Continuation of Our California Journey

Well, as we find we have five readers left, two in town and three farmers, we will continue this weekly effort for the time being, and tell some more about this trip, not so much for those who have been to California, although we have one reader here who spent two years in the Golden State, and he claims that we are making him see that country all over again. By the way he's our sixth reader.

This was our third day in the State, and the second at Redlands. We, ye plaviator, and Elmer and Letha Roberts of Seagraves, were to be the guests of one of our wife's youngest brothers, Luther Holden and family that day. Many of the old timers will remember Luther, for he and Frank Tiernan used to play in the Brownfield streets, and pulled one or two fights per diem out in the streets for the amusement of many of the old timers. Mr. Holden and Geo. E. seemed to think that a part of their development from boyhood to manhood, and little was thought of their daily "scraps." Leastwise, the old timers figured it a waste of time and energy to separate them, as they were at it again as soon as your back was turned. But in ten minutes they were the best of friends again, and would have fought for one another.

Part of the forenoon was spent in the large hardware store where Luther works, and being manager of one department, we were shown all over the building, beginning in the basement and extending to the second floor. The Cope Hardware Co. sure has some stock, although business is slack, Luther explaining that the fruit men had received no governmental aid, and had been hit hard with two short crops. We don't say it because he is our brother-in-law, but Luther Holden is as fine specimen of young manhood as you want to see, both physically and morally, and he has a mighty sweet wife and two babies. He and his father-in-law, Mr. Burton, live together in a nice home on one of the highest points of Redlands. You have to go in low before you reach their grounds no matter what kind of a car you are driving.

We (when we say we, we mean the Texans) together with Mother Holden left the hardware store rather early and went on to be shown through the home and over the grounds. Luther was to take us to Big Bear Lake that afternoon. Reaching this home about middle of the forenoon, we were shown through the terraced gardens in which many rare plants as well as those native to California, were growing. Here we were to be disillusioned again. Like California, were growing. Here we that New Englanders were a "selfish lot" and that hospitality was owned and controlled by southerners and southwesterners, body and soul. Well it certainly broadens one to travel just a little bit, and we know a globe trotter must be some broad. Mr. Burton, it so happens, was born, reared and until a few years ago, lived in a fifteen minute drive to Boston, Mass., and was of course a typical New Englander. But we were never better entertained in any home than this one. After an inspection of his beautiful grounds, we were taken first in the huge basement of the home which fronts on the lower side of the mountain, and of course is well lighted. In this was the furnace, the garage and the workshop, the later being equipped with lathes, circular saws, and anything in the way of a tool. Luther likes to make things and his dad-in-law certainly has supplied him with plenty necessary tools. Also, there is a compartment where rare rocks and other geological specimens are kept in cases, that have been picked up here and yonder by Mr. Burton. Then the main part of the home was visited after climbing the stairway, and was as modern and convenient as modern architecture can devise. To make us feel really at home, Mr. Burton lighted the fire in the old fireplace to make us feel that we were once more in old Tennessee, our native state, although it wasn't cold.

From the broad veranda, one had a fine view of the city, as it lay peacefully at your feet. To the west clouds could be seen floating beneath the mountain tops, and still further on was Old Baldy wrapped in his mantle of snow, while yellow oranges among the green leaves glistened in the sunlight below. Boy; it was a scene we'll never forget. Soon Luther came home, and after a nourishing hot lunch and good coffee, we were ready for the ascent of some six or seven thousand feet to Big Bear and Arrow Head lakes. Mr. Burton insisted that his car be taken as the top could be laid back making a good observation car. Nothing hindered one from seeing just as far up or down as they pleased. We were advised to take our overcoats, which was doggone good advise.

When one ascends from the tropical to the frigid in the space of an hour, and from a few hundred feet above sea level to several thousands above it, one needs two overcoats and a blanket, and one's ears pop like nobody's business. At the very crest of the ridge, we saw the drunkest man we saw on the trip. He was well polluted on red wine, and insisted that we come in and enjoy his hospitality. We found this man at a small store and postoffice, although not the proprietor. We told him our name was Stricklin and that we hailed from Los Angeles. All the others were duly introduced to the storekeeper as being from that city, too. The drunk was very sorry he didn't have what we wanted to drink, after we refused, and we had a time getting away from him. The proprietor told us that we could get some rye at a drug store just over the ridge.

While there was snow laying on the ground all about us, it was raining up there. Sometimes we'd be right among the clouds, sometimes they'd be below us. We had put the top back on the car, however. Owing to the inclemency of the weather, on reaching the ridge, we decided not to climb the extra 2000 feet to Big Bear, to our east, but to turn west and see beautiful Arrowhead lake, where all the winter sports, including skating and skiing, are held, but very few make their home there in the winter. This silvery lake is covered with ducks at this season of the year, and a shot at them would be real tempting. On this side of the mountain, it is covered with a heavy growth of big pine, and after getting down among them and out of the wind, it was not nearly so cold, but plenty snow on the ground.

Passing along the slope of this ridge, one sees innumerable shacks—and some are really more than shacks—real beautifully constructed cabins, some of immense size with fancy rock chimneys and porches terraced to the pavement. These are the summer homes of the wealthy people of the valley, and many of the Hollywood movie stars, including Will Rogers, have summer homes at Arrowhead lake. We went up on the Redlands side, but came down on the San Bernardino side of the mountain. Nearing the foot of the mountain, we came to the hot wells or rather springs, which have a temperature of 184 degrees, and will cook an egg in a few minutes. Like everybody is by a "Fresh Pain" sign, we didn't believe it and tested one of them with our finger. Yes, it was hot—it would actually scald. About the only remark we could use to fit the occasion, was that hell wasn't over 20 feet from there.

It was here that we learned why the Arrowhead Springs; why the Arrowhead mountain, and why Arrowhead lake. From a clear point near these springs, but some 3000 feet above you on the mountain, is outlined on the side of the mountain as plain as the nose on a man's face, the picture of an immense arrowhead. How big, we don't know, but it must be large to show up so well as far away as we were. It is said that no tree or other vegetation will grow on the spot. Chemists have tried to find the reason, but give none. That white spot like an arrowhead remains season after season. Tradition has it that it was some kind of Indian sign or warning, but white people seem to know little of its significance.

