They tell us that most of the basic elements of cosmetics the ladies use to polish themselves up with, comes from deep beneath the earth's surface. But the ladies, bless 'em, don't give a darn where the stuff came from, but where it will carry them.

They tell us that the smart boys will have a gadget ready for us after the shooting stops, that will thaw out frozen meat in minutes, not hours, and perhaps a day. What we are most interested in is the meat. If we can get that article, we'll guarantee to thaw it out if we have to take it to bed with us at night.

Someone remarked recently that Roosevelt was for the people, but Truman is the people. In other words, Truman was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth. Far from it. And, we might add that there are now voices coming out of Washington that makes us think that all tubs will be allowed to stand on their own bottom after the war, and that American genius and productivity will not be hampered with numerous bureaus.

Of late we find a lot of flaws to pick that the Weatherman makes. For instance, Tuesday night, he made a crack, "continued cloudiness and thunder showers in the Panhandle and South Plains." Now, in the every day cotton patch language that we understand, "continue" means to follow up some of the same thing. So-o-o, Mr. Weatherman, we want to know where those showers fell in this area, Tuesday?

Thanks to our county officials, Terry county is already well on the way to provide employment to hundreds of men when the boys come marching home, as well as others from war plants in various sections of the country. And they will come home. Terry is their ideal, yet. Plans have already been made to build a lot of badly needed farm to market roads, some of which are now sanded down, and at least one highway proposition is under way. Planning ahead of time means that we will have jobs long before other places that wait till the war is over.

With an unusual number of ice storms, floods and what have you through the winter and early spring, to contend with, railroads have been so hampered that they are about two laps behind schedule, and burdened with business to the limit, what with wearing out material and help shortage, and other headaches too numerous to mention. And now that the harvest is coming on, there will be a shortage of box cars, crews and engines to move it. But, they can't put two car loads in one box car, or two passengers on one seat.

From this distance, it looks as if that old bone of contention, the tariff, is with us always, the same as prohibition. The big manufacturers have met and are asking congress not to leave it to the discretion of the president to lower or hike the tariff. Which means in the language of us every day folks that the big boys want a high tariff under the plea that our country will be flooded with cheap foreign goods made by cheap labor and thereby lower our standard of living, meaning their standard of making money. But, if we take, we must also give. Many

LONG WINDED ARTICLES SHOULD BE BRIEFED

Nearly everyone you meet will tell you that they are greatly handicapped in their occupation by lack of sufficiently trained help, and some of them will go further and admit that all of us are in the same boat. While all of us will admit that we are having a heck of a time doing what three used to do, some seem to think that they are the only ones in trouble up to their necks.

A few people are just not considerate. Some will come in with an article, and frankly tell us to "cut it down if too long," while the next will raise old Billy Hell if one "i" is not dotted or one "t" not crossed in their articles. And of course it is SO important that to condense it makes them mad, and they threaten to go to the other paper next time, which in many cases we sincerely hope they do.

People who can see how the lack of sufficient help effects them, and can't see why the other guy should not work all night to accommodate him, just lacks that much of having the Christian principles and patriotic motives about him.

That is the reason that some of our best citizens have quit the "thank you" government jobs in the ration office here. Some folks are so darned unreasonable that they think these men can go contrary to the rules given them by the high ups at Washington.

Mrs. W. L. Bandy and Charles Wayne returned Monday night from Breckenridge and Cleburne where they have been visiting friends and relatives the past ten days.

They raised the Flag again on Corregidor...
Let's raise the money in the MIGHTY SEVENTH
OUR FLAG flies once again over Corregidor. The cost was great in blood and pain, but our fighting men did not turn back. And on Iwo Jima, four thousand men—more and more—died to take the long step forward to Victory. Twenty thousand others suffered wounds. Yes, we're on the way to Tokyo!
At home, your contribution to Victory is measured in dollars.
The Seventh War Loan is the biggest in America's history because seven billion dollars must be raised from individuals alone. That means you must buy more and bigger War Bonds.
This is really two great loans in one; for this time last year you had been called upon twice to subscribe in War Loans. As our fighting men raise Old Glory all over the world—let's raise the money back home!

