

Grand Jury Report

State of Texas,
County of Terry.
In the District Court of Terry County, Texas, January Term, A. D. 1935. This 14th day of January 1935.

To The Hon. Judge of Said Court:

We, your grand jury, for the above term of said court report to you that we have made full investigation of all matters brought to our attention during this term of court, and have returned into open court 20 felony bills of indictment. We have also had several matters of misdemeanor to arise, but all of these have been taken care of through the County Attorney and Sheriff's offices without our having to return bills of indictment in these matters.

We find nothing that would cast any doubt in our minds that our officers are doing all in their power to keep down crime, and to catch the offender and prosecute him when such crime cannot be prevented. We attribute a great portion of the bills returned by us during this term to the fact that Terry county had an influx of transients this fall by reason of the good crop conditions existing here as compared with such conditions in adjoining counties.

We desire to call the attention of the public to the matter of riding in unlicensed airplanes. You will recall that on December 2nd, 1934 we had two citizens of Terry county killed in a plane crash. Neither of the planes here on the above named date were licensed planes, and neither of the men who were operating said planes were licensed pilots. You can always know that a plane is unlicensed as a commercial plane if it does not have the letters "NC" on the wings of such plane. The "NC" is supposed to be on the top of one wing and on the bottom of the other. Simply because there is a number on the plane does not signify it to be a licensed plane. Each pilot is supposed to have his license with him at the time he accepts your money for a ride. If you will take time to observe the plane for the "NC" and to call on the pilot for his license it might mean the saving of your life or the life of your child.

We desire to express our appreciation to Judge McGuire, the District and county attorney's, the sheriff's department and all others who have aided us during our deliberations.

We have inspected the court house and jail and find the same in a well kept and sanitary condition.

Since we feel our work to be concluded we most respectfully request that we be adjourned for the term.

A. M. BROWNFIELD,
Foreman of the Grand Jury.

On this the 14th day of February, A. D. 1935, came on to be heard and considered the above report and request of the grand jury for the January Term of the District Court of Terry county for 1935, and the same having been duly considered, it is ordered by the court that same be received and placed in the minutes of this court.

Gordon B. McGuire,
Judge Presiding.

Morris Hale Alternate To Naval Academy

We learned last week that James Morris Hale, Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Hale of this city had been appointed first alternate in the U. S. Naval school at Annapolis, Md. This means that if young Hale beats the first man in exams, he is likely to be the first choice of the academy.

Hon. George Mahon, congressman, had notified Rev. Hale of his son's appointment.

Young Hale now with the navy department and located at San Diego, Calif., is here on furlough visiting home folks. For the past three months he has been an apprenticed seaman and is making unusually high grades. Morris is a graduate of the Brownfield High school.

J. E. Clark and family of the Johnson community will move in the next few weeks to Ruidoso, N. M.

John Milner and family are entitled to a pass to the Rialto Theatre to see Count of Monte Cristo. Be sure to present this clipping at the box office at the Rialto Theatre. Compliment: Rialto-Herald

Roosevelt at Mid-term Found at Top Form

"Despite nearly two years of the most rigorous of all Peace-time Presidencies," says Frederic William Wile in the Washington Star, "Mr. Roosevelt celebrates his 53rd birthday in prime physical condition. To observers he seems not a day older than when he launched the New Deal on March 4, 1933. His invincible buoyancy and verity are a constant marvel to those who know the terrific working pace he insists upon maintaining."

"The Washington group that sees him most regularly—the 150 to 200 newspaper men and women who besiege the White House offices Wednesdays and Fridays—cannot recall a single occasion on which the President has exhibited any semblance of ill humor or irritation. He himself doubtless would ascribe his unchanging vim and vigor to a worry-proof temperament, which reflects itself in his inveterate smile and foundness for hearty laughter. Unmistakably, like the other Roosevelt who once occupied the White House, this one is 'having the time of his life.' Mid-term finds him in gayest of spirits and at the top of his form."

Another New Brick Building to Go Up

It seems like old times, with several brick buildings going up at the same time for the past few months, and with scores of new homes being built all over the city within the same period. If the present building move keeps up the rest of this year, Brownfield will show the biggest building permit since 1923 and 1924.

A. M. Brownfield let a contract last week for a new brick and tile 22x40 feet, with plate glass front, which is situated between the new Ward Shoe Service building and the City Office now under construction. Foundation was laid this week by the contractor Roy Wingerd, and it will be ready for occupancy perhaps by the middle of March.

W. W. Terry has taken a lease on the building for five years, but is undecided just yet what kind of business will be put in the building. This will be announced later. Mr. Terry informed the Herald, however, that he has had several chances to rent the building since he leased it, but needed it himself.

Magnolia Opens Retail Station at Seminole

Tom May, of Brownfield, agent for Magnolia Petroleum Co., in this district, together with a party of officials of that company were here Tuesday making preparations to opening local stations here for their products.

It has been rumored recently that the above named company, who own approximately 85 sections of land around Seminole in fee, are preparing to start a drilling campaign on their holdings.

It is understood that local service stations for Magnolia products will be opened here within the next week or so.—Seminole Sentinel.

Stop Lights Being Installed This Week

Eunice Jones, manager of the city utilities, with a crew of workmen are busy this week putting in the three stop lights on Main street. The poles were put in place last week and concrete run around them Monday of this week.

Our understanding is that the work will be pushed in an endeavor to have the lights ready for Saturday and Saturday night. One will be at the corner of Main and Sixth; one at Main and Fifth, and the other at Main and First, the latter (Fifth) now being Highway No. 51 through the city.

NOTICE TO ODDFELLOWS

The Brownfield I. O. O. F. Lodge No. 530 is giving an entertainment next Tuesday night February 26th, and all Odd Fellows and families are invited to attend. Also all Rebekahs are most cordially invited.

J. C. Green, Sec'y.
A woman was kicked on the chin by a mule, causing her to bite off the end of her tongue, and her husband several times has refused the offer of $1,000 for the mule.—Ex.

The Nation's Creator

The above, a hitherto unpublished picture of the Father of His Country, is a study for "George Washington Crossing the Delaware," by Emanuel Leutze. It is one of a collection of paintings by famous American artists which had long been stored in a Manhattan warehouse.

To the Citizenship Of Terry County

Owing to the fact that there has been so much said about the shooting that took place here on the 5th day of February when District Court was in session. (Court had recessed for a short time).

It seems that Austin Storie had come up to the Highway Office to settle some difference he and Bob Phillips had had on the Highway, so a good old styled fist-fight followed. The District Court room was full of people and they made a mad rush to see the excitement. When I got through the crowd Phillips had Storie on the floor and I got them separated. They didn't seem to be satisfied as they kept trying to get together again.

Mr. Pendergrass arrived on the scene about that time and I told him to take Storie down to the Sheriff's Office. He started down the steps with him. I want to state here, that Mr. Pendergrass didn't know who Austin Storie was, I don't know whether he knew what had happened or not. When half way down the steps, Storie jerked loose and started to run away, he got out the north door of the Courthouse and angled northwest across the courtyard. I think there were four or five shots fired the last shot was about the time Storie was even with the flag pole. I think it is almost impossible for one of these bullets to have glanced in the soft dirt in the courtyard.

Pendergrass didn't try to hit him—don't think for a minute that he couldn't have hit him if he had wanted to. He was at that time, and is now a bonded deputy Sheriff of Terry County. I think torie pulled just as big a bone-head as Pendergrass did. Storie was under arrest and should not have run.

Let's forget the past and try to make Brownfield and Terry County a better place to live. With best regards to all,

Respectfully,
J. S. SMITH,
Sheriff of Terry County.

Supreme Court Put OK on the Gold Law

WASHINGTON Feb. 18. — The Supreme court today upheld the government's right to cancel 'gold clauses' in private bonds but ruled that government gold obligations can not be paid off on a 'dollar for dollar' basis.

Chief Justice Hughes, in a summarization of the decisions, disclosed the court's ruling that government "gold clause" bonds must be paid off in gold or the equivalent amount of devalued currency.

J. E. Ball was in one day last week and informed us that he had killed a six months old pig that dressed 253 pounds.

Shamburger Yard Has a New Manager

Owing to the press of private business it was known some time ago that Tom May, who has been manager of the C. D. Shamburger Lumber Co. here since was put in about 1920, had resigned to become effective as soon as convenient to the company. We understand that Tom will be checked out about March 1st. Tom is agent of the wholesale plant of the Magnolia Petroleum Co., and now has extensive farm interests to claim his time.

