BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, AUGUST 13, 1937

B'field Lands District Telephone Headquarters

E. C. Throop, district manager of the Southwestern Associated Telephone Co. was a pleasant caller at the Herald office the past week and informed us that he was already a citizen of the city of Brownfield, having moved his effects down from Lubbock. The telephone building here has recently been remodeled and fitted up for district offices, which will include a number of counties in this section of Texas, as well as eastern New Mexico, including Lovington, Hobbs and Tatum.

The company has never had an exchange in Lubbock, as that city is covered by the Southwestern Bell system, and the idea was to get a centrally located place for the district office. Brownfield was found to be ideally located for this purpose and in a city with a future outlook to make a fine city, as trade headquarters for a large section. The Herald joins the other business men of the city in welcoming Mr. Throop and hopes he continues to like Brownfield.

Supplies Ordered for Brownfield's Central Battery System Exchange
Local people will remember that several weeks ago, they took a vote on the installation here of a central battery system, which eliminates the old "cranking" method. Mr. Throop informed us that the vote was real close to the 100 per cent for the change. It had to be as good as 85 per cent. With this vote went the certainty of getting the district offices. Mr. Throop informed us that the new system was being made up for Brownfield as the factory now, and would be shipped out and installed as soon as possible. A like system has also been ordered for Littlefield, but the one at Brownfield will be installed first as a building will have to be erected in Littlefield.

With a central battery system, Brownfield will have a service second to none outside of dial systems in the larger cities, and nothing like that is needed here at this time.

Loans Will Not Be Requested Says FDR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—President Roosevelt contended today that crop control, such as that ended by Supreme court invalidation of the Agricultural Adjustment act, was inevitable and that the country was going to demand it.

Commenting at a press conference on what a reporter called agitation in the South to stabilize cotton prices the president said he was not going to ask congress to lend money on cotton or any other surplus crop until surplus control legislation could go along with it.

He added that applied to wheat, corn, and hogs and other major crops. When control is again on the statute books, Mr. Roosevelt said efforts would be made then to improve prices and keep them stabilized.

Edwards Opening New Grocery Store

What is to be known as the Brownfield Cash Grocery is being opened in the Hankins building just east of the Rialto Theatre, formerly occupied by the Brownfield Recreation Club. Bill Edwards, formerly manager of Piggly-Wiggly, will be the manager. Bill has had years of experience in the grocery business here and at other places and knows the business from A to Z.

Associated with Mr. Edwards in the business, will be Paul McDermott, as meat cutter, and everyone here will vouch for Paul behind the meat counter. Weldon Moore, with Daugherty Grocery for quite some time, will also help care for the trade. Watch for their opening announcement next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Marsh of Colorado City, were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Daniell several days this week.

Kyle Graves and family are entitled to a pass to the RIALTO THEATRE to see Happened Out West sure to present this clipping the box office at the Rialto theatre. Compliment: Rialto & Herald

Estimate 35,000 Bales Terry Crop This Year

The 1937 cotton crop of Terry County is estimated at 35,000 bales by ginners attending the cotton school at Tech College last week. Cotton in portions of the County is unusually late, but during the recent weeks, has shown rapid growth and possibly with favorable conditions later in the season may overcome this handicap.

M. E. Heard, head of the school for several years has asked ginners for estimates on yields.
Lynn First
Lynn county is given first place in production by ginners, Lubbock is second Dawson third and Lamb fourth.

Consensus was that crops were in good shape, plants growing fast and putting on many squares and weeds being eliminated.

Strictly South Plains counties, according to the ginners, should gin 538,000 bales. This is about 145,000 bales more than last year's crop of 393,000 bales.

Estimates with comparison with the 1936 yield are as follows:

Bailey	20,000	16,511
Cochran	30,000	5,756
Crosby	35,000	22,897
Dawson	72,000	46,802
Floyd	17,000	11,127
Gaines	6,000	4,382
Garza	18,000	7,172
Hale	20,000	19,089
Hall	40,000
Hockley	40,000	27,766
Howard	25,000
Lamb	50,000	47,116
Lubbock	75,000	58,717
Lynn	80,000	49,767
Scurry	35,000	15,186
Terry	35,000	24,043
Yoakum	5,000	no gins

Dates Set For Panhandle South-Plains Fair

LUBBOCK, August 10.—The dates for the 24th annual exposition of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair Association were announced as September 27 through October 2, following a meeting of the Board of the Fair Association here the past week.

Because of the late start, preparations were begun without delay and the directors stated that the fair this year would include all the features of those in the past, with all departments enlarged and with several departments added. Negotiations were immediately started with two outstanding carnival companies now playing in Kansas with the expectation that one of the two will be signed for the midway attraction.

The directors, among other things, decided to present a program of horse racing in spite of the unexpected difficulties on that score, and instructions were given to secure the best entertainment available for an outstanding program of free attractions.

One of the departments to receive special attention will be that for swine. High market for hogs and the high cost of feed, it was explained, have combined to reduce the swine population of the South Plains to its lowest in years. Directors were informed that many farmers have urged that swine exhibits be stressed in the belief that it will tend to revive South Plains pork production.

US Cotton Estimate Of 15,593,000 Bales

It seems that the cotton estimate of 15,593,000 bales for the U. S., was no higher than most private estimates had placed it, and therefore the government estimate Monday was no surprise. The condition as of August 1, was given as 81.3 on 33,429,000 acres, which is regarded as a high acreage yield.

Texas crop on 12,538,000 acres as 82 per cent normal, and an estimated production of 4,314,000 bales. The market dropped around $2.00 per bale on receipt of the report, but it is believed that with a promise of congress to pass another crop control act, and advance, loans on this crop, further drops will be halted.

A Correction

We have been asked by both Charley Copeland as well as Ernie Greenfield, to state that Mr. Greenfield has nothing whatever to do with the Rodeo next week. This in view of the fact that we made such a statement in these columns last week.—The Publishers.

Big Spring Gets Hospital For Insane

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—The board of control announced today selection of Big Spring as the site of the new state hospital for the insane.

Fourteen cities had sought the hospital which by act of the legislature, was to cost $817,000 and be located in West Texas.

Is Definitely Chosen
Claude Teer, board chairman, said Big Spring had been definitely chosen with the only condition that it complete certain proposals contained in its bid.

"The board of control is of the opinion the city of Big Spring offers the best opportunity of conveniently serving the people of West Texas," a statement said, "and will locate the hospital on a site offered by Big Spring if and when the terms of their application and proposal and all legal requirements have been met."

Start Work Immediately
The board said it desired immediately to begin construction of the buildings and "architects and superintendent of the institution are standing ready to carry on the work in an efficient and rapid manner."

