

HOTEL, OFFICE BUILDING IS A MUST FOR BROWNFIELD

Brownfield needs many things during the reconversion period, one of them being many, many more residences. The writer is in position to realize as much or more than most citizens the need of more housing. Hardly a day passes but that we are not approached about housing, rooms, garage or other apartments, rent houses, and a few prospective buyers. We are NOT in the real estate business.

About the only thing we can tell them is drive up and down the streets and look for "For Rent" signs. And while gasoline was rationed, that was not desirable to the prospective renter. Occasionally, we get real sorry for people hunting places to stay. They have jobs or business here, but no place to live. We jokingly told one lady that she and husband would just have to find a big mesquite tree and hang their hat and bonnet in it. She grinned and stated it looked that way to her, too.

A Good Hotel-Office Building in Demand

It doesn't take a seer to spread a map of the oil fields in this section on a table in front of him and calculate that Brownfield is half-mooned by the circle, beginning at Welch and ending at Sundown. Also, it is a well known fact to oil and other related industries, as well as strictly commercial firms, that Terry county is one of the best highway supplied places in the area, and that with more than 100 miles of additional highways provided for either by bond issue or by federal-state aid, it will have one of the best highway systems, if not the very best.

New Pontiac Now On Display At Ross Motors

The time has arrived again on the US side of this old terrestrial ball when most of us wish we were rich, and could just walk up to the automobile agency and say, "Mister, you can put me down for a new car when you get to my name." But the most some few of us "pore white trash" can do is look and wish.

We dropped down at the Ross Motor Co. this week, and feasted our eye on the new Pontiac. It is a humdinger, and many have not only been seers but buyers. In fact, one returned Vet purchased a coupe while we were there, and you girls may obtain his name, maybe from Mr. Ross. You know veterans are supposed to get priority as far as possible.

The new 30x40 feet addition Mr. Ross is building on the rear of his plant is faced brick, and will have a frontage on Broadway, instead of 7th, as the other building. This addition will house the farm machinery section of Mr. Ross' business.

This will give him a building 50x140 feet, and helps the appearance of things on west Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miller of Portales, New Mexico, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cye Tankersley.

Don Tankersley celebrated his ninth birthday, Friday, Nov. 9th with a theater party. Before going to the show, birthday cake and punch was served to 21 guests.

Mrs. W. L. Bandy spent last week in Breckenridge visiting her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Flippen.

One of the local negroes had a bullet taken from his thigh over the weekend at the local hospital. Brawl over a card game, he reported.

With its proximity to the Welch, south; Cedar Lake, Seminole, Wasson-Denver City, Bennett southwest and west, and the Slaughter pools northwest of the city, not only are homes needed, but office room is pitifully shy. Many are having to move out of small spaces in buildings now, as owners are renting to one business and petitions are being removed. Not only that but many people have to drive to other towns to get rooms. So, an office building, a hotel, or the combination of both, are among the firsts. Not only could many more rooms be rented out for people to live in, but many others would move here if offices were procurable.

We understand that local men are making some headway on such a building, details not being far enough advanced to mention yet, but every man, woman and child in this city and surrounding territory are interested in such a move. The larger the town, the better the market for country products here abouts.

And while we are at the matter, it has come to us that some of our real estate owners will not put a price on their property, nor will they put a building on it. This condition is often found, and is always a knotty problem to deal with in town with growing pains.

If you want to do well yourself, and see the town make something other than just a good old fashioned county seat town, sell this property and put it in bonds, if you like, or else put up a building to rent for a good profit.

We must all hang together or hang separately.

Cary Sells Building On Seagraves Highway

It was announced this week that Mr. Cary of the Cary Bakery had sold the building on the Seagraves highway to Harmon Howze, who, we understand will convert it into an electrical appliance business.

Mr. Cary will move his bakery to the location vacated by the Johnny Haynes bakery, when he went into the navy. Zant Bros. and other firms who were located in that building have been given notice to vacate.

And the "devel and tom johnson" of the matter is, there is no place for the vacators to vacate to.

Style Show Well Attended

The style show at the Rio theater here Thursday night of last week, sponsored by the Maids and Matrons club, was enthusiastically viewed by the house packed audience.

There was paraded across the stage, by home talent models depicting the styles worn by women from the Indian maid of the year 1600 through the Puritan colonist Revolutionary era, pioneer settlers, Civil war days, the Gay nineties, the rapid changes in the present century, including modern bathing suits and beauty. Local merchants displayed samples of their exquisite garments, neatly fitted on pretty models.

Mrs. Lois Wingerd served as announcer, explaining the times and modes of each act.

Armistice Day Is Quietly Observed

Two of the quietest days in years were manifest here last Sunday and Monday. The first being Armistice Day, and Monday was observed in lieu of Sunday. All businesses were closed Monday.

The Legion boys had their early morning breakfast at their post and other than the Rodeo, no other entertainments were held. The pastors of local churches preached special sermons Sunday for the occasion.

Perhaps a great many of our populace are yet deeply interested in present war.