The new manager of the company has already arrived, and will be checked in as soon as Mr. May is checked out. The new manager is Mr. C. L. Aven Jr., of Vernon, Texas. Mr. Aven has had a number of years experience with the Shamburger yards in several west Texas towns, and comes highly recommended as a citizen. He and wife will be located in one of the Shamburger residence as soon as he can get possession. Welcome to Brownfield.

January Failures Lowest Since 1920

NEW YORK.—Business failures in the United States in the month of January were at the lowest point for that month for any year back to January 1920. The number, as shown by the records of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., was 1,184, compared with 963 for December and 1,364 in January 1934.

The amount involved was $18,823,697. With the exception of August, September, and November last year, the amount was below that reported for any month for many years past.

40 More Banks Open Without Restrictions

NEW YORK.—In the first month of 1935 40 banks were opened for unrestricted operation, 11 being national banks and 29 State banks, according to the American Banker. In the month 27 banks were merged and 3 were closed, while 3 went into voluntary liquidation, 2 of which were members of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

At the end of 1934, the publication calculates, there were 2,371 fewer banks operating in the United States than at the end of 1932.

TERRACING DONE THIS WEEK

Contour lines were run on the A. C. Holcombe farm in Lahey community, C. M. Horn farm in Johnson community, and E. Hunter farm in the Gomez community. We will get to as many of the farms next week as possible.—County Agent.

Earl Jones to Put in A New Theatre Here

Earl Jones, manager and owner of the Rialto Theatre, announced this week that in the near future, he would establish a second show house in this city. He has had this move under consideration for some time, but until recently was unable to obtain a building. He has however, in the past week or two succeeded in leasing the Fred Smith building on the north side of the square, which will be vacated by the Fair Store in the next few weeks.

The building was at one time used as a theatre, and will therefore be easy to remodel into one again. The building will be redecorated, and will be much nicer on the inside than before when used for a theatre, before the show was moved into its present building. The seating arrangement will conform to the best in modern shows, and the projection and sound arrangements will be just as modern as any show in this section.

Some will naturally ask why Mr. Jones is putting in this second show. That is easy to explain. There are shows and shows. Some are moderately priced, and can be put on at a cheaper price although jump up good shows; while others are priced by the producers. And, at this new show house, all pictures while good will be shown at a price within reach of all, so that one may take his family out and not be out a great deal of money.

So if the picture and price at the Rialto don't suit the customer, he will soon have the choice of another show the same night, and vice versa.

Brownfield Has a Cartoonist of Its Own

The Herald was not aware that Brownfield had a man in its midst that can do a real job sketching and drawing cartoons, but it has in the person of A. B. Cole, who lives some two blocks south of the courthouse. He informed the Herald that he had taken lessons in sketching, and had studied and practiced the art a lot at home.

Last week, after the big snow, he brought in one he gave a title of "After the Rain." It shows the barn, house, feed stacks landscapes and adjoining farm homes in the distance. It also shows the sun well up, and clouds disappearing in the distance, and a lot of puddles of water on the ground. Last but not least the farm hand in the foreground is making for the two mules in the pasture with bridle in hand, and a grin from ear to ear. But it looks like old Pcte and Beck may break for the back side of the pasture any moment.

This week he brought in another that showed a newspaper scene, entitled "The Hauptmann Trial." You can see the whole crew from Editor to Devil are bothered about what they are to use for news now that the trial is over. Ask to see these sketches when you call at the Herald office. And if you need the services of Mr. Cole to make a sketch of anything, don't fail to consult with him.

Hudson and Son Are Feeding Out Steers

I. H. Hudson was in this week and informed us that he and son, Cap, were feeding out 52 head of good grade yearling steers on the farm this winter. He informed us they were getting fat as fast as one could expect. He believes that he has about 20 that will gross 1000 pounds now.

It takes about two days each week to crush all the feed they consume. He uses about two pounds of cottonseed meal per day, and with crushed corn and a very heavy grain higeria in the bundle constitute their 20 pound ration per day. Water has a gravity flow from his tank to the watering trough.

In 45 more days, some of these steers will be on feed 180 days. The Payton Packing Co. is negotiating for a car of them now.

Must Sign Hog-Corn Contract by Saturday

All applications for Corn-Hog Contracts must be signed by Saturday, March 2nd according to B. L. Thompson, President of Corn-Hog Control Association. All interested in signing this year's Contract please come in to the County Agent's office and do so.

Commissioners Name A New County Agent

Mr. L. N. McClain, who has been assistant county agent of Lubbock county for the past four years, was named this week by the Terry County Commissioners Court as county agent of this county, to succeed R. C. Reed, resigned. At this time we have not learned where Mr. Reed will be transferred to. He is still making this his home for the present however.

Mr. McClain comes to us very highly recommended, both as a good citizen, and a county agent of which we will be proud. He was not only highly recommended to the commissioners by his present chief in Lubbock county, but by Mr. D. F. Eaton, for Lubbock county agent who is now at Albany as well as other Lubbock citizens.

Mr. Neill H. Wright, who was down Monday, informed us that he (Mr. McClain not Wright) was a great fellow, and no matter whether he ever makes a speech or not, his personality will win the friendship and goodwill of both farmers and business men.

The Herald is glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. McClain to Brownfield and Terry county.

Parker Gets Janitor Job at Courthouse

It was announced this week that the Commissioner's Court had employed O. O. Parker of this city as janitor at the Courthouse for the next two years with a salary of $75 per month. Mr. Parker turned in the lowest bid we understand. Mr. Parker is said to be a fine citizen by those who know him best and they believe he will make a good janitor.

For the past eight or ten years, Mr. J. W. Oliver has been the janitor, and has made us a good one having kept a mighty clean courthouse and premises. Traveling men tell us that Mr. Oliver has kept the cleanest building on the Plains that they know anything about.

One thing can be said for Mr. Oliver if he caught a fellow spitting on the floor, scratching the walls with matches, or defacing furniture, he would call his hand if he was President Roosevelt.

Brownfield Gets Credit On Good Fire Record

Brownfield was among the many places in Texas that got a 15 percent reduction on its good fire record for the past year. This reduction will become effective March 1st, and last until Feb. 29, 1936. Much is due Chief E. D. Jones, the fire boys and Fire Marshall E. Brown, for the good record of the past year. This news was announced from the office of Raymond Mauk state fire insurance commissioner of Austin, on the 16th.

Others in this immediate section that got a 15 percent reduction was Abernathy; Big Spring got a 12 percent reduction; Amherst received a 12 percent penalty for bad fire record, and Coahoma in Howard county got a 15 percent penalty. We don't remember when Brownfield failed to get a reduction each year, thanks to the work of our fire brigade. Now, let's all work and watch our fire hazards that we may be able to keep up the good work.

DIED

Mrs. J. D. Roberts, 50, who lives two miles south of Wellman, passed away Tuesday of flu, followed by pneumonia. Mrs. Roberts had been sick about two weeks.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, burial following in the Brownfield cemetery. Deceased leaves a husband and children to mourn her departure.

MARRIED

Mr. Earl Denton, popular employee of the Hudgens & Knight hardware, went to Lubbock last Thursday, February 14th, where he met Miss Jessie Travis from Springfield, Mo., and the couple were married that night. Rev. Campbell pastor of the Lubbock Baptist church officiating.

This young couple have been knowing each other for years, during which this romance developed. They will make their future home in Brownfield.

Too many compliments and gifts are only traded.

Texas Stands to Lose Much Federal Aid

Houston, Texas, Feb. 15.—Texas, which needs highways more than any other type of public work, will lose millions of dollars yearly in Federal Aid for roads if any of several bills now before the state legislature is enacted into law, Colonel Ike Ashburn, executive head of the Texas Good Roads Association, warned today. He has just returned from a conference in Washington with T. H. MacDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads.

The federal highway bill enacted by Congress last June states the principle, "it is unfair and unjust to tax motor vehicle transportation unless the proceeds are applied to highways." Ashburn explained. It then provides that any state which reduces its own outlay of state money for roads, after passage of the law, will be penalized by loss of one-third of its federal money allotment.

"In other words, Washington isn't going to build roads in states which don't care to spend their own state funds on them," the road leader explained.

"Texas' yearly Federal Aid is $7,700,000. Passage of any one of several bills now before the legislature at Austin will automatically deprive Texas of $2,500,000 per year in federal road money.

"These bills seek (1) gasoline tax refunds on municipally-owned autos, (2) lower license fees, (3) to divert license fees to fight soil erosion, (4) to divert more gas tax to assume more local road bonds, and even to increase the gas tax for this purpose.