"It will very likely take a year to complete various units provided for by the legislature and when they are completed it will be necessary for the legislature to make an appropriation for support and maintenance and for the staff of the institution," it said.

3rd Annual Roundup And Rodeo Next Week

The old town this week is being decorated with flags and bunting for the 3rd annual Rodeo and Roundup, which will be put on here next Tuesday and Wednesday by Charley Copeland, who has had much experience in this kind of business. He will be ably assisted by a number of cowboys and cowmen of this section.

Charley has had much advertising matter printed, which has been freely distributed at the big Hobbs, N. M., three days Roundup and Rodeo, as well as at other times and places. Best of all, he has had the cooperation of cowboys in advertising with circulars and placards, as well as by other means.

To make the affair even more like a real celebration, a carnival company has appeared on the scene for showing the two days.

Charley assures us that he has obtained some of the best talent in the rodeo line, such as bronc and steer riders, ropers, and wild cow milkers, in the two states of Texas and New Mexico, and that the rodeo will be worth many times the price asked for admission.

County Agent Expects Big Corn Crop

With nothing unforeseen hindering, County Agent, R. N. McLain is expecting one of the largest corn crops in the history of the county. He reports some borer trouble, but this has been in evidence for the past several years, but many farmers are controlling them by burning all old stalks, root and branch.

McLain estimates the acreage between 60,000 and 70,000 acres, and at this time the plant is in stages all the way from knee high to roasting ears. With the showers of last week, the plant has taken a decided better outlook, and with cool nights at hand, and perhaps more showers this month a good crop will be harvested.

Even with a low yield of 20 bushels to the acre, and 60,000 acres, Terry will get around 1,200,000 bushels of corn. Terry county stands 3rd in corn production in the state, and about 5th in pork production.

With a good corn and row grain crops in general, there will be much feeding here this fall, even if feeds are high, as beef, pork and mutton are higher than for several years.

Mr and Mrs. Oliver Purchase Mack's Grill

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oliver have purchased the cafe known as Mack's Grill on west Main street, and are having it completely remodeled and the interior redecorated. The new establishment is to have the regular counter service and also a main dining room and a private dining room.

Kentucky Newspaperman Visits Herald Office

Mr. O. L. Johnson, of Lexington, Ky., and family, were touring this section Wednesday, looking for a newspaper for sale. He seemed to like Brownfield and the Herald, even though informed the Herald was to have a competitor in the near future. He left here for Seagraves and other points south.

Mr. Johnson has had many years experience with newspaper in Amarillo and Lexington, in the daily field as well as weekly papers, and being a natural born Texan, he wants to get back home, although stating that this country looks barren compared to the blue grass section of old Kentucky.

Mr. Johnson says the newspapers of this section don't realize what competition really means. Lexington, for instance, has a morning and evening paper, the former of which he and Lindsey Nunn, formerly of Amarillo, publish. Being only 80 miles from Louisville and Cincinnati, he says that those cities with Sunday papers an inch thick for a dime certainly give the smaller city dailies a run for their money.

And, he continued they have more special writers and circulation men in the Lexington area than the Lexington papers.

Street, Water, Sewer Improvements Soon

Guy Winslow, local WPA supervisor, informed the Herald this week that a general campaign of street, sewer and water main extensions were planned for the city of Brownfield, and would soon be under way. This extensive series of improvements will be so arranged that the labor used will in no way interfere with work on highway 84 or other roads be hindered, he stated.

In conversation with City Secretary Roy Herod, he informed us that the plans and specification for general city improvements had been drawn up and mapped out, and had been sent to the State offices in San Antonio for final checking. These plans and specification have already been approved by the district offices, we understand, and technically approved by the state offices, and only lack final o. k.

Mr. Herod stated that as soon as they received word of final approval from San Antonio, he would immediately give the Herald a complete list of improvements. He did not state the amount proposed to be spent, but we understand it will run into several thousand dollars.

Com. Henson Improving Levelland Road

Com. Geo. Henson of precinct No. 2, has begun an improvement on a stretch of the Levelland road that has been needed for some time. This piece of road lays just north of the Santa Fe right of way, a mile north of the city. People have been sticking in the sand out there pretty near all the year.

Mr. Henson is having a heavy coating of caliche put on this stretch, which when completed and rolled, will give a near all-weather surface, and permit drifting sand out of nearby fields to pass over. It is a rather tough proposition, but when Henson tackles a thing, it goes over, so— "Just let George do it."

Terry Gins Being Tuned Up For Big Crop

There are five gins at Brownfield, three at Meadow, and one each at Union, Forrester, Wellman, Gomez, Tokio, and Needmore, making 14 in all. The owners or managers of these gins, have been going over every piece and part of the machinery to be sure they are in fine shape for the season's run, which at this time is expected to be heavy.

Three of the plants will be new out and out, the old McSpadden plant here being in the same building, which was partially burned last winter. Lee O. Allen will have entirely new building and machinery in his plant at Tokio, replacing his plant burned last winter. The Needmore plant is making it's first season run. We understand it is being built by Mr. McNabb who also owns the Gomez gin.

Lee O. Allen reports that one of his customers has 600 acres of as fine cotton as he ever looked at in this section, and that he had around an inch rain on it last week, assuring a yield of perhaps around a half bale.

Says He Has Never Failed to Make Feed

Will C. Brown, one of our progressive farmers who lives about six miles northwest of the city, was in Monday and informed us that he was making his 15th crop in Terry county, had never failed to make plenty feed any year, and always an average crop over. Brown has farmed in several other west Texas counties, but says he can never depend on an average crop; that perhaps they will make a bumper crop one year, then for perhaps three years, almost a failure.

After trying several counties, he is therefore well satisfied with Terry, and guesses this will be his home until time to roll him under the sod, and that will be Terry county sod. He also handed us a clipping of the marriage of an old gentleman in Dallas recently by the name of W. D. (Uncle Dick) Lenair, 98, who had just married a lady 57. Uncle Dick was the father of a man who married a sister of Mr. Brown.

The old gentleman had become lonely, and while he lived at Tyler his daughter in Dallas has assisted him in finding his new bride. Uncle Dick said he would fiddle at his wedding dance. Lenair had built the first iron bridge in that section, Brown remarked. He was a Confederate soldier during the unpleasantness of the Civil War days, serving under Gen. Albert Sydney Johnston, having seen service at Shiloh and several lesser battles.

New District Judge Visits in Brownfield

District Judge Louis B. Reed, of Lamesa, was in Brownfield Monday afternoon, meeting old friends, and making new ones. Soon after his appointment as District Judge to fill out the term of the late Judge Gordon B. McGuire, deceased, Judge Reed had to undergo an operation for appendicitis, and has been unable to hold court. However, he stated that he was disqualified anyway in several cases in Dawson and Gaines counties, but could have held court recently in Yoakum county, but decided to wait awhile longer.