Correcting Faults In Frozen Poultry

Proper Preparation and care by homemakers and locker managers can eliminate the five most common troubles in frozen poultry products--discoloration, off flavors, drying out, excess "drip" or "ooze," and rancidity, according to Winifred J. Leverenz, specialist in food preservation for the A. & M. College Extension Service.

Discoloration, or dark color in frozen poultry meat, usually is a result of insufficient bleeding, she says. Off-flavors usually are caused by not chilling the meat quickly enough. She attributes drying out of the meat to a poor wrap. Poor wrapping also will cause discoloration. Tests by many research workers have shown that cellophane currently is the most ideal wrapping material for meat, and poultry especially.

Mrs. Leverenz says many homemakers have found that in frying chicken previously frozen often the crust will flake off the pieces. This is the result of a drop in ooze. Sharpfreezing at 20 degrees F. below zero and keeping the product at zero without fluctuation in temperatures will prevent this difficulty. Too high temperature or fluctuations in storage will cause crystals in the product to enlarge, break down more quickly and release juices, she explains. Constant low temperatures also will prevent the fifth common difficulty, rancidity.

The specialist also recommends that poultry meats be thawed almost completely at room temperature or in a refrigerator so that the meat will retain most of this moisture during the cooking process.

With these various factors controlled, frozen poultry products have been kept in locker boxes for a year and a half without loss of quality. However, most homemakers will find it more economical and practical to use frozen poultry meats within a year, adding new supplies to their lockers as another crop of fryers is available.

PEOPLE ADVISED TO USE FRESH VEGETABLES

Terry County meal planners were asked by WFA to step up purchase of cabbage and help make full use of the wartime food supply.

Encouraging increased use, E. C. Munro, District Representative WFA's Office of Supply, said plentiful supplies now in vegetable bins must be used immediately if waste of a perishable crop is to be prevented.

One of the best ways to balance out wartime meals, he explained, is to use more of the abundant, fresh foods and go easy on other foods not so plentiful on retail shelves.

The Moon Doesn't Affect Potatoes

Forget the old superstition about the stage of the moon when planting white potatoes, counsels J. F. Roseborough, horticulturist for the A. and M. College Extension Service. He assures gardeners that it does not matter to the health and growth of potatoes whether they are planted in light or dark of moon. The condition of the soil is much more important than whether the moon is overhead or down under. Rich earth not moonbeams grow good potatoes.

It doesn't matter either, he explains, where the eye points when the seed potato is dropped into the hill. Eyes up--down or sidewise--the sprouts will grow upward and produce new potatoes. Just be sure that the soil is well prepared and rich at planting time because potatoes respond to fertilizer and good care.

During the period of sprouting and early growth potato plants live almost entirely on the food material in the seed pieces. For that reason seed pieces shouldn't be cut too small--about half the size of a hens egg is suitable.

The potato patch should be plowed or spaded eight to ten inches deep and earth clods broken up. In sandy soils, commercial fertilizer may be used at the rate of one pound for each pound of potatoes planted. Mix the fertilizer thoroughly with the soil and drop the seed pieces 1 1/2 to 16 inches apart in the rows.

For those who wish to have two kinds in their Victory garden, Roseborough suggests Bliss Triumph for early new potatoes, and the Irish Cobbler for storing. The Katahdin is a new variety of good quality. It keeps better than Triumph or Cobblers, but it demands plenty of moisture and will not tolerate drought.

Mrs. Ruth McCain spent Monday in Roswell, visiting her daughter, Mrs. Kluting.

Flora Lee Shults from Carlsbad, visited Mr. and Mrs. Carol Shults last week. She spent Sunday with Mrs. J. C. Bass.

