Judge Allison Goes to Capitol for PWA Help

These columns some time ago carried an article from Judge Alvin R. Allison, county judge of Hockley county, and President of the West Texas County Judges Association, which covers an area of about 100 counties. In this article a meeting was called of county and relief officials, chamber of commerce officials and newspaper men. A delegation attended from here, we understand, and Judge Allison and Judge Poteet were sent to Washington, where they were well received by the Texas delegation, as well as Mr. Harry Hopkins, administrator of PWA. It is understood that a deficiency appropriation was promised to complete many projects in west Texas, and that since that time the senate has passed the appropriation. It is believed by many that in another year or two we can be off entirely, but that it cannot be stopped instantly.

Rialto to Cooperate With Co. League Meet

Mr. Earl Jones has consented to follow his usual custom of letting the interscholastic league sponsor a picture show to finance their activities for this spring. The school children and teachers of Terry county will begin to sell tickets immediately. "PIGSKIN PARADE" will be the feature picture at the Rialto Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Jones has made a special selection to get this picture for the school children of Terry county. It is a football musical which will be entertaining to everyone. Tickets will be sent to the schools entering the interscholastic meet in Terry county March 20, 1937. Each school will be sold enough tickets to net the league 3c per scholastic. The school can dispose of the tickets in the manner most suitable. Spectators may take in all the literary and athletic events free of charge. All medals, ribbons, and other equipment must be financed by proceeds from this moving picture.

Marie Webber are entitled to a pass to the RIALTO THEATRE to see "Come and Get It" Be sure to present this clipping at the box office at the Rialto Theatre. Compliment: Rialto & Herald

A Serious Question Confronts Our Nation

At the present time, seemingly our section of Texas and the good old United States, seems to be the most prosperous of any agricultural section of the country. Our farmers seem to be happy and prosperous; they have paid their debts especially those pressing them, have paid most of their taxes if not all; their children are in good schools, manned by good instructors; the good ladies of the home saw to it that the pantry was filled with all kinds of vegetables last summer, and since that time, meats of all kinds, cured as well as canned have been added to the larder—yet— We find men right here in Terry county that have plenty feed, plenty to run them, good teams, and from $500 to $1000 in the banks or in their pockets, that are unable to get places to work this year. They are men for the most part that have always kept their crops clean, and made good yields even of dry years. But they must now leave the country. They must track back east somewhere where it is not possible to do so much wholesale farming. Perhaps they can get a little piece of land all their own back there, and live at home. Most of these men don't like to work—or try to work—a section of land. They like a farm from 125 to 300 acres, so that they can send their children to school.

We had an ambition in 1930 to see Terry county with from 15,000 to 20,000 people in 1940; we envisioned a city of 5,000 for Brownfield, but if things go on as now, if we have as many as we had ten years ago, we'll be going some. Here's a scrap of a news item in the Lubbock paper of Sunday we want you to think about: "So and so bought seven new tractors today; he already has five." Can you figure how many people that will throw out of employment? Can you vision how much our big corn crops will be worth in the next few years, when the north and east gets to producing their normal crops, and we don't have anything to feed ours to?

Have you ever stopped long enough in your wild scramble to make money to reason out why the government is now experimenting with these projects similar to the one at Ropes? It is simply to keep a few men from gobbling up the universe, and leave us a nation of 1-100 landlords, and perhaps 99-100 serfs or peons. You may say, why don't these men buy land if they want it. In most cases it is now too high, the taxes are too high, and in the next instance, there simply is no good productive land to sell. You may like a sandhill, but most people don't, either to own or rent.

Now, let us tell you something else that may and can happen in the good old free (?) United States in the next ten years. Did you ever hear of the Russian Revolution in 1918? Have you heard of the revolt of the Italian workmen since then under old Mussolini? Have you heard of the revolution now going on in Spain, which when figured down to a gnat's bristle, is a bunch of communist reds against land owners, and landlords backed in part by fascists, and the latter in this country would be considered radicals, not to mention the reds. Most of us will say that this can never happen here, but it is brewing in a big way in the Mississippi valley right now, and is known as Share Croppers Association.

One of these days, those people and other sympathizers than can pick up all over the United States will be strong enough, not only to make a crop themselves, but keep everyone else from making one. Can you vision that. No, the United States would not call in troops to shoot these people down—they don't shoot down the "set down" strikers up at Detroit and Flint. Besides, $30 a month soldiers might take the other side of the quarrel.

We know this looks like we are expecting a big Red Russian to oust us from our premises any minute, and they may do it if things goes on like they are now for the next few years. We as people should think, and we can carry some things just a bit too far to be healthy. Personally, we had a lot rather see a farmer on every 80 acres in this county than one big one on 2000 acres, our merchants will sell more goods to the bunch of small ones.

On the other hand, if we must have big farms, why not big stores? Why not a grocery, dry goods, printing office, drug store, cafe—the whole cheese under one roof, and only one store in the town? Heh! Well, this all looks funny for a fellow that's running tractor ads every week. But

A bit ago, we had something to say in these columns about Troy Noel Tailors running a full page ad. That was unusual for a tailor shop, but once in a great while you run across an unusual bunch of men running some kind of a shop that do unusual things. And they will be very frank to tell you they are not doing it "just because they want to help the newspaper or those working for it, but for the results they obtain.

Week before last—rather long time to mention it—but we wanted it to soak into the readers at least twice, and our advertisers several times, the Southwestern Life Insurance Co., of Dallas, Texas, ran a page ad in this and hundreds of other weekly papers in Texas. Why? They had one of the best statements of their financial condition to offer the public you can think of. It was a whalen good statement, and it made a whalen good advertisement, the Southwestern was ready to pay real cash to get that statement—in page form—in every weekly and daily paper in Texas.

Recent Operations at The Local Hospital

The following operations have recently been performed at the local sanitarium, all cases are doing as well as could be expected:

Mrs. J. B. Martin, of Tatum, N. M., mother of Mrs. Marion Craig; removal of gall stones.

Mrs. H. R. Methvin, a major operation Sunday. Her husband is a local gin man.

Chas. Vast Jr., 15, of the Gomez community, acute appendage operation, Tuesday night.

Dorsene Rogers, 10, from Lynn county, operated on Tuesday night for acute appendicitis.

Calvin Newberry, 14, son of Clay Newberry of the Union community, operated on Friday for acute appendicitis.