Well, we are aiming to include the National Orange show at San Bernardino that night in this article, but it is already too long. More anon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Collins and Miss Vona Lee Ditto visited the style show at Lubbock Tuesday.

O'Donnell Elected Pres. Of Insurance Co.

DALLAS, Texas, March 6.—At a specially called meeting of the board of directors held at the Company's offices this morning, Charles F. O'Donnell was elected president of the Southwestern Life Insurance Company. He succeeds the late T. W. Vardell, who was president from March, 1911, until his death one week ago.

Mr. O'Donnell first became connected with the Company in 1917 as a member of its legal staff. He was elected a director in March, 1926, later serving as general counsel. On January 1, 1933, he took active charge of the Southwestern Life's investment as chairman of the Company's finance committee, and since then has devoted practically all of his time to the Company's affairs. He announced today his retirement from the firm of McBride, O'Donnell and Hamilton, and will assume his new position immediately.

The new president of the Southwestern Life is a native of Dallas County and a graduate of Texas University, class of 1907. He served as City Attorney of Dallas from 1913 to 1917, leaving that position to join the firm with which he has since been associated.

Mr. O'Donnell is widely known in insurance circles of the State and Nation. He is now serving his second successive term as president of the Texas companies, and he is the state vice president of the American Life Convention, an association of 150 western and southern life companies. He was recently elected a director of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, and is chairman of the committee which has submitted a plan for the reorganization of the County government.

The Southwestern Life is the largest and oldest of the group of life insurance companies domiciled in Dallas, and is the second largest in the entire southwest. It is now in its thirty-first year, and its assets amount to more than $41,000,000. The Company has insurance on the lives of approximately 140,000 Texas policyholders, amounting to more than $258,000,000. It is distinctly a Texas institution, as it does business only in this state and invests all of its assets in Texas.

Grandma J. O. Brown Keeps a Card File

Grandma J. O. Brown, who celebrated her 80th birthday the same day that Abraham Lincoln's birthday falls on, Feb. 12th, has for the past 24 years carefully filed all the cards of whatever nature that has been sent her. Her friends tell us that she has them carefully filed according to the date they represent, and she has 310 to her credit of all sorts, as follows:

Christmas cards	170
Birthday cards	80
New Years cards	80
Valentine cards	15
Mothers Day cards	18
Thanksgiving cards	8
Shut In cards	5

Water Pipe Should Be Laid to Cemetery

There has been much talk of late of the city laying a 2 inch water pipe to the cemetery in order that people who wish to do so might plant flowers and shrubs at the graves of their loved ones, and otherwise beautify our city of the dead. There are many families here now that either have relatives at rest over there, or at least close friends, whose graves they would like to see kept green. It is believed that CWA funds could be secured, to do the work of ditching at least, and the cost to the city would only be for the material. In some places subscriptions are being taken to help pay for the material.

On our journey recently to the west coast, we saw many beautiful cemeteries, and we want to say that it made us ashamed of our own burial grounds. Of course we can never have the semi-tropical plants here, but we can have a very much nicer burial place than we now have, but we can't do it without some water being piped over there.

Hudgens & Knight Receiving Car Maytags

The Herald is glad to announce that Hudgens & Knight Hardware and Furniture store has taken over the agency of the Maytag Washing Machines from Jim Moore, but he is working for them as salesman of these popular machines, and is selling them faster than they are being received. However, a car of them is expected in this week from the factory in Iowa, and they will be able to fill many delayed orders.

Owing to the fact that the capacity of the factory has been doubled in the past few months, dealers are anticipating prompt shipments from this on, so their customers can expect prompt deliveries on machines. It is the intention of this firm to do considerable advertising of these machines, and it will pay prospective customers to watch these columns. We might also add that these machines have been greatly reduced in price recently.

No Money Back on Candidate Withdrawal

The Herald thought it pretty well understood that in case a candidate decided to withdraw from a race that he or she was not to expect any refunds from the Herald. The Herald has never solicited any candidate to make a race; it has never advised one to withdraw. It takes their announcement in good faith with the condition implied at least, that they have a reasonable amount of space in the first issue following announcement in which to tell the voters their desires. That is the most expensive part to the Herald, or any other paper. Carrying the name in the announcement columns until July primaries is the least of the expense or trouble.

But should any candidate wish to withdraw from any race, the fact will be made known through these columns entirely free of charge to the withdrawing candidate. We have never charged anyone for this service. We hope we have made the position of the Herald plain to everyone.

Methodist Church Had A Fire Sun. Morning

Does the above headline look scary—does it sound sensational? Well the Methodist church house did not burn, but the church (the body) did have a burning. They burned up all the paving notes that stand against it. Rev. Tharp and John S. Powell, perhaps others have worked hard recently and raised funds to retire all the paving notes against the church.

At the Sunday morning service, it was turned into a kind of Thanksgiving service. Mr. Powell made an address, in which he revived the early history of the Methodist church in Brownfield, its early struggles, etc. Following which, the paving notes were fed to eager flames, and forgotten.

Chisholm Hatchery Getting Good Results

According to all hatcheries, a 70 to 75 percent hatch early in the spring is good. The last one that John took off at the Chisholm Hatcheries, averaged 73 percent. His own hatching averaged much above this but the custom hatching pulled the average down some. This, he explained by saying that some of the custom eggs were perhaps not fertile, and others had been allowed to chill.

He has a fine bunch of chickens over there, but not so many as usual. The code for hatcherymen forbids them having too many on hand at one time. So our advise is that if you are going to raise any hatchery chickens this season, you had best put in your order early in order to get the quantity you want and when you want them.

Mun Telford Has One Of Best Barns in Co.

We have been hearing a great deal about the barn of former sheriff Mun Telford, and late Saturday afternoon, we were permitted to see it. Not only see it, but to go through it, as well as their fine country home which is fitted with all modern conveniences. The big barn is 40x80, according to information given us by the Shamburger Lumber Co., with 12 feet of sheds for the livestock on the south side of the barn. Bundle stuff is stored in the loft, and the grains and corn in the bins on the north side of the driveway. Some of these graineries and gear houses have concrete floors, and others will be added from time to time.