However, the Judge Reed will be on the bench as presiding officer during the term here, beginning August 23, as he is now feeling nicely. He stated that it was his intention to spend the nights during the four week's term here, as well as day time, in order to meet and get acquainted with Terry county people.

Judge Reed is well liked by those who know him best, and all praise him as a high quality gentleman, as well as a jurist. He became a regular reader of the Herald in order to get acquainted more rapidly.

Seagraves Seems to Have Growing Pains

The writer and wife, Jack Jr., and family were Seagraves visitors Sunday afternoon, it being our first trip there since the oil boom started, and we found that they were making rapid progress in growth, as homes, modern or modest, as well as business institutions were going up in every direction.

Also, that several oil field supply houses were going in, as well as two new lumber companies. Editor Willard Bright is also putting out a daily—small but a daily. We visited in the homes of our wives' kin folks, E. C. Roberts and A. C. Crowe. We also visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Hargett, former Brownfield citizens.

At the latter home, we saw and ate Thompson seedless grapes the equal of any we have ever seen imported from California. Some of the bunches weighed as much as 5 pounds. Mr. Hargett has been in ill health for some time, and is very feeble.

Red Woods Opens Plumbing Supply Store

Having sold his small grocery stock to Murphy Bros., Red Woods, plumber, is opening a nice supply of all kinds of plumbing and electrical goods in the half building that was vacated. He has already received several truck loads, and others will be moving from time to time.

Mr. Woods is now able to figure your bill on monthly payment basis, which will include both material and work. Note his ad in this issue of the Herald.

Mrs. Dick Brownfield is visiting her daughter in Winters.

San Antonio Firm Gets 84 Job in Lynn

According to the Lynn County News, Tahoka, the Lone Star Construction Co., of San Antonio, got the job of putting the seal coat topping on No. 84, from five miles west of Tahoka, to the Lynn-Terry line, which will give complete pavement from Brownfield to Tahoka. Five miles out from Tahoka, west, had already had the seal coating.

The writer drove out Monday afternoon on the Terry county part of this highway, partly to see the highway, and partly to look at the crops in that section. Both were very fine, thank you. At the east edge of the Brownfield ranch, the road takes a nice little southeast curve, and cuts across four miles to the highway straight out from Tahoka, thus saving perhaps a half mile.

The old road ran on east to West Point school house, where there was a sharp curve, then due south a mile and another sharp curve. This has been eliminated. Tahoka townsite seems to be one mile south of Brownfield townsite. Way back in the pre-war days when Brownfieldites had to go to the Tahoka express office to get their Christmas package, it took all afternoon to do the trip. Now, perhaps it could be done in one and one-half hours, providing Bro. Hearne could accommodate the thirsty ones after they got there.

Editor Receives Pole Ax 100 Years Old

We received a pole or ordinary chopping ax this week from a nephew in Tennessee that belonged to our grandfather, James Calvin Jones, and was said to have been brought from North Carolina to west Tennessee by him somewhere in the late 1830's. It was used in clearing up the primeval forests of that section, and cutting the logs for a residence and home of his large family.

The old ax is much thicker and heavier, more clumsy looking than axes of today. While it has been badly abused, we would not take anything for the old implement. An aged cousin looked for it to give it to us when we were there in 1934 and again last year, but it had been misplaced both times. It was mailed to us recently when found.

Next time we go back there we aim to purchase, if possible an old muzzle loading squirrel rifle, as there are still several in that section. They would be a sight to modern youths in this section, especially.

Considerable Changes In Barber Shops

In view of the fact that L. A. Blair had to store his barber shop fixtures while the Locker building is under construction, or until he can get a location, he has taken the middle chair at the Buck Address barber shop on the east side of the square, and his brother goes to the Moore shop on north 6th. M. V. Walker is now with the north side shop.

There has been a considerable shakeup in prices, too. As we understand it, hair cuts in the Hotel Barber Shop, and the North Side shop are 50c instead of 35c, and in the other three they will be 40c instead of 35c. The barbers state that everything they eat, wear or use, has advanced in price, forcing them to get more for their work or miss some meals.

Bridges to Construct Two New Residences

W. R. Bridges, who purchased the old two-story Locker frame building on the west side of the square, informed us that he would build two residences on his lots on east Broadway, which would be succeeded. He and wife will live in one of them, and the other will be used as a rent house. The old Bob Locker building site on the west side of the square, will be cleared this week for the foundation of a modern brick and tile. In fact, the back and front foundations and walls is all that will have to be built as there is a lite and brick on one side, and a concrete wall on the other, in which he is purchasing an interest.

Mrs. Jack Stricklin Jr., and baby left Wednesday for Dennison, where they will visit the formers parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Taylor. They made the trip with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Crowe of Seagraves.

Mrs. Frank Wier and daughters left Thursday for Fort Worth and Itasca, where they will visit relatives.

Farm Debt Adjustment Effects 1,302 Farmers

Savings amounting to $1,360,949 were effected for 1,302 farmers in the five-state area served by Region 12 of the Resettlement Administration in the past year, William Klien, chief of this agency's Farm Debt Adjustment Section, announced this week through Dennis Lilly, county supervisor.

These adjustments, it was said, resulted in the payment of taxes totaling $76,546.

Indebtedness adjusted in Region 12 for this period amounted to $3,958,290 a reduction of 34 per cent and an increase of 125 per cent over the previous year.

Klien's report to Regional Director L. H. Hauter of the Resettlement Administration, sets forth the savings to farmers in each state in the region. The far-reaching effect of Farm Debt Adjustment work, Klien says, in preventing an unjust conviction of farmers from their home is being felt in all sections of the country and has registered the confidence of all impartial individuals.

This achievement, he points out, is the result of all parties working together in an effort to bring the debtor and creditor together in a friendly atmosphere, where each others problems were defined and worked out in a voluntary agreements, benefitting both debtors and creditors. While it resulted in huge savings to debt-burdened farmers, it also liquidated many thousands of dollars of frozen assets of the creditors.

Debt adjustments in 47 counties in West Texas amounted to $612,755. Indebtedness prior to adjustment totalled $1,493,644. The 394 cases closed resulted in payment of taxes amounting to $25,988. There are 256 cases now pending, according to Peter F. Murray and Walter R. Allen district Farm Debt Adjustment supervisors.

Klien calls attention to the fact that the Farm Debt Adjustment service is free to any farmer residing in Region 12. He hopes that all farmers needing help in adjusting his debts will immediately get in touch with the county rural rehabilitation supervisors, a member of his local Farm Debt Adjustment committee, or write direct to him at the regional office in Amarillo, Texas.