Otis Hight Badly Hurt in Car Wreck

Otis Hight, of Lubbock, with the Leftwich Auto Sales Co., formerly of this place was badly injured last Friday night on the Lubbock Highway about four miles out of this city. He ran his car into a truck, which wrecked the car, and slightly injured the truck man, who received emergency treatment at the local sanitarium.

Otis had his skull fractured, a piece broken off his jaw bone, and bruises practically all over the head, a rib broken loose from the breast bone, and a knee cap injury. Physicians informed us that they believed that with no complications, Otis will pull through despite his many injuries.

$3,000 Fire Loss at Amherst Reported

AMHERST, Feb. 6.—Loss estimated at about $3,000 occurred when fire broke out in the C. N. Berry cleaning plant here about 5 p. m. Friday. The loss partially was covered by insurance.

The flames spread to the E. D. Parker Barber shop in the front of the building and to the Wagner Grocery store in the adjoining building.

Loss to the two brick buildings owned by C. N. Woods of Rush Springs, Okla., was estimated as about $1,500. The tailor shop damage was estimated at $600, the barber shop loss at $300, and the smoke and water loss in the grocery store at about $600.

Fire departments from Sudan and Littlefield aided the Amherst department in controlling the fire.

We've got to live this week as well as seven years hence if we are living. So does the local tractor dealers. If we were tractor dealers we'd sell every one we could and let the manufacturer look out for his pay. But won't it be funny if we have to go back to stock-power to see one of our farmers plowing a bull and burgo to make a crop?

Supt. Baze Makes Report to District

I take this formal way of reporting my success with the Legislature to date. Last Tuesday I met with the House Committee and placed before them the reasons why we were asking for special aid at this time. The reasons given were: 1. An increase in enrollment far beyond expectation; 2. Inability to qualify for any kind of state aid; 3. Heavy teaching load; 4. High valuations and taxes; 5. Inability to get what was due from the state for high school tuition of last year; 6. Unfairness in distribution of state funds according to local effort and need. The results of this appearance were satisfactory. The bill asking for $2,000.00 special aid was passed out of the Committee as an amendment to other special appropriations. Just what disposition will be made in the Senate remains to be seen. Senator Nelson did not give us much encouragement either as to this bill or the Gomez special appropriations bill. The Gomez bill also passed out of the Committee.

Other matters are shaping up as well as could be expected. The Equalization Fund bill has been introduced in several forms. In most instances it does not have a limitation as to scholastics. There is another bill introduced to pay last year's high school tuition up to eighty-seven per cent. This will mean a payment of $892.00 in the account of last year.

The most encouraging thing at the present is the movement of state support of schools and state control. Everything now points to a strong State Board of Education, a joint control of schools by the state and county, sufficient money from the state to pay all except bonds, interest and incidentals, the appointment of a Commissioner of Education, and in general, a real state system of education. I look for a state apportionment of $30 or $35 within a year or two with no special funds of any kind. The schedule of salaries will likely be uniform throughout the state. There is also a strong tendency to exempt homesteads of $3,000 or $5,000 from all taxes.

All in all, I am well pleased with the progress that is being made. One thing is certain. The Legislature is conscious of the need for long term legislation for schools and the need of removal of all schools and school programs from politics. Constant effort to contact members of the Legislature and discuss school problems with them has produced results. I honestly believe that visits to Austin have brought immediate aid worth more than the small expenditure for the trips, and I am sure that the future program has been strengthened to such extent that the schools can safely proceed with the assurance of more state help. There is also a possibility that local people may be relieved of ad valorem tax to considerable extent.

Very truly yours, M. L. H. Baze, Sup.

Mrs. Andress Moves Her Beauty Shop

Deprived of some floor space, but handier to a barber shop as well as other conveniences, one will now find the Cinderella Beauty Shop, operated by Mrs. Buck Andress, in the rear of her husband's barber shop, all refitted and redecorated in the latest approved style.

Mrs. Andress informed us that she was better prepared than ever to take care of her trade, especially after the plumbers, carpenters and decorators are through. Mrs. Andress is very proud of her efficient help in the persons of Misses Mamie Drennan, Rose Mayfield and Mary Joe Hardy.

Jim Neill and Owens Boys Get Letters

One day recently was general "letter" handing out day at Tech college, and Brownfield boys shared to a good extent. Jim Neill, of course got his senior letter for his sweater, having also obtained them in his Sophomore and Junior years.

He also got a special award as "interceptor of passes." Pete and Alton Owens both got Junior letter, and Pete a special award as a "line blocker."

Mrs. Joe Eudy out on route one will read the Herald this year complimentary of her daughter who works in the Hollywood Beauty Shop.

"LISTEN FOLKS"

By Jim Ferguson. (Editor's note: This article is published as a news item and represents the personal views of Mr. Ferguson only)

The doin's in the Capitol are getting interesting. The harmony that prevailed for the first two weeks of the legislature appears now somewhat disturbed.

The thing had to come off sooner or later. It looks like trouble is no respecter of issue or persons.

To start with, Speaker Calvert did not please a good many members because he did not appoint them on the committees they wanted on. Every Speaker of the last twenty years has had the same trouble, and it generally leaves some scars that are never healed.

However, when the Speaker appointed Alf Roark as Chairman of the Committee on revenue and taxation he made one appointment that everybody approved. Alf is the youngest member that was ever made Chairman of this, the most important, committee of any legislature. He comes from the old historic county of Hardin, and his home people will feel justly proud of his merited recognition.

Governor Allred is having some trouble too. His close friends are expressing some chargin at the Governor's change of position from no new tax in his campaign to a 13 million new tax demand on his legislature. His friends say they would not feel so embarrassed if he had told them where to get the money instead of a general suggestion to tax different things. They say that if he wants to tax oil, let him say how much; if he wants to tax utilities, then how much; and they say that if he still has his knife out for sulphur then they say they would appreciate it if he would give them the cue as to the rate.

The Governor is having trouble with the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, and it looks like the scrap may get into the courts. The Governor appears to be very anxious to repeal the horse race bill. He has his friends Graves and Bradbury in charge of the repeal bill in the House. But they will not put it over. The idea is already expressed that the repeal talk is just "hokey" and that the bill will never come up. In support of this prediction, they call attention to the fact that though a repeal bill was offered at the last session no effort was ever made to get the bill up for consideration. It will be interesting to watch the developments.