Farm Home Burglarized, Two Arrested

The farm home of H. L. Durham northwest of town was entered two weeks ago while the owner was away for some time, and a radio, two hand saws and other articles were taken. Sheriffs force Tuesday apprehended a young married man and his 16 year old brother-in-law in possession of the radio. The elder one was charged with theft and lodged in jail. The youth, a juvenile, was paroled to his parents.

On the right sleeve he has the gold wreath at the lower cuff for citation of meritorious service, from June to Dec. 1944. He wears the red rope trimmed in green, which was given him by the Belgian army for the work done during the bulge last year. He also has the good conduct medal.

Methodist Church Urges Renewed Work

The "new pastor" of the First Methodist church desires to invite all the members of this church and congregation to meet him at church school and preaching services Sunday for a good start on the new Conference year. The new year brings new opportunities for better service for more people than we gave last year.

This is the year of evangelism and emphasis on enlarging our field for a greater harvest through the teaching of the "Word" in our "Crusade for Christ." We are very grateful to those who made possible and encouraged us in the work of the year that has gone. We thank our many friends of the church and community, who expressed concern or pleasure at our return.

The subject for Sunday morning is, "Watch Your Step, When You Come to the House of God."

Co-Ops Dedicate Refinery At Levelland

At a meeting of one thousand members of over one hundred cooperative associations of New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma, at Levelland last Friday, the Oil Refinery there, which was recently purchased by the Consumers Refinery Association, which is a super-co-op, owned by the many co-ops, was formally dedicated.

Following a barbecue at noon ceremonies and program was held in the high school auditorium. Alvin Allison, attorney for the refinery, welcomed the large crowd. Speeches by several high officials were heard. This is the first such dedication of a refinery held in Texas. The plant, employing 100 persons, established by private capital some five years ago, procures its oil from the Sundown fields. More than 30,000 farmers, through their co-operatives in these three states, are the new owners.

Wood E. Johnson of this county is one of the directors. Jess Smith and several other officials of the local co-op, attended. The Herald had a special invitation given by Mr. Johnson, but as Mrs. Stricklin was ill, Judge Geo. W. Neill represented the Herald at the dedication.

State Bank To Enlarge In The Near Future

In conversation this week with J. O. Gillham, president of the Brownfield State Bank, he informed us that the institution had architects plans for considerable remodeling and enlarging, when the point is reaching that material can be had. We had been hearing such statements and decided to check up.

It is their intention, Mr. Gillham stated, to make the entire building two stories high, the two story part at present going only 100 feet of the 140 feet lot. The stairway will then be moved, and the entire rear part of the first floor now used for offices, will be remodeled into bank usages, giving them a space 30x140 feet.

All the new upstairs part will then be made into desirable offices for use of professional businesses. Mr. Gillham had no idea when this could be carried out, perhaps some time in the early part of the new year.

While the present floor space used by the bank is considerably larger than just a few years ago, they find they are becoming crowded for room again, and thus the expansion.

New Buick To Be On Display Saturday

Red Tudor of Tudor Sales Co., left Wednesday for Okla. City, and will drive back the new 1946 Buick, which will be on display at the Tudor Sales show rooms Saturday. Buick admirers — and just who isn't — are asked to call at that place any time Saturday and see the new car.

Red Tudor opened the first car agency in Brownfield in a small wooden building way back in the 'teens, and if the cars, new and old he has sold, were placed end to end, they would probably reach far below the cap rock. In the twenties, he built half of his 100 feet frontage out of concrete. That was the favorite building material of that day and time. Later he built the 50 feet brick on the corner of Main and 7th, the two buildings being connected.

A noted thing about Red Tudor is that he doesn't change mechanics often. When he gets a good one, he is kept for years. Some have been with him around 20 years, and still going strong. The same with his salesmen.

There is one thing that don't set well with Red. He owns his own buildings, has them paid for, also his tools and parts, and all the cars he buys, and he don't like for someone else to tell him how to run his business.

Some may say this is "independence." Well, that is the way business has grown in America, until it has made this the greatest nation in the shortest time on earth. Call it rugged individualism or whatever you wish, but most of us are in the same boat.

Bill McKinney Attending Agency Meeting At Las Vegas

Bill McKinney, who has been discharged from the army air force and he and wife have returned to the old home town, stated this week that he would be away over the weekend attending an agency meeting of the Southland at Las Vegas, N. M., for four days, beginning Saturday.

He could find no other place to locate his life and fire insurance business for the present, he stated, but that Luther Cruce had kindly made room for them in his building in the 300 block of west main.

Mrs. McKinney will keep the office open while he is away.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gunn and children spent the weekend in Pampa visiting Mr. Gunn's parents and brothers.

Texas And Annexation

VAN BUREN REJECTED OFFER OF ANNEXATION

(Fourth in a series of articles by Dr. Eugene C. Parker, Professor of American History, University of Texas)

While William H. Wharton was still in Washington fretting over delay in the recognition of Texas, President Houston sent General Memucan Hunt to assist him. He succeeded Wharton in the post at Washington, and in August, 1837, made the first and only proffer of Texas to the United States.

He was handicapped by circumstances. Mexico was threatening invasion to reconquer its truant province and the new republic, whatever its latent resources, was ill-prepared to maintain a national government and wage a war of defense; yet Hunt chose to present the subject in the light of a favor to the United States.