The country home of Mun and Kate is no less modern, for their neat six room cottage is fitted up with a sanitary sewerage system, has "canned gas" lights and for cooking purposes; also to run their refrigerator. So when you visit them, you will find the same conveniences out at their farm two miles from town that you would expect to find in the best homes here in town. He is shaping up his yard now, and preparing to make it a real beauty spot, also.

Lee Lyon was in Monday from the Hunter community.

According to Mrs. Jim Moore, the P. T. A. will put on a style show on March 23rd. Fuller announcement next week.

Agricultural Notes

R. C. Reed, County Agent

One hundred and fifty acres of land was terraced on the A. J. Nelson farm three miles east of Meadow. Mr. Nelson has lived in East Texas where he always made it a farm practice to terrace his land. He is of the opinion that terracing will pay equally as well here as in East Texas.

One hundred and thirty acres of land was also terraced on Houston Hamilton's farm three miles east of Meadow in a recent terracing demonstration. Several farmers learned to run the terracing instruments and are now practicing the art of terracing on their home farms.

Fifteen 4-H Club members were enrolled in an organization meeting at Wellman. Cost of production for different projects were figured on in order that the members might have some basis for selecting projects. The Parent-Teachers Association, who is the club sponsor, honored the members with a "weenie" roast.

CORN-HOG PROGRAM

Six hundred and thirty-two corn-hog contracts have been signed. These contracts offer 4901 hogs and 13,625 acres of corn land for retirement.

All contracts have been checked by the County Allotment Committee. Producer's contracts in which errors were found have been notified to call at the Farmers Cream Station to correct them.

Through a competitive examination Lee Fulton was named tabulator by Mr. Finley, State Statistician. Mr. Finley is expecting to arrive any day to give instructions to proceed with tabulations. Contracts will be tabulated then turned back to the rural committees for a farm-to-farm inspection. The committees will inspect the retired corn acreage and appraise the yield under normal conditions. The contracts will then be typed and turned back to the producer for landlord's signature.

The County Allotment Committee hopes to have all corrections made before the contract goes to the landlord for signatures.

COTTON CAMPAIGN

One thousand and sixty-two cotton contracts have been completed. The contracts offer for retirement 45,365 acres at an average yield of 137 pounds per acre. The County Committee will probably appear before the District Review Board with these contracts at an early date.

If any correction has been made in a producer's contract his approval to the correction will be obtained before final acceptance of the contract.

"Smokey" Taylor is Budweiser Dis. Agent

"Smokey" Taylor informed us this week that he had taken the district agency of Budweiser bottled as well as tap beer, which included Terry, Lynn, Yoakum, Gaines, Hockley, Cochran and Lubbock counties. While Brownfield is the only place in the district where beer can be legally retailed, he is permitted to retail beer to anyone in this district that comes here after it in any quantity they desire.

He already has a huge cold storage for Blatz, of which he is also wholesale and retailer, and has this week completed another storage larger than the original one for Budweiser. He now has a capacity of a car of beer at a time. These cold storage apartments are built on wheels in the rear of his cafe, so that in case of fire, they can easily be dragged away from the building.

Frank Weir came in this week from Itasca. He announced that he would move the family back to Brownfield as soon as their new home is finished on Broadway, which is being built for them by Redford Smith.

Rev and Mrs. Ed Tharp went to Abilene Monday to take Mrs. Tharp's sister, Mrs. Anna Harris home, also to visit Mrs. Tharp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myers. Mrs. Harris had visited in the Tharp home a month.

The stomach of the hippopotamus has a capacity of between five and six bushels.

Mrs. Ted Poor visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Padgett at Levelland Monday and Tuesday.

All Food Handlers Should Be Healthy

AUSTIN, Texas, March 12.—For the protection of the public a law was passed in 1921 making it mandatory for every person who is employed in any public eating place, bakery, meat market, dairy or candy factory to secure a health certificate from a reputable physician. This law is intended to eliminate all persons having any communicable disease from handling any foodstuff. These certificates must be renewed every six months.

Typhoid fever, diphtheria, and amoebic dysentery carriers have been found numbers of times working in dairies, cafes, and other places where food is prepared or offered for sale. It is not too much for the consuming public to demand that those who sell them food shall be free from communicable diseases. If the examinations for food handlers are properly carried out much good will be accomplished in protecting the health of the buyer as well as giving the applicant for a certificate accurate information as to his physical condition.

The Texas State Department of Health has repeatedly advocated periodic physical examinations for the general public, as it is during these examinations that many incipient diseases may be discovered and treatment begun in time to stop its development to such a degree that treatment will not be helpful. Many deaths and much suffering would be eliminated if everyone would have this periodic check. In the case of food handlers, only the diseases that are communicable will withhold the issuance of a certificate. The cost is money well invested and the consuming public should demand that those they buy from have this evidence of good health.

U. S. May Guarantee Home Loan Bonds

WASHINGTON, Mar. 13.—Another outstanding development in the fight of United States Senator Tom Connally, of Texas, on behalf of distressed small home owners, was seen here today in the action of President Roosevelt in recommending to Congress that legislation be adopted authorizing the Government to guarantee the principal, as well as the interest, on Home Loan bonds.

Only a few weeks ago, shortly after the Congress convened, Senator Connally issued a statement in which he declared he would endeavor to obtain passage of such legislation, so that thousands of home owners in Texas and throughout the nation, threatened with foreclosure, might obtain relief through the Federal Home Loan Owners' Corporation. In many cases, holders of home mortgages refused to accept the Home Owners Loan Corporation bonds, because the Government guarantees only the interest.

Pioneer Ranchman Passes in California

David M. De Vitt, 78, pioneer West Texas cattleman, died in Los Angeles one day last week of heart disease. Lubbock friends were informed.

Born at Fredrick, Md., De Vitt came to Texas in 1885, engaging in the cattle business at Midland and Big Spring. He became head of the Mallet Land and Cattle company which owned the large Mallet ranch near Levelland.

Came Here in 1918
Mr. De Vitt lived first in Fort Worth and came to Lubbock to make his home in 1918. He first became interested in the cattle industry of this section about 1890, R. C. Burns, a pioneer here, recalled last night. Mr. De Vitt had been considered wealthy.