The Child Labor Constitutional Amendment will come up soon for a vote in the Senate. This amendment is a national question and gives to Congress the right to regulate and prohibit the employment of all minors male or female under the age of 18 years. The vote will be close. The opposition is led by Senator Holbrook from Galveston. He says this amendment is against the farmer, and he contends that three-fourths of the cotton crop of Texas is made and gathered by children under 18 years of age. If he is right (and I think he is) then the raising and education of families in Texas would be impossible as cotton production is yet the back bone of our Texas civilization.

I attended this week the graduating exercises of 117 students of Austin High School. They were all strong and vigorous, and nine-tenths of them were more than 5 1/2 feet in height, and many of the boys were about 6 feet tall. As I looked at this class of smart, intelligent people who had already completed a far better education than the mothers and fathers who made Texas, I thought to myself that it would be a distinct crime against these students as well as a reflection on our civilization for any government to have the power to prohibit by law their employment by anybody who wanted to or could give them employment to earn a living for themselves or their parents.

To prohibit by law the labor of children under 12 years of age might be all right, but to prohibit anybody under 18 years from making a living is foolishness and I hope the legislature of Texas will so vote.

But the big issue that won't down is the Old Age Pension, and it is making the legislators as nervous as a cat on a hot rock. It now develops that the liquor revenue which is being largely absorbed by a horde of political appointees, won't be enough to pay the deliberalized pension, let alone the constitutional pension which the people voted. That old fighting Democrat from Wood county, Judge Ben Cathey whipped through the House a bill that gives to the Com-

Many Firms Improving Fronts or Redecorating

We tried to get all over the city last week end where new business houses were opening, or where new fronts, or where colored glasses is being used, or where the interior of the place is being redecorated, but there were so many of them that it was a real job for one week and for one country editor whose vocabulary of technical phrases are limited.

But be as it may, there are lots of pretty business houses in Brownfield, more than any town the size we have ever seen. The new front and the new interior decorations have added wonderfully to the City Tailors and Cleaners, as well as their next door neighbors, west. The Club Cafe. In the former place, there is a real cityfied shine parlor in the front with two black boys that can actually use dem rags. The cleaning and pressing department itself, has been fitted throughout with the latest machinery money can buy, and with a corps of first class workmen, guarantee to give you just as good work as you can get anywhere.

A set back petition, sperates it from the Hollywood Beauty Shop, and you ladies have seen this show and know that we do not exgerate when we say there is none better, or better operators. Mrs. Hudson and her girls are real proud of their shop in its new location, and well should they be. We have about figured it out that Messrs Patterson and West of the Club Cafe have fixed such a nice place that it will kinder keep the eyes of the men off their pretty waitresses. Anyway, the men now have something else to oogle at, and will give the ladies a rest. And you know food just seems to taste better in a pretty place—ever try it—well do!

Five County Medical Associations Meet

The Five County Medical Association, composed of the counties of Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Gaines and Dawson, met here Tuesday night at the Wines hotel at 7:30, where a splendid dinner awaited them, according to Dr. John R. Turner, Secretary. A reporter from the Herald was invited but a predate at a birthday dinner in the family interfered. Miss Jane Brownfield rendered several selections for the edification of the medicos during the dinner hour.

A business and scientific meeting was later held the offices of Dr. M. E. Jacobson, at which time Dr. F. E. Hudson, of Stamford, District Counsellor of the State Medical Association addressed the doctors on Obstetrics and Diseases of Children. In this connection, a series of post graduate courses will be available at an early date, one each at Abilene, Sweetwater and Big Spring. Dr. Hudson's address was much enjoyed by those present.

A proposal came up to increase the annual dues from $8.00 to $9.00 per year. A scientific program was in charge of Drs. A. H. Daniells and M. E. Jacobson. Those attending were, Drs. M. E. Jacobson, E. C. Davis, John R. Turner, T. L. Treadaway and A. H. Daniells, local physicians, Drs. Dunn, Lovelace and Smith of Lamesa; Dr. J. D. Moorhead of Meadow, and Dr. Hudson.

The next meeting will be held at Lamesa on the 2nd Tuesday in March.

Brown Brothers Putting in a New Cafe

Rolland and Grady Brown have moved their small lunch called the Midget Lunch across the street from where it was and just east of the Texico Service Station, and it is being run under their direction.

They are now opening another lunch room cafe in the Spear building and just across from the Tudor Sales Co., west, which when finished and decorated will be a real nice eating place. At the time we visited them last Saturday, they had not decided on a name. Watch for their ad.

W. H. Hight was in this week looking after his brother who was badly hurt. Report elsewhere.

Missioners Court of each county the right to pass on the right of the old people of their counties to draw pension, and to call attention to the drawing of pensions by people who are not entitled to have it.

Uncle Joe Bryant to Go to Gettysburg

That good old friend of the writer, whom we have known since we landed in Johnson county, Texas, as a 20 year old youth, fresh from the red hills of West Tennessee, in 1900, the new century came in. Uncle Joe Bryant was in to see us one day last week, and he pulled out a letter from some authority in Pennsylvania, a questionnaire, if you please, which we assisted Uncle Joe in filling out.

It seems that in 1938 the State of Pennsylvania is making arrangements and has appropriated funds to entertain for ten days at least all surviving Federal and Confederate veterans on the grounds of the greatest battlefield of Gettysburg in that state, where for two long weary days the Yankees and the Johnny Rebs under that matchless leader Gen. Robt. E. Lee scesaawed back and forth. To admit defeat, for the Federals, meant that the Confederates would march in and take Washington. Here is where President Abraham Lincoln delivered that matchless, but very short address in 1865.

The State of Pennsylvania not only proposes to pay the rail or bus fare there and return for every survivor of both sides, but all expenses both ways from the time they leave their homes until they return. Not only that, but they will pay all expenses of one escort for these old men, and in Uncle Joe's case, Joe Jr., will accompany him.

One of the questions asked: "Would you like to see a reproduction of Pickett's charge?" "Shore, shore, shore," yelled Uncle Joe. And who would not—north or south. It is said by military experts that this charge made on mistaken order from Gen. Lee was the most magnificent in the annals of warfare. So swift and in such splendid formation did this well trained cavalry dash across that open field toward the Federal trenches, that even the Yankees held fire in admiration. But they, unsupported, of course rode to their doom.