He began with a lengthy summary of the history of Mexico since its independence, emphasizing the frequent revolutions and political instability. Then he reviewed the history of Texas during 1821-1836, showing its impressive development in the face of Mexican neglect and distrust. Arriving at the heart of his discourse, he declared in the grandiloquent language of which his generation was a master on occasion that Texas desired an "amalgamation of flags" on terms consistent with the honor of Texas. Annexation, he said, would give the United States the great natural resources of Texas, would assure it a growing market for American manufacturers from the North, would enable it to avoid competition with Texas cotton and sugar in Europe, and would strengthen American control of the Gulf of Mexico. The United States would need to act promptly, ly, he added, because Texas was already negotiating commercial treaties with European countries and, when they were completed, it would be difficult for Texas to withdraw and accept annexation to the United States.

After a delay of three weeks, the American secretary of state replied. He, too, indulged in a little bombast. In recognizing Texan independence, he said, his government had not overlooked the possibility of rivalry with certain Texan products in Europe, but it had believed that gratitude would restrain the Texans from injuring the United States.

He then stated two reasons which prevented President Van Buren from accepting the Texas offer. The first was constitutional; the second was the desire to avoid offense to Mexico. The United States, he said, had never annexed a foreign territory, and the President doubted the power of the government, under the Constitution, to do so. True enough, the United States had annexed Louisiana and Florida without the consent of their inhabitants, but President Van Buren did not consider those acquisitions a precedent for incorporating the territory of an independent nation with the consent of its citizens. Nor did the President wish to reserve the question for future consideration. As to the Mexican aspect of the subject, the President declared that, since Texas was still nominally at war with Mexico, annexation would make the United States a party to the war. Back of this thought was the possibility that England might enter the war as an ally of Mexico. The constitutional scruple seems absurd and insincere, but it was urged also by spokesmen of the abolitionists, and, in extenuation, we know that law and diplomacy make use of their technicalities. Hunt had the last word. He replied as best he could, but it was obvious that Van Buren would have none of Texas, and he would be President until 1841.

THE STRIKE SITUATION

We have a new wrinkle in this strike business. When the union heads at New Orleans ordered men out of the Higgins plants, old Andrew announced that he would not open the plants. This threw 2,000 out of employment immediately. Higgins had plans to put 30,000 to work after reconversion. But he offers to sell his plants to the unions, if they think they can run the business better than he did. Since the government is so anxious to play into the hands of the union heads, operational money can no doubt be obtained, and the public will be footing the bill if the union fails.

Then CIO threatens to go to court to hold down the price of passenger cars, should OPA set a price beyond the amount that CIO determines is a right and just price. After reading the economic reports from CIO which are flooding the newspaper offices, we are convinced that the Russian plan prevails thru CIO setup. The question arises: If CIO can make industry

Jungle Fever

When a man loses the right use of his mind, his friends put him in a state institution, but when a whole people start turning imbecile they commit themselves to the tender mercies of government. In one sentence, that's what I think about the so-called Full Employment Bill, already passed by the Senate and scheduled for early consideration by the House.

If our congressmen fasten upon the Federal government an obligation to provide jobs for everybody, they will be saying, "We represent a commonwealth of incompetents, unable to take care of themselves." America's vast resources, her enormous productive capacity, trained minds, skilled hands and huge markets will amount to nothing if our people lose their initiative, self-reliance and self-starters.

Men Have Spines

God in His wisdom metes out privileges and duties in proportion. No man and no nation can revel long in liberty and shirk the responsibilities that go with it, for human freedom is a gift from above. Much responsibility for the future of mankind hangs on the American people; we may well be thankful that our liberties are many. This is no time to recline in a political armchair among the old world's decadent tribes.

What supports the idea that government ought to (or even can) guarantee jobs for everybody? Answer: Warped notions brought to America by immigrants from the backward lands of Europe and Asia. Many such "cases" can't quit thinking that citizens must serve the state instead of the state serving the citizens. They actually seem to imagine that rulers think better than other people.

Poisonous Insects

Foreign philosophies, spread quietly through schools, playgrounds and market places, have poisoned the minds of American boys and girls under their parents' very eyes. It is a quiet enemy that long has demanded attention. . . . When our soldiers landed on Guadalcanal they met Japanese attack from land, water and sky, and they overcame it. But the tropical bugs did more damage, quietly.

Insects with bills like hypodermic needles, hardly big enough to see without a glass, seemed like irritants of small consequence. But they turned out to be more dangerous than the man-size enemies. Their noise was small, their wounds were negligible, but they planted a venomous pestilence in the blood stream, extravagant of life and ruinous to the morale of those who survived.

There is a Cure

How parallel to Guadalcanal has been the defense of representative, constitutional government on the home front. Deafening weapons of the Axis powers failed to destroy this republic. American ingenuity, sharpened by hope of achievement; American skill, whetted by ambition to advance; America's power to produce, fused in the furnace of open competition. These won the noisy battles.

