We Take Our Departure From California

Some of our ten readers seem to be getting anxious to come on home. We added two more since our last report—we mean readers to this column, they are the Burnett boys at El Centro, and they say they have a correction or two to make when they get here in the summer on their vacation. By the way, we'd forgot that our preacher brother at Grandfield, Okla., was a reader, which makes an even dozen. Well, pack on the bags and souvenirs, and we're off for Texas and its black hills for to see once more. On the part of the Terrans, it was not a pleasant parting, for the California kin had shown us a wonderful time, and apparently, and we sincerely believe the Californians had taken delight in showing us their great state. And, by the way, it will never seem so far to California any more.

At Beaumont, instead of going back through Indio and the Box Canyon, we took No. 80 for the cities of El Centro, Calif., and Yuma, and Gila Bend, and into Glendale, and our car registered over 500 miles on this route, and was the longest day's drive on the entire trip. It was nearly 100 miles out of the way back to Glendale, but we had promised to return that way. We arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mumford Smith along after nine o'clock, their time, too late to get Amos and Andy, but they were still up and ready to put the little pot in the big one, although when we left, we had promised to be back there Saturday instead of Monday night, which shows what a hold this sorceress, California, gets on one. Of course we had to review our trip, and talk TEXAS awhile, the later subject being a real pleasure one to Mumford and family, before we retired, but we had already decided that we would stay a day in their little city, as we were thoroughly worn out.

But about the trip. As it was still dark, we had some difficulty in getting out of Redlands, but finally hit the trail, and moped along those good roads at a fine rate. One drives for a few hours to the south and not many miles from the Salton Sea, and the inhabitants get scarcer and almost play out before one reaches the Imperial Valley. In the most desolate part of this road, California is spending money to make an even better road. That is, they are making the paving almost as thick again with asphalt, and we were held up for a half hour or more. But we had a treat for sore eyes. A "happy young couple" in rumble seat just ahead of us put on the treat, along with the foreman of the paving job we had looked for but had not seen. The youth was hatless, so was the maiden, but who cared. Just as long as their arms held out, and saliva continued to flow, weren't they happy? But from the rate of slobbering over each other they were doing, they surely had a jug of water or sour pickles in the rumble seat. Elmer wanted to stay behind that car all day, but it was a rather slow affair, and Letha and the writer didn't seem to get the kick out of the performance that Elmer did and we voted them.

We reached El Centro along toward noon, but before and after, we saw what is believed some of the biggest vegetable gardens in the world; carrots, beets, lettuce, cabbage, spinach (wouldn't that be a Paradise for Popeye) not mention berries, and the harvest was underway. It sure is wonderful. But it was as hot as middle-hades there that day in May or June. What do you suppose it is like there in July? We first found "Bigguns" Bennett, who was just through shearing one Californian of his stubble, and jumped right on another fellow. In fact, he didn't have much time to talk to us and the proprietor of the shop asked if the Texas sheriff was still looking for him. We told him that we thought the Rangers had lost the trial, and went on up the street to another shop where Rich Bennett works. He had just finished a man too, but when he saw us, he grabbed his coat—and we must just go to dinner with him. He's

Plains Region Sell Big Orders to Los Angeles

Of an increasingly large number of head of livestock and large quantities of some farm and dairy products bought from Texas by Los Angeles county, Cal., firms, the Panhandle-Plains region sells more than does any other part of the state.

James F. Bone, in his second tour of Texas as trade commissioner for the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, revealed that here Friday afternoon. He arrived Friday and will remain through, today, interviewing wholesalers, retail merchants, manufacturers' agents, and chamber of commerce officials.

Object of the tour, now in its second of six scheduled weeks, is to study methods of increasing an exchange of agricultural and raw materials from Texas for the manufactured products of Los Angeles.

As Texas "best western customer," Los Angeles county in 1933 increased its dollar volume of purchases of Texas commodities 80 per cent over 1932, the aggregate amount being $9,540,000, or an increase of $4,273,000.

That is a "new high" in flow of Los Angeles money into Texas, Mr. Bone said, adding:

"We understand conditions are good here, and we're here to get some more business."

