Burns-Ray Reached The Top in One Year

Just about a year ago two people were placed on the Paramount payroll for the first time. They were Bob Burns and Martha Raye.

Today, the hilarious funmakers have reached stardom in a picture of their own. It's "Mountain Music," the hillbilly comedy which opens on Tuesday at the Rialto Theatre.

Millions on the air know Bob Burns as the hill-billiest hillbilly of them all. So it was only natural that eventually Burns would be placed in his favorite locale of Arkansas and bring to life characters about whom he talks.

The picture itself is a satire in which mountain feuds are kidded. In the picture, Bob is a girl-shy chap who can't resist a desire to work. His father inveigles him into a position whereby Bob is scheduled to marry the daughter of another clan and thus settle a feud. The idea was great—but Bob leaves her standing at the figurative altar.

In the supporting cast are such notables as Jan Duggan, for five years the star of "The Drunkard," Fuzzy Knight, who scored such a hit in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," and Rufe Davis, hillbilly sensation from the night clubs.

John Howard and Terry Walker provide the subsidiary love interest to the "romance" of Burns and Miss Raye.

"Mountain Music" was especially written for the screen by MacKinlay Kantor, noted novelist and poet, whose "The Voice of Bugle Ann" proved one of the film sensations of the season a year ago. It was "pepped up" by John C. Moffitt, Duke Atterbery, Russel Crouse and Charles Lederer, and directed by Robert Florey. Burns himself took a large part in designing the mountain shacks to make sure they were authentic.

Hemphill Active in Oil Development

M. R. Hemphill, has for the last three years been active in oil development of this section, making Brownfield headquarters in the meantime. This not only includes leasing, but helping and promoting at least three tests, all of which have been completed.

These wells include the A. M. Brownfield, drilled by Illinois, and others; the A. L. Fore on the Poole ranch, which is now rigging with standard equipment at a depth of some 4800 feet, and the Bates & Phillips well on section 5, just over the Terry county line in Hockley.

Mr. Hemphill is doing much toward attracting other oil men and lease men to this section.

Lots of Mistakes in Last Week's Herald

No one short of the blind could help but note the many typographical errors, and "leftout" letters in the Herald last week. This is caused by running short of some characters in the letter channels.

In the next few weeks, we hope to install a brand new face of body type matrices, that will have full channels of all letters, and at the same time make the paper appear new and clear. That is the reason we have not gone to the expense of buying "sorts" for the old matrix font.

District Softball Tournament at Post City

The South Plains District Softball Tournament will be held in Post, Texas, next week beginning Monday the 23rd and run until the championship team is determined. The champions will be given $100 for expenses to the state meet at Overton, Texas.

A copy of the rules and regulations may be seen at the Herald office, should and Terry county team wish to enter. Entering teams must post $5.00, which cannot be later than tomorrow, Saturday 21st.

Chamber of Commerce For Cotton Oil Mill

By J. E. Shelton, Secretary

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce on August 9th, Messrs. Shaffer and Wise, who are here undertaking to establish a cotton seed oil mill, appeared and gave a very comprehensive explanation of their plan of financing it. At the conclusion of which the proposal was very heartily endorsed and it is hoped that business men and farmers who can afford to do so, will subscribe to the stock of the company.

We will not undertake to go into a full explanation of their plan of organization and financing, but will say that it is not promotional in any sense and further that it will be locally managed and stock control and voting power will also be in the hands of the citizens of Terry county, although about three fourths of the stock will be from outside capital.

Mr. Shaffer and his associate are at work on this and will be assisted by Mr. W. H. Dallas, who is well known and who would not lend his assistance nor influence to any project that was not sound in every way.

This is one of the projects that has had a favored place in the program of the chamber of commerce for the last several years, and is one of the most badly needed industries that has been offered to us and it is hoped that Messrs. Shaffer and Wise will not have too much difficulty securing our quota in subscriptions.

Wellman School Will Open September 6th

September 6th will be the opening date for the Wellman schools. Registration of students will begin on that date. There will be three school buses to transport some 256 students to and from school. There will be nine teachers, of whom are the following:

Mr. Pascal Goza, High School Principal; Miss Josie Oliver, History; Mrs. Velma McWhirter Home Economics; Mrs. J. B. Bell, Typing and Second Grade; Mr. Esie McWhirter, Principal of the Grade School; Mrs. J. L. Lyon, Fourth and Fifth Grades; Miss Almada Grigg, Third Grade; and Miss Velma McClish, First Grade.

The new building will begin just as soon as the PWA allocation is made. There will be seven classrooms, a study hall and auditorium-gymnasium combination.

The Wellman schools now have 17½ units of affiliation. There will be 2½ more units offered which will be 20 in all. This report was approved by the State Department of Education.

J. B. Bell, Superintendent.

Cool Showers in Evidence This Week

The stifling hot days of last week are all out this week, with fairly cool days, and nights that make one reach for some cover. Showers have been falling some, and as we get ready for press, this Thursday morning a good slow rain is falling.

Now, about all the farmer has to worry about is insects, and that is always a question. Mack Chambers reports lots of insecticidal millerococcus (that is about as near what a bugologist would call them as we can figure) in cotton. Just what kind of worm they are to be the mammy and pappy of, he couldn't conjecture.

Return With New Ambulance Friday

Roy Collier, local mortician, and R. W. (Rusty) Rambo, returned Friday from Cincinnati with a combination ambulance-hearse that is the equal of any built. The body is by Sears & Scoville, and motored by Buick.

We are not craving any rides in this wagon, either as a casualty, or otherwise, but if we did need such a ride well and good.

Carnival Company Buys Own Site Here

Being already one carnival in town, we understand that Texas Kid had a pretty tough time getting a site, so he just purchased a block of land on the south side of the draw. So from this on, when he wants to come to Brownfield, he will just light on his own property, according to our informant.

Here and Yonder About Brownfield

Bill Edwards was busy Monday getting his stock of groceries unpacked and straightened. Weldon Moore and I. A. Lowe were helping. Bill is to have a change made in the front of Brownfield Cash Grocery for better display space.

Tosh & Tosh were busy unpacking new groceries, and seemed to be busy. Come to find the Elder Tosh is a Tennessean, and likes to make trips back there occasionally, and let the other fellow do the work. Mighty like ye editor.

Murphy Bros. are receiving new crop apples fine for canning preserving or what have you. Store looks real keen with recent improvements in connecting it with the confectionery.

Chisholm Bros. are fast stocking their drug and sundry department, and seem to have a good fountain business. Chisholm Hardware is also constantly adding to their stock. In fact if you fail to call on a Brownfield business house for two or three weeks you may not know the place.

W. L. Bandy, for instance, had added two large vaults underground that we did not know existed. Knew he had some large cold storage vaults on the first floor of his original building, but the underground compartment with elevator shaft was a new one on us.

There was a time when and if a merchant ran out of bananas or a crate of apples or oranges—well, it was just too far to send the truck up to Lubbock. Now they just call Bandy Produce, and they are there in a jiffy.

Tilden C. Brown of Post was over this week and asked if we thought he could rent some houses here. Sure, we told him, before you can build them. Well, says he, we are going to build three five-rooms and bath rent houses on east Broadway, all just alike, and they start on the first one this week.

And speaking of houses, we have it on good authority that some parties from Hobbs, N. M., are to start on a string of eight nice rent houses here right away.

Work has started on building the addition to the city light and power plant. Tile laying was begun on it last week. This work will be hurried as well as the foundation for the big 550 HP engine that will be here soon.

All cafes and hotels seem to be busy, especially at meal times. Lots of strangers here most of the time.

We used to advise people to "come to Terry." They are coming to both Brownfield as well as Terry.

Ray Brownfield Likes West Point

Ray Brownfield Jr. was seen for about the first time this week since he returned home from West Point, N. Y., where he has been attending the famous old U. S. Army school, where our generals are made. Ray says it is a very likable place, as boys are there from every section of the Union.

He has finished two years, and has two more to go. He did some boxing, as well as track during these years, but modestly asserted that he did not cut much ice. After attending high school here, Ray attended New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell two years, finishing with high grades and honors.

Brownfield Schools Open September 2nd

The Brownfield school board has set September 2nd as the opening date of the Brownfield schools. This date of the Brownfield schools. This will be given over to registration and working out of a proper program. There will be almost 200 more pupils to enroll than presented themselves last year, if the law of average for the last three years holds good.

Dates for holidays and all other activities were also established by the school board in a recent meeting.

HARP SINGERS AT WELCH NEXT SUNDAY

We have been requested to announce that the South Plains Association of Sacred Harp singers will meet at Welch Sunday August 22, for an all day singing. All are requested to bring well filled baskets. The sessions will be held in the Welch Baptist church. A Judd of Lubbock is the chairman. Everybody invited. Welch is about 23 miles southeast of Brownfield on the Lamesa road.

Legalized wrong is not right.

Big Jim Neill Attracting Attention in N. Y.