No Fight at Venetian Auditorium Tonight

For some reason, it seems the Boxing Commission down at Austin can't make up its mind whether or not Cy Tankersley has a commission or permit to stage boxing bouts here or not. Anyway, they are holding up things again, and until the latest move has been straightened out, there will be no fights.

Woodie Windham, local fighter, who is associated with Mr. Tankersley in arranging matches, had a fine card on tap, for tonight, but news from Austin put a quietus on the affair until later.

Serious Car Wreck On Hiway Tues. Night

Ernest Burnett received bruises and chest injuries and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Marchbanks of Odessa received minor bruises, when their cars collided on the Seagraves highway about twelve o'clock, Tuesday night.

A Mr. and Mrs. Shelton of Lubbock were in the Marshbanks car, but escaped without injury. Mrs. Shelton's ten year old brother Tommy McCreary, was the most seriously injured, suffering a broken leg.

Com Green Gets $350 For Polo Pony

A week or so ago, Com. Leslie Green, of Precinct 1, sold a polo pony he had trained on his farm in the Union community to northern buyers who were here for $350.00.

Mr. Green has purchased two other ponies, both of which he believes are better in every way to take training for polo, and will in a few months no doubt have them ready for market.

Glen Akers and Earl Jones were in Spur Thursday, where they attended the Rotary Presidents meeting. They went from there to Dallas on business, returning Thursday.

A wet gunnysack hung in an open window no doubt gave some one the general idea of air conditioning. Even now a fan blowing through moving water constitute the thought of the modern way of conditioning homes or other public or private buildings.

According to Col E. I. Hill, editor of the Lynn County News, Tahoka, their sheriff's department has "arrested lots of beer" over there of late. Well, why don't you and your friend, the sheriff, legalize a batch of it and cool it off with some ice, Col Hill? There is nothing quite so sinful as waste.

The Press of Texas is invited to the A. & M. college during the Farmers Short Course, in what is termed Agricultural Writers Conference, which includes the weekly newspapers of the state, as all Texas is agricultural minded. Reduced rates, with privilege of advertising for the round-trip, free beds while there, and a minimum price for meals served at the college cafeteria. This would be a real good outing for papers in the college section, but too far for yours truly.

Speaking of growing pains, old Houston seems to be rolling and tumbling in great agony. That city down "where seventeen railroads meet the sea" is sure going some with its building permits this year as well as last year. Already, their 1937 permits run close to 13 million dollars, or nearly as much as the combined permits of Fort Worth, Dallas and San Antonio, which stand second, third and fourth as named. And the three last name burgs have not just been standing still.

Last spring some parties down at Dallas notified us as well as perhaps other suckers that we had been selected to go in a book to be known as Who's Who in Texas. We complied with a request for a brief biography or should we state autobiography, but failed to enclose the some of $5.00, which was stated as the advance price of the book. Now the little woman is receiving invitations from the Madam Secretary of the publishers to buy the book at some $8.50, stating that men are forgetful, and the edition will soon be gone, and that our offsprings will have lost a great bet by not having the records of old dad or granddaddy brag about when company comes. Hey! bo! hot, ain't it.

After reading the round by round contest Clarendon people are having with their local gas company, in the Clarendon papers, on getting rates reduced, we wish for them that they were lucky enough to be a customer of the West Texas Gas Co., which serves Brownfield, as well as the rest of the south Plains section. voluntary reductions in the last 18 months, while the one serving Clarendon seems to want to go up instead of down. Our rate is now 50c per 1000 cubic feet, with a minimum of $1.25, and 2000 feet allowed, which is perhaps the lowest rate in Texas, outside of gas fields. The West Texas Gas Co., does not spend as much money as some companies advertising in newspapers or elsewhere, perhaps, they are really Johnny on the Spot with "Good Gas With Dependable Service." The West Texas Gas Company is not paying us for this ad.

Our friend, Editor John Price of the County-Wide News, Littlefield, had a hot one right off the bat last week, in which he kinder panned the State Board of Control, on getting the location of the new hospital for the insane. John says the folks down at Austin don't seem to know just where West Texas really is located. At the time John did not know what the board's decision was to be, but now this week he can come back and compliment that body. They really did locate it in West Texas, at Big Spring, and old Howard county is really a south Plains county, as fully half the county is on the cap rock. It is just about the right distance from Wichita Falls and San Antonio, where two other such institutions are located. Abilene was winked out perhaps on account of having the epileptic colony, and too far east and too near Wichita Falls. Big Spring is of easy access by railroad and highways, and pretty centrally located for the area it proposes to serve. We heartily congratulate Big Spring and its get up and going people.

There has been a shakeup in the city police department at Lubbock the past week, when the city council fired the chief and his entire force. This caused a flareup that sounds like the doings of metropolitan centers, and yet somewhat like small town stuff. Reading between the lines of the fired chief, it seems he has been arresting too many of the uppityups to suit the city council or commission, one bunch of three being civic club pioneers who got teared up too much and were driving while potted. Tuesday the chief emptied the jail cells of drunks who were poor or with no prominent friends, stating that "if the rich and prominent can be turned loose without hearing witnesses, so could the poor and friendless, as long as he carried the keys to the jail, and that he would keep them in only long enough to sober them up." So far the city council and city attorney which the chief says have given him no co-operation, have just kept on saying nothing. For one time, we agree with Charley Guy, editor of the Avananche Journal, who stated that the office of chief of police should be made elective instead of appointive, and let him be responsible to the people instead of a political football.

"Sometimes when you have nothing else to do and want to have some fun, just try running a country newspaper for 30 years. You'll have a wealth of experience you'll get in no other way. But you won't have to worry over income tax. Your greatest worries will be over keeping ahead of the sheriff and how you're going to eat. You'll find out that lots of news is bad news and that a dollar often seems much larger than it really is. You'll also learn that some people are funny through choice, while others can't help being funny. It's a great old game if you don't run out of chips."—Exchange.

Boy, Oh Boy, there must have been a lot of hoss tradin' going on in Washington after Cactus Jack Garner returned to the capital and engineered the trade on the President's supreme court proposals. . . . Congressmen who feared the lash of Jim Farley openly made their demands that there would be no reprisals in the forth coming congressional elections. . . . One Congressman is reported as having said "Speaking of 5 to 4 decisions, you don't hear any spokesmen kicking against Barkley's 38 to 37 vote do you?" Let the majority rule. . . . And that hoss tradin' is an essential part of politics. Marvin Jones once said that a good congressman gets the nearest possible approach to what he wants. He may introduce a bill that is ever so good and by the time all the amendments are tacked on, feel like opposing his own bill. Congress is composed of many people of many minds, representing people of divergent desires and needs, and it's mighty hard for any one of them to get exactly what he wants. Sometimes, too he has to stand for things that he doesn't want in order to trade so that he will get something he want a lot. . . . Congressmen who wanted black horses, probably wound up after all the hoss tradin' was done with a few black horses and a lot of fea bitten old grey mares as well.—Plainview Herald.

