"The coffee break has taken the country without a shot," was the pointed comment of Ralph Taylor Saturday afternoon as we sat in his barbershop and chewed the rag.

It might surprise you to learn that everything discussed in the barber shops (and probably even beauty shops) of the land is not village gossip. More frequently, the weather, international affairs, or some other subject on a higher plane holds the attention of those present.

Saturday was typical. Ralph was indulging in a bit of philosophy, and the way that he put it rang home to us. It's a fact: The world's coffee growers have Americans sipping out of their hand, and not a shot has been fired.

The coffee break, if you had ever stopped to think of it, is about the most ridiculous national pastime that we could fasten ourselves to. Aside from the debate of what its good or bad effects are on the participant—a controversy unto itself—look if you will at the product we have chosen to attach ourselves to.

If we HAD to have a habit like this, you might suppose that we would be practical enough to choose something that was at least obtainable in the United States. A draft of sassafras tea probably would have enough kick for us to do a good day's work on. If we needed a real charge, maybe we could chew for a few minutes on a cud of locally produced loco weed.

We could even drink nothing but vodka and be consuming a home-grown product, but no—we have to take the plunge on a bean that thumbs its nose at our latitudes and must every bit be imported. This sort of thing beats us.

If the coffee growers were of so kind, they could shut off our supply for a few weeks and everybody would get the jitters so bad we'd be ready to pay almost any price to get the evil brew back in circulation.

Coffee production is without any regulation that we can attach to it, which means that if the growers ever get together, they'll have America at their mercy — no mean feat in these days of atomic and hydrogen bombs.

The mention of coffee drinking and relaxation brought our tonorial conversation around, quite naturally, to the subject of work. Or, to be more accurate, the subject of avoiding work.

With a waving of hands and rising voices, first one and then another in the barbershop began to express his views on labor and management. Some of the talk was comical, but most of it has a serious undertone.

The best expression to come from the debate, we decided, was offered by Raymond Fleming, who besides being the kind of a man who disposes to speak often, admirably enough seems to have some forethought about what he cares to say.

"I'll tell you how it is," said Raymond. "It's a bad thing when either labor or management gets the upper hand. One can be just as unfair as the other."

That statement was, to us at least, a pretty good analysis of the situation with a minimum of words.

The contractor went on to say that at the moment, labor has the upper hand. Union workers now tell their bosses how many hours they wish to work, how much they shall be paid, when they shall take off, and even how much they shall produce.

Time was when financial barons prided themselves on how much they could produce on so little. Human privation was no consideration, and the squalor of the sweatshops produced by the industrial revolution burned a black page in history. The workingman was little more than a slave to his master, the owner of the business.

But today, the worm has turned. The shoe is now on the other foot. The workingman is calling the plays. And thousands of businessmen are calling it quits because the game has become so unfair.

The rules don't have anything to do with equality and justice. The game is fixed so that the employees can always win but the employers can sometimes lose. And don't ever think businessmen don't lose sometimes.

What we want to know is 30 years from now, when we will be down to a 10-hour work week, who is it going to be in this great land of ours who will keep things running?

Charlie Bainum has been laying for us. Finally, on Monday, he let the hammer drop.

"Remember that editorial you had in the paper a few weeks ago about rummage sales the women

FFA Contests Here Saturday

Friena will play host Saturday to 14 area schools and 48 teams in the Littlefield District FFA contests. It will be the second time in a row Friena has been picked as the site for the events.

These contests are yearly events in which FFA students measure themselves against their neighbors from other schools, to see how well they have developed skills in parliamentary procedure, speaking, and

New Telephone Man Comes To Friena

For the first time in several months Friena has a telephone service man. Since Everett Talley moved away early in the summer, efforts have been made by the Chamber of Commerce to get someone to replace him. Many Friena residents will welcome D. G. McClellan.

McClellan, who moved to Friena from Littlefield last week, has been employed by General Telephone Company of the Southwest for the past ten years. He joined the organization at Guyton and spent seven years there, then worked out of Tahoka almost three years before moving to Littlefield.

Mr. and Mrs. McClellan are at home in the Elroy Wilson rent house on West Seventh, which was formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Casey Adams. The McClellans have two daughters, Glenda, who is 9 is a 4th grade student; and Arleta, 8, is in the third grade.

Additions Planned By Smiley Fulks

J. V. "Smiley" Fulks this week announced plans for adding on to his tourist courts and building a new cafe. Fulks operates as Smiley's Courts on Highway 60 in Friena.

The building formerly occupied by Mary's Cafe which is now inside the "horseshoe" of Fulks' courts has been sold and will be moved to make room for parking. It was damaged by fire in September.

Fulks also has purchased the building immediately east of his courts formerly owned by Friena

FRIONA, TEXAS

VOLUME 36, NUMBER 6

STAR CONFUSED BY GOBLERGOOK

Like other Texas institutions, The Friena Star this week is confused by the dispute over which Thanksgiving to observe as a holiday.

Ordinarily, this paper's choice in such matters is determined by however the post office sees things, and since November 22 had originally been set aside for federal offices, we made plans to publish a day early next week.

We now find that the Friena post office plans to close its windows both Thursdays, so perhaps it wouldn't make any difference if we changed to the 29th, but since plans already have been made, we're sticking to our guns.

Next week's paper will be mailed on Wednesday, rather than Thursday. The cooperation of advertisers and news sources is urgently requested in order that this change in publication date can be effected.

Friena To Get CPA in December

Announcement was made this week by Bob Ginsburg of Amarillo, that he intends to open an office in Friena early next month, possibly on the first. Ginsburg is a certified public accountant.

As the first CPA to come to Friena, Ginsburg is leaving the employ of Polk Street Methodist Church in Amarillo, where he has organized an accounting system as his business manager.

Ginsburg was graduated from Missouri University in 1954 with a bachelor of science degree in business administration. After his graduation, he was an agent for the Internal Revenue Service.

Married and the father of two children, Ginsburg's children include Robert Howard, 2, and Mary Kathryn, 2 months.

The CPA's business address will be 305 Main, in the Bill Woodley building north of the old bank.

Commissioners Court Purchases Grader

The Parmer County Commissioners' Court approved the purchase of a new caterpillar road grader at a meeting Monday. The grader is being purchased from West Texas Equipment Company in Amarillo and will be used in Precinct Three (Farwell).

Cost of the new grader is $18,761, less $4,000 trade-in, leaving a balance of $14,761.

Other items of business attended to by the commissioners Monday included the canvassing of the general election votes and paying the bills.

ANNUAL MEETING SET

The annual meeting of the members of the Parmer County Community Hospital will be Tuesday evening, November 20. It is scheduled to begin at 7:30.

HOT RODDERS GATHER—These young Friena men are helping push an amateur hot rod and custom car club for the area. They have been selected as the board of directors for the yet-to-be-named club. Left to right are Don Reeve, Larnie Blake, Jimmy Castleberry, Joe Walters, Darrell Elliott, Darrell Thompson, and Weldon Fairchild. They, and others interested, met Monday night at Reeve Chevrolet.

Ruth Ann Disley To Be at Church

Ruth Ann Disley, the Pilgrim Fellowship Action Committee chairman from Oklahoma City, will have charge of the Sunday morning services at the Friena Congregational Church, announces Rev. C. G. Nelson, pastor.

Miss Disley will discuss Pilgrim Fellowship activities, which are of special interest to the youth of the church.

Miss Jo Moody of Pampa was a weekend guest in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. David Moseley and Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Collier.