Rabies Increasing

Rabies is on the increase, and last year Texas was one of the seven states in the number of cases recorded, the Bureau of Animal Industry has reported. Dogs are still the most frequent victims of this dreaded disease, but reported cases of cats with rabies have doubled in the last seven years. Increase in the number of cases where rats were affected was 85 per cent in the same period.

Cattle, horses, sheep, swine, goats, as well as human beings, sometimes contract rabies, but in lesser numbers, the BAI report to the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service shows. Total reported cases in 1944 for the nation as a whole were in excess of 10,000.

BAI veterinarians point out that vaccination alone will not control rabies, since many dogs, especially strays, go untreated. This agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture makes rigid tests on vaccines and reports that vaccination of dogs against the disease "really has a definite value."

Here are control measures recommended by the BAI to owners of animals: Licensing of dogs, impounding and disposal of stray dogs, vaccination, strict quarantine of dogs suspected of rabies, for at least six months, diagnosis by competent veterinarians, and destruction of rabid animals.

Turkeys For The Fighting Men

Turkeys for the holiday dinners of the United States armed forces this year will be obtained under a one hundred per cent War Food Administration set-aside order which became effective April 8.

A statement by the WFA received by the A. & M. College Extension Service says that the 1945 procurement program will operate under War Food order 106 which was in force until 1944 requirements for the armed forces were filled. Now reinstated, the order is revised to include procurement of hen turkeys normally marketed in April, May and June, as well as 1945 crop turkeys marketed in the late summer and fall. It will remain in effect until the full quantity of turkeys needed is bought by the U. S. Army Quartermasters Corps for all of the armed services. While most of the supply will be used to provide holiday dinners, a part of the overall requirement may be used under the current military program for canned poultry.

The revised order applies in all plants of authorized processors in the turkey area, which includes Texas, the statement says, and requires the set-aside of all turkeys marketed. They must be slaughtered by authorized processors and held for sale to cold storage for ultimate sale to the QMC.

Owners of less than 25 turkeys are excepted, provided there is no authorized processor located within 100 miles of their farms. These may apply for release to the Dairy and Poultry Branch, Office of Marketing Services, 425 Wilson Building, Dallas 1.

The statement specifies that each processor must apply to the deputy order administrator for authorization giving the location of the plants he expects to use, and state that each plant is approved by the U. S. Army Veterinary Corps. In addition he must agree to process turkeys and pack them accordingly to U. S. Army specifications, and that all processed turkeys will be handled by the order.

Word was received last week by Mrs. B. A. Baggett, that her nephew, 2nd Lt. Paul Mart, was killed in action in Germany in March.

Mrs. Virgil Crawford stated that the picture "The Fighting Lady" shown at the Rio Sunday and Monday, was especially interesting because it was a picture about the U. S. S. Ticonderoga, the ship her husband is on now somewhere in the Pacific. The picture was actual scenes of the raids made on Truk and other nearby points in 1943.

BE IMMUNIZED AGAINST TYPHOID FEVER

Austin, Texas.—"If you have not been immunized against typhoid fever within the last two or three years, go to your doctor now, and be protected against it." Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises prospective campers, Boy and Girl Scouts, summer vacationist, and all other users of the open road—whether for business or pleasure—as the out-of-doors season approaches.

"Typhoid fever," he continued, is "unnecessary and preventable. Every case is due either to community negligence or to the ignorance or carelessness of some individual."

"A typhoid carrier is a person who has had typhoid at some time and who even after recovery carries the germs of the disease in his body and may pass them on to others. Carriers who are careless in their personal habits are likely to infect any food they handle with unwashed hands. Some of the most serious and far reaching outbreaks of the disease have been caused by drinking milk or eating foods that have been handled by carriers who didn't even know they could spread typhoid, having fully recovered from it.

"Typhoid germs are hitch-hikers. They are picked up and spread from person to person by water, milk, flies, fingers, food. Every case of typhoid is contracted by way of the mouth and the digestive system. The State Department of Health and the local health department can be depended upon to continue their fight against the disease, but there still will be sources of infection that can be guarded against only through the protection afforded the individual by vaccination against the disease."