A SLIGHT LEAK

A hot story that we like is about the girl who went swimming in the raw in a secluded stock tank. Along came a little boy who tied knots in her clothes. She flopped around, found an old washtub, held it up in front of her and marched toward the little boy saying "You little brat, do you know what I'm thinking?"

"Sure," said the little brat. "You're thinking that the tub has a bottom in it!"—The Builder.

President lost a bit of his common sense rating this week when he expressed the hope that "the time will come when the chemical warfare service can be entirely abolished." This might do far a wish, but the President surely was not accurate when he said he "hoped" for any such thing. Gas is inhuman, but any nation in war finds anything "human" that it hopes will shorten the war and stop the slaughter of thousands and millions. Chemical warfare is here to stay and America can best discourage its use against us by having more gas and better—or is it worse gas than any other nation on earth.—Ralls Banner.

UNUSUAL COURAGE

Political courage is a thing so rare that the action of Governor Allred and Comptroller Sheppard has left us glassy-eyed with admiration.

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN—IT'S YOU

By JACK DIONNE in "The Gulf Coast Lumberman"

If there is one idea I like to harp on, it is that which says that a town is a reflection of its citizenship, and that when they say that a town is "dead" they are simply declaring that the business men of that town lack nothing but decent burial.

It is a thought that should be pounded into the heads of the business men everywhere. Houses, store buildings, churches, theatres, etc., don't make a town. It's the MEN of the town that ARE the town.

Remember this. When you see a big rock rolling ponderously up a steep hill, you know without going back of it to look, that there is some force behind that rock that is pushing to beat the band. . . . and when you see a town that is going forward steadily and surely, overcoming the obstacles that all growing communities have to encounter, riding down its little old-time, good-enough-for-father-and-good-enough-for-me, obstructions, you will know without the question of a doubt that good men and true are behind that movement, and that they have their shoulders to the job.

There may be exceptions to that rule—and if so, they only serve to prove the rule—but the fact is that towns and cities are only what their citizens make them, and in such matters, "Citizens" means "business men."

You say, "that town has great possibilities," and it is all bosh. Human possibilities are man-made; nothing else. They say, "you can make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," but truth is that a skillful man can make a purse out of a sow's ear that has a silk purse skinned to death. AND WHAT YOU MAKE OTHERS THINK YOU HAVE. Half a loaf to a wise man is worth more than a whole bakery to a man who does not realize the value of his possessions.

You say, "My town is dead" and you immediately contribute towards its burial ceremonies. Your town is what you and your own townspeople think it is. Reverse your attitude. Instead of thinking it's dead—think it's alive, and you will immediately begin to contribute towards its enlivenment. Say it's alive and get others to saying it. They will soon be believing it, and when they begin to believe it, it will become a fact.

Remember, IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN, IT'S YOU. Make your town what you would like to see it.

IMPRESSED WITH SOUTH PLAINS EXHIBITION

FORT WORTH, July 27.—Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Edwards and children, Billy and Joan, of Moline, Illinois, who visited the Natural Resources Exhibit of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta last week were surprised when their inquiries as to the Dust Bowl were answered by staff members calling their attention to the facts shown in the Wheat Booth of the Exhibit.

binced and this year produced 25,000,000 bushels of wheat, bringing to West Texas farmers in excess of $26,000,000. They were also interested in the fact that all records for high-grade wheat had been broken in Floyd County, where wheat averaging more than 65 pounds to the bushel was grown and a special mesh adopted by the Department of Agriculture to properly grade the wheat.

They were impressed too, with the fact that there remains 13,000,000 acres of uncultivated wheat land and expressed themselves as expecting to lengthen their visit to Texas to include a visit to the wheat area of West Texas.

NEWSPAPER MEN WILL GO TO HEAVEN

I am confident that all newspaper men will go to heaven. No matter how eloquently the editor may boast for the development of the community no matter how diligently he may labor to build up his home county, no matter how loyally he supports a friend in politics, extols the virtues of a famous native son, stretches the truth to praise a local prima-donna—be, or gently lays a metaphorical wreath upon the grave of the departed, he seldom hears a "Thank you." Rarely does anyone say "Well done." Almost never does he hear, "We appreciated that."

But let him make a slip. Let him say that Sam Jones did something he didn't do, or Mrs. Smith Brown said something she didn't say? Every one in town then takes a whack at him. And that is why I believe all newspaper men will go to heaven—they get their share of the other place here on earth.—W. Earl Dyer in the "Rotarian Magazine."

LITTLE MAN NOW BACK IN MARKET

NEW YORK, July 17.—The "little man" is back in the stock market these days, providing about a quarter of its total business. But he is less of a gambler now and more of an investor than in 1929. That is the consensus of a number of brokers and others who have watched him in action and studied reports detailing his movements in and out of securities.

If old man Storey and his post-office gang had been willing to work six days a week like the rest of us we might have led the district post-office receipts. As it is, Brownfield claims to have sold a couple dozen more postage stamps, which may cause our boys to have to do business at the same old stand a few years longer. Course that proposition to locate the new postoffice next to the Court House sort a fell thru, anyway.—Littlefield News.

New York State to Erect $1,600,000 Amphitheatre at "Nation's Fair of 1939"

NEW YORK (Special).—The State of New York, it is disclosed in architectural drawings made public, will be represented officially at the New York World's Fair of 1939 by a $1,600,000 combined marine amphitheatre and exhibit building of many distinctive features largely designed for the presentation of master stage spectacles and compelling exhibits by state departments and 62 counties.

tier of seats shown is a broad promenade 800 feet long which will afford a view of the whole exposition and the 280 acres of lake-shore amusement zone. The insert shows the exhibit pavilion facade and the forward position of the grand reception hall above which will be a circular auditorium seating 1000 persons. Under the amphitheatre, on two floor levels, 70,000 square feet of space is provided for New York State exhibits.