Jr. Class Play Next Thursday

"Who Killed Aunt Caroline?" a three-act mystery, will be presented by the junior class of Friena High School Thursday, November 22 at 8 in the auditorium. This is a new kind of mystery play that does not depend on shrieks in the night, howling winds or clutching hands for its effects.

Aunt Caroline, who is played by Helen Hamilton, is given poison and dies right on the stage. Other characters are Mrs. Eleanor Endicott, played by Sandra Skinner; Agnes, Riecy, Beryl and Cicely, her four children, played by Ruby Grubbs, Nolen Johnson, Jan Edelman and Phila Buske; Miss Mabbitt, played by Lila Buske; and David Thompson, played by Jerry Hinkle.

Also, Dan Donovan will be played by Leon Massey; Miss MacLain by Betty Agee; Una Hagaman by Eva Nell Thomas; and Lieutenant Clayton by Dale Williams.

Everyone is urged to attend the play by members of the junior class and their sponsors.

Auto Enthusiasts Seek To Organize

A number of young men of the Friena area met for the second time at Reeve Chevrolet Monday evening, seeking to establish a club for hot rod and custom car owners. Enthusiasm is running high, and 34 were present at the meeting.

Named president of the group is Joe Walters. Don Reeve is vice-president; Darrell Thompson, secretary; Larnie Blake, treasurer; and Billy Parker, sergeant-at-arms.

These, plus Jimmy Castleberry, Weldon Fairchild, Keith Battey, Bomar Stacy, Deon London, John Roden, Jimmy Mabry, Kenneth Carter, and Bobby Fulks, were named charter members.

Others seeking membership will be admitted when they have met certain qualifications, including making three modifications of their automobiles. These "modifications" could include redesigning the body, improving performance, or improving safety features of the car.

Officers of the group are aiming at affiliation with the National Hot Rodders Association, a group which has met country-wide approval for their standards of safety in sanctioned clubs.

The young men were unable to decide on a name at the meeting Monday night, although many suggestions were tossed about. They plan to thrash this out soon at another meeting.

bock is being explored. Walters, at the meeting, stated that the purpose of the Friena group "is to promote better driving habits among young people."

Annual Football Banquet Set For Saturday Night

The Football Mothers Club has completed plans for the annual football banquet which will be held Saturday night at the Friena cafeteria at 8 p.m. Mrs. E. L. Fairchild, president, will give the welcome address and present the club's gift to the queen, Ruby Lee Grubbs.

Phillip Weatherly, Don Reeve, and Buford Carter, tri-captains of the team, will each have parts on the program. The entire group will sing the school song and the coaches, Colie Huffman, Ray Simmons, and Dempsey Watkins, will be given an opportunity to talk.

Raymond Cook, principal, will give the invocation. Plans have been made for about 120 guests.

Morton Last Game Of Football Year

With nothing important at stake for either team, the Friena Chiefs meet Morton Friday night in the final game of the season for both teams.

The contest will be played away from home for the Chiefs.

Springlake, which last week beat Friena 20-6, previously had triumphed over the Cochran County team 33-13. Comparative scores indicate an evenly matched contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Sparkman of Amarillo were Friday night guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Reeve Sr. and sons. The Sparkmans attended the Friena-Springlake football game.

Springlake's Last-Quarter Surge Mows Down Friena

Friena's Chiefs had their football fortunes tarnished a little more Friday night, as they dropped another conference — and last home game to the Springlake Wolverines, 20-6.

The Chiefs started sad and ended sadder, but in between, there was some good football, and at times it looked as though the red-and-white jerseyed boys would manage an upset. Even as the game opened, Friena fumbled, that being the first of more than one costly bobble during the evening.

After that unhappy beginning, the Chiefs at times pushed their opponents up and down the field, and at the beginning of the fourth quarter, the score was only 7-6 in favor of the visitors.

Jimmy Herring, Springlake full-back, charged over right tackle for the first Wolverine score in the initial period. The kick was no good, but a penalty against Friena gave the kickers another chance, and they made it 7-0 the next time around.

That ended scoring in the first quarter. Several series of plays later, Friena got its first first down of the game on the Wolverine 22 and threatened a score. But the visitors' line stiffened and the ball was lost on downs on the Springlake 19.

The Chiefs returned the compliment by bucking Wolverine backs and forcing them to kick out. In a short while Friena was back again knocking for a TD, this time to the 10 yard line on a run by Weldon Fairchild.

Phillip Weatherly moved the ball to the 8, and an offside against Springlake put the pigskin on the 3. A second 5-yard penalty against the visitors moved the ball to within 18 inches of the goal, and Larry Fairchild did the carrying chores to give Friena their first score.

The attempt to run the extra point failed, even though it was tried twice because of a penalty against Springlake.

Both teams steamed up offensive drives in the third quarter, with Springlake being able to roll up the most yardage. At the end of the third period they were plugging away on the Friena 9.

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Is Friona Ready for Industry?

Now that politics is over for a while at least, and the harvest has been discussed from every conceivable viewpoint, people of Friona are returning to a subject that is becoming increasingly popular in this, as well as hundreds of other, progressive communities of the nation.

That subject has to do with the possibility of "selling" Friona as a good location for industry, and there are about as many opinions about town on this theme as there are persons interested.

So far as we know, there has never been a really organized movement, backed by the community as a whole, to attract businesses of this type. Most of the work done has been of the talking or wishing kind.

Friona will probably always be dependent upon agriculture for its prosperity, and we must continue to put foremost in our planning the things that we believe will lead to greater development of and higher profits for the rich farms which surround the town, and upon which the town must feed. We believe farmers should continue to come first.

But, at the same time, it is not too early to start "conditioning" ourselves to possible development of a program to bring some sort of light industry here to help balance local economy. Some kind of industry which would make use of our local products, processing grain sorghums, or even wheat or cotton, would be the most practical and desired type of business to draw. An industry of this kind could be of benefit to the producers, and Friona would, again, prosper in a ratio directly related to the farmer.

But the big question is—is Friona ready for industry?

Is Friona ready to invest several thousands of dollars in surveys to prepare the elaborate statistics on the community which any prospective industry would require? Is Friona ready to offer men and women who will travel hundreds of miles and attend dozens of long meetings and devote themselves to such a project for what might well be many months—perhaps even years?

Is Friona ready to compete with the really "desperate" communities of the Southwest who know that they must have something like industry to rebuild themselves or their small towns will die? Is Friona ready to buy land, possibly build and lease a large building, or grant tax write-offs to industries which might come here?

We doubt if any one of these matters has been fully explored. We doubt if Friona knows what it means to try to draw industry.

But we have no doubt that Friona is otherwise qualified by reason of its ideal location with respect to rail and roads, its tremendous ground water supplies, its temperate climate, and its friendly, progressive atmosphere as a growing High Plains city.

The people of Friona have what it takes in the way of natural resources to appeal to several types of industries. The question is whether they can condition themselves to face the facts about industry and small towns. They must be prepared to invest time, money, and effort. They must be prepared to meet disappointments along the road, for the field is highly competitive.

Like a lot of things in personal life, this is one job we can do if we set our mind to it. But we would warn against day dreaming. It won't come easy.

Election Turnout Is Light

A small handful of the record number of voters who turned out for the general election November 6, returned to the polls this Tuesday and endorsed constitutional amendment No. 9.

The amendment will result in additional state aid to persons permanently disabled "by reason of his mental or physical handicap." With all but one of the Parmer County boxes reporting, only 124 persons cast a ballot. Of the number, 105 approved the amendment and 19 were opposed.