"I don't think any one of these state bills is worth the $2,500,000 yearly loss in Federal Aid which it would cost. And I hope every citizen who feels the same way will tell his law-makers at Austin to leave the gasoline tax and license fees just like they are today."

Founders Day Observed by the Local PTA

Founders Day of the Parent-Teacher Association was celebrated here at the regular meeting Tuesday night, with a program. A short play was put on by pupils of the school, followed by an address by County Judge and Ex-Officio County Supt., R. A. Simms.

It was stated that banquets had been served to several gatherings of late to pay for a lot of additional playground equipment, such as slides, swings and bars and that the local PTA had sold their quota of pencils the money obtained to be used in buying diphtheria and typhoid serum for children whose parents were unable to buy it, but wanted them to have the serum.

Explains Cottonseed Quarantine Laws

Many inquiries have been made during the past month as to whether cottonseed may be moved from this county for planting purposes. According to O. L. Walton, Federal Inspector in charge of the quarantine in this county, the Texas State Law strictly prohibits the movement of cotton seed from an area quarantined on account of the Pink Bollworm except to certain designated oil mills for crushing, such movement to be under the supervision of the Inspector. A fine of from fifty to five hundred dollars is the penalty for violating this law.

FULL GROWN BUZZARD PET OF TENNESSEE GIRL

Winchester, Tenn.—Gabriel, a full-grown buzzard, is the unusual pet of Miss Jewel Wilson. She found the bird in the Cumberland mountains when it was about three months old. He now follows his mistress about the town, flying little but hopping and skipping along. Gabriel waits outside stores while Miss Wilson shops, roosts atop a chimney and takes several baths daily in a special tub in the Wilson yard.—Ex.

The Rotan section seems to be all up in the air over an oil well that came in last week that promises to be a 2000 barrel well. Well, after all, that is something to make one strut their stuff, and we hope Editor Shelton gets rich enough to loan us some of his oil dough.

In the dailies a few days ago came the startling statement that a city secretary in a west Texas town was given a five year suspended sentence for applying $5,000 of the city's money to his own use. Just such court farces as this is what makes those a little inclined to be crooks to take a "sporting chance."

Too poor to take the home paper? Well, that is a distressful condition. Buy a hen, feed her crumbs and waste from the kitchen and she will lay eggs enough to pay for the paper a year; then work her into a pot pie and she will pay for the first cost, so the paper will be clear profit. Repeat this process year after year.—Rochester Reporter.

A man in a neighboring state, on returning from a hunting trip, the other day, found his neighbor just leaving the house, and being of a jealous nature, drew his gun and filled the man's legs with fine shot. A lawsuit followed and it was learned that the man was there to borrow the local paper. The lawsuit cost $75, and the doctor bill $25; $1.50, the price of the local paper for a whole year, would have saved the trouble.—Hopkins (Mo.) Journal.

That Brownfield is the fastest growing city of anything near its size on the Plains, is the verdict of all who have visited here in the past several months. While some 30 or 40 homes have been built in the past few months, one almost has to buy a house to get a place to live, and the demand is great. The same can be said of the business houses. While many have been built in the past few months, there don't seem to be any let up in the demand for them. All that have been built are for the owners own use, or are leased long before the contract is let for their erection.

And that staid old central Texas town of Cleburne seems to be all up in the air on whether they are to have a PWA swimming pool, or not a pool. Not that people of Cleburne don't bathe. No, they are generally speaking, a spick and span citizenry. But, one wonders if they ever visit the beaches of our own and other states. Surely they do. Why out here in West Texas, hundreds of miles from any beaches, nearly every town of any considerable size has a public swimming pool, either municipally or privately owned. Brownfield has a privately owned pool, and if PWA funds can be secured, one will be built just outside the city limits to be used by all people of Terry county.

A handful of Republicans met at Amarillo Tuesday night around the banquet table. The affair is what is known as "Lincoln Day Banquet." R. B. Creager, Republican National Committeeman, Orville Bullington, Mrs. Lena Gay More, Republican National Committeewoman, Wilbur C. Hawk and Gene Howe, better known as Tack (didn't know he was a Republican) attended. After reading an account of this meeting in the daily papers, one is almost persuaded that the Democratic party is a failure, that our government and everything in general is going to the dogs under the guiding hand of the Democrats. In other words they don't have a "brain cell working" according to these Republicans. All of which has caused us to wonder if they (the Republicans) are so damn smart why ain't they in power today?—Lockney Beacon.

There has for the past several years been an agitation in Texas for the consolidation of small and particularly poorer counties of the state. The same agitation has now struck New Mexico, and is being pushed in that state with greater intensity than in Texas. Some profess to believe there would be a saving. But would there? Most counties, in fact all, now have their own courthouses, in most cases costly buildings with good vaults, court rooms, heating and lighting arrangements and records. If consolidation comes, one would not expect the officials to do any more work than now, and that would mean an army of deputies and clerks. A visit to the county seat, especially in some west Texas sections and New Mexico, where the counties are already large, would mean 200 or even 300 miles there and back. The ntow, litigants and witness and jurors would often have to travel long distances to court. It seems to us that it is a scheme of the larger cities of the state and not a bona fide move for economy.

It was a tough break for the personable young man from Colorado City who must do pretty well in Lubbock if he's to rest easy, politically speaking. But there was nothing else to do and George took the package while being bombarded, right and left, by the proponents of many a candidate for the postal plum here. The Plainsman is advised that the appointment will be made "sometime during this month" and that it will be made from the "three highest ranking candidates", based on the examinations all had to take. So we shall all take another breath preparatory to seeing what we shall see.—The Plainsman in Lubbock Journal.

Now wouldn't the crack in that first sentence make one laugh? Especially when it is remembered that Lubbock lent very little aid and comfort to George Mahon last summer. Well, he was elected without the help of Lubbock and we are inclined to believe if George makes the congressman we believe he will, he can be elected without the aid of Lubbock again. Of course George is the kind of man that wants the suffrage of all.

The flu is no respecter of persons. It will tackle an editor with the same devilish glee that it attacks a child, a preacher, or a gangster. Two weeks ago Jack Stricklin of the Brownfield Herald abandoned his sanctum sanctorum and took to his bed, a victim of the flu; but last week he was back on the job. Then a few days ago, Charley Guy of the Lubbock Avalanche and Journal, and sometimes known as the Plainsman, whose handsome photograph adorns the top of a column which he perpetrates daily in the Journal—Charley he went and got sick. Again it was the flu. But on Tuesday of this week his picture showed up in the Journal again at the top of his column of wise cracks and heavy-weight editorials. But the after effects of the flu must have been bad, for, in discussing the recent appointment of Mrs. Sarah Hughes as district judge in Dallas, Charley took occasion to jump all over the women folks who hold public office, with both feet—figuratively speaking. "The Plainsman is and always has been agin' wimmen folks in public office," Charley chronicles. Well, we doubt if the judge's bench is a proper place for a woman, but we would not kick the women out of the courthouse entirely. May not a woman serve efficiently as county clerk or county treasurer or other clerical official? We think so. As the effects of the flu wears off, maybe our friend Charley will get well of his grouch against the ladies. By the way, we never heard of the flu killing an editor. It may tackle an editor viciously and repeatedly, but somehow or other he always comes out on top. He is used to tougher propositions than the flu.—Tahoka News.

NORFLEET ADDRESSES LITTLEFIELD SCHOOL

J. Frank Norfleet, who is on his way home after visiting in California and Canada, addressed the students Monday afternoon in assembly. While he was in California he attended the flower show but their flowers were not to be compared to the faces of all those gathered in the auditorium. He lived out here for two and one half years without seeing a woman or a postoffice. Forty-two years ago he married but he had to make many promises before his wife would come. She rode the range with him and helped him to save and invest wisely. Many times he appealed to the government to free the country of crooks. The government would not do anything about the problem of the crooks so he went after them himself. His wife told him to bring 'em back alive if yuh can, but don't let 'em loose. He arrested 91 crooks and 85 of this number were convicted. Then he was asked why he brought them in and answered this by saying, because he wanted to. He said if you wanted to do a thing bad enough you could do it. After they lost their fortune, they lived in a house they had rented in Plainview. But his wife was not happy in this house they had rented so he wanted to build her a home of her own. He had no money so to secure the money, he agreed to capture a diamond thief and a swindler. With the reward money he received, he built his wife the home she wanted. He invited the assembly to "come over and see the house but don't you all come at the same time."—County-Wide News.

AN HONOR CODE

Many interesting stories are told of the honor code at Washington and Lee university, where it was established by General Robert E. Lee when he became president of the school in 1867.