1939 NEW YORK FAIR'S TWO MILE AMUSEMENT LOOP

NEW YORK (Special).—"The 1939 New York World's Fair has planned to have the largest area and the greatest number and variety of amusements ever provided for any exposition in the world," announces Grover Whalen, President of the Fair Corporation, "but let it be understood, too, that we are already assured of producing a fair that will be remembered for its bold treatment of today's problems and for its path-finding to the World of Tomorrow."

than that of any amusement park in the world. Following an entirely new pattern that lends itself to the development of new and novel amusement and entertainment features, the sector is featured by the two-mile looped thoroughfare, flanked on one side by a continuous facade 70 feet high and on the other by the more open and landscaped area extending to the east shore of Meadow Lake. The upper end of the lake-shore region will be dominated by a $1,600,000 State amphitheatre with a marine stage for presentation of aquatic shows, operas, pageants and extravaganzas of all sorts. On the far side of the lake, as sketched, will be every conceivable kind of show, spectacle, device, ride, and eating place.

More About California

Yesterday we went to see a large reservoir near Riverside, where the Metropolitan Water Co. of Los Angeles is building a great dam. The water will come from the Colorado river through a system of canals and tunnels is large enough for a car to be driven through. I think this is a part of the Boulder Dam project. We saw the canal under construction, in the desert between Yuma, Arizona and San Diego, Calif., that brings the water from the Diversion dam. This dam takes care of the water from the spillway of the Boulder Dam, where the power is furnished.

We also visited the Museum, Coleseum, and Exposition Park of Los Angeles. The largest crowds in the world are said to attend the Calif. football games. It is difficult to describe much in the Museum. There we found the work of the different sciences, Entomology, Taxidermy, Zoology, Natural and Ancient History, and etc. Fowl and animal looking natural in their native haunts. One of the greatest scenes was of a herd of buffaloes. The herd was just approaching a water hole, back of which was the broad plains, the dust, sky and long line of animals as they came. Then many different scenes of deer, antelope, bear, and of African animals, all in their respective, desirable haunts. A Marlin swordfish caught off the coast of Calif., in 1925 weighed 509 pounds; a 1910 Knight automobile, which used to belong to King Geo. V of England.

Also took a street car ride out from Los Angeles along the Sunset and Hollywood boulevard, to Hollywood and back. Came by the Angelus Temple, which made Amee Simple McPherson famous. It has the largest unsupported dome in the world and is reported to house the largest church body in the world.

Then out at Compton there is Angeles Abbey, America's largest Mausoleum, where there are 7500 crypts and about 8000 urns. You may have your choice of embalment and crypt and cremate and urn. More next time.

The Rest of The Record
BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

SAN LUIS POTOSI, MEXICO, August 7, 1937.—In Texas we boast of our southern hospitality; in Mexico, the people don't boast of it; they live it! From the moment when Mrs. Dominguez, wife of the Mexican vice-consul at Laredo, presented a beautiful bouquet to Mrs. Allred as we crossed the international boundary until now, I have never witnessed such courtesy, such hospitality as has been extended to us on every hand.

As I told you last week, the Mexican Government invited us to be their guests even furnishing transportation over the railroad. We have now passed through the capital cities of three Mexican states and at each one great crowds including the Governor, the Mayor, representatives of the military and the business men have met us at the station with a band, presented beautiful bouquets to Jo Betsy (my wife) and given us the very best of entertainment as long as we were with them. Of course, we realize this is an honor they are extending not to Jimmie Allred, but to the Governor of Texas; and that's why I'm prouder than ever before of the high honor the people have bestowed upon us.

We spent one day at Monterrey, capital of Nuevo Leon. It is quite modern and somewhat Americanized. We saw many Texas people there, most of them tourists, of course. We visited one of the most beautiful and modern hospitals I have seen anywhere, the gift of a fine old Mexican gentleman, a Mr. Muguercia. One of the finest glass factories in the world is located in Monterrey. It is almost unbelievable to see how they melt sand in furnaces, then drop it in red-hot pieces into various kinds of moulds where it is shaped as it cools into bottles, vases, pitchers, plates and glassware of every character. As I watched this preparation put through the burning fire, yet emerge fine-spun and clean and beautiful, it made me wonder if sometimes human beings aren't put through a torturing, searing fire—

Thursday night with Miss Marcile Burleson.

The Methodist meeting closed Sunday night, with thirteen additions.

The meeting of the church of Christ is in progress. Bro. Albert Smith is a very earnest, enthusiastic speaker, and Bro. Jno. Burkhart is a very capable leader. Come out and enjoy the meeting. Services at night is out doors.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Gatewood are visiting his parents here at present.

a great sorrow for instance— that they may emerge, tested and tried, a finer cleaner character.

American money is of course more than Mexican money. You exchange one dollar American money for $3.60 Mexican. I got $36.00 in Mexican bills and silver for a ten dollar bill. It made me feel quite "flush" to have so much money in my pocket. I owed Jo Betsy ten dollars when we left Texas so I paid her the same amount in Mexican and still had $26.00 left. Your money seems to go farther here, everything is considerably cheaper.

Our next stop was Saltillo, once the capital of Texas when we belonged to Mexico. It is a beautiful little city of 60,000 nestling a mile high in the mountains nice and cool in the daytime and almost chilly at night. I was surprised to find it quite an educational center. They have just started an experimental agricultural school there, trying to teach the sons of farmers to whom the Mexican Government has recently given lands the practical side of farming, stock raising and dairying. It is remarkable to see how these people, who were torn by revolution and war less than twenty years ago, have progressed; and how hard they are trying to better conditions for the underprivileged classes here.

We have met many wonderful people here, some of them educated in Texas. On every hand were evidences of culture and refinement—a wonderful art gallery, fine school buildings and music everywhere. The people are overly friendly. They are completely wedded to the "Good Neighbor" policy of President Roosevelt; they love him almost as much as we do and they adore their own President, Lazaro Cardenas. I felt like saying in Saltillo, "Thank God for a people with friendship in their hearts and music in their souls."

As you perhaps know a fine new highway has been completed all the way from Texas to Mexico City. It is wide open, a marvelous drive and perfectly safe. Since things are so much cheaper, I want to suggest to all of you who can that you make plans to spend a vacation down here some time in the future. You will enjoy it. My wife's mother and my oldest son, Jim Boy, are with us, and they, too, are having the time of their lives. Like every other boy of his age, Jim Boy is full of curiosity. He has been all over the train to find out how things work, turning off lights, turning on water, etc., but he is a little timid about scouting around these Mexican places much.

The Mexican Government sent consul Dominguez from Laredo with us, and the American Government ordered Bill Blocker, our consul at Monterrey to accompany us throughout our stay. They have insisted on us staying at the American Embassy in Mexico City, so we are looking forward to a grand time this week. I'll try to have something more interesting to tell you next week." A Dios!

Jim Burnett and family returned this week from El Centro, Calif., where they have been visiting their sons and brothers and families.