For the past 10 years, the rancher spent a part of each year in Los Angeles. Surviving him were his widow, Mrs. Florence A. De Vitt, and two daughters, Mrs. Helen Secret, and Miss Christine De Vitt.—Lubbock Avalanche.

ONE PUPIL SCHOOL ENDS YEAR WITH "EXERCISES"

CLARENDON, March 12.—The 200,000 school children being sought by the Texas senate investigating committee did not attend the Bairfield school.

That much is certain, for Bairfield had only one pupil, Ida Mae Weidman, 8, daughter of Rudolph Weidman, a ranchman.

The district's revenue was $570. Of this amount, $520 was paid to Ida Mae's teacher, Miss Zell Rogers. Miss Rogers and her pupil kept regular school, observing noon hour and recesses, and Ida Mae completed two grades. They played dolls and "ante over."

"Closing exercises" were held last week when Ida Mae gave two readings for County Superintendent, Sloan Baker and Clarence Bairfield, a trustee.

"We hope to get a new family to move in before next year, and may have several more pupils," Bairfield said.

The school is on the famous JA ranch land, 10 miles southwest of Clarendon.

J. C. Green is taking the school census this week. If he happens to miss your place, be sure to call him if you have children within the school age, as each one means about $14 to the district.

PANHANDLE GAS WASTAGE IS ECONOMIC CRIME

How much leger is the State of Texas going to permit the reckless dissipation of natural gas in the Panhandle area, where every hour of the day at least 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas is blown into the air?

Reliable figures obtained principally from records of the Railroad Commission show that the waste of gas in the Panhandle area has more than doubled in volume between February 1 and November 30, 1933. During those ten months the volume of gas blown into the air increased from 295,685,000 cubic feet in February to 593,600,000 cubic feet in November. Recent estimates indicate that the orgy of waste has swelled the volume of dissipated gas to as much as 1,000,000,000 cubic feet daily!—Petroleum Bulletin.

Co. Judge-Com. Convention at Sweetwater

Sweetwater, Mar. 12.—West Texas county governing bodies will discuss their governmental problems when the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association convenes here for their semi-annual convention on March 22, 23 and 24.

County Judge Charles Lewis, in charge of local arrangements for the convention, states that program and entertainment features have been worked out in detail. Responses from members thruout West Texas and a general interest in tax, road and relief matters points to an unusually large attendance.

The convention will open at 5:30 P. M. March 22 with an old fashioned West Texas Chuck Wagon dinner served the visitors at City Park. This will be followed by a dance, one of the series of dances and banquets to be tendered the visitors during their three day stay.

Discussion of their problems by outstanding members of the Association will occupy a large part of the program. Among those to appear on this section of the program will be the Hon. John T. Marrs, County Judge Wichita County, who will discuss "A Revision of the Present Tax Laws in Texas"; Hon. Phillip Young, County Judge of Dawson County, who will discuss "The Relation of the Commissioner's Court to the Civil Works Administration Program."

Judge E. L. Pitts, Lubbock, President of the Association, has invited a number of prominent speakers to address the Association on a variety of subjects. "The Texas Prison System; Its Present and Future Policy" will be presented by Hon. Lee Simmons, Huntsville, manager of the Texas Prison System. "State Highway Construction in West Texas" will be discussed by Hon. W. R. Ely, member of the State Highway Commission, Abilene.

Other speakers to appear on the program include Honorable Edgar Witt, Lt. Governor of Texas, Waco; James V. Allred, Attorney General of Texas, Austin; Hon. Walter C. Woodward, State Senator, Coleman; and Judge J. E. Hickman, Chief Justice Court of Civil Appeals, 11th District, Eastland.

19 DEPRESSIONS WEATHERED

The life insurance industry has lived through 19 major depressions, and in every instance it has come out with colors flying. It has proved itself the cornerstone of man's financial structure and provided a road to financial independence.

In 1857, paper inflation was estimated at $2,000,000,000. Banks failed and mobs ran riots in the streets. And life insurance, whose fundamental principals were then being tried and tested, survived.

In 1873, 72 railroads were in default. The New York Stock exchange closed for a week. Depression and unemployment were rampant. Thirty-one life insurance companies, which are still in business, carried on as usual, meeting every rightful obligation.

In one month of 1893, 407 banks failed. One-hundred-sixty-nine railroads were unable to meet mortgage interest. Interest rates rose to 360 per cent. The government came closest to bankruptcy in its history. And in a year of which it is said that money almost disappeared from circulation, life insurance paid out a total of $175,000,000.

In 1907, one of the greatest of all financial crashes occurred. Depression was world-wide. Yet every life insurance company paid contracts in cash exactly when they fell due.

In 1930, 1931 and 1932 businesses collapsed, banks failed, moratoriums were declared. During those years cash payments of 48 leading life companies aggregated more than $6,000,000,000, about half the original war debt owed our government by Europe, 11 1/2 billions of which is still unpaid.

Financial Independence Week, March 19-24, next, is a significant and timely event.

STRAW MAN

Young Joe Bailey does himself too much honor when he says that a whispering campaign is being conducted against him in his race for the United States Senate. Certainly there is no one responsibly connected with the reelection campaign of Senator Tom Connally who has need to descend to conspiratorial whispers when he voices his sentiments regarding who is qualified for office.

It does require self-restraint, however, to keep from shouting from the housetops the indignation aroused by the bushwhacking attack delivered against the junior Texas Senator Saturday night by this ambitious young man whose socialite friends give him banquets and pink teas as a pretext for microphoning poisonous insinuations about the incumbent, his opponent.

Especially is it a temptation thus to denounce the transparency of the charge that Senator Connally is lacking in fidelity to the President when the propagator of such an insinuation is far from the post he is paid a salary to attend, during the hottest of the fighting at Washington, when the party needs him sorest, campaigning for the place on which Senator Connally is too honorable to turn his back while there is need for his services.

No doubt Congressman Bailey is as pained as he claims to be that he feels called on to attack a man who has labored harder in the service of his constituents than ninety per cent of those who have occupied a desk in the upper house. Surely, too, he feels another twinge when he sets himself up as the friend of the ex-service man after denouncing here last November the activity of "such organized minorities as labor and the American Legion."