While prowling over at one of the Carnivals (we have two in town) one night this week, we ran onto Judge Geo. W. Neill rubbering around, and he paused long enough to let us know that his son, "Big Jim" had arrived in Gotham, and was trying out with the New York Giant professionals. Jim seems to be attracting quite a lot of attention up there with that "educated toe" of his.

Long write ups in the leading metropolitan dailies, together with a big three column picture, box car headings etc. Wilbur F. Fauley, editorial staff of the New York Times, wired Judge that Jim was the sensation up there. Editor Fauley has made several trips to Brownfield, and owns a fine section of land in north Terry county. He is a constant reader of the Herald.

Jim Neill became a star on the local high school squad, and it was largely through his efforts that Brownfield won the district championship in football in 1932. Entering Tech college, he has showed up well, and in a game last fall against TCU, Fort Worth, Neill demonstrated the fact that he could outkick and pass equally as well as Slingshot Sammy Baugh.

Brownfield is proud of all its youngsters who are going out into the world doing something, and especially Big Jim.

Brownfield Schools To Add Nine Teachers

What will be of much interest to pupils and patrons of the Brownfield schools will be the fact that the teaching load and crowded conditions of class rooms will be relieved this year. The local schools are entering upon the Equalization program for 1937-38. Deputy State Superintendent G. D. Holbrook recently met with the local school board and recommended that the faculty be increased from thirty to thirty-five.

Only twenty-six teachers were used last year. The additional revenue will come largely from the Equalization Fund. All teachers except two have been selected. Mr. Holbrook lending his help in getting some special teachers for remedial reading, etc. At this time there is still an opening for a young man in one of the ward schools and an English teacher for high school. The latter will likely be placed at the head of the English Department and must have at least the M. A. degree with experience.

Brownfield Has Good Chance For PO Build'g

It appears that $70,000,000 additional has been added to the public building appropriations of the Federal government, which will perhaps guarantee at least one public building in each congressional district in the United States, as stated by Hon. Geo. Mahon some time ago.

Among places eligible in this congressional district were mentioned, Brownfield, Littlefield, Slaton, Snyder and Tahoka. It is a well known fact that Brownfield stands ahead in postal receipts of any other city in Mr. Mahon's district, not already having a post office building, and heretofore, these buildings have been handed out on that basis.

But, Brownfield cannot afford to let any grass grow under feet, thinking we have the building, which cost run around $75,000 for a city of this size. It is worth going after.

Oil Man Pays $220,000 For Terry Co. Ranch

According to Tuesday's Star-Telegram, J. S. Bridwell, of Wichita Falls, head of the Bridwell Oil & Gas Co., has purchased in fee simple the holdings of California Standard Life Insurance Co. to a block of 22,000 acres in northeast Terry. This $220,000 purchase is in what is known as the northern part of the Permian Basin. This was formerly known as the Green & Lumsden ranch.

Some two wells are now being drilled in this area, one just over in Hockley county, and one on the Poole ranch. While the Bridwell people have not given out anything about their intentions, it is believed that it is their intention to put down a number of tests in the near future.

Oil development in northwest Gaines and southwest Yoakum, is attracting much attention, and they are getting some good wells.

Miss Mildred Steadman of Trent was a visitor here Tuesday.

New Mgr. Phillips Wholesale Departm't

Lots of people go to a new location and don't even try to get along with his new neighbors—not even the editor—and he is usually the easiest guy in town to get along with, for everyone runs it over him, and sometimes abuses his confidence. And most people are just alike all over this terrestrial sphere, just human, trying to get on in the world and let friend neighbor do the same.

We have that idea about Ray Christopher, of Perryton, who recently came here to take charge of the Phillips Wholesale Co. We are just as confident as we can be that you are going to like Mr. Christopher, and we know that he and wife like Brownfield and its people because he said so. We found him to be a very likeable fellow, and we are not radically different from most people.

He came here expecting to do some business. Sell some gas oil and lubes, and we take it that he is not the kind of fellow that is just going to sit in his office chair and wait for orders to come in. He's going out after his share of business. He has some good products, and there is no reason on earth why he cannot sell them. He will.

New Football Equipment to Be Added

The Brownfield Cubs will be decked out this year in light grey and red combination football regalia. The pants will be grey with scarlet stripes down the side and scarlet belt loops. Jerseys will be grey of body and with scarlet sleeves. There will also be twelve carry-all bags of transportation of suits. Each player will also have heavy side-line water proof coats with hoods, all in scarlet. Truly the cubs will have plenty of color this year. Whether they deliver the goods on the playing field will depend upon them. New shoulder pads, new blocking pads etc., will give them the best equipment that a Brownfield team has ever had.

With the addition of Aubra Nooncaster, a three-letter man to the coaching staff, it looks as if the school is doing its part toward keeping up the reputation of the "fighting cubs." Nooncaster is one of the best students as well as athlete that Sul Ross college has produced in several years. And, boys he also weighs over two hundred pounds.

Alexander Buys Fine Jack Near Tulia, Tex.

G. W. (George Washington) Alexander of the south part of Terry, was displaying a real fine specimen of the jack family in our city Saturday. He and son had just returned from up near Tulia, where the purchase was made, and was carrying him on a trailer to his farm. Thus and thus, we can expect more and better mules in old Terry.

This jack was black, short haired fellow, and although in thin condition weighed around 1000 pounds, was 5 years old and a bit over 15 hands high. The jack is registered. The lower Union and Midway communities gain in the importation of this animal.

Some one asked Mr. Alex if he was going to try to supply the tractor men mules when their tractors wear out. "Heck no, I aim to raise mules to pay for a tractor myself. That is the easy way to farm," he responded.

Of two evils, choose neither.

Radical Changes in County Voting Boxes

County Judge R. A. Simms handed us a map this week showing the changes recently made in the voting precincts in the county. This following several other counties in Texas to make less boxes, some of which have but a dozen or so votes any time, and sometimes on special elections, do not even hold elections. Scores of needless voting boxes were created back in the horseback and horse-and-buggy days, and are not needed now with quick transportation in autos and passable roads.

So instead of 21 voting places in Terry, from and after the election next Monday, there will only be 11 voting places in the county, 10 having been consolidated with others. There is only one precinct that gives the idea of being very irregular, that being Brownfield No. 1. This one reaches from two miles west of town to the Lynn County line east, running solid to five miles south. There it is pinched into a three mile width between Wellman and Union precincts, and goes to the Gaines county line south the bottom four mile part of the "L" being 4 miles square.

Two of the oldest voting boxes in the county, north Gomez and Harris are no more. South Gomez and Northwest Brownfield and Johnson getting this box, while Poole and Tokio got the old Harris box. The number of many were also changed. The following is the name and number and place to vote of the new precincts:

- No. 1—Southeast Brownfield in the County Clerk's office.
- No. 2—Northeast Brownfield in the Collector's office.
- No. 2—Northwest Brownfield in County Attorney's office.
- No. 4—Southwest Brownfield in Commissioners' Court office.
- No. 5—Union, Union school house.
- No. 6—Meadow, Meadow school house.
- No. 7—Johnson, Johnson school house.
- No. 8—Tokio, Tokio school house.
- No. 9—Poole, Poole school house.
- No. 10—Wellman, Wellman school house.
- No. 11—Gomez in church of Christ building.

Boy! Have We Been Living HIGH Lately?

J. E. Lee, fine farmer out on route 4, dropped in last week and said he had never given us anything, and up to that time perhaps had never done so, but he left a great lot of as fine roasting ears as you ever tasted, with that famous old flavor that nothing short of Terry county sandy loam can give them—"good to the last grain." Our California visitors said they had a flavor that no irrigated corn has.

Mr. Lee had no more than left that M. C. (Mack) Chamber happened along with a tub or two of "speckled eyed" peas, and the madam had a hunk of good fat bacon to rally around with them in a pot for about an hour. And adding to the above, there are no peas with just the flavor of Terry peas.

So, with the help of these fine men, we have had our grocery bill cut down somewhat for August.

Rodeo Said to Be Best Ever Put On in B'field

Charley Copeland and associates certainly have did themselves proud with their rodeo this year. We have interviewed many; we have listened to others on the streets, and all were unanimous in their opinion that this has been by far the best rodeo ever staged here.

More than that, some have gone as far as to say that it was the equal of many professional rodeos that they have witnessed. Well, Charley certainly has worked hard to make it a good one, and deserves the praise of all.

School Furniture Undergoes Renovation

A pleasant surprise awaits the children of Junior High and Senior High schools this year. Every desk in each building has been completely overhauled. All cuts and marks have been removed and new stain and varnish have been applied. Hardware has been put in shape. Children will feel as if they are setting at new desks this year. It is the desire of school officials that once the furniture is put in good condition then the children will give full cooperation in keeping it that way.

From a Reader

Whiteface, Texas August 15, 1937

Dear Jack: Am glad you are publishing the writings of both Jimmie Allred and Mr. Ferguson, so people can read both and decide for themselves who writes the most sound and sensible letters. And if the readers of the paper can show me one ounce of sense in Mr. Allred's writing I will return the favor by showing them a white blackbird.