Their ranks were swept by cannon and rifle, and only a few of these brave fellows ever fell over those breastworks, and they were either dead or wounded. But blank shells will be used in this "Charge of Pickett." There will be no bloodshed. A reunited and rewelded country would permit no such charge now. Why, even Pennsylvania is overwhelmingly Democratic now by almost such a majority as Texas usually gives.

We almost envy Uncle Joe this trip. Go and have a good time, old friend.

Pride School Building Goes Up in Flames

One of the oldest school buildings in this section of the country, as well as one of the oldest communities, the Pride school house in the southeast part of this county, and the corners of Dawson and Lynn, went up in flames last Wednesday night, the 3rd, about 2 a. m., thought to be an explosion from a lamp. It was covered by insurance.

For many years this old school building was just over in Lynn county, but when the county lines were "slid" east a few years ago, we understand it was in Terry county. Our idea is that the schools of Welch, Pride and Lou will be consolidated so far as high schools are concerned with probably a grade school at Pride. We understand they are putting up a temporary building.

Don't Forget the Red Cross Meeting Tonite

Everyone is urged to attend the Red Cross Meeting tonight at 7:30 at the County Judge's office at the Court House. At that time the organization will be completed, according to Mrs. S. H. Holgate. Those willing to serve as officers or committees are especially urged to be there.

In this connection we will state that a few names necessarily had to be left off the Red Cross list of donations last week in order to get the paper to press in time. The list will be checked this week and those names printed that donated too late for publication last week.

Miss Vona Lee Ditto left Sunday for Dallas where she will purchase dry goods and ready-to-wear for Collins Dry Goods Co. These new spring selections will be shown in their store within the next few days.

And another thing Charles Armour Guy, did you note that the Council of Texas Retail Dealers Association, has listed your representative, Hon. J. Doyle Settle as from Abernathy, Gaines county, Texas? Sharley gets those wires to Austin hot.

Sen. G. H. Nelson of this district is trying to dady his unicameral legislature of 42 members through again this term. However, we are going to have to be "shown" that there is a majority of those birds down there that want to give up their $10 per diem.

Jean Suits in her Lockney (Beacon) Chattergram column, made a serious plunge at the supposed masculine advantages last week. But she kinder dried her tears on her sleeves, as it were, at the conclusion, with the implied threat "that woman is coming into her own, rapidly, and take care littleuns when she does."

We neglected to mention that Tuesday, February 2 was Ground Hog Day. Our remembrance was that the old boy failed to see his shadow when he came out that day so—we ought to have an early spring, according to tradition. Personally, however, if there are really any ground hogs in west Texas after 32 years experience within it, we think they are unmitigated liars.

It doesn't take an army engineer to tell why we are having floods. When the writer came to Jones county about 1905, that county had just started to settle rapidly. At that time there were plenty holes on California creek where we could catch a mess of speckled perch and blue and yellow cat in two hours. In two years, there wasn't a hole from the Swenson (Ellisley) ranch to the Clear Fork deep enough to catch a minnow in. Well, if that creek filled up, why not the small rivers and the big rivers? No banks—bad floods—simple enough.

We note that Old Sharley Guy of those half-baked Democratic (?) papers, the Avalanche and the Journal, took a good sized crack at the President Sunday, and defended those rich old cronies in the Supreme Court, most if not all, who have never known a hardship in their lives. All are pretty wealthy men now. We are not saying that the supreme court judges are dishonest, or do not interpret the law "as she is writ." But we do say that we have some laws on our statute books that are as antiquated to present times as an Egyptian mummy is to a present day funeral. In 1776, or thereabouts, when the present constitution of Texas was written, it was a "lamb without a blemish," perhaps, but every term of the legislature now has to make some amendments of this ancient instrument, which is really a youth compared to the constitution of the United States, which was built to ox-cart methods instead of stream-lined trains. Of course all the big dailies, which are owned and controlled by the wealthy or corporations, are fighting any change. They are afraid of progress. Many weeklies, also. But here is our prediction, Sharley—watch it. Within ten years, if our laws are not liberalized to present condition; if a few more vital laws to the common people, including the city wage worker, the factory employe, coal miner, and the farmer are thrown out, and a condition of overproduction like we had four or five years ago, when farmers were burning corn for fuel in Terry county, or hauling it in here for $2.50 a ton, and cotton, if selling at all, was bringing less than the cost of production. We say, Sharley, that if another such condition arises, we'll have a dictator form of government right here in the United States, and we'd love to see you and the rest of the big Journalists stop it. Mark our words. Another thing; FDR does not want to be a dictator, he simply wants to see the Forgotten man have a new deal. But in that ten years there will be one that will rise from the ranks; maybe some little gink with a few mustache in the middle of his upper lip; but he'll be powerful enough to let you know just where your bread and meat comes from, Sharley. Our laws will have to be liberalized to meet needs. Those of 1776 are out of date.

Judging from the condition of the post office wastebasket, Wednesday, the store that mailed circulars to box-holders, got mighty little for the money expended. A visit to the post office and rural mail boxes after a circular mailing campaign should convince anyone of the futility of reaching the buying public in this manner. Half as much money expended for an advertisement in the home paper would reach a far greater buying power, with results out of all comparison with the circular method.—McLean News.

It is to be doubted if the average drycleaner is very strong for advertising, or very effective in publicizing his own business. But Troy Noel, at Brownfield, Texas, out near the New Mexico line, began his career as a plant owner with a real advertising splurge. For the past year he had the City Tailor Shop leased. Beginning Jan. 1 he was in for himself, under his own name and in his own plant, so he used an entire 7-column newspaper page to invite the town to his formal opening. If Noel's Tailor's continues at this enterprising rate, we believe the business will show rapid gains.—Dry Cleaning Process.

No stronger argument that advertising pays could be found than is revealed by the study of the enormous sums spent last year by the most successful business institutions of this country for publicity. General Motors heads the list with $7,231,260 spent for advertising in 1935. These figures are closely followed by Chrysler, with $3,295,586; Reynolds Tobacco Company, $3,202,313; Proctor and Gamble, $2,440,167; and Bristol Myers, $2,385,904. Standard-Brands and General Foods spent around $2,000,000 each. Advertiser's whose expenditures ran from $1,500,000 to $1,800,000 include Lambert, Ford, Campbell Soup, General Electric and Lever Brothers.—Lovington Leader.

Things go in cycles, and the fads of a quarter of a century ago are sure to come back, even though in a different form. It is easy to recall when the bicycle fad swept the country, for Big Spring experienced it the same as every other community. Now the bicycle has come back and bids fair to achieve even greater popularity than it enjoyed in the "gay nineties." Reports show that more than a million bicycles were manufactured and sold in 1935, and that employment in this industry has aided greatly in the national recovery. In towns and villages thousands of children are again enjoying this healthful form of exercise, while in cities thousands of men are finding it an economical mode of transportation to and from their work. So sales are mounting and more and more men being employed in the industry. All of which is good news because anything that is both economical and healthful is deserving of a place in the American plan of living.—Big Spring News.

Grand Jury Report

THE STATE OF TEXAS, COUNTY OF TERRY. In The District Court of Terry County, Texas, January Term, A. D. 1937. TO the Honorable Gordon B. McGuire, Judge of Said Court:

We your grand jury for the above term of said court most respectfully report that we have investigated all matters of crime that has been brought to our attention. We have been in session 3 days and have returned 13 bills of felony indictments, having returned no bills for misdemeanor offenses.

We are glad to report that crime seems to be on the decrease in this county. We attribute this fine condition to the efficient work of our local officers and to the high type of citizenship that live in Terry county, and stand for law enforcement.

We have investigated the court house and jail and find the same to be kept in a good and sanitary manner.

We wish to express our appreciation to our district judge, district clerk, sheriff, bailiffs, our county and district attorneys for the courtesies extended to us during our deliberation. We also wish to thank the good citizens that came before us as witnesses to give their testimony to the end that we might fully investigate all matters called to our attention.

Having finally finished our work as a grand jury we desire to be finally discharged for the term.

Respectfully submitted, A. M. Brownfield, Foreman of the grand jury.

DIED

Mrs. George D. Couchman was buried from the residence of the father-in-law, Mr. George Couchman, last Monday afternoon at two o'clock. She had been ill for some weeks, and had been in a hospital for treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Couchman have five children, and a veritable host of friends who followed the body to its resting place in the Union Cemetery near the home.

The service was conducted by Rev. R. T. Breedlove, assisted by the pastor of The First Methodist Church of Colorado, where Mrs. Couchman's family, the Chesneys live. A great number of relatives and friends of Colorado came up with the pastor, Rev. C. E. Jameson, and the family to attend the services.

We understand that Mrs. Couchman once taught school in the Union community, and that she met her husband, married there and has lived there since, where she and her husband have been universally liked by their acquaintances and neighbors.

NAZERENE MINISTER TO FILL PULPIT HERE

We are authorized to announce that Rev. R. M. Hocker, Nazarene minister of Lubbock, will fill the pulpit at the Presbyterian church here, Sunday, Feb. 21, at 3 o'clock p. m. The general public is cordially invited to hear him.

Sometimes the old timers stay away too long, and we don't know them when we meet them face to face. Last Saturday we had the pleasure of again seeing Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Witt of Gallup, N. M., who with two grandchildren, Travis and Donald are visiting his sister, Mrs. R. H. McCormack. Mrs. Witt was the daughter of the late Rev. M. D. Williams, who settled in this county in the early days.

Mrs. Rachel Smith and another lady were pleasant callers Wednesday. Mrs. Smith is an old time Grandview lady and knew several that we have known for years.

We are sorry to learn Geo. E. Tierman slipped on the ice several weeks ago fracturing his knee cap. Just learned of the accident this week, but we understand the old timer is coming out of it in fine shape.

The General Motors strike don't seem to be much nearer a solution, as we go to press.

Meadow Items

Another sandstorm yesterday to keep us reminded of the fast approaching March winds.

Mrs. D. J. Harris and son, Noble, opened up the Meadow Service Station, Saturday morning and expect to operate it.

We have almost been showered with copies of the "Meadow Star" and have met the editor. Like the paper enough to subscribe for it.

Mr. Idris Smith and Miss Maurine Saunders were married last week. May we say congratulations through the paper.

The Baptist people set out trees at their parsonage last week. Good example for us all to follow, now that we have city water I wonder if we could not make a move to set out trees in all our church yards, and some more at our school yard.

H. S. Hawkins and family attended a family reunion at Fort Worth last week end.

Herbert Chesshire, manager of the Farmers Co-op. Station was sick from flu last week, but is able to be back at his work this writing.

We hear that B. W. White was killed enroute to Arkansas.

Elder Jas. A. Fry, Minister of the church of Christ at Brownfield preached two interesting Bible sermons for us Sunday at eleven and seven-thirty. We hope he can come back again and preach for us.

Mrs. L. L. Martin, English teacher in the Forsan High School, spent Saturday night with Mrs. J. M. Burtson and ate dinner with Mrs. D. J.

Harris and children. Mr. and Mrs. Martin taught as Supt. and English in our school before going to Forsan and have many friends here.

We were so sorry to hear of the death of Mr. and Mrs. Wingfield's son. We hear his death was caused from a nail that stuck in his foot and caused lock jaw. Mrs. Wingfield is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Pendergrass. Funeral services were held at the church of Christ Monday afternoon by Bro. Fry and burial in the Meadow cemetery. We extend our sympathy to all the relatives in their bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Welch are sick at this writing.

Mrs. Oscar Felty returned from New Mexico, Saturday.

DUMAS

Little Evelyn Gross visited Leona Wright Sunday.

Fred Schulz and daughter visited Mr. and Mrs. Horace Jones of Wellman Sunday evening.

Mrs. H. W. Schulz is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. L. Bateas this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard entertained the young folks with a party Saturday night. A nice crowd was present.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Wright were Lubbock visitors, Friday.

Mr. Elwood Cottrell visited his sister, Mrs. Christine Wright, Thursday.

Miss Lela Mae Elmore spent Monday night with Misses Viola and Elizabeth Bateas.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

Perhaps the best day congregation we have had at any time greeted the pastor last Sunday morning, and the service was about all that could have been expected. It was a very gracious hour. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dalton received into the church, and the people went away feeling that it was indeed good to have been there.

withstanding the severe sandstorm that was raging.

Those who should come this way are missing something fine and helpful when they do not attend these services conducted in the interest solely of the Kingdom of God.

There will be a song by a special quartette Sunday morning that will repay you for coming to the church. Do not fail to be in both the Church School and in the eleven o'clock preaching service. Bring a friend with you, and let that friend have the benefit of the church.

Special Scout Banquet Here Monday Night

In celebration of the twenty-seventh anniversary of Scouting in America, the Southwest District Committee is making arrangements for a banquet for Scouts, Cubs, and parents and others interested in Scouting, Monday evening, February 15 in the High School gymnasium, M. L. H. Baze, District Chairman in charge of arrangements announced.

Charles A. Guy, Editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, and Dr. F. B. Malone, President of the South Plains Council will appear on the program as guest speakers.

Advance sale of tickets has been started and those planning to attend are urged to buy their tickets in advance. The Domestic Science Class of the Brownfield High School are serving the banquet, and will need to know the approximate number of plates to prepare, Baze, in charge of the ticket sale stated.

Lynn County Man Victim of Explosion

J. H. Collemback, 62, blacksmith shop operator, was gravely burned in an explosion in his shop about 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at Tahoka, and died in Lubbock at 8:15 o'clock.

Carried to a sanitarium here in a Harris ambulance, Collemback was in a critical condition when he arrived. Roy Lawer, about 37, an employee, suffered less severe burns and was being treated at his home in Tahoka.—Lubbock Avalanche.

MOTORIZED RUSTLERS

Many a story of the Old West has been woven around the work of the cattle rustler. Most citizens have the hazy impression that the crime is passed but the Brownwood Bulletin, in an editorial, reminds that livestock thefts by truck operators have become so serious that drastic action seems necessary to provide protection for sheep, goat, and cattle raisers of the Southwest.

States the Bulletin: "Recently a large flock of stolen sheep was discovered in Mason county, apparently assembled from a large territory, and it was extremely difficult for owners of the animals to identify their property because brands had been obliterated. Almost daily the theft of livestock is reported in each county, and even the most careful enforcement of existing laws seems unavailing to check the practice.

"Senators and Representatives of western Texas counties are particularly interested in this problem, and during the present legislative session will do their utmost to secure statutory relief. A number of remedies for

Collegiennes Pick Sammy

Passing himself onto most of the major All-American selections was not the only accomplishment of Slingin' Sammy Baugh, Texas Christian's passing quarterback. He also passed his way into the hearts of 2,300 Texas State College for Women fans, who voted him their favorite Southwest Conference star. Baugh is shown here as Miss Dorothy Ehlinger, student president from New Braunfels, presented him with a traveling bag. Dick Todd, Texas A. & M. backfield star, was second in the balloting.

the rustling operations have been suggested, among them being a proposal for long prison terms for those convicted. It is almost certain that more adequate provisions for policing the highways will be made, so that the opportunity for truckers to slip away with their stolen cargoes will be diminished. Use of the fire-brand to identify sheep and goats, instead of merely painting the brand on the animals as at present, is also being considered.

By what ever means it may be accomplished, the complete outlawing of motorized rustling must be accomplished by the state. Livestock men can ill afford the losses they have been suffering, and are entitled to protection against them."

JOHN GARNER'S POWER

John Nance Garner, 31st vice president of the United States, told capital correspondents yesterday that he intends to continue his policy of silence on all public questions.

Here is the Garner code, in his own words:

"I often say that the Chief (President Roosevelt) does the talking and I do the work. If I undertook to make substantial statements as to policy and what should be done by either the executive or legislative branches the statement might be in conflict with one of my boss."

"Four years ago I adopted and I intend to continue the policy of tending to my job. My job is neither legislative nor executive. I neither make nor execute the law and I know the supreme court wouldn't let me interpret it.

"I intend to pursue that course during the next four years."

There you have, in a nutshell, part of the secret of John Garner's great power in Washington. He works silently and leaves the tom-tom beating to others.

THE FORGOTTEN MAN

Almost every time we read a newspaper we see another report about something a state or the federal government is doing for somebody. We have laws for the farmer, the worker, the needy, the exporter, the importer, the shipper—laws for almost everybody you can think of.

In the last seven years, governments have pitched in and done all sorts of things for special groups of citizens. But who made it possible for the governments to do these things? Where did the government get the resources, the credit, and the power to do these things?

The Forgotten Man. He is the man who went on about his own business; who managed to scrimp and scrape by on his income and stay off relief; who voted for the laws designed to help not him, but his neighbors.

He, too, is the man whose steadyness kept the credit of governments good, for everybody knew that in the end he would supply the money that would pay off debts. And he is the man who keeps on and on contributing taxes and taxes, until he is dizzy.

If all these forgotten men had gone busted had stopped work, had stopped producing wealth, what would have resulted? Chaos.

Isn't it about time that thought and thanks were given to the people now apparently forgotten, who stood out in the seven years' storm like sentinels?

We may erect statues to them when they are gone; we may put their names in history books; we may name rivers and trees and flowers after them. But they're human like all of us, and it's about time we gave them a pat on the back.—Abilene Times.

PREVENTING HOME CURED BACON FROM BECOMING RANCID

"So many times our cured bacon has become rancid before we could use it all, so this year we canned some of it to insure its keeping, and to have fresh bacon throughout the summer," said Mrs. Duke Lipscomb, Elbow H. D. Club member.

Mrs. Lipscomb sliced the bacon as for serving, then seared it, and packed it in sterilized cans while it was hot putting about two tablespoons of the hot grease in which it was fried, in each can. The cans were then sealed and processed, in No. 2 cans for 45 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.—Big Spring News.

NEW SHORTER ROUTE

between the

GULF COAST

The Santa Fe is happy to announce the completion and opening to service, on February 1st, 1937, of the longest piece of new railroad undertaken in the United States in the past year—the 112 miles of new line linking Las Animas, Colorado, with Boise City, Oklahoma

The new line carries rail facilities to and through a considerable area of potentially rich country, but it has an even broader purpose—to provide finer Santa Fe service for the shippers and consumers of a tremendous and already developed territory.

In a word, the new road, linking together existing Santa Fe lines, provides to the shippers and consumers of a vast and productive area of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Colorado, and of the northern mountain states clear to the Pacific Northwest, through facilities and shorter routings for the rapid interchange of their shipments. It reduces the previous shortest rail distance between Amarillo, Texas, and Denver, Colorado, by over 25 miles. It saves from 142 to 226 miles in the movement of freight over the Santa Fe to and from Colorado, from and to points in Texas, and on portions of the Santa Fe in Oklahoma and New Mexico. Today, Amarillo is placed but 435 miles from Denver, via the Santa Fe. Products of the Pacific Northwest, connecting with the Santa Fe at Colorado points, can now have direct routing to the markets of Texas and the Gulf ports, while producers in the Lone Star State will benefit from similar service in reaching Colorado and the great Northwest.

The new line has been carefully sited and solidly constructed, with every facility for the handling of business offered at new stations located in a territory that had been making progress even in advance of the advent of the rails. Here is good wheat country, and corn, grain sorghums, broom corn and other crops have done well with natural rainfall. In the Las Animas area, where irrigation farming is done with water from the Arkansas River, there is promise of greatly increased production of sugar beets, melons, vegetables, onions, and alfalfa. West of Springfield, Colorado, and Boise City, Oklahoma, and north of Amarillo, general farming and livestock raising are important activities. Among the towns on the new line north of Amarillo, in Texas, are Dumas and Stratford.

In the construction of the new Boise City-Las Animas line, the Santa Fe reaffirms its abiding faith in the future of that vast Southwest in which it pioneered and which it has grown. Your local Santa Fe representative will be glad to point out how the new line can best be of service to you

HERE'S HOLLYWOOD

By Jack Hardy

Top interest item of the week concerns Elaine (Ariel) Barrymore's appearance in a play opening last Monday night in San Francisco. Said one report: "She looked like Salome and acted like salami!" Another reviewer commented: "Marrying a Barrymore doesn't make you one!"

That popular singing cowboy, Gene Autry, returned to Hollywood over the week end from his ten weeks personal appearance tour. He was rushed at once into filming of his next picture, "Git Along Little Dogies," the first he's made since early November. The troupe went to Kernville, nearly 200 miles from Hollywood, to shoot the outdoor action in the High Sierra Nevada mountains.

"Mom says," declared Martha Raye to your columnist, "that I was born with my mouth so wide open, no one could see my face." Anyway, the girl is certainly cashing in on the extremeness of her features.

The patience and labor expended by animal trainers who want to get some of the movie money with their pets is vividly exemplified by Bud Wolford. His white horse, "Sheik," which Bob Livingston rides in the current picture, "The Vigilantes Are Coming," is known in horse circles as "high schooled." That means, Wolford explained, that he spent most of four years training "Sheik" to obey any oral instructions given. As the result, "Sheik" does things which indicate he's more intelligent than many actors, and he's constantly booked ahead for pictures.

Sonja Henie and Tyrone Power are very decidedly deep in romance. Naturally the world's feminine skating champ wanted her boy friend to learn to skate with her. Young Power had the most embarrassing moment of his life, and Sonja some of her most delicious laughs, as the handsome actor took repeated falls. Her snickers didn't help any.

Now that Phil Regan, singing star of "Happy Go Lucky," has revealed the possession of a wife and four children, another secret marriage has leaked out. Personable young Carol Hughes, playing her biggest film role yet in "Three Men on a Horse," has posed as 19 and unmarried. The fact that she is nearer 22 and has a six year old daughter.

"I'm just a mid-western youngster who is very much surprised by this sudden so-called fame," declares Fred MacMurray. "It hasn't gone to my head because I consider it largely luck. If fate hadn't played certain cards, I'd probably still be tooting a saxophone."

Anyone having the opportunity to observe Hollywood closely would commend Fred for being ninety per cent right—and 100 per cent sensible.

While making "Lawless Land," Johnny Mack Brown declared he preferred being a western actor and living the outdoor life. "I don't feel at ease," he commented, "in tails or tuxedo. I really got fed up on being an impeccable Southern gentleman with its screen demand for accent, flattery, and all. I'm really not that sort of a fellow. My greatest claim to fame was in athletics (football at Alabama U.) That's why I love to work in pictures where I can combine business with athletic pleasure." And anyone who works with Brown, says he is just that way—one of the finest, squarest guys ever known.

Baptist Church News

Our meeting began last Sunday morning with a fine crowd attending and a fine spirit shown. One coming for membership in the church, and a number of our fine young people re-dedicating their lives unto the Lord at the evening service. That is a thing we all need to do. We should re-dedicate our lives anew to Him each day, to be used as He directs, for we are His first, by right of creation and, second by right of redemption. We are not our own but are brought with a great price, the blood of Jesus.

Our pastor is doing the preaching at the evening hour, and Bro. Cohen at the morning hour. You will miss a blessing if you miss any of these services. Bro. Cohen is certainly a spiritual man, and you will enjoy his messages, be with us each morning at ten o'clock and at seven each evening for the prayer meetings. Bro. Cohen has charge of the young people for twenty-five minutes before church services each evening in the intermediate department of the church. At the same time there are prayer meetings for the men and women in separate rooms in the building. Church services start at 7:30 p. m. Be there we need you. A special invitation is extended singers of any and all churches to help in the singing. Bro. Cohen is our excellent director.

To the new people who have just moved to Brownfield that are Baptist, if we do not see you personally, we are extending to you a very special invitation to attend these services and unite with our church. Now will be a fine time to do this, and is the very best way to get acquainted when you move into a new community.

ing, and even if a mere man has no more business in a china shop than a bull has in a china shop, we want to see and get acquainted with our customers.

Well, the Sandra Sue was one of the places visited. We had never met the proprietor, Mrs. Bertha Stahler, who came to our little city from Fort Worth a few months ago. You first impression (or was ours) of Mrs. Stahler is that here is a lady that it pretty dignified. So better get out of that old western swagger, and get on your P's and Q's. But that lady has you all disarmed in a minute. You feel that you have known her and been in her home. She is showing you gidget and that gidget that they use to make Brownfield and Terry countyadies so lovely.

And by the way, here is a real new one that she pulled on us to make us feel our inferior sex complex. She remarked that of the two, men were the ones that are conceited. "Ladies," she said, "acknowledge that they can be improved upon and made to look better. Men think they look good anyway." Was our face red, and if it hadn't been for an old time friend, Mrs. Ruth Lewis there to kinder comfort us, we might have fallen to staves.

Yes, the ladies beauty shops help us, and we are going to help them all that lies in our power to help, personally and through the Herald. And anytime the ladies don't think the "old he" gives them a good writeup, in the best and most desirable style, they are privileged to send for one of the younger men, Jack Jr., or Ralph.

A Texas Newsprint Mill is Epochal

The building of a newsprint mill in East Texas will be of tremendous economic importance to the South and to the Nation as a whole, comments from widely separated sources indicated Monday.

Writing in Newsdom, newspaper publishing trade journal, James G. Stahlman, president and publisher of the Nashville Banner, stated that, "We are too close to the picture to realize what this will mean to the South right now, but I will make the prediction that within fifteen years the South will have industries utilizing Southern pine that will have not less than a half-billion-dollar annual turnover. This means better business for everybody—the banks, the railroads, the merchants, the newspapers and especially the farmers in the pine belt section of the South, who will be able to cultivate pine for commercial use on land heretofore going to waste and practically worthless."

Announcement of the organization of the mill in Dallas last week came almost simultaneously with the announcement of Lord Rothermere, publisher of the London Daily Mirror, Daily Mail and other British newspapers, that there will be a permanent shortage of newsprint within two years, following by advice to Canadian mills to increase their price.—Dallas News.

Saw two big truck loads of horses and mules being loaded for Fort Worth market Tuesday, to be used to run side-harrows, double-shovels and Georgia stocks back east. And in a few years they will be selling us some of the mules out of those mares—well, at around $250 apiece, if we can make a good note at a local bank.

Eyes of Nation's Industrial Leaders on Texas

"The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You," goes the state song, but the eyes of the nation's industrial leaders are upon Texas, as decentralization becomes the creed of heavy industry and new frontiers of manufacturing, processing and distribution are sought.

The Lone Star state's magnificent celebration of its first centennial of independence served to focus the nation's attention not only on the rich history and tradition of Texas, but more practically upon the vast possibilities of "the state that has everything" to become a dominant force in the nation's industrial picture, says a report from the All-South Development Council.

Notwithstanding the phenomenal growth of the oil industry in Texas, which has become the world's most prolific producer of crude oil while doing a fair share of the refining and processing operations stemming from oil extraction, the economy of the state has remained dominantly agricultural.

Now, however, many forces are at work in industrial economies which make it propitious that Texas "step out" and capitalize more fully on the matchless resources and geographic advantages which are its birthright, and take definite steps toward achieving a more balanced economy through aggressive and constructive encouragement of industry.

In the case of oil and natural gas, rewards of group and individual enterprise have generally been so spectacularly attractive as to establish a vast and steady current of exploration, investment and development in the face of this agricultural tradition—and in the face of a feverishly mounting tax impost.

Numerous surveys assure us that Texas soil contains a great store of other sinews of industry, but with the exception of sulphur these mineral resources have been sorely neglected. True, our marble, potash, gypsum, lead, salt, clays, lime asphalt and others probably could not produce riches so sensationally as oil does (sometimes), but they all could contribute to the inevitable industrialization.

Can it be that the almost traditional Texas practice of looking to natural resources as the answer to virtually every state financial emergency—and indulging the "emergency" idea frequently—has militated against development of many of these other Texas resources, and will discourage their future development?

Rev. Johnny Cohen, who is assisting Rev. F. G. Rodgers in a revival here, called Monday. He has three brothers all in the printing industry, and he, himself dappled in it quite a spell before entering the ministry.

Texas' Many Natural Resources to Be Shown

DALLAS, Feb. 8.—Texas multi-billion-dollar resources, developed and undeveloped, will be shown 100 per cent at the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition, in Dallas June 12 through October.

This exhibit, the most comprehensive ever undertaken by any State, is being assembled by the Texas Natural Resources Institute, of which Judge John M. Spellman of Dallas, is general manager.

The Institute, following the close of the international exposition, plans to maintain this exhibit in Dallas as a permanent showing of the industrial and manufacturing potentialities of the State.

Since creation of the Institute, and the beginning of its work, it has received more than 50,000 inquiries concerning commercial possibilities of undeveloped resources.

Research by the Institute has revealed there are approximately 100 natural resources in the State, now known to have commercial possibilities. Of these only three or four, notably petroleum, lumbering, natural gas, helium and sulphur, have been developed on a large commercial scale.

Outstanding inquiries to the Institute have concerned building and ornamental stone. Inexhaustible supplies of these exist near transportation arteries.

The exhibit will stress the importance of Texas developing these resources in the dawn of an industrial era, so that it can keep pace with other sections of the country.

Transportation lines are so interested in the showing, which will be under one roof, that they are transporting the raw materials to Dallas without charge. Competent geologists will be placed in the field at once by the Institute to make a thorough canvass and insure that every resource will be on display.

THE 25-MILLIONTH

F O R D HAS JUST BEEN BUILT

IT HAS never occurred before in automobile history that 25 million cars of one make, bearing one name, have been manufactured under one management. The 25,000,000th Ford car rolled off the Ford Rouge Plant production line on January 18, 1937.

25 million cars since 1903... more than one-third of all the cars ever built... enough cars to transport the entire population of the United States.

The figures represent a remarkable contribution to the social welfare, the industrial stability and the general progress of our country.

People respect Ford efficiency. They know Ford uses fine materials, the best workmanship at good wages, the most exact precision measurements. They know these things are passed along to purchasers in the form of extra value. Naturally, they like to do business with such a company. That is the only reason it has been required to produce 25 million cars.

Naturally, too, they expect more of a Ford car, more this year than last year—more each year than the year before. They have every right to. The experience gained in building 25,000,000 cars enables Ford to produce today a really superb motor car at a really low price—with the Beauty, Comfort, Safety and Performance of much more expensive cars.

The 1937 Ford V-8 combines advanced design, all-steel construction, extra body room, and brilliant brakes with a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines—the most modern type of power-plant on land, sea, or in the air.

The 85-horsepower engine provides top performance with unusually good economy for its high power.

The 60-horsepower engine gives good performance with the greatest gasoline mileage ever built into a Ford car—and wears the lowest Ford price tag in years.

People expect more of a Ford car because it's a Ford—and they get more, for the same reason. It is undeniably the quality car in the low-price field.

LADIES

Are you troubled with shrinkage in your dresses?

Shrinkage is the result of two things:

1. Not buying pre-shrunk materials.
2. Your cleaner washes your dresses.

We are unable to help the first, but the second reason is unnecessary.

After several months of research and experiment, we have developed a process making the wet-washing of dresses a thing of the past.