No supervision of students is exercised during examinations, yet cheating is virtually unknown. Nothing is locked up about the institution; books, articles of clothing and all sorts of property are left anywhere with the assurance that they will not be disturbed.

Several students help to pay their expenses by selling sandwiches, apples, candy and the like, but the sales are made without the presence of clerks. The articles for sale are displayed with price cards, and customers help themselves, placing their money in the cash box. During one football game more than $125 worth of lapel buttons were thus bought and paid for without the supervision of any one, except that when the box was filled with bills a passing professor placed a weight on them to keep them from blowing away.

New students are thoroughly instructed in the requirements of the honor code and impressed with the importance of rigidly observing it, because, it is explained, this school is built around tradition. And the essence of that tradition is that "it's a pleasure to be a gentleman."—Citizen, Key West, Florida.—Clarendon News.

A CONSISTENT SENATOR

When the Westerfield resolution requiring registration of lobbyists was under discussion in the senate at Austin, Senator Small indulged in some satirical comment upon it. If it is necessary to protect legislators from lobbyists, said the Panhandle senator, establish quarantine stations all around Austin, censor all the senators' mail, and require all visitors to be finger-printed; and so on, at length, in the same mirth-provoking vein.

Senator Small is consistent in his unwillingness to handicap the lobbyists. Six years ago when the McFarlane resolution requiring legislators to disclose their relations with special interests was before the senate, Senator Small was among those who helped defeat it. Now, when a similar move is made, he espouses the lobbyists' cause again.

His attitude on this question is one

BAPTIST CHURCH

We are pleased to say that our attendance was better last Sunday than it has been for some time. We had 193 in Sunday School and a fine attendance at both the morning and evening worship. Not what the Lord expects. Every Christian ought to attend church somewhere every Lord's day, unless providentially hindered.

Our young people are doing a fine work. There were thirty five in the Senior union last Sunday evening, and eighty four in all the groups. The Seniors are making a special effort to have fifty next Sunday. Come and help them reach this worthy goal. We should have one hundred fifty in all the unions each Lord's Day evening by all means. Those of us who are in mature life ought to encourage these young people; we have our choice, we can encourage them or regret it later.

Cub Comment

Why is it that we laugh at people when they are trying to do something that we couldn't do half as well?

Someone said "Meadow parents seem to compete with each other in rearing the best basketball player for the school." —Just shows what parents can do when they set their minds to it.

Can we see both sides of a question?

If you can't pull, then try pushing; if you can't push, please get out of the way.

A recent Literary Digest stated that the path to opportunity is fast becoming blocked, except to those of wealth and social position. But American youth will find a way.

"General Washington is known to us, and President Washington; but George Washington is an unknown man."

Pupils of B. H. S. what are you doing to help The School With The Spirit win the County Meet?

Coming! "Anne of Green Gables" —the picture for the County Meet.

In the progress of time, George Washington has become more or less mythical, and the real Washington has become almost lost to sight. Washington stands as a type, and has stamped himself on the world's imagination.

We are wondering what it is in the corridors of dear ole' B. H. S. that inspires holding hands.

Those who want to win begin early to develop superior ability. They keep training every day of every year. We believe this might help B. H. S. in athletics.

Did we ever stop to think that George Washington's last sickness would not have been fatal if he had had the care of a modern physician. The great man was likely hurried into his grave by a well-meaning doctor who treated colds by bleeding the patient.

George Washington

Very many years ago on the twenty-second day of February, of the year 1732, a little boy was born in an old-fashioned farmhouse in Virginia. They gave him the name of George Washington, a name now known to everybody. The boy grew to be honest, truthful, obedient, bold and strong.

His education was limited to the elementary subjects but he acquired a fair knowledge of mathematics and surveying, chiefly by self-instruction. When his widowed mother prevailed upon him to abandon the idea of entering the British navy, he adopted surveying as a profession.

His military career commenced at the age of 19, when he was appointed adjutant-general of Virginia militia; and before long he showed in operations against the French that he had the qualities belonging to a successful commander. Extensive estates and plantations at Mount Vernon had come into his possession through the death of his brother. He added largely to these by marrying in 1759, Mrs. Martha Custis, a wealthy young widow. He also sat for some years in the Virginia assembly.

Shortly after the outbreak of the war of independence, Washington was elected commander-in-chief of the American forces. His career henceforth is a part of American history. After the independence of the thirteen colonies was achieved, he retired from the army to Mount Vernon, which he had visited only once during the eight years of war. He refused to accept pay, but kept a minute account of his personal expenses, which were reimbursed by Congress.

This great man served for two terms as the President of the United States, but in 1796 he positively declined a reelection, and on March 4, 1797 returned to Mount Vernon for the quiet of home life.

On December 12, 1799, he was exposed in the saddle for several hours to cold and snow, and caught cold. He sunk rapidly and died December 14—67 years of age. His last words were characteristic. He said: "I die hard, but am not afraid to go." After some instructions to his secretary about his burial, he became easier, felt his own pulse, and died without a struggle. It was a sad day for America. All the world was sorry, for all the world had come to look upon George Washington as the greatest man of the time. Kings and nations put on mourning for him and all over the world, bells tolled, drums beat, and flags were dropped to half-mast. Many, many years have passed since then, but the memory of Washington is loved as much as he was loved himself when alive.

County Tournament

CLASS C
The Class C Basketball Tournament for boys and girls was played in the Brownfield gymnasium Friday and Saturday, February 8 and 9. There were eight teams of boys and eight of girls entered. Twenty-two games have been required to determine county champions. Many of the contests were closely fought to the finish, and a rather large crowd of boosters grew enthusiastic when the score was close. The Forrester boys and the Wellman girls emerged the winners of their respective groups.

The tournament was under the management of the County Executive Committee. The boys' games were called by Coach Daniell; those of the girls were officiated by Elmer McInturff of Petit. Everyone seemed well pleased, and the affair moved along without a hitch. At an early date trophies will be presented the winners.

The teams entering and the games played, with resulting scores follow:

- Needmore vs. Happy 19 to 17
Wellman vs. Hunter 7 to 37
Forrester vs. Tokio 31 to 5
Harmony vs. Prairie View 19 to 4
Needmore vs. Hunter 8 to 39
Forrester vs. Harmony 52 to 12
In the finals:
Hunter vs. Forrester 35 to 66

- GIRLS
Forrester vs. Tokio 25 to 16
Needmore vs. Wellman 4 to 59
P. View vs. P. Valley 17 to 18
Harmony vs. Lahey 44 to 16
Forrester vs. Wellman 15 to 26
P. Valley vs. Harmony 26 to 59
In the finals:
Wellman vs. Harmony 33 to 22

CLASS B
Some snappy games were played between the Union and Gomez teams. Three games were played in the boys division with Union winning the championship in both boys' and girls' Class B basketball.

EXHIBITION GAME
Perhaps the liveliest, and for the local fans the most interesting game of the entire tournament was the game between the Brownfield and Forrester girls. Many spectators saw this game, which was thrilling from start to finish. The Brownfield team won this game with the score of 28 to 24.

Candy, popcorn, gum, and soda pop were sold by Brownfield boys during the entire program of games.

CLASS A
On Monday and Tuesday evenings, February 11 and 12, the Brownfield and Meadow teams met to determine the winners in this division. On Monday evening the Brownfield teams went to Meadow. Two fast games were played in which Meadow was victorious. The following evening Meadow came here and again was winner in both boys' and girls' divisions.

TROPHIES
According to Jack D. Wester, director general of the county, six trophies have been received for awards. These trophies are exactly alike except that two of them are for Class A two for Class B two for Class C. Three of the number are for boys and three for girls. These are to be awarded publicly at a basketball contest between the teachers of the county—both men and women—Friday night, March 1.

George Washington was a champion broad-jumper. He could throw a stone farther than the average person. All in all Washington was very athletic.

SENIORS—
Why do the Seniors have such a mysterious look in their eyes? Well, in their class meeting they discussed a deep, dark secret—the secret will be revealed in two weeks!
Plans were made for the intermural track meet. They plan to have participants in each event, pupils who will put forth their best effort to win for their class.

JUNIORS—
The Juniors wish to express their gratitude to every business man who took a part in the "Womanless Wedding," and also to their loyal class mother, Mrs. T. L. Treadaway, who has helped them come through with flying colors.

The class meeting Monday Feb 8, was even more interesting than usual. With the conclusion of business, two members of the class presented some very enjoyable entertainment. Maurine Lloyd, who is a very capable speaker, gave a reading Negro dialect. Following this, Dorothea Mae Randle played "the ole banjo" and sang until the close of the period. Every member enjoyed the meeting very much and they are looking forward to more programs of this type.