The old people who have been cheated out of their little pension checks should enjoy reading about Mr. Allred's vacation in Old Mexico, because they are paying the bills. We should keep in touch with him while down there, for he may do some great things for Texas.

It is possible he may crown a Mexican queen, or he could pick a bouquet of flowers, and bring them back to Texas, and put them in his office. I say keep in touch for you can never tell what a great man in a foreign country will do.

This may be copied by any newspaper that wishes to do so. A friend to old people who made Texas what it is today.

—James C. Casey

Taylor to Open Man's Store in Brownfield

The Herald had the pleasure this week of meeting Mr. Raymond Taylor of Wichita Falls, who will move here between now and Sept. 1, to open a Man's Store in the new Locker building being erected on the west side of the square. Mr. Taylor and wife are on the lookout for a small residence.

While a young man, Mr. Taylor has had several years experience as salesman in gents furnishings dept., of the Perkins-Kimberlake Co., one of the largest dry goods companies in west Texas, having many stores in Texas.

Mr. Taylor stated that he sure liked Brownfield, and believed that it really had a great future and was delighted to get in on the ground floor and help push the fine city along, as well as its matchless trade territory.

A. Flache Presented With a New Buggy

San Saba, Aug. 17.—Raymond Estep, manager of a hardware concern here, said today he had sold one of the last new buggies in the State, to a Brownfield stockman's son-in-law, John M. Hill, Jr., the purchaser, lives in San Antonio, and is connected with the biological survey of the Texas A. & M. College. He said the buggy was for Ame Flache, who has been farming and raising stock near Brownfield since 1918, and recently wore out his old buggy.

Flache, 78, was an early day cowboy, employed on the King ranch, and later worked on the J. H. Parramore ranches in Howard county.

Brewer Reports His Father Resting Better

M. E. Brewer, employee of Hudgens & Knight, was called to Temple Saturday, where his father, H. N. Brewer of Cleburne underwent an operation for removal of the eyeball in one eye, following infection. The operation took place before Mr. and Mrs. Brewer arrived from here.

The elder Brewer was an employee of the Santa Fe railroad, but was out on the farm at the time of the accident, a nail piercing his eye. He was resting very well Monday when Mr. and Mrs. Brewer left Temple and surgeons did not believe the other eye would be effected.

Cruce & Son Are Spreading Out Fast

The J. L. Cruce Auto Parts Co., already have a large building something like 50x100, but are this week erecting a large addition to the building, and we understand that it is their intention to finally extend the building to the corner of Main and Second, across the street from the Baptist church.

With their wholesale and retail auto parts business constantly growing, which includes both new and used parts, it takes more and more housing to keep abreast with a full stock.

Bill McGowan spent the first of the week visiting his grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Rutherford in Quanah.

Goshalmighty Sam! We thought taxes were high in this section, but according to the Cleburne Times-Review the city taxes alone of Cleburne are $2.15 on the $100 valuation. How in heck do they pay 'em?

The Semi-Weekly Farm News, which is perhaps read by more Farmers of the Southwest than all other farm journals combined, has adopted a new masthead, which gives it a real "farmy" as well as cozy heading. Around 400 Terry county farmers read the Farm News, most of which take it in combination with the Herald.

Editor W. J. Hale of the Yoakum County Review, Plains, warns all his contemporaries that he owns and controls exclusive rights to get into the squabbles of Old Yoakum. Mayboso, Bro. Hale, but the Herald was praising some, cussing some, discussing some, and in return being cussed and discussed by some Yoakumites since Heck was a pup. Therefore, despite your great threat of general combat, we shall keep praising where praising is due, and criticizing where it is needed both of our two friends in that county. Come up to see us sometime?

Editor E. I. Hill of the Lynn County News, Tahoka, professes that he does not understand why we criticized his narrow view on paving highway 84. If he will just turn back a few issues of his paper and read his own article wherein he stated that Lynn county people were more interested in getting the road built east of Tahoka than west, he would not have had to ask the question, or resented our criticism. Now, he has one of his preacher friends in after us. For the benefit of both Hill and the preacher, we will just state: We are for the paving of highway 84 west of Brownfield, east of Brownfield, in Texas, in New Mexico, or in any other state if it traverses more. We are for paving it top, bottom, both sides, and the middle, crosswise, and anti-gradin. That's our ticket.

CELEBRATES 32nd BIRTHDAY

With the production of this issue of the Herald we close the 32nd volume of the paper and enter into the 33rd year. So, the Herald has another birthday. However, the Herald has not always been the Herald. It was started at Gomez in February 1904 as the Terry County Voice, but with missed issues, its birthday now comes in August along close to that of the editor. After Brownfield got the county seat, in June, 1904, the paper was moved here and the name changed to Terry County Herald. The present management, if any took charge of the little five column, four page paper on June 1, 1909, and has tried to pilot the paper for 28 years.—Terry County Herald.

IF AND SO—

With six months yet to go before politics really should get all hot and in a big stew. Texas seems to have a pretty warm political battle underway right now.

Down in Mexico this week Governor Allred announced that he was for President Roosevelt for a third term. This might be interpreted that the Governor generally favors third terms, and will be willing to make the race himself for a third term.

Jim Ferguson has hit the trail and is making speeches over the state. Jim stands for more liberal old age pensions for a sales tax and for $22 or more school apportionment. He is making a strong bid for a very large block of voters—those over 65 years of age; those near 65 years of age; those who have always deplored the political cowardice of political leaders opposing the sales tax; and the school people who are following the State board of Education, a board which is dominated by Ferguson appointees.

Of course Governor Allred will make Fergusonism the issue, should both be in the race. Allred will defend his administration during which he is on record as being opposed to the more liberal old age assistance; opposed to the sales tax; opposed to the $22 school apportionment.

The two red-headed candidates, Bill McCraw and Col. Ernest Thompson will find themselves between the fire of these two bitter enemies and extreme opposite. McCraw has been making speeches for two years, all of them aiming at the race for Governor. Thompson is working quietly, building a strong organization which has the backing of the oil fraternity of the state.

Great things are going to happen in a political way in Texas during 1938.—Canyon News.

REFORMING VULGARITY

Snoopers went to the Pan-American Exposition at Dallas the other day and discovered that under the guise of art there were a lot of nude bodies being displayed at so much per look. So the law ordered them either to clothe or close. The yell went up, of course, about blueose reformers interfering with art.

If you will find one person who sincerely believes that the Texas yokels pay their good money to go into one of these "peep shows" in the belief that he is going to be culturally elevated by the sight of a group of bare-skinned dancers loping about a stage then The Banner will agree that the epidermis ought to be peeled of its clothes. But there is not a person that does not know that the commercialization is merely exploitation of lasciviousness such as the cheap "pulp" books which have to be shipped in by express capitalize upon.

You can't make art out of vulgarity and the "blueosers" will ever be right on that point.—Greenville Banner.

ther Stricklin, and the people of Terry County and especially Brownfield should be proud of the fact that they have in their midst such a man as the editor of the Herald, who is able to give so much time and talent to the local paper one of the best in West Texas. May the Herald and Editor Stricklin live long and prosper.—Abilene News.

HARD LUCK

An editor, a bachelor, traded for a printing plant that had been stored by its former owner, in a dugout, when he decided that the cow country was not ready for a newspaper. The new editor lived in the dugout with his plant and eked out a living by doing a little job printing and running an occasional legal notice in his four-page paper.

During the first winter a cowboy spending the winter in town, spent his summer wages too fast, ran short of funds and was invited by the editor to share his bed and board until the wagons went out in the spring. Shortly after he had moved in, a murder trial was moved to the town on a change of venue. The defendant was tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged—the first legal execution in West Texas. This latter fact attracted the attention of both state and out-of-state newspapers, who began calling on the editor for stories and last minute statements from the doomed man. The latter was not inclined to talk about his approaching demise with anyone, and refused to allow the editor to visit him. Wires continued to come in for stories that would mean money to the editor and prestige for his paper.

The night before the execution the cowboy, having listened all winter to the hard luck tales of the editor and being appreciative of his hospitality, volunteered the suggestion that if the editor would dig up the price of two or three drinks he would guarantee to get the interview.

The cowboy took the change and bought a few drinks, yelled a few times on a street corner and was arrested and thrown in jail by the town's Marshal. He returned to the dugout the next day about noon and handed the editor two one dollar bills and a couple of pieces of paper on which was scratched data on the doomed man.

What are the two dollar bills for?" asked the editor.

"Well, I'll tell you. I got thrown in jail with that poor boy and he spent the night telling me of all his hard luck—how he had been left an orphan, didn't have a soul on earth kin to him and nobody to write to. It took him all night to tell this and right after breakfast, I began telling him how much hard luck you were having getting subscribers and advertising for your paper. It took 'til nearly noon but I got him to subscribe for the paper two years in advance.—West Texas Today.