The gesture of cooperation, he explained, is based on the circumstance that as Los Angeles sells more manufactured products in Texas, she automatically requires a larger quantity of agricultural products and raw materials from this state.

Hogs, calves, sheep, eggs, butter, cattle, dressed poultry, peanuts, green corn, beans, cottonseed oil, carbon black, sulphur, and cotton are bought from Texas.

Mr. Bone spoke on "Community Development," especially as affected by exchange of raw commodities and manufactured products, before the American Business club at luncheon at Hilton hotel Friday.—Lubbock Avalanche.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our deepest appreciation to all those who were so kind and helpful to us during our recent bereavement. We also wish to thank the ones who brought the beautiful flowers. May God's blessings be upon each and everyone of you.

Mrs. J. C. Draper and children.

a Texan and still calls it dinner. Why says he, my wife has an extra good dinner today and will be greatly disappointed when she finds that Brownfield people have passed thru and not stopped. But there was still more than 300 miles between us and Glendale. But argue as he would, we had to keep moving.

Some 30 miles before reaching Yuma, we ran through some real sand hills. Now if any of you Territes think you have seen sand hills, and have not been out of Texas, you've just seen mole hills. For miles and miles this graded road which has been built from ten to twenty feet above the local terrain, and topped with a heavy coating of asphalt, winds in and around these mountains of white sand, which we understand are constantly shifting. For miles and miles you can't see a tree or shrub anywhere, then finally you emerge out to where the greasewood is being covered gradually. Where these huge mountains of sand come from us is a mystery to us. It was through this section that the famous board drive was originally built, and one can trace it yet along the pavement when the planks, nailed to the 2x4's have been dragged out to the edge of the right of way to rot or be covered up. Just why the highway force doesn't burn it is another mystery to us. The board or plank drive was too narrow for cars to pass, and "switches" were made occasionally so tourists could pass each other, for to get off in that sand meant a "stick."

Yuma was reached early in the afternoon, Arizona time, and after a filing of both the car and ourselves we pulled out again. Yuma has about 5000 people and one of the state's main colleges, as well a sizable military post, as it is near the international boundary. The country one goes through from there to Gila Bend is rather uninteresting mostly greasewood flats, but one rather scenic mountain pass is encountered. Gila Bend was reached about dark. It was still 75 miles to Glendale, and of course all this distance was driven in the dark, but we passed over one of the longest bridges we saw on the trip from there to Glendale. More coming up next week.

ANOTHER PIONEER PASSES

Prof. A. K. Huckleberry, aged 63, passed away at the family residence in the Harmony community, Sunday morning about 6 o'clock, rather suddenly. He had been suffering quite awhile however, and had been unable to fill his place for some time as superintendent of the Challis school, yet his sudden death was a distinct shock to the community. Funeral services were conducted at the local Baptist church Monday afternoon at three o'clock, by Rev. J. B. Vinson, old friend and pastor, as both are pioneers of Terry county. The body was laid to rest in the local cemetery.

Prof. Huckleberry was born in the state of Nebraska in 1871, but came to Comanche county, Texas, in early manhood. He married the eldest daughter of the late Wm. Howard and wife, and when Uncle Bill migrated to Terry county more than 30 years ago, Mr. Huckleberry and family came too. He has spent much time as instructor in the school rooms of Terry, but moved to Fisher county a good many years ago, returning to Terry about four years ago, and has been teaching most of that time at Challis. Besides his wife, he leaves eleven children, two of which live in California and could not attend the funeral. A host of other relatives and friends regret his passing.

Mr. Huckleberry was a faithful friend to all, and especially the youth who was trying for an education. He was a faithful member of the Baptist church and had been many years. The writer counted him as one of his best friends.

Mrs. W. G. McDonald and Mrs. Bill Settles were in shopping, Tuesday afternoon from the Needmore section.

State Director Finds Progress Under NRA

Dallas, April 16.—Reports of business activity and statistics on wages and employment for the first quarter of 1934 are bearing striking evidence of the effectiveness of N.R.A., according to H. P. Drought, State Director for Texas.