SOPHOMORES—
A great surprise, indeed, greeted the Sophomores Monday in class meeting. If you'll believe it, the program committee had finally got the members to respond, and a program was presented. It seems that the pupils are rather stubborn about being on programs and all the blame fell on the committee. "Country Gardens" was played by Mildred Adams and enjoyed by all. Beatrice Perry gave a reading, and Mary Louise Tinkler played a piano solo. As special requests Doy Murphy, Sam Chisholm, and Betty Jo Savage gave readings, and Lucille McSpadden entertained at the piano. The class was proud to boast of a visitor. Mr. Lawlis was present and they hope he enjoyed the program. Visitors are always welcome!

FRESHMEN—
On February 18 the program committee failed to have a program, so the period was used in discussing the inter-mural track meet.

Some of the main participants are: T. C. Young, Orval Pickett, Jack Shepherd, W. H. Brown and a number of others. The Freshmen are determined to win. Three cheers for the green and white!!!

The Colt Episode

It is said that Mrs. Washington had a fine colt which she hoped would grow into a very fast horse. But he was wild and had never been ridden, and the men on the plantation were afraid to get on his back. George Washington was now a well-grown boy and a good rider, and he said he could ride the colt. He did ride it, too, far so the story goes. The wild creature did all he could to throw him off, but he kept on his back and rode it around the field. At last the animal grew so violent that it burst a blood-vessel and fell dead. George was indeed sorry but he went straight to his mother and told her the truth. She looked at him a moment, then she said, "I am sorry to lose the colt, but I am very glad to have my son tell me of his fault."

County Teachers to Play

On Friday evening, March 1, the teachers of Terry County will present a benefit basketball program in the Brownfield gymnasium. The price of admission will be ten cents for pupils, fifteen cents for adults. All money cleared will be placed into the general funds for financing the County Meet. Mr. H. C. Osborne of Meadow is organizing the men teachers of the county into two competing teams, and Mrs. Lee Fulton of Gomez will manage the two squads of lady teachers. It is hoped that all teachers of the county will respond enthusiastically to make the program a success, financially and socially.

At this program the 6 trophies will be awarded the winners in the several classes of basketball. It is hoped that a large and jolly crowd will attend and that the county will join as a unit to support every effort for the County Meet. A picture has been secured, and the commission from will net considerable expense money for the Interscholastic League work if all county teachers will boost the sale of tickets. The picture is "Anne of Green Gables," and the teachers have expressed their approval of it and their willingness to cooperate.

Washington's Way

An army wagon had fallen into a deep rut from which the team was unable to draw it. A corporal stood by abusing a soldier who was doing his best to get the wagon out. A man of importance rode up and required concerning the trouble. Immediately the corporal began to blame the private for the situation. The newcomer dismounted with the comment, "why don't you put your shoulders to the wheels?" and helped to push the wagon out. When the corporal asked to whom they were indebted for the assistance, the visitor said, as he rode away, "General Washington sir!"

Cub Chatter

Irene Adams spent the week-end in Lubbock, visiting friends.

Bill McGowan also visited in Lubbock Sunday afternoon.

Another Lubbock visitor was Virginia May. She said she was shopping, but we wonder if she was telling all.

Katherine Graham, one of our students on the sick list, was able to leave the Sanitarium Saturday.

The Biology class received a fresh box of worms. They plan to save these for future reference. Ugh!

The students of B. H. S. are dating a lot, but we can't find out whom they go with, where they go, or what they do.

Kathy Hunter and Ima George Warren were in Paris (France!) over the week-end shopping. We are expecting to see some new Paris creations worn by the girls (?).

Dorothea Mae Randle was in Lubbock Saturday and Sunday visiting friends.

Washington at Valley Forge! Such leadership! What courage and persistence! He gave us the strength to endure as he did during that winter?

Debaters Attend Tourney

Saturday morning the debate teams of Brownfield went to Ralls to participate in their Debate Tournament. The debaters were not quite prepared to begin debating, but Mrs. Penn, the debate coach thought that it would be good practice. The boys beat both Post and Lockney, but they were defeated by the Ralls boys, thus winning second place. The girl's teams was beaten by Ralls in the first round. However they were victorious over Levelland and Lockney teams, which gave them consolation honors.

Roy Chambliss was given recognition as one of the two best boy debaters that attended the tournament. Debaters were Irene Adams, Dorothea Mae Randle, Roy Chambliss and Bill Childress. They brought back two more trophies for The School With The Spirit.

Do the faculty members and the students of B. H. S. have the qualities that George Washington must have possessed to have been such a great man?

HISTORY CLUB—
The History Club met Tuesday, Feb. 12. The program was on current events. There were many good reports given by the members.

LILLIANA CLUB—
The Lillianna Club met on their usual meeting day, Tuesday, February 12. The following parts were given on a St. Valentine program: "The Life of St. Valentine"—Imogene Murry. "The Giving of Valentines"—Prebble Thomason.

The following report was given as a left-over of the preceding meeting: "Lincoln's Wife"—Christine Hamilton.

Plans were discussed for a picnic. Josephine Eudy told each member what she was to bring for refreshments. The club decided to go to Rich Lake Friday, Feb. 15. However, the weather prevented their going.

B. B. B. CLUB—

Th B. B. B.'s met on Thursday, Feb. 14, in preparation for the coming program in assembly Wednesday 20. The boys have learned the following songs: "Darling Nellie Grey," "Old Black Joe," and "Goodnight Ladies."

George Washington was very unselfish. He had time to help his fellow citizens! Do we have time to listen to our fellow-classmen's problems?

Chapel

On Wednesday morning the student body met in the auditorium for another program sponsored by the Seniors. The following students made talks: Irene Adams: "The Tercentary of the Public Schools"; Roy Chambliss "Abraham Lincoln"; Ruby Nell Smith "George Washington." This program was an echo of the "current event days" and "special reports" in English Four.

On Friday morning the student body was entertained by an interesting program given by Roy Ragsdale. He played some selections on the accordion; then he played the guitar and sang. The student body responded with hearty applause. It seems likely that Mr. Ragsdale will be invited again to give them another similar program.

Scouts Observe 25th Anniversary on Lincoln's Birthday

In celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, the Brownfield Boy Scouts, last Tuesday morning, marched in a body from the Baptist church to the flag pole on the courthouse lawn, where they stood reveille while bugle call was given and the flag raised.

The Scouts will perform another flag ceremony today, which is Washington's birthday. Every person within sight of the flagpole should pay it respect by removing his hat, holding it in his right hand over his heart, and facing the flag from the time of the first note to the time of the last note of the bugle has died away.

Washington was no "softy." He was one hundred per cent a man, despite the tradition which has surrounded him with a saint-like halo and impression of softness.

The Womanless Wedding

Sponsored by the Junior Class
The most charming social event of the season took place Thursday evening February 14 at eight o'clock in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends. It was the marriage of Mr. Archibald Headlight (O. Dennis) to Miss Rosie Delicatessen (Mon Telford).

To the delight of all present the string band from Juarez rendered a few inspiring tunes. Shirley Temple (Ida Mae May) who came from Hollywood to attend the celebrated occasion demonstrated her art in "clandestine dancing." Little Joseph Augustus Maybe (J. C. Hunter) gave a tap number. The high school quartet sang a few songs. Lovely Miss Anna Palova (Wilson Collins) danced to a rhythmic tune played by the band.

The fan dance by two young ladies (Tom May and Ben Hilyard) has put Sally Rand in the shade. Mrs. Astor (Jack Holt) disclosed her secret ambition in a snappy tap dance. Last but not least came the romantic love song, "I Love You Truly," sung by

Elementary School Program
The Elementary School appreciated the large attendance of friends at its assembly program on Friday at last week.
Each room of the Elementary School contributed numbers to the program, the general theme of which was in keeping with the month of February.
These assembly programs are put on from time to time during the year, but there was a larger attendance of parents and visitors at this program than at any of the other assembly programs thus far during the year. The teachers and pupils appreciate this interest and hope the number of visitors will continue to increase.