Terry County Herald: With the production of this issue of the Herald we close the thirty-second volume of the paper. So, the Herald has another birthday. However, the Herald has not always been the Herald. It was started at Gomez in February, 1904, as the Terry County Voice, but with missed issues, its birthday now comes in August along close to that of the editor. After Brownfield got the county seat, in June 1904, the paper was moved here and the name changed to Terry County Herald. The present management, if any, took charge of the little five-column, four-page paper on June 1, 1909, and has thus tried to pilot the paper for

The Rest of The Record

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

MEXICO, CITY, August 14, 1937.—By the time you read this, we will be back in Texas and, notwithstanding the wonderful privilege it has been to visit Mexico, happy to be back home. We are particularly anxious to see little David, our second son, and baby Sam Houston.

It is difficult for us to realize that it is so hot in Texas. Mexico City is 7500 feet high and the weather is ideal. They tell us it is this way the year round—little cooler in winter than in summer. It was a little chilly for us at first—believe it or not, we asked for a fire at lunch; now, however, we are accustomed to it and the weather is lovely. Occasionally when the mountain tops are clear of clouds, we can see two snow capped volcano peaks in the distance.

Although Ambassador Josephus Daniels is in Europe, he wired his assistants here to insist upon our staying at the American Embassy. So here we are—and we have never been privileged to stay at a lovelier place. Our own Government officials have been almost as marvelous to us as those of the Mexican government.

Last week I told you how hospitable these people had been to us in the early stages of our visit; this hospitality has increased in warmth at every stage. We have been entertained by seven governors in as many state capitols, and by officers in the President's cabinet here in Mexico. It clearly demonstrates that these people believe in the Good Neighbor policy inaugurated by President Roosevelt.

President Carnenas of Mexico is absent from the capitol. He is in the state of Yucatan, which is the most southern state, working on agrarian, or agricultural problems. He sent us a warm telegram of welcome, then commissioned the Governor of this Federal District to call on us officially as his representative. Mrs. Allred is visiting the President's wife today. Everywhere these people seem to realize that they have more in common with Texas than perhaps any other state; I think if we take the same position it can only result in more business and better relations for all of us.

It would be impossible in this short space to even refer to all the interesting places we have seen on this trip. I really believe we could spend a month right here in Mexico City and not see half of all we should see. The old churches or cathedrals, the palaces, the public buildings, the theatres, the gardens, the parks, the public markets—the people. It is the people who most interest me. They are picturesque with their music everywhere, their arts, their dress which has changed but little for centuries, yet all this maintained alongside a twentieth century civilization of modern highways, railroads, hotels, tourist camps and conveniences of every kind. We have driven over highways as well constructed and maintained as any in Texas, yet in fields adjoining they still plow with oxen; and peons trudge alongside the road plying whips over the backs of burros loaded with wool or cargoes larger than the beasts themselves.

The history of Mexico is as interesting as that of any nation. The struggles of the people for liberty and freedom have been just as brave, if not braver, than our own. It has been such a privilege to us journey over the very ground travelled by Cortez, the Spanish Conqueror, of years ago; to see the palaces and the churches he built. One of the most inspiring and stupendous things we have seen was driving over the mountains to Puebla looking out upon a valley where Cortez had built a church for everyday of the church year—260 of them, beautiful, massive things of stone with shining burnished domes; one built on top of a pyramid.

I shant tell you of the bull fight they staged for us. Am glad I saw

I OIL-PLATE YOUR ENGINE instead of just changing your oil

OIL-PLATING is a plain extra benefit that other oils do not even claim to give you! OIL-PLATING comes only from Conoco Germ Processed oil, which absolutely PLATES itself all over the insides of your engine, and stays there. I mean Oil-Plating can't get scraped off or pushed away while you're speeding along on sizzling hot days. And it won't go up in smoke, but lasts and lasts. Neither can Oil-Plating run down off the job while the engine's stopped... No ghost of a chance for Oil-Plating to be among the missing every time you start the car. So your Oil-Plated engine is the big exception, when engineers say that bum oiling at the start—summer, same as winter—makes more than half of all engine wear. They positively don't mean you, with your engine Oil-Plated by Conoco Germ Processed oil. The longer life of your Oil-Plated engine naturally takes a little while to prove... but right now, from the minute I put in Germ Processed, you can't mistake the coolness and quiet due to Oil-Plating, or the way your oil level stays up.

one—in fact I enjoyed it, but I can't say that I want to see one again. One of the nicest entertainments given us was yesterday at the Department of Communications. First, of course, a nice luncheon; then young ladies who worked in the department paraded before us dressed in the colorful native costumes of each of the 28 Mexican states. Then they entertained with music, songs and dances. It was better than a professional show since those who played the parts actually came from the states they represented.

We have met lots of people here from Texas. Hope more will be able to come in the future. We were particularly happy to find the Cowboy Band from Hardin-Simmons College at Abilene playing at one of the local theatres. They are also going to play at a reception given for us here at the Embassy tomorrow.

We will, of course, be back in time to vote at the election Monday, August 23. Six constitutional amendments are to be voted on: All of them are important, and I hope my friends will vote for them. I am particularly interested in seeing the one adopted which will authorize the legislature to provide for payment of county officers by either salaries or fees. The present salary system hasn't worked satisfactorily as the old fee system. It costs the taxpayers of the state as a whole 70 per cent more—and I'm interested in trying to save that money!

Brewing Industry's Payroll for Labor To Exceed 80 Million Dollars in 1937

HOW BREWING LABOR PAYROLL HAS GROWN

SOURCE: 1935 figures compiled by Bureau of Census; 1936 figures and 1937 estimate on basis of U. S. Dept. of Labor monthly reports.

THE brewing industry's 1937 payroll for labor will exceed $80,000,000 as a result of more employment and increases granted to union workers in new contracts negotiated with labor leaders. This is exclusive of the estimated $25,000,000 which will be paid to salaried employees and officers, bringing the aggregate yearly payroll past the $100,000,000 mark.

More than 23,000 union brewery workers, in 71 cities, will add an average of $166.40 to their individual pay envelopes this year as a result of new contracts. It has been calculated by labor officials. This increase, averaging $3.20 per man weekly, will aggregate $3,627,624 for the year for the men already affected by new contracts. The total increase for all brewery workers will be greater, however, as negotiations are pending in 105 other cities, according to labor leaders.

The new increase raises the weekly paycheck of the average brewery worker to over $35. The current high mark is more than double the wage paid in 1914, when consumption of beer hit its peak. The industry's payroll then included 62,970 wage earners, receiving an aggregate of $33,245,745 for the year, an average of $16.52 per week.

The estimates of current labor employment and wages have been compiled from figures supplied monthly by the U. S. Department of Labor, supplemented by actual and anticipated increases. The figures cover only the brewing industry proper and do not take in employment by distributors, retailers or others affected by revival of the brewing industry. Were a chart drawn showing labor's direct and indirect benefits from beer since it was relegalized April 7, 1933, the figures would run into hundreds of millions of dollars. It is asserted by statisticians who have made a study of the effects of relegalization. It would include increased payrolls from reopening of malt mills and cooperage plants; more men engaged by steel mills to meet demand created by plant construction, rehabilitation and material for steel barrels, steel hoops, machinery, etc.; more men added by farmers for harvest of hops and barley; men hired by glass and can manufacturers to turn out bottles and cans; more men hired by automotive industries for the trucks needed by the 700 breweries; also men hired by distributors and restaurant operators whose food sales mounted as beer consumption stimulated appetite.

In 1935 the brewing industry directly employed 39,169 wage earners, paying out $60,614,924 at a weekly average wage of $29.76, according to the biennial census of manufacturers.

By using the Department of Labor's figures on employment and wages paid by a representative number of brewers who have been reporting monthly, the United States Brewers' Association has compiled the unofficial figures of $69,765,300 as the labor payroll for 43,182 men during 1936 and estimated $78,306,090 for 46,682 men for 1937, new wage increases not included.

GROWING UP

DENTON, August 10.—The Lone Star State's wide open spaces are closing up. Although Texas still ranks low on the amount of population per square mile, it shows a greater per cent of increases since 1920 than all but five of the forty-eight states. According to the 1930 census the number of people had grown to 24.9 per cent of the 1920 tabulation, a figure topped only by the states of California, Arizona, Michigan, Florida, and New Jersey. The total population by this last census was 5,824, 715, which placed Texas as the fifth largest state in the United States.

Report on Terry-Yoakum Co. Crops

Information furnished by the directors, local representatives, inspectors and members of the Lubbock Production Association concerning the crop, range and livestock conditions in the district served by the Association, as of August 7, indicates a satisfactory situation in Crosby, Lubbock, Hockley, Garza, Lynn and Terry Counties. In this group of counties showers have come in most localities since our last report on July 19, helping the pastures and all crops. A few communities are deficient in top moisture, but the general crop prospect is rated as good. In this group even though dry weather should prevail for some weeks, fair to good yields of cotton and feed crops may be expected. The crops of Crosby, Garza and Lynn are the earliest, where early feed is now being harvested. Open cotton bolls are appearing in Garza, where an early cotton harvest will be necessary. Grass is curing in the pastures and livestock are making good gains. Grazing is ample for this summer and where not overstocked it will be sufficient for winter.