But the same things will not cure the plague of poisoned minds. That's another problem. Helplessness, dependence on the state and false philosophies are like tropical fever—in the blood. If it has penetrated all the way to Capitol Hill, if we enact federal law encouraging the malady, then the case is serious indeed. The fate of the Full Employment Bill will determine whether the United States is becoming imbecile.

submit to its will as to price structure, why does not Congress make CIO responsible for the damage that it does to the public through its strikes?

Unauthorized strikes continue. The latest wildcat strikes occurred Friday when Western Union employees in four cities stopped work, in spite of the plea of the union heads to continue work.

The speech of the President last week has not settled the labor dispute by any means. About all that Truman accomplished was to widen the growing breach between the White House and Congress.—Canyon News.

Try Hot Water Plus If Stomach Pains You After Eating

Thousands of unfortunate people suffer from so-called dyspepsia, acid indigestion, food fermentation, sour stomach, acid stomach, flatulence, gas pains and other stomach distress brought on by excess acid.

If these people would try drinking slowly after each meal half a glass of real hot water containing a spoonful of Neutracid, they can usually get blessed relief from distress and discomfort.

BUT THEY WON THE WAR

After you get through criticizing the army, the navy and the military in general for a million inept things you think they do every day, you have to admit that the strategy put forward by the brass won the war, which is what armies and navies and air forces are for.

However, even that preface doesn't keep you from being indignant when you read about the army having the manufacturers of a dozen or more brand new B-29s send out a detachment of men to cut to pieces machines that are barely off the assembly lines because the army has some kind of a rule that requires it. This is said to have happened at Wichita. Everybody was helpless to do anything about it. A good many thousand and war weary planes are stored around all over the country at air fields that could be and probably need to be salvaged instead. But the army had a rule and when it was applied they cut to pieces a bunch of good brand new 6-hundred thousand dollar planes that were needed at training fields to carry on with classes the air corps still has in training.

The indignation at the waste could be tempered somewhat if you disbelieve the Treasury department's claim that the planes cost the big mouth filling figure of $600,000 apiece. That's what they said and still say for war bond selling purposes. You or we might believe this isn't so since it has become the custom now to catch departments of the government in what appear to be statements and claims wholly unsupported by the facts, as the civilian sees them. But anyway, the public prints say they cut the brand new B-29s to pieces with torches while paying millions for storage and in other costs for other planes by the thousand not worth the space they take up except for salvage.—Floyd-ada Hesperian.

RADAR TESTED IN 1938

Three years before Pearl Harbor the Army and Westinghouse electronics engineers drew "beads" on airplanes soaring over the New Jersey coast in "proving ground" tests of radar. The radar set was calibrated by directing the invisible beam at the Empire State Building and other fixed targets in the New York City area.

4,315 DEGREE TEMPERATURE

The filament inside a 60-Watt electric light bulb runs a 4,315 degree Fahrenheit temperature when it lights up. This is about 10 times as hot as the temperature inside an oven where a pie is baked, Westinghouse engineers explain.

ADVERTISING

The argument as to whether radio or newspaper advertising pays best goes right on among the big advertisers. "What goes in one ear comes out the other," but who ever heard of anything going in one eye and coming out the other?—Clarendon Leader.

HARMONY H. D. CLUB MET WITH MRS. JOHN GRACEY

The Harmony H. D. club met with Mrs. John Gracey November 1st with 13 members present. The house was called to order by our president, Mrs. Paul Gracey. Roll call by Mrs. Gill which was answered by questions on parliamentary drill. As there was no other business we spent the afternoon playing games.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Smith, Murry, Bartley, Kissinger, Brigrance, Gill, Hogue, Townzen, Hoggard, Ellis, Bell, and the hostess and co-hostess. Our next meeting will be with Mrs. Paul Gracey, November 15th.

A local oil man told this for the benefit of Homer Nelson recently: A man traveling through the mountains of Arkansas came upon a house with the back side on the ground and the front some 10 feet high. Under the house was hog pen. The stranger asked the Arkansas lawyer if he thought it was healthy to keep a lot of hogs under the house. The native replied:

USS TEXAS

Black smoke billows as the big guns of the venerable battleship USS Texas let loose with a broadside. One of the oldest battle wagons in the Navy, she nevertheless has one of the finest combat records. The TEXAS was the only American battleship that fought off three continents—Europe, Africa and Asia.—U. S. Navy Photo.

REV. R. N. HUCKABEE REMAINS METHODIST PASTOR

Many townsmen, in and out of the local Methodist church, are pleased to know the present pastor, Rev. R. N. Huckabee, is to remain here another year, having been returned by the M. E. Conference held at Abilene last week.

Rev. Huckabee has made many friends here, by his affable social leadership.

Mr. Looie Miller and Miss Thelma Duffey attended a district AAA meeting in Lubbock, Tuesday and Wednesday.

SIDELIGHTS From Washington

By George Mahon

According to the Weather Bureau, the sun will rise in Washington on November 15th at 6:51 A. M. and set at 4:54 P. M., Eastern Standard Time.

War time was never the misfit in Washington that it was in West Texas, the reason being that West Texas is on the very western edge of the central time zone. Except for the convenience of having all Texas in the same zone, much of West Texas would perhaps be better served if it were in the western zone. In fact, much of West Texas was in the western time zone prior to March 4, 1921, when an act of Congress placed all Texas in the same zone. The central standard time zone extends cross-country from Knoxville, Tennessee, to El Paso, Texas, a distance of 1533 miles.

The Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington has authority to change the time zone boundaries in all states except three—Texas, Oklahoma and Idaho. In these three states, specific acts of Congress fix the time zone boundary lines.

On December 29th Texas will again get national recognition on a postage stamp. It will be a 3c stamp, commemorating the one hundred years of statehood since our entry into the Union in 1845. The design will soon be officially selected and announced.

This is a fast moving world, and most people do not take time to give attention to the designs, colors and printing on postage stamps—the usual thought being that a stamp, not a thing of beauty, an object of curiosity, or a thumb-nail story or lesson. I have become somewhat interested in stamps because occasionally a young stamp collector from our District writes me and asks me to send him any unusual stamps that show up on my incoming mail. Occasionally someone will address a letter to me, using a new stamp on the first day of its issue, which is cancelled across the face: "First Day Cover." When Jim Farley was Postmaster General, he would frequently write a "First Day Cover" letter to Members of Congress as a gesture of good will. One of his jobs was making and keeping friends in Congress.

Since January, 1940, there have been issued 84 varieties of stamps, 27 of them in the 3c classifica-

Bill McGowan Makes Inspection Of This Office

Bill McGowan at the present but erstwhile "Louey" in the US Army, was down giving this place the first inspection over the weekend. Seemingly he was satisfied as he found but little scraps of paper and no "expectoration" (that means spit to other than the medical profession) on the floor.

Bill spent his last days of duty in the Philippine Islands, and seems to be tickled beyond belief that he can spend some time at home with Mrs. McGowan and William Joseph II, who was born while Bill was overseas. And of course dad and mother Joe J. McGowan.

For some unknown reason, the image of President Coolidge, the man who was so devoted to economy, is on the $5.00 stamp, the stamp of highest denomination.

During 1941, while I was serving on the Appropriations Subcommittee that handled appropriations for the Post Office Department, we effected a saving of $100,000 annually by changing the 6c air-mail stamp from two-color stamp of red and blue to a single color

KEEP ROOM TEMPERATURE FROM 68 TO 70 DEGREES

Austin—With the approach of cold weather, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued some timely advice concerning room temperature and its relation to health.

"It is very important that inside temperature be maintained at around 68 to 70 degrees," Dr. Cox said. "Thousands of homes are continually overheated in the winter, and a degree of heat is often demanded that would not be tolerated in the summertime."

In a room that is overheated, the body pores are open, and the moment that the outside temperature is encountered, much harm may result. Colds, influenza, bronchial troubles and even pneumonia may take advantage of this bodily abuse, and take a serious toll in sickness and even death.

"An inside temperature of from 68 to 70 degrees is not only more healthful, but actually more comfortable," Dr. Cox said. "When, added to these factors, the resulting economy is considered, it might be well to check up and see what your thermometer reads. A room temperature within the range suggested, plus the careful maintenance of proper humidity, will help to prevent needless sickness and protect the good health of your family."

RADAR CANAL 'WATCHDOG'

A Signal Corps radar set, which passed its initial Army field test in 1938, was a "watchdog" at the Panama Canal a year before Pearl Harbor. The set's key tube, designed and manufactured by Westinghouse, produced 10 times more power than any other ultra high frequency electronic tube built previously.

Thinks Truman A Real Statesman

The late Will Rogers once said that the difference between a statesman and a politician is that a statesman has the courage to do what the politician is afraid to do. When President Truman went before a war-weary world and asked for compulsory military training I think he should be classed as a statesman, not a politician. I have always admired the man who is willing to defend the unpopular side and for that reason I sometimes admire myself. Someone must pitch a losing game or else there would be no game.

The president seems to be pitching a losing game in his fight for military training. Some months ago popular opinion polls showed 70 percent of our people favorable to universal training. That was when the bullets were flying. That was when everybody could understand the importance of a strong military force to protect the homes of America from vandals.

America, so recently freed from the threat of disaster, is slowly but surely lapsing into her traditional attitude of careless disregard of the world in which we live. Call it isolationism, smugness, pacifism or whatever, it is there. The great principles laid down by George Washington, that a strong military force is the best insurance of peace, that if America would enjoy the blessings of peace she must be prepared at all times for war is a hundred times more apparent than in 1793. The world respects power and power alone. I wonder if those who oppose this bill have ever talked with a soldier who has seen an American boy forced to go into combat after having only a few weeks training and have to face the soldier who was skilled in the art of warfare.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, an organization that is composed of service men who hate war and bloodshed, have gone on record as favoring compulsory military training, and haven't we been saying that we are willing for the service boys to "take over," that we are willing for them to have any legislation that they may ask for. I believe, though I am not sure, that the American Legion

LIONS BANQUET THEIR LADIES

The local Lions club staged their annual Ladies night banquet Wednesday at the American Legion hall, with an almost total membership attending. Delegates from Lions clubs from Morton, Post and Andrews were present. An orchestra led, by Johnny Rayburn, furnished the music. The main feature was an address by Charles B. Dean, Governor of the large west Texas district, a former district attorney and lawyer from Plainview.

After pointing out that Texas had more clubs than any other State, and Lions International was active and effective in creating good will and fraternalizing the two Americas, delivered a stirring address on world unity and peace, stating that "When the leading peoples set their mind and heart right on higher Christian standards, the Atomic bomb will never be needed."

Chevrolet Expects Quick Re-conversion

Reconverting plants to the peacetime production of motor cars and trucks has been a most difficult task for the nation's automobile manufacturers. The machines and tools of war production had to be removed. Machinery and equipment for making automobiles, which had been widely scattered to remote sections of the country, had to be returned to the plants in which it belonged. Plants had to be revamped, rearranged for automotive production. Materials had to be obtained. All were difficult tasks, requiring careful planning and timing.

prepared for volume production. Supplies of steel and other metals and a wide variety of materials have been arranged for. Exact testing by engineers and research men assure quality at least equal to the high standards demanded in the pre-war period, and in many instances even surpassing those levels.

During the four war years, the skill and experience of the many men in the automobile industry stood them in good stead. Their job was a difficult but an interesting one. So many new and strange products had to be built so quickly and in such volume that the men whose responsibility it was to see that they were produced had to draw in full measure on their training and resourcefulness.

They proved fully equal to every occasion. No industry is superior in manufacturing ability to the automobile industry. Through the years it has been keyed to highly competitive conditions. Producing new models year after year, just as we are now introducing the new 1946 model Chevrolet, has maintained an unusual flexibility and adaptability in automobile manufacturing.

We are accustomed to solving new problems produced by innovation and change. This training and experience enabled the industry to convert quickly from peace to war production. It facilitated sudden changes from one type of war production to another. It enabled the nation's automobile builders to keep on producing, converting and reconverting from motor cars to war materials and back to cars again at a rate that seemed incredible to many.

Intelligent planning and supervision has always made it possible for workers in plants to do a good job. This is particularly true in technical and skilled operations. If the right machines are in the right places and the timing procedure of manufacturing has been planned properly, a seasoned workman will not be handicapped in contributing his share toward a dependable product.

The energies of many men are coordinated by proper supervision which directs them to turning out the finished product with efficiency. Men who understand machines must teach other men how to use them. Machines themselves must be integrated into the overall pattern of quality production in large volume.

According to the nutritionists, variety meats have not been given the consideration in the menu that they deserve. The fact that the home menu planner isn't as well acquainted with their possibilities as she might be may be one reason. The variety meats include liver, heart, sweetbreads, kidneys, brains, tongue and tripe. As the name implies, they may be prepared in a variety of attractive ways. The above table gives only a few of the many ideas which may be applied in making the most of variety meats.

picture" to the brilliant future that awaited the independent republic; when he contemplated the "vast extent of territory, stretching from the Sabine to the Pacific and away to the southwest as far as the obstinacy of the enemy may render it necessary for the sword to mark the boundary" . . . he could not regard the annexation of Texas to the American Union "in any other light than as the grave of all her hopes of happiness and greatness." And much more of the same sort.

The people of Texas did not share Lamar's views, however, and it was a Washington on the Potomac rather than at Austin on the Colorado that the fate of annexation was to be settled.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

Some excellent thoughts, compactly expressed, are these by Dol-lilee Davis Smith, former poet laureate of Texas:

The more a man knows about himself, the less he says about the other fellow.

There's always a way—find it.

I am no bigger than the smallest thing that stirs my soul to wrath.

Opportunity may knock, but I must open the door.

1,000-YEAR LAMP POSSIBLE

The less brilliantly a lamp filament burns, the longer its life. It is theoretically possible to design and build an electric lamp which could burn continuously for 1,000 years. Westinghouse engineers say they aren't interested, not because they won't be around to prove their claim, but that such a lamp, hardly any brighter than a firefly, would be useless as an illuminant.

There is a lot of happiness in the belief that you are fooling others into believing that you are happy.

Texas and Annexation

ANNEXATION IS DEFERRED

(Fifth in a series of articles by Dr. Eugene C. Barker, Professor of American History, The University of Texas).

In September, 1837, following Van Buren's curt rejection of the Texan proposal, John Quincy Adams offered in the House of Representatives a resolution embodying the substance of the President's scruples about the constitution. He declared: "The power of annexing the people of any independent foreign state to this union is a power not delegated by the Constitution of the United States to their Congress or to any department of their government, but reserved to the people." In other words, it would require an amendment of the Constitution to annex Texas. He repeated the resolution toward the end of the next session of Congress, and gaining the floor on June 16, spoke for one hour daily with a few exceptions until Congress adjourned on July 9, 1838. The speech covered a wide range. Had he been challenged, he would have maintained that all that he said was germane to the resolution, but in fact he traveled far a-field. His view of the Texas question was that it was a sordid plot to expand the slave territory of the United States so as to give the South greater power in the Senate. It is not likely that he wanted the House to vote on his resolution. More probably he offered it to gain an occasion for the speech. Later he claimed that the speech laid the annexation question for three years. But other conditions suspended the question.

Perhaps by inadvertence, the Texan government did not withdraw its offer of annexation after the United States declined. President Houston ended this undignified situation, however, in 1838, instructing the Texan minister in Washington to inform the government that the offer was no longer pending. The Texan Senate approved this action in 1839.

Houston was succeeded by Mirabeau B. Lamar. He had won an enviable reputation as leader of the cavalry in the battle of San Jacinto and had served as Vice-president while Houston was president. He was a poet and an orator. He had a great vision of Texas as an independent nation and devoted much of his inaugural address to the expression of his views. Of annexation to the United States, he said: "I have never been able myself to perceive the policy of the desired connection, or discover in it any advantage—which could possibly result to Texas. But on the contrary a long train of consequences of the most appalling character and magnitude have never failed to present themselves whenever I have entertained the subject . . . The step, once taken, would produce a lasting regret, and ultimately prove as disastrous to our liberty and hopes as the triumphant sword of the enemy." Annexation would deprive Texas of her public lands, of the right to make appropriations therefrom for internal improvements and education, to levy her own taxes, to control commerce . . . pouring her abundant treasures into the lap of another people than her own." When he turned from this "dark and dreary

The new 1946 Pontiac has been revealed by H. J. Klingler, chief executive of Pontiac Motor Division. New design and reapplication have added to the Pontiac's long, road hugging appearance. Note the curving bumpers which extend to protect fender skirts and set off the car's overall sleekness.

Those visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Townzen this week were their grandson, Sgt.

Robert Garland Ledbetter, just home from India, and his father and mother and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Ledbetter and Thomas, from O'Donnell. One of the interesting things their grandson had to tell them was that he had been around the world, and had crossed the Red sea where Moses led the people of Israel through on dry land. Also visiting in their home was Mr. Townzen's niece, Mr. and Mrs. Jess O'Dressa, and their son-in-law, Cpl. Earl Pugh, from the south Pacific.

Grace Tarpley and Lt. P. Hughes, of Abilene, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Tarpley, Friday and Saturday.

G. W. (Boy) Tarpley arrived home for good Sunday evening. He received his discharge from Ft. Bliss, El Paso.

GOMEZ HD CLUB MET WITH MRS. ROWDEN

The Gomez H. D. Club met in the home of Mrs. R. J. Rowden November 9th, 1945. Six members answered roll call with "What I've achieved this year." For opening exercises we sang two songs. Discussed ways to make money for the club, decided to make stuffed toys to sell for Christmas gifts. Members worked on things for our exhibit. We have another sewing day Wednesday, Nov. 14 at Mrs. Tittle's.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and hot cocoa were served to Mesdames Sears, Mason, Kelly, Hodges, Lay and the hostess, Mrs. Rowden.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Once in a full moon or maybe a little oftener, I will get a Special Delivery letter—or send one myself. And every time I do, it agitates me when I see the rate has been hiked to 16 cents—3 cents for the regular stamp and 13 cents for the special. She used to be 2 cents and 10 cents—12 cents altogether. So the new rate is up 33 per cent—and we are suppose to be against higher prices and inflation. But right in our own P. O. and the Govt. where most of the preachin' is coming from about inflation, they go to work and ups the postage.

But last week, I was readin' where an oil company wanted to sell some aviation gasoline for use in cars, and being super-gas they asked 18 per cent more. The OPA said to 'em, brother, "no sale." And the OPA still being in the driver's seat, the gas is off the market.

And to add insult, the last special delivery 16-cent letter we got, came via the regular route—just plain regular Hickory 3-cent style speed. Anybody understanding inflation—or the OPA—they are Einstein, or almost.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

Noted Farmer Speaker To Visit Texas

Amarillo—Farmers of Texas will hear C. J. McLanahan, educational director of the Co-operative League of Chicago, in a series of five lectures held in key cities throughout the state during this month, according to Donald W. May, educational director for co-operative farm organizations of the southwestern area.

Mr. McLanahan will bring an important message on the place that cooperation occupies in American agriculture and the development of a better farm economy through co-operative activity, Mr. May stated.

The first of the series of lectures will be held in the County Court house at Houston on November 16; the second will be held in Waco at the Austin Avenue Methodist Church on November 19; the third will be held at the ballroom of the Stoneleigh Hotel in Dallas on November 20; the fourth at the Hale County Agricultural Building in Plainview on November 22; and the fifth at the ballroom of the Amarillo Hotel in Amarillo on November 24.

Farmers, ranchers and stockmen are urged to hear these talks. The meeting places have been set up at various localities across the state so as to accommodate a greater portion of the farm population of Texas.

Among those attending the Tech Homecoming in Lubbock Saturday were: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Teague, Mrs. Sam Teague, Alyce Claire Teague, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Hackney, and Billy Redford and Joe Pete May.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Culver were in Lubbock Tuesday on business.

Fred E. Miller, with near two years service in Europe and in the army four years to the day, surprised his mother, Mrs. Ida Miller, of north second street, by his return Wednesday, discharged. He married an English girl and is sending for her immediately. Mrs. Miller had three sons, two in the navy and one in the army, and all are discharged. She has a fourth son enlisting with the Marines.

Roy and Marshall Huffman, ages 10 and 12, while riding the same bicycle, collided with a local taxi at Hill and Highway Tuesday, narrowly escaping death, but sustaining minor bruises.

County Court passed term over to Dec. 4th, on account of so many of the jurors being busy harvesting their crops. Several misdemeanors and two civil cases were continued.

Mr. S. W. White, prominent farmer for the past many years at Meadow is moving next week to a ranch he recently purchased in Llano county, in sight of the Buchanan Lake. While he admits some deer and turkey and good fishing near by, he would not stress the bounty too much as he has many friends here who are sportsmen.

A number of local bankers were in Andrews, Monday, for the opening of the First State Bank. The Andrews News carried 24 pages last week, congratulating the new bank, being ads that reached from Amarillo to Big Spring, and west to Pecos, and Hobbs, N. M. There were many from Midland and Odessa.

Mrs. Herman Trigg of Brownwood is here this week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stricklin. Mrs. Stricklin is now home after spending 12 days in the local hospital.

Ernest Bennett, of Lorington, is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pyeatt. He served 23 months in the south Pacific and at the time he received his discharge he had been a patient in the naval hospital in San Diego, California.

Tech Sgt. John H. Jenkins called his wife from California, Tuesday evening, saying he had just landed and would be on his way home as quickly as possible. He has been stationed on Okinawa.

Rationing at a Glance

By Peppy Blocker
How many times a day do you hear someone ask why price control must continue? When we come right down to brass tacks and admit the truth, we know that there are a great many people who have never believed in the Office of Price Administration or anything pertaining thereto. And now that the war is over, they take great pleasure in making sarcastic remarks about this agency, never stopping to seriously consider what might happen if price control should be dropped at this point. Don't take our word for it—ask someone who remembers what did happen after the last war. Remember the old adage—"Experience is the best teacher." The people who "thought up" price control, as so many of you put it, have worked against great opposition to put it over and they're not going to let down now with the ultimate victory in sight. As soon as supply meets demand, you may be sure that this phase of the OPA will be dropped—but not until that time.

Let's look at it this way. Suppose the last time you let your child eat bananas, they made him deathly ill and it scared you so badly that you swore you'd never again let him eat bananas. All right—along comes Junior with a weep and a wail and cries and begs and pleads and stomps—all for bananas. Will you "buck" Junior to the end, Will Junior give in and be reasonable? It's easy to forget the stomach ache the last bananas caused—but there's sure to be another ache unless you and Junior stand firm. Price control is our "mama" in the corollary of our little story and we are the "Juniors." If we are not wise enough and strong enough to stand pat, then "mama" must do it for us. Price Control MUST continue until supply meets demand—so let's all pitch in and cooperate instead of criticising.

What's Back of My Gas Burners?

A thousand years ago, the Chinese used natural gas fuel for evaporating salt brine. They transported the gas in bamboo tubes. Thus, in those days, the gas business was simple. Now, however, it has become complicated and technical, utilizing many scientific devices and processes.

Since natural gas service so vitally affects your daily life, we believe you would enjoy knowing more about it. Therefore, we plan to publish a series of four advertisements which will attempt to explain how natural gas is brought from its deep-underground reservoir to the burners of your gas appliances. Due to space limitation, the story must be brief and over-simplified. The drawing at the left will help you follow the gas on its travels.

Most of our gas comes from Hutchinson, Moore, Carson and Potter Counties in the Panhandle Gas Field, one of the largest in the world. We purchase some gas in Ector County for use in the southern portion of our system. In the Panhandle Field gas wells are generally drilled by the "rotary" method, so named because of the rotating motion of the drill bit. A modern rotary drilling outfit costs from $100,000 to $200,000.

The hard steel drill bit is the cutting tool which drills down through successive strata of shale and rock. Screwed to the top of the bit is a string of hollow, round drill pipe which in turn is screwed into the bottom of a hollow, square pipe known as a "Kelly." The Kelly works through a square hole in the rotary turntable. Thus, when the engines spin the turntable, the Kelly, the drill pipe and the bit also spin, and the bit cuts its way downward. Heavy pumps force drilling mud down through the hollow Kelly and drill pipe, through perforations in the bit, then outside the pipe and back to the surface, carrying with it the cuttings from the bit.

As the bit moves downward, additional joints of drill pipe are added below the Kelly.

When the gas producing horizon is reached, a string of steel pipe, known as casing, is inserted in the hole from the surface of the ground to the top of the producing horizon. After running the casing, cement is run through the casing and forced out around the bottom in order to prevent the gas from escaping around the outside of the pipe. Then the well is drilled into the gas-producing horizon.

A steel derrick, capable of supporting weights of 200 tons or more, is used to support the drill pipe during drilling and the casing when casing is being installed. When the well is completed, the derrick is removed. In its place is installed a "Christmas Tree," an odd-looking assembly of valves and fittings necessary in producing, testing and maintaining the well.

EXPLANATION: 1—Drilling derrick. 2—Christmas tree. 3—Meter House. 4—Field gathering line. 5—Field compressor station. 6—Absorption tower at gasoline plant. 7—High-pressure main transmission line. 8—Town border station. 9—Intermediate pressure line. 10—District regulator station. 11—Low-pressure line. 12—Gas meter. 13—Your yard and house piping.