It may be that the Congressman-at-large feels that "all is fair" in politics. If he does not know it now he will learn that treachery will never be forgiven or condoned by the voters of Texas. Perhaps he, too, thinks he is the "only thoroughbred" in the race, the others being "scrubs." That presumption brought its own punishment before and will as surely do it again.

As for the "whispering campaign," there is nothing new in the idea of setting up a man of straw to knock down for the benefit of the groundlings who applaud such a show of energy and combativeness. If young Joe Bailey is going to make his spectacle worth the while of an enlightened audience, he will have to devise situations and argument of more originality and convincingness. At the same time, he will do well to seek to cast a baseless reflection on the sincerity and purity of motive of one who proves his devotion to the public not by diatribes and jeremiads of sanctity but by unremitting toil in its interest.—Tyler Telegraph.

GUN WHICH KILLED BILLY, THE KID, GOES TO GARRETT'S WIDOW

AUSTIN, March 7.—Possession of a pistol used by the late Pat Garrett Southwest peace officer, in slaying Billy, the Kid, was given to Mrs. Pauline Garrett, the widow, by the supreme court today.

The court dismissed for want of jurisdiction an application of J. B. Brady for writ of error, the El Paso civil appeals court having upheld Mrs. Garrett's right to the pistol.

Brady was administrator of the estate of M. T. Powers, who claimed Garrett had made him a gift of the pistol, after it had at first been loaned to him for use in an exhibition in a saloon.

About 30 Brownfield people saw the wrestling matches at Lubbock Wednesday night.

THOSE ABBREVIATIONS

In America, under the New Deal, one has to know his initials. The abbreviation fad, begun by NRA, has spread to all other departments and it isn't customary any more to refer to any federal agency by its name. In fact, if you should say "Home Owners Loan Corporation" instead of HOLC, real estate men won't know what you are talking about.

Here's an important list of up-to-date abbreviations:
 NRA—National Recovery Administration.
 AAA—Agricultural Adjustment Administration.
 NEC—National Emergency Council.
 NIRA—National Industrial Recovery Act, as distinguished from NRA.
 PWA—Public Works Administration.
 TVA—Tennessee Valley Authority.
 CWA—Civil Works Administration.
 FERA—Federal Emergency Recovery Administration.
 NLB—National Labor Board.
 FACA—Federal Alcohol Control Administration.
 CCC—Means both Citizens Conservation Corps and Community Credits Corporation.
 PRA—President's Re-employment Administration.
 CSB—Central Statistical Board.
 FDIC—Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.
 EC—Executive Council.
 FHLB—Federal Home Loan Board.
 FCA—Farm Credit Administration.
 FHOLC—Federal Home Owners Loan Corporation.
 PAB—Petroleum Administration Board.
 FEHC—Federal Emergency Housing Corporation.
 EHFA—Electric Home and Farm Authority.
 FTC—Federal Transportation Coordinator and his office.
 SAB—Science Advisory Board.
 CAB—Consumer's Advisory Board of NRA.
 CCO—Consumers' Council Office of AAA.
 Then there's the old ICC, Interstate Commerce Commission; and the RFC, Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and also the FTC, Federal Trade Commission, and perhaps a few others that you probably don't need to know about.

Rare Picture of Civil War Scene in San Antonio

Don't get excited, folks. It's all over now, an long ago, too, but the picture is so unusual it's worth a minute of your time. The sketch was made by a government draftsman who was present when the Federal forces in Texas surrendered to Confederate commissioners on the Main Plaza in San Antonio, February 18 1861. From the picture, we gather it was a gala occasion, especially for the Confederate Texans.

Difference between a big business man and a little sucker is that the former can sell you something or collect from you without insulting you, while the later has to insult you, he thinks, in order to show you how darned important he is.

Strange as it may sound, the majority of pedestrians that are killed by cars, according to statisticians, are not killed at street intersections, nor as they come from behind a parked car. But on the other hand, two thirds of them are killed out in the country on the highways while walking along or crossing them, believe it or not.

Mothers-in-law have had their day at last. From the time we can first remember, their very name was held as a synonym for the poor hubby's temptor and tormentor, when as a matter of fact, there was not much more truth in it than "hell on earth fathers-in-law." Amarillo has set a day aside to honor these much maligned ladies, and has staged the first one with huge success. Several ity.

hundred mothers-in-law marched in the parade, and Amarillo was theirs for the day. The plan stands a good chance to be adopted nationally.

"The busiest little town we have seen on the entire trip" was spoken about Brownfield, not by one who lives here, but by a citizen of another town, as we came across the railroad from our trip to California. He added: There are more cars parked in the streets and more moving around than we have seen in any city or town on the trip, size considered." And it was the literal truth. No, it was not Saturday nor First Monday, but late one Thursday afternoon, February 22nd to be exact. Some compliment. But, traveling men that make this section bear this out in their statements.

We heard a deserved compliment passed on our chamber of commerce secretary recently by one of our best business men. He stated that the secretary was doing more than any other man to help the people here, not only of Brownfield, but the entire country, and lots of time without thought of recompense or reward. He also stated that he thought the secretary's salary should be raised, not only because he deserves it, but also to comply with the general national movement to raise wages of employees. He further stated that the secretary never tried to play the big shot by inviting the entire world here to put in new businesses. If that particular line of business was well supplied in Brownfield, he invariably advised prospectors of the fact, and then let them be their own judge about coming. Too many times a young and enthusiastic secretary will advise new firms to come in when he knows it will not pay them, in order to make an impression on the people of the town that he is up and doing. Ed Shelton has passed that age of the game, and while he is for the upbuilding of Brownfield, he has sense enough to know that as fast as the rural districts settle, the town will take care of itself. Flowers for the living.

A lot of old-fashioned things seem to be coming back. Probably some of our older readers remember the story in McGuffey's reader about the two men who applied for jobs as hired hands on a farm. Both boys whittled during the interview. One boy made shavings, but the other produced a gate pin—whatever that is—during the application. Of course the fellow who made something useful got the job. They laughed when John Dillinger sat down to whittle in his little cell in Crown Point, Indiana. But John came out with a whittled-out pistol that scared his guards, and now he is free as the winds. Or maybe freer. Whittling may yet become one of the fine arts. —Ralls Banner.