Yoakum County—August 7
During the past few days one-eighth inch of rain was received at Plains, slightly heavier on the east side of the county. Moisture is badly needed throughout Yoakum County. All feed crops are burning, cotton is still holding and fruiting satisfactorily. No insect damage reported. Early cotton will begin to open September 15. Early grain sorghum crops are only fair and the corn crop and grain sorghum crops will be very short unless rain comes in fifteen days. Should ample rains come at an early date, the county would make fair crops, but if dry weather conditions continue yields will be poor. Grass is plentiful now and cattle are making good gains, but rains will be needed by September 10 to insure grass to winter on. Cattle sales have been light. Some steer yearlings sold for $40.00 a small bunch of good quality heifer yearlings sold at $44.00. $75 has been offered for good cows and calves.

Terry County—August 7
Terry County had general rains of one-half to one inch over the entire county August 4. Cotton is doing well, fruiting satisfactorily, and will continue to grow three weeks without additional moisture. Old cotton had some flea damage which has seemed to let up, and the young cotton is fruiting better than the old. The first open bolls should appear about September 1. Early grain sorghums are maturing a good crop and late sorghums are in good condition. About one-third of the corn crop has been damaged by dry weather and the production on this will be light, but light rains will partially overcome the damage and materially help late corn. The general crop prospect over the county may be classed as good. Pastures drying up before the recent rains are now putting out new growth. Cattle are making good gains trading has been slow.

Minutes of County Finances—Treasurer's Report

IN THE MATTER OF COUNTY FINANCES IN THE HANDS OF Mrs. C. R. Rambo, Treasurer of Terry County, Texas.
COMMISSIONERS' COURT Terry County Texas, In Regular Quarterly Session, August Term, 1937.
WE, THE UNDERSIGNED, As County Commissioners' within and for said Terry County, and the Hon. R. A. Simms, County Judge of said Terry County constituting the entire Commissioners' Court of said County, and each one of us, do hereby certify that on this, the 11th day of August A. D. 1937 at a regular August term of our said Court, we have compared and examined the report of Mrs. C. R. Rambo, Treasurer of Terry County, Texas, for the period beginning on the 1st day of May A. D. 1937 and ending on the 31st day of July A. D. 1937, and finding the same correct have caused an order to be entered upon the Minutes of County Finances of the Commissioners' Court of Terry County, stating the approval of said Treasurer's Report by our said Court, which said order recites separately the amount received and paid out of each fund by said County Treasurer since the last report to this Court, and for and during the time covered by the present report, and the balance of each fund remaining in said Treasurer's hands on the said 31st day of July A. D. 1937 and have ordered the proper credits to be made in the accounts of the said County Treasurer, in accordance with said order as required by Law and provided for in the Revised Statutes of the State of Texas.

And we, each and every of us, further certify that we have actually and fully inspected all the actual assets and cash balances in hands of the said Treasurer belonging to Terry County at the close of the examination of said Treasurer's Report on this the 11th day of August, A. D. 1937, and find the same to be as follows, to-wit:

HUDSON-TERRAPLANE PRICES ADVANCE MONDAY

Prices of Hudsons and Terraplans will be increased on August 23rd according to an announcement made today by William R. Tracy, Vice President in charge of Sales of the Hudson Motor Car Company. The increase, Mr. Tracy stated, will range from $35 above the present list price on the Terraplans up to $45 on the Hudson car.

Practically every product entering into the manufacture of our cars, including wages, has risen substantially in price. Naturally this affects the price of our own product. Present prices are effective up to midnight August 22nd.

G. W. Hicks was in this week showing some corn that is already matured and will soon be hard and dry enough to "go to mill" with. This corn was planted in April, and is large, well filled ears. Mr. Hicks says to come out and learn how to raise good corn.

Ed Purcell and wife of southwest Texas, are here visiting their daughter, Mrs. Henry Chisholm.

Mrs. Julia Briscoe is now employed at the Sandra Sue Beauty Shop, as legislator. Little said, He went on to show that old age assistance could not be constructed as a pension because aid is limited to the needy only and is paid them in the amount of their need. The criteria of eligibility, he explained, is "can this old person get along without state assistance?" At present we are acting under the orders of the Texas legislature by going back over the rolls to see if there is anyone now receiving assistance who could live decently without the monthly aid. Some people think that our rules of eligibility are arbitrary ones. But the requirements that Texas and federal money be spent only to assist those in real need, these requirements are part of the laws of this state" Little declared.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Kendrick and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Kendrick attended a Kendrick family reunion and two day picnic at Two Draw Lake, Saturday and Sunday. This is a yearly event. Next year they plan the reunion at Ruidosa.

COTTON AND OIL COUNTRY

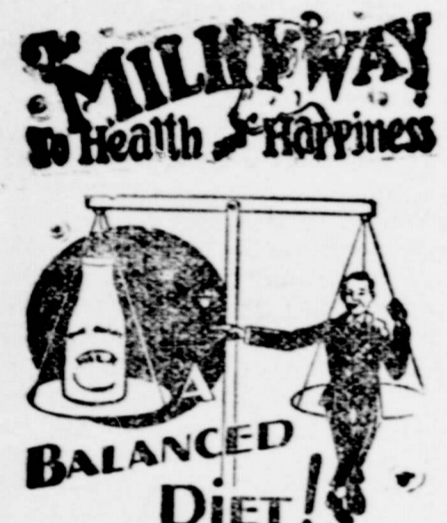

Almost half the total population of Texas earns a part of its living from cotton. It is grown in 223 of Texas' 254 counties. Another one-sixth of the population is employed directly or indirectly by the petroleum industry. This means that a little more than one-third of the people are left for other occupations.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McDuffie were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hardwick in Lubbock, Monday afternoon.

Millions Distributed To Texas Old People

More than $20,000,000 has been distributed to Texas needy aged in the last 14 months. W. A. Little, acting director of the old age assistance commission, said this week as he explained that the real purpose of the program was to help those aged who could not help themselves.

"The purpose of old age assistance under both the Texas statute and the federal social security act is to furnish sustenance to those aged who, without state-federal aid, would be in necessitous circumstances," he pointed out.

"The old age assistance commission is not a policy-forming, rule-making agency. Our sole duty is to administer the law as passed by the Tex-ation, Detroit, when word was received that the State Board of Education would meet July 6 for the purpose of making the per capita appropriation. They left immediately for Texas.

The meeting of the State Board of Education was attended by a goodly number of school men, both county and city superintendents. Many of them were there on other business, but undoubtedly many came because the apportionment was to be considered. The meeting was advertised in the newspapers, and the officials of the State Teachers Association were invited to be present. There was no effort to get a big crowd or to exert any under pressure.

They went to the meeting of the State Board of Education without any definite apportionment in mind, though Mr. Stilwell, of Texarkana, had made a careful study of the possible resources of the available school fund. But when the Comptroller's report was made to the Board of Education, it was seen that $22.00 per capita was feasible and practicable, assuming, of course, that the twenty cents ad valorem tax would be maintained. And so the President of the State Teachers Association, in presentation of not more than ten minutes, urged that $22.00 per capita be apportioned for the support of the public schools for the school year of 1937-38. Perhaps not more than fifteen minutes were consumed in presenting the case to the State Board of Education. At this juncture, however, one of the members of the Board of Education asked superintendents who were there to discuss their needs for the money. This discussion continued until the adjournment for lunch. The result of it was that the State Board of Education by a vote of six to two, set the apportionment at $22.00. It was assumed that this settled the whole matter, but it was learned that the Automatic Tax Board did not think that the twenty cents ad valorem tax should be continued.

The Automatic Tax Board met July 20. The President of the State

Teachers Association and an attorney were allowed to appear before the Board. We were cordially received, and the discussion concerning the matter was full and complete. There were no personal ill feelings about it. The Automatic Tax Board, by a vote of two to one, disagreed with our contention. They fixed the tax rate at seven cents, just enough to furnish textbooks for the public schools of the state.

And so there has come to be a really serious problem: the State Teachers Association taking the position that the State Board of Education had the authority, and it was indeed its duty under the law to consider the constitutional ad valorem tax in fixing the annual apportionment; the Automatic Tax Board taking the position that they should meet prior to the meeting of the Board of Education and fix the tax rate before the Board of Education could intelligently make its annual apportionment. This is the only real issue involved in the apportionment matter.

In the meantime certain members of the State Board of Education thought it was wise to meet and reduce the apportionment to $20.00 or $21.00. The State Teachers Association and boards of trustees generally over the state did not agree with this contention. We had assumed that the action of the State Board of Education was final. Several efforts were made but for lack of quorum no meeting of the State Board of Education was held until Monday August 2. Early in that day members of the State Board of Education were served with a restraining order, granted on the petition of the San Antonio School Board, prohibiting any change in the apportionment until the matter could be properly adjudicated.

And so the matter stands now. The State Teachers Association is not a party to any court proceedings that may result. Of course, the State Teachers Association wishes to maintain the $22.00 apportionment, but it would be improper to undertake to discuss in the newspapers or magazines the legal phases of it. It is now in the hands of the proper authorities and will be determined, undoubtedly, according to law.