Denies That Liquor Permits Are Issued

Dallas.—Numerous papers throughout the state have published statements regarding the $1,000 excise tax levied on dealers selling distilled spirits and malt liquors in violation of the state or local prohibition that they state that the federal government issues licenses or permits to dealers authorizing them to sell in violation of state, district or municipal laws; therefore, I desire to make the following statement:

The federal government does not issue a license or permit to anyone to sell intoxicating liquors, either malt or distilled, including 3.2 beer, to anyone in prohibition territory. In addition not issuing such a license or permit, the government specifically places a tax of $1,000 on anyone who does engage in such illicit liquor business. This $1,000 tax is a strong deterrent placed by the federal government and should be welcomed by prosecuting attorneys as evidence to assist them in enforcing the prohibition laws. I am sure that no well informed person will make the statement that the federal government issues either liquor licenses, or permits, to sell liquor, in the face of the following express provisions of Section 701 of the Revenue Act of 1926.

"On and after July 1, 1926, there shall be levied, collected and paid annually, in lieu of the tax imposed by section 701 of the Revenue Act of 1924, a special excise tax of $1,000, in the case of every person carrying on the business of a brewer, distiller, wholesale liquor dealer, retail liquor dealer, sale dealer in malt liquor or retail dealer in malt liquor, or manufacturer of stills, as defined in section 3244 as amended and section 3247 of the Revised Statutes, in any States contrary to the laws of such State, Territory or District, or in any place therein in which carrying on such business is prohibited by local or municipal law. The payment of the tax imposed by this section shall not be held to exempt any person from any penalty or punishment provided for by the laws of any State, Territory or District for carrying on such business in such State, Territory, or District, or in any such business contrary to the laws of such State, Territory or District, or in places prohibited by local or municipal law.

"Any person who carries on any business or occupation for which a special tax is imposed by this section, without having paid such special tax shall, besides being liable for the payment of such special tax, be subject to a penalty of not more than $1,000 or to imprisonment for not more than one year, or both."

This statement is given because such a widespread misapprehension of facts to prevail.

Hens in Winter Quarters Need Special Care

Because the laying flock is practically in complete confinement during the fall and winter months, it is absolutely necessary that certain provisions be made for preserving the flock's health, vitality, and producing ability, according to C. S. Johnson, manager of the Poultry Department of Purina Mills.

"The hens should have a comfortable house to live in," says Johnson. "Not necessarily an expensive one but a place that is clean, dry, well insulated, free from drafts, and well ventilated. In accomplishing these features the first important step is cleanliness and sanitation. The house should be scrubbed and disinfected regularly with a Purina cre-so-fec solution as directed on the can. To avoid crowding, at least 3 1/2 to 4 square feet of floor space should be allowed per bird. Plenty of ventilation, too, is important because in a 24 hour period 200 hens will throw off 28 quarts of water in the air they breathe out, and through their droppings.

Worming is easy. See top illustration. Simply wet the tetsule, open the beak with one hand and push the tetsule down the chicken's throat with the forefinger of the other hand. Lower picture shows easy method of spraying the laying house with cre-so-fec solution.

"Roosts," Johnson says, "should be 12 to 14 inches apart, allowing 6 to 9 inches space per bird, with the perch poles running from the rear of the house toward the front, not from side to side. For proper sanitation purposes it is best to provide drooping boards, using poultry wire under the roosts and over the top of the boards. A nest for each 4 to 5 birds is recommended, if space permits. Nests for light breeds should be 12 x 12 inches and for heavy breeds 14 x 14 inches.

"A good clean litter is essential. Wheat straw, oat straw, wood shavings, or peat moss will serve the purpose. When necessary, the litter should be changed and the floor thoroughly cleaned. The house itself should be dry at all times and everything kept clean and sanitary both inside and outside the house.

"The care of the flock during these months of confinement is just as important as keeping the house in shape for the flock," says Johnson. "The owner should cull his laying stock as early in the fall as possible, replacing them with pullets. Doing this will insure a steady year-round supply of eggs. Every undersized pullet of low vitality should be sold.

Worming

"If the birds show symptoms of worms, they should be wormed before going into winter quarters and as often as indicated thereafter. Worming is easy. For large round-worms, give every bird a Purina Tetsule. Birds weighing less than 6 pounds should get a 1-c.c. tetsule each. For birds weighing more than 6 pounds, two 1-c.c. tetsules are required. To administer, simply wet each tetsule and push it down the hen's throat with the forefinger. For adult birds, all food should be withheld for 12 to 18 hours before and 2 hours after treatment—for young birds, not so long. It is recommended that all birds be wormed as often as necessary from the time they are two months old.

"To prevent damage from tapeworms, flocks should be treated with Purina Tapeworm Kernels just before the birds go into the laying house and afterwards, too, whenever tapeworm symptoms are indicated. Prior to treatment, the flock should be well fed. Try worming one or two birds a few days prior to treating the whole flock. If the effect is not satisfactory, it is advisable to call a veterinarian, as the chickens are probably troubled with some disease as well as tapeworms.

"Birds may be treated for tapeworms as often as necessary after they are three months old. When dosing for both roundworms and tapeworms, it is recommended that the tetsule be administered first, then followed three days later with the tapeworm kernel.

Guard Against Colds

"Wheezing, sneezing, and watery discharges from one or both nostrils indicate colds. In treating colds, the cre-so-fec vapor method has been found an effective treatment and may be administered either by spraying or by the hot brick method. The first type of vapor treatment is administered by placing sick birds in warm, dry, well ventilated quarters and throwing a fine spray of a solution made by mixing 1/6 pint of Purina cre-so-fec in one gallon of water over the heads of the birds. Treatment should last 7 or 8 minutes for pullets and 10 to 15 minutes for mature birds. This should be done as soon as cold symptoms are detected. Repeat several times daily.

"The other vapor method for treating colds is to heat a couple of bricks until they are very hot. Set these bricks in a metal container and place in the brooder house. Pour a liberal quantity of cre-so-fec right on top of the bricks. Close up the brooder house tightly and let the vapor permeate the interior for fifteen minutes. Then open up, take out the smudge pot, and air the buildings. Do this every day if necessary.

"This procedure will be found helpful in keeping the house fit for the flock, and the flock in good shape during the long confinement. Pullets may be moved into the laying house when the first eggs are found. This should be done at night and the birds handled gently in order that they will not be disturbed any more than is absolutely necessary. If possible, the pullets should be placed in a separate compartment of the house from the old stock and a gradual change effected from the growing to the laying ration."

herdsman at the Purina Experimental Farm. It's the plain everyday side of dairying that deals with and successfully eliminates costly cow troubles which, if neglected or taken for granted, frequently ruin good cows, increase replacement expense, curtail milk production, and greatly reduce profits.

Above, left—udder with a bad quarter; right—good, healthy udder with all four working. Cow troubles can be avoided by proper feeding during the dry, freshening and milking period.

"In the light of recent developments," says Perdue, "it's no longer necessary to tolerate such common cow troubles as breeding failures, calving difficulties, congested udders, lost quarters, and similar ailments around the dairy barn. They are unnecessary evils that can almost be completely controlled and done away with by a practical method of handling cows. That has been demonstrated beyond question by the experience of many leading dairymen and our research work here at the Purina Experimental Farm, where a close study of these problems has been made for the past 7 years.

"Anyone looking in on the Purina Experiment Farm," Perdue says, "will find, not a fancy or show place, but a farm in many respects like the average dairy farm. The herd is made up of grade cows, and the milk is sold on the St. Louis market. Seven years ago the foundation stock for the present herd was purchased. The yearly average production of these cows was 6800 pounds of milk per head. By proper feeding and management this has been increased to 12,146 pounds. Last year the herd led its cow testing association with a yearly net profit of $57 per cow.

Exceptional Breeding Record

"Udder, calving, and breeding difficulties have gradually disappeared from the herd. The breeding records show how the plan of handling and feeding, developed and used by the farm, wards off costly cow troubles. Through the past 7 years we have records on 422 conceptions. The records show that 77.96% of the cows conceived on the first service; 14.45% conceived on the second service; 5.45% conceived on the third service; and 2.14% conceived after the third service. These figures total 100% and give the whole story.

"Udder trouble, another common cow complaint has been very conspicuous by its absence from the Purina dairy herd. Only 12 of the 208 cows in a four year test were sold on account

Hope For Extension of Home Owners Loan

Many people have expressed an interest in having the activities of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation extended until all applications that have already been filed with the organization have been acted upon.

I have had this matter up repeatedly with the Banking and Currency Committee, as have several of the other members. The chairman of that committee has introduced a bill which will make adequate provision for taking care of the applications now pending in the files of the Corporation. He expects to press this matter, and I have no doubt that both the House and Senate will take favorable action thereon.—Hon. Marvin Jones in Miami Chief.

Car Registrations Increase 148 Percent

Austin, Texas, Feb. 15.—An increase of 148 per cent was recorded in new passenger car registrations in Texas during January as compared with January, 1934, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Reports from fifteen representative Texas counties gave a total of 4,497 registrations, an increase of 119 per cent over December. Sales in the lower price brackets made the best comparative showing, but the increase in the highest price groups was also substantial, the Bureau's report said.

IT HAS become a revered custom on Washington's birthday to take a moment's halt in the rushing tides of modern events and to find fresh inspiration in recalling to mind the ideals, the warnings, the hopes and the visions with which he, in the serenity, the courage, the sincerity of purpose and the unbiased judgment that were characteristic of his public career, launched the newly liberated nation of colonial states in the troubled and uncertain waters upon which it was venturing and delivered it into the custody of his successors in the trust. Clearly beyond the confusions of succeeding political dynasties, observes a writer in the Kansas City Star, stands out the personality of this first President and his utterances of hope and warning seem as significant and potent today.

He Wrote to His Friend Benjamin Harrison.

the head of the long line of presidential leaders an enduring inspiration even to the present day. If he had the temper of a man, he knew how to use it and control it. When plotting army officers and scheming politicians sought to undermine his influence and his ability as a commander, he put his devotion to his cause above his personal feelings and turned the tide against them by his dignified forbearance and forgiveness.

Let us recall some of his words, midst our world troubles and misunderstandings, written to his friend, Benjamin Harrison: "My first wish is to see war, this plague to mankind, banished from off the earth."

"Of all the animosities which have existed among mankind, those which are caused by differences of sentiments in religion appear to me the most inveterate and distressing and ought to be deprecated. I was in hope that the enlightened and liberal policy which has marked the present age would at least have reconciled Christians of every denomination so far that we should never again see their religious disputes carried to such a pitch as to endanger the peace of society."

"It has always been a source of serious reflection and sincere regret to me that the youth of the United States should be sent to foreign countries for the purpose of education. I have greatly wished to see a plan adopted by which the arts, sciences and belles-lettres could be taught to their fullest extent here, with the means of acquiring the liberal knowledge necessary to qualify our citizens for the exigencies of public as well as private life."

"The more I am acquainted with agricultural affairs, the better pleased I am with them. I am led to reflect how much more delightful to an undebauched mind is the task of making improvements on the earth, than in the vain glory which can be acquired from ravaging it by a career of conquests."

"This government, the offspring of our own choice, uninfluenced and unawed, adopted upon full investigation and mature deliberation, completely free in its principles, in the distribution of its powers, uniting security with energy, and containing within itself a provision for its own amendment, has a just claim to your confidence and your support."

"Towards the preservation of your government and the permanency of your present happy state, it is requisite, not only that you discountenance oppositions to its acknowledged authority, but also that you resist with care the spirit of innovation upon its principles, however specious the pretences."

"It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances with any portion of the foreign world; so far, I mean, as we are at liberty to do it; for let me not be understood as capable of patronizing infidelity to existing engagements. I hold the maxim no less applicable to public than to private affairs, that honesty is always the best policy."

"Harmony and a liberal intercourse with all nations are recommended by policy, humanity and interest. But even our commercial policy should hold an impartial hand, neither seeking

"Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. . . . It is substantially true that virtue or morality is a necessary spring of popular government. The rule, indeed, extends with more or less force to every species of free government. Who that is a sincere friend to it, can look with indifference upon attempts to shake the foundation of the fabric?"

"Promote then as an object of primary importance institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. In proportion as the structure of a government gives force to public opinion, it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened."

"As a very important source of strength and security, cherish public credit. One method of preserving it is to use it as sparingly as possible, avoiding occasions of expense by cultivating peace, but remembering also that timely disbursements to prepare for danger frequently prevent much greater disbursements to repel it."

"Observe good faith and justice towards all nations; cultivate peace and harmony with all; religion and morality enjoin this conduct; and can it be that good policy does not equally enjoin it? It will be worthy of a free, enlightened and, at no distant period, a great nation, to give to mankind the magnanimous and too novel example of a people always guided by an exalted justice and benevolence."

Veterans' Leader Says Payment Of Bonus Would Hurt Disabled

Commander Hobart of A. V. A. Says Inflationists Use Veterans As Tools

Donald A. Hobart, National Commander of the American Veterans Association, purchased power of his war disabled comrades who are forced to live on a fixed compensation return.

"This is nothing more than an attempt on the part of certain political leaders, who apparently care nothing for the welfare of the actually war disabled veterans, to bring about monetary inflation in our currency. If inflation comes the war disabled veteran living on deserved but definitely fixed compensation will suffer first and most bitterly. "If the present bonus agitation is successful, millions of dollars will be distributed to able-bodied ex-service men who sustained no handicaps as a result of their war service and who have already received their adjusted compensation in full through being allowed to borrow up to 50 per cent of the face value of their certificates. "Few veterans understand the meaning of the Adjusted Compensation Act of 1924. Had the Government paid us our $1 or $1.25 a day extra in cash in 1924, the total cost to the Government would have been approximately $1,400,000,000. By giving us an endowment policy, thus putting something aside for us for a 'rainy day,' the Government agreed to pay us almost three times the amount voted as adjusted compensation, only the Government reserved the right to pay this increased amount at the end of twenty years.

"The Government realized that the 'rainy day' had arrived in 1932 and allowed us to borrow more than the existing loan value of these certificates, because many of us were found to be in want. What agitators for the payment of the bonus are advocating is, in effect, another bonus;—representing ten years interest which the Government cannot earn until 1945. Payment of these certificates at their face value would represent a shameful retreat before the inflationists and would work untold hardships on our war disabled comrades."

The American Veterans Association was founded in Chattanooga, Tennessee, in December, 1922. It now has membership from every state in the Union and organized chapters in almost all of the large centers. Hobart, who served as a private in a machine gun company in both the St. Mihiel and Argonne offensives in the World War, maintains his headquarters at 490 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

Report of An Audit of the Accounts of the City of Brownfield, Texas

For the Period from January 1, 1934 to December 31, 1934.

Made at the direction of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Brownfield by W. R. McDuffie.

To The Honorable Mayor and Board of Aldermen, City of Brownfield, Brownfield, Texas.

Brownfield, Texas February 11, 1935

Gentlemen: I have just completed an audit of the accounts of the City of Brownfield for the period from Jan. 1, 1934 to Dec. 31, 1934 inclusive.

There are certain facts developed from the study of the figures given in my report which in my judgment should be called to your attention.

While the revenues from City owned and operated utilities have slightly increased during the past four years you will find that the total cash balances to the credit of the City have declined steadily each year and on December 31, 1934 these balances were 60% less than four years ago and 25% less than a year ago. This condition is due, as you know, to the fact that local taxes have been greatly reduced and that the payments for City operation, interest and principal of City indebtedness have been made largely from the revenues of the City Power and Light and Water Departments.

The Sewer system and disposal plant contribute nothing to the revenue and while operation costs are small for this utility the burden of principal and interest on the bonds owing for this utility must be met from other sources.

The City Street and Alley fund has no revenue from any source and all expenditures for this department must be met from revenues derived from transfers from other City Departments.

In my opinion, replacement costs for worn out equipment of the City Power and Light Department will become larger during the next few years. You will note that last year some $6,000.00 was expended for replacement equipment in this Department.

All privately owned utilities set up each year a liberal depreciation allowance from current revenues and since there is nothing more certain than depreciation of machinery, it would appear to me advisable that your careful study be directed toward a utility policy looking to the time when enlargement of plant and line facilities and replacements of costly equipment worn out will surely have to be dealt with. That the funds for this purpose would not be obtainable except through borrowing is readily apparent from the trend of receipts and expenditures shown by my reports.

I shall not undertake to advise you except as requested by you but shall be glad to give you any assistance you may require.

Yours respectfully, W. R. McDUFFIE.

REED THANKS FRIENDS

I would like to take this method of thanking the people of Terry County for their cooperation and support in the measures that I have instituted during my two years as County Agent here. I feel that my work has been a success and this I attribute to the help given me by my many friends. My wish is that the people will cooperate with Mr. R. N. McClain in the same manner. I have a very good offer to remain in government work and several outside offers. To-date I have not decided where I will go.

CENTENNIAL BILL

There is pending in the Legislature at the present time a bill appropriating $3,000,000 for the purpose of holding an appropriate celebration of the 100th anniversary of Texas independence, along with an exposition of the resources and development of Texas.

The Texas Press Association favors an adequate celebration and exposition and urges the Texas Legislature to pass the pending bill, with only such modification as will strengthen and promote its original purpose, not only because it is due recognition of the great historic past of Texas but because it is good business and will prove a wise investment to aid in bringing about restoration of prosperity in Texas.