A break-down of the votes from each precinct show Friona saying "yes" by a 30-9 count, Farwell 16-4, Lazbuddie 20-0, Rhea 9-0, and Bovina 17-1. The Lakeview box showed two for and five opposed.

The box from Black had not been returned to the county clerk's office by late Wednesday afternoon.

DEVELOPING THE BRAZOS

The Brazos River's great flood of 1913 brought public reaction that ultimately caused creation by the state of the Brazos River Conservation and Reclamation District, which today is the Brazos River Authority. In large part, the Authority has sought to pay its own way. It has been careful that its project would conserve water, help curb floods and produce income. Such are the benefits derived from the three major dams already located in the Brazos basin - Possum Kingdom, built by the Authority, and Whitney and Belton, built by the Federal government at the suggestion of the Authority. Besides these, there are many smaller dams on tributaries of the Brazos.

Hereford Lions Guests at Meeting

Hereford Lions were guests of the Friona club at a meeting of the local group last Thursday night. Including the visitors, there were 41 Lions on hand.

The Hereford group was in charge of the program, and Ernest Langley, president, introduced several members from that club who explained details of a project the group has sponsored.

Hereford Lions are furnishing a new "sportatorium" athletic building, which will cost about $25,000. They plan to open the building November 24, and were in Friona to invite the local club to come to the opening.

At the close of the program, Jimmy Allred, a member of the Hereford delegation, performed some sleight of hand tricks.

Reports of the Lions broom sale Saturday indicated that receipts were $738, with the team from the west side of town winning the contest to see who could sell the most.

ENLARGEMENT PLANNED

The Six-Dam Program proposed by the Brazos River Authority includes a provision for enlarging Possum Kingdom Reservoir. The enlarged reservoir will contain 918,000 acre-feet of water and will cover 25,800 acres. This increase storage capacity can be accomplished by raising the present dam fifteen feet.

Methodists Reject New Building Bids

Bids on the new additions to the Friona Methodist Church were rejected at a board meeting last week "in action that was greatly disappointing," according to Rev. Hugh Blaylock, pastor.

Only four contractors submitted figures, and all proved to be considerably above expectations. The lowest was from Mathis-Wilson of Lubbock, who offered to build for $85,890.

The Methodists are shooting for an over-all figure of around $75,000, and to get down to that bracket may mean a revision of plans, Rev. Blaylock says. Some changes are being contemplated in the work scheduled for the old basement.

The church will ask for additional bids after these alterations have been made, and allow more time to get figures in for the second round of bidding, Rev. Blaylock says.

At least two contractors failed to bid the first time because of inadequate time to prepare their quotations.

Roy Wilson, city clerk, was in Lubbock this week for a three-day meeting on water and sewer problems. He was on a speakers' panel.

Fire A Factor In Nation's Growing School Shortage

Everybody agrees that the shortage of classrooms is a national problem. President Eisenhower called the White House Conference on Education to cope with the situation on the national level. Yet, in the midst of classroom famine the National Fire Protection Association estimates that there were 2,700 school fires last year causing a $12,900,000 loss.

School authorities are already plagued by bulging school budgets and the existing problem of more space is further complicated. Could these disastrous fires have been prevented? Yes, says the NFPA.

Consider: most of these schools were unoccupied when fire was discovered. Few of the buildings had watchman protection, or a central station supervised automatic fire detection system, or an automatic sprinkler system. Consider, also, the following: many of these school buildings had an automatic sprinkler system, or a central station supervised automatic fire detection system or watchman protection.

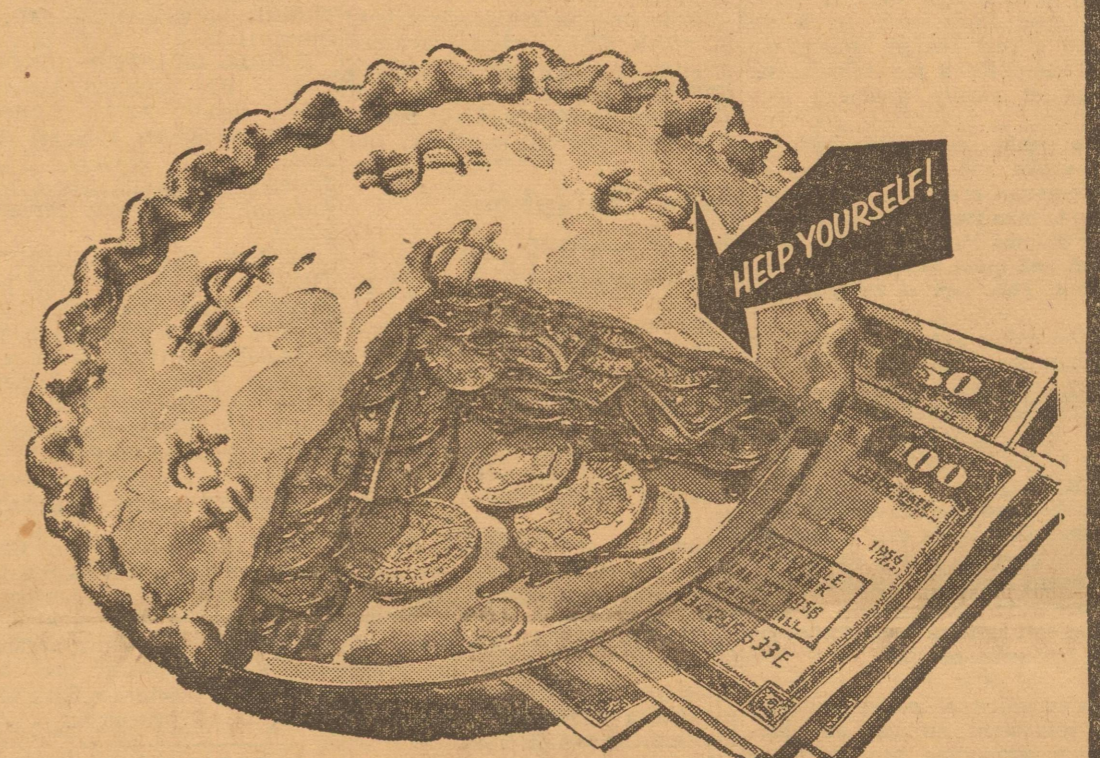

Sound fire protection practices call for fireproofing of walls, protecting vertical openings, enclosing stairwells.

What does it add up to besides a potential threat to our children's well-being? Just this: when we build new schools let's at the same time have a program to protect them with a reliable and effective means of discovering and extinguishing fires promptly.

A VAST NEW HOLIDAY LAND in the heart of Texas will be created under the Brazos River Authority's master plan for development of the river. The map shows how the Authority's Six-Dam Program will provide a chain of lakes 250 miles long stretching between Whitney Dam at Waco and Possum Kingdom above Mineral Wells. This continuous body of water, convenient to virtually all Texas sportsmen, will become a center of a great new recreation industry. This Land o' Lakes of Texas will provide boating, fishing and camping facilities on a scale never before known in the Southwest. They also will assure the Brazos Valley of an ample water supply for irrigation, industry and municipal use far into the future. A by-product will be hydro-electricity. Besides the Six-Dam Program, the Authority plans various other reservoirs for local water supply and for special purposes, such as Allens Creek and South Bend, shown on the map.

Hospital Mailing Goes Out this Week

Rather than conduct an organized family-by-family drive for contributions to the new Parmer County Community Hospital this fall, letters are being sent to every boxholder in the county this week, asking if they desire to participate in helping defray the cost of the new building and equipment.

Last year, when the building was still in just the planning stage, teams were organized and a full-scale financial drive on a person-to-person level was launched.

This method, while effective and generally preferred, will not be used again this fall, announces Jimmy Baxter, hospital manager. "We know that most persons already have been contacted and requested to help," he says, "but these letters will serve to inform them in a friendly way that we still need financial assistance very badly, and there is still time for them to help if they will."

One letter which will be mailed to everyone in the county recaps the needs of the hospital and makes an appeal for contributions of any size. A second letter, which will be sent to a selected mailing list "of about 100 persons," will ask for larger gifts.

Donations of $250, $500, and $1000 are being sought from the latter group, and special colored plaques acknowledging the contributions will be placed in the hospital. This method is aimed chiefly at defraying heavy equipment costs.

"We already have had some volunteer response to our needs," says the hospital manager, "and we feel that by issuing a mailing of this type, we can remind others that we still need and will appreciate assistance."

The new building has just been occupied. It was built at a cost of around $200,000. That did not include the cost of equipping the building, which is running thousands more.

Since the Parmer County Community Hospital is a non-profit corporation, it receives no tax revenues. Paying for such a program of expansion as has just been completed has to come from public subscription.

The only non-local financing brought into the picture thus far has been a $5,000 grant from the Ford Foundation. A loan of $100,000 has been obtained from a Dallas investment firm, but that money, naturally, will be repaid—with interest.

The hospital's payments on the loan will run $844 per month, which includes both interest and principal. That is for a period of 15 years. Baxter says the hospital is seeking 80 persons who could give $10 a month, which would just about take care of the indebtedness in this manner.

No agreement for any specific length of time will be required, though, he emphasizes.

Children Thanked For Help to Hospital

Students of Friona Schools, who last Halloween conducted a community-wide drive in Friona for candy which was sent to the state children's hospital at Abilene, have been thanked for their kindness.

A letter from Emery E. Alling, superintendent of the school, was received here this week.

It is as follows: "Please allow us to thank you on behalf of the staff of this hospital, to thank you and the children of your school for your very generous contribution of candy for our patients. We know this act of kindness will bring much happiness to these people.

"You are to be congratulated for encouraging the children in your school to remember the less fortunate. We are sure this type of teaching will mean much to them in their future lives—as it means to our children who are fortunate enough to receive this remembrance."

"We are sure the patients join us and the staff in thanking you. Sincerely, Emery E. Alling, M. D."

Man Fined $100 On DWI Charge

Cuestin Castro, Austin, was fined $100 and court costs in county court Monday, on a DWI. He was picked up in Friona Sunday night and is still in custody, according to Chas. Lovelace, sheriff.

Also a man was arrested in Friona Monday and was fined $27.70 in B. N. Grahams' justice of peace court in Farwell for being drunk. He was Jack Armstrong, who gave his home as Alva, Okla.

Another case pending in county court is a juvenile theft. The boy being charged is from Farwell.

Dear Santa Claus:

Please bring me a gun that goes rat-a-tat and a policeman's suit in a box. And, I wish I had a machine gun on a revolving stand and some gloves or if there's some gloves with the policeman's suit that will be fine. I want a toy typewriter, too.

I will be waiting for you,

Basketball Drills Start Next Monday --Vega First Game

With the first game of the season only a scant week away, the Friona Chiefs will begin basketball drills Monday of next week, Dempsey Watkins, coach, said Monday.

Coach Watkins says he expects about 40 boys out this year, and expects to whittle out about 14 boys for his varsity or "A" squad. The coach is uncertain about prospects. Friona did not graduate any players last year, but had a poor season. Happy won the conference in 1955.

This year, Happy is out of Friona's conference. The District 3-A group in which Friona now plays football will be used for basketball, too. Vega, a non-conference opponent, will play in Friona Friday night, November 23. Both boys and girls will compete.

This is Dempsey's third year in Friona. He is assisted by Roy Simmons, freshman coach.

The varsity squad includes:

Fun to Cook

JUNIORS CAN COOK WHOLE MEALS

Interest in junior cooking is rapidly increasing. With the full tide of teenagers yet to come, this interest is likely to grow. Contributing probably is the trend to younger marriages, bigger families and no servants. Learning to cook at a younger age is becoming more necessary.

The little boys and girls like to satisfy their creative natures by helping in the kitchen. Don't say "no" to their request. This is a valuable part of their learning-by-doing. Tiniest tots can be given simple chores like sifting flour or washing unbreakable dishes.

Junior cooking interest is seen in the many recent play sets that teach cooking methods and nutrition, and books for the junior cook. One that parents with children in the 7 to 14 age group will be interested in is "Fun To Cook", written especially for this previously neglected group. Praised by educators, it is on its way to best seller status with sales well over the half million mark. It has been "child-tested" for easy understanding and includes safety and clean-up rules. "Fun To Cook" takes the junior cook beyond the usual recipes for cocoa and cookies to practical things such as salads, meats, vegetables, cakes, one-dish dinners and finally whole meals.

An excellent gift, "Fun To Cook Book" may be obtained by sending 25 cents for each copy you want to Margie Blake, Box 52, Hollywood 28, California. You'll be interested in how boys' and girls' appetites can grow in proportion to their participation in the meal. These close associations with parents in the kitchen or out of doors at the barbecue are priceless events in their lives.

NEW INSTRUMENTS—It takes a lot of expensive instruments to supply a top notch high school band nowadays. Here are the new pieces of musical equipment which have been added to the Friona band this year. The concert snare drums in front are played by Gwendolyn Green and Elizabeth Blaylock. The three girls seated with the new double French horns are Judy Barnett, Linda Gee, and Phila Buske. At the back is Ted Sanders and the band's new Sousaphone.

Sunday afternoon callers in the David Moseley home were Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Jack, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kendrick, Mrs. Lucy Vestal, Mrs. A. A. Crow, Mrs. Jake Lamb, and Mrs. Pearl Hand, all of Friona, and Mrs. Marie Harper of Colorado Springs.

Misses Jo Phillips and Peggy Hanson were Thursday evening dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lamb and Su Zann.

Friona School Band Is Well Equipped

"Instrumentation of our band here is well above average," commented J. D. Fry this week when asked how the equipment of the Friona school band stacks up against most schools of the area.

Fry, who is band director for the system, says that the only major instrument now lacking is a bassoon, a large pipe-like reed instrument which costs in the neighborhood of $1,000.

However, recent additions of instruments have otherwise been adequate to meet the needs of a top quality high school band. This is possible in a large measure, it should be pointed out, because of the cooperation of parents of band students, who have provided instruments at their own expense for their children.

Instruments owned by the school and furnished students include an oboe, two flutes and a piccolo, an alto clarinet, two bass clarinets, a contra-bass clarinet, three double French horns, four single French horns, one baritone and one alto saxophone, four baritone horns, four bass horns, a set of tympani, a base drum, one Scotch base drum, two concert snares, four parade snares, and two sets of cymbals.

From 1613 to 1917 the Romanoff family ruled Russia.

gave the Wolverines the series they needed to bag another touchdown. On their third attempt, Fullback Jimmy Herring again scored, this time from the 3.

They marked up a 14-6 score with a weird kick by Quarterback Max Goforth, which hit the uprights but went through for an extra point.

Fumbleitis again beset the trailing Chiefs when they lost the ball on a kickoff runback on their own 39. Goforth promptly raced to the 8 for a first down for Springlake, and then passed to A. C. Lewis for the last touchdown. The QB's kick went wide.

That sewed up the game for the visitors, but even with time running out, Friona lost another chance to score via the fumble route. A slip gave the Wolves the hide on their own 5. There the game ended.

Wealth To Create New Dams

Cities and towns along the Brazos can grow for the next half century, at least, if their water supplies keep pace, the Brazos River Authority reports. The Authority's Six-Dam Program is designed to create an assured supply of 700,000 acre-feet initially and 1,500,000 acre-feet ultimately, against a present dependable supply in the lower river of 420,000 acre-feet. Cities thus will be able to draw on a quadrupled water supply when the full conservation program is in effect.

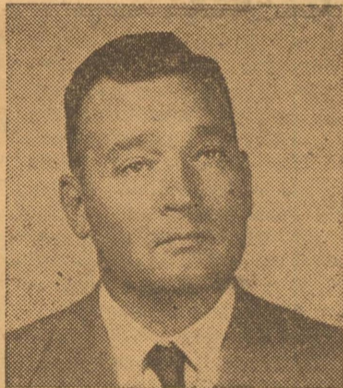

June was named after Juno, goddess of marriage.

Rated G.V.W. of these payload-carrying heavyweights goes all the way up to 32,000 pounds!

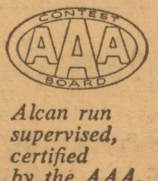

New V8-powered '57 Chevrolet trucks, heavily loaded, made one of the world's toughest roads look easy! In a straight-through test run, they rolled over the famous ALCAN Highway to Alaska—in less than 45 hours (normally a 72-hour run). Here's proof-in-action of power that'll handle your toughest jobs—and keep coming back for more!

Whatever your job, there's an Alcan-proved Chevrolet Task-Force truck ready right now to save you time and money!

Six new Task-Force huskies made the run. And six ultra-modern Chevy engines proved their power and performance—with gas mileage up to 18.17 miles per gallon! Two of the engines were not stopped once, and they hummed along at peak efficiency the entire 1,520 miles!

Chevy's big V8's—including the new 283-cu.-in. Super Taskmaster—turned in top performance jobs. have been having?" he demanded. Yep, we said, knowing that we were talking in the bait he threw out.

"Well, now what I want to know is why don't you jump on the Lions Club for having things like that broom sale they had last Saturday?"

We had known this was coming, but had not prepared any speeches on the subject because, if we take the viewpoint ascribed us by some of our critics, our position would be well high indefensible.

To start with, people sometimes get so mad when they read something in the paper that they either don't finish it, or skim through it so fast that they obtain the wrong impression.

The Star editorial was intended to serve only as a reminder that a rummage sale (and a broom sale, for that matter) are, in one means or another, competition with established, taxpaying, town-boosting Friona merchants. Its intent was not for censure, but for provocation of thought. Dig back in the old papers and read it again and see if you don't agree.

A local man talked with us along these lines this week, and pointed out something we had never noticed before. He said that his church (a local one) had decided that it was impossible to draw the line between "good" and "bad" money-raising operations, and so had decided to end them all.

"We found out that whenever we got ready to do something, if we'd just take the money that we would be out for the time we would spend doing it, and give it to the church, that the result was a lot more effective." This man said that the church bazaars, pie suppers, cake sales, and other similar fund-raising operations were terminated with a happy result. Local contributions to the church budget in the form of hard cash have been gratifying. No, please don't start throwing rocks at the editor. He is not coming out against good old-fashioned pie suppers and the like, which mean just as much to the community in a social sense as the financial benefits mean to whatever worthy cause they are sponsored for.

This is just one way that a local group has found a circumvent what is perpetually a ticklish situation. When you start drawing lines, you get into trouble. We know from experience.

Another reader who had his hatchet out for us this week was Jim Baxter at the hospital. He read in The Star Thursday evening that this paper quoted him as saying there wouldn't be any financial drive for the hospital this fall.

That gave the poor guy palpitations of the heart. He rushed to Lions Club, where he knew we would be, and to judge from his tone, felt like giving us palpitations on the head.

This little incident all boils down to a time-work cliché: "A little learning is a dangerous thing."

What happened is that we had asked him specifically if the hospital had any plans for a financial drive on the order of the one carried out last fall. That is, a house-to-house effort.

His answer of "No," didn't mean we now are thoroughly given to understand, the hospital wasn't interested in raising any money this fall and didn't have any plans toward that end. Quite the reverse, in fact. A mailing is going out this week that you can read more of elsewhere in the paper.

And this particular circumstance gave us an especially acute mental pain because of our feeling about the new hospital building and its equipment.

If there's any one thing that the people of Friona and Parmer County can point to with justifiable pride, it's that beautiful building, carved out of the generosity of the people of this part of the Plains.

Totally independent from any kind of tax assistance, our local hospital stands as a model of community and area cooperation in a venture for human goodness.

Funeral Services Conducted Saturday For Mrs. Callie Beene

Funeral services for Mrs. Callie Rebecca Beene, 90, a long time resident of Deaf Smith County, were conducted at the First Methodist Church in Hereford at 4 p.m. Saturday. Rev. Alby Cockrell and Rev. Eugene Naugle were officiating ministers.

Mrs. Beene died in her home at 211 West 9th Friday morning. She was born in Coryell April 9, 1866, and moved to Hereford with her family in 1921. Her husband died just two weeks after the family reached Hereford. Mrs. Beene, with her courageous spirit and ever mindful of the hardships which were ahead, decided to stay.

She soon became an active citizen within the community and was a lifelong member of the Methodist church there. In 1928 her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ruth Wilson Beene, died leaving five small sons. At this time, Mrs. Beene accepted the responsibility of helping her son rear his family. Five years later her son died and left her with the full responsibility of the five grandsons.

—Because it gives people pleasure

We write most kinds of insurance. You might think this is pretty dull doin's.

But we figure what we sell is mainly . . . pleasure.

Insurance gives pleasure to insured people every day because it bantshes fear of loss and disaster.

But it gives greatest pleasure when it covers an actual loss. We've seen people who would have been ruined by a fire, lawsuit, robbery or other loss if they hadn't had insurance written by us. With insurance, they still found life pleasant.

Yes, we like our business.

With June

This is a lovely fall and we are enjoying every minute of it. Fall has always been our favorite season of the year. Farmers just couldn't have even hoped for nicer weather than we have had. Most of them would be glad to get some moisture, but they do appreciate fall weather for harvesting the crops which they have grown.

Without exception, the farmers with whom we have talked are well pleased with the way their crops have turned out. Some cotton and maize yields have been unusually good. A lot of fields have already been turned under and preparations are being made for the 1957 crop.

The wheat fields which looked like yards and yards of brown corduroy not very long ago are beginning to look like green corduroy now. There is nothing we enjoy more than watching crops grow.

One of life's mysteries which remain to be solved is whether to push or pull on a door. It is amusing to watch people come and go at the post office. First they push one door and when it fails to open they pull the other one and it happens to us, we were embarrassed but it is funny to watch other people do the same thing.

The first electrically operated door we met up with took us by surprise. It was at a children's clinic in Dallas. It pushed open just like any other door, but when we tried to close it, it just did not close. As we were standing there wondering what we had done to tear up a door, an electric motor started and the door closed itself.

After looking up and down the hall to see that no one had witnessed our bonhead, all was well. Since then when opening strange doors it never surprises us if they close themselves.

Seems like the infants stole the show in the recent baby picture contest. The first place winner was Darrell Buckley, eight-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Buckley who live northwest of Black. Teresa, three-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ingram, was second place winner. Third place was won by Carolyn, who is the one-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gore.

Several farmers have started stripping cotton and more will begin real soon. The strippers have always amazed us and we are anxious to see a machine that picks the cotton instead of stripping it. If one comes to our neighborhood, we plan to watch it operate.

Another machine which is almost beyond our imagination is the one which picks the corn off the stalk, shucks it, shells it and runs it out into a truck. Shucking corn for hogs used to be one of our daily chores. At that time we wished for a shucking machine, but never thought one would be invented.

The Friona FFA department will be host to the area teams at the annual contests to be held here this weekend. Visitors will be here from a dozen or more South Plains towns Saturday. Maybe all of us could do something to add to the attractiveness of our town. Mr. Gee and the boys will do their part we feel sure. Let's all back them up and make a good impression on our visitors.

Party Honors
Six-Year-Old

Mrs. Jimmy Baxter honored her daughter, Beverly, with a party on her sixth birthday. The party, which was held in the family home, was from 4 to 5:30 Thursday afternoon.

After a game session, refreshments of birthday cake, ice cream, and hot chocolate were served. Guests were Cathy and Trip Horton, Melissa Ann Pruitt, Linda Carson, Donna Shackelford, Lark Jarrell, Jan Welch, Sharen Awtre, and Roger and Deloris Baxter.

Adults attending and assisting with the party were Mesdames Hollis Horton, Newman Jarrell Jr., and Tom Pruitt. Favors of cut out paper dolls were given to the guests.

Local Residents
Visit in Oregon

Mr. and Mrs. James Boyle are visiting in Portland, Oregon. They are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Warren and daughters. Mrs. Warren is the daughter of the Boyles.

Latest word received from them by Friona relatives indicates that they are seeing a lot of beautiful country and enjoying their visit.

Mrs. Glen Mingus and daughters, Glenda and Vicki, spent Saturday afternoon visiting Mrs. Carroll Hager at Hereford.

HD Club Plans
Christmas Party

Plans were made for the annual Christmas party at the Friday afternoon meeting of the Northside Home Demonstration Club at the club house. The party will be December 7 at 7:30 at the club house and will be a family affair.

Nellie Ray, president, called the meeting to order. The opening prayer was led by Velma Lovett, and Faye McMahan called the roll and read the minutes. Olive Massie and Dorothy Hough were selected to represent the club at the work simplification workshop.

The hostess, Lauretta Brookfield, served appetizers, fruit salad pie, mixed nuts, coffee, and punch. Those present were Zonah Bass, Lucy Faye Cocanougher, Gladys

Wright, Ruby Roberts, Olive Massie, Dorothy Hough, Drucilla Paul, Lorena Johnson, Inez Sherley, Nellie Ray, Velma Lovett, Faye McMahan, Thelma Ruth Shelton, and Lauretta Brookfield.

History's Longest, Smoothest Harvest In Final Stages

The longest, smoothest harvest of Parmer County's No. 1 cash crop—grain sorghum—is moving into its final stages this week, as combines rumble and trucks roar.

Except for one brief flurry two weeks ago which brought from one half to one inch of rain at most points, the weather has been letter perfect all during the harvest season.

This is in strong contrast to many years, and last year, especially, when rains and drizzly weather in September, plus an early freeze combined to deal farmers misery as they tried to gather their crops.

Harvest weather then, has been ideal, but looking at the overall picture, it would not be accurate to say that weather has been ideal for the entire growing season.

If the Parmer County area was not dotted with over 3,000 productive irrigation wells, this would have been a grim season for farmer and merchant alike. That can be proved by viewing conditions a few score miles in almost any direction, where unfortunate farmers and communities are just barely able to "hang on" because of the drought.

For the sixth straight year, rainfall was below normal this year. If pre-irrigation of the crop had not been possible, then doubtless few acres would have been planted, and none harvested.

The small amount of dryland under cultivation in Parmer County shows conclusively what would have happened. One experiment on a good dryland farm in the Oklahoma Lane area brought home the truth.

In that case, a demonstration had been planned to compare the new hybrid sorghum varieties to older types grown. When harvest time rolled around, there wasn't much to compare. The crops didn't make.

But, because of irrigation, most of the area sorghum crop drank deeply of life-giving water four or five times this season, and produced bountifully.

An across-the-board irrigated yield would probably average 3500 pounds in Parmer County this year. That would be up from 400 to 500 pounds over last year's figure.

Some yields topped the 6000-pound mark, and a few tipped the beam at over 7000—but these were all small, intensely-farmed plots that farmers used for testing purposes more than anything else.

In the main, the heavy soils to the north and east produced about 4000-pound yields, and the lighter soils to the south and west made about 3000 pounds per acre.

With about 220,000 acres of grain sorghum under irrigation in Parmer County, the total yield will be somewhere around 14,000,000 bushels. However, this is only an "educated guess," because of an unusual condition.

This year, outside demand for grain sorghums pushed the market above the loan, and in many instances, farmers held back grain from the elevators and storage where it was possible for them to do so.

No figure is available on how much grain is being kept on the farm this year, but it is certain to break all previous records.

In ancient times, the Pyramids of Egypt were used as tombs of the rulers.

Hay, Feed Needs Big

During the four months period through October 31, Texas farmers and ranchers eligible under the emergency feed grain and roughage programs received assistance in the purchase of 1,443,887,646 pounds of grain and 1,347,170 tons of roughage, Walter T. McKay, FFA state director at Dallas, announced this week. There were 91,787 applications for grain assistance and 37,405 applications under the roughage program were processed during this period.

"The emergency feed grain and roughage programs are meant to help established farmers and ranchers, who are primarily engaged in farming and ranching, to maintain their basic herds of cattle, sheep and goats, if their circumstances are such that this assistance is needed," McKay says. Local FFA committees have the responsibility to determine the eligibility of applicants and to approve the amount of feed each may purchase under the program.

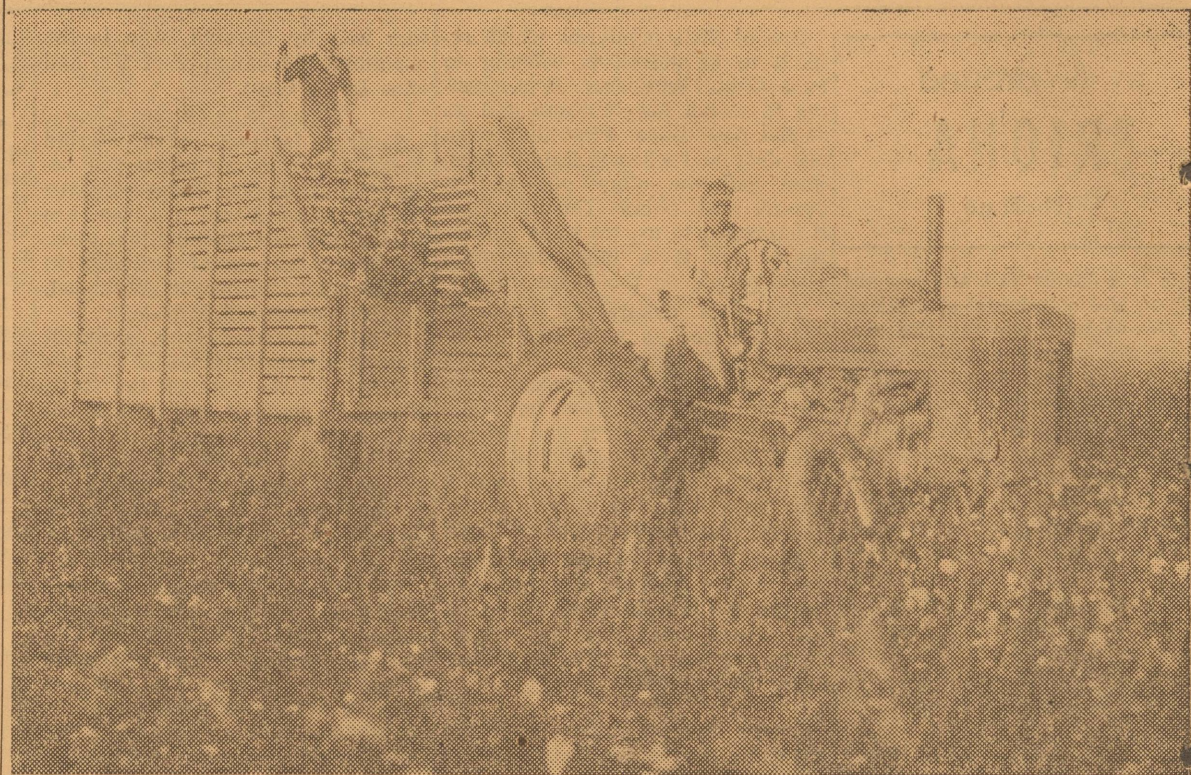

In Texas, 233 counties are designated under the emergency feed grain and roughage programs. In these counties, eligible applicants are helped in buying corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums, or approved feed mixtures containing either 60 or 75 percent of these grains through a government subsidy of $1.50 per hundred weight. The government bears the full amount of this subsidy. In addition to the emergency feed grain assistance, eligible applicants are helped to buy hay or other approved roughage to maintain their basic herds. Under this program applicants receive a subsidy of $7.50 per ton of roughage bought.

Regulations that guide FFA county committees in the review of applications provide that applicants will not be certified if they are financially able to obtain the necessary feed for their basic herds without difficulty and can continue their normal farming and livestock operations. It is not expected that applicants will exhaust their total resources, including credit, before they can be certified for this assistance, McKay advised.

"However," McKay added, "the fact that the purchase of feed at regular prices may not be profitable to the applicant is not sufficient to qualify him for assistance. It must be determined in every instance that an applicant is primarily engaged in farming or ranching and that this is his main source of income. A nominal portion of his income from other sources would not necessarily disqualify the applicant.

The overriding factor in determining the eligibility of any applicant is his financial ability to obtain the feed necessary to maintain his basic herds and continue his normal operations. Any applicant whose financial circumstances are such that he can provide necessary feed for his basic herds and carry on his operations without serious difficulty is not eligible for this assistance."

Under the present designation applications may be filed through December 3, for a supply of feed grain and roughage to carry basic livestock herds through December 31.

STRIPPERS ROLL—Mechanization has entered area cotton fields in the past few days. This was the scene on the James Mabry farm at the Hub this week, where Mabry, seated on the tractor, says he is making a bale and a half per acre in this field. The cotton had not been hand pulled once, as is the case with many area farms.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Parmer County Farm Bureau was notified that it is entitled to seven, instead of six voting delegates to the State Convention. So those going as delegates this week are: Gilbert Kaltwasser, Walter Schueler, Harry Hamilton, Jack Patterson, M. T. Glasscock, Roy V. Miller and Mrs. Roy V. Miller. This is the same number of delegates Parmer County had last year. Also going to attend the convention are Mrs. Gilbert Kaltwasser, Mrs. Walter Schueler, A. J. Ellison and Raymond Euler.

the pool of Plains Cotton Cooperative Association. Through the pool, which is a non-profit association, farmers usually receive a premium on their cotton because of the reclassifying service provided, coupled with direct sales to the cotton mills.

American Farm Bureau was successful in obtaining release of thirty "moth ball" ships for shipment of agricultural commodities to foreign countries under Public Law 480. Several months of deliberation and public hearing preceded the release. Coal companies had obtained similar releases for shipping coal previously. Farm Bureau presented the need for facilities to deliver surplus commodities produced by farmers and finally succeeded in their efforts.

Your directors turned out one hundred per cent in the regular meeting last week. Franklin Bauer, chairman of Rhea Farm Bureau attended as a guest, and Mr. Dan Davis of Plains Cotton Cooperative Association was present.

"The Place Where Most People Trade" Wednesday, November 14, 1956

Douglas Connelly and his wife spent last week at Corpus Christi where he attended a Baptist convention and ate fish. Douglas says there are a lot less fish in Corpus than when the Baptist folks got there and we don't think he meant that they caught lots of fish the Douglas did get a ribbon fish which was 3 feet long and weighed almost a pound and wasn't edible. Other Friona folks in Corpus were Rev. and Mrs. Fields and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Murphee.

For sale—One 1953 super MD tractor with equipment, looks good, runs good, and we guarantee this to be a good buy.

The Dan Ethridges were so very happy to have company at their house Sunday. Major and Mrs. John C. Mack from New York visited here on their way to Hawaii where the Major expects to be stationed awhile. The Macks and the Ethridges served two army hitches together and were stationed in Connecticut. Dan and the Major were also overseas together.

When you turn your tractor loose on a guide why not put a Parmer County Implement Company safety switch on it? Why take chances on burning up the tires, or the tractor 100 even ruining your neighbor's fence? Come by and we will show you how these switches work. When the tractor stalls, the switch will shut it off and it is an inexpensive guard.

A farmer who was a deacon was out possum hunting with two neighbors. Suddenly, he remembered it was prayer meeting time and he explained, "Here it is Wednesday night, and I'm supposed to be in church to make a talk and I just this minute thought of it." Then paused and then continued, "But on second thought, I can't go, anyway, my wife's sick."

Mr. and Mrs. Bobbie Blackwell and small son, Jerry, are visiting here with her parents, the J. T. Guinns. Mrs. Blackwell, Dorothy Nell, is showing off her son to Friona friends. Dorothy Nell and Bobbie are both former Friona folks and are living in Houston now where Bobbie works with the Humble Oil Company. They will leave Thursday for a vacation in the east.

One of Mr. Lawrence Lillard's favorite jokes is about the little boy who was in the first grade. He went to school quite happily for about a month and then he told his mother he wasn't going any more. His mother, very worried asked him "Why?" "Well," said the six year old, "I can't read, I can't write, and I can't spell, and that teacher won't let me talk."

Newest innovation at the Parmer County Community Hospital is background music in the waiting rooms. Dr. Shackelford bought a record player and some long playing records for his office and has "piped" the music to the other waiting rooms. Dr. Shackelford said that his previous office had been so close to a constant stream of traffic he couldn't get accustomed to the quiet in the new dentist office. Surely is nice for everyone waiting.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

If you want to try something which will be new and different for the children, try making caramel apples. Mrs. O. J. Beene made some for tricks or treats Halloween that were very good. Making them is very simple, according to Mrs. Beene's report.

Add two tablespoons of water to a package of caramel candy and melt over hot fire. Leave over fire until candy is thoroughly melted and there are no lumps. Then dip apples into mixture until they are coated. Sounds simple enough, doesn't it?

One of Ruth Millet's recent columns she gave some good advice to most homemakers we know. Most of it was advice we had had given to us before but had never paid much attention to. One of the suggestions which she made was, "Don't do things for your children which they can and should do for themselves?"

The central idea behind this particular column was for homemakers to look around them to determine why they were always out of time and behind schedule. Another idea she expressed, which exactly fits us, was that of doing too many things that "should really take only a minute," but generally take much longer than that.

There must be some way for homemakers to make more efficient use of their time, but, so far, we haven't found it. If you have, why not let the rest of us in on your secret formula? Most of us need it badly.