The confusion has resulted because of different interpretations of the law. The State Teachers Association assumed that the State Board of Education had the authority to consider the constitutional ad valorem tax in determining how much should be apportioned for the support of the public schools. We have never dogmatically asserted that we were right about this, but have insisted all the time that the highest legal office of the state interpret the law and that all parties to the controversy comply with the law. The State Teachers Association makes no apology for urging liberal support for the public schools, not simply because teachers will profit, but because advancing civilization and its resulting complexities make it necessary to improve constantly the educational program. And so we confidently assert that the intelligence of the citizenship of Texas, and, therefore, the prosperity of this great state, is involved in the present controversy. Fundamentally, the schools belong to the people, and perhaps the people will have to determine, through regular constituted agencies just what sort of an educational program shall obtain in Texas.

Thompson Says No New Taxes Necessary

Candidate for Governor Ernest O. Thompson—who is presently a member of the Texas Railroad Commission—thinks no new taxes are necessary.

Differing with others, Col. Thompson declined to recommend any type of new taxes—sales or natural resources.

"Let the general prosperity increase, and economy in government, take care of the deficit," said he.

What Texas needs, thinks Thompson the Candidate, is for all chambers of commerce to get together and follow up the work which was begun when the Texas Centennial was held, advertising Texas and encouraging new industries to come in.

As an example of what can be done he cited the increase in the market demand for Texas oil—300,000 barrels since the first of this year.

"So that is how we will get funds to pay off the deficit," said he. "On each of those 300,000 barrels per day the state collected 2 1/2 cents, and that amounted to plenty of money over the period from January 1.

"Now if we have more prosperity, the owners of delinquent taxes will have the money to pay them. Perhaps we should have some sort of legislation to encourage the payments of delinquent taxes. There alone would be enough to pay off the deficit."

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Limer of Long Beach, Calif., who are visiting Mrs. Limer's sister, Mrs. A. J. Stricklin, Sr., visited friends in Amarillo, last Thursday and Friday.

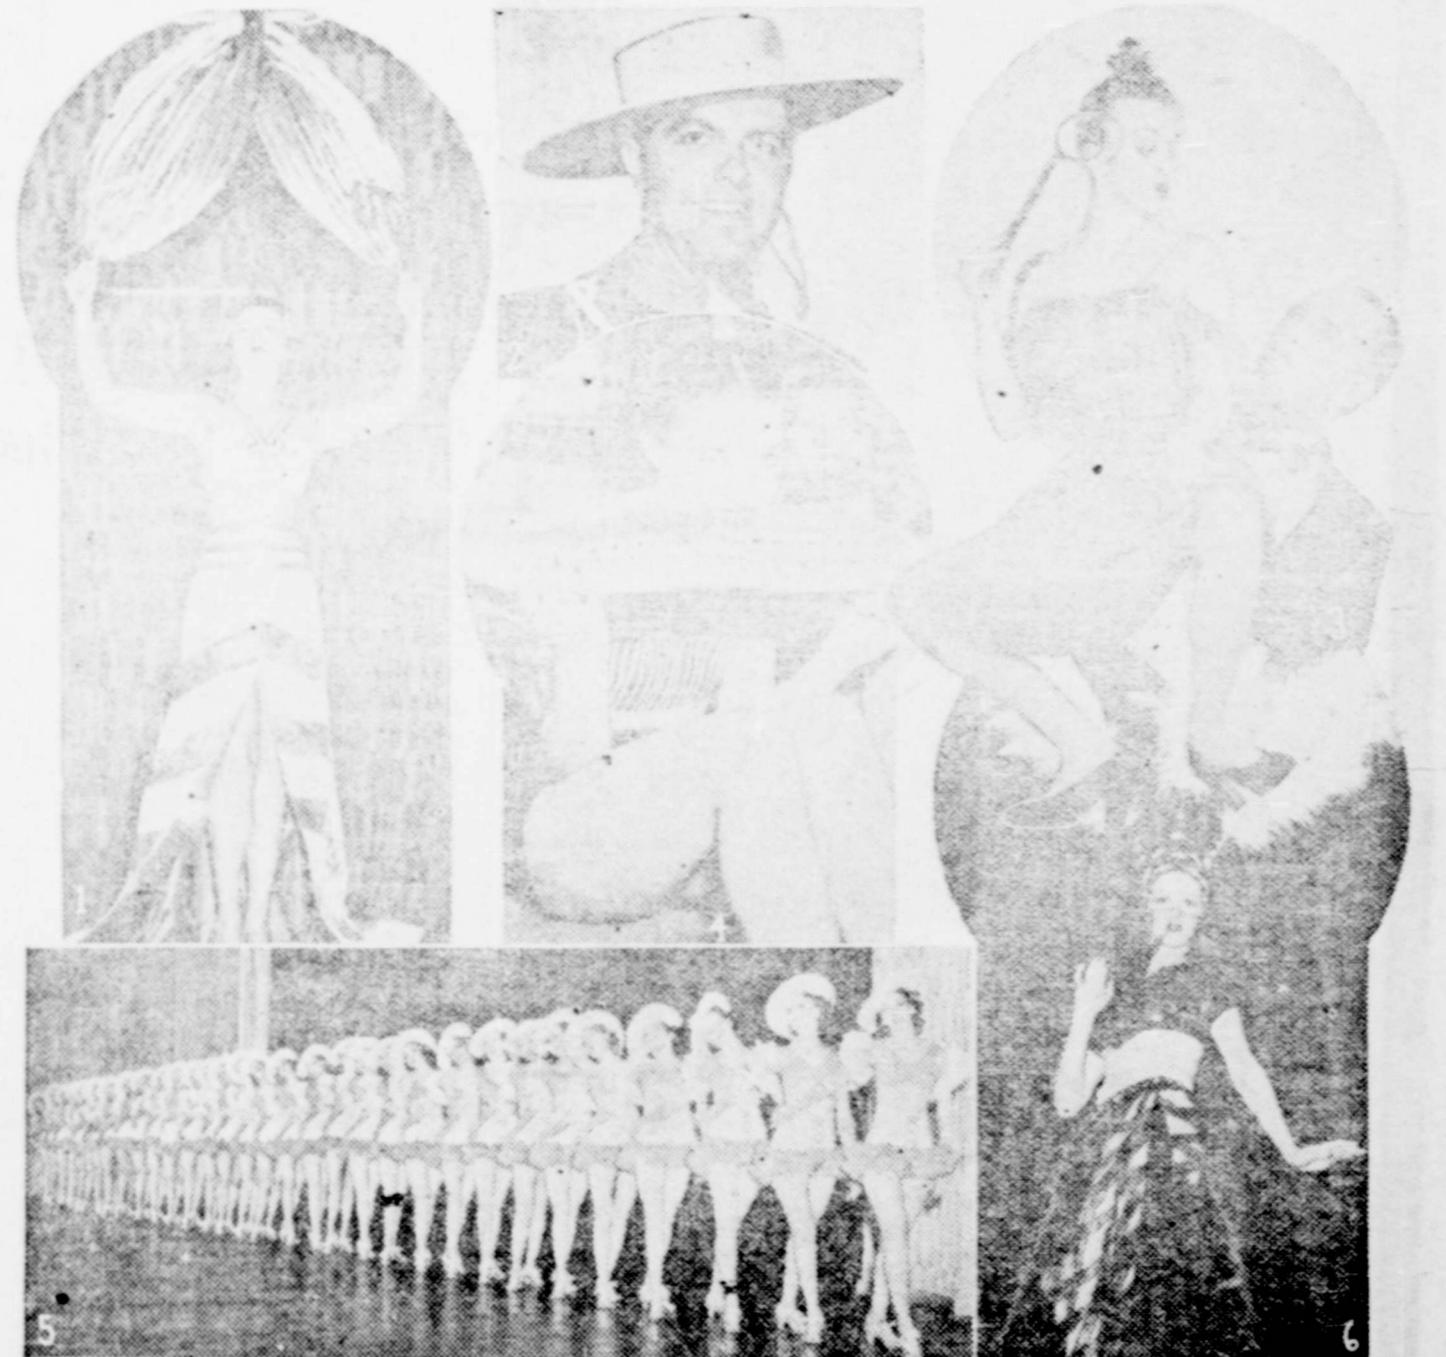

"A state as big and as prosperous as Texas, with as many varied industries don't have to worry about a deficit of $10,000,000 or $17,000,000.

"We don't need any new taxes, sales, natural resources, or otherwise. With the return of prosperous condition, and with economy in government, the entire deficit can be wiped out," he asserted.—State Observer.