"Despite isolated critics who apparently regard the parts as more important than the plan as a whole, irrefutable evidence continues to pour in, all tending to verify the real and lasting benefits of planned economy as represented by N.R.A.," Mr. Drought said.

"The very news items which have been disturbing, such as the threatened strike of workers in automobile manufacture, are themselves harbingers of improved conditions," Drought stated. "Seldom do such conditions come about save in periods of improvement."

"It is interesting to note, too, that employers are becoming as interested in code compliance as employees have been in the past. Many business men have reported to my offices that the improvements in business methods since June 16, 1933, has been so great and so generally beneficial as make a return to pre-NRA conditions unthinkable. This, of course, bears out the feeling of President Roosevelt that the majority of men in any undertaking prefer to conduct business upon an ethical plane and in accord with high ideals, were they not restrained by an unscrupulous few. NRA then becomes the guarantee to the good citizen that he may operate upon a better basis than before, just as our police laws guarantee the rights and liberties of our people by restraining the lawless and selfish few."

J. C. DRAPER PASSES

One of the most highly respected citizens of Terry County was J. C. Draper, 74, who passed away last Friday afternoon, and was buried Saturday afternoon in the Union cemetery. Funeral services were conducted at the Union Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. Weaver Lovelace, assisted by Revs. J. B. Vinson and J. H. McLeod, both of this city. Hundreds from all over the county attended the funeral as he was held in high esteem.

About a year ago, Mr. Draper disposed of his farm in the Union community, and he and aged wife moved into the home of their son, Roy Draper, who lives about a mile out on the Lamesa road. He had dropped several remarks lately that led his friends to believe he knew the end was approaching. He had been mending a plow, and his son, who was working on a windmill noted that he looked tired and ordered him in the house to rest, telling him he would fix the plow. His wife also noted his tired look, and ordered him to bed. Fifty-five minutes from that time his spirit left the tenement of clay. A physician had been summoned and made an examination, and said he was in a bad fix, but apparently his pulse was still all right. The physician had no more than reached town than he was called back, but Mr. Draper was dead when he reached the bedside.

Mr. Draper was born near Birmingham, Ala., was married to Miss Elize Barton 47 years ago. They came to Texas about 34 years ago, and have lived in west Texas most of that time. 11 of which have been spent in Terry county. To this union was born four boys and a girl. The boys are Rev. Will Draper of Lorenzo; John of Southland, and Roy and Otis of this city, and Mrs. Mary Stewart of Fort Worth, who with his wife survive him, and all attended the funeral.

A. M. Fore was in this week prizing it up about getting two papers. Said he had been giving one to a neighbor who did not get the Herald.

Child's Health Day Been Set For May 1

Austin, Texas.—"Mothers and Babies First" is the slogan for Child Health Day, which will be held on May first, according to Dr. H. N. Barnett, Director, Bureau of Child Hygiene. Texas will join with the other states in the nation-wide celebration. There is a special significance in this year's celebration because children are always among the greatest sufferers in periods of hard times.

Child Health Day is a challenge to all adults to take stock of the health needs of all children, babies as well as those of school age, in their communities. All should be interested in furthering all measure to conserve health and promote happiness of children. An examination by the family physician at this time would not be amiss. He can detect signs of malnutrition, unsound teeth, heart defects, poor vision, poor hearing, and many other defects and can advise the parents of the proper treatment necessary.

Parents should take an inventory of what they are doing for their children, to see if they are neglecting anything that should be done to remove health handicaps.

It is suggested that every community in the State conduct suitable exercises on May Day. Texas has always taken a prominent part in this observation and each year number of clinics for babies and preschool children are held. In this way a community-wide interest is centered on the small child. Teachers, children, and members of clubs are enlisted to establish year round activities for the betterment of mothers and babies.

Leases Hogan Interests In Yoakum County

Our old friend, Rev. H. D. Heath was in last Friday and informed us that he and his sons had leased the entire holdings of Mrs. Madge J. Hogan, for five years. We understand that this grass is close in to the Heath farms, where feed can be had to feed the livestock they propose to put on the grass.