HURTFUL PUBLICITY

During the past week stories without foundation were circulated on the Monahans baseball team which were hurtful. Just before the merchants' booster game Friday night a tale was circulated in the business district that a certain individual had put a padlock on the lighting system at the baseball field because of the inability of the club officials to meet their financial obligations.

Often a story originates by some person making a joking remark about some person or issue and by the time it has made the rounds it becomes a regular monster of damaging publicity.

Why human beings will not be charitable and fair with their fellow man is a mystery, but a fact just the same. The more public spirited and helpful a man is, the "better the gossip" if something is started on him.

It is an easy matter to start an untruth but like fire in dry grass, it is hard to stop.

investigation of the matter is made. Just because a man is a public official need not mean that he is a crook, or the fact that a corporation has a hard time making ends meet, mean that they do not operate on an honest, straight-forward basis.

Are you among those who rush out to tell the sad story of the downfall of some firm or individual, without investigating the truth of your words or do you take time to be fair with your publicity with other people's reputations?—Monahans News.

PACIFIC FIR GOES TO NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK (Special).—"Good old Douglas fir" from the Pacific Northwest will provide the foundations for the most spectacular of wonders at the New York World's Fair of 1939.

This was learned when the Fair Corporation offices in the Empire State building announced the purchase of more than $100,000 worth of fir pilings from the National Pole Treating Company. This particular lot of fir sticks will be driven into the ash fill of the 1216 1/2-acre exposition site to guarantee the support of the two unique structures forming the Theme Centre of the "Nation's Fair."

These are the 290-foot Perisphere, a globe seemingly supported on the waters of fountains, and the Trylon, a 700-foot triangular needle or beacon and broadcast tower.

Shipments of the 1260 sticks, 95 to 99 feet in length, are taking place this month, after creosote treatment has been accorded them either at the National Pole and Treating Company's plant at Hill-yard, Washington, or at the Minneapolis yards.

This is the Fair's second purchase of fir from Northwest sources. An order for 770 sticks of similar length was filled early this year from Oregon cuttings.

The earlier shipment of pilings supports the Fair's $900,000 Administration Building already erected on the grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Howell of White Deer are visitors in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Howell.

NEW YORK FAIR 1939 IN CONSTRUCTION STAGE

NEW YORK (Special).—The $900,000 Administration Building of the New York Fair is under roof some 22 months in advance of the exposition's opening date and in August will be ready for occupancy by the hundreds of specialist workers who conduct the business of the "industry" and advance development of the $125,000,000 world event.

The Administration building, shown as progressing in actuality and by an artist's sketch, is the Fair Corporation's workshop and showroom. While the 1216 1/2-acre site of the exposition is today the scene of much and varied activity, with several exhibit pavilions going up this year, the majority of the 300 buildings necessary to housing the exposition are scheduled for construction in 1938.

QUIT MAKING PERVERTS

In a recent statement the Dallas County health officer said there are sick people in jail who ought to be in hospitals for treatment. He referred to the mentally ill and more particularly to those charged with sex crimes. Scarcely a day passes but that the newspaper headlines scream with stories of this revolting type of crime.

We have no quarrel with the Dallas County health officer nor with other sincere men who give much attention to this problem. We are convinced, however, that the problem is too deep to be solved by psychologists and psychiatrists. It is not a question to be settled either by prisons or hospitals nor by both together. This generation is developing this type of dangerous criminal faster than jails and hospitals can be built.

The country is amusement mad and this madness has been built up on a commercial basis. In social circles that think they are cultured the main standard of amusement is the night club standard. In the deluge of reading matter that finds its way into offices and homes the salacious is uncensored.

Beauty's Daughter

It wasn't his fault, but he didn't have quality, Vic. Magda explained it, generously. "He wasn't a gentleman; it simply wasn't his! Perhaps I was to blame for thinking that it ever was."

Victoria listened on, scrambling as she did so along the line of the sitting-room bookcases, taking out children's books, matching sets, stacking the volumes neatly.

Now and then she sat back on her heels, smiling at her mother. Magda busy with a nail file and a tiny pair of scissors, occasionally in her turn raised her eyes from her hands and looked seriously at Vic, while without anger or resentment she recounted the strange actions of Lucius Farmer.

As the days went by, and Vic found herself drawn more and more under her mother's influence, affected more and more by her mother's point of view, she found it increasingly difficult to maintain her own standing; the solid earth rocked a little sometimes beneath her feet.

Poor faded Mummy with nothing to show for all the flattered, romantic years, the presents and the checks, the beautiful lace and the beautiful gowns—Mummy couldn't be entirely right in her preposterous ideas and attitudes, but there were moments when Victoria felt uneasily that perhaps she wasn't entirely wrong, either.

Mummy, for one very important thing, thought that having more than one or two children was a mistake. It was a forgivable mistake. "For you have them so easily, Vic, and you do adore them so. But I tell you it's selfish. You'll lose him!"

Victoria felt that she could afford to laugh at this. According to Mummy every man between the ages of sixteen and eighty was interested in any reasonably pretty woman, anywhere, everywhere, at all times and seasons. No wife was safe!

But Magda was not to be laughed out of her position. She said thoughtfully: "Women must go crazy about him. He's stunning!"

"He's forty-three!" Vic laughed. "And he has a large family and the hardest surgery practice in the city."

"Forty-three. He's not at the dangerous age yet," Magda mused. "Is anyone specially crazy about him?"

amazed. "Vicky, look at them! They do."

"They all don't!" Vicky muttered. But she was thinking.

"Some men never would," Magda conceded. "But some men are after women—smart women and beautiful women—all the time!"

"The world's full of them now—women who have comfortable big alimonies or settlements, and who are on the loose hunting for someone like Quentin—someone to love!"

"There are lots of men handsomer than Quentin for them to go after," Victoria observed with a laugh.

"But it isn't looks that count, Vic. That hard-faced, deep-voiced, dark-headed square sort of man is—well, I tell you that if I were ten years younger I'd give that lad of yours a run for his money!"

For once Vicky was not amused; she was secretly affronted by her mother's words. Magda broke the silence.

"Marriage isn't what it used to be, Vic. In the old days if a man wanted to wander there were places he could go that his wife never heard about. Women suspected what was going on, but they were having their tea or a dozen children and feeding chickens and mending soap and putting up preserves, and they didn't have much to say. It's different now. The women they can buy are all of their own class, and they're not all after presents and trips and alimony. They want love—they've got money! They're after the love part! There's a sex war on, Vic—women don't want one experience, they want twenty, now!"

"Well, I hate the word 'sex,' and I hate so much talk about it, and I hate the idea that it's the most important thing in the world!" Vic presently said, with feeling.

"But it is the most important thing in the world," her mother assured her seriously.

Victoria shook her head, frowning. She fell into thought, and her mother, idling in her favorite fashion on a couch beside the fire, was silent, too.

