"LISTEN FOLKS"

By Jim Ferguson.

(Editor's note: This article is published as a news item and represents the personal views of Mr. Ferguson only.)

Senator Joe Hill declared on the floor of the Senate that the horse race repeal bill was being kissed to death. Many of us remember the old song: "I wonder who is kissing her now?" If Senator Hill is right, I wonder who is kissing that is killing the horse race repeal bill that was passed almost unanimously by the House more than two months ago. Evidently this mortal kissing is not going on in the lower branch of the Legislature.

But whether it is kissing or something else, there is something happening to horse racing repeal. My opinion is the repeal bill will not carry. The mothers and fathers aided by the zealous ministers and laymen are doomed to disappointment in their eager desire to abolish what they believe to be one of the worst moral evils ever given the sanction of law.

Viewed from the position of a man up a tree it appears that there is either too much legislative rivalry as to who will be boss in killing cock robin or that nobody really wants to kill him at all.

The opponents of repeal are already scenting victory and say that if they can smother the bill for two weeks that then the lack of time will kill the bill and neither a kiss or a kick will be necessary to finish the legislative tragedy.

While there is a lot to sustain this hope, yet there is yet a danger of a "slip twist the cup and the lip."

There is yet time to pass the bill if it is supported by energy and sincerity. With 20 of the 31 members openly declaring that they will vote for repeal if the bill is brought up, it will be a travesty on fairness if 11 members finally suppress a real honest to God consideration of the bill. It would be another example of the tail wagging the dog.

Up to now some of the Senators who may be doing some of the kissing Senator Hill is talking about have voted through friendship or otherwise for delay motions, but who are pledged to vote for repeal on final passage. These Senators now say that any further vote for delay will put them in the attitude of voting against repeal which they might not be able to explain to the people back home. It looks to me like that they might have something worse to explain.

A look at the Senate calendar discloses that there are only about 24 bills ahead of the racing bill, and only 3 of these are contested bills. The uncontested bills could be passed easily in one day, and the contested bills could be passed in 3 days and probably sooner. In view of these facts, it seems clear that the consideration of the racing repeal bill could be disposed of in short order regardless of who is kissing or kicking it.

It may be that the jealousy over leadership of repeal may yet see the light and marshal their forces in support of the common issue regardless of personal ambition. This is what the race track owners fear and they are keeping silent for the time being.

But it will be a joke on Snyder if 10 Senators put the fixings on the other 21. If this happens, there will be more kicking than kissing next summer when the dear people will be asking: "What happened to Racing Repeal?"

SAN ANGELO TO HOLD REVIVAL HERE

Elder Luther G. Roberts of San Angelo, Texas, will begin a Spring revival for the local church of Christ to go over two Sundays, beginning May 2nd. More particulars of this meeting will be given next week, also subjects of some of his sermons.

Elder Roberts is well known all over the south, and has been located with some of the largest and strongest churches for local work. Many here have heard him in revivals.

Mrs. Herman Trigg has been real ill for the past week, but is thought to be convalescing.

B. O. Black and family are entitled to a pass to the RIALTO THEATRE to see "Fifty Roads to Town". Be sure to present this clipping at the box office at the Rialto Theatre.

Much Street Grading Being Done Here

C. B. Quante, member of the city council, and acting street commissioner, carried us over the city one day last week end to show us just what is being done toward maintaining the streets of the city. We must say that it was a revelation to us, as we have hardly had time to get out much since our return from Marlin.

Mr. Quante has at his disposal three big graders and maintainers now, and since we have a good underground season, he has allowed no grass to grow under his graders and crews, but has kept them busy during that time in putting all streets of the city in fine condition. There are streets that never had a grader on them, and formerly used by just a few persons, perhaps, that are in fine condition now.

For instance, in the Santa Fe addition, all the designated streets have been well graded, and you can now get about in that addition just like anywhere else. And in the Cordell addition, in one place, where a road came into a street, a circuit had to be made around and over the property of a private individual. A fence was removed, set back, and now the street and road join straight as they should.

Mr. Quante informed us that he had about another week of grading, then after rains, the three maintainers can be started at once, and from now on the streets will be found in tip top condition.

Meadow Places Second In the District Meet

Last Friday and Saturday the students of Meadow High school won enough places to give them second in all-around District Championship at the District Meet which was held in Lubbock. The events that Meadow won in were First Place in Volley Ball; First Place in Senior Girls Tennis, doubles; Third Place in Girls Extemporeaneous Speech and Fifth Place in Typing.

The Volley Ball team was composed of the following players: Ruby O'Deal, Martha Lou Chesshire, Emma Lou Bell, Irma Dean Upton, Lamine Ruth Deckard, Lois Hollers, Edna Lee Duffee, Marcille Burleson and Eula Justiss.

The tennis team was Jamie Ruth Deckard and Oletha Franklin.

Johnnie Lou Fulford was the Extemporeaneous Speaker and Lucille Neely represented the school in Typing. All of the contestants except Extemporeaneous Speech get to go to the Regional Meet in Canyon next week, where we hope they will make a good showing.

Sewer Extensions Being Made By City

Roy Herod, city secretary, informed us this week that some 2000 feet of sewer extensions were being made here. The work is under the direction of Mr. Guy Winslow, WPA foreman out of Big Spring district office, in which Brownfield and Terry county is situated.

One line starts in on east Tate street, and runs eastward, giving connection to a number of new residences that have been built in that area in the past few months.

The other extension ties into the sewer main on Main at the Cleve Williams' residence, runs north to Hill street, and goes both ways, east and west, on that street.

Tankersley Building a Recreation Center

Just out of the city limits in the south part of town, at the juncture of the loop through town and highway 51, Cye Tankersley is constructing a recreation center, the name of which has not been announced to the press at this time. The building 60x100 feet will be of frame-stucco construction with hardwood floors. It will have an oval top.

Among the means of recreation provided will be a few billiard and pool tables, skating, boxing and wrestling occasionally. The place will also be provided with a small cafe. Mr. Tankersley hopes to have the place open by May 15th.

Miss Charleen Graves, who is attending John Tarleton at Stephenville, is home for the San Jacinto holidays.

Good Showers Fall Monday and Tuesday

The Brownfield section had about a half inch rain Monday afternoon, and at the time this is written, Tuesday afternoon the conditions are still favorable for more rain. We understand that most of the county and trade territory got a good shower, and the south and southwest part of the county as much as three inches in some places.

