"LISTEN FOLKS"

By Jim Ferguson.

(Editor's note: This article is published as a news item and represents the personal views of Mr. Ferguson only)

I have never met or seen Henry Ford. I, like thousands of other people, have read all about him and heard all about him. Some of these days when Henry gets through with the John Lewis racketeers, I am going to buy myself a cheap round trip ticket to Henry's home town, Dearborn, Michigan, and see if I can obtain the honor of a few minutes confab with him while he does all the talking.

You see there is an un-noticed relation between me and Henry that makes me feel kind and cordial towards him.

The Ford cars, sometimes called "tin Henrys," have carried more Texas people to Ferguson speakings than all the rest of the cars put together. Away back in 1914 in my first race for Governor there weren't so many cars and people came to my meetings in wagons, hacks and the young boys and girls came in the hug me tight buggies. Then in 1924 when my wife was elected to her first term as the first woman governor the people had begun to ride by thousands in the Ford cars. The Ford car was then like it is now, the best car on the market for the money. I have spoken to many audiences, ranging from four to ten thousand, four-fifths of whom had come in Ford cars.

So you can see why I feel a certain affinity for Henry Ford. If he had not produced that dependable Ford at a very low price, I know my crowds would not have been so big and I might not have gotten anywhere in my campaign. I just want to see Henry and personally thank him for a big favor.

Henry Ford is not so important for the large amount of money that he has made as he is for the use to which he has put his money.

When he reflects that he has and continues to keep more people at work at a living wage than anybody else, I am sure it is a source of greater personal gratification than all the wealth he has made or may make hereafter. I am sure this is true, for if the desire to make money controlled him, he could have made twice as much money as he has made out of the same volume of business. If he had added $20 to each car, he would still have had the best car on the market for the money, and would have made 25 million more money.

Henry Ford is the most wonderful type of individualism the world has ever known. This is why this Lewis Communist crowd are so anxious to get control of the Ford properties and organization. Notwithstanding the many benefactions which Mr. Ford has given the large masses of laborers in his employ, this new crowd or anarchists want to destroy Mr. Ford and the loyalty of his employees.

The whole world is looking on with a breathless anxiety as to the outcome of Mr. Ford's contest with the unions. Every thinking man knows that if the John Lewis crowd by the intimidation process now resorted to should prevail, the tragedy of the sit down strike will destroy the right of personal security and even the right of personal liberty and private property.

If the mob divides Henry Ford's wealth, the example and the precedent for the division of all property is inevitable. Then where do we go from here?

Com. Lee Lyon Loses His Father

A wire was received by Judge R. A. Simms, Saturday from Commissioner Lee Lyon of Precinct 4, stating that his father, 87, had passed away at 1:40 P. M., that day.

Funeral services were announced for Sunday, and burial following in Calera, Okla., which is the old home of the Lyon family.

Newspapers Seldom Get Thanks—But!?!?

The old saying goes, and is very true, that the newspaper seldom if ever gets thanks for what it does for the public, but let it make a bust and old billy hell is to pay. But there are a few people who will still return thanks in a thankless and godless world.

J. D. Roberts of the Wellman community is an exception to the general rule. His name was drawn from the Herald subscription list along the first of June to see a free show along with his entire family at the Rialto theatre. Last Saturday he stopped us to thank us, and to ask us to convey his thanks to Earl Jones of the Rialto as Mr. Jones was not in the day he saw the show.

To our certain knowledge, Mr. Roberts is the second man that has thought to thank the Herald, and Mr. Jones says more fail to thank him than do so. Mr. Jones is really the man that should be thanked, however. While we only devote a small space for the name of the show and your name, he furnishes the entertainment.

Local Boys Accused Of Chunking "Signs"

A citizen was in to see us the past week, who lives on the highway just south of the city, reports that boys come out there and amuse themselves by "chunking" rocks at the big signs along the right of way. Informed that there was nothing we could do about the matter, he remarked that a warning that it was a violation of the law might stop the matter.

Signs, like the radio, is a direct competitor to a newspaper, and the Herald for one "should worry" that they are being chunked. They should patronize us and no one drives slow enough now days to read signs, and are liable to break their necks trying to read them or look at the pretty girls on them.

However, a later investigation revealed the fact that some of the signs belong to people who actually spend some money with us advertising, and we hereby warn the boys to lay off these signs, and "chunk" the cigarette signs.

Brock Said His Dad Appreciated This One

Recently, while Brock Gist and family were here from Anaheim, Calif., Brock got this one off, which he said his dad highly appreciated. The elder Gist lives in Pomona, Calif., and when he moved out there about 1916 or 17, and one or two others were the only ones who cast Democratic votes in his box. But that the worm has turned, and his box and perhaps Los Angeles county frequently go Democratic and he gets a big kick out of the following story:

It seems that a teacher had a class of youngsters, and was quizzing them to find out just how much they knew about local improvements. Says the Teacher, "Who gave you the nice streets and boulevards?" Roosevelt, piped a youngster. "Correct," said the teacher, "and who gave you the nice parks, the new gym and fountain?" "President Roosevelt, yelled another youth. "Well," continued the instructor, "who gave you the sunshine, the rain and green grass?" Silence just a moment, and then a rather timid little fellow ventured: "God gave them," he said. A red-headed, freckled face hopeful next to him, gave the said one a huge elbow hunch, and said: "Shutup you d---n Republican."

Three Lubbockites Arrested Here Monday

Three Lubbock men were taken in charge here Monday afternoon, and some whiskey confiscated, and at least one of them locked up until about midnight, to sober up, when his two companions agreed to carry him home. At least one of them may have to face a driving while drunk charge.

Local officers were tipped off that they might be the escaped convicts, and that they were heavily armed with a machine gun. Federal officers who happened to be here assisted in their arrest.

The men had two 30-30 rifles and a shot gun, and were trying to pawn the shotgun. They also claimed they were out rabbit hunting.

Negro Man Burglarizes Negro Woman's Apt.

A local negro woman reported to officers Saturday that while away at work, her apartment in the rear of the Carson residence had been burglarized, and some money taken, which she had hidden in the room.

Two negro men were later arrested by officers, and Sunday one of them confessed, and the other was released. The money was returned to the woman.

As burglary is a penitentiary offense, Uncle Bud may be here for the negro after the coming term of district court. Officers stated that the negro's tracks were too large to be connected with the series of burglaries here of late.

School Transfers Must Be Made By August 1

This office would like to call your attention that if you are living in a school district in which you have a boy or girl, whose grade is not taught that it is very important that you transfer said party to the high school which will be available to you. If you have moved into another district of the county and will be there for school this coming term, you should also transfer the grade pupils. This matter should have your immediate attention as the First day of August will be the last day this office can receive and approve a transfer application.

Singing Convention To Be at Needmore

G. M. Thomason, president of the Terry County Singing Convention, reports that the quarterly sing song will be held next Sunday, the 18th at Needmore, in the northern part of Terry county. A large crowd is expected, according to Thomas.

He asks that all Terry county people bring a good supply of sandwiches and cake, in order to take care of the out of county visitors. Some mighty fine singing is expected.

What About a Lighted Football Field Here?

The question of a lighted football field has been asked many times since the writer came to Brownfield two years ago. Another question has not been asked but has been pondered over and over has been the matter of organization of an Athletic Council. Both of these matters have been discussed several times with the Board and among the Board members. The writer has chosen to go rather slowly in both matters in order that mistakes might be avoided. At this time, however, there have been development that are ready to be made public, and all is about in readiness to go forward.

About two months ago a committee was appointed by the Board to look over sites for location of a football field. This committee is composed of Homer Winston, Mon Telford, and Ned Self. As yet no location has been made, although work has been done on the project. At a recent meeting of the Board, the matter of organization of an Athletic Council and the lighting of a field was submitted by the writer. Both matters received favorable consideration, and the writer was asked to continue his investigation of the best type of organization, for the Council and the best plan for financing the lighting of a field. A great deal of work has been done along these lines, and at this time we are in position to make the following report:

There are various plans for lighting of a football field; donations; a sort of agreement whereby the donor will get his money back if the field makes the money to repay; a plan of issue of warrants or bonds, bearing interest that mature over a period of from five to eight years; and possibly others. The best plan by far is the issuance of warrants against the revenue funds of the field, payable on or before six or eight years, interest of six per cent, payable annually upon presentation of coupon. The school board issues the warrants against the revenue fund. Under no condition are these warrants to be paid from tax revenue. These warrants are issued in denominations of $25.00 each, numbered from 1 to 60 or 100, depending upon the amount of money necessary for the project. Schools that have used this plan have found it the most successful.

The question of just how much money will be needed and just how far this project will extend presents itself. The writer has been talking with the WPA officials about a football field project for over a year. At the last conference we were asked to submit an entirely new project for improvement next year. The plan now would be this: Inasmuch as the local sponsor must be responsible for a certain per cent of the material bill, it is possible to go ahead with the lighting of the field and probably the fencing and when the project is approved, this expense can be indicated as the share contributed by the sponsor. The labor of grading, leveling, sodding, erecting of bleachers, etc., can be made the responsibility of the WPA organization.

As to the matter of an Athletic Council, we have seen those that are the best asset a school could have, and, on the other hand, we have seen those that are about the greatest liability of the school. There is the very extreme of types of organizations now in existence. Lubbock, for example, has one board member and one citizen of the town on the council. Slaton, on the other hand, has five or six men entirely separate from the school, together with the superintendent, who is without a vote. Levelland has eight members, five from the town and three representatives of the school, the coach, the superintendent, and the president of the board. The fundamental thing to keep in mind is, of course, the fact that all school policies and management rest primarily in the Board of Education. No corporation should be so organized that its board of directors are not free to direct the policies of that organization. Schools, however, are the most public of institutions, and no board is willing to undertake ventures that do not have public sanction or support. It is with the idea of obtaining support and cooperation that the board often delegates power to others. In our opinion there is a happy medium at which the power of an Athletic Council begins and in which it functions. It is with this in mind that we have made an effort to get the by-laws of the different organizations over the county—what few there are—and have the matter of an Athletic Council set up in such way as to function prop-

Saw the Crops—Also The Oil Rig Sunday

The writer and wife, accompanied by Mrs. W. W. Ditto and daughter, Miss Vona Lee, viewed the crops in Terry to some extent Sunday afternoon, and found that despite some four weeks of hot dry weather, they are still making good progress, and the farmers are making time count in getting them clean. Cotton for the most part, is mighty young, but by the middle of August, they are going to look quite different. However, we saw lots of cotton that is squaring, and perhaps some with quite a few blooms.

Contrary to our statement in these columns a few weeks ago anent the fact that there was little row feed crops and corn, we found quite a bit, but cotton has the day by an overwhelming vote. But feed is up now to where one can begin to see just how much there is, and perhaps some of the land that had been planted to cotton, and blew out or was washed or hailed out, has been planted to feed or corn. Anyway, there is quite a bit. Saw corn about ready to tassel, and maize already headed out. The older corn and feeds seem to be suffering for moisture more than other crops.

However, we traveled north, then west, and found they had quite a nice rain last Friday in the Harmony and Johnson communities, and things were looking good. Also, drove just off the road in the Pool community to see the oil well, which is about a half mile southeast of the Pool ranch headquarters.

The well was reported to have been down to 4800 feet in lime, and that some gas showing had been encountered. There was also some oil showing. We understand the lime was topped rather sooner than was expected in the well. The next few days should tell the tale. A good sized crowd was there from Brownfield and surrounding communities.

Returning, we passed through the Johnson and Gomez sections, both of which have nice, but mostly young crops.

Another Old Timer Calls On the Herald

Mrs. Maudie Groves Hatton, was a pleasant caller at the Herald office Saturday afternoon. She is here visiting her brother, Elzy Groves and family of the Union Community. Mrs. Hatton's home is in Hollywood, Calif. where she has lived the past several years.

Mrs. Hatton is one of the real old timers, having been brought to Terry county in the early part of this century as a young lass. She was the daughter of the late Rev. E. M. Groves, for whom the school and community (now Union) was named.

While it had been several years since we had seen (Miss Maudie) as we use to call her, we believe we would have recognized her, had we met her along on the streets.

Brownfield to Pull Its Annual Celebration

A few interested citizens met on the courthouse lawn Wednesday night, which was the beginning of our big annual Barbecue and Celebration to be held here August 20-21, which will be Friday and Saturday.

Some one remarked that it was not a very representative gathering of business and professional men, but others said that it was better representative than any held last year, when by actual count 12,000 people were fed.

The same committees as far as possible will serve this year as last year. These committees and other matters pertaining to the affair will be announced next week.

Mrs. G. S. Weber was called to Hereford, Wednesday, because of the serious illness of her mother.

Both of the above matters are receiving the attention of the Board at this time. It is probably that both will be under way within a short time.

In the meantime, however, some landholder that has a suitable place for a field should get in touch with the committee or the writer if he has any suitable place for a field. Too, let it be remembered that it is to the interest of everybody that land not be priced too high. —M. L. H. Baze

Some 1000 Fans Enjoy Fight Friday Night

Around 1000 cheering fans were on hand last Friday night at the Venetian Auditorium, to see boxing matches return to Brownfield, after being voluntarily stopped at the American Legion hall some years ago when it became questionable whether or not it was within the law. Cye Tankersley, owner and manager of the Venetian has a permit to stage 10 round bouts, from the State, as well as qualifying license to stage the matches.

Just before the closing mill, Mr. Tankersley announced that a good crowd would be put on about every two weeks, and that they would be bigger and better as he and his helper, Woodie Windham lined up boxers. Mr. Windham himself is one of the best boxers in his weight in the state, and we understand that Jack Kirkland of Waco, is to move here at once, as he stated that there was not much doing in his section, and that he had a chance to get a fight here and at Odessa every week or two.

The opening mill was between A. C. Pace of Wellman, 144, and Johnnie Bowlin of this city, 142. While it was interesting, both men showed lack of training, and were easily "winded." This bout went 4 rounds with decision to Pace. The second was matched between James Cotton, Seagraves, 162, and Bert Tankersley, 161 of Brownfield. This was a fairly evenly matched contest, and the boys really put up a great fight. It was also interesting because Cotton was a nephew of Mrs. Cye Tankersley, while Bert is a nephew of Cye—kind of family affair. The decision went to Bert, but in a short talk, Cotton stated he wanted a return engagement soon. A parting shot was, "I can take it."

The next mill went six rounds, and was between Woodie Windham, city, 138, and John Thomas, Fort Sill, Okla., who was substituting for Bill Woods of Oklahoma City. This was a very scientific as well as interesting battle, but the Oklahoma boy was badly outclassed, and seemed to be in poor form. In the first round he was floored with a terrific right, his head hitting the canvas with a bang that would have put an ordinary man out. He took nine counts, and although was floored repeatedly and with a broken jaw, he managed somehow to stay the six rounds without being counted out. Possibly every round went to Windham.

The main event of the evening was somewhat of a disappointment, as Cowboy Jerry Terry of Lampasas got a rib broken in the second inning and was declared hors de combat. While Jerry may have been possessed of a glass rib, such could not have been said of his mug, for he frequently stuck out his chin for either lefts or rights, following up by making a face at Kirkland and his tongue lolled out. He had a way of coming out of a rattlesnake coil, and striking out lightning like with both lefts and rights.

However, he failed to make many of them connect. Kirkland played safe in the first stanza, figuring out the Cowboy's style but augured in with some powerful wallpuns in the second. Finding Jerry's head was about as hard as one of the Lampasas stones where he come from, Kirkland began working on his body. His first smashing right caught Jerry in the ribs, breaking three. Thus, a fine scheduled ten round mill was halted.

What the Extra $3.00 Per Capita Will Mean

Tuesday's papers said that Gov. Allred and another state officer who have a final say in the $22 apportionment of state school funds, are against the movement of the state board, and may insist that the $19 per capita of last year remain this year. However the state board says there will be plenty funds to allow the $22 per capita.

Should the $22 be allowed to stand, Terry county would get more than $9000 over what she obtained last year from the state, and it would add more than $3000 to the Brownfield schools alone.

Henry Cruce and family of San Antonio, were here the past week end the guest of his brother, Luther Cruce an family.

Charley Moore and family are leaving this week for a trip east which may include Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana. Just vacationing and sightseeing.

Much Building Under Way Here or Planned

As has been the case for the past several years, Brownfield keeps everlastingly on the move. During most of the depression years, when many towns were standing still or retarding, Brownfield was building many business houses, all of them occupied, not to mention some 30 or 40 residences each year, from 1934 to the present. At the present time with practically half the year gone, we believe that more than 40 have already been constructed this year.

Among the business buildings for sure to be started in the next week is a 25x100 brick and tile on the south side of the square for A. M. Brownfield, Roy Winger contractor. Also, an addition of 30 feet of tile to Miss Lenora Brownfield's building on north Fifth, now occupied by Terry County Grocery. J. F. Winston is starting construction of a brick and tile 25x40 feet, corner of Fifth and Hill. Roy Winger contractor.

Another large building that will very likely start next week or immediate future is the Treadway-Daniell Hospital on south Sixth. This building will contain some 30 rooms and offices, with a 20-bed capacity, and modern in every detail. More about this building will follow in coming issues.

Vernon Bell began construction of a duplex on east Tate last Saturday, J. D. Williamson contractor. Hayden Griffin had his lot on east Broadway cleared and leveled for a residence, which we understand is to go up in the near future. City Secretary, Roy Herod's new home on Second and Powell is almost completed also.

There are many others being figured, but are not far enough along to make mention in these columns.

Much Road Work Announced For Terry

The State WPA offices in San Antonio, have announced through the district offices at Lubbock that around $100,000.00 worth of road work is on tap for Terry county this year. This announcement follows:

"Terry county, farm-market road improvements costing $91,224, of which $41,164 will be federal funds and $50,060 by county. The project is a new one, involving grading, drainage and caliche base on highway 84 from Brownfield to west county line, a distance of 16 miles. Work to start about July 25, will require about six months for completion and will give employment to 91 men.

"The Terry county project as described by officials here as one of the most important in the entire Lubbock district. At the present time, work is being completed from Brownfield on the same highway to the east county line, a distance of 11 miles. There it connects with a project extending from a point west of Tahoka in Lynn county to the Terry county line, a distance of 18 miles.

"Officials here said today they had just been advised that the state highway department has let contract and will start asphalt topping of the 11-mile project in the near future, while contract for similar work on the Lynn county unit probably will be let in September."

There is always a bunch of business men in every town that you could not sell legitimate advertising to if it was delivered to them tied up in parchment with silk ribbon. And what we mean by legitimate advertising is just what every really big firm calls it, newspaper first, then magazine advertising. But these boys are always the first to get caught on every wildcat scheme that is not worth two whoops in hades that comes along.

Just as the NRA was not workable alike in all sections of the country, nor all business and industries in different sections just so, are many looking at the Black-Connerly bill as being a near repetition of the blue eagle. The southwest and south, with a higher freight rate on its coal, oil, timber, cotton and other products, a large percent of which has to be shipped to manufacturing plants, cannot do so and pay the high wages that obtains in the north and east.

In another section of the Herald we are printing an article from the State Game Warden about the protection of the prairie chicken. When we came to the Plains nearly 29 years ago, there was a five year protection on these birds, and they had propagated until they well might destroyed the few crops planted here then. And as for his assertion that they are fine "eatin"—well, it's just according to a man's taste. To our notion they are just about as poor meat as we ever tried, and we have tried them broiled, fried, baked and smothered.

The Republican papers in Texas, large and small, like to speak of Roosevelt "packing" the court. A better word might be "unpacking" it for it has been dominated by the standpat variety of Republicans since we knew anything. No one else has had much chance to pack or unpack. Yes, we admit the old gentlemen are honest in their convictions, but their convictions are, and hell don't seem to be much further in the other direction. In fact, we were informed that few white people and negroes could stand to work there in summer, and Mexican labor did the field work. Rid Charley ever pick any cotton anywhere, any summer. We have, and we'd want $2 per hundred to pick

A lot of good people, many of them friends of the local papers cannot distinguish between the out and out advertising and the veiled variety. Take one of the big insurance companies, for instance. While it is so-called fraternal insurance company, they know better than approach newspapers themselves with this free advertising propaganda, so they get some good lady in the community to call on the paper to try to put it over. Old line companies have about quit such approaches, but the frat-

Chas. Armour Guy of the Lubbock Journal professes to be greatly wrought up because the cotton pickers down in the Rio Grande valley want $1.00 per hundred to pick cotton. Was you ever dere Sharley Well, we have been, and in June, and we don't suppose July is much better. The sun stands just ten feet over your head apparently, and hell don't seem to be much further in the other direction. cotton in the valley in July. We'd rather pull bollies in the Plains in late September and October at 50c per 100. We have picked cotton at 35c per 100 in Central Texas in August, making our big 90c per day, some days. It takes a darn good picker to get 500 pounds per day—all day—and that's just $5.00. Charley has men working for him that get much more than that for eight hours in the shade toboot. Yes, that's skilled labor, so is a good cotton picker a skilled laborer. Our best day was 252 pounds. Charley doesn't give a tinker's dam about either the cotton picker or the cotton producer. He just used that to hit at the New Deal. Charley is itching all over to get back under the Raw Deal. He wants to see dozens of banks popping open every day. He wants to see stocks pyramided to the sky and then dropped like a hot potato, leaving ruin in its wake. He wants to see people loose their all and jump from high windows and end it all. Yes, Charley years for the good old Raw Deal days.

GOOD-BYE CABOOSE

With the railroads going crazy over "streamlining," it will not come as surprising news to the average Big Spring citizen to learn that "the little red caboose behind the train" has also come in for a share of it. Several of the big railroad systems are removing the little old tower from the top of the caboose and installing "baywindows" on each side. Here the brakemen and conductors can sit in comfortable, upholstered chairs and watch for the tell-tale smoke of a hot-box as stream of sparks indicating a binding brake beam. Safety stoves will enable them to cook warm meals as they ride, while electric refrigerators and leather couches easily convertible into beds will supplant the old time wooden benches that served as seats. And so, in this modern age of science and invention, another old tradition passes. The "little red caboose behind the train" is to join the long list of other old-time memories, while time marches on.—Big Spring News.

BUYING UP GOLD

A former Congressman, who is a great student of national affairs, believes that those in this nation who are criticizing the Roosevelt administration for buying up such a horde of gold, are simply ignorant in their talk. His argument follows: "I hear and read severe criticisms made against the President for buying all the gold that's offered this country and piling it deep in the ground and in the immense vaults down in Kentucky. They say, for instance, 'Why dig it out of the ground in one country, ship it over here, then we buy it at a high price and bury it in the ground again? If this were the whole story, it would seem ridiculous, wouldn't it?"

"Since about the first of the year we have bought and piled up in this way a billion dollars' worth of this gold from other countries and buried it in Kentucky ground. This is the reason our debt has run up from 35 to 36 billions. Some debt!"

"But to me this is one of the best things this administration has done. But little credit seems to have been given for it. But stop and think about this for one minute: Suppose Mussolini or Hitler or Japan, yes or even haughty England, had this 12 or 13 billions of gold piled up in their vaults. How long would European war be confined to poor, distressed Spain? With us, it's a great defense, for we can buy almost any material thing with gold. Aren't you glad we have it, instead of one of those angry and aggressive nations?"—Canyon Nes.

Mrs. Ida Alderman of Syracuse, N. Y., sued for damages for injuries she claimed she suffered when attacked by a neighbor's ram. The neighbor's attorney said, "It is our defense that this is a gentle and lovable ram."

Fan mail, popularity contests, and exhibitors' reports, all prove that Gene Autry, singing cowboy, is now the top western star. And Gene knows it. Recently due to start this year's series of eight pictures, he walked off the lot, stayed off until the studio met his demands. He knew he could get them—and he did. Autry not only got his salary doubled, but forced the studio into upping the cost of his musical westerns Thirty-Three Per Cent, and the shooting time by twenty-five per cent. Greater cost and longer shooting time mean better pictures more carefully cast and directed. So Autry fans this year are going to receive entertainment on a par with the best feature pictures.

Francis Lederer was seen this week bringing his own lunch to work at the studio. Four bran muffins and a quart of milk. He said: "It's a sensible and a satisfying warm weather lunch."

Hollywood circles were amazed some weeks ago when Joan Crawford refused the feminine lead opposite Clark Gable in "Parnell." Now they are admiring her "keen appraisal of the script." What they had thought would be a choice picture she didn't like. Now it has proven a heavy box-office flop.

Ray Corrigan tall cowboy actor who heads the popular "Three Mesquiteers," has bought two painted stallions with which to start a cow-pony ranch. He expects to make money breeding and training superior movie horses.

Joe Kane, director of western pictures who came up from the film cutting ranks, this week was seen training his own film cutter, Les Orlebeck, in the art of directing Gene Autry in "Public Cowboy No. One." After a few weeks training he will be promoted to directing.

Charles F. Gebhard is a name which means nothing to movie fans. This week a Superior Court agreed to this contention and let it's owner, Buck Jones, legally adopt the screen name he's used for 15 years. The big cowboy star revealed he had been born a Gebhard in Vincennes, Ind.

Eddie Cantor often closes his eyes when being interviewed. "I can think better that way."

Max Terhune, middle-aged and broad-grinned comedian who practically steals "The Hit Parade" from such stars as Frances Langford and Phil Regan, comes by the ability rightfully. For years he headlined vaudeville circuits with such teams as the famous Weaver Brothers and Elviry; and since has been a radio entertainer. His act imitating a farmer and a dog chasing a hog, with the hog squealing at the same time, alone is worth seeing the show.

Here's Hollywood, Jack Haley, who has become a topline from his grand comedy in "Wake Up and Live," says Hollywood is a place where folks buy $20 hats for $2 heads! And Smiley Burnette says it's where trying to become a star is "like aiming at a black bear in the dark that Ain't There!"

Sen. Connally Urges Senate to Aid Farmers

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 6.—In a successful effort to aid farmers who have Federal Land Bank loans, Senator Tom Connally on the floor of the Senate Tuesday pleaded for the lowering of the interest rate on commissioners' loans from 5 to 4 per cent, and the continuation of the present 3 1/2 per cent interest rate on regular loans.

Upon the insistence of the junior Senator from Texas, the Senate rejected the amendment of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, which would have stricken out the reduction of interest rates on commissioners' loans.

"We have been through a very critical period in the United States in the way of holding on to land during this depression," Senator Connally told the Senate. "Commissioners' loans are instrumentalities that were devised to help out the man who had a farm and was trying to pay for it by giving him a further increase of loan. Many of these farmers will pay out. They are on the land, they are working, they are digging, they are trying to get out, and they are not on the relief roll in town. If we can give a billion and a quarter dollars are at work establishing homes and to people to do nothing, I do not see how the Government will suffer much by giving $40,000,000 in the form of reduced interest rates to people who are increasing the value of those homes."

"The land banks will have to absorb some of the reduction for this period of extension but it is justified aid. It is sound aid, given to people who are trying to build homesteads and trying to pay for them, and who are out in the hot sun at work."

The Senate passed the bill extending and reducing the interest rates to borrowers from the Federal Land Bank; the House had previously passed the bill.

It would be a great relief to copy readers, printers and proof readers if people wouldn't have such outlandish names.

Take the due Pons, for instance. In most newspapers the "du" carries a capital D—Due Pont. Actually, however, it is a lower-case d—du Pont. We found that out, after great travail and vexation of spirit, by the simple process of looking it up. It's listed in Who's Who in America, 1936-37 edition. Our limited knowledge of French tells us it means "of the bridge," or something like that. The full handle of course, is due Pont de Nemours. That Nemours business, we fancy, comes from the commune of that name in the department of Seine-et-Marne, France.

Incidentally, the Roosevelts have it all over the du Pons in Who's Who. There are eleven Roosevelts listed as against only four du Pons, one of whom died in 1935.—Abilene News.

SPICK AND SPAN

There is a certain suburban home whose owner's principal delight is keeping it spick and span. After dinner he and a guest were smoking on the lawn. The guest, after lighting his cigar, threw the burned match on the ground.

"Oh, I wouldn't do that, George," said the host.

"Why not?"

"It spoils the appearance of everything," was the answer. "It's just those little things that make a place look bad."

The guest smoked his cigar in silence for a few minutes then without a word, got up walked down the road, and disappeared. He returned in a short time.

His host asked: "Where have you been, George?"

"Oh, I just went down to spit in the river," said George.

When an honest man gets money, the first thing he does is to pay his debts.

Politeness is the strongest rebuke to him who is rude.

Which Is the Beauty?

First glances at the Most Beautiful and Most Popular girls at Texas State College for Women leave some doubt as to which is which, since both could well qualify for beauties. However, facts reveal that Miss Irene Pyle, left, is the lovely lady, and Miss Judith Stegman, right, was elected most popular. Miss Pyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pyle of Celeste, is a senior English major. Miss Stegman whose home is in Brownsville, is active in college dramatics and will receive her degree in Brownsville.

Now that nature has once more been adorned with the verdure of spring and a new season of outdoor picture taking has begun, it is appropriate to consider landscape pictures.

Good landscape subjects are, at least, easy to find. One can travel scarcely anywhere without encountering pleasing vistas of woods and fields, hills and valleys, stream and lake, country cottages, old farm-houses, tree-canopied roads, flocks of browsing sheep, herds of cattle, and all that makes for beauty and interest in landscapes.

What should we do to capture these lovely scenes with our cameras? Such views may seem easy to take as they meet the eye, but here, as in all photography, indiscriminate snapshotting usually results in jumbled composition. A little thought, a little planning, a little effort, if you please, to make the picture—not merely to take it. This means care in selecting a viewpoint which makes the composition essential to an artistic picture. You cannot shoot on sight and be lucky every time.

Beginners are often satisfied with any picture at all as long as it is clear. They are delighted merely to have obtained the correct exposure.

But he who takes pains to locate a viewpoint which gives in his under a well-balanced arrangement of objects in the scene generally gets pictures that are not merely photographically clear but artistic.

Are you willing to climb a fence, toil up a rugged hill, wade a brook, to get that viewpoint? Many an enthusiast has taken real risks for a viewpoint and been amply rewarded. Remember that the viewpoint should be such that the picture balances both vertically and horizontally. Generally there should be a large mass, the main object of interest, near but not at the center, balanced by several smaller objects or masses on the other side, or by a single smaller one farther from the center, or in some cases slightly above or below the center.

Take time to move around from spot to spot and in each place experiment with the scene as it appears in your viewfinder. Be satisfied that you have this balanced composition before you let the picture into your lens. Choosing the best viewpoint is what the landscape painter does before he sets up his easel to make his picture. Remember that in the same way you, too, with a camera, can make a picture.

The Damn Work Piles Up Any Damn Time

Our tolerably good friend, the Hon. James Harley Dallas, boss of all that pertains to mailing privileges in the Brownfield vicinity, can see the ridiculous as well as the sublime in his own profession, just as well as in others. He handed us a clipping from the Waco Farm and Labor Journal which is an extract from the speech of a postmaster during their recent convention at San Antonio. Here 'tis:

"Look at that damn mail." As these words were falling from the curled sensuous lips of a postal employee, it was my lot to walk around the corner. If I had the disdain of a naughty maiden, the bitterness of one whose "first love" has proven faithless, the venom of the deadly asp rattler, coupled with the gift of tongues, it would not be within my power to portray for you the utter disgust, deep loathing and even hatred which issued forth with "Look at that damn mail."

After craving pardon, the words came quietly enough: "Yes, look at that damn mail. Forty hours a week of it. If it wasn't for the damn postage the damn public paid to the damn department on that damn mail, there wouldn't be any damn money available to pay your damn salary, for the damn little work you so damn inefficiently perform." The employee

MRS. FRANKLIN PASSES

Mrs. Henry Franklin, 50, who has been ill for the past three years, passed away at the farm home in the Gomez community Tuesday. Funeral was conducted Wednesday morning at 10:30 by Rev. Hicks at the local Baptist church. Burial followed in Brownfield cemetery.

Mrs. Franklin was born in 1887, in Titus county where she lived until 1920, when she and husband moved to Terry county. To this union, six children were born, four of whom with her husband survive. They are, Loyd, Troy and Pat Wayne, and a daughter, Mrs. Esta Mae Fore. Mrs. Franklin had been a member of the Baptist church since she was 16 years of age.

Relatives from a distance attending were her mother, Mrs. Johnson of Levelland, and two brothers, Clyde and Hiram Holder, of Titus county. Also, Mr. Franklin's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Elis Franklin, and a sister, from Talco. Mr. Franklin is a nephew of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hamilton of this city.

A. Judd was down Tuesday with a load of vegetables from his soft water irrigated farm near Lubbock. He presented the Senior and Junior Herald families with a nice lot of "whiteheaded" cabbage. Thanks!

Mrs. J. W. Sawyer of the Commerce Hotel presented us with a mess of mustard greens from her patch recently. The better half ran out some fat bacon, and did we dine?

W. C. Smith and wife, and son, Adolphus, have returned from a visit with relatives in Oklahoma.

Boy Scouts Seen As Peace Evangelists

(By Clarence Ousley in Star Telegram)

It may be that the Boy Scout movement, celebrating its thirty-sixth anniversary in the United States by the Washington jamboree, will finally attain such proportions and wield such influence as to be the means of pacifying the world.

Many men who have founded great world movements have had dreams of such ultimate achievements. David Lubin, the great Jewish patriarch, who was the instrument of the establishment of the International Institute of Agriculture, with a representative in each important nation of the earth sitting constantly in Rome indulged the hope that it might become the "parliament of man, the federation of the world." And I have heard zealous Rotarians express the hope that International Rotary, with its fine principles of service, might bring leaders of all nations into a brotherhood of service which would make war unthinkable. Perhaps Sir Baden Powell, the eminent Englishman who founded the Boy Scouts, had a similar concept of the ultimate. The thought does credit to any leader who entertains it. Out of the idealism which it expresses must come some time a workable scheme of world peace, for it cannot be that mankind is destined forever to live by the law of the jungle.

The Boy Scouts are an international brotherhood of boys in 48 countries of the earth—a brotherhood which is nonpolitical, non-racial, non-secretarian, pledged to "help other people at all times," to do a kindly deed every day, to keep physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight and to be brave, courteous and reverent, besides learning to care for one's self and to render aid to others in distress. The outings, exercise and adventures that give zest to boyhood are vital phases of the movement because they not only teach important lessons of self protection and good health but they satisfy the cravings of all normal youth for conquests of nature and of danger.

International Contacts

That world peace is among the objectives of the scouts is indicated by the world jamboree once every four years. The next is scheduled for the Netherlands. After the last one, Eagle Scout Owen Matthews of Portland, Ore., won a college scholarship with an essay on "How Can America Stay Out of War." He wrote his experiences at the jamboree in Hungary in 1933.

"All boys wanted to be friends and we made new ones every day. By actually living with foreign scouts we learn that they thought and acted just as we did. We loved those brother scouts as much as those in America. After these contacts, how could we go to war against each other?"

It was Charles Lamb, I believe, who said he could not hate a man he knew. Certainly close acquaintance does much to dispell false impressions, and association in an order or a movement begets friendships of lasting and uncompromising affection. After witnessing the jamboree in England eight years ago, Sir Phillip Gibbs wrote: "It is a new order of chivalry in the world's youth which reaches out beyond nationality and is tolerant to all differences of creed and race. Here was a sign of something that might happen among nations, not abandoning their differences, indeed, taking pride in their particular 'totems' and traditions, but uniting in a spirit of comradeship, chivalry to the weak and loyalty to the leadership of strength and truth."

The only nations which have not encouraged the scout movement are Germany, Italy and Russia, which have actually banned it in their obsessions of superior virtue and peculiar virility under their dictators, but as these nations are out of accord with other principles and policies esteemed as cardinal to freedom and development by the other great nations their opposition will count for little in the aggregate of world influence. Besides a million active scouts in the United States there are some 6,000,000 alumni scouts, men who have grown to maturity but are still imbued with scout principles and standards of conduct. Together they constitute a mighty force in our country and their allies in other countries make up a vast influence for the world's good.

Know Thyself

I have forgotten which of the great philosophers it was who gave the admonition, "Know Thyself," but it was advice needed by most men. The average man is prone to magnify his talents and his virtues and to minimize his limitations and frailties; he does not know the tool he is working with.

The Boy Scout is taught to know himself—his physical, mental and spiritual strength and weakness. He puts himself to the test, discovers his shortcomings and learns how to fortify them. A young soldier from Texas, returning from France after the World War, declared that what he had learned paid him for all the hardships he had suffered. When I asked him what of particular value he had learned, he answered: "How to care for my body." The scouts learn that and more—how to care for his relations with other people and to show respect for the rights and opinion of others as he demands respect for his own.

And these lessons are taught in a school of delightful adventure—in camp, on the hike, in the open where self-dependence becomes the imperative law of life and of success. Records show that more than 50 per cent of the senior high school boys are scouts, that scouts hold a majority of student offices, that 68 per cent of football captains in 270 colleges had scout background and that more than 65 per cent of Rhodes scholars in the last 10 years had scout training.

Not all scouts turn out well; there are natures which do not respond to training, but any boy is a better boy for being a scout, and the multitude now in training all over the world are a leaven which may in time leaven the whole lump of perverse mankind.

Mrs. A. J. Stricklin, Mrs. Herman Trigg and Misses Vona Lee Ditto and Beverly Ann Duke, visited friends in Lubbock, Tuesday.

Boy Scouts to Hold District Swim Meets

Every Boy Scout Troop in the Council is expected to take part in the District Swimming Meets to be held at various places the last week in July. The Scouts are busy training for these events they plan to take part in and leaders are making every effort to get every Scout to enter in some part of the meet.

The first meet will be held at Littlefield in the Northwest District, July 23rd with A. B. Sanders, District Chairman in charge. The Scout Troop from Muleshoe that was the District Champion last year will be strong contenders for the title again. Other towns that will participate in the meet will include Sudan, Leveland, Littlefield, Bula, Circle Back and Fairview.

On July 28th the Northeast, Northern Central District Scouts will come together at Plainview in a Tri-District meet at the American Legion Pool. Mr. J. P. Woodard, Chairman of the North Central District Program Committee will be in charge of the arrangements for the meet.

Two meets will be held on July 30th. The Southern, Southwestern and Southeastern Scouts will gather at Brownfield for a Tri-District meet. Emery Longbrake, Scoutmaster of Troop 45 will be the Director in charge.

G. B. Wadzeck, Scoutmaster of Troop 35, Spur, will be in charge of the meet to be held for the Eastern District at the pool in Spur on the same date.

The Council Swimming Meet that will determine the best swimmers in the entire Council will be held at Tumble In Pool in Lubbock, August 6th with K. N. Clapp in charge. A program of entertainment and fun will be prepared for the interest of every one. Nice prizes will be presented to the winners.

Hot Topping Started On the Tahoka Road

Hot topping, with what is termed a preservation rock and asphalt coat was started on No. 84 from Brownfield to the Lynn county line this week, some more than 12 miles, and will be reseeded to completion.

As we understand the matter, these preservative coats are put on to preserve the calciche base, and are only intended to last a few years to give the State Highway department time to put on a permanent triple asphalt and rock or gravel topping.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS MOSTLY IN SUMMER

AUSTIN, Texas, July 12.—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, states that infantile paralysis, like typhoid fever, is largely a summer disease. Although cases may occur during any month of the year, over half the total number come in July, August, September and October. To date, 69 cases of poliomyelitis have been reported to the State Health Department in 1937.

Direct contact between persons is regarded as being the chief factor in the spread of infantile paralysis. Because of the seasonal prevalence of the disease, flies and other insects have been suspected of conveying the virus or germ. Insect transmission has not, however, been demonstrated. Although animals are subject to paralysis, they are seemingly not susceptible to the human type of this paralytic disease. Carriers are difficult to determine; this fact makes advisable the reduction to a minimum of human contact during an outbreak.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis comprise headache, fever, vomiting, bowel disorder, drowsiness and irritability, followed by neck or back stiffness. Prompt medical care, early recognition and reporting of cases make possible the use of valuable preventive and control measures.

After the acute state of the disease has passed and walking is finally permitted the patient, under no circumstances must the affected part be fatigued. It is thus observed that the secret of successful rehabilitation lies in continuance of professional guidance and large doses of patience.

Children under five are more susceptible to the disease and all children under 12 should be watched for suspicious symptoms. There are important things to do when a child shows symptoms. Your family physician should be called at once and physicians should report all cases to the health authorities immediately. When the disease occurs all cases should be isolated for 21 days. All milk should be boiled unless it is pasteurized.

Children should not visit homes where the disease exists or thire are symptoms of it. Flies should be killed and their breeding places destroyed. Promptness in diagnosis of poliomyelitis is important in preventing spread of the disease.

Highway 51 Unit is Reorganized at Meeting

DIMMITT, July 13.—"A new paved state highway from Dalhart to Brownfield," was the theme of the reorganization meeting of the Highway 51 association at Dimmitt, here today. Officers for the association were selected with directors from all towns interested.

President for the association will be Glenn Burgess manager of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce, vice-presidents, County Judge A. R. Allison of Leveland and County Judge R. A. DeFoe of Channing. T. A. Singer, owner of the telephone company at Dimmitt as selected as secretary-treasurer.

Guests Of Lions Club

Delegations from Dalhart, Channing, Hereford, Littlefield, and Leveland were guests of the Dimmitt Lions club at the invitation of Judge K. E. Turner of Dimmitt.

Due to other urgent business, delegates from Brownfield and Vega were unable to attend.

Reports from the various delegations were that the right of way for this highway was already obtained in Lamb, Castro and Deaf Smith counties. Hockley has easements for the right of way to the Terry county line and is working on the route north to the Lamb county line. Grading and drainage structures are practically complete in Deaf Smith and Castro counties with at least 15 miles in Lamb completed. Oldham and Hartley counties are waiting for definite locations from the state highway department. Terry county reports the right of way can be obtained when definite locations are made in that county.

Tentative Plans Made

The state highway department has made some tentative plans for this north-south highway. On December 22, 1936, the road was placed back on the state system. Some preliminary surveys have been made in practically all the counties concerned, but no final plans have been completed.

Highway No. 51 will begin at the Oklahoma state line and run south to Dalhart, Channing, Vega, Hereford, Dimmitt, Littlefield, Leveland, Brownfield. At Brownfield it will connect with the present Highway No. 51 with a possibility of connecting Brownfield with Lamesa also. It was pointed out that this road would link together ten east-west routes, would carry much of the Colorado Tourist Traffic and much of the traffic from West Texas to El Paso that is now going to New Mexico.

This road will be approximately 200 miles in length and will be unusual in that only one major bridge will be needed. At old Tascosa, the only expensive structure will be needed. This bridge will connect Amarillo with Channing over a new route and will span the Canadian river at the most historical crossing in this part of the southwest. It is the site of the Old Tascosa Trail, known to all the old settlers of the west and the modern historian. The plainsman will also encounter some beautiful scenery between Vega and the Canadian.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Graves have moved into the Bob Griffith property on East Main street.

Master Jerry King, small son of Mr. and Mrs. James King, who has been very ill, is improving and was able to be moved home from the Treadaway-Daniell hospital Wednesday.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Bro. J. C. Boyd of Grandview, brought two fine messages to good crowds last Sunday, but our teaching service is still low in attendance. Let's make a special effort to be present Sunday for the teaching service at 10:45 a. m. We are unable to say at this time just who will fill our pulpit Sunday morning but some able speaker will and the hour will be well spent, so be present. Sunday night we are to have a special service. We are to have with us an evangelistic singer of Hagerman, New Mexico. He is said to be fine, and brings a "Sermon in Song." We hope you will have a full house to hear him. You will not be disappointed, I'm sure.

We the First Baptist Church of Brownfield, read and adopted this resolution in conference, Wednesday night, July the 7th, 1937:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, there has developed a growing, and an alarming tendency among Christian People to be found engaged in things worldly, to such a degree that the Church is losing its force. The World to those who are not Christians is away from God, their amusements are found in other places than Churches. Indifferent Christians are found warming at the same fire. The world known preachers, and are watching with a critical eye, and they say why should we be disturbed.

Wherefore be it resolved by the First Baptist Church in conference assembled, that practices common among our fellow members of warming at the Devil's Fire be condemned, and that Christians hold their daily life aloof from things worldly, that the Church might hold its rightful place in the all critical eye of the world. That our influences will not condemn us.

Adopted this July the 7th, 1937.

LAMESA FIRE CAUSES DAMAGE OF $75,000

LAMESA, July 11.—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Simpson Motor Company building here early this morning with an estimate loss of $75,000. The Lamesa Machine Shop and O. T. Earnest garage, both housed in the building, also were destroyed.

The general idea is that people are very selfish and the presumption is that men and women keep up with their money. However, in the liquidation of a large bank, depositors entitled to almost $1,000,000 have not come forward to claim their dividends.

Beauty's Daughter

By Kathleen Norris

SYNOPSIS

Victoria Heerden, a vivacious little girl, had been too young to feel the shock that came when her father, Keith Heerden, lost his fortune. A gentle, unobtrusive soul, he is now employed as an obscure chemist in San Francisco, at a meager salary. His wife, Magda, cannot adjust herself to the change. She is a beautiful woman, fond of pleasure and a magnet for men's attention. Magda and Victoria have been down at a summer resort and Keith joins them for the week-end. The Heerdens return to their San Francisco apartment. Keith does not approve of Magda's mad social life and they quarrel frequently. Magda receives flowers and a diamond from Ferdie Manners, a wealthy man from Argentina whom she had met less than a week before. Manners arrives a few hours later. Magda takes Victoria to Nevada to visit a woman friend who has a daughter named Catherine. There she tells her she is going to get a divorce. Victoria soon is in boarding school with her friends in California. Several Manners and they spend two years in Argentina. Victoria has studied in Europe and at eighteen she visits her mother when Ferdie Manners, a beautiful man, Magda is unhappy over Ferdie's drinking and attentions to other women. Vic dislikes him. When her mother and stepfather return to South America, Victoria refuses to go with them because of Ferdie's unwelcome attentions to her. Magda returns and tells Vic she and Ferdie have separated. Meanwhile Keith has remarried. Victoria is now a student nurse. Magda has fallen in love with Lucius Farmer, a married artist. While she and Vic prepare for a trip to Europe, Ferdie takes a suite in their hotel. The night before Magda and Vic are to sail, Magda elopes with Lucius Farmer. While nursing the children of Dr. and Mrs. Keats, Vic meets Dr. Quentin Hardisty, a brilliant physician, much sought after by women, who is a widower with a crippled daughter. In a tete-a-tete at the Keats home, he kisses Vic. Several days later he visits her with other guests to spend a week-end at his cabin. Vic is enchanted with the cabin. Next morning she and Quentin go hiking and return ravished. The party is disrupted Sunday afternoon by the arrival of Marian Pool, a divorced woman.