Rev. Heath informed us that the ranch would be stocked with the best blooded mares in this section many of which he now has and others will be added as fast as possible. Good mares and mules will be the specialty of the ranch. Rev. Heath already has a good jack and others will be bought. He has a Percheon stallion that weighs slightly over a ton.

With the cut in cotton acreage this year on the 800 acre Heath farms, much feed can be planted to carry these stock through the winter.

The funeral services were held from the First Baptist Church of that place Wednesday afternoon and was attended by a large concourse of people.—Lubbock Herald.

Rep. Thomas Names Terry County Com.

The Centennial Bill passed by the 43rd Legislature provides for a Centennial Advisory Board and that each Senator shall name two persons from each county in his or her Senatorial District; that each Representative shall name two persons from each county which he or she represents. Complying with the duties and responsibilities thus conferred upon me as Representative from this District, I am asking that Professor W. C. Holden and Mrs. J. H. Goodman serve on this Board as Members from Lubbock County; Mrs. E. E. Callo-way and Mrs. H. P. Caviness, Lynn County; Mrs. Carl Roundtree and Mrs. McLindsey, Dawson County; and Mrs. W. W. Price and Mrs. Roy Wingerd, Terry County.

As I have not had time to confer with the people of the other counties, I am not ready to make these appointments now, but will do so soon. There are many who are well-qualified for these places and whom I should like to appoint, however, I may appoint only two from each county.

Tech Profs. Get Truck Load Souvenirs

Lubbock, Texas, April.—A half-truckload of souvenirs from natives of the Yaqui Indian territory of Old Mexico has been brought back by Dr. W. C. Holden and his party after a six weeks absence on the first major Texas Technological College scientific expedition.

"The Indians became quite friendly toward us after the first few days," Dr. Holden said. "We were in the closest contact with the natives and were in many of the homes. They permitted us to see unusual religious ceremonies and even make pictures of them. We have compiled a large amount of information which we consider very valuable in modern research."

Kendrick Gets Car Wrecked—Not Hurt

As R. M. Kendrick was going to Lubbock Monday afternoon late, with his son Richard, who was driving, they were hit by another car at Meadow. The other car was being driven by a lady. She side swiped the Kendrick car, tearing the running board and fender almost off on that side.

It seems that both cars were going toward Lubbock, but instead of going straight up the highway, Mr. Kendrick went through the town, and came back into the highway out of the town. We understand that apparently the lady was driving on the wrong side of the road.

Some Fine Showers Have Fallen Here

Saturday afternoon rain fell in this section that amounted to something like a third inch. This was followed Monday night with another shower not so heavy.

As this is being written Wednesday afternoon, another rain is falling that promises a season in this section. We hope so, at least. The other showers have been quite spotted, heavier and lighter in some places than in Brownfield.

FRED EDGAR WELCH KILLED IN CYCLONE

Last Wednesday night, April 4, a dreadful cyclone and flood swept across the country near London, Texas, and four were killed. One among the dead was Fred Welch, twenty years of age. He had a large bruised spot on his head and thought to be struck by something and killed. After searching for sometime they found him about eight o'clock A. M. lying in the mud and trash.

Mr. Welch and family lived around Brownfield for a number of years, but moved last December. They have a number of friends and relatives here to mourn his passing. He was laid to rest Friday in a cemetery near London.

F. M. Cox and Jim Cunningham were among those in from old Yoakum this week.

Methodist District Conference of the Lubbock district, is in session at Lubbock this week.

A string band will play before the curtain rises and also between acts. This together with readings and singing will offer plenty of entertainment besides the play.

The cast of the play is one that can do the job well and you shouldn't miss seeing Francis McPherson as Betty Kane; Kenneth Partell as Tom Kane; Boy Tarpley as Mr. Bryson; Mary Dee Thomas as Elizabeth Skinner, Martha McClish as Lillian Paget, R. L. Bandy, as Bobby Dunn; Wilton Smith as Speed Temple and Woodrow Chambliss as Doctor Benjamin Shiner.

Commercial Failures Less Than Last Year

Austin, Texas, April 15.—Commercial failures in Texas during March numbered only 21, compared with 32 in February and the same number in March last year, a decline of 34 per cent in each case, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. During the first three months of the current year there were 79 failures, against 187 in the corresponding period last year, a drop of 58 per cent.