All predictions of mice and weather go astray sometimes, but all the prognosticators seem to think that the cycle of dry years are broken, and that 1937 will be a reasonably seasonable year. Even that most conservative of all predictors, the U. S. Weather Bureau, while guaranteeing nothing, are predicting that all of the country, even the dust bowl sections of the middle west is to have plenty rainfall for normal crops this year.

As if to back up this, people coming to this section from the Rocky Mountain section west and north-west of us, tell us about big snows several feet deep that have covered the mountains this past winter, and most of us know from past experience that this augurs plenty moisture in the valleys following such.

If the mid west can have a few years of abundant rainfall, and get a lot of their blow land resoded to grass, perhaps the black plagues that have bothered us the past few years will have past into history.

Special Provision For Wind Erosion Counties

Special Provisions have been made for the counties in the Wind Erosion area in addition to those of the Soil Conservation Program. Only those who comply with the Work Sheets will be eligible to receive the payments.

Payments will be made on land on which a crop or crops have been blown out in 1936 or 1937, or that such land is abandoned because conditions have not been favorable to obtaining a natural or seeded vegetative cover, and the cover and trash have disappeared to the extent that such land is susceptible to damage by wind erosion in 1937, provided such acreage does not include the diverted acres on the farm.

Sorghums or Sudan may be seeded on the plots that come under the above provisions if approved by the Committees and may be headed if the stalks are allowed to remain on the land as a protection against wind erosion until May 1, 1938, payment can also be earned by contouring under these provisions. No payment will be made for re-listing.

Other details of the Program can be obtained from the County Agent's office.

The closing date for signing sheets is May 8th.

Caves Are Moving Back to Brownfield

We are glad to announce that Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cave, owners of the store that bears their name, are preparing to move back to this city, from Lawton, Okla., where they own another store, and moved about a year ago.

Mr. Clint Herring, who has managed the local store during the absence of Mr. Cave, will go to Lawton to take over the management of that store. While we are sorry to lose Clint, we are indeed glad to have Mr. and Mrs. Cave return to our city and again take up their residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Cave have rented the Ed Shelton home and will move into it at an early date.

Local Banks Show Splendid Statements

This is generally the time of year when bank loans are at or near the peak of the year, while the deposits on the other hand have taken a tumble. But if one cares to peruse the combined statements of the two local banks, the Brownfield State and the First National, they will learn that loans are still low, and deposits high. Here they are:

Total Resources	$1,210,797.51
Total cash and quick-ly available funds	923,092.35
Total Loans	229,260.38
Total Deposits	1,079,845.35

Around the Capital

By J. Doyle Settle

The "Swan Song" of the regular session of the 45th Legislature is just about to be sung. Very few days are left in this session, and there are still several important measures remaining on the calendar, which possibly will not reach consideration because of a lack of time. It is a sad state of affairs that our legislative system permits a small minority in either House to block legislation for a long enough period whereby it cannot be reached in the 120 days of the regular session.

I predict that the Senate will never reach a vote on the repeal of the bill repealing horse racing in this state, this session. The opponents of the bill in the Senate have been successful in placing it in such a position on the calendar so as to prevent its consideration at this time.

The same is true of all tax measures passed by the House of Representatives up to this time. The Senate has delayed taking any action even in committee, except to postpone consideration of all tax measures.

The only tax the Senate has considered up to this time is a general sales tax, which is under debate there now. It is proposed to submit to the people a vote on two per cent tax to pay everyone over 65 years the pension of the full amount allowed by the constitutional amendment two years ago. No sales tax will be voted by this Legislature, however, this session may submit for your vote, the question of whether you want a sales tax for this purpose. What is your reaction on this subject?

Probably the most important piece of legislation passed this week is the Teacher's Retirement Bill. His legislation passed the House of Representatives, Thursday by a vote of 125 for and 4 against. The chief provisions are as follows:

A person will have to teach twenty years and reach the age of sixty before he is able to retire. Between the age of sixty and seventy retirement would be permissible but not required. The retirement age is seventy, but a local board can waive the requirement and permit the teacher to continue.

Teachers now in service who are seventy would be required to teach at least two years more. Prior service would be considered in determining their pensions along with contributions. Payment would be calculated on an actual and service basis.

Participation of teachers now in service is optional in an amendment adopted by the House. Participation would be mandatory on those entering the service after September 1, 1937.

It is not known what the Governor's attitude will be in regard to the bill if revenue is not raised to meet the State's part. It will cost the State $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 a year to put the bill into operation.

A sufficient number of tax bills embodying the Governor's views have passed the House of Representatives but they are now sleeping peacefully in the Senate State Affairs Committee.

Installs a New Permanent Machine

Mrs. V. L. Hudson, proprietor of the Hollywood Beauty Shop, showed us her new permanent machine this week, the one made by the Paul Rilling company, who is said to stand ahead of all others in the art of hair waving and care of hair. While we know little about any machines, we were assured that they are the latest in waving machines.

Should you wish, Mrs. Hudson and her operators will give you a machineless wave, another new method. Mrs. Hudson will be glad to show you her new machine to any lady who calls.

HAILSTORM WREAKS DAMAGE IN ROSWELL

ROSWELL, N. M., April 19.—One of the worst hailstorms in the memory of Pecos Valley residents struck Roswell today and left damage estimated at nearly $100,000.

The big stones, some of them nearly an inch in diameter, punctured the roofs of buildings, riddled automobile tops, smashed windows, stripped trees of leaves and flattened gardens.

John Fitzgerald of the Tokio section, was here last week, trading.

O. K. Tongate of the Challis community, made us happy with a renewal recently.

April 30th to End The Signup Period

Bill McKinley, Assistant County Agent of Terry county, informed us last week that April 30th would end the period in which farmers would be able to sign up under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation act. So, if you are intending to sign up for this year's crop, better call at the County Agent's office at once where forms can be had.

Mr. "Mack" also vouched safe the assertion that he believes that fully as many farmers would sign this year as last, and possibly more as this method minimizes the possibility of a bumper crop for which the farmer would not get cost of production, gives him plenty of pasture, and at the same time builds up the soil in worn fields.

Another thing, as this year, so in the future, money comes in for rental acreage just at a time when money is badly needed in starting the new crop, to replenish the larder, and buy new clothing and household necessities without having to borrow the money.

Prospects For Football Stadium Brighter

In conversation with Supt Baze on Tuesday of this week, Mr. R. W. McNew of WPA of Big Spring stated that it is highly possible that we might sandwich in a project for a football stadium beginning the work sometime during the month of June. At the same time he stated that as to the old set-up under the park project he was unable to give any encouragement.

While Mr. McNew had only a few minutes to stay, he was shown the proposed site at the pit. He did not favor setting up a project at that place because of two features: First, the cost of preparing the ground, which he thought would be prohibitive under present conditions; second, the limited parking space adjoining the plot.

Mr. McNew stated that he would look over the old park project set-up and from that would try to work out some estimate of what the cost would be and just what the government could do.

Local Schools Win 4th Place in Meet

Lubbock stood first with a great pile of points to its credit when the gong sounded last week end in the finals of the District Interscholastic meet at that place. Meadow stood second with some 30 points, and on down with several less stood Brownfield in fourth place and in a tie with some rural high school, the name of which we do not recall at this time.

Anyway, we are glad that a Terry county school was in second place, and we feel right proud of the efforts of the home forces, even if they were way down the scale, considering that they were competing with some 30 or 40 schools in the district, some much larger towns than this.

In the track and field events, Brownfield stood much higher, winning second place in that department, but in the literary events, we were just about nil which put us so far down in the sum totals.

Rumors Rife About An Oil Refinery Here

There was much talk on the streets early this week about an oil refinery going in here or near the city limits some where. Even some strangers in the city came down to see if we knew anything about the matter, and of course we had to tell them that it was just rumor so far as we knew.

And that is not saying that one could not be put in here, or will not be put in. We have plenty room for one, and it would employ a good many people, and support them and their families. It is also a well known fact that Brownfield has about the lowest elevation of any place on this branch of the Santa Fe, and a gravity flow could be had from most any oil field in this section.

If and when any proposition of the kind is put up to the town, we will be foolish not to provide a site for it. Personally this writer could stand the smell of a refinery very well.

Mrs. Claude Hudgens and son Billie, spent last week end with her brother, Craig Stewart and wife of McCamey, Texas.

Texas Wool Leader—Should Have Factories

DENTON, April 16.—Those who see Texas in the future as a great manufacturing state could well consider the potentialities of the woolen industry.

Leading the entire union in the production of wool, this state has shipped the whole output to New England for manufacturing and marketing. $750,000 is the price Texas pays annually to get its wool in marketable condition.

A large increase in wool production over the past twenty years has made the need for home factories more evident each year. From 1,808,000 in 1910 the number of sheep raised in Texas has grown to 7,026,000 in 1935. This means that about six times as much wool is produced today as at that time.

The industry is highly concentrated in the Edwards plateau region, extending west of Austin and beyond the Pecos. Only a few other sections, including the plains, North Central Texas and small portions of East Texas are engaged in sheep-raising.

Increase in quality has been accompanied by an increase in quality of Texas sheep. The fine Rambouillet variety are principally raised in the Edwards plateau section today, and in North and East Texas are a few Shropshire and Hamshiredown breeds. These three have entirely replaced the Merinos brought in by the Mexicans in the early years of Texas history.

Staple of Texas Cotton Decreasing in Length

COLLEGE STATION.—"The average staple length of Texas cotton was 14.77 sixteenths inch for 1934, and 14.87 sixteenths inch for 1935; whereas the average staple length for the entire United States crop was 15.58 sixteenths inch for 1934 and 15.47 sixteenths inch for 1935," said E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas Extension Service, in quoting from a recent publication of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The publication, a 61 page study entitled "Quality of Texas Cotton, Crops of 1928-35," contains material assembled in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"For each year of the six year period 1928-33, the average staple length of cotton produced in Texas was shorter than that of cotton produced in the entire Cotton Belt," Miller continued. The average staple for Texas during the period was 15.04 sixteenths inch while the average for the entire Cotton Belt was 15.32 sixteenths inch.

"The difference in the length of staple may not look like so much when expressed in terms of sixteenths of an inch, but in dollars it represents an annual loss which runs into millions."

Deputy State Superintendent Visits Schools

On Monday of this week G. D. Holbrook, Deputy State Superintendent of Public Instruction, visited the Brownfield schools and made a close inspection of the work as being carried on. He spent most of his time with the musical organization and the class in stenography, visiting and listening to the saxette band and the high school band, and also dictating letters to members of the class in stenography. At the close of his visit he expressed himself as well pleased and stated that he considered the type of work of such standard as to warrant additional credit of one unit in band and one in stenography. This makes two units in band and five in commercial work.

With the granting of these two credits and the additional one on second year wood work the local high school will have twenty-seven units accredited with the Department of Education. This is a net increase of eight units within the last two years. One additional credit will be asked for in music next year, and along with this will be requested accrediting in public speaking, secretarial and office work, third year home economics, one-half unit in Texas History, one-half in salesmanship, and one-half or one in physical education.

Miss Alice Bingham, facial demonstrator for the Martha Turner Cosmetic Co., of Chicago, is conducting a beauty culture class at the Corner Drug store this week.

Uniform Pension Plan Favored by Senate

AUSTIN, April 20.—A majority of the senate indicated a favorable attitude today toward uniform old age pension payments.

A provision for such payments to needy persons over 65 years of age was included in a constitutional amendment under consideration. The issue of financing the pensions program, as well as other social security work, by a sales tax had not been settled.

Discrimination Charged—The vote on the equal payments provision, by Senator Wilbourn D. Collier of Eastland, was 13 to 10. Collier charged the present system had led to much discrimination.

The house voted, 102 to 14, to print on minority report a senate bill providing for appointment of the state auditor by a legislative committee rather than the governor. The charge would become effective in May 1939.

Voting Is Attacked—Rep. John B. Patterson of Austin attacked what he termed "dishonest voting" in the house. He said there had been many instances of members or employes punching the voting buttons of absentee members. Speaker Robert W. Calvert stated one employe was discharged Friday for such an offense.

The house then resumed consideration of a proposed constitutional amendment lengthening terms of offices from two to four years.

Brownfield School to Have Cleanup Week

The civic clubs of Brownfield have donated money to be offered as prizes to the rooms showing the most improvement in their home-rooms and school property near their respective rooms. The biology class has accepted the sponsorship of this project to improve the appearance of the buildings and to induce the students to keep them looking at their best in the years to follow.

Every room will be inspected every day next week and graded on how well it is kept and how much it has been improved. At the end of this contest, each room will be decorated for the back-to-school festivities. Judges will decide which room is the best decorated. Then the biology class will inspect again after decorations have been cleared. A first prize of ten dollars, a second prize of five dollars and fifty cents, and a third prize of three dollars will be offered the rooms having the best grades.

The City of Brownfield, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, have offered these three prizes because they believe that such an investment will be economical to the Brownfield School District in the end, as well as give the student body a good lesson in citizenship.

Bandy is Erecting A New Building

W. L. Bandy, hustling produce and cold storage man, is erecting another new brick and tile building adjoining, and just west of the one he now occupies. This new building will give him platform loading and unloading direct from the switch track of the railroad.

An old wooden building that he used for years on the lot was moved to south 9th street to make room for the new building. It is our understanding that Mr. Bandy will stock with some popular mill feed products as soon as the building is completed.

SHE LIKES SPIDERS; HAS 10,000 OF 'EM

SEATTLE, April 15.—Spiders may be a bane to housewives but not to Mrs. Harriet Exline Lloyd. She has 10,000 of them.

Mrs. Lloyd, doctor of philosophy at the University of Washington, spent nine years assembling her collection, which includes 400 species.

"When I was working for my bachelor's degree at Reed college in Portland," explained Mrs. Lloyd, 27-year-old widow, "one of my professors decided it would be an amusing hobby for me to play around with. They've been amusing me ever since. But I can't work up any feeling for spiders and make pets of them. I just pickle them, segregate them, and feel a little bit proud of the different species, but that's all there is to it."

Down at Cleburne, capital of Johnson county, a man put out a fire with buttermilk, recently. This would be another great argument for the late lamented J. H. (Buttermilk) Lowery of the Honey Grove Signal were he alive, and matched in debate with State Press of the Dallas News over the virtues of Buttermilk vs. Potlicker, as a muscle, bone and brain building food.

At first glance at Eddie Warren's Post Dispatch last week, we thought they had pulled a very sensational scandal had developed in old Garza. But on closer reading we got the drift. The headline stated that "Liquor Taken in Raid Made by Officers Monday." But some other guys made the liquor—the officers just took it. But just for a moment it had us reaching for our scissors.

That lady in the Star-Telegram who shows us and tells us from day to day "How to Stay Young," is about to get our goat. For awhile we read her stuff, and had a great mind to try her bending and twisting exercises, but if one should follow out just what she has told us in the past six months, we would have to have a 48 hour day and night to go through with all of it. And how much longer will she go?

No wonder the law violators thumb their noses at the courts. Recently a case that had already cost the county considerable money was reversed and a new trial ordered because there was a man on the grand jury that indicted the defendant from whom the cows were alleged to have been stolen. Yet there are men who say our "pro-seed-your" is perfect and our 1873 brand of a "con-sty-toot-shun" unassailable. It seems to us that the law violator has all the breaks.

"Well, they have brought in another oil well in South Hockley county, which is just two and a half miles from Tech college," Old Andy Jack Stricklin, the lone wolf of Terry, shouts in the Terry County Herald. "Those in Garza, Gaines, Yoakum, and Cochran are right in Lubbock's back yard. Wonder the oil don't spray Sharley Shurnal Guy and J. Sham Lewis even up in their second story roosts." (We've never claimed any of the oil wells in our back yard, neither have we played up a double column box of a 5,000-barrel gusher that only ran 75 or 80 barrels in the tanks.—Lubbock Avalanche.)

While we can't positively state that the little squib we wrote made the big boys in the big town sore at us, still we can't help believe that they turned a pale pink around their ear lobes. Anyway, Sharley-Sham, that well turned out to be much better than you state. Come up and take a dip of Garrett with us sometime.

In one of our exchanges we note a story telling contest. On man told of a careless West Texan who went to bed one night and forgot to leave the key in the keyhole of the door, and next morning there was streak of sand, the shape of the keyhole extending across the room. The other told of an Oklahoma rain he witnessed. A barrel with both ends out was left in the yard when the rain came, and the rain came in at the bung hole faster than it could run out at both ends. But after hearing these two, we still believe our home town boys can beat them. Come on boys, and let's show these fellow what a real story is.—Ropes Plainsman.

The following clipping from another paper was mailed to the Plainsman the other day. It looks like it might have come from old Andy Jack Stricklin's Terry County Herald, down at Brownfield, but we won't say that because Andy Jack would sure come after us with that Tennessee shealah he carries around. "Our paper stated last week that Mr. John West is a defective in the Los Angeles police force. This was a typographical error. What we meant to say was that Mr. West is a detective in the police force." How about it Andy Jack?

The above conglomeration of bad syntax, spelling, construction, etc., was taken from the Monday issue of Sharley Guy's Shurnal, the one in which he is the counterpart of Dr. Jerkyl, (Plainsman), while posing as the animable Mr. Hyde in his Morning Ambulance. Now, Sharley, if we were going to correct that sentence concerning the Los Angeles "Poleece," we would write it thusly: "Mr. East, the flatfoot from the gas house section, has took a mail order course nights to try to qualify as a G-man." Anyway, Sharley, our readers all understand what we are driving at most of the time. They are never left to guess where we stand on any question, and we ain't a Democrat one year and a Republican the next. We are not a member of the church of Christ one day and a Mormon the next. Our banner stays put, always, unless we have a mighty good reason for changing. Of course our high school education, minus, does not permit us the happy flight of language you "killidge" men have. However, we find typographical errors in big daily newspapers and even the magazines.

LIQUOR RULINGS ARE HAILED BY FORD

AUSTIN, April 17.—Liquor Administrator Bert Ford said today strict enforcement was given a boost by recent court actions in Fort Worth and Dallas.

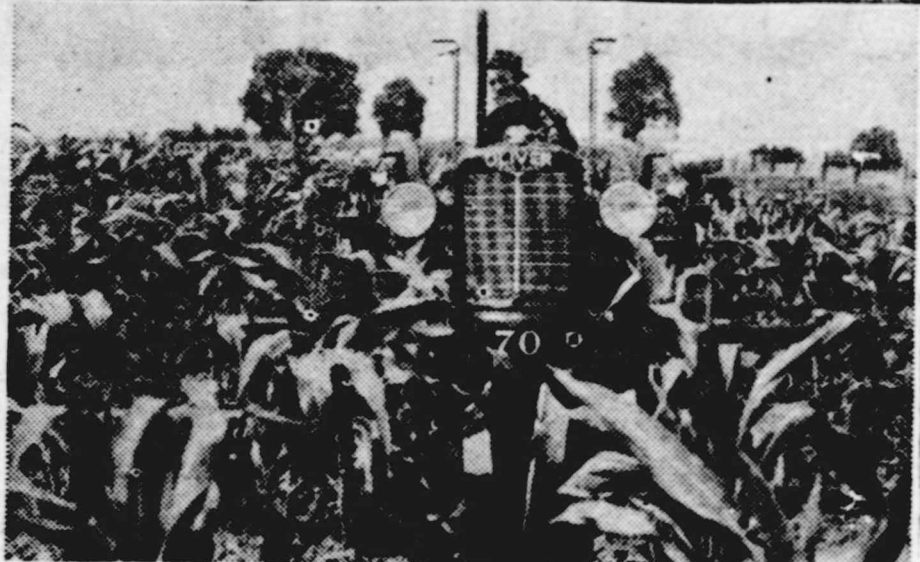

The Fort Worth Civil Appeals Court, he said, affirmed a district court judgement refusing a super-seedeas bond after cancellation of a beer-wine permit by the Liquor Control Board.

"This clearly establishes the board's right to a prompt cancellation without having its order tied up in long legislation," Ford said.

He expressed an opinion that padlock orders in both Dallas and Fort Worth to prevent sales by the drink would tend to discourage other common types of liquor law breaking.

THE OLIVER ROW-CROP

YOU CAN SEE WHAT YOU'RE DOING WITH THIS NEW SPEEDIER TRACTOR

Here's the sensational new Row Crop "70"—the six-cylinder, streamlined tractor everybody's talking about.

Due to its famous Tip Toe wheels there's unusually great clearance under the tractor so that planting and cultivating equipment can be mounted amidships—always in full view of the operator. You can see what you're doing. The work's easier!

Here's great power, too, with light weight—only 3,000 lbs. And, under ordinary soil conditions, you can plow with two 14-inch bases at over 4 miles an hour! That's great speed that gets the work done sooner—and gives the operator more spare time for other things.

There are two "70's". Come in and see them. One for 70 octane gasoline—the other for kerosene or distillate—each setting new standards of fuel economy. There is, of course, a complete line of mounted listing, busting, planting and cultivating equipment.

Watch Out For Mad-dogs—Be Warned!

Do you have a dog that you value as a pet? Then you had better take it down and have Dr. T. L. Williams vaccinate it against rabies. He will do so free, you pay sixty cents for the serum.

City authorities are expecting an out-break of rabies here around the 20th as the result of a rabid dog that was here a short time ago.—Anton News.

Many communities have had mad dog scares this year, including Meadow in this county. Even your good natured house pet will become as a raging lion when infested with rabies. Vaccination is the only safe and sure method to combat this malady.

Hugh Hulse was in Wed. afternoon and informed us that there was a maddog scare in the Lahey-Gomez communities. Two are known to have already gone mad, and others thought to have been bitten, have been killed. But at least two, a pup and a floppy hound are still at large, he thinks, so be WARNED.

WELLMAN

Mrs. W. M. Green has returned from Amarillo, where she spent several weeks visiting her son, Elmer Green and family.

Quite a crowd of young people from here went to Forrester, Sunday night to singing.

Just Ride and See!

You can lay this 55-inch ruler across the front seat of a Hudson or Terraplane and close both doors. You can't do that in ANY other popular car.

For price delivered to you, mostly add transportation costs to your city and state and local taxes, if any.
 All prices include following equipment: Front and rear bumpers and bumper guards; one spare wheel, tire and tube; special radiator ornament; double windshield wipers; heavy duty stabilizer; Safety Glass. Hudson and Super Terraplane prices also include spring covers. Deduction will be made if Safety Glass is not required by state law and not wanted by purchaser. Other accessories at prices quoted by dealers.
 Ask about the new low cost Hudson-C. I. T. Time Payment Plan—terms to suit your income.

WIDEST front seats in any popular car, more room front and rear... and that's just the beginning of all you'll discover about the extra room in a 1937 Hudson or Terraplane... once you open the wide doors and step in.

With Selective Automatic Shift, an optional extra, the front floor is all clear. Nothing to stumble over! No gear shift lever there... and no brake lever either, for it's up at the instrument panel, releasing at a finger touch!

Rear floor level... no "hump". An amazing amount of room for baggage in the enclosed rear compartment or trunk. Plus a package locker with more than 1,000 cubic inches of space.

And all this on longer wheelbases... 117-inch wheelbase in Terraplane... 122 and 129-inches in Hudson.

Just ride and see how much more room... how much more automobile in every way... your money buys when you decide on a Hudson or Terraplane.

Many RE Projects For South Plains

LUBBOCK, April 17. What is expected to be one of the largest rural electrification projects in Texas is being worked out by Rural Electrification Administration workers, vocational agriculture teachers, grange members and farmers for this section.

It will be known as the South Plains Rural Electrification Project and will cover territory in six counties from Crosbyton to Meadow and from Slaton to Littlefield.

"There is more interest in rural electrification in this part of Texas than in any other part," said Ralph W. Moore, member of President Roosevelt's National Committee and also on the state committee.

"It looks as if this South Plains projects will have from 750 to 800 miles of high line, and around 3,000 or more customers," he said.

Work was to begin this week in securing signatures at Crosbyton and other Crosby county points and also at Littlefield and other Lamb county centers. Anton, Hockley, county and Shallowater, Lubbock county, as well as Roundup, on the Lubbock-Hockley line, are centers, on this leg of the group.

From Meadow it was reported 175 farmers have signed up for the service in Hockley, Lynn and Terry counties. Around Lubbock, at least 1,000 signatures are reported. South of Slaton, the line will go into Lynn county and also extend into Garza county.

High lines of the Texas Utilities Company serve the entire area, so that a minimum of high line construction is necessary.

R. E. A. regulations call for a minimum of three transformers per mile of high line. The lines serve some of the most thickly populated areas of the South Plains.

In the Muleshoe territory at least 100 miles of high line will probably be built, serving probably 300 to 400 customers. Lines would extend in several directions from Muleshoe, including eastward into Lamb county. With 10 or more irrigation wells in that section, and more going in, the load would be heavy.

In Hale and Floyd counties a third large project is being worked up. This includes a large irrigation section, probably the largest shallow water area in the Southwest, with nearly 700 wells in the two counties.

A minimum of 2,000 or more farm customers is expected to be secured by workers in that section. Half of that number already have been signed up.

RAILROADS IS YARD-STICK OF CONDITION

The tremendous importance of the railroads to the other industries of the nation is illustrated by statistics detailing their buying during 1936.

In that year, they spent more than $534,000,000 for material and new locomotives and cars, and over $255,000,000 for coal and fuel oil. Their direct purchase thus totaled almost a billion dollars—$982,204,000 to be exact.

A list of the industries that share in the fruits of this almost inconceivable private spending, would fill many pages. The railroads use about 70,000 separate commodities. They are among the best customers of all the commodity industries—textile, metals, coal—as well as manufacturing industries. Thus, their influence on employment conditions can hardly be exaggerated. Directly, in normal times, they are the largest single employer in the nation—and indirectly, they provide employment for untold thousands of workers in the industries they patronize.

It can be said without equivocation that few single factors can be more beneficial to the well being of the nation than a prosperous railroad industry. They are the backbone of commerce—without the service they perform with such amazing efficiency and clarity, business would virtually come to a stop. They are creators of purchasing power, income and wealth. They are tremendous taxpayers—notably to county and state governments, and it has been shown that this money pays the overhead of a remarkably large proportion of the nation's schools. Their salutary social and economic influence is felt in the most remote hamlet, and in every business.

In brief, the cold facts definitely show that prosperity for the railroads—assured and continued, undampened by adverse legislation tendencies—would constitute a great advance toward the goal of prosperity for us all.

The late Dr. W. P. Horne, president of the Texas Tech at Lubbock, delivered the graduating address to the Lovington class several years ago. He told of a boy who was working his way through that school earning $100 a month while pursuing his studies. Just before the close of the school year this boy told Dr. Horne that he wanted to consult him in regard to his future college work. He said: "You know I am only getting $100 a month and I simply can't live on that sum and continue my studies. What do you think about my dropping out of school for a year and earning some money and then coming back?" Dr. Horne told him: "I would advise you to drop out permanently and never come back." The young man was astonished at the advice and asked why it was given. The wise man told him: "A boy who can't live on $100 a month is not worth educating and will not be worth anything if he is educated."—Lovington Leader.

So-called "leading ladies" in westerns are scared of guns! At least, most of these I've seen making westerns, don't know how to use one, and are very jittery when they try it. Frances Grant, Lois January, Ann Rutherford, Sheila Mannors, and Iris Meredith are among those whom I've seen give ludicrous exhibitions of their alleged "cowgirl toughness."

This week another "cowgirl" gave a western company a big laugh. Jerry Bergh, New York socialite, whose first screen appearance is in a western, admitted she was scared. Her act was to ride up on the villain, draw her gun and shoot him down in front of a saloon. Despite adequate instruction, in drawing the gun she knocked it against her knee, nervously pressed the trigger too soon, and fired at an angle fully fifteen degrees to one side! The "villain" broke out into a big guffaw, spoiling the camera "take."

One important studio was in very much of a stew at eleven o'clock Friday. Three of its stars were to go on a national broadcast at 11:45, and one could not be located. The actress currently being heavily advertised over her debut in a lavish but hodgepodge film musical, finally arrived at 11:40. "Don't ever get me on one of those broadcast again," she stormed. "I was at a party that lasted until 9 A. M., and I've got a terrible hangover."

With the result that the radio audience heard about "Bishwish" instead of "biscuit."

If you see Jean Arthurs' latest starring picture, watch for the iceberg crashing into the liner, an idea taken from the Titanic disaster of 1912. It's another of those marvelous jobs of the movie miniature department, using a ship about four feet long. Although the ice is real the chunks are about the size of those you put in a glass of iced tea! Because these portions are right, and because there is no background with which to compare the actual size of ship and ice, the result on the screen is just as gripping, terrifying, and vivid as though you were a passenger yourself.

What are movie stars like? Here's another answer. Most of them are more or less jealous of their rivals.

This has been frequently observed when an interviewer goes on the set to talk with one. There are not only angry stares from those NOT being interviewed, but frequently subtle but deliberate "horning-in" by the neglected ones. I would give you some names except for the fact it would be unfair not to name them all—and I'm sure I could not recall the names of all those whom I've observed to be that way.

There's a laugh around Hollywood over the ineptness of somebody in the Warner Bros. publicity department, or "praise mill," as they are called here. A recent issue of Screen Weekly, a syndicated Sunday newspaper magazine carried in a full page story signed (but doubtless not written by) Bette Davis. It concerned her return from England, where she had waged a long distance fight over her Warner Bros. contract. In its meagre 500 words there was not an idea given except that she was "glad to be back at work" was repeated no less than Thirteen Times!

Billboards have blossomed out all over Los Angeles and Hollywood, twenty-four sheeting for Dodge Motor company allegation of Clarke Gable that: "I have switched to Dodge." It will be reaching your billboards soon if not already. Reports are current that his flock of Dunsenbergs, Fords and what-have-yous the popular actor has added one Dodge. Some are declaring that that is a light truck!

Which brings to the front the fact that a colume could be written about "advertising tie-ups" and testimonials by the stars. It is quite possible that Gable got a good sum for his endorsement, and also possible that he got very little at all. Most likely his studio, seizing the advantage of large advertising space, arranged the tie-up, persuaded him of its value, and that neither gets anything but a vast amount of free billboard space.

Ann Sothorn, Evelyn Venable and Marion Talley are stars whom I know have inferred their use and approved of Lux soap by appearing in its advertisements—and who have been paid nothing more than a carton of soap a month for it! Similar facts are true of innumerable screen players and innumerable advertised products. Despite the wide belief that stars are paid large sums for advertising tie-ups, the advertising agencies make continual and persistently successful efforts to get their pictures in advertisements without paying, and on the sole argument of extensive free publicity for movies and movie people.

HERE'S YOUR VACATION FROM OIL PROBLEMS

CHANGE TO OIL-PLATING

Oil-Plating cannot take a vacation; not for a single instant. It gives you happier, cheaper use of your car—new or old—by providing the only form of lubrication that cannot leave its job. For Oil-Plating is like a sturdy slippery skin of Conoco Germ Processed oil, that seems to graft itself to your engine's entire insides.

From the patented Germ Process comes this "power of attraction," that makes oil and metal affiliate, to form Oil-Plating. Then pistons, for instance, are shielded by this skin-tight layer of slippery Oil-Plating which will not separate. And right next to that comes the greatly strengthened Germ Processed oil-film, of the regular movable type. And this film touches only another layer of durable Oil-Plating that is firmly fastened on the cylinder walls.

Here's oil-film of uncommon strength sliding against Oil-Plating... How can metal ever touch metal? Even through hours of parking, Oil-Plating cannot drain down from a single working surface, and hence your engine cannot start up without any oiling. That's beating wear as never before. The less wear the less Conoco Germ Processed oil you'll be using.

The Capitol Onlooker

By Charles E. Simons

AUSTIN, Texas, April 16.—Leaders in the good roads field have joined hands in recommending to the federal congress the enactment of a bill authorizing emergency appropriations for highway construction. The Texas Highway Commission joined in the movement urging the senate committee on roads and the Texas congressional delegation to pass favorably on the proposition.

Pending in Congress is a bill that would authorize expenditures of $150,000,000 in emergency grants during each of the next two years for highway construction, the authorization to include $25,000,000 each year for rural and farm-to-market roads. The bill would not require states to match the federal appropriation, as in the case of regular federal aid.

Texans interested in the legislation were unanimously of the opinion the bill should carry a strong provision denying its benefits to states that diverted their highway income for other purposes, Chairman Robert Lee Bobbitt of the Highway Commission and others stating it would be unfair to countenance this practice and might lead to abuses unless a close check was maintained. It was feared that some states might divert their own highway income if the emergency appropriation was made available to match regular federal aid as contemplated in the original bill and state funds were released from this obligation.

"We favor and urge passage of the bill as an emergency employment measure provided a strong restrictive amendment be inserted to insure that state funds released by this act be not diverted but be used for construction of state highways or other roads under the supervision of the respective highway departments," Chairman Bobbitt, joined by Member John Weed and Chief Engineer Gibb Gilchrist, telegraphed Senator Carl Hayden, committee chairman.

The emergency appropriation would supplement federal aid programs now under way or about to be started by the Texas Commission. Discussions now are in progress looking to selection of projects for inclusion in the state-federal farm-to-market road and grade crossing elimination programs. Under the rural road prospectus the state and federal governments will expend $3,180,000 in each of the next two years to improve farm roads and school bus routes. The pending federal authorization, if voted, would release approximately $2,000,000 more each year for this purpose.

The total funds that would be granted to Texas under the authorization would be approximately $9,500,000. The highway commission pointed out that if Texas was permitted to use a portion of this appropriation to match the regular federal aid, it would release several million dollars in state funds that could be applied to roads that are not eligible for federal aid construction and which can be constructed only from state funds. There are approximately 8,500 miles of roads on the Texas system in this classification and with curtailed funds the state has been financially unable to authorize projects on these highways, although they constitute some of the most important in the state.

Texas, it was pointed out, has been fortunate in being able to match all federal grants made available to the states. This condition, however, is not true with reference to several other states. News reports from Minnesota disclose that state will lack $6,675,000 of having enough state funds to match even 60 per cent of the federal aid available. This means that state, unless it revises its financial support for the highway department will lose construction totaling approximately twice that amount. Figured in terms of highway construction, of needed roads and jobs for labor of all classifications this reaches a sizable total.

News reports from Washington state that officials from Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Kentucky, Arkansas and Alabama urged passage of the emergency bill, stating they could not continue, because of their financial condition, to match regular federal aid. Senator Hayden blamed diversion of state highway revenues for this situation.

IMMUNIZE NOW—STAMP OUT DIPHTHERIA

AUSTIN, Texas, April 17.—A health slogan applicable to May Day-Child Health Day, "Immunize Now—Stamp Out Diphtheria," is designed to intensify the campaign against one of the most deadly foes of children, diphtheria, according to Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

If parents would have their family physician administer toxoid to their child as soon after it reaches the age of six months as possible, much suffering and many deaths could be prevented.

The administering of toxoid is a very simple procedure and causes the child little or no discomfort. In approximately ninety per cent of the children receiving toxoid, there will be established a life long immunity to this disease.

TO BE SURE, four to six months after the final dose of toxoid, the child should be Schick tested so that parents will know definitely whether their child is immune. The test consists of just a few drops of diphtheria toxin between the layers of their skin. If the child is immune, no reaction will be noticed. If not, there will appear redness at the sight of the test that reaches its height the third or fourth day.

HEAD OF PREHISTORIC INDIAN AT TEXAS U.

AUSTIN, Tex., Apr. 17.—Shrunk to the size of an orange, the "cured," or mummified, head of Ayule, a chief of the Jivaro tribe of Indians in Ecuador, has been presented to the anthropology museum of the University of Texas, through Dr. C. D. Hearne of the health department of the Panama Zone. This head, almost black in color, still bears its long silky straight hair and thick black lashes. The features are perfectly preserved, and ears and lips are pierced for ornaments.

Smuggled out of Ecuador in the camera of Dr. John H. Hartsaw, a mining surgeon of Cristobal, C. Z., the head, known as a "Tzanta," could be purchased by the museum for not less than five or six hundred dollars, according to Helen Donovan Marnard, in charge of the museum. Dr. Hartsaw obtained a complete history of the head from an Ecuadorian official who seized it while attempting to stamp out the practice of "curing" heads, Mrs. Donovan said. He desired that it be given to the University, and transmitted it by Dr. Hearne to be placed in the Mary Hearne Collection, named for the latter's daughter, who is a student in the University.

Ground Water Survey To Start on S. Plains

AUSTIN, April 17.—The Board of Water Engineers announced today beginning of a ground-water survey Monday in the High Plains area of Texas.

Covering about eight months and financed by an emergency legislative appropriation to match federal funds, the study was intended to determine how much ground water is available in the area.

W. L. Broadhurst will begin the survey at Plainview and other geologists will be employed as work progresses. The area lies west of a line north from Big Spring through Crosbyton to Clarendon and all of the Panhandle north of an east-west line through Amarillo including all or parts of 46 counties.

GLORIES OF TEXAS AND CALIFORNIA PRAISED

NEW YORK, April 19.—Today's annual meeting of the Associated Press received in like manner good humored extolling of California's beauties and Texas' glories.

George Cameron of the San Francisco Chronicle could not resist the opportunity, when he had the floor, to put in a "plug" for the Golden Gate Bridge and California weather. Amon Carter of Fort Worth invited members to the Fort Worth Fiesta and Exposition this Summer, saying: "It will be a great show, and if you don't like it we'll give you your money back."

Up jumped E. M. (Ted) Dealey of the Dallas News to note that Dallas, too, was having a show and suggested that Fort Worth's efforts should be called a siesta. Carter retaliated by saying Dallas people were Fort Worth's best patrons last Summer.

WARNING TO RELIEFERS

Sooner or later the Federal Government has got to get out of this business of relief.

It won't be long now before the unwounded heroes of the great World War will be lambasting the taxpayers through the pension gab.

Even optimists have doubts as to the ability of the taxpayers to support the burden of relief workers and at the same time, pay a general service pension to those who participated in the great war.

We realize, of course, that there are those who agree with the idea that government assistance should be granted only on the basis of need and that unemployed have the first call on the government in effort to prevent starvation and suffering. However, when relief needs run into a pension parade it will be too bad for relief needs.—Community News.

COTTON SEED DELINTING

We have completed our contract for the growers of the Pecos Valley and are ready to serve the local cotton growers. We feel that the advantages of delinting are so well known that we need scarcely mention them.

BRING SEED NOW Recent rains insure an early planting season, and we shall be rushed at that time, and might not be able to get to your seed when they are wanted. Bring them in now and you will be assured of delinted seed.

What Delinting of Seed Means to You

- A Saving of Seed—
By planting with a corn planter only six or eight pounds of seed per acre is required.
- A Saving of Labor—
The use of a corn planter in planting eliminates chopping.
- Less Hazardous—
Experiments have proven less moisture is required when delinted seed are used.
- No Seed Disease—
Originators claim delinting kills all diseases usually carried by the linted seed.
- An Increased Yield—
Users of delinted seed claim a noticeable increase in yield per acre.

DELINTED SEED COST YOU NOTHING

- The economy of delinted seed enables you to sell the surplus you would otherwise plant.
- Vigor of Seed Can Be Determined—
After delinting the virility of your seed can be easily determined. This will prevent the planting of immature and faulty seed. Vigorous seed produce strong, and productive plants.
- Quicker Maturing—
After sifting the evidence produced in this section, every advantage is on the side of planting delinted seed.
- Cotton matures from 5 to 8 days earlier, which is a vital consideration in heavy production.

READ OUR FOLDER FOR FULL INFORMATION AND THE RECORD OF DELINTED SEES IN THIS IMMEDIATE LOCATION.

Try at least a few acres of delinted seed this year! You'll see a great reduction in production cost.

THE HOME DECORATOR

Your Home is Your Castle

Whether you live in a cottage, a mansion, a little clapboard bungalow or a modern stucco rancho, that house is your stronghold and yours to make beautiful, livable and enjoyable. Your little domicile may not be as modern as Mrs. So-and So's mansion across the way, but it can be just as attractive. There is always something to be said for simplicity, you know.

Just look at the clothes in the shops these days, look at the home furnishings—dishes, pots and pans, linen. The whole world seems one big riot of color. We Americans never have given the outside of our houses the color attention they need, as the Bermudians or the Cubans do. Their rural sections are full of blue, pink, yellow, green and white dwellings that blend in beautifully with the brilliance of their flora and fauna. And the Dutch—they're never squeamish about color. We needn't be, either, because there are fine paints on the market which our changeable seasons won't harm. They'll stay as true and unfaded as the day they were placed on the wood, or the brick or the stucco.

A fresh coat of paint means a new life for that home of yours. It will take years off its life, will add immeasurably to its beauty and will protect it for years to come. It isn't just the cost of paint that counts however. You've got to think hard and seriously about your choice of color. A light color—ivory, cream, silver, pearl gray, yellow, soft green—is the thing for the small house. A light color, too, is good for the heavily landscaped house. The large house, however, can stand a dark color and is particularly delightful with white doorway and shutters. Don't let your home get that weatherbeaten, stained and aged look—not when a fresh coat of good paint can rejuvenate it.

If the courts of this country permit drunkenness to be used as a defense in murder cases there can be no security of human life. When a man wishes to kill another he has only to tank himself up on "red licker" and go out and commit the deed. The courts should either rule out drunkenness as a defense in the commission of any crime or should severely punish any man who places himself in the condition where he is apt to commit a crime.—Lovington (N. Uncle Jim Says Staple farm production makes for fair food prices. Lean and fat years help neither farmer nor consumer in the long run.

Despite the increase of farm purchasing power, S. A. McMillan, economist in farm management of the Extension Service, believes more than half of the 500,000 farm families of Texas fail to earn average farm incomes sufficient to permit them to live at a minimum comfort level. That the situation is better now than it was in 1932 no one will deny.

Since the dawn of civilization, history has recorded lean and fat years; lean years when farmers made poor crops and the consumer either went on short rations or paid high prices for food, and fat years when farmers made bumper crops and consumers bought food at rock bottom prices.

McMillan states that one county agricultural agent in a county where cotton constitutes the main source of income notes that the returns from sales of cotton in 1936 amounted to an average of $20 for each man, woman, and child on farms in the county. Since even this pittance was not evenly distributed, it is apparent that some families received less than the average cotton income.

The Agricultural Conservation Program is doing much to remedy the situation. Through increasing fertility on the farm, it tends to increase and maintain future farm income. Through stabilizing production, it aims at eliminating the lean and fat years that help neither the farmer nor the consumer. Through providing benefit payments for planting soil-conserving crops and for observing soil-conserving practices, it provides a measure of insurance against crop failures.