With Thanksgiving and Christmas just around the corner, there is a plentiful supply of cranberries in every grocery store. You may be one of those people who think there is no better way to serve cranberries than in sauce. We are inclined to agree with you, but if you like to experiment, try this: No-Cook Cranberry-Orange Relish

Grind one pound fresh cranberries and two medium oranges which have been quartered and seeded, but not peeled. Add two cups of sugar, mix well and store in refrigerator several hours before serving so that flavors will mingle.

If you prepare your husband's income tax report, be sure that all records are in order and the actual preparation will not be such a hard task. The better records you have kept during the year, the easier your job of making the return will be.

Farmers Union Plans Membership Drive Kick-Off

The Tuesday, November 20, meeting of the Farmer's Union, which will be held in the school cafeteria at Friona at 8 p.m. will be the kickoff for the 1957 membership drive, according to W. L. (Preach) Edelman, president.

All farmers in the county are invited to attend by Edelman, who further states that everyone registering will be eligible for the door prizes, which will be five dressed turkeys.

Two members of the state board of directors, L'Dean Butler of Tulia, and Vernon Tiley of Texline, will be present for this meeting. "Both of these men are young aggressive farmers who are interested in the problems of all area farmers," Edelman says.

New officers will be elected and delegates to the state convention at Abilene December 7 and 8 will be chosen. Refreshments will be served.

THE PARMER FARMER

Southwestern farmers, who seem always to have had an inherent fear of Republicans in congress, needn't take last Tuesday's election with any qualms. Democrats appear certain to rule the roost both in the upper and lower chambers of our national government when the gavels bang down after the first of the year, signifying another season of law-making. The legislature—not the administration—decides what the farm program shall be like.

Incidentally, it might be pointed out that the last session of congress, which went along with most of the Republican administration's requests, didn't exactly turn their backs on agriculture. They voted over $3 billion in subsidies and aids to help farmers expand markets at home and abroad.

Whether this was a sheer political maneuver we will let you decide but the fact remains that chances look good for reducing farm surpluses next year. And, that would be the first time since 1951 that we haven't grown more than we could use or sell.

Some commodities, however, are in hot water and will continue to be that way for several years unless something really drastic turns up. The soil bank isn't going to cut production enough to bring the picture into balance right away.

On feed grains, we pretty well know the situation by now. The Texas irrigated Plains was about the only major producing area in the country that raised any feed this year. Local prices, which have been above the loan right through harvest, have been a direct result of this situation.

USDA lists its CCC feed grain (not corn) stocks at 202 million bushels. How much of this will come out of storage no one seems to know, but the demand appears to be good.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The Soil Conservation Service, working through soil conservation districts all over the country, has developed a simple procedure for planting grasses under dryland conditions in the Southwest that has proven very successful. Of course, there are failures regardless of the system used, but these failures will be at a minimum if the system outlined here is followed.

Drill sudan or one of the sorghums in the last half of July. This is to serve as a cover crop and is planted late so that it won't make a seed crop. Don't graze, plow, harrow, or do anything to this cover.

The following spring, not later than April 15, using a grass drill made for the purpose, plant a grass or mixture of grasses suited to the conditions we have here. There's no way to prescribe the best grass or mixture without knowing exactly what kind of soil it will be planted in.

The SCS, as in past years, is glad to furnish whatever help it can in selecting grasses, to co-operators of the soil conservation district. The native grasses such as blue grama, sideoats grama and buffalo grass for the most part will be used.

However, such grasses as weeping lovegrass or blue panic grass will be all right for some conditions. When you get beyond these, you are experimenting and are more apt to have failures. The dead cover of sudan or sorghum will furnish protection for the small grass plants without competing with them for moisture.

If mowings are not given, we will see some wonderful tumble weed patches. After two years the grass, with reasonable conditions, should be far enough along to pretty well take care of the weeds.

Mowing is important the first year and will help the second.

Come With Us To School Today

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of articles detailing the growing pains of Friona Schools. The first story told of the conditions of the elementary school.)

By W. H. GRAHAM JR.
Do you live in a house built as long ago as 1923?

If you do, you may be living very comfortably, but if we had to make a calculated guess, we'd venture that your old house, though it may be friendly and warm and have a sentimental atmosphere, leaves a lot to be desired.

The trouble with old houses is not that they aren't fit to live in. The trouble is, they're not planned to take care of living conditions TODAY.

If, by chance, you have lived in an older house for many years, you are almost sure to have noticed how difficult it has been for you to keep "modern."

That deep freeze, for instance, was sure hard to locate, wasn't it? When Dad's architect of a generation ago planned your old house, he never even dreamed about things like deep freezes.

And, remember the day that the TV set was brought in? There wasn't a place to put it, was there?

Well, something like that is going on in your public school today. Mr. and Mrs. Friona. Only the trouble doesn't have anything to do with deep freezes or TV sets.

The trouble is, 33 years ago, it simply was not possible for the citizens of that day—progressive though they may have been—to guess what would happen to the system in just a few brief years.

Friona School's oldest, and most conspicuous, building on the campus is the two-story red brick structure which now houses the grade school. The day when all the classes could be held in this one building has, of course, long since passed, and the faithful old building has been given other assignments.

To adopt itself to present-day needs, this building was renovated five years ago at a cost of $50,000. The old gym on the first floor was partitioned into classrooms and the remainder of the building was fully developed for maximum classroom use.

It was then, and is now, referred to as the grade school building, but things are happening that might bring a change in this status.

For instance, the almost-new elementary building, already bubbling over with youngsters, has sent one section of its classes over because not enough room is available. That is one of the three fourth-grade sections. Worse things are threatening. New sections in both the first and third grades now appear immediately necessary, and there won't be any place to put them—except in the "grade school" building.

The grade school building is only supposed to house the fifth through the eighth grades. If three sections of the elementary school are crowded in—something will have to give, and where this will be, the school administration is wondering.

There are 31 students in the fourth grade section. The 77 fifth grade students meet in three groups, as do the 70 sixth graders, the 73 members of the seventh grade, and the 69 boys and girls in the eighth.

Everyone of the 13 classrooms are now taken. If more pressure is applied from the elementary grades, a re-division of the old building (meaning further re-modeling) will be a certainty. No alternative exists. Already, with the old gym area in use, no inside physical education facilities are available for these ages, and whatever exercise the students get must come outside, regardless of the weather.

The grade school, by itself, would not be hurting so much. But it is in the middle of a "squeeze play." Already we have told you of the push from beneath in the elementary grades. Next, we shall study the push from above in the high school, where the most serious problems of all are sprouting grey hairs in the heads of both faculty and school board members.

The BIBLE Says

"... THE EARTH IS THE LORD'S AND THE FULLNESS THEREOF." (I Corinthians 10:26) This is a quotation from the Old Testament and teaches again a thought which runs throughout the Bible. It causes us to realize the greatness of God and the insignificance of man.

Not only does the Bible teach that the earth is God's but it also says that the silver and gold is his (Haggai 2:8) as well as the beasts of the forest and the cattle on a thousand hills (Psalms 50:10). The things the earth produces are God's for he makes them to grow.

These things are placed in the hands of men for their use. They should ever stand as evidence of God's love and concern for the welfare of the man He made and placed on the earth. They are not to be hoarded for future use. They are for all mankind. Not for this generation only but for succeeding ones also.

Our attitude toward this material wealth is important since it will largely determine where we will spend eternity. Those seizing upon these less important items will miss the finer things life offers. They are but a means to an end. The end is the salvation of the soul. Be sure to use material things only as they insure your eternal salvation.