"You don't remember me, Mrs. Pool?" Victoria said, in the dreadful moment of silence when everyone stared and smiled, but no one had anything to say. "Victoria Heerden—down at the lodge, years ago?" "Oh, frightful, don't remind me of those ghastly days," Mrs. Pool said lightly, her eyes on Quentin. "That was before, all blushes and confusion. I got my divorce! I cried all day, when I was first married, and danced all night when I got my divorce. I mean I really did, Quen."

"You Mean Without Loving Me?" Victoria Asked.

before he knows," Victoria presently added. "You mean you— you like him?" Violet Keats said in a stunned voice. "I guess that about expresses it," Victoria said, with a brief laugh. The thing happened quite simply about ten days later. Victoria had taken Kate down to Dr. Hardisty's office to have one of the younger men there look at a small sprained elbow. He stood looking thoughtfully at Vic, and the child for a long minute, finally asked her, in almost an absent voice, if she would see him in his own office before she went away. Vic found her way to this guarded and inaccessible sanctum made strangely easy. Kate had a wrapped molasses peppermint to console her for recent indignities, and Vic sat earnest and pretty in her new spring clothes, looking in puzzled expectancy at the doctor.

"The thing is—" He hesitated. "The thing is that I want a home," he said. "I want my little girl with me. I told Violet about it and asked her if she thought you'd take the job. She said—did she tell you this?" "She didn't tell me anything." "Well, she said, 'D'you mean as a nurse and housekeeper, or as a wife?' I said, 'Well, if you put it that way, as a wife!' D'you get what I mean?" he finished. "I had been saying 'housekeeper,' but maybe what I meant all along was wife." He sat back. "I see," Victoria mused, not moving her eyes from his. Color came into her face and receded again and they both laughed nervously. "And—and, thank you!" she said then, a little confusedly. "I need a wife, badly," the man presently added. "Everyone knows that—Violet and John, everyone. You're the kind of woman I want to marry. I admire you tremendously. I—I like you very much." "You mean without loving me?" Victoria asked. "I thought—I thought that was how you wanted it to be," the man said, simply. Victoria looked at him thoughtfully, her breath uneven, her face scarlet. "Here's the thing," Quentin said, as she did not speak. "I'd be awfully proud if you'd do it, really I would. If you won't I'm going to get out for a while—I'll go to Germany. But I'd much rather not get out, on account of Gwen, and my hospital work—everything. What do you say?" "I think you'd better try Germany." For a few seconds Victoria really thought she had said it. Then she knew that she had said nothing audible, but that she was looking at him with her throat dry, and her heart beating hard, and all her senses in wild confusion. "If a man wanted you he could get you," she heard him saying. "If a man wanted you he could get you."

Prairie Chickens Are Near Extinction
AUSTIN, July 10.—The prairie chicken formerly plentiful in some sections of Texas but now regarded as nearing extinction has not been persuaded to hatch its young in captivity. Will Tucker, secretary to the state game, fish and oyster commission, said this disinclination of the fringed, brown-feathered wild fowl makes efforts to insure its propagation difficult. In his studies of the species, Tucker found that as late as 15 years ago when first attempts were being made to transform the Great Plains area in the north and western portion of the state from cattle ranges into grain farms, landowners complained of the chickens' ravages in maize fields.

Birds Increased Rapidly
Introduction of this abundant food into a sparsely vegetated section caused the birds to increase rapidly.

Drouth and desertion of farming regions, however, ruined the food supply and favorable cover for the fowl and soon reduced great flocks to handfuls. The Atwater sub-species of the prairie chicken, whose habitat is the coastal region, has been hurt by oil field and rice production. In this region also, the birds has become almost a rarity.

Related To Heath Hen
Tucker said the Texas birds are related to the heath hen species of the northeastern states, the sole evidence of which—a cock—died two years ago. About the only remaining evidence of existence of this formerly-over-numerous wild fowl are pictures and a motion picture sound truck of its booming cry.

The bird was so plentiful three-quarters of a century ago there are records of near-revolt by negro slaves because of the constant fare of fried chicken.

Regarded by many as the best of all game fowl hunting, the Texas prairie chicken has an excellent flavor likened by some to the meat of a guinea fowl. It is extremely wary in the field and given to long, sustained flight.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kendrick and son, Richard, have returned from their vacation, and R. M. says he is about to get rested again since his return. They picked up his brother at Westbrook, and all visited the scenes of the Kendrick childhood in Bosque county, but failed to find the old school house still standing. They visited the old tree under which the county was organized in 1854 from McLennan county.

Cotton School To Study W. T. Staple

LUBBOCK, Texas, July 5.—With the avowed purpose of improving the quality of Texas cotton there cotton classing schools will be held in West Texas during July and August under the supervision of the textile department of Texas Technological College. The course will last two weeks and are scheduled as follows: Texas Tech, Lubbock, July 19 to 30; Abilene, August 2 to 13; Quanah, August 16 to 27.

According to M. E. Heard, head of Tech textile department, director of the three schools in West Texas, the plan for improving the quality of Texas cotton is the main idea in the course. At present ginners are buying cotton direct from the farmers and are paying one price for all grades of cotton. By attending these cotton schools and learning to grade cotton according to government standards ginners will be able to pay a premium for the better grades of cotton, thereby encouraging the farmers to grow better grades. Poor grades will be penalized. Under the present plan, according to Heard, there is no stimulus for the farmers to improve the grade of his cotton.

Leo Holmes left Wednesday for Paris, Texas to bring Mrs. Holmes and the children home from a several weeks visit with her parents.

Mrs. Jay King of McPherson, Kansas, is expected Thursday, to visit her sister, Mrs. Pete Tiernan.

Between 4,000 and 5,000 persons came by car, rail and other methods of transportation to Brownfield the metropolis of Terry County, last week for the fifth annual Plains-Panhandle Singing Convention, and from all reports that many Lamb county attendants brought back had a wonderful time at one of the best conventions ever held.—Amherst Argus.
