said that they never would vote for a state bond issue. But many of them have recently changed their minds. Wise men often do that. Two years ago, the Herald fought the big proposed state bond issue for road purposes for all it was worth, and we are glad of it. But money raised that way or any other way to feed people that are hungry and starving is another and altogether different proposition.

This issue contains several good articles on the reason that it should be voted, and we will not go into details on that part, but ask that you carefully and prayerfully read them. At the bottom of Mr. Strauss' article, get your pencil and see if you can figure out how Terry county people who are already burdened and many have short crops, are going to put up $12,- in the next twelve months to feed her hungry. But we can and will pay our part of a bond issue spread out over ten years, and too, remember that no part of your personal property or homestead will ever be taxed to pay this bond issue. It will be paid by other means.

Some have stated that they do not like the "setup" that is proposed to distribute these funds. We don't know at this time what the "setup" will be or who will handle it, but like all great public funds, there may be a few thousand dollars grafted from it in the long run, but this will not ease our conscience when people are half starving and naked in our midst. We know those that need it will get most of these funds.

Some say, let the federal government go on with this work. Well, in time this fountain will fail, and Texas has been warned that unless it prepares to help in the matter, it will fail pretty soon. Uncle Sam proposes to help those who help themselves. Terry county people should be the last people in Texas to vote against the bond issue.

Last but not least, it has come to the Herald that several farmers in the fortunate section of his county, are opposing the bond issue. In some cases, they have already or will receive several hundred dollars from Uncle Sam for cotton plowed up. They have good feed crops, and will make a lot more cotton. Now, they are unwilling to be the means of helping fellow farmers in their own county who do not have a stalk of anything growing. Is this good sportsmanship? Is this good citizenship?

In conclusion, let us say this: If the farmers in the drouth stricken sections of this county are left to root-hog-or-die, they may go to the productive portions and ask for a helping of corn—or what have you—and if they don't get it, they may take it anyway. When people are hungry, they have no reason. Vote for the bond issue.

Road Association Urge Good Roads Projects

The South Plains Good Roads Association has addressed the following open letter to newspapers and other interested people:

Without question, many, many of the projects that the towns and counties of west Texas have been hoping to get under the Public Works Administration will not be eligible for government aid. This is not due in any manner to the fault of the administration, because all to many of us have not understood the purposes and requirements of the Public Works Act. The purpose of this act is to put just as many men to work just as quickly as possible on projects that are actually needed. One of the requirements is that the loan for any project must be repaid.

Very, very few of the projects that have been talked about, hoped and wished for, can qualify under all of these conditions. Most of those that can qualify would not be self-liquidating, therefore, the credit (bonds or warrants) for our towns and our counties would have to be issued to secure loans from the Public Works Administration. Many of our towns and counties are not able to increase their indebtedness. Very few of our towns and counties wish to increase their indebtedness. Therefore very few Public Works loans are going to be made.

But—there is a lot of unemployment in Texas—the Public Works Act is intended to help relieve unemployment—there is one improvement that all Texas, every county, every town needs—an improvement that can be started quickly and that will put more men to work than any other project per dollar expended—and that is roads.

If Texas is going to obtain her share of the Public Works money in proportion to the number of unemployed, we should be able to get 75 to 100 million dollars more for roads and still have something like 100 million for those worthy local Public Works projects that can qualify under the act. We believe by concerted effort we can obtain 75 to 100 million dollars additional Public Works funds for roads in Texas. We started the movement that resulted in the 400 million dollars being allocated to roads in the Public Works bill originally.

Therefore all communities in west Texas are requested to have a delegate at a meeting at the Municipal auditorium at ten A. M. (today) Friday August 25th to start a movement to secure from 75 to 100 million dollars of additional funds to relieve the unemployment situation and to complete the road system in Texas.

Prohibition As a Young Editor Sees It

On August 26 the people of Texas and Dickens County, will have an opportunity to show their willingness to co-operate with President Roosevelt in his unstinted and untiring effort to place the government of this nation on a "payin" basis and to bring livable conditions back to its people.

Regardless of arguments to the contrary this "Noble Experiment" as it was called by President Hoover has been a real factor in the near bankrupt of the American tax payer. The loss of revenue on beer and hard liquor has been only a minor factor in the billions of dollars that this paternalistic movement has cost Mr. American.

The federal government has spent millions in enforcement and admittedly has found its efforts to have been a failure not only in enforcement but in promotion of temperance which every decent citizen desires.

The big expense, however, has been in court costs in every village, hamlet, town, and city in these forty-eight states and this expense has been beyond estimation.

Drawing the matter down home: A hip-pocket bootlegger is picked up by our local officers (and being above bribery, coercion or other methods used in cities, they have caught every one they could—and they have arrested several in the last year—the matter comes to court). Fifty men are selected to pick a grand jury at an expense of $150.00. Twelve men are selected to spend $36.00 per day finding an indictment. Fifty more are summoned to select a jury for trial—another $150.00. Court is called and we find that the defendant has summoned witnesses from distant parts of the State to whom the State is forced to pay mileage and so much per day during trial. The defendant is found guilty but on the absence of an important witness or a technicality and which the higher courts will affirm" a new trial is granted—more court procedure at more expense. The defendant finally has to go to the pen—and quite a number have gone from here—and it costs the state around $600.00 to keep him there for a year and a day. Another lad tempted by the lure of a few extra dollars in selling liquor takes his place—and things grind on.

The editor of this newspaper is a young man and knows little about conditions before prohibition but we do know that there is little difficulty at the present in getting a gallon of extra potent intoxicant at $4 per gallon and that our 14 year old brother can do the same thing and our sister as far as that goes. We are unalterably opposed to prohibition—and, confidentially, it is not because we would like to buy a drink.—Texas Spur.

Rudolph Moorehead was through this week on his way to Odessa to meet Harry Tom King of Abilene, to try to get some special funds for the drouth stricken people in the Meadow section.