Member Court Civil Appeals Here Recently

JUDGE A. J. FOLLEY Judge A. J. Folley, Associate Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo, was a visitor in this city last week. Although a new member of that court Judge Folley has many friends in this county. He was appointed Associate Justice of that court in May of this year upon the death of Chief Justice R. W. Hall at which time Judge M. J. R. Jackson was elevated to the office of Chief Justice. Judge Folley was reared on a farm in Limestone County, Texas, later moving to Mart in McLennan County, where he was graduated from high school in 1915. He then entered Baylor University at Waco from which institution he received both the A. B. and LL. B. degrees. He was a soldier during the World War and has been a member of the American Legion for more than fifteen years. When the 110th Judicial District was created in February 1929, composed of Briscoe, Dickens, Floyd and Motley Counties Judge Folley, who was then practicing law at Floydada, was appointed as its first district attorney by Governor Dan Moody. Serving as district attorney for six years he was elected district judge of the same district in 1934. During his tenure of office as district attorney and district judge he resided at Floydada in Floyd County. When the vacancy occurred on the Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo, in May of this year, Judge Folley, through the efforts of his friends and without application on his part, was appointed Associate Justice of that court by Governor James V. Allred. With his legal training and experience his friends predict for him many years of judicial service for the State.

Contrasts the Old and the New

Broadwayites are nearly all automobile fans and anything out of the ordinary along the "Row" interests them greatly. Recently one of the first Hudsons built, a 1909 model, was placed on exhibition beside the 1937 cars, on the floor of Hudson's big Broadway salesroom. Theatrical folk from all along the famous Avenue tried the contrast of sitting in the seat of what was one of the snappiest cars of its day and the latest model with its finger tip gearshift. Miss Gracie Barrie, featured singer of the Broadway production of "Show is On", is shown here at the wheel of both cars, the old and the new. She was most intrigued by the difference in equipment and the methods of control. The 1909 car had no windshield or top. Its kerosene lamps copied the horse and buggy style and it is a far cry from the external gearshift lever to the new selective automatic shift which is controlled by the flick of a finger.

Beauty's Daughter

By Kathleen Norris

The Hardistys' old-fashioned place was spacious, plain, comfortable. But the Morrisons' residence was quite new, and lovely in plastered Spanish patios, tiled oddments of sloping roof, oaks, peppers, roses, flagged paths. Little Gita Stewart, Serena's daughter, lonely and curious and bold, had lost no time in creeping through the evergreen hedge that separated the two gardens, crossing the Hardistys' old tennis court and, skirting the berry patch, threading her way under the oaks and over the lawn, and finally discovering what she later had described to her nurse as the most fascinating family she had ever met: a mother who was fixing the puppy's hurt head with rags and water and medicines, and boys named Kenty and Dicky and Bobs, and girls named Gwen and Sue, and a baby that could walk.

The adult members of the family did not meet so simply. It was at a country-club lunch that Victoria first noticed the straw-haired woman and identified her as the beauty Quentin had noticed more than a year earlier. Everyone was noticing Serena that day and asking about her; it was her first social appearance since the long-ago night at the opera, although she had been in her new house for almost a month.

Quentin and some of the other men had been playing golf since breakfast time; Victoria had come later to the club to carry her husband home for lunch. With Gwen and her two older children she was watching the tennis when she saw Mrs. Morrison for the first time; presently Phyllis Tichnor came up with the newcomer in tow.

"Vic, you know Mrs. Morrison?" "I don't," Vic said, smiling. "I'm so glad to I remember seeing Mrs. Morrison at the opera last year, and I think our children know each other?"

"Our children?" echoed the beautiful Mrs. Morrison, raising the delicate dark line of her eyebrows. "Isn't your small girl Gita Stewart?"

"You ought to know each other," said Phyllis. "You live right near. Is there a place between you and the Tracy house or aren't you right next door?"

"Oh, of course we are," Serena said slowly, with no change of expression beyond a hint of languid curiosity. "It's your children Gita talks to Amah about?"

"I am not a very formal person. You can't be, when you have six children," Vicky explained, when they were comfortably seated, watching the tennis. "But I do mean to come and see you one of these days!"

"You have six children?" The beautiful voice could not be said to have even a trace of Norse accent, and yet there was a charming little halt in Serena's words now and then, a slight clinging and lingering that marked her as not all English-born.

"She always tells everyone that instantly," Phyllis said. "I have. And they make it hard for me ever to get away."

"But do come and see me. Except for Phyllis here," Serena said, completely expressionless in voice and face, "I am quite strange in California."

"We were in school in Paris together, Serena and I, but I didn't know they were here until last week!" Phyllis explained.

"If you know Phyllis you know everybody; she's the special minister between Europe and America," Victoria said. "We were in the 'Assomption' in Rome together, too, but we had known each other before that."

"You were at the 'Assomption'?"

How I hated it!" Serena said, in her calm, emotionless way. "Gallo coming to take us driving on Sundays," Phyllis put in, and the three laughed together. Then Phyllis went away, and Victoria could study at her ease the extraordinary beauty of the flower-like face in the clear shadow of the parasol. Exquisite womanhood; those were the two words that Serena suggested.

There was a silence filled with faint distant sounds and the click of balls. The club gardens blazed with flowers; there were stretches of green lawn beneath the trees; the sun shone warmly.

"There, who's that?" Serena suddenly asked, with the first sign of animation in voice and manner that Vicky had seen her.

"Which one?" "The brown man—the square one, in white. With that other man."

"That's my husband—Dr. Hardisty," Vicky said, pleased at her interest.

"Run get him, Gwen—yes, go along, Susan, you can go!" "Your husband?" Serena asked, not moving her eyes from the distant figures of the men.

"Yes,—Well, trot along with them, Kenty," Vicky said bracingly. "Don't cry because they're ahead of you. Quiet," she added welcomingly, as he came up with the children hanging on his hands, "we're all ready to go—we'll be just in time!"

Quentin and Mrs. Morrison were looking at each other, smiling. "You'll have to introduce me, Vicky."

"Oh, I do beg your pardon! I always think that everyone knows everyone else. Mrs. Morrison, my husband, Dr. Hardisty, Quentin, do you remember who this is?"

"I do," Quentin said, smiling down at Serena, his white teeth and white clothes in almost startling contrast to the Indian brown of his face and skin. Serena looked up from the lavender shadows of the white parasol that was slowly turning behind her golden braided head.

"You were on your way to China?" "It was before my husband's accident—yes, we had a wonderful trip!" the woman said, smiling lazily with sea-blue eyes, raising heavy dark gold lashes.

"And they're neighbors," Vicky told him. "They are the people in the Tracy place!" "Next door?" Quentin's face broke again into his own pleasant smile.

"You remember Gita, Quentin, who plays with the children? Mrs. Morrison is Gita's mother."

"Oh, I thought the name was Stewart?"

"Gita's father is dead," Serena explained. She continued to look up at Quentin, and Quentin to look down at her. "You've all been chosen angels to the child," she said. "She's been horribly lonely all her life, alone with her amah. I brought her amah with her, from China."

Vicky was baffled by the other woman's sleepy manner, by the vague words that seemed to have some meaning beyond their obvious meaning, for Quentin at least, for his face was absolutely radiant as he continued to hold Serena's hand and to look down at her.

"She's had you, hasn't she?" Vicky said sensibly. And she touched Quentin's arm with that wifely signal that says, "The children are ravenous. Let's get home and have lunch!"

Serena was paying no attention to Vicky; she looked only at Quentin. "I can't be much with my little girl. You see my husband's an invalid," she said, in a child's flat tone.

"Ah, that's too bad!" "They said he was slated for a brilliant career. But he was thrown from a horse, and dragged, about four months ago. It's his back, and he lost his eye."

There was something extraordinarily incongruous between her unruffled flawless beauty and the terrible thing she said; the white hand, the white skin, the gold hair and innocent blue eyes under the parasol were apparently unaffected.

"Tough luck!" Quentin said. Victoria pressed his arm again.

"Will you come and see him, Dr. Hardisty?" "I'd like to."

"I wish you would!" Mrs. Morrison said. "We're always there in the late afternoons." The frills of her parasol tumbled slowly as she twirled it.

"Daddy, I'm hun-n-gry!" Kenty shouted. Quentin accompanied his family to the waiting car, after a cordial good-by from them all to the new neighbor. Mildly, as he took his place in the driver's seat, the doctor observed to his wife that he wished that the children would not be rude.

"He's terribly hungry, Daddy, and we're late."

"I know," Quentin said. "I know. But she was telling us of her husband; I don't imagine she often gets to talking of her troubles."

Victoria glanced at his profile in surprise, ready to laugh. But he was quite serious.

"But did you ever know anyone to talk of dreadful—or ghastly things, so calmly? That poor husband of hers—imagine being cut off in the very beginning of your career, blinded."

Quentin, turning into their own, made no comment, and Kenty said animatedly:

"Why din' Gita go to the club, Mummy?" "She stays with her amah!" Susan supplied.

"You speak of the man's misfortune," Quentin began unexpectedly, at lunch. "I was thinking of hers."

Victoria raised interrogative eyebrows. She had been cutting chicken into tiny pieces on Susan's plate, murmuring to the waitress, murmuring to her mother.

"I was thinking," Quentin expanded it, "that it must be a pretty dull life for her, planted down here in a country house with an invalid and a child!"

"They have our rabbits, too, Dad," Susan contributed animatedly. "They have the two rabbits we gave Gita."

Quentin looked at her absently, moved his gaze to Victoria.

"Any chance of your going down to Del Monte with me this afternoon?" "Oh, darling, not on Sunday! Mollie off, and Nurse with all of them to handle, and the Carters coming to supper! They're bringing all the children—I thought that since you wouldn't be here it would be a grand chance for a children's supper."

mea. Mr. and Mrs. John Claude Criswell and children and Mr. and Mrs. Chick Lee all of Brownfield spent Sunday with their mother, Mrs. Bettie Criswell.

John Anderson and children visited Jewel Anderson who is in Big Spring, under treatment, Thursday and Friday.

The Baptist meeting is in progress this week. We are having some real sermons preached. Rev. McGraw, driving out of Germany because he is of Jewish parentage, has come to this country to write of the life of President Roosevelt. His first investigation leads him to state that the president is the worst hated yet best loved man in America. His enemies are among the rich, whom Roosevelt is trying to throttle and force to pay their just part of running the government; his friends and admirers are those who realize that he is the greatest friend the poor man ever had in the White House, and that he is trying to help those who have been unable to help themselves.

Don't get mad when your enemies are praised.

This diversity of resources has brought newly-recognized problems to farmers, and according to W. T. Carter in a Tex. Soils Bulletin "The Success of agriculture in Texas depends upon the appropriate use of the soils, which constitute the most valuable resource of the state."

THE METHODIST CHURCH

All regular services will be held Sunday. The Church School will begin at 9:45 with a good and inspirational song service and program, which will be followed by the lesson hour. A class for everybody, well informed and interesting teachers, and good fellowship is there for you.

The pastor will preach at the 11 o'clock hour. The subject for the morning hour is, "Little Sunshine Has A Sunset." The person told of in Judges whose name means "Little Sunshine" is one of the most human and understandable in the Scriptures. Bring your friends to the church Sunday morning for the preaching of the gospel. The subject for the evening hour will be, "A Successful Failure." The evening services are always spiritual and interesting. Young people meet at the usual hours with good services.

Robert Johnson, 8-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Johnson, is seriously ill at the Lubbock Sanitarium with what is thought to be a bone infection.

LAFF-A-Lot CLUB

Mrs. Vance Glover was hostess to the Laff a Lot Club Thursday of last week at the home of Mrs. Earl Anthony.

Mrs. Anthony received a novelty ash tray for high score. A salad course was served to Mesdames Spencer Kendrick, Ike Bailey, Graham Smith, Frank Ballard, Howard Swan and Frank McGrail.

Sept. 28-29 Brownfield School Day at Fair

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 17.—Group movement of school children their teachers, parents and friends from Brownfield has been set for Sept. 28 and 29 at the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition. The connecting railroad has offered a group rate for this event. Total cost of the round trip is a cent a mile for the round trip.

When the group reaches the Exposition it will have the facilities of a service office near the main entrance gate. There orders for group admission tickets at 25 cents each will be issued, special amusement concessions provided and information as to lodging furnished, all without charge. The Exposition, at this office, also will maintain a baggage checking service.

Governor James V. Allred has officially proclaimed these dates as school holidays. Full credits will be allowed the children who attend the Exposition.

Much that it new and educational is offered this year. Included is the Cavalcade of the Americas, greatly enlarged, presenting the romantic history of all the Americas without charge. The Pan American Casino, largest indoor stage in the world, will offer entertaining programs. In the $1,200,000 Texas Hall of State in addition to the romance of Texas, is presented an exhibit from Tulane University of Mid-American history. The Federal building has added numerous new features as has the Hall of Texas History, all these being free attractions. The football season will be in full blast. Students may spend two days at a very nominal expense and witness the only international Exposition of the year.

4-H MEMBERSHIP GROWS

One of the most hopeful signs for the future of agriculture, the Michigan Farmer points out, is that enrollment in 4-H clubs passed the million mark for the first time, in 1936. Membership continues to increase.

The young men and women who join the 4-H will be the producers of tomorrow. In their club work, they are instructed in new methods and techniques that make it possible for the farmer to raise larger crops and earn a greater return. They are given an opportunity to develop qualities of leadership that will prove invaluable to them in the future—for example, in the agricultural cooperative movement which is constantly growing in size and economic and social significance. In brief, they are wisely making careers of farming.

MRS. T. B. WOOD PASSES

The entire section was shocked Sunday or Monday morning over the receipt of the sad news of the passing of Mrs. T. B. Wood of the Pleasant Valley community, even though she had been ill for quite some time. Her passing was announced at 10:30 P. M. She was 33 years of age.

Funeral services were conducted at the local Baptist church Monday at 5 P. M., burial followed in the Brownfield cemetery. Mrs. Woods was a fine neighbor, and had many friends throughout the section.

Besides her husband and little daughter, 3 years of age, she leaves both parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gibson of Roswell, N. M. Mr. Gibson and one son attended the funeral.

ACE HIGH CLUB

Mrs. Roy Wingerd entertained Friday of last week with a bridge party when members of the Ace High Club were guests.

Mrs. Latham received a prize for high score and Mrs. Rance King one for second high. An ice course was served to Mesdames W. R. McDuffie, A. A. Sawyer, M. E. Brown, J. E. Shelton, John R. Turner, Ike Bailey, M. E. Jacobson, J. J. McGowan, W. E. Latham, R. M. Kendrick, W. H. Collins and Mrs. Rance King of Oklahoma City.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking our friends and neighbors for their help, expressions of sympathy and other deeds of kindness in making our burden the more easily born in the loss of our dear wife, mother and daughter. May God graciously bless each of you.

T. B. Woods and daughter.
D. W. Gibson and family.

Barbra Ann Stice, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orb Stice of Midland, fell while running and fractured her leg in two places. Mr. and Mrs. Stice are former residents of Brownfield. Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kendrick are grandparents of the child.

Sam Price of Tahoka had his tonsils removed at the Treadway-Daniel hospital, Sunday.

Mrs. Katherine Chapman is now employed in the office of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McGowan.

More About California

To Readers of the Terry County Herald, Greetings:

Over at March Field Aviation Army Post, near Riverside, we were shown about and treated royally. We had been told there might be some difficulty in getting in and obtaining permission to view the planes and equipment. When we drove up to the entrance gate, the guard came forward, looked us over, took our names, address, and number, then said, "so you are from Texas. I have a brother at Lubbock and am from Texas myself. You go right in and feel free to investigate and find out about anything in the Post."

There were planes of different kinds, sizes, and makes, from the little single motor, two passenger photographic plane that was used exclusively for taking pictures to the No. 10 U. S. Bombing Planes. I think there were 10 of these big boys, built in Va. and each had just arrived. Each is powered by 4 engines of 1000 horse power each, has a wing spread of 103 feet, carries 5 machine guns and 10000 bombs. Then they have a bomb trainer, an instrument for training men to bomb moving ships from airplanes traveling 70 miles per hour.

The married men connected with the Post have nice homes with modern conveniences, lawns, cars, radios, and health of each member of the family taken care of in the general hospital. I asked my wife if she didn't wish her husband was an army captain instead of a preacher. The single men of the Post live in quarters provided for them and eat at one of the 4 mess halls. There is a large swimming pool, tennis court, play ground, library, etc.

One of the sergeants conducted us through the nice, well equipped hospital. Every man belonging to the Air Corps is given a very careful and thorough medical examination twice each year. His heart, ears, and eyes are given very special attention and records kept.

From the Post we went to the Mission Inn in Riverside. It would be even more difficult to describe it, giving anything at all of its wonders, beauty, uniqueness and antiqueness to the reader, than it was to tell of the museum in Los Angeles. The Mission was established by the Catholics for the Mexicans and natives about 150 years ago. By reading "Ramona" by Helen Hunt Jackson, you will get some idea of these famous old missions and the life surrounding them.

A part of the ground floor and the upper floors of this old Inn are modern and up to the minute. Some of the rooms of the first floor are arranged as they were in old mission days. Then under the ground are rooms, tunnels, niches, corridors, and halls lined and filled with works of art, furniture, pictures, crockery, and utensils of two centuries ago. In one room was an exact reproduction in life size figures of a former pope and cardinals. Then, there was the fine music room so well furnished where so many of the "up town" folks get married, including many of the actors and actresses of Hollywood. Also the room where many of the aviators leave an emblem with their name on it. I understand Amelia Earhart left an emblem here with her name just before leaving on her last flight.

I must not forget the fine dinner we ate while watching the waves of the Pacific. Then after dinner on the boat out to the beds of the deep sea fish. We saw a kind of bird that can live under water nearly as well as a fish can and also the flying fish that rise out of the water and flies for 50 yards, or more. We had a great time on the boat, but must say my stomach seemed to be in my mouth by the time we got back to shore. Then there was the big dinner with all the in-laws and out-laws, children and connections. This was in Irvine or Orange County Park. Oh yes, Saturday, August 7th was annual picnic day at Bizby park in Long Beach for all Texas in Calif. More next time. Yours very truly, Otto C. Perry, Pastor of the Nazarene, Tokio, Texas.