SANDINO GETS HIS

Only a few years ago most Americans were exercising their own special brand of hate against one Augustino, the Nicaraguan insurrectionist against whom this country sent a detachment of marines in an effort to kill or capture him. All attempts in that direction were useless; Sandino continued to flourish until one year ago, when he made an agreement with President Sacasa to disband all of his followers except a bodyguard of 100, who were to keep their arms for a period of one year. Sandino and his followers were busy in cooperating farming efforts until this week, when he decided to come into Managua and obtain permission to continue his armed bodyguard.

Wednesday night national guardsmen of Nicaragua surrounded a house where the little rebel was conferring with his father and friends. When the smoke cleared away, Sandino and two of his generals were dead.

President Sacasa issued a statement denouncing the act, promising immediate action against the slayers.

It is more than probable, however, that Sandino was killed because the government of Nicaragua feared him. Among his ignorant but patriotic followers he was something of a king. He was the Pancho Villa of Nicaragua, with a bit more education and refinement and an equal ability to dodge capture.

United States marines never should have been sent into Nicaragua in the first place. As long as Franklin D. Roosevelt is president they will not be sent there or into any other Latin American country except in the gravest emergency. Certainly they will not be used in an effort to capture another Sandino.

RAISES RATTLES FOR SHOWS
 When John Messenger, who lives 20 miles east of San Saba, was a cowboy his chief delight was killing rattlesnakes. Today he raises them for shows, saying he finds it more pleasant and profitable than rounding up cattle. Mr. Messenger lives alone on his small ranch so he can better cultivate and develop his hobby. He beds down the snakes in the fall so they may comfortably hibernate through the winter, and see to it that they do not emerge until he is sure spring is here.
 Jack Stricklin Jr. and wife, accompanied by Mrs. Senior Stricklin, were Seagraves visitors Sunday afternoon.
 Our old friend J. T. Blankenship was over last week from Plains, and renewed for the Herald and Dallas News.

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

There was nothing of interest in our issue of March 17, 1911 on the front page, so will see what there was on the editorial page. Well, we find for one time that we had a school boosting editorial, remarking that we were about to close the most successful term of our school, and we attributed credit to the fact that our school faculty had had the undivided support of our trustees and patrons. We remarked that you might get the best university trained teachers in existence, then backbite them, and you would have a poor school, and that goes for this year of our Lord 1934, as well as back 23 years ago.

In the locals, we find that J. T. May was advertising fresh garden seed and onion sets. That Rev. J. C. Lewis was in on business from the farm. Bruce Gainer was over from Gomez. J. R. Burnett went to Tahoka after coal. Sam Walker was visiting relatives in Coke county. That Mrs. Chas. Moore of Gomez was advertising as a "rat" maker. "Bring in your combings" she advised. Miss Nettie Sawyer was in from the ranch a guest of Mrs. Randal. Uncle Bill Howard and G. J. Rose were done breaking land. There was a great demand for planting cottonseed. John Burnett and M. V. Brownfield took in the cattlemen's convention at Dalhart. Mesdames W. B. Downing and Dolphus Robinson of Lubbock were visiting relatives and friends in Brownfield. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ivey took in the convention at Dalhart.

Elmer Spurgeon wanted $50 for a Spaulding buggy and harness. Miss Lissie Winston dropped in to watch us print the paper. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forrester of Lynn county, had left for Oklahoma to be gone indefinitely. D. Y. Blanton had moved from Crosby county to near Gomez. Prof. Williams and Mr. Acuff, of Austin were here prospecting. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hurst of Lubbock were visiting Mrs. Hurst's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Glover at Gomez. V. E. Hargett and family had moved on the old Heflin farm (where Alton Webb now lives). J. T. May had carpenters add a new row of shelving in his store. Ed Neill had purchased a job printing shop at Austin. R. G. Wood of the Meadow section, called on the Herald. Judge Spencer came back from Austin "sporting a checkered suit and a short ray hat." W. S. Johnson of Malheur, N. M., was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. John-

Good, Pure Milk is Nature's Best Food

AUSTIN, Texas, March 2.—Pure milk is Nature's most nearly perfect food, according to the Texas State Department of Health, and persons should be sure that the cows which produce the milk they use are in a healthy condition.

It is estimated that 2 per cent of all milk cattle have bovine type tuberculosis. Tuberculin testing of cattle will definitely prove whether the cow has tuberculosis. If a person owns their own cow, she should be tested, and if milk is being purchased, the purchaser should make sure that the cattle in the dairy he patronizes are free of this disease. These tests should be made each year, and if milk stock is to be purchased, they should be tested before completion of the sale.

About twenty-five per cent of all tuberculosis in children is of the bovine type—fatal bovine tuberculosis after the fifth year is rare. It generally attacks the lymph glands and bones. When not fatal, this disease, when it attacks the joints or bones, usually leaves the child crippled for life.

The C. W. A. has created a fund to pay for the destruction of each tuberculin cow. Of course, the disease must be certified by an accredited veterinarian. The State Live Stock Sanitary Commission and State Department of Health are very anxious to control this disease. The former to improve the dairy herds and the Health Department to protect the public health. Every one can help by demanding that the cows where they purchase milk be tuberculin tested.

Texas Girl Accompanying Mrs. Roosevelt

Austin, Texas, March 12.—Miss Ruby A. Black, former University of Texas student, and an experienced newspaper reporter, has received an assignment that any newspaper man or woman would cherish long in memory. She is accompanying Mrs. Roosevelt, wife of President Roosevelt, on her rail and airplane trip from Washington to Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands, as correspondent for the United Press, which serves hundreds of newspapers of the United States and other countries. Miss Black is a graduate of the University of Texas, where she was an outstanding student of journalism. Her home was at Rosebud, Falls County.

"TURN ON THE LIGHT, UNCLE!"

(From The Omaha Bee-News)
 "Dr. Paul R. Mort, director of the School of Education at Teachers' College, Columbia University, has made an intensive study of the public school problem in this country in the course of his work with the joint committee on the emergency in education.

"And Dr. Mort has reached this conclusion—unless the Federal Government comes to the rescue, thousands and thousands of boys and girls will be denied their only opportunity of becoming competent citizens.