We drove out in the Harmony section Tuesday afternoon and on north about three miles, thence east to the Brownfield-Levelland road, thence south home. If one will just drive out in this section and then vote against the relief bonds, we don't know where his heart is.

South Plains Fair From October 2 to 7th

Lubbock, Aug. 21.—Definite plans for the twentieth annual Panhandle South Plains Fair, to be held here Oct. 2 to 7, inclusive, are going forward rapidly since the election of new officers for the year with R. C. "Dick" Smith at the helm as the new president.

Smith succeeds W. G. McMillian as president and will have as co-workers Geo. A. Simmons and S. E. Cone, vice presidents, Tom Gaston, treasurer, and A. B. Davis, manager. Three new directors elected for a term of three years on the fair board are: Parker Prouty, Tom Gaston and Alex McDonald. Besides the officers and new directors, other directors are: E. L. Klett, Don L. Jones and I. E. Barr.

The John T. Wortham Shows with 12 riding devices, 40 stellar attractions, 25 railroad cars and 350 people will play the midway. Other attractions are being booked for the amusement end of the exposition.

"Bigger and Better," the fair's theme from year to year, will again be the driving motive back of the exposition. Many improvements have been made each succeeding year since the first little showing was grouped together in a vacant shack twenty years ago.

Exhibits from all over the Plains and adjoining territory are invited by the directors who wish to make the exposition truly the "Show Window of the Plains."

Cattlemen May Ask Uncle Sam's Help

Denver, Aug. 14.—Uncle Sam's agricultural department is the place the livestock industry must go to solve its problems, in the opinion of most of the cattle kings at the livestock conference in progress here.

"I don't believe many Texas cattlemen, until I came to this meeting, favored attempting to work out a marketing agreement with the meat processors," said J. M. Reynolds, of Fort Worth.

Strive For Agreement "However," he said, "those I've talked to here believe the cattlemen will have to strive for such an agreement if they are to reap any of the 'new deal's' rewards."

Suggestions that the livestock men send a committee to Washington for a conference with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, who called the conference here, and a committee representing meat packers, was made today by Victory Christgau, representing Secretary Wallace at the parley.

summed up their work with the recommendation that all fees be cut out except in case of county surveyors, weighers and a few other minor offices, and that all other offices be put on a straight salary. If any should wish to borrow this report, the Herald will gladly lend it.

Read the First Issue—Has Never Missed One

We had a letter last week from our friend, Mrs. L. T. Brooks, formerly of Gomez, ordering a change in her address from Socorro, N. M., back to her ranch near Scholle, N.M. The letter follows:

I am moving back to my ranch home today. West New Mexico has had weekly, sometimes daily rains since the middle of May. Crops are excellent, grass fine, stock of all kinds fat. The fruit was all killed by a late freeze, but there is no reason for hard times and howling. The fault lies with the people who "howl" for they spend every dollar they can get for gasoline and auto supplies and spend their time riding instead of working, and so many outsiders have come in with the same idea, "live easy and either beg or steal a living" that the population here in the valley is almost doubled, and when winter comes and the present bountiful crop is exhausted, I look for sure enough hard times.

My ranch home in the mountains is 55 miles northeast of here (Socorro), and after three years of city life here, I will enjoy the change, and the Herald will be doubly welcome. My subscription to a Terry county paper begin with the first issue of the Terry County Voice (the predecessor of the Herald) in Feb. before the county was organized in June 1904; have not missed an issue of the Terry county paper in all that time that has past. So now be sure to send the Herald to Scholle, for I do not intend to ever let my subscription expire. Best wishes to you from your friend.

Hog Tax to Be Put Into Effect by October 1st

Washington, Aug. 15.—Secretary Wallace said today that a nominal processing tax may be levied on hogs on or after October 1 to provide funds for financing the emergency hog reduction program now being worked out by his aides.

Under no consideration he said, will a processing tax on swine be levied before the beginning of the hog marketing year which he added is generally recognized as being October 1.

To Determine Levy A tax on about one-half cent per pound of live hog would provide sufficient funds for the emergency program, he said reckoning the maximum gross cost of the program at about $50,000,000. However, he added, this may not be the rate of the initial levy. He said it had been left for later determination.

Several details remained to be worked out before the program presented by organized corn and hog farmers can be put into effect, Wallace said. This program contemplates the payment of a bonus of about $4 to farmers for marketing a million sows soon to farrow and 4,000,000 pigs under 100 pounds by October 1.

No, sister, the repeal of the 18th amendment will not bring back hard liquor to Texas. We have to even vote light beer back by a constitutional amendment. No, the Dean liquor laws will still be in effect.

The Herald believes that the drunk should be punished more than he is today. If it were possible to put him on a rockpile a week for his drunks, instead of a nice bed in jail, it would have a real "sobering" effect on him.

One great trouble with the enforcement of our laws is that it is too easy to get a pardon, once they are behind the bars. The road to the pen is too long with too many loopholes and delays.

until they are tired of it. British police do not bother about what their people eat or drink.

We are going to vote for the repeal of the 18th amendment, not so much because it is a Democratic platform demand, but because we believe the liquor business should be given back to the states for control where it belongs.

Well, this is the last issue before the battle of ballots, and the Herald feels that it should tell all its readers how to vote. We want you to vote just like we do—as you please—but giving due thought to the consequence of your vote in years to come.

We are going to vote for beer in the State and in Terry county for the reason that we believe that it will make for true temperance. We believe that this light beer or wine with just enough alcoholic content to give it a pleasing zest and healthful, will be far better for our people than bustkull whiskey, extracts, jake, patent medicines, home brew—or what have you.

Uncle Dee, as he was often called, came here about 8 or 9 years ago with his family from Ardmore, and has made us a real citizen. He always had a smiling welcome for all, and if he had a fault it was because he was too generous. From childhood to the aged, all loved and respected Uncle Dee, and he will be greatly missed.

He was born in Texas, but his parents moved to Oklahoma when he was a boy. He volunteered his services to Uncle Sam during the Spanish-American war and saw service through it and the Philippine insurrection, and followed the army life for several years afterward.

Following funeral services at the family residence Wednesday morning, the body was shipped to Ardmore. Preparation of the body and funeral arrangements here were in charge of Roy Collier of the Brownfield Hardware Undertaking Co.

He leaves a wife and three children, Mrs. J. A. King, of Vernon, Mrs. Elwood Tiernan and Bert of this city and other relatives in Oklahoma to mourn his passing.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking our good friends and neighbors for their help and words of sympathy during the illness and death of our darling baby. Also, to the many who sent floral offerings. We shall never forget you, and pray God's richest blessings on each of you.

Sam Murphy, wife and children.

Cotton bags are now used as containers for more than 500 commodities with hundreds of millions required annually. One of the largest outlets is for sugar bags, while 12,000,000 bags were used for potatoes.

Dear Friends: Twelve more days will bring us to a very important date, Aug. the twenty sixth, when the voters of Texas are to decide several important questions. Has each and every one who will record his answer to these questions studied just how we will be affected by an affirmative vote on these issues?

Doubtless the twenty million dollar Amendment to our constitution is of far more importance to the average individual than any of the other issues. Our State is faced with the proposition as to whether or not our people are willing to do its part in providing work and food for the great army of unemployed throughout the Commonwealth or leave it outside the Federal Government or to the Red Cross and such charity organizations of the cities and towns that are prepared to meet the wants of the million and half who will be idle and unable to help themselves.

Personally, I have all my life as a taxpayer fought bond issues of all kinds, have voted against all amendments to our Constitution, except the Confederate Amendment and the Amendment allowing Homesteads to be exempt up to three thousand dollars. I had not thought that I could support the Twenty Million dollar amendment until recently. It has dawned on me that it would be a tragedy not to support in that our state will be able to do its part whatever it may be in bringing about the revival of trade and work for all who are willing to accept whatever wages it will be possible for employers to give in the upward climb to prosperity or a living wage.

I therefore urge all taxpayers of our county to vote and work for this Amendment. Personally, I don't know just how I shall be able to pay the three hundred dollars in taxes that I am sure will be assessed against me, but I am willing to suffer along with the balance of my fellow countrymen in the effort to bring about better times.

I feel sure that our State will join the other states who have expressed themselves on abolition of the Eighteenth Amendment and whether we adopt the 3.2 beer or not, we will have gotten rid of the most miserable piece of legislation ever enacted by any government since Christ turned the water into wine at the memorable Wedding Feast in Cana of Galilee.

The spectacle of an aged and honored U. S. Senator going about the State defending the reign of Terror since 1918 is indeed sad. In view of his position to know the truth—and does know the truth and yet doing what he can to mislead the people is a puzzle indeed. He doubtless knows that another will fill his place when his present term expires and so prefers to die along with his clientele of nearly two decades ago.

Abolishing the Eighteenth Amendment will not put more whiskey in the country, will not make it any harder or any easier to get—for there is an abundance to be had in nearly every city, town and hamlet throughout the length and breadth of our country.

The question is neither moral, religious or irreligious, but purely an economic question. We have all the whiskey we can use and plenty to spare. The Bootlegger is reaping the money spent for it and giving us the worst lesson in banditry ever experienced in this or any other country.

Why not help end this miserable state of affairs and collect the taxes to pay our coming obligations to the State and Nation. On the other hand it will go far to end the orgy of murder, hi-jacking and kidnapping.

As an honest man and citizen, go to the polls on the twenty sixth and help wipe this damnable law from the statutes of our National and State governments.

It is really amusing that writers in the daily papers fly to the Bible to uphold Prohibition. As a matter of fact, outside of a few passages enjoining temperance in all things, the exhortations with reference to the use of wine, which was the drink of Bible and New Testament days, is drink it from Exodus 22—29 to Timothy 5-23 where Paul exhorts his friend to quit drinking water and use a little wine for his stomach's sake. If Christ was a prohibitionist, he utterly failed by precept and example to leave a positive record to that effect.

This is, of course, thrashing old straw and will not influence any one who has sense enough to stay out of the fire, or go to the polls and vote.

Be a man or sure enough woman, free from religious entanglements. Give your country the benefit of the doubt. To hell with the pseudo element that would sacrifice the human element of liberty of conscience and the privilege of being a citizen indeed.—Aesculapias.

YOU CAN'T WIN

Federal, State and county officials co-operated in the successful coup that landed a dangerous group of criminals behind bars Monday. The Federal forces go most of the credit for the capture. It will probably solve the Urschel kidnaping and the Kansas City machine gun slaughter. For the second time in two national instances Texas finds itself with the unwelcome credit of harboring the criminals in kidnap cases.

That fact, as well as the efficiency of the attack on the farm house near Paradise, in Wise County, that resulted in the jailing of the notorious Harvey Bailey, bears out the belief that only strong Federal police authority can stamp out crime in the United States. State lines mean nothing to the criminal until he is captured; then he seeks to make them a technical aid in his fight to escape trial and conviction. Again, where dangerous criminals, known killers halting at nothing, make small community centers their rendezvous, local suspicion is fearful of inviting reprisal in any attempt to bring on investigation. The Federal authority has no such qualms.

Behind this arrest, with its strong evidence that at least some of those taken can be brought to book for two atrocious crimes, looms the shadow of the law moving to clear its record. Walter McGhee is under sentence of death for one kidnaping case. A twenty-year sentence has been meted out in another and charges are pressed in others. The law sometimes moves slowly but the fear of the noose hangs over every offender. Harvey Bailey and Walter McGhee must realize the truth of New York's sage advice to its own criminals—"You can't win!"—Dallas News.

Will Show Utility Livestock at the Fair

Dallas, Texas, Aug.—No "carnival herd" of livestock are wanted at the 1933 State Fair of Texas, but instead a utility class of fine livestock which are needed on Texas farms will be sought, it has been announced here by A. L. Ward, general superintendent of the department, who explained that "carnival herds," are those bred for show purposes only.

Mr. Ward predicted the largest livestock show at the 1933 State Fair ever held in the entire south. He pointed out that in keeping cotton production down, the average farmer would have to turn to livestock to replace cotton with feed, and that the breeders of utility animals knowing this, would send their best quality livestock to the exposition to show instead of the "carnival herds."

Those animals which have been bred to bring a profit to the farmer will be the kind shown at the 1933 State Fair of Texas. In beef cattle classes types that can utilize feeds and produce a quality carcass will be shown, while in dairy cattle divisions those animals that have been bred to produce the largest amounts of butter fat will be especially emphasized to visitors at the 1933 exposition.

Visitors will also be shown the particular type of sheep and hogs which prosper and will bring a profit to Texas farms.

"We have planned our entire livestock show," Mr. Ward said "with a view of helping the farmers of Texas replace his cotton acres with feed-stuffs which can be fed to Texas bred livestock and bring a profit to the farms of this state. This is the only means Texas farmers have of holding down the cotton acreage of the state and still realize a profit equal to that of cotton in its best years."

THE FAILING FOUNTAIN

Some critics of the $20,000,000 relief bond issue on which Texas will vote Aug. 26 object to what is described as Federal threat to coerce the State into sharing the cost of supplying its needy. That is one fault of even a necessary national dole. The community, relieved by the Government of meeting the full cost of relief, falls easily into the comforting thought that this is someone else's job. Certainly it is not a national responsibility and only the unprecedented unemployment figures of the last two years brought the congressional appropriations on which Texas, like other States, has been relying for many months. But, as a matter of fact, Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins has no choice other than to cut of Federal help for States that will not match relief dollars distributed from the Treasury. His fund is not inexhaustible.

The Federal relief fund totals $500,000,000. Up to Aug. 2, it had been tapped for $102,016,505. In July alone, $48,721,713 was granted. With an average of 50,000,000 per month, the entire fund would be drained in eight months. But the necessary amounts have been increasing so rapidly that Hopkins estimates the available supply would be exhausted before next winter is over without State sharing.

Texas can not care for its winter unemployed by charitable donation. The amount needed is far too great. Passage of the constitutional amendment authorizing the $20,000,000 bond issue for relief purposes is an emergency matter. It must not meet defeat.—Dallas News.

CHEVROLET We didn't actually plan on elephants when we chose the bodies for the new Chevrolet. But we did choose bodies rigid enough, and strong enough, to support six tons of elephant, or anything else you can name. . . . Fisher bodies . . . steel bodies plus a hardwood frame . . . exactly the same type of bodies used on all 12 and 16-cylinder cars. Steel alone is not enough to make you as safe and secure as we want you to be in a Chevrolet. A steel body, welded into a solid wall of protection plus resilient hardwood reinforcing to take up stress, absorb shocks and prevent the steel from following its natural tendency to buckle under pressure makes the sturdiest body of all—the kind used on the Chevrolet. and on no other low-priced car. Red Goose-The Ojibwa

An Indian Story for Boys and Girls
By Carlisle Emery

Episode No. 41.

Red Goose and Bear Cat have escaped from the Sioux, and with Little Beaver are approaching the falls in the canoe which they used in making their get-away—Now go on with the story.

The roar of the falls grew louder and louder, as Red Goose and his two companions were drawn closer and closer by the strong current.

Suddenly, the canoe stopped short and quivered on the edge of a huge rock that was sticking out of the river.

"Look out! Keep steady, everyone!" shouted Bear Cat trying to make himself heard above the noise of the rapids.

"Us paddle like pole and push canoe off," answered Red Goose, who was wondering whether or not the canoe could stand the strain.

Little Beaver sat very still, and fortunately the canoe, which was unusually sturdy and strong, slid off the rock and in no time at all plunged over the brink of the falls and shot downward so fast, Little Beaver nearly lost her breath.

But Bear Cat and Red Goose were skillful with their paddles, and together they handled their craft so beautifully, it did not upset but carried them safely to the foot of the falls and beyond into the calm water of the river.

"Whew! I've never had such a ride in my life!" said Bear Cat, as he rested a minute to get his breath. "Danger not over. Must get to Fort," was the reply. "Three canoes full of Sioux came over falls behind us."

"Little Beaver will help paddle now," said the courageous little Indian girl whose wits had made their escape possible.

"Okay—but we'll have to hustle. They're gaining on us."

Red Goose bent his back low over his paddle, and for a few moments no one spoke. Then Red Goose remarked:

"Danger over soon if Sioux not catch us before next bend in river. Ojibwa near here."

The Sioux were gaining rapidly, and began to fire shots at the canoe, hoping to put a hole in it so it would begin to take in water.

Now Red Goose and Bear Cat were putting every ounce of their strength into each paddle stroke, making the canoe almost leap through the water, and just as Bear Cat was about to give up and drop from exhaustion, they rounded the bend of the river and saw a number of Ojibwa warriors fishing by a quiet pool.

The Sioux saw them, too, and gave up the pursuit in anger and rage.

This time, Little Beaver had saved the life of Red Goose.

THE REAL ISSUE

Congressman Joseph Weldon Bailey, in his speeches on behalf of the beer amendment and ratification of prohibition repeal, refuses to permit his dry friends to pass over the fallacy which is ineradicable in all the arguments which are made for prohibition. This fallacy is the assumption that prohibition means "no liquor."

"Why talk of 'bringing back' something that has never been away?" Congressman Bailey asks. It is a pertinent question.

The issue is not whether alcoholic liquors shall be brought back. They have never been absent. The issue is simply whether the traffic shall be recognized, regulated and made to conform to ordinary commercial usages or whether it shall continue as it has persisted under prohibition—illicit, unregulated and giving rise to practices aligned with crime and the underworld.

The issue is whether the liquor traffic shall be open and above board, paying its taxes to the Government in order that other taxes may be eased, or whether it shall continue hidden and furtive, paying its tribute to the underworld and supporting an army of organized criminals such as the world has never before known.

In Texas, the issue to be voted on Aug. 26 is whether we shall have legal beer to replace the harsher liquors peddled by bootleggers and the raw and green concoctions of the home brewer.

Fifteen years ago the arguments of the professional prohibitionist confused many. The Nation was led to believe that prohibition would mean banishment of liquor and drunkenness from the land. There is no chance for such confusion today. The American people know that prohibition has not taken liquor out of the reach of anybody who wants it, and they know that it has made liquor worse and more costly, that it has increased crime and made worse instead of better the plight of dependent families of men who are not able to keep their appetites within bounds. They know that when prohibitionists talk about the banishment of liquor they are talking about something else besides prohibition, something that can exist only in the imagination which blinds itself to realities.

A victory for the beer amendment will not "bring back" anything but good beer in place of the bad beer that has burned out the stomachs of millions during prohibition.

This is the "beer issue": as to ratification of federal prohibition repeal, Texas' vote will mean nothing more than the willingness of the people of this State to discard an experiment which has proved a disastrous failure and to return to the people of each State the right to determine for themselves whether or not liquor shall be legalized in their borders, and under what conditions.—Star-Telegram.

Chamber of Commerce

—By J. E. Shelton, Secretary

Many of our people are interested in seeing the payment checks on cotton plowp come rolling in and probably by the time that this is seen in print, they will be a considerable number of deliveries, as the office force at Washington are writing them at the rate of 550,000 daily.

There seems to be some confusion as to the manner of distribution as it was first intended to mail direct to each grower, then later on, it was decided to send them to the county agents, who would in turn, have them distributed by the community committees. And now it is understood that the agent will make direct distribution and that representatives of the Regional Agricultural Corporation and Crop Production Loan Office will request that at least a part of the amounts received be applied upon the government loans. However, no matter what method of distribution is used, there will be some surplus cash floating around over the country within the next few days and all of us will be directly benefitted from it.

This office has received a supply of applications for use in loaning money with which to feed livestock and is ready to complete the forms for any farmer who is short on feed and will need to borrow money sufficient to carry his stock through the winter.

Farmers who borrow money from the Crop Production (Seed & Feed) loan and those who never borrowed from either agency will be eligible for loans, but those who borrowed from the Regional Agricultural Corporation cannot apply through this agency, but it is expected that they will be taken care of in some other way.

In looking around and figuring ways in which our farmers in the short crop territory of the county might arrange for carrying their stock through the winter, several of citizens, including the writer, who are interested in such work, decided that if we received any rain by October 1st, that this would be a mighty good time to use some of our cotton land for planting wheat pasture, and maybe, if the conditions were just right, mature us a good crop of wheat. The writer took the liberty of speaking to County Agent Reed about it, and found that he had been thinking along the same lines, so we just got busy and have put our hooks out in several directions and are trying to locate a government agency that can be induced to make us a gift of several thousand bushels of seed wheat, which of course will have to be done provided that the proposed activity is successfully concluded.

Malcom Thomason has taken up the matter of planting seed with the Relief Office at Austin; Abe Lincoln, with the Red Cross; Raymond C. Reed, with the A. & M. college, and it seems that we should get action from some of them. If we can get a good general rain between now and October 1st and can get wheat to plant on the cotton land of this county, our winter feeding problems will be solved and very little money will need to be borrowed from Government Agencies.

Commencing about next Monday, the Government will enter the market for the purchase of not less than 4,000,000 hogs, ranging from 25 to 100 pounds for shoats, and bred sows of not less than 275 pounds. Prices to be paid will be much higher than the present market, and ranging from 6 to 9 cents for the shoats and $4.00 bounty for the sows. The hogs will be assembled in the various packing houses, killed and prepared for distribution through the various charitable organizations during the coming winter.

While all other business men are subscribing to the N. R. A. campaign, we have not been able to secure complete information as to what is expected of people residing in towns of less than 2,500. And for that reason, we have not formed our county committee, nor have issued any instructions. However, when we are advised as to just what we are to do, we will then organize and undertake to conform to the regulations. In the mean time, we are just following the plan according to our understanding of it.

With regard to the hog buying proposition, about which mention was made in another portion of this article:

It is expected that sales will be handled by our county agent, Mr. Reed, and in the same manner that the cotton campaign has been. At any rate, he is in a position to furnish full information to all concerned and will be very glad to answer questions in connection with it.

We have just secured some information concerning the construction of Highway 137 through Word Price, and it sounds pretty good and looks like something is going to be done right away. It appears that he got kind of worked up and wrote Judge Ely a letter and wanted to know what the Commission was going to do about, as well as other highways and his letter of information was the results. Although Judge Ely did not say anything about No. 84, we are going to keep pecking along on it and other construction, and maybe get results on them. Bids for the construction may be called for at the next meeting of the Commission, as they have already put it to the United States Bureau of Good Roads for approval and are expecting an O. K. most any day.

HUNTER NEWS

There is no news from Hunter this week. It has been threatening to rain. Guess every one was afraid they would scare it away.

Mr. and Mrs. Doc Newton have been down at Anson, visiting Mr. Newton's folks. They are back home now.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hill and Wayne motored down from Lubbock Sunday night to bring Mr. M. W. Hill home.

Miss Nina Bell Adams returned Saturday evening. She did not stay three weeks as she had intended to.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sims returned last Tuesday. They reported a nice time, but decided not to go on to the mountains.

Can We Take Care of Terry County's Needs?

Austin, Aug. 21.—In many counties in Texas the Federal government is now spending more money every month for relief work than those counties would have to pay back in a year in paying off the relief bonds, according to William Strauss, chairman of the committee campaigning for adoption of the proposed relief bond amendment.

"It is primarily a matter of bread and meat for the hungry," said Mr. Strauss. "It is unthinkable that Texas will let its women and children go hungry. People may want to know what Texas will get for authorizing a bond issue that may go up to $20,000,000 if the legislature finds that much is needed.

"In the first place there is hardly a county in Texas that can care for its own destitute through local taxation. If the burden of taxes would fall on farms and homes and be tremendously heavy. By issuing state bonds the burden is taken off homes and farms, for the taxes to fund these bonds cannot be raised on real or personal property. If all the bonds are issued the tax per capita will not average over 41 cents a year for 10 years. Actually it probably will be some special tax that will fall heavier on city people and lighter on rural citizens.

Bringing the matter closer home, Mr. Strauss says, "In Terry County the Federal government in the past ten months has spent for relief work $12,165.02. The county has asked for $5500.00 to carry on the work during August for the benefit of 2065 persons on its relief rolls."

Many from here attended the Red & White picnic at Two-Draw lake near Post last Wednesday afternoon. Swimming, boating and a ball game was enjoyed in the afternoon, followed by a sumptuous feed spread picnic style at seven o'clock. Brownfield musical talent also lent much to the occasion.

Terry county people lost a mighty good citizen last week when W. L. Palmer and family decided to move back to Oklahoma. He has resided in Terry county several years, and Bill was always in his part in every worthy undertaking. His brother, Doc, will remain here and harvest the crop, which Bill says is a fair one.

Elder and Mrs. M. O. Daley came in last week from Florence and San Antonio, where they have been visiting for a month.

Uncle Tom Chisholm is holding a protracted meeting at the Needmore school house.

Mrs. J. L. Randal, our county treasurer, left last week in company with Chas. Randal and wife, of Seymour, for a vacation in Colorado. They will be gone about two weeks.

Great crowds are attending the Baptist meeting especially at the night services. Rev. Cole has a good flow of language, and never becomes tiresome to his audience.

Mrs. C. F. Holt and daughter, Mrs. David Perry, were pleasant callers at the Herald office Monday.

The new Gulf service station on west Main, is nearing completion. It will add much to the beauty of the business section.

Another old timer dropped in on us Wed. This was Mrs. John Houston of Los Angeles, and her husband and little daughter, whom we had never met. Mrs. Houston will be better remembered as Miss Mary Hudson, who lived with Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Hawley. Always glad to see the old timers. The Houston family had been to the World's Fair, and spent Tuesday night here on the return trip with Mr. and Mrs. Homer Winston.

Mrs. W. D. Lindville returned Sunday from Tuscola where she spent some two weeks visiting her father and other relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Powell spent Saturday and Sunday in Lubbock visiting their daughter, Mrs. Rufus Rush.

LOSING THE HOME PAPER

The Texola Tribune announces that for the past seven months the advertising has not paid the cost of production, and if conditions do not change, publication will be suspended. The past few years has been particularly hard upon small town newspapers. Merchants apparently forgot the gospel of trading at home, and bought printing of any peddler that happened along, if they thought they were saving a dime or so. And the peddler is always ready to advance arguments and make statements to influence buying.

No small town newspaper can exist upon advertising patronage alone, but must have most of the printing business of the town, and when merchants quit advertising, and buy printing of peddlers, there is nothing left to do but suspend publication. After a town loses the newspaper, there is a great stir to interest some editor to come to town; the chamber of commerce gets busy and merchants sign ad contracts, etc., when a little forethought would have kept the town from receiving a blackeye, saved a lot of expense and an experiment in adopting a stranger.

The new deal will change this situation, if merchants trade at home in the same way they expect their customers, and we may see better times for all of us. It should not be difficult for anyone to trade with the home paper when it is remembered that every cent spent with the paper, returns to the community thru the local trade channels, and better service can be given than can be secured anywhere else in the world. In most cases the price is less than the peddler charges, if investigation is made—in place of taking for granted the truth of random remarks.—McLean News.

Oscar Jones is at Tahoka a few days this week putting the West Texas Gin there in shape to run this season. It seems that Oscar is one of their mainstays on the plains in working over the gins of that company. He has worked on them at Meadow, Tahoka, Grassland, Ralls and Crosbyton this season.

We wish to thank Earl Wilson, manager of the local ice plant, for his renewal.

Clyde Bond handed in the coin last week that put his Herald up into 1934.

Rev. J. M. Hale, local Baptist pastor, filled the pulpit for Rev. Cole at Lamesa last Sunday, as the latter was in the Baptist revival here.

The Herald had a surprise call this week from two of the old timers, a man and a lady that we have seen grow from childhood, and it always does our heart good to meet them again. This time it was Geo. Welch, who left here eleven years ago for California, and his sister, Mrs. Geo. Schulz, who has been away most of the time for the past ten years. For the past year, Geo. has been in Ohio, but thinks he will be transferred back to California. His line of work is ice and cold storage.

Mount Pleasant milk plant receipts again passed the million-pound mark in July.

Elder A. L. Burnett closed a meeting for the Scudday church of Christ last Sunday night, with several additions. The first part of the meeting was badly disturbed, we understand, by a young man of the community burglarizing the store while church services were going on. The burglar was caught.

Uncle Tom Chisholm is holding a protracted meeting at the Needmore school house.

Mrs. J. L. Randal, our county treasurer, left last week in company with Chas. Randal and wife, of Seymour, for a vacation in Colorado. They will be gone about two weeks.

ADDITIONS TO THE LIBRARY

During the months of June, July and August, a number of "western" books have been added to the library. As often as funds will permit, new and additional books will be bought. This is possible by subscriptions to the library. So start right away and help the library. You will find plenty of reading matter, both entertaining and instructive. Below is a partial list of new books.

The way of a Man, Tarzan the Invincible, Macin of the Bar X Ranch, Saga of Billy the Kid, Arizona Ames, To the Last Man, Under the Tonto Rim, The Gay Bandit of the Border, Schemed at Sandy Bar, Ariel Custer, Outlaws of Eden, Rustler's Valley, The Bar 23, Hopalong Cassidy Returns, Iron Heart, Bonanza, The Big Town Roundup, Gunsight Pass, Sellwood of Sleepy Cat, Last Hope Ranch, The Raider, Mystery Range, West, State Fair, Flambeau Jim.

NOTICE

This is to notify the public that the Library will hereafter be found on the west side of the court house in the engineer's room. MRS. GLENN WEBBER HONORED

Last Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Glenn Webber was given a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Ralph Carter with Lou Ellen Brown as assistant hostess. Lenore Brownfield read: "Woman's Hates." Mrs. Wingerd gave a toast to the bride, Mrs. Roy Herod and Cathrine Royalty played accordion duets. Sandwiches and punch were served to 75 ladies. The honoree received many useful gifts, showing the popularity of this young couple.

No Deductions For Amounts Owed Gov.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Millions of dollars in benefit payments to cotton and wheat farmers for agreements to curtail their production will be freed under a policy made public today by Henry Morgenthau, jr., governor of the farm credit administration, after approval by President Roosevelt. Under it, payments will be made cotton farmers, who agreed to plow up from 25 to 50 percent of their growing crops, without requiring deductions for amounts they owe the government for seed and crop production loans.

Feed Loans Included Also would be included feed loans of the regional agricultural credit corporations which do not bear endorsements by third parties and have not been discounted by federal intermediate credit banks. Morgenthau said a similar policy will be pursued in the case of payments to be made this fall to wheat farmers for agreements to reduce their acreages planted for harvest in 1934 and 1935.

Mesdames Tharp, Self, Holmes and Knight were Lubbock visitors last Thursday.

Mr. Dee Elliott's brother from Clinton, Oklahoma, sister and niece from Oklahoma City, came Monday morning to be with Mr. Elliott who is seriously ill.

Who May Vote in Tomorrow's Election

If you have paid your poll tax the first of this year, or if you are over 60 years of age, or if you become 21 years of age before the election August 26, you are entitled to vote, according to the attorney general's department. Exemption certificates are not required of those over 60, nor those becoming of age before August 26, in towns of less than 10,000 population.

Absentee ballots may be secured from the county clerk at any time before election day.

THE FLORISTS CODE

In adopting a code of fair competition, at a recent meeting of the Dallas Florists, it was agreed that it was very unethical to solicit funeral orders, either personally, by agent or over the phone. This is called by the Florist's trade "crepe chasing," and we believe to be against sound business practice as well as unethical. We appreciate any business that might come to us voluntarily, and will try to show our appreciation by the character of service rendered.

World Carryover of U. S. Cotton Lower

New York, Aug. 15.—The New York Cotton exchange service today reported that the indicated world supply of American cotton for the current season is about 2,000,000 bales below last season, marking the first reduction from the previous year since 1929.

The service estimates the carryover in August 1 at 24,207,000 bales against 26,138,000 bales last season and commented that with efforts to reduce cotton production and increase consumption the next few seasons should see the carryover reduced to normal proportions of 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 bales.

"If world consumption of American cotton during the current season," it said, "should be no larger than last season the carryover at the end of this season would be reduced about 2,000,000 bales.

Rev. and Mrs. Tharp's daughter, Mrs. Gillispie and twin boys Tharp and Glen of Avoca visited some two weeks in the Tharp home. They returned home Sat. Mrs. Tharp accompanied them home.

HERE'S ONE GOOD WAY TO END AGONY OF NEURITIS

Newark Man Knows How and Loses 10 Pounds "Gentlemen: I used Kruschen Salts to try and get rid of Neuritis from which I had suffered for one year in my left shoulder and arm. I took a little of the salts in the morning, sometimes in my coffee, other times in water. I would also occasionally take a dose in water at night before retiring. For 3 months I used the salts and while I lost 10 pounds in weight, the pain in my shoulder HAS ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED. During the time I was taking the salts I received no other medical treatment so I am fully convinced the Kruschen Salts did the trick." C. K. Murray, Newark, N. J. Take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning—a jar lasts 4 weeks—get it from any druggist in the world—costs but a trifle.

BYRD'S SOUTH POLE SHIP THRILLS WORLD'S FAIR VISITORS WITH TALE OF ADVENTURE IN ANTARCTIC

CHICAGO, July 00.—Thrilling because of the testimony it bears to the courage of seventy-two brave men and the hardships they suffered in the name of science at the nether tip of the earth is the City of New York, now visited by thousands daily at A Century of Progress—the Chicago World's Fair.

It was this ship which carried Admiral Richard E. Byrd to the Ross ice barrier, where he established the base—Little America—whence he flew over the South Pole.

For the purposes of the Exposition, the ship has been transformed into a veritable museum of breathtaking adventure. In it are extensive displays of the actual clothing, travel equipment, navigation and communication apparatus, food and recreational facilities that were used on the historic voyage.

Relate Experiences.

Fair visitors learn from the lips of men who sailed with Byrd to Little America just what it means to live for months, even years, in a land of eternal cold, to drive "huskies" over tremendous wastes of snow and ice, to discover hundreds of thousands of square miles of territory no man has ever set eyes upon before.

Capt. Alan Innes-Taylor, relief air pilot; Charles Kessler, dog driver; Arthur Berlin, fireman; and George Tennant, cook, now on board the ship, all sailed to the land of the South Pole with Byrd. Kessler and Tennant also accompanied Admiral Byrd on his expedition to the North Pole.

The City of New York, an auxiliary barque launched at Arendahl, Norway, in 1895, is tied up at A Century of Progress lagoon dock near the Twenty-third street bridge. The first major expeditionary ship ever to enter the Great Lakes, it entered Chicago under no power but sail, its auxiliary engines having been removed because the ship drew too much water with them to admit entrance to the World's Fair lagoon.

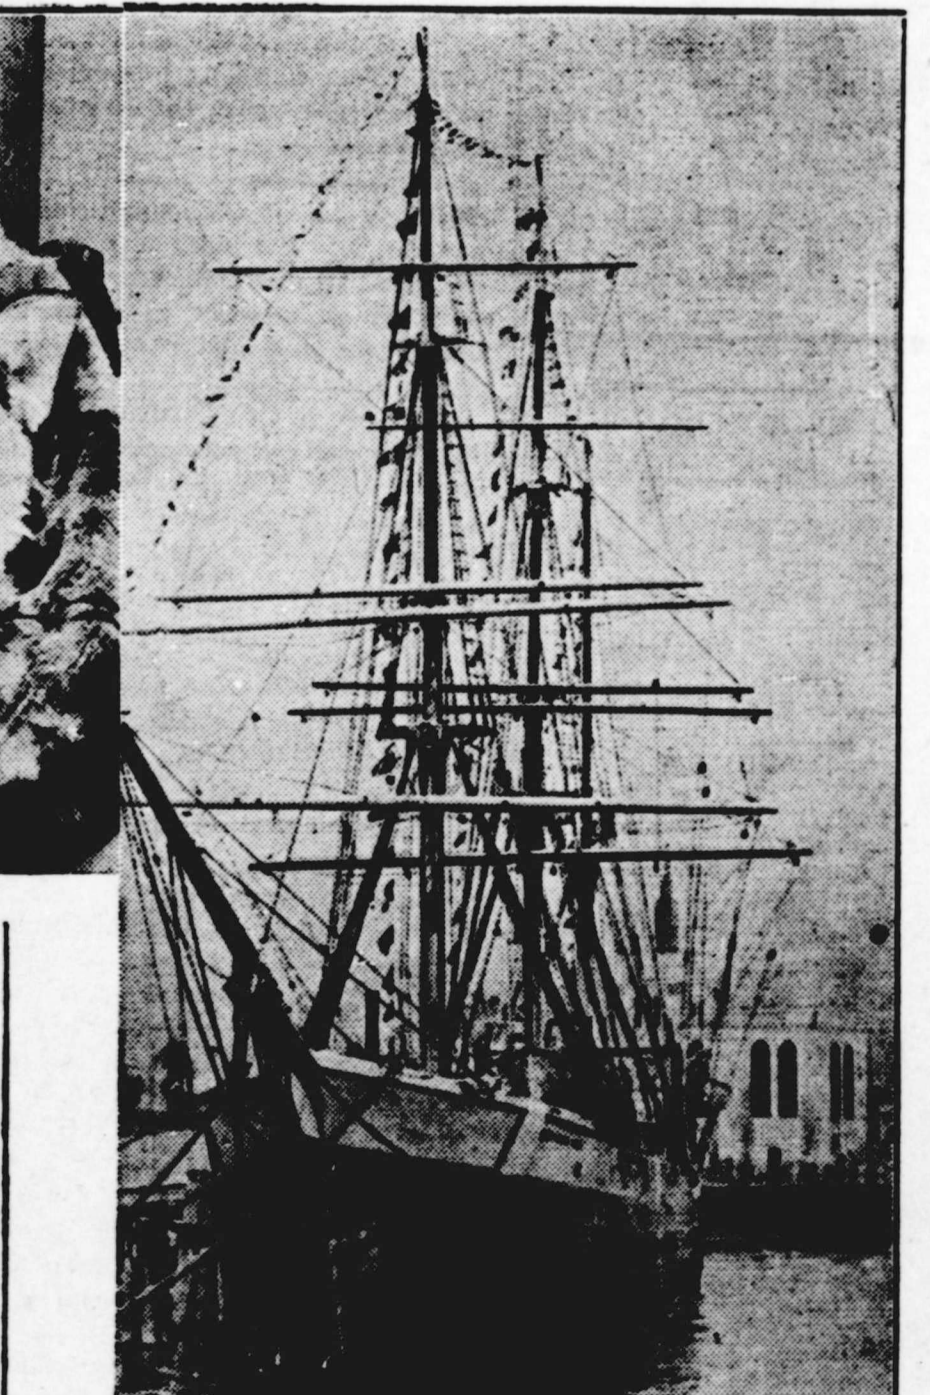

The City of New York was used on the expedition because it is far stronger in combating ice floes than the sturdiest steel ships today. It is so constructed that extreme pressure of ice forces it higher out of the water, rather than buckling it tightly underneath, as it would a steel ship.

Lecture-tours of the ship are conducted continuously throughout the day. The visitor is shown first a relief map of the Antarctic region. The Bay of Wales, where the ship landed on Christmas day, 1922, the camp erected eight miles were delivered some time in 1930. In cases are some of the inhabitants of the South Pole country. There are mounted seals weighing 600 to 800 pounds—the weddell seal, a complacent mammal used as food for dogs and men, and the crabeater seal, a vicious fellow who will attack even a killer whale.

Never falling to interest even the most sophisticated visitors are the curious penguins. There are four mounted in the Byrd exhibit, two of the "emperor" species, and two "adelle" penguins. These Ben Brummels of the frozen world, always in formal dress with their silky-white fronts and jet postérieurs, know no enemies on land, and are willing, even anxious, to be friendly with humans.

Inland on a sheet of ice 42 feet thick, Mary Byrd land, the area of new discovery, and the new mountain range found by the explorers are indicated.

Conduct Lecture Tours. On the walls of the hold are a whole library of photographs taken on the trip. There are also sledges, ice-anchors, sleeping bags of camel's hair lined with caribou, headgear of wolverine fur that will not frost, and great fur jackets and suits to protect men from freezing.

There are types of man-hauling harness, for the lecturer explains, contrary to lay opinion, the dog driver does not ride, but works as hard as any of the "huskies". There is an Antarctic mail box; letters posted in it in the year 1922

Conqueror of the storms of nearly half a century, victorious over the ice and snow of the bottom of the earth, the City of New York, ship that carried Admiral Richard E. Byrd to the Antarctic, casts anchor in the lagoon of A Century of Progress. Inset: Boscom pals are Mentad, Eskimo brought back from the Arctic by Admiral Byrd, and Klondike, one of the "huskies" of the Far North.