Liabilities of the firms that failed totaled $435,000 in March against $468,000 in February and $569,000 in March last year, declines of 7 and 24 per cent respectively. For the first three months, liabilities totaling $1,205,000 were 65 per cent less than the $3,423,000 during the corresponding 1933 period.

Honors Won By Plains Hi. at Lubbock

Lloyd Coke, who gave a pathetic portrayal of the role of Rexie in "Pink and Patches" won first place among the boys for the best individual acting. The entire play was ranked third place by one judge. Clara Estes who played the part of "Texie" was ranked fourth place by one judge, and Lora Beach, was ranked sixth, by one.

John Sam Cox was ranked third in Junior Boys' Declamation contests. Ralph McClellan playing singles in tennis, won over four other players and lost to Lubbock in his fifth game. Jesse Criswell and Ralph McClellan playing doubles, won four games.

NEW CHEVROLET STANDARD CARS NOW ON DISPLAY

Chevrolet today announced "the world's lowest price six-cylinder car" with the introduction of the new improved 1934 Standard Six models, supplementing the Master Chevrolet models previously presented.

Two closed and two open models comprise the new improved Standard line. They are the sport roadster, $490; phaeton, $520; coupe, $510; and two-door sedan, $500. The new cars, says the Chevrolet Motor Company's announcement, thus list under any other six on the market, and $85 to $95 over corresponding models of the Master Chevrolets.

The new cars are replete with major improvements designed to achieve better performance, riding qualities, comfort, and appearance. Both chassis and body have been completely redesigned in keeping with the latest advances in engineering and styling.

Roadability, and especially stability, have been enhanced through the adoption of a wider chassis frame and more widely spaced leaf springs front and rear, in conjunction with a longer front axle and increased tread of the front wheels. These chassis improvements have permitted the use of big roomy bodies having maximum width and ample leg room.

In the power plant, smoothness, economy and flexibility have been improved through a thorough revision of the inlet and exhaust systems, with higher compression, and a refined valve and tappet mechanism, including a redesigned camshaft.

Ralls, Texas will vote on 3.2 April 20th. The county seat, C. byton, has already legalized brew.

Savior and her husband were told that there was no room in the inn. While we call none of our lodging places inns Christ's parents are not in a class by themselves of being turned away. We have seen men and women and children have to hunt all over town for a place to sleep, and as for an apartment furnished or unfurnished, or a residence to rent worthy the name, they are not here. People come to the Herald office almost every day looking for a house or an apartment, as they think some are being advertised, only to be told that people don't have to advertise them as they rent right now anyway. Well, you say this is a healthy condition. Yes, and no. It is a healthy condition when there are no houses to rent or apartments to let, but you stop your growing when these conditions obtain long at a time. Some progressive citizens should build a few small cottages and apartments.

There is going to be a very important constitutional amendment up before the voters at the general election this fall, and they should be prepared to give it their support. We refer to H. J. R. No. 39, which proposes to tax University of Texas lands in west Texas for school purposes in districts that contain University lands. The people voted an amendment to tax them several years ago for county purposes, but the higher courts held that it did not include public school districts. The University of Texas is fast becoming one of the richest educational institutions in America already having an endowment far above most State Universities, and approaching those like Yale, Harvard and Northwestern. This has mostly accumulated by oil royalties in western Texas. No one begrudges the U. of T. one farthing. We all want a great educational institution that bears the name of Texas. But there are many common and independent school districts in those areas where University lands lay that half the taxable territory is for school purposes untaxable. We don't believe there is a citizen in Texas that cannot see that it is a square thing to do to vote for the amendment this fall, if he is made to see the straight of the matter.

IN MEMORY OF FRED EDGAR WELCH

In Fred's short stay here on earth, He made many friends; But in an awful cyclone, His life was brought to end. We cannot see just why it is, That death must sometimes come, But as we go onward, We all will meet our doom. But oh, our hearts are sore and sad; No one can take his place, No one can hear his voice again, Or see that smiling face.

Don't weep for him dear parents, We will never see him any more, But let us prepare to meet him, Upon that golden shore. —Vergie Marie Gibson.

Bruce Hancock was in from the farm at Union last Friday, and said that no matter if the picture we put in his ad was a mule instead of a jack it was getting results. We understand however, that some of the neighbor women thought it was a picture of Bruce.

Geo. Snodgrass is building a nice little cottage on east main, which when completed will help the looks of the open spaces up in that section. Now is the time to build.

Seven from here, including Jack Holt, Jack Bailey, Ike Bailey, Glen Webber, Ralph Bailey, L. B. Forbus, Cecil Smith, and J. M. Burlison of Meadow, were employed by the Carter Chevrolet Co. to go to Detroit last week and drive back eight new cars. They were carried up there in a bus which they hired. We understand that several of the above will drive back their own car.

to be Freshman soon who seem to find pleasure in helping keep the library. Since they have already had practice along that line, they may be a great help to the Freshman class.

The majority of the class has always shown excellent sportsmanship and shall continue to do so. They have all been good losers and good winners in every case. They will be a compliment to high school life because of sportsmanship and teamwork.

There are about five girls and an equal amount of boys who will be the leading representatives of the Freshman class in athletic activities. The girls are baseball, tennis, and volleyball stars and the boys star in baseball, jumping, (broad and high) and running. Several have made such records which any class should be proud of. One reason of their success is their sportsmanship.

The future Freshman class plans to do its part in the school work and activities. It plans to have representatives for all occasions. In plays, in athletics, in contests, and in every event it wishes to take part in and rank high. The chief thought of every future member of this class is to take, in a sporting manner, the initiation to B. H. S.

For these reasons the 1934 and '35 Freshmen should be successful against any and all odds.

of the Seventh Grade.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The Home Economics Club met Monday, April 16. Plans were made for an outing Friday evening, April 20, provided the weather permitted.

This news pepped the members up and they will probably show more interest in the club from here on. A very delicious lunch was planned and the club adjourned.

HISTORY CLUB

Monday, April 16, the History Club met and heard at least one joke from each member of the class. The club discussed their program to be given for chapel, Wednesday, April 30.

There was a prize to be given for the best joke. It was awarded to Mr. Penn.

Coach Daniels and about sixteen boys have been practicing the fundamentals of football for about two weeks now. Starting about the middle of this week they will get into harder work. The boys look pretty good already considering things.

It is rumored that new suits are in store next fall for all the boys that will work hard enough for them. Although most of it is new material we believe we have a ball club that will be worth seeing in action next season. Don't let the boys and Coach "down."

P. T. A.

The Parent-Teachers Association met Thursday, April 12 and elected new officers for next year as follows: President Mrs. R. L. Harris; Vice Pres., Mr. P. F. Lawlis; Mrs. C. C. Coleman, Secretary; and Mrs. Eckert, Treasurer.

After the election of officers the Maids and Matrons Club gave a very interesting program. Mrs. Jacobson gave an explanation and a synopsis of the Art Exhibit. Also several pictures from the "Masters" were characterized.

AN APPRECIATION

The basketball girls showed their appreciation to their honorable Coach, M. L. Penn, by presenting him a fountain pen and pencil set. The squad was very proud to stand up before the school and tell how good Coach Penn had been to them throughout the basketball season. They sincerely hope that the girls that follow in their footsteps may have the privilege of being on the team with Mr. Penn as their Coach. These girls and Coach have had many a hard fight, but whether winning or losing they always came out smiling. "Three cheers for Coach Penn!"

As President of the Freshmen Class, I feel that we are greatly honored in being the first class in charge of the school paper. It is a high honor and deeply appreciated by the class. Being first, however, we are at a slight disadvantage; but we shall make the best of our advantages.

The Sophomore Class will serve you next week. We sincerely hope that they will serve with as much gratitude as we do.

ONE ACT PLAY CONTEST

The one-act play contest held Tuesday night, April 10, in the High School Auditorium was a very interesting show, for every class was well represented in the audience as well as in the play. Each class had reserved seats and before each play the class presenting the play gave a yell and a song.

The Seniors won first place, the Freshmen second place, the Juniors third place, and the Sophomores fourth. Although the Sophomores won last in the plays they won first in the ticket selling with $7.70. The Freshman Class was second.

The best actor and actress came from the two classes winning highest honors. Howard Boucher was the lucky boy. Bill Savage won second, and Roy Chambliss won third. Maxine Hardin was the lucky girl. Esther Ruth Smith was second, and Lucille McSpadden third.

During an interlude Mr. J. J. Faulkner, from the school for the blind at Austin, played several peppy numbers for the audience which were appreciated very much. At the same time the audience was entertained by Miss Laura Lee Jones, who gave several vocal selections. Jocelyn Lambert tap-danced several numbers.

It was reported that the program was enjoyed by everyone.

STUDENTS HEAR BLIND SINGER

At the beginning of the chapel program Wednesday morning, April 11, a few numbers were given by the Girls' Glee Club.

Following this the students were entertained by Mr. J. J. Faulkner, and his accompanist, Mr. Cloud. Mr. Faulkner represents the Texas School for the Blind located at Austin. It is amazing and almost unbelievable how he can play the piano with such cleverness and rapidity, never having seen one. He stated that he had been blind from infancy.

Another thing that amazed the student body was his accurate time-keeper, and his ability to tell the exact time by feeling of his watch.

Mr. Faulkner and his accompanist have excellent voices also. They gave a splendid duet, an interpretation of "My Wild Irish Rose." The applause was thunderous. This, if nothing more, showed the feelings of the school.

On Thursday morning, Mr. Faulkner and his assistant presented another program, giving several musical numbers and a comical dialogue. He demonstrated the system the blind use in writing (Braille). Also he read for us from a magazine written by the Braille system. The "slate" used by the blind to work arithmetic looks something like a set of type. The numbers being raised can be read by touch.

An excellent lecture given as a challenge to normal school children to do more than people who are blind, was the main feature of the program. The program was enjoyed immensely by everyone and gave encouragement and a challenge to every boy and girl in Brownfield High School.

THE FUTURE FRESHMAN CLASS

The Freshman class of the future should be successful throughout 1934 and '35, because the present Seventh grade is. The following data should be a great help in judging the future Freshman class.

There will probably be thirty-four or thirty-five pupils promoted to next year's Freshman class of Brownfield

High School. Out of this student body there will be several who possess some special talent and who are special interest in school activities.

There will probably be two or three pupils who find music especially that of the piano, most interesting and enjoyable. These girls will most likely help out often in the weekly programs of B. H. S. and represent, trying to develop some certain ambition. Nearly every pupil has some on several occasions, the school with music and musical readings. Besides being interested in the playing of music, there are about five girls who continue to find pleasure in the studying of music.

The future Freshman class will contain a group of about six pupils who are especially attracted by parts in plays, and who not only do well but enjoy working, and working hard. From this dramatic group may perhaps grow a cast of good characters in various plays.

Two future Freshmen are good printers and can, therefore, make excellent posters and maps. They are rapidly improving in this work and will probably be a great help to B. H. S.

Six or seven girls are gifted in the art of cutting letters, freehanded, and can, of course, make beautiful and attractive posters by doing so. Next year's Freshman class will profit by the presence of these girls.

Two girls, who will be Freshman of 1934 and '35, find their chief work to be the giving of readings. They have entertained numbers of times and, of course, will do so in the future. They will be very good representatives of the Freshman in girls' declamation in the 1935 League Meet.

One of the girls who will soon be in the Eighth grade is a real debater. She proved her ability as one when in an informal debate she showed such "pep" and "rapidity of comeback." She will, in the next four years, probably represent good old B. H. S. in debating.

Two "Freshman-to-be" girls are talented in art. They can draw beautiful sketches and paint them well. If they show such improvement as they have lately they may, as soon as next year, be the school artists of B. H. S.

There are two girls who are sure

Signs Seem to Tell Us Russia Soon to Fight

Washington diplomatic circles are busy weighing persistent reports that Japan and Russia are preparing for war.

Will the spring war bring? Many think that it must. Mr. Vaughn, who has been following at first hand the intricacies of Oriental politics, gives his reasons for a somewhat opposite view in Collier's Weekly.

Neill was busy watering trees in the court yard, and it was not election year, either. Meedames G. J. Rose, Henry and John Williams and Moorhead called on the Herald. Atty. Neill, Spencer and Boone Hunter attended the banquet at Lubbock in honor of the new district officers.

WHAT DOES PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT MEAN?

No one is opposed to sensible and reasonable profits, but the morality of the case is that a great segment of our people are in actual distress and that as between profit first and humanity first and profit afterwards we have no room for hesitation.

the people and not for increasing the prices upon them, yet there are scores and scores of men who are in business pretend to interpret the NRA to mean that prices should be raised, and most of them endeavor to convince their customers that that is what President Roosevelt means when he asked them to sign for the privilege of posting the blue eagle.

ent administration has had to deal, and has prevented the new deal from making progress. Our idea of the NRA is that "keep the price down to small profit but not sell at a loss."

USING YOUR MONEY TO CREATE UNEMPLOYMENT

What would you think of a program to spend hundreds of millions of dollars of taxpayers' money to produce something of which the nation already has a surplus, and throw thousands of men out of work?

It is assumed by the senator that hydro-electric projects undertaken by the government will displace 53,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of electric energy now generated by fuel plants which use 40,000,000 tons of coal annually.

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

IN MEMORY OF MR. DRAPER

A life with its burdens and cares has departed.

God has reached down from on high, Left our hearts bleeding and broken, Took our loved one back to the sky.

Life seems so sad and empty, Our house so lonely and still, A place in our home is vacant That can never be refilled.

We miss that dear old face, And the kindly smiling eyes, The gentle voice of welcome, And the guiding words of advice.

Sometimes our hearts seem heavy And the burden more than we can bear, But lo! there comes a vision of a Home without sorrow or care.

Then we know its ever best for Gods will to be done; That our dear old dad is waiting, In the home that he has won.

And when at last our journey's ended, And our work on earth is done, May we hear our loved one say:

"Look Jesus, all my family have come."

By his daughter-in-law,
Mrs. Otis Draper.

DO WE NEED BIRTH CONTROL FOR IDEAS?

Is science feeding new labor-saving machines to society faster than society can digest them? This question is raised by Sir Josiah Stamp, English industrialist and economist, in the current Rotarian Magazine, with the suggestion that it may be necessary to develop a "technique of accommodation to change" for civilization.

He points out that much machinery is "junked" before it has paid for itself. Too, each new labor-saving device throws men out of work, at least temporarily. It should be possible, he adds, to speed up and coordinate the process of adoption and "to take some more social responsibility for hardships to individuals through no fault of their own, resulting from changes which benefit society."

"Instead of assuming," says Sir Josiah, "that nothing need be done until there is an overwhelming case for it, and we are, indeed, almost too desperate to do what then needs to be done; instead of supposing that nothing serious ever really happens until it hits us—let us have a germ of our social and scientific organizations, some group of minds that can be eventually blamed and kicked for not having looked forward and warned us, and adjusted our social organization to meet the bump."

WHO'S TO PAY FOR NEW DEAL?

Noting that the national debt of the United States will reach an unprecedented total of 31 billions in 1935, which means some $7,500 per family, Fred C. Clausen, Wisconsin manufacturer, sounds a note of warning in the current Rotarian Magazine. "Add other long term obligations, of states, counties and cities, real estate mortgages on farms and city properties, debts of railroads, utilities, industries and like obligations, and the total is 150 billion—or about one-half the estimated national wealth." Mr. Clausen paints roughly America's financial picture as follows: national wealth 300 billions; indebtedness 150 billions; income this year, 50 billions; public expenditures this year, 18 billions. "What does this spell for the future?" he asks. "From the very size of the debt its payment will be projected into the future decades. Because of today's necessities we are inclined to let the coming years take care of themselves. And that is a dangerous attitude. "The new deal is on its way. In our journey we must pay the costs of transportation," he concludes, "but may we maintain a proper sense of proportion."