Later that evening Victoria asked Quentin if he thought sex was so important.

"Sex?" he echoed in surprise. Vicky laid a hand on his.

"I don't mean in youth, when flirting is natural and right. But afterward—does it have to go all through life, men tempting women and women tempting men to throw everything else over, decency and home and honor and obligation?"

"Often," the doctor said slowly. "It is that way. They tell me about it," he added.

"How do you mean, 'it is that way'?"

"I mean that a man who really loves his wife and kids, who is perfectly satisfied with his home life—"

"Perfectly satisfied!" The tame phrase affronted her, and she laughed.

"Well, perhaps what I mean is that his new affair has nothing to do with his—his organized life. He meets some woman who appeals to him tremendously—irresistibly—"

"Physically!" Vic put in, scornfully, as he hesitated for a word.

"Oh, yes, primarily that. Primarily that. She has some trick of using her eyes—some note in her voice—something that sets him on fire just as definitely as if a fuse were lighted."

There was a pause. Victoria was studying his face attentively.

"Yes, but suppose all that," she presently said. "Grant all that! Is he then to tear up his whole life, kick his wife out, deprive his children of their father—"

"It's usually the wife who does that, Vicky."

"A man might expect his wife to forgive him," Vicky said, after thought. "But then how would she know that it mightn't happen again?"

"She wouldn't," Quentin said, mildly, unsmilingly.

"Ha!" Vicky exclaimed, out of deep thought. Quentin laughed.

"It would seem that it takes you by surprise," he observed.

"Well, it does. I've always felt—I've always hoped—that a man liked a woman for other things—her being sweet-tempered, and a good sport, and making him a comfortable home, and loving him—"

She stopped short, tears near her eyes. "He does, Vic. A man who has a wife like that is lucky, and he knows it. But that doesn't mean that—oh, well, that the look some woman gives him over her shoulder as she goes out of his office won't—won't stay with him for days."

"Oh, Quentin!" Victoria exclaimed in surprise and dismay. And irresistibly she added, "Does that happen to you?"

"Sometimes!" The doctor admitted, laughing.

"But—but there's no sense to it! Look what it leads to. Look at Mother, and so many others—the mess they make of it! In the end—in the end—"

"In the end it's the Vicky who show them what fools they were," Quentin said, teasingly.

"Quentin, have you—since we were married, I mean—ever had that feeling about any other woman?"

"I'd tell you if I had, would I?" "I think you would."

CHAPTER VIII

Serena, wife of Spencer Ashley George Morrison, was by birth part English and part Dane; she had been married to this, her third husband, for only a few years, and was in her early thirties when the Morisons came to California in search of sunshine and health. Not that Serena herself was not glorious in health and strength, and her child, Gita, seven years old, as strong as a little bullock, but her husband had been seriously injured in a hunting accident and would never be whole and well again.

There was a good income somewhere. The little family could afford to choose what place and what climate it preferred. Menlo Park—some eighteen to twenty miles down the peninsula from San Francisco—finally had seemed to be the ideal place, and they had bought the Tracy house, right next door to Dr. Quentin Hardisty's big place, in the week when Madeleine Hardisty was a year old.

THE GIRLS CAN HELP

"Two young men and a girl, aged 17 to 19, were killed instantly late last night returning from a dance, when their car crashed into a tree at a high rate of speed. The fourth member of the party is in a critical condition in a local hospital."

This news-item, differing only in minor details, has appeared a thousand times and in papers in every state of the Union. It reflects one of the most tragic phases of the automobile accident problem—the reckless drivers in their teens and early twenties. Out for a good time, they careen about the highways and byways—and at regular intervals death follows in their tracks. Immature minds regard it as an act of enviable bravado to "see what the old bus will do." In many cases the cars they drive should have been sent to the junk pile long ago—brakes are gone lights are bad, steering mechanisms are faulty and tires are down to the fabric ready for blow-outs.

The larger part of the blame for accidents that kill and maim young people must be put squarely on the shoulders of their parents. The fathers and mothers who permit their children to endanger their lives with reckless driving or are too lazy to find out the true state of affairs, are, to put it kindly, derelict in duty. Even worse are the parents who, when their children are arrested for dangerous driving practices, move heaven and earth to have them freed without punishment—thus, in effect, telling them to go out and do it again.

But youth itself, in the form of the young girls who go riding with their boy friends can be of the greatest assistance in reducing this toll by bestowing a bit of praise and showing admiration for the safe driver and simply refusing to ride with the reckless one—make safe driving the price of a date and watch said boy friend slow down.

Montgomery To Succeed Gilchrist

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 4.—Julian Montgomery, former state PWA director at Fort Worth today was appointed state highway engineer to succeed Gibb Gilchrist who will become dean of engineering at Texas A. & M. College Sept. 1.

The appointment was announced by the State Highway Commission. He will receive a $6,900 salary. Montgomery had not applied for the job.

"Montgomery came to the department at a sacrifice of salary," the announcement said.

Montgomery is a native Texan of wide experience. He has served as county engineer, division engineer and chief office engineer of the highway department in the past.

LUBBOCK HIGHEST BUTTER PRODUCER

LUBBOCK, Texas, Aug. 5.—Lubbock's three butter manufacturing plants produced nearly 20 per cent of the entire Texas production of creamery butter, according to an estimate of K. M. Renner, head of the department of dairy manufacturing of the Texas Technological College. Renner is one of the State committee in charge of cream marketing and manufacture.

Total production for Texas in 1936 was estimated at 32,000,000 pounds. Of this amount, more than 6,000,000 were churned here.

Northwest Texas plants produced over 12,000,000 pounds, or about 35 per cent of the State total.

Indications are this year's production will be considerably heavier than last year, Renner said. There are more cows in this section this year than last, as young heifers have come into production.

All creamery plants in the area are in operation and all report an increase in butterfat receipts.

SOME JAW TWISTERS

Here is an example of imperfect English, sometimes spoken but not often, thank goodness:

Me love has flew, he done me dirt, How were me to know him was a flirt;

To those in love let I forbid, Lest they be doed like I been did.

And here's an example of real jaw-breakers and hard to spell likewise:

1. Horrificabilitudininitibus.
2. Transubstationalists.
3. Inanthropomorphisability.
4. Disproportionablenesses.
5. Intercovertibilities.
6. Histomorphologically.
7. Interdifferentiation.
8. Supersensitivenesses.
9. Hypersensitivenesses.

And here is another one that is seen in print quite often, but no one seems to know the meaning or how to pronounce it:

etaoinshrdluemfwypvbgkqjxz.
And here's a tongue twister try it out by trying to repeat it rapidly:
