RED GOOSE—THE OJIBWA INDIAN BOY

An Indian Story for Boys and Girls
By Carlyle Emery

When the whitemen entered the Pipestone Valley, scared to all Indians, Red Goose thot of a plan to get them out without fighting. With Red Eagle, Bear Cat, and Little Beaver, he played the part of a ghost, and the white men fled in terror. Now go with the story.

Shortly after the exciting adventure in Pipestone Valley, sickness came to the Ojibwa Camp and many braves developed high fevers. Ever Red Eagle, himself, became a victim of the strange malady that threatened the lives of many of his warriors. The Indians, as you know, were very superstitious in those days. They didn't know about God, so they prayed to the Mountains, and the Rivers. And sometimes they prayed to the Sun, too.

So, when members of the Ojibwa Tribe were taken ill, Red Goose got down on his knees and, facing the bright Sun, he began to chat, keeping tune with a tom-tom:

Heyyyyyyyyyaaaaaaa - Say ye ye Heyyyyyyyyyaaaaaaa - Say ye ye He nisso nihi! Hi ye ye.

Then, rising quickly, he went into the tepee where his father, Red Eagle, was lying ill.

"I have sung to the Sun, my father he said.

Red Eagle didn't answer for a minute or two, then turning slowly he braced himself up on one elbow and replied:

"Good! Now you are ready to find white buffalo. Go my son and bring back white buffalo skin Then my people will get well. Follow the wolf my son—he is friend of Ojibwa and will lead you to white buffalo. We are wolf people, and the wolf will not fail you."

This may sound queer, but you must remember the Indians were not civilized and knew nothing about our ways of curing sickness. And the strange part of it is, that many remarkable cures were apparently effected by their strange methods. The Ojibwa Tribe believed that only the skin of a white buffalo would take the fever away, and they also believed that only a wolf could find a white buffalo.

That's why Red Eagle told his son to follow the wolf and bring back a white buffalo skin.

Little Beaver became very much excited when she learned Red Goose was starting out in search of a white buffalo, and she begged to go with him.

But Little Beaver was a girl and Red Goose did not think it wise for her to accompany him on such an important mission.

"No, Little Beaver," he said. "You stay here I must travel fast."

MEN WHO PROLONG LIFE

Our ideas about fame are peculiar. Let a man start and win a great war bringing death and suffering to thousands upon thousands of people and leaving the world with infinitely more misery than it had when he came on the scene, and we will write his name in headlines and history books—as with Napoleon of Bismark. But the man who actually leaves the world a happier place than he found it—the man who makes it possible for people to live longer, who reduces the sum total of pain and despair—is very apt to wind up with a brief little footnote so that only the specialists remember his name.

You can name the great generals of the World War without half trying, for instance: Hindenburg, Haig, Pershing, Foch, Ludendorff and half a dozen more. But can you tell what is the claim to fame of these three physicians—Doctor George Minot, William P. Murphy, and George H. Whipple?

Their names have been in the papers just recently. They have received jointly the Noble prize in medicine for 1934, as a result of their work in combating anemia.

Because of what these three men did, a great many people are alive and well today, who would otherwise be in their graves. If we were sensible in our measures of human greatness, shouldn't we write their names above those of the generals and the statesmen?

These three doctors were the ones who discovered that the use liver, or liver extract, will cure pernicious anemia. Heretofore that disease had been invariably fatal.

Once the diagnosis was made, the most skilled physician could do little but stand by and watch the malady progress to its tragic conclusion. The diagnosis was a death sentence.

Now it is not. The physician has a remedy, cheap and efficient. Pernicious anemia, at one stroke, has passed from the class of incurable diseases into the list marked 'curable'.

And the thing to remember is that this is a boon which the human race can enjoy for all time to come. It is a permanent addition to human knowledge.

Death's boundaries have been pushed back a little, forever. As long as civilization endures, there will be more happiness and less misery because of what these three men have done.

You might take the trouble to remember their names—Doctors Minot, Murphy, and Whipple. They surely deserve a fame equal to that of the Clemenceaus and the Falkenhayns—Abilene News.

FERGUSON RECORD

To The (Dallas) News: The fourth Ferguson administration is now drawing to a close, and will soon be added to the pages of our political history. Impartially judged by its accomplishments, I believe that all of our people will admit that in constructive achievements and tireless service for the interest of all the people of this State that this administration will compare most favorably with the greatest administrations we have ever had.

With the fate of the Texas Centennial hanging in the balance, it remained for citizen, official spokesman and editor Jim to take the most courageous stand and make the most logical, broad-gauged and patriotic appeal to the Legislature for adequate support for the Centennial that has yet been made—doing this in the face of the fact that all of our Dallas papers and a majority of our people have been most unfriendly to Mrs. Ferguson's administration.

It will be remembered that Jim Ferguson led the fight in Texas for our moratorium laws. He has given the national administration the fullest measure of co-operation and loyal support, although the leaders of the Roosevelt administration in Texas ignored him. This administration is going to round out its unparalleled accomplishments with the Brazos River bill, the Colorado River dam, the tax penalty and interest remission bill, and to crown it with undying honor, it seems that, through the tireless and unselfish service of Governor Ferguson and husband Jim, the Texas Centennial is assured. In addition to all of these great, constructive accomplishments, under the leadership of the Fergusons, the running expenses of our State Government for the two-year period has been reduced approximately $14,000,000.

I submit that with all of these accomplishments to the credit of the Fergusons that the pencil of the scurrilous cartoonist has been lamed and that their record has confuted the pen of our prejudiced editorial writers. Honor where honor is due. I take my hat off to the twice-elected woman Governor as one of the truly great Governors of Texas.

LARRY MILLS, 6109 Reiger Ave., Dallas.

FARMERS URGED TO GATHER SUPPLY OF SORGHUM SEED

COLLEGE STATION.—Farmers would be wise to gather by hand the seed of locally adapted varieties of sweet sorghums (cane), in sufficient amount to take care of their own planting requirements, because conditions indicate that there will be a shortage of planting seed next spring, according to E. A. Miller, Extension agronomist. Certain varieties of grain sorghum will also be difficult to obtain Mr. Miller said.

"It is good business on the part of farmers to so harvest and preserve suitable seed. If not available on a farmer's own farm, immediate effort should be made to purchase the seed needed next year before the grain is fed out or shipped from the locality. Certainly the farmer who thus protects the seed supply is most likely to have good seed of adapted varieties for use next fall spring," he continued.

On account of the drouth, many fields of sorghum are producing seed only from branches and sucker stalks grown after the fall rains. Heads on these will mature late, and if the seed is subjected to a hard freeze before it is thoroughly mature, the germination will be injured. Immature seed which has not been frozen will germinate nearly as well as mature seed, according to H. N. Vinall, sorghum specialist in the Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. D. A. He advises that farmers gather the heads which are practically mature at the time the first frost threatens and allow them to dry under cover. This seed may be used with confidence for planting.

CUB COMMENT

Fire sprang up during the fifth period, Wednesday of last week. All the people were saved with the exception of three teachers who had eaten so much dinner that they were unable to get out of the building.

Boys, where were you last Tuesday at lunch when Virginia May caught the heel of her slipper on a step and fell down the stairs? Coach Daniel was the only hero there to pick Virginia up, but we are hearing no complaint from her.

Some of the students of B. H. S. were very surprised Wednesday afternoon when they heard their dignified English Prof. going down the steps singing (?) "Annie Doesn't Live Here Anymore."

Mr. Wester has ordered twenty-four one-act plays. The rehearsing of these one-act plays will start as soon as "Hold Everything!" is presented. B. H. S. will have a one-act play entered in the Interscholastic League work in the spring.

Each Thursday night there is an Extension Course being taught at the Brownfield High School auditorium. The instructor, D. D. Jackson, is a recent addition to the faculty of Tech at Lubbock.

Who will be the King and Queen of the Cubs? The students are helping to decide that issue this week by their selling of tickets to the play "Hold Everything!"

The students and faculty members of B. H. S. who attended the game at Post last Friday found the roads between Brownfield and Tahoka in a very bad condition.

The students and faculty members of B. H. S. who attended the game at Post last Friday found the roads between Brownfield and Tahoka in a very bad condition.

We hear it whispered around ole' B. H. S. that next Monday afternoon the girls are going to start coming out in earnest for basketball. Three cheers for basketball! We understand that the girls and their Coach have as their motto this year two letters: B. M. Does it mean "Big Matter" or what?

The faculty and student body should be grateful to the influences that make for better attendance in school. Surely the faculty will keep the work in B. H. S. of such nature that a pupil will profit by such regularity.

The student body and faculty wish to express their sympathy to Verl and Vergie Hulse in their sorrow occasioned by the death of their nephew and cousin.

Cubs Battle Antelopes To Close Score

The Brownfield Cubs met the Post Antelopes on the Post field, Friday, and played them a very close game but lost with a score of 13-12.

The game started off with a bang, with the Antelopes scoring two touchdowns in the first few minutes of play. These were the results of attempted kicks on the part of the Cubs. The Cubs then seemed to wake up and outplayed the Antelopes throughout the remainder of the game.

The Cubs scored their first touchdown when Price covered the ball after a blocked punt. The Cubs scored again when Burnett made a remarkable forty yard run around left end.

The Antelopes lost ground steadily because of the savage attacks of their opponents, who from time to time, broke through their line, and made short gains.

The spectators of the game were thrilled by the brave attacks of the Cubs, but somewhat disappointed at their failure to score more times after being so near the goal line.

CUB CHAPELS

On Wednesday morning, October 31, the students of B. H. S. assembled for regular chapel program. The song "He Leadeth Me" was sung by the entire student body.

CUB CLASSES

The Senior Class had their regular class meeting November 5. Their president, Roy Chambliss, gave a report on how many tickets each class had sold.

The Sophomores had their usual Monday morning program. But to top it off Mrs. McDuffie, the room mother, came up and gave them a very interesting talk.

The Freshmen Class had their regular class meeting November 5. After several business problems were settled they enjoyed a short program, which had been planned by the program committee.

TARDIES IN THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

The number of tardies in the elementary building has increased from 75 in September to 120 in October.

The 245 remaining pupils who were not tardy are to be congratulated on their punctuality. They are forming habits of promptness that will stay with them and be an asset in later life.

Marnie Price and Elray Lewis enjoyed an airplane ride Sunday afternoon—as did several other High School students.

CUB CHATTER

Wanda Graham was in Roswell, N. M. this week-end, visiting Sawyer Graham who is a Senior in N. M. M. I.

We are glad to notice that Iris Lewis is back with us, after having a tonsil operation Friday.

Truett Flache, our football captain, is still in perfect harmony with the ladies.

Hallow'een seems still to have a hold on some of the students. We notice that Ethel Pippin is still yawning.

We are glad to have Luna Maude Gore back with us. She was absent several days last week because of illness.

Logan Relford has an ambition to be an aviator. What next?

Roy Chambliss has recently turned into a deep-dyed villain. Beware!

Cubs' Spirit

Courage is one of God's best gifts to man. Yet it is not wholly a gift; one must train himself toward this virtue. None may be called strong without it.

Understanding promotes courage and adds certainty to impulse. To understand all is to be God, Himself. Man may approach divinity in so far as he brings himself to understand.

Brotherhood is born of understanding. Sympathy comes through knowledge. Without brotherhood man is doomed to chaos; all is lost when we no longer accept our responsibility to be the keeper of our brother's nobler rights.

Sincerity of purpose makes brotherhood real. It gives cause for courage and invites understanding. It is the rarest of virtues; therefore my brother needs that I possess it.