"Pointing out that proper machinery does not exist for meeting the school crisis, Dr. Mort said in an article in the magazine, Progressive Education:

"Federal support for education is essential because of the extreme limitations placed on public education by economic conditions in the poorer states.
 "The issue of COMPLETE FEDERAL AID IN ALL STATES will be a live issue in the not distant future."
 "Congress and the Roosevelt administration can perform no more patriotic service than by immediately acting to rescue education.
 "And the first action that should be taken is to establish a Federal Department of Education, headed by a Secretary who shall be a member of the President's Cabinet."

HELP THROTTLE DEPRESSION

The construction industry has been virtually at the zero point—even below the general industrial level. Its most important branch, home-building, practically disappeared. Last year it shared but little in the business pick-up.

But now the construction index is rising. It isn't going forward at a boom rate, but sound, well-established acceleration is occurring. Much of this is due to governmental building. But private construction is likewise showing a substantial upward trend. Many men have found jobs at good wages—and they are spending an appreciable part of their earnings in improving homes.

An inevitable result is an increase in construction costs. All the basic materials—lumber, cement, roofing, etc.—have made substantial gains over the extraordinary lows. But they're still pretty well down in the economic cellar. They're cheaper at this writing than they will be in the future. And the opportunity to build a home at low cost is still to be had.

So far as the home-owner is concerned, building and repairing now is good business—it saves him money and gives him something essential at bargain prices. And, when he builds, he is contributing substantially toward speeding recovery. He is giving jobs—he is sending needed dollars through a thousand industries—he is stimulating commerce. That's why an excellent motto is: "Build and repair now—save yourself money—and help throttle depression."

Dr. J. W. Hunt, president of McMurry College, Abilene, passed away on the 12th from heart trouble. He was well known in this section as an educator, a pulpit orator, and a staunch supporter of prohibition. In his passing, West Texas loses one of its greatest citizens.

Chamber of Commerce

—By J. E. Shelton, Secretary

It is expected that the Emergency Feed and Seed Loan will be ready to commence operations about the 17th of this month. We have a letter from Dallas, advising us to the effect, and also the limitations of the loan.

Applications will be accepted under the following restrictions: A waiver must be secured from the landlord on his rental or any other debt that he may have against the applicant. All other lien holders, who have mortgages covering any portion of the crop must also waive. In the event that the borrower desires more than $150.00, he must first make his application to the Lubbock Production Credit Association, which has an office with the chamber of commerce in Brownfield. In the event that they fail to secure the amount desired from the Production Credit Association, they may then apply through the Emergency Feed & Seed Loan, in an amount not to exceed $250.00. All applicants who desire less than $150.00 do not have to apply through the Production Credit Association, but may apply direct to the Emergency Loan.

Both loans will be handled through the chamber of commerce and we will undertake to have sufficient clerical help to enable us to take care of all applicants promptly.

Applicants are requested to make a memorandum of the section number, block number, size of farm, number of acres in cultivation and owner of land. Also number of acres of each crop to be planted and uses to which the money is to be placed. If they will do this, we will be able to handle many more applications than would otherwise be the case.

The county commissioners are still figuring on having a survey of the county lines made, but at last accounts, an agreement could not be had with some of the other counties as to the surveyor to be used and also as to the method of marking the lines. Other considerations may be having some effect.

There is not very much more in the way of news to write of this week and the date of the chamber of commerce banquet has not been set but will probably be sometime next week.

Several weeks ago the highway commission approved plans for improving No. 137 and put it to the board at Washington but for some reason that board has not passed the stamp of approval on the project and until they do so, everything will be at a standstill, but if they ever do decide to "approve," the highway commission is ready to let contracts. So far as 84 is concerned, we are just going to have to hold our fire on it until the other one gets going and afterwards get our ammunition together and go after it with machine guns and every other available weapon. Now as a matter of fact government road building funds are running low, but the Texas Good Roads Association assisted by the chambers of commerce over the state are actively at work undertaking to secure further appropriations from the government for uses in highway construction and are asking for a $25,000,000 appropriation, which is about the sum that was allowed by the last session of congress.

West Texas Gas Co. May Reduce Rates

PLAINVIEW, March 6.—R. F. Hinchey, vice president, and other officials of the West Texas Gas Company announced last night that a gas rate adjustment in all towns the company served was contemplated.

Hinchey was unable to say what adjustment would be made, but said the company had been working on a survey of consumption for three months and now has a rate engineer working out a schedule to be announced within 60 days. The company will seek to regain gross revenues by rates designed to increase consumption.

Hinchey came here on invitation of the City Council, which has asked for a discussion of rates.

RECEIVE IT OR NOT—

The boy across the aisle doesn't borrow paper from me anymore—I'm out myself.

One "C" student said he'd be a math teacher if he ever made an "A plus." Yeah!—or a pet!

Some people go through life saying, "I've got the world by the tail, and a downhill pull." Still it seems impossible that they never heard of "tail-holds" slipping.

Speaking of girls—one year they roll their hair up and the next they roll it down. Boys we have one consolation—they can't roll it off!

WELCOME

The students and faculty of the Brownfield Public Schools look forward each year to the coming of the County Meet. We anticipate a closer friendship with the pupils and teachers of the rural schools. This fellowship should be, and is, profitable to both groups.

For the above reasons and for many others, it is a pleasure indeed to have as our guests our rural friends and neighbors. We want you to feel at home. It is our hope that you may enjoy your visit as much as we enjoy having you here. We are glad to serve you in any capacity within our reach.

Enjoy the County Meet to the fullest extent. Believe that you are entirely welcome. Return often to visit with us.

DECLAMATION TRY OUT

On Monday evening, March 12, the local winners of declamation were determined. Judges from Tahoka rendered the decisions.

The glee club of Grade School then gave a few numbers, followed by the Junior High Glee Club. They did not contest with each other, but the Judges offered criticism.

High School Senior girls were, first, Esther Ruth Smith; second, Ethel Pippin; third, Naomi Drury. The winners of High School Senior boys were, first, Bill Savage; second, Clifton Jones.

STUDENTS IMPROVE CAMPUS

Business, or the students, has picked up in High School. The student body is at work repairing the north side of the campus. The faculty has divided the students into two groups. The Juniors and Sophomores in one; the Freshmen and Seniors in another. The first group is to clean the north-east side and the second is to clean the northwest.

Work started Friday, at twelve-forty-five. The students set to work with great enthusiasm, to see which side would look the better. Quite a bit of work was accomplished in the fifteen minutes allowed for the recreation.

Monday, at the same time, the work was continued. The yard began to take on an aspect of order. By Tuesday the Juniors and Sophomores had over half of their yard cleared. As usual, the Seniors and Freshmen were just behind.

The students have taken every opportunity to work but from now on Friday will be the day of labor. It is believed that this work will add to the attractiveness of the already admirable school plant.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club met Monday, March 12, 1934 for an unusual program. It was interesting, short and snappy, and any woman or girl would have enjoyed it if she had been present. It was as follows:

Ellen H. Richards—Betty Jo Savage.

Youth—Kathleen Perry.

In the Garden—Elva Evans.

Recipe for Personality—Verna Brown.

Advice—Roma Lewis.

The girls enjoyed this meeting very much, and they hope to have visitors next club day. They feel that the parents would enjoy these programs and benefit by being there. Further plans were made toward the trip to Loveland, April 7, 1934.

LITERARY CLUB MEETS

The Literary Club met Monday, March 11, and the following program was presented:

Reading—Maxine Hardin.

"Teachers"—Evelyn Judd.

"Freshmen"—Imogene Lucky.

"Boys"—Sallie T. Stricklin.

"Seniors"—Doy Murphy.

"Girls"—Logan Redford.

The program was enjoyed very much, since the club members like to hear what other people think about their teachers and their fellow students.

The Club will start working on a one-act play to be presented during club period, Monday, March 25th. Later the Club will begin working on a three-act play to be presented in the auditorium about the first of May.

The program for next meeting will be an educational program consisting of talks on our government in its various units of control.

HISTORY CLUB

On March 2, the History Club met and heard a debate. Nancy Speed and Jessie P. Alexander debated Marie Nettles and Vernon Pharr.

The question was "Resolved, That the button is more important than the button hole." The first team presented the affirmative side, while the second presented the negative. Each side was allowed 2 minutes for main speeches and one minute for rebuttals. The negative won by unanimous vote of the judges.

The second pair debating were Elray Lewis and Dora T. Jenkins taking the affirmative against Harold Carpenter and Evelyn Shepard. The subject was, "Resolved, That the country life is better than city life." The negative won by two votes from the judges.

DEBATE WINNERS

In the preliminary contests held in Lubbock, Tuesday, March 13, Brownfield High won the right to enter the finals contests in debate. Marian Chisholm and Queenelle Sawyer were the girls, and the Chambliss brothers, Woodrow and Roy, were the boys to represent the local school. The final contest for county championship will be held here, Saturday, March 17.

Three schools had teams entering the round-robin preliminaries—Meadow, Gomez, and Brownfield. The teams from these schools went to Lubbock for a neutral meeting place and for more capable and unbiased judging. Out of these contests the two teams averaging highest in the preliminaries are to debate in the final contest.

JUNIOR HIGH CHORAL CLUB

According to Mrs. Dennis the Junior High Choral Club is progressing rapidly. There are twenty-five pupils enrolled, and, under the leadership of Billy Graves, they are devoting everything in their power to make this year's choral club the best of years that have past and of years to come. Two periods a day are devoted to practice, and each practice shows an improvement.

Monday night the Club sang at the declamation try-outs. At the close, the judges commented favorably on their voices and their unity. There is still room for improvement, but by the time of contest it is hoped there will be a high degree of excellence.

INTERESTING ASSEMBLY

On Wednesday morning, March 7, the Grade School Choral Club sang three selections in general assembly. They were "Home Sweet Home," "The Humming Bird," and "The Tailor and the Mouse." These are selections which may be used in the coming County Meet. The group, with Vita Mae Haney as their leader and Mrs. Ivey Savage as director, sang well and gave a good interpretation of these songs.

The seniors again took pleasure in presenting books to the Brownfield High School. This time there were three sets—twenty copies of "The Merchant of Venice," twenty of "The Vicar of Wakefield," and twenty of "Literature and Life." There were also ten copies of a "Scholastic" magazine to which the school has a subscription for this semester, and eleven pamphlets on "The Depression" and other economic questions.

B. H. S. is very grateful to the seniors for these books, since some of the classes have been needing them very badly. Mr. Wester is extending his appreciation by warning every class that is to use them to take the best of care of these new books. However, it seems that he does want them to be studied.

CHURCH OF CHRIST REVIVAL CONTINUES

Owing to the extra large attendance and fine interest Sunday and Sunday night, it was decided best to continue the gospel meeting at the church of Christ another week, with preaching at nights only through the week, and 11:00 A. M. and 7:45 P. M. on Lord's days. The attendance and interest have been good from the first, and two precious souls were baptized into Christ Sunday night. The congregational singing, led by Dick Chisholm, has been one of the inspirational and enjoyable features of the series. The speaker has done his best to impress his hearers that the church of the New Testament had no creed but Christ (Matt. 16:16); no discipline but the New Testament (2 Tim. 3:16-17; Gal. 6:16; 2 John 9), and no plan to enter Christ and his church and to live, work and worship other than the Will of Christ, beginning with Acts 2.

The following services and subjects are announced through next Sunday night: Friday night, "The Gospel Chain;" Saturday night, "The Oneness of the Bible;" Sunday 10:00 A. M. Bible study (let every member and friend in reach attend this important study) 11:00 A. M. subject: "Christian Worship;" 6:30 the young people have a beautiful and impressive meeting; 7:45 P. M. subject: "The Church of the First Century, the Rise of Roman and Greek Catholicism, the Reformation and the Restoration of the Church."

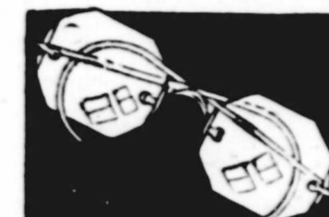

Many have been attending from Meadow, Seagraves, Tahoka, Loveland, Johnson and visitors from a number other places. The general public always has a cordial welcome to all services. Members are expected to attend and we urge every member to attend these meetings.
