The Official Paper of Terry County and the City of Brownfield.

As our heart has always gone out to mistreated children, our ire was considerably aroused when we saw the following article in a recent issue of Pathfinder:

"A little girl said, 'I am five years older grandfather replied, 'Your father is eleven times as old as you are and I am as many years old as he will be when you are one-third my age.'"

Now is that a decent way to answer the question of a mere babe in arms? Why wasn't the old coot as frank about his age as she was hers?

We might add here that the article was written under the head of "Brain Teaser," a weekly feature of that magazine, and that all characters were probably imaginary. We might also add that we did not calculate his age for her. We are going to do as she will have to do unless she is a mental prodigy—wait for the answer in the next issue.

While we heartily agreed with Fiorello LaGuardia when he suggested to a gathering of 1000 Jewish women that there should be at the New York World's fair a Chamber of Horrors, containing a prominently displayed figure of "that brown-shirted fanatic who is now menacing the peace of the world," as Mayor La Guardia so aptly described Adolph Hitler, German dictator—we would feel that he was a more broad-minded if he would also aim a few darts at Hitler's land-hungry twin, Benito Mussolini, who happens to be of the same nationality as La Guardia.

ARSONIST COST TEXANS THOUSANDS ANNUALLY

AUSTIN, Texas, Mar. 26.—Marvin Hall, Fire Insurance Commissioner of Texas, called attention today to the astounding number of incendiary fires which are costing the people of the State an enormous sum of money yearly. Sixty-eight indictments and 23 convictions for the offense of arson were obtained in 1936 Hall pointed out.

"Behind all incendiary fires there is a motive," said Hall, "and as a general rule such fires are considered profit fires brought about by financial distress and there always is sufficient insurance coverage, and many times more than sufficient, to lend encouragement to the crime, which latter condition has long been referred to as over-insurance." The Fire Commissioner asserted that over-insurance to a large extent can be averted by a close inspection of the physical and moral hazards surrounding the risks in question by the insurance underwriters and their representatives. Such inspection feature is one of the fundamental requirements of good underwriting encouraged the Commissioner.

Arson Dangerous
"Arson is a very dangerous thing and can never be carried out with any degree of safety although records disclose that it is being attempted continually."

Hall further declared: "It was through the efforts of City Fire Marshals and Fire Departments of Texas, cooperating with District and County Attorneys, Peace Officers, and three Assistant State Fire Marshals, that 68 indictments and 23 convictions for the offense of arson were secured during 1936, and during the same year on indictments secured there were 3 acquittals for arson, 12 individual arson cases dismissed and 32 individual arson cases pending trial at end of the year, many of the cases which should be disposed of during 1937. Since 1931 to 1936, inclusive, there have been 635 indictments and 204 convictions for the offense of arson."

Fire Ratio Drops
"The fire loss ratio in Texas dropped from 75 per cent in 1931 to 27 per cent in 1935, that is, the fire loss dropped from $17,565,475 to $6,008,363 in 1935, which decline was due no doubt to a gradual improvement in economic conditions, better underwriting, vigorous investigation of incendiary fires, the general improvement in fire prevention and fire protection activities of local fire departments, and last but not least, to a general awakening on the part of the public that fire is taking a staggering toll each year in loss of life and the destruction of property."

Towns Work
"Much effective work in behalf of fire prevention has been accomplished in several Texas cities and towns through organized Fire Prevention Committees, and it is sincerely hoped that all cities and towns will follow the construction idea of fire prevention through duly organized Fire Prevention Committees, for it is only through such organizations that an effective procedure of holding down the annual fire loss in Texas to a low figure will materialize," he said in his final summation.

FIGHTING A RACKET

James L. Carter, notorious claim fraud operator known as the "India Rubber Man," has bounced back into prison, trapped by a little white card. Two months after he had been paroled in New Jersey, the gates of the Maryland State Penitentiary closed for five years on the man who, by his own confession, has faked 200 accidents and collected $30,000 in fraudulent claims. Carter's career abruptly halted by the vigilant work of the Index Bureau System of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters.

Carter possesses the unique faculty of being able to dislocate every joint in his body, jolice say, and has successfully pretended paralysis. He has some forty known aliases and the trail of his frauds reaches to every corner of the country. Time and again he has deceived doctors into treating his false injuries and has enjoyed the comforts of many hospitals at public expense. One Philadelphia doctor was so impressed by his neck dislocation trick that he recently wrote a paper in it for the American Journal of Surgery.

Carter's story is spectacular, but its significance goes deeper. He may be unique in the versatility of his claim faking talents, but his brand of dishonest activity is common. The country is infested with great numbers of these claim fraud racketeers. They levy an annual tribute of millions of dollars on honest business and honest individuals. As with every other racket, the buying public ultimately pays for it.

One by one the claim fraud fraternity is being brought to book. Let them harken to the comment of William P. Cavanaugh, manager of the claim department of the National Bureau: "The successful prosecution of Carter indicates the ultimate destination of these fraudulent claim artists. Once caught up with, they are finding it practically impossible to drop out of sight again and still continue to play their game. With every claim man in the country on the watch for him after his release from the New Jersey penitentiary, Carter never had a chance. His fate is a warning to his ilk, and evidence of the increasing effectiveness of the defenses against this racket."

ESSAY CONTEST MEETS APPROVAL OF SCHOOL HEADS

Superintendents of schools throughout the state have given their wholehearted approval to the essay contest on "Why I Want to See the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition."

About 150,000 school children already are writing in this contest, and none of whose essays must exceed 500 words. Forty-eight free trips to the Exposition, with all expenses paid will be awarded as first prizes, but the real objective of the competition was to give Texas students a knowledge of the international fair.

THE TIPTON ORPHANS HOME

The Orphans Home pictured above was moved from Canadian, Texas, to Tipton, Oklahoma, and established in its present quarters in 1924. Since that time it has developed into one of the largest homes for orphan children in the state. The children in the picture are most of the 256 orphans now being cared for by this Home. This institution is financed by free-will offerings and donations of friends of the home over the country. It is controlled by a board of five men, who compose the eldership of the Church of Christ in Tipton. The building is 166x280 feet, and contains dormitories, dining hall kitchen, supply rooms, school rooms, offices, etc. When considered to the best interest of the child or Home, it adopts children out into private Christian homes. This accounts for its being able to accommodate children so soon after application is made.

Union High School Leads In Class "A"

Meadow Ward School Paces That Division; Forrester Ahead In Rural School Division

As a result of the county contests in tennis and playground ball, Saturday, March 20, Union High School amassed a total of 43 points; Meadow High School was second with 33 points; Brownfield High School 28 points and Wellman High School 25 points. Union High School and Wellman High Schools have recently agreed to enter up in class "A" with Brownfield and Meadow to make competition interesting. It seems that they are making a good start.

In Ward School division Meadow placed first with 30 points; Brownfield East Ward was second with 23 points; Union Ward was third with 18 points; Needmore was fourth with 12 points; Brownfield West Ward and Wellman Ward failed to place in any event.

Forrester set the pace for Rural schools by winning 30 points; Tokio was second with 20 points; Johnson was third with 18 points; Scudday and Lahey made 5 points each, and Challis and Pleasant Valley made 2 1/2 points each.

The rest of the county meet will be held Friday and Saturday, March 26-27 in Brownfield. There are three Junior boys track and Senior boys track to be held before the athletic championship can be determined.

There will be a Literary Championship determined by the points made in the literary events that will be held Friday and Saturday. There is also an All-Round Championship for the school winning the most points in both literary and athletic events. There is some confusion as to what an All-Round Championship is. A good many people think that the points for this are counted by adding the points together made by all the schools in a system, but this is a wrong conception. There is an All-Round Championship for each class and the points made in a Ward school can not be counted on the High School's record, or vice-versa. There are three classes of schools in Terry county, they are: Class A High Schools, Ward Schools and Rural Schools. There will be separate awards given in each class for the school making the most points in athletic events, for the school making the most points in all events combined. The points that each event counts is set by the Interscholastic League Constitution and Rules.

In addition to the school awards there will be given individual ribbons for the three places won in any event, either athletic or literary. In team events there will be banners given. The money to pay for these awards was made as follows: $11.00 left over from 1936; $11.00 from Meadow-Brownfield basketball game, and $77.00 from money derived from the sale of the theatre tickets. The Terry County Executive Committee wishes to express their thanks to Mr. Jones Manager of the Rialto Theatre, for his allowing us to make the money in this manner, and to thank the schools and patrons for their splendid co-operation in the selling of tickets, enabling us to finance the meet without having to ask the merchants for advertisements or other contributions.

Judges for the Literary events will be secured from Hockley county teachers. Terry county teachers are exchanging judges with them. This is a large sacrifice on the part of the schools and teachers who will go to Levelland, but they are willing to do this in order to secure efficient judges for the meet.

An event that will be of particular interest to the general public is the One Act plays that will be held in the auditorium at Brownfield High School on Saturday evening, beginning at 8:00. Union and Brownfield have entered plays. This is open to the public and the plays are free.

—Homer Franklin, Director General, Terry County Interscholastic League.

Terry County Farmers Loses Money On Cotton

Terry county farmers lost a quarter of a million dollars in 1936 because they grew short staple cotton.

Samples from 1922 bales of Terry county cotton submitted by one of the local gins were classed by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Department of Agriculture. An analysis of these grades showed that 1570 bales or 81.7 per cent of the 1922 bales graded below 7-8 inch staple; 278 bales or 14.5 per cent graded between 7-8 and 15-16 inch staple; 64 bales or 3 per cent graded between 15-16 and 31-32 inch staple and 10 bales or .5 percent graded 1 inch or over.

Applying these percentages to the 24,000 bales produced in Terry county in 1936 and a difference of 175 points in the market price between less than 13-16 and 7-8 inch staple it should behoove every cotton producer to produce a better staple of cotton.

Are we going to continue to lose this amount of money every year or are we going to remedy the situation. Every farmer should ask himself this question.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

What the Annalist terms a "spectacular race between wages and prices," constitutes the most interesting and important recent business occurrence.

Wage increase has followed wage increase in a multitude of leading industries. In many cases, wages are above the boom-time level, and are at all-time peaks. However, labor heads are still far from satisfied.

way. Steel cannot operate without bituminous coal, source of energy in practically all mills. The coal industry is nearly 100 per cent unionized now, is in the Lewis ranks. Steel knows that, in all probability, Mr. Lewis and his CIO could bring about an almost complete cessation of coal production by means of a strike. So, rather than take a chance of being forced to shut down and lose business, steel "strings along" with the unions. A remarkable sidelight on this is found in Mr. Lewis' recently published tribute to the Chairman of the Board of U. S. Steel, Myron Taylor, for his aid and cooperation in settling difficulties.

Higher wages naturally mean higher prices for all manner of commodities and services. This is where the race, referred to by the Annalist comes in. Will wages, on a percentage basis, outrun prices? Will the income of the public at large go ahead along with rises in the price index? Will the consumer accept higher prices and not cut own his buying? These are vital questions, which only time can answer.

In the meantime, the reader may consider it certain that prices will continue to go up all along the line. Most commentators also regard it as certain that shorter hours and higher wages are inevitably coming in most industries. The Administration is at least tacitly favorable to labor's aim—state governments have shown disinclination to enforce the law in such matters as sit down strikes. As a result, some observers, even though sympathetic with labor, are fearful that unions may demand more than the public can pay and cause a collapse in the upswing in buying and business.

Children As An Asset To the Community

We often hear of our schools, our banks, our industrial and agricultural products, our recreation centers and numerous other things spoken of as assets to the community.

When a bank fails, when the forces of nature bring about a crop shortage, when due to labor troubles or other causes the wheels of industry cease to turn, or when a school house is destroyed, the loss can easily be determined in dollars and cents.

But when a community loses all or a greater part of its children—what then? Mere gold or silver simply cannot be used as a yardstick to measure the loss. Destroy a generation of children in a community and development of that community will be retarded for a generation of years. But is that the only cost. No. Not by any means. Merely the most obvious one.

Herbert De Shazo of the State Planning Board arrived here Tuesday and will be stationed here for a month.

ANOTHER MILE STONE FOR STOMACH SUFFERS

Only a few short months ago Gas-Tons were not known in this community although the formula used in the compounding of Gas-Tons by one of the largest pharmaceutical houses in the country has been a favorite prescription, used with great success in the relief of Stomach and duodenal ulcers, Indigestion, Acid dyspepsia, Sour or Upset stomach, Gassiness, Bloating, Heartburn, Constipation, Bad Breath, Sleeplessness, Headaches and Jaded appetites. But today it is another story for Gas-Tons are known in hundreds of homes as the product which has brought health and happiness to members of their family, when these conditions were due to excess acid. There are stories of men and women who had given up all hope of relief until they were told by some former stomach sufferer of the days and nights spent suffering with no relief in sight, but who after trying Gas-Tons for a short time were on the road to recovery and who are now happy to state, with great pleasure, that none of the old symptoms are with them and now they sleep all night long, go about their regular work and pleasure, eat the things they like most with no ill results. And all stomach sufferers know what this means. Therefore it is no wonder to them why Gas-Tons sales have grown by leaps and bounds and they can easily see why those former stomach sufferers are able to go about with a smile on their faces in place of the old frown. Gas-Tons are on sale with one druggist in each town. Gas-Tons are sold on a money back guarantee that you must be pleased. Gas-Tons are on sale in Brownfield by the Alexander Drug Co. 25 tablets $1, 100 tablets $3. Accept no substitutes for there are several who would bask in the light of the success of this great formula.

PUBLIC INTEREST DEMANDS FAIR PLAY!

Texas now has good state laws for the regulation—in the public interest—of all transportation. These laws are helping to stabilize transportation, and all business and industry that has to use transportation. These laws are helping to reduce the terrible accident toll on your highways. They are helping to conserve your investment in your highways.

without any resulting benefit to the people of Texas.

Texas railroads obey the rules of the game,—those imposed by the agencies of government and those taken on voluntarily in the interest of public safety.

Texas railroads are spending this year, large sums of money for new and modern equipment—locomotives, freight and passenger cars, improved rail and roadbed facilities, and are expediting freight and passenger schedules to meet growing public demands. All of this is being done in the interest of improved service to the public and at the lowest rates in twenty years.

Regulation of transportation in the United States has been developed over a period of fifty years. Reasonable regulation is admitted to be both advisable and necessary in the public interest.

Strict regulation of one form of transportation and the lessening of regulation of any other form is unfair and un-American, and can only result in crippling that part of your transportation facilities which is handicapped—

All the railroads of Texas are asking—have ever asked—is a FAIR DEAL in a fair field.

The Capital Onlooker

By Charles E. Simons

Austin—The Texas Highway Commission has disclosed a "studied, deliberate and vicious conspiracy" in a few counties to defraud the state through its highway fund of several hundred thousand dollars of motor vehicle registration fees and threw the full resources of the state into a fight to block the attempt. The Commission issued a formal statement in which it asserted certain companies and persons interested in selling road equipment and materials had entered into agreements with county officials under which the counties would issue scrip or warrants for highway supplies and permit the holders to redeem the obligations at face value in the registration of motor vehicles. The Commission asserted persons and companies to which these obligations were issued were offering them at a discount to residents in the more populous areas as an inducement to register motor vehicles in the smaller counties.

The State Highway Fund participates in the registration fees after the first $50,000 collected, participating heavily in several of the larger counties.

"I am convinced the Highway Department will lose several hundred thousand dollars in Harris County alone if something isn't done to check the practice of buying licenses in counties other than the county of the owner's residence," a report to the Commission from an investigating officer stated.

"The Commission has found upon investigation that certain counties of small population are violating the law by issuing scrip and warrants in exchange for road building materials and supplies with the understanding they will be redeemed at par by the county tax collector if presented in payment of motor vehicle registration fees by the resident of some other county," the Commission stated. "The Commission is informed that companies engaged in this practice are increasing the prices of their products to the counties in an amount to permit them to make a disproportionate profit, leaving a sufficient margin whereby they can offer scrip and warrants to prospective registrants in more populous counties at a 25 to 30 per cent discount as an inducement to register their vehicles in these smaller counties wherein the highway fund does not participate in the registration fees. The Commission regards this practice as a studied, deliberate and vicious effort to deprive the highway fund of revenues allocated to it by Legislative enactment."

The Commission pointed out that under the Motor Vehicle Registration Act and court decisions, motor vehicle owners were required to register their vehicles in the county of their residence. The Commission asserted that vehicles registered in counties other than the residence of the owner are "unregistered" and the owner would be subject to penalties for operating unregistered vehicles over the highways. State Highway patrolmen will be used to prevent fraudulent registrations during the remainder of the registration period, which ends March 31, and to ferret out and require the legal registration of illegally registered vehicles.

"Through carefully considered legislative acts, the citizens of Texas have set up a program for road building and maintenance for the benefit of all and have placed definite responsibilities and duties upon the Commission in the administration of such acts. The Commission and its administrative officers, feeling their responsibility and appreciating the confidence of the citizens and their legislature, are determined to go the limit to see that the laws are complied with and the road fund of the people of Texas safeguarded and protected."

"The source of the trouble rests apparently with a few individuals who hope to reap large profits from such illegal practice at the expense of law-abiding citizens and the Commission feels all good citizens and public officials can be counted on to cooperate with our law enforcement agencies to see that our statutes are administered as intended by our lawmakers."

W. R. Nelson, Panola County Judge and President of the Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association, severely condemned the practice and advised the Highway Commission his organization would aid in checking spread of the movement.

The Highway Commission pointed out that it was straining every resource to take advantage of regular and emergency Federal grants, provide maintenance and devise means of improving approximately 8,500 miles of roads not on the Federal system.

"The Commission now is placing under contract as fast as its revenues will permit construction projects vital to the establishment of a coordinated system of highways," the Commission stated. "Every resource is being utilized to take full advantage of the road building opportunities presented by the current and projected programs, which would be seriously crippled should this major threat to highway revenues be permitted to go unchallenged."

Terry Co. To Be Represented at Show

Terry County, as usual, will have a major part in the annual Plains Quality Meat Show at Lubbock March 29 to 31. A large number of entries in the four divisions, baby beef, fat pig, fat lamb, and cured meat will be made by exhibitors from this county.

A supervised fun night program is planned for the exhibitors around a huge campfire at the fairgrounds, beginning at 7:30 p. m. each evening, with the annual exhibitors dance in the ballroom of the Hilton Hotel Monday evening at 9 o'clock.

Judging of the livestock divisions will begin at 9 a. m. Tuesday when Casey Fine, Tech professor and a member of the Tech livestock judging team, will judge the fat pig division. Fat lamb judging begins at 10:30 a. m. with W. R. Nisbett, Specialist, Texas Extension Service, as judge. Baby beef judging will begin at 1:30 p. m., March 30, with W. L. Stangel, head of the Animal Husbandry department of Texas Tech, as judge.

Demonstrations in the handling of pork will be the main attraction in the Womens Building where a series of booths will be shown, graphically picturing the importance of good breeding, proper feeding and the best methods to be used in preparing the animal for curing and storage.

POULTRY RAISING SUGGESTED TO OFFSET LOSS ON COTTON

AUSTIN, Texas, March 23.—The question of what farm enterprises can be expanded in Texas to help fill the gap in farm income resulting from the loss of a substantial part of her cotton market, is discussed by Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director and statistician of the Bureau of Business Research, at The University of Texas.

"Among the possibilities which have been mentioned is the poultry and egg industry," Dr. Buechel said. "The trend of production in this industry, will be watched with growing interest by close students of agricultural development in Texas."

"The Bureau of Business Research of The University of Texas in conjunction with the United States Department of Agriculture and the management of the railway systems of the State have for a number of years assembled and compiled detailed information concerning the poultry and egg industry of the State so far as it is reflected in railway shipments. These data are nearly 100 per cent accurate so far as interstate shipments are concerned.

"It is assumed that interstate shipments, moreover reflect with considerable accuracy the increase or decrease in production since the amount of local consumption probably does not change appreciably from year to year. Hence these interstate shipments should be a good index of changes in production."

"Combined shipments of Texas poultry, turkeys, and eggs, to interstate points fell off sharply each year from 1931 to 1935. An increase in 1936 over the preceding year may have marked the reversal of this downward trend, but this is not at all certain, for poultry and egg production as present is relatively unprofitable on account of the unfavorable feed-egg ratio. That is to say, it takes a considerably large number of eggs to equal in value 100 pounds of poultry feed now than it did a year ago. Under these circumstances there is a tendency to reduce the size of flocks, thus temporarily increasing shipments of poultry; and to use fewer eggs for hatching purposes and thus to put a larger proportion of eggs on the market for current consumption. As a consequence of these influences there will be a tendency for shipments of poultry and eggs to decline when the results of this spring's hatchings are ready for market late next fall and in the winter of 1938.

"Although the volume of eggs shipped from Texas to interstate points exceeds by a wide margin receipts of eggs from out of State points (virtually no poultry is brought in from other states,) the fact that Texas brings in eggs from other states at all is a peculiar situation. Undoubtedly Texas has natural advantages for egg production that are excelled in only a few states. The winters are mild and the spring and fall climates are favorable. Yet in each year for which we have the records, considerable quantities of eggs have been brought into the State. In 1936 receipts from other states totaled 225 cars.

"A number of egg processing plants already exists in Texas and no doubt these are even now contributing toward more favorable egg prices and helping to stabilize the egg market of this State.

"In Austin, Minn., a substantial industry has been developed by the Hormel Packing Company for canning poultry. So far as I am aware, there are no plants similar to this in Texas. Yet it would seem, for reasons already given in reference to the egg industry, such an industry here for poultry canning should contribute toward the lowering the costs of shipping poultry and thus aid in expanding the market for poultry in Texas. Moreover, such an industry should contribute toward stabilizing prices on a higher level than would otherwise exist."

Thanks People of Town

The colored school, directed by the teacher, Mrs. E. M. Bracey, presented a negro spiritual program at the Methodist church last Sunday afternoon. A nice crowd was on hand and enjoyed it very much.

The sponsor wishes to thank the white people of the town for such a nice crowd and also for the donations made toward making a better colored school. She says she has received only the best of cooperation during her stay in Brownfield, not having asked for anything that she didn't get only the best of cooperation from the white people.

Especially does she want to thank Mr. John S. Powell for the donation made on their piano. Also, Mr. K. W. Howell for furnishing Easter eggs so that the colored children may enjoy the day as it should be. To all, she says she wants to say—Thanks.

Mrs. L. E. McClish is on the sick list this week.

Mrs. R. E. Graves of Brownwood visited her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Trigg last week end.

R. A. M. Entertains Wives and Visitors

Regardless of the terrible sand-storm last Tuesday the Royal Arch Masons, that night had one of the most enjoyable entertainments of its history in Brownfield.

The following program was presented with Tom May, Master of Ceremonies:

Invocation by Rev. Breedlove. Banquet. Welcome address by W. G. Smith, High Priest. Music by the "Drug Store Cowboys." Reading, "Work," by Keller Greenfield. Song by Mrs. Emmitt Smith and the Brock twins. Talk by Jesse D. Cox on "The Benefit of Masonry." Address by Companion McClellan of Lubbock; Committeeman on Work of the Grand Chapter of Texas, on the "History of Masonry."

About 50 were present, many from out of town being prevented from coming by the storm. This was just a get together meeting and seemed to be thoroughly enjoyed by all.

How To Enhance and Preserve Your Charm

An effective and beautiful make-up can be attained only when the skin itself has been kept lithe and lovely. Needless and ugly little lines must not be permitted to remain. The surface of the skin, if it is to have the delicacy of texture, the subtle glow of youthful health, must be nourished and protected and safely—yet effectively—cleansed. Then it becomes possible for a skillful make-up to wonderfully reveal all your natural charm.