We heartily endorse suggestion made by Walter D. Cline, chairman executive committee, Texas Centennial Central Exposition in requesting the Legislature, in making proper and suitable appropriations for the Texas Centennial to set aside $750,000 of the amount appropriated for the direct purpose of advertising the Centennial through all sources with one third to be spent in Texas; that this advertising appropriation be spent under the auspices of a committee of three, one member of this committee to be suggested from the Texas Press Association by the executive committee of this organization; one member to be recommended by the Advertising Clubs of Texas and one member to be appointed by the Governor; that two advisory members be named on this committee one to represent the Historical Committee of the Texas Centennial Commission and one to represent the Centennial Central Exposition.

Washington

By ANN SUPPLE MURPHY in Chicago Daily News

ALERT, self-poised;
A master brain
Placed in the wilderness to lead
To give men strength;
To destroy the power
Of grasping kings, of petty tyrants.
"A cloud by day,
A pillar of fire by night."
Of old, Moses was led
By faith through the surging sea
Waived by the will of God.
So the waters of man's covetousness
Rolled back.
Our forefathers,
Like the children of Israel,
In faith and trust
Followed their leader
To freedom.

Immortal Washington!
Today the nation
Of thy upbuilding
Still follows in thy footsteps
While the world stands at abate.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHPLACE

WASHINGTON was born in a house facing Popes creek in Westmoreland county, Virginia, but the house burned on December 25, 1780. The old homestead has been included in the George Washington Birthplace National monument, and the house restored between 1930 and 1932 on its original site.

The old family burial ground, containing the bodies of Washington's father, grandfather and great-grandfather, is included on the 400-acre reservation. The George Washington Birthplace National Monument is 90 miles from Washington on United States route 1 and Virginia State route 3.

The Washington family first settled at Wakefield in 1693, a full century before the Revolution. Col. John Washington, great-grandfather of the President, had come to Westmoreland, Va., in 1656. He died and was buried there in 1670. Maj. Lawrence Washington and Maj. John Washington, his sons, succeeded him.

After their marriages the family lived on separate parts of the Wakefield estate until the house in which George Washington was born burned. After that the Washingtons continued in other houses on the same land, and descendants still live on a part of the same Wakefield estate—a continuous possession, in whole or in part, for 204 years—eight generations.

Equestrian Statue of First President

Of all the heroes of American history, none perhaps has been more liberally honored by various monuments and memorials in and about the Capital City than Gen. George Washington. The above statue stands in the park at Washington Circle, on Pennsylvania Ave., in historic Georgetown.

TRUE friendship is a plant of slow growth. It must undergo and withstand the shocks of adversity before it is entitled to this valued appellation.—George Washington.

Wished for Peace

We are glad to announce that Judge Geo. W. Neill, who has been connected with an abstract business in Lubbock for the past two years, has moved back to Brownfield. He will for the present be engaged in leasing land for oil purposes.

Dogs Again Prove Vital Factor in Polar Venture

Stamina of Byrd's Huskies Is Valuable Lesson to Dog Owners

"Go ahead, Little America, take it away! Let's hear those huskies howl!" Up from the bottom of the world comes the answering voice of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition to the opening accompaniment of lusty canine throats. And millions of ears are tuned to radio instruments as another Polar broadcast gets under way.

The sound of those dogs is a vivid reminder of the vital part such animals play on so momentous an undertaking as this two year venture upon the frozen wastes around the earth's southern axis. Men's lives depend upon the huskies as they work under terrific strain hauling the heavy sledges loaded with food and other supplies for the exploring parties that blaze new trails into that unknown blizzard swept country with its devastating low temperatures and challenging topography.

them strong and vigorous under such extreme circumstances. For, as every dog owner knows, feeding is the key to success in guarding the health and well being of man's most faithful companion. No matter how few or how many dogs a person owns, full satisfaction in taking care of the animal is possible only with proper and intelligent feeding.

"It was this fact which guided the Byrd Expedition in their selection of a feed to take along for the huskies," says A. H. Leonard, well known authority on the care and feeding of dogs. "A complete all-in-one feed was finally chosen which was known by experiment and feeding tests through many canine generations to contain everything a dog needs for satisfying all requirements for healthy growth, dependable reproduction and fully sustained body weight and condition in the mature animal. This food, developed by a prominent dog food concern, was known to have been successfully fed as an exclusive ration over a period of years to many breeds of dogs, with a minimum of care and maximum of safety. Its keeping qualities, which require no artificial storage conditions, and the convenience with which it pours right from the bag without waste were two other features that made this ration the choice of the Byrd Expedition," Leonard says. "Obviously a food which could stand up so well and keep dogs fit and fine in the rigors of the Antarctic region should be more than sufficient for any dog in the average American home or kennel. It's fortunate that the official Byrd Expedition dog food is available to all dog owners.

"More interesting information about the Byrd Expedition and the care of the dog can be obtained without obligation," says Leonard, "by writing to Parina Mills, Educational Division, St. Louis, Mo., and asking for the latest folder of news and views of the Byrd Expedition."

Chamber of Commerce

J. E. Shelton, Secretary

On the Public Works program upon which projects were listed a few days ago, was one that called for a Recreational Center. Sponsored by the chamber of commerce and concurred in by the County. The project is self liquidating and is expected to meet with favorable consideration by the Public Works Administration. If and when approved, it will consist of a park, swimming pool, lake, club house, county fair grounds, football field and golf grounds. It will be for the use of the public and will fill a real need, as we do not have any place of recreation, whatever. At this time we do not know just where the plant will be located but have three places that are available and if our project is approved arrangements will be made to secure one or the other of them. The city is not interested in the project as it will be located outside of the incorporation.

The chamber of commerce is also sponsoring a movement to secure an appropriation for a government building, to be used for Post Office and Agricultural Agent's Office. Under the regulations, the sales of the Brownfield Post Office, is not up to the requirements necessary for us to qualify for a building of this kind but we have reason to believe that an application properly placed and followed up, is likely to produce favorable results, at any rate, if we don't ask for it we won't get it. In connection with this matter and as a preliminary step toward it, we have secured an agreement with the county commissioners that a portion of the public square will be offered as a site for the building, when and if, an appropriation is secured for its construction.

A few days ago, the writer accompanied by Judge Simms, visited the offices of the District Engineer of the highway department, at Lubbock, for the purpose of informing ourselves as to what was being done toward the hardsurfacing of highway 51 and also further improvement of 84 and we learned that preliminary estimates of the cost of completing 51, had been prepared and furnished to the state engineer but at the time of our visit, no official action had been made public. The matter was taken up with Judge Ely, in order to see if the work can be expedited but we won't really know anything about it until after the next regular meeting of the commission and maybe not then. Highway action is a little difficult to get at this time, for the reason that a new district engineer has been appointed for Lubbock and will not assume his duties until March 1st and a member of the state highway department is to be appointed by the Governor and Judge Ely, may or may not be reappointed, so we don't know where we stand as it takes a considerable time to secure action even after promises are made.

That long looked for and wanted connection between Brownfield and Loop is about to become a reality as Commissioner Lyon, assisted by residents in the south part of the county have secured nearly all of the needed waivers on right of way, in fact, only one waiver is needed to complete and as soon as this is procured Mr. Lyon expects to place his men and machinery to work and complete the road as soon as possible.

Terry county certainly is going the tractor route and it is said that more tractors have been sold this year than in any other five years since we emerged from the ranching column. One firm had the west side of the square covered with machines one day this week, that were waiting for the purchasers to come after them, and other firms of the town are probably putting them out in as great a quantity. The tractor route was probably taken upon account of the high prices of feed which may not be the case another year.

Men's lives depend upon the huskies as they work under terrific strain hauling the heavy sledges loaded with food and other supplies for the exploring parties that blaze new trails into that unknown blizzard swept country with its devastating low temperatures and challenging topography.

Fully aware of the importance of the dogs, Admiral Byrd took 150 of these huskies with his Expedition. His voice is often heard in the broadcasts praising the stamina and fighting heart of the dog teams. Directly in charge of the animals is Captain Innes-Taylor who also reports regularly on their fine condition. The dogs are holding up well, he says, showing plenty of staying power. New litters of puppies are being born and raised most successfully in that rigorous climate.

The food those dogs eat has been a most influential factor in keeping them strong and vigorous under such extreme circumstances. For, as every dog owner knows, feeding is the key to success in guarding the health and well being of man's most faithful companion.
