

Nobody had prepared us for the surprise, so it was especially nice to discover Friday night that Clyde Hays of Black is quite a wit in his own right. He was competing with a number of other joke-spinners at the awards meeting Friday night, so was in pretty fast company, but our Farmer County product did real well.

Clyde is the sort of a fellow who can stand up before a good sized crowd, and not only feel completely at ease, but make everybody who's watching and listening relax too.

Now, this relaxing we're talking about isn't the kind we did so much of in a humanities lecture when in college. Clyde is entertaining and informal in a take-it-easy way.

He's really fun to listen to, and we recommend him to our readers.

Have you noticed how High Plains Farm & Home, which is the agricultural and home news supplement to The Star, has been growing?

Public reaction from our plans along these lines has been very encouraging, and we believe that before too many weeks roll by, Farmer County will have a farm "voice" in this medium that will measure up to the standards set by county farmers themselves.

Her name doesn't appear on it, but June Floyd, The Star's society editor, pens the weekly "Happy Homemaker" column in the section, and it's one of our best read features.

She always appreciates comments and news contributions from her homemaking readers.

Supper Draws Crowd

About 70 residents of the Lakeview community attended the annual community-wide supper, which is sponsored by the HD Club in that community, at the Bohanna school cafeteria Thursday evening.

A report was heard on the latest developments of the swimming pool project. The Lakeview HD Club has made donations to a fund for the erection of a swimming pool for the past three years.

Dr. Paul Spring, county health officer, spoke on the importance of mosquito control and showed slides pertaining to this subject.

Plans were made for most of the farmsteads in the community to be sprayed with aerial spray by Elvie Jennings.

Cotton John Smith of KGNC-TV was presented several boxes of gifts in recognition of the service he has given the community in publicizing their activities.

The program included an enumeration of accomplishments in the community by Mrs. John Bengler, a speech by Clyde Hays about what the contest has meant to the community, and talks from the guests.

New members are Tommie Little, Warren and Jimmie Sue Brooks, Alton and Leona Day, Wayne Jones, Opal Robertson, D. L. Harvey, E. C. and Gracie E. Chitwood.

Those present at the meeting in addition to the visitors, were Mrs. Jones, Ralph Taylor, and Mack Bainum.

"The main purpose of the x-rays is to cut down on the incidence of tuberculosis in the state, but many other things can also be determined by these x-rays. In a number of instances heart conditions and other chest diseases have been detected.

"Another thing which everyone should keep in mind is the importance of following up on the advice which each person will receive from the State Health Department following the making of these x-rays. Whatever advice is given should be heeded."

Mrs. Edelman says that permission has been secured to use the vacant lots across the street east of Ethridge-Spring Agency for a parking lot.

"Anyone who desires to park over there while having chest x-rays made is welcome to do so," says Mrs. Edelman.

City Council Talks About School, Building, Milk Code

Friona City Council Tuesday night gave approval to Friona Independent School District to extend the proposed new school building to the city property lines.

Erecting a building this close to streets are usually restricted under building codes for the class of zoning in which the school is located.

"Since this is the school, I cannot see that it would hurt anything," said Mayor A. W. Anthony Sr.

Also about building codes, the council voted to warn W. M. White to follow the regulations for buildings. White secured a permit to construct a business building south of the Hub Motor Freight Lines Office, and had started the foundation in a flimsy manner, Roy Wilson, city clerk, told the council.

The council voted to furnish water at the ball park free this summer at the request of the baseball directors.

A rate change was approved to Southwestern Public Service, affecting businesses that have several meters for one building. Instead of several meters the businesses will be rewired for one meter, and thus cut operating and service costs, the electric company request said.

The new rate will be $5.20 for the first 100 kw. used a month, with decreasing charges for additional power used.

This will not be a rate increase, but in some cases it will mean a lower monthly bill to most businesses. Only a few businesses will have rate increases, according to Wilson.

The council decided to invite representatives of the Fire Department to meet with them next time to discuss some friction between the fire department and the city over methods in which the firemen must obtain gasoline and placement of drying racks for hoses.

Councilmen J. G. McFarland and Oscar Baxter said they had met with firemen last Thursday night to hear some of the things firemen are displeased over.

They said the firemen do not like the method of buying gasoline which requires they have a purchase order each time. The councilmen told of an instance last week when the firemen filled the truck with gasoline, brought a signed ticket to Wilson only to be refused a purchase order.

McFarland said the bill was for $1.80, and was made by Ralph Shirley. When Wilson refused to issue the purchase order, Chief Charlie Bairum instructed Shirley to get a can and take the gas from the fire truck tank. This is what he did, McFarland said.

McFarland said it seemed like the city could allow the firemen to bring signed tickets and obtain a purchase order.

He and Baxter said there seemed to be no reason why the drying racks could not be placed where they would be handy to the firemen, too.

The council approved payment of a $1,785.27 bill for engineering fees for surveying and supervision of curb and gutter building on Eleventh and Fifth Streets.

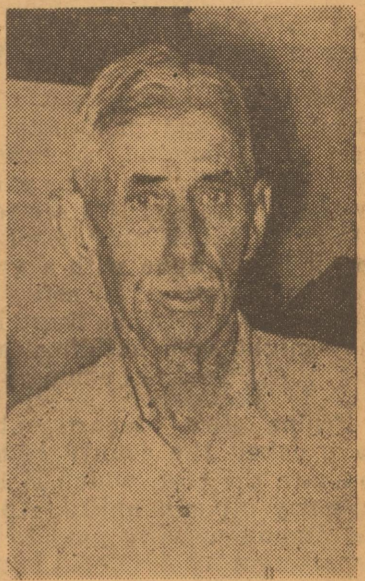

Discussion arose about extending the city limits to include a block on the north of town. The proposed new limits would include property owned by Fred Carson, C. A. Turner, and Raymond Jones, Carson and Turner had indicated to the city that they would like to have their property in the city, but the council was not certain whether Jones wanted to be in the city or not.

Also discussed was the city's milk regulation. J. Q. Mars had contacted Wilson for a permit to sell bottled milk, and wanted to make sure the regulation now governing milk distribution is clearly defined. Wilson is to bring a rewritten milk code to the council. The present code is dated about 1947, and is outdated, Wilson said.

A new milk code would affect about three or four persons who sell milk in the city, Wilson said.

The council instructed Wilson to check on the license of a photographer taking pictures in the city for Ware's. Some people were "rooked" by a transient photographer several years ago, and the council said they want to be sure of fair treatment.

Next meeting time for the council is to be after Wilson returns from his vacation July 15. The council holds regular meetings on the first Monday night of each month, but decided to postpone the regular meeting in July due to busy harvest time and Wilson's being gone.

Pastor Arrives

New pastor of the Assembly of God Church and his family moved into the church's parsonage this week after he preached his first sermon as pastor Sunday.

He is Rev. Henry Clay Lonis. The Lonis family includes his wife, Morine, 39, and two sons, Scott, 18, and Larry 14.

Rev. Lonis, 46, comes to Friona with 17 years of experience in preaching.

He was "converted" when he was 23 and entered the ministry when he was 29.

"I was unable to obtain formal training for the ministry, and have done quite a bit of extensive studying on my own," he says.

He spent his boyhood years near Seagraves. He was former pastor at Lefors.

Mrs. Lonis can play the piano, but more often plays her accordion during services.

NEW PASTOR OF FRIONA ASSEMBLY OF GOD CHURCH — Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Lonis visited in the La Grand Morton home Sunday afternoon. Rev. Lonis preached his first sermon as the new pastor Sunday morning.

Other out of town visitors were Paul Basinger, who was made a Master Mason at the same time as Moseley, also of Yellowhouse Lodge; E. R. Berry, District Deputy Grand Master of the 100th District of Farwell Lodge No. 977 at Bovina; and L. M. Burnett, Levelland Lodge No. 1236.

Other officers installed were W. D. Elliott, Senior Warden; R. N. Gore, Junior Warden; H. L. Outland, Treasurer; Joe Fallwell, Secretary; Clyde Hays, Chaplain; Mack Bainum, Senior Deacon; Dean Hall, Junior Deacon; Dalton Caffey, Senior Steward; C. L. Outgoing officers were Charles Allen, Hugh Moseley, V. O. Christian, Joe Fallwell, Steve Messenger, W. D. Elliott, R. N. Gore, O. D. Bingham, Raymond Cook, D. M. Kelley, and Clyde Hays.

Ice cream and cake were served following the installation.

Don Lewis Earns Dean's Roll Mark

Don Lewis of Friona placed in the top two percent of the entire enrollment at Midwestern University during the 1956-57 sessions, a letter from the dean of the college reports.

This qualifies Lewis for the Dean's honor roll, the highest honor of the University.

Lewis will be a junior next fall, and is majoring in sacred music. This summer he is choir director at the Friona Methodist Church, and is employed at Herring Implement Company.

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Rural Fires: A Problem The Friona Star

Last Friday when Friona fire trucks left town to fight a fire out in the country, a problem that Friona and rural residents face was called to attention.

The problem: What to do about rural fire protection? Who should bear the cost? Who should own the equipment used in fighting rural fires?

Friona has in the past, allowed the small truck and pickup to go out on fires in surrounding communities. And there seems that no steps will be taken by the city to end this service. For the city to do this is an act of courtesy, and it is not done with a grudge. The fire department never refuses to go out into rural areas when there is a chance they might save buildings around the one which may be burning.

Friona fire department officials have asked the county commissioners to share the cost, which is being done in many other counties. About $50 is the amount usually paid to a city fire department for a trip out in the country to fight a fire. But the county commissioners were not willing to do this, for if they offered to share the expense in Friona, the other two fire departments in the county would expect the same treatment, with just reason.

It seems logical that the county should share this expense of rural fire protection, since the county, instead of the city, collects taxes from the rural areas.

Friona gets contributions from about one-tenth of the owners who receive fire protection service in rural areas. This is invested in additional equipment for the department, as is all money the city pays firemen for time in fighting fires inside the city.

One solution to the problem would be obtaining fire fighting equipment for the rural area through a joint effort by those who would have that service available when the need arises. The cost would depend on the type of equipment desired and the availability of low cost equipment from government surplus.

A community that this writer has observed did this. The community and a small unincorporated town cooperated to obtain the equipment, a serviceable used fire truck, with a large tank—about 500 gallon capacity. They attached a fog nozzle to the hose, instead of the usual stream nozzle in order to conserve the water. Several days after the equipment started operating, a home valued about $6,500 was saved from burning and damage was kept at about $250.

If this writer remembers correctly, the cost of the equipment was about one half that of the house that was saved.

It might be possible for an arrangement of this type to be made in this area.

Court Requests Road For Farwell

At the regular meeting of the Parmer County Commissioners Court Monday, a request was made to the district highway engineer for a paved road in Farwell. The request, made to the engineer, S. C. McCarty, was as follows:

"The Commissioners Court of Parmer County, Texas, requests that you hardtop a road from the southwest corner of the Farwell townsite in an easterly direction to Ninth Street of the City of Farwell, and north to Highway 60.

"This road is urgently needed to keep the heavy traffic off the city streets and for connection between these roads. We ask that you put this project in as quickly as possible."

Other business for the day included the paying of bills and warrants and the purchasing of a road grader for Precinct 2 (Bovina). A bid of $17,872 from West Texas Equipment Company was accepted for a Caterpillar Diesel grader, No. 12. Trade-in allowed on an old grader was $1,872, making the balance of the purchase price $16,000.

County officials on hand for the meeting were A. D. Smith, Judge; J. H. McDonald, E. G. Phipps, Charlie Jefferson, and H. L. Ivy, commissioners; and Hugh Moseley, clerk.

Water Problem Rears Head

The probable need for additional pumping facilities were called to attention this week by City Clerk Roy Wilson.

Wilson reports both water tanks in Friona were almost empty Friday during a heavy lawn watering period, even though city water pumps were operating at capacity.

"When the potato shed starts operation the city will have to make arrangements for more water. Under normal use last year, the shed probably used 300 to 500 gallons per minute.

"With the city using water at normal rates, the tanks cannot fill the need for water even though they are filled overnight," Wilson said.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Elmore Oldham, Mrs. John Hand, and Mrs. Jack Tomlin. Girls making the trip were Johnny Tomlin, Jonnie Hand, Carol Oldham, Sally Hough, Maxine LaFavers, Nancy Outland, Raye Jene Jones, Robbie Bogges, Jacquelyn Magness, Joan Wheeler, and Mary Ann Stacy. Cynthia Caffey and Wesslie Hand were guests.

Rain Nears 9 Inch Mark

Rainfall Saturday night of .67 brings the total for the year to 8.97. Total for June is 1.61, reports rainfall recorder for U. S. Weather Bureau, Buddy Lloyd.

Saturday's rain came with light hail in areas south of Friona, with reports of some heavy hail near Muleshoe.

T. I. Burselon of Hub community said the hail was light at his place. No serious damage was reported to ripening wheat as the hail fell only a short period.

Bill Wooley of the Hub community said the hail was not heavy enough to do damage during the time it fell.

Street Sweeper Out Of Use

Last two regular sweeping times were missed on Friona streets due to a breakdown of the city's street sweeper. A key in the drive shaft for the gutter broom was sheared, and when repairing this, a break was discovered in the main housing.

The breakdown occurred Friday a week ago. Repair was nearly finished this week.

Firemen Find Barn In Embers

Friona firemen Friday at noon found a small barn on the S. E. Beaton farm in embers upon reaching the farm after a seven mile drive east toward Black.

They doused the smoldering remains in order to keep wind from spreading fire, reports Charles Bainum, fire chief.

The barn is reported to be a total loss.

The new additions to the schools which are being prepared for now will certainly be an asset to the town and community, but don't you hate to see all those nice trees being taken up? Some of them are so pretty and make such nice shade that it seems a pity that they have to be removed.

The removal of a tree always reminds us of a tree just off the courthouse square at Comanche, Texas. Our curiosity was aroused by this tree on our first visit to the town about 15 years ago. Upon inquiring we were told this story:

A long time ago when Indians occasionally raided the town, one white man always got behind the tree to fight back.

A number of years later when paving was being done around the square, workmen made ready to remove the tree. The man who had used it as a barricade ordered the workmen to leave the tree standing. They were rather insistent upon following orders but the old fellow was very obstinate.

He went to his home, got his gun, then returned to the scene. In a very firm voice he issued the following statement: "That tree has saved my life many times and I'm not going to let you destroy it." We have heard the same story several times and can't vouch for its authenticity, but the tree still stands. When we were in Comanche in April we noticed that a fence had been erected around the tree. A resident of the town said that the fence had been put up for protection of the tree.

The variety of crops which we grow makes our section of the country very beautiful at this time of year. The wheat fields are beginning to make golden patches on our landscape and the young cotton, small grain crops and vegetables all add different shades of green.

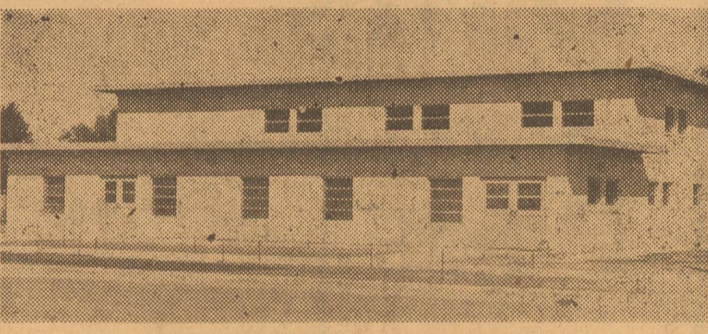

Several times within the past few months a request has been made by hospital officials that visitors observe the visiting hours which have been arranged for the benefit of the hospital staff and the patients. Too many persons are not complying with these requests.

Why not stop a few minutes and consider the importance of heeding the requests? The patient's welfare should come first in any hospital, and when one is ill too many visitors are detrimental to his welfare. Then, there is the hospital staff to consider.

Any staff can render better service to its patients if the rules and regulations which it makes are observed. Most of us are very anxious to do what is best for our relatives and friends under any circumstances, so why not in the case of visiting them when they are hospitalized?

Let's take it upon ourselves as individuals to promote strict adherence to this regulation. By so doing we can do much to make any person's stay in the hospital more pleasant and help the staff render more efficient service.

The biggest understatement we have seen in print this year read, "It Rained In Texas." Some of the rain stories which have been printed will be retold for years and years and 1957 will long be remembered as "The year the creek (or river) overflowed."

Scouts Camp At Don Harrington

Boy Scouts of Troop 54 at Black, spent the week of June 16-22 at Camp Don Harrington. The boys report that they enjoyed the outing very much and learned a lot about outdoor life, being helpful to one another, handicraft, rifle shooting, and good scouting in general. The mothers of the scouts reported they were glad to see the boys return even though they were sun tanned and somewhat dirty. Their return trip almost ended in a tragedy. Jimmy Patton and Dean Nazworth were returning in the Patton's pickup loaded with camping gear. As they neared Hereford the pickup collided with a grain truck. J. R. "Pete" Braxton, who was following the pickup, took the boys to Deaf Smith County hospital in Hereford. After treatment for cuts and bruises and a few stitches, they were released. Ira Bruce Parr and Johnny Miller remained at camp over the weekend and attended a school for additional training in preparation for the National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa. The two boys plan to leave for that trip July 6.

These two boys each received five year badges and Jimmie Patton received a six year badge. Ira Bruce, Johnny, and Jimmy also received rifle range badges.

Men who shared the adult sponsorship were W. S. Crow, Nelson Coon, Ralph Price, J. R. Braxton, J. R. Nazworth, Scoutmaster; and Ellis Tatum, assistant scoutmaster. Boys making the trip were Larry Elmfore, Earl Crow, Dean Nazworth, Ray Gene Braxton, Jim Braxton, Randy Price, Craig Coon, Tommy Tatum, and Billy Edelman. The campfire ceremony was held Friday evening and the families of the boys were invited to attend. Those going were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Braxton; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Price and Jeff; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Parr, Iva, Ben, Donna Joe, and Kim; Mrs. J. R. Nazworth and Billy Ray; Mr. and Mrs. Coy Patton and Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Miller; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Edelman and Judy; Tommie Luellen; Winette Beaton, and Pat Cranfill.

Galen and Byron Brewer of Friona spent Wednesday and Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Bengier.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rockey visited in the home of Mrs. Helen Fangman and sons Sunday afternoon. Graham Prewett accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rolan and Ardith of Friona to Lubbock Sunday. Graham and Ardith visited the Texas Tech campus and plan to enter school there this fall.

From California

Mr. and Mrs. Gene C. Presley and children, Gary and Thama, and Mrs. Presley's mother, Mrs.

Carrie Arthur of Maricopa, Calif., are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Presley. The group went to Hereford Sunday and had a picnic in the park. They were joined by Mrs. Arthur's daughter, and family, Mrs. Noma Jewell. Gene Presley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Presley.

Arnold Fangman, who is stationed at Fort Ord, Calif., is home on leave. He flew to Albuquerque, N. M., where he was met by his mother, Mrs. Helen Fangman, and brothers, Teddy and Charles.

Scott-Stafford Vows Read Here Sunday

In an afternoon ceremony at the Lazbuddie Baptist Church on Sunday, June 23, Miss Juanita Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Scott of Lazbuddie, became the bride of Charles Stafford, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Stafford of Del Rio.

Rev. Stafford read the double ring ceremony for his son's wedding and was assisted by Rev. Ted Vassar, pastor of the Assembly of God Church of Levelland.

The church altar was decorated with fan shaped arrangements of greenery and pink roses. An improvised cross made of rosettes from Yucca blossoms and six branched candelabra centered the altar setting. A kneeling bench covered with white satin stood before a trellis of pink roses to complete the wedding setting. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. John Agee played traditional wedding music and accompanied Jim Gordon who sang "Oh Perfect Love," "Walk Hand in Hand" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Don Owens of Levelland attended the groom as best man. Ushers and candle lighters were Darrell Foster of Waxahachie and Ted Henly of Amarillo.

Maid of honor was Miss Barbara Akens of Clovis who wore a waltz length gown of white crystalline which featured a fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a small tiara of nylon tulle and carried a cascade arrangement of mixed flowers.

Misses Carolyn Scott, sister of the bride, and Danny Rue Cargile, bridesmaids, were attired in dresses of blue crystalline styled identically to that of the maid of honor. They wore blue nylon tulle tiaras and carried bouquets of mixed flowers with white streamers.

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore an original design gown of white chiffon over white satin. The waltz length creation featured a sweetheart neckline and long chiffon sleeves which came to points over her hands. The bouffant skirt fashioned with tiers of ruffled chiffon over satin was accented with lace and seed pearls.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with pink rosebuds and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Carrying out the traditional old, new, borrowed, and blue theme, the bride carried a linen handkerchief for something old; something new was her bridal ensemble; something borrowed was a dime she carried in her shoe for luck; and something blue was a garter which was given her by her aunt, Mrs.

Jack Smith. Mrs. Scott, mother of the bride, chose a blue and white linen dress with white accessories. The groom's mother, Mrs. Stafford, wore a navy lace dress with white and navy accessories. They each wore corsages of white astors. The home of the bride's parents was the scene of the reception held immediately following the ceremony. Composing the receiving line were the bridal couple and their parents. Miss Naomi Watson of Muleshoe presided at the bride's book. The reception table was covered with a lace cloth over green and was centered with the four-tiered wedding cake which was decorated with love birds and pink roses. Miniature wedding bells topped the confection. The bride's bouquet served as the floral arrangement for the table and bouquets of pink roses were placed throughout the receiving rooms. After the bride and groom cut the first piece of the cake, Miss Carolyn Scott served cake and Miss Danny Rue Cargile presided at the punch service. For a wedding trip the bride changed to a navy and white sheer cotton dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Following the trip, the newlyweds will be at home in

The Big Job is under way

Santa Fe is now loading thousands of cars of grain and grain products on its lines

Santa Fe has been serving agriculture since 1874, when we sponsored the migration of the Mennonite farmers who established the Kansas wheat belt, and brought with them from Europe the ancestors of the better varieties of wheat grown in America today.

During harvest time, Santa Fe has a big job to do.

At the country stations and terminal elevators along the line, as agriculture's "hired man," Santa Fe loads over 121,000 boxcars of grain a year—the total production of over 9,000,000 fertile acres. We also load over 34,000 cars of grain products on our line annually.

An important part of this job is done in advance by our own agriculture department, by collecting data on planted acreage, weather, crop damage and other factors that affect yield.

These statistics provide useful information for farmers, elevator operators and others interested in grain movements, and assist us in spotting grain-tight boxcars at strategic points at harvest time.

Our agriculture department works with the Federal and State agriculture departments, land grant colleges, and county agents in fighting destructive insects and plant diseases.

We are also privileged to award university scholarships annually to many farm youths in our territory.

We of the Santa Fe are proud of the part we have in serving the farmers of the West and Southwest in their essential task of feeding the Nation.

Jack Handle Assault Charged

Aggravated assault charges against Tullia Barraza were filed in county court Wednesday morning. The charges say Barraza attacked Raymond Everett with a jack handle every Sunday morning.

Both men are Bovina residents.

Barraza allegedly attacked Everett after chasing Everett's son home about 2 a. m. Sunday. When Everett tried to get Barraza to leave the Everett home, Barraza turned the jack handle weapon on Everett, according to Bill Sheehan, County Attorney. Everett received cuts about his head and arms but was not hospitalized.

Blair Hankins, account executive for the Amarillo office of Merrill, Lynch, Pearce, Fenner and Beane, spoke to the Lions clubbers last Thursday night. He also put in an appearance (and that was, in fact, his main reason for being in town) at the Friona Investment Club's meeting.

Merrill-Lynch, as they are usually referred to, are the marvels of the financial world. In an industry characterized by conservative, almost staid policies, these wonders of the money circles have really raised some eyebrows in the past few years.

Actually, they haven't done anything so outlandish when one really applies a sensible analysis of what they were faced with. The problem for their business was: How can we get more people to invest in stocks and bonds, and more specifically, how can we get them to buy stocks and bonds through us?

About the time they began to scratch their heads on this problem, the "tight money" market came along and speeded up their plans. What might have been considered a step that was just too bold or outlandish actually went over plenty big with the financial brass on account of these special conditions.

Merrill-Lynch undertook a broad customer research program, and coupled it to a promotion plan that aimed straight for the masses with advertisements in leading newspapers. The results have been overwhelming.

Today, it is possible to buy common stocks of virtually any major industry through Merrill-Lynch on the installment plan! Such a daring plan has captured the imagination of financiers, and captured quite a bit of "chicken feed" capital, too, we might add. And small amounts, if there are enough of them, do add up.

This makes interesting conversation, but let's not be led astray, however. It's still mighty, mighty hard to beat putting your money into your own community, where you yourself can watch out for it.

Friona is fairly bursting with opportunities. The chances are rare, but if you're "loaded" at the moment and would like to invest, we suggest you talk with some of your Friona businessmen and community promoters before you dash off to Wall Street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Turner attended an open house for the 1958 model television at Amarillo Sunday afternoon.

The Store Where Your $ Buys More

IS YOUR INSURANCE AGENT No-Faced?

They used to call the nameless, door-to-door peddler "the man without a face." Slipping into town without notice—and out again the same way—he depended on a glib tongue to sell his cheap books and kitchen gimmicks. He didn't want to be remembered or recognized—after he had made his sale.

When you're buying a gadget worth a few pennies, it may not be important whether you buy it from a reputable, established dealer or a peddler "without a face." But when you buy something important, like an insurance policy, you want to know the man who sells it—and be able to find him when you want him.

So be sure when you insure. Buy your protection from an established, local independent agent to whom you're a neighbor, not a number. Look for the agent who displays the red and white Capital Stock seal—the "standard of protection" for more than a century. That's your guide to real "peace of mind" insurance anywhere.

MISSIONARY AND SON — Mrs. L. A. McKenzie and her son, Charles, are visiting together in the Rev. A. L. Sartain home while she is in Friona on a speaking tour of surrounding towns. She and her husband have been in Jamaica for 17 years.

She's Missionary To Jamaicans

"Jamaican people are in the grip of superstition and fear of 'witch doctor' religions to a greater extent than backward tribes in Africa," says a missionary visiting in Friona.

She is Mrs. A. L. McKenzie. She and her husband have been in Jamaica 17 years, except for brief visits to the United States.

A visit with her son, Charles, 14, and a speaking tour brings her to this country this time. Charles is living with Rev. L. A. Sartain of the First Baptist Church, in order to further his education. The McKenzies and Rev. Sartain became acquainted while Rev. Sartain was on an evangelistic tour of Jamaica last year.

After 17 years of work, definite signs of progress are reported by Mrs. McKenzie. They pastor eight churches, two mission stations, manage three government schools and an infant school, and have formed two co-op bakeries.

Their main handicap to faster progress is widespread illiteracy and the appeal of false religions to the mind of uneducated persons, Mrs. McKenzie says.

A high birth rate, laziness, immorality, and a relatively few rich people being in control of the island's sugar cane land are other factors which contribute to the low level of living found on the island, she says.

"The religions of the island—and there are many—have a grip on many of the people," Mrs. McKenzie says.

"Among them are Pocomania, Obeah, Wrapheads, Washfeet and other witchcraft sects. Obeah is perhaps the most feared of these, and everybody is afraid of Obeah.

"People will refuse to report crimes to the island's police for fear that someone will 'work' Obeah on them. If someone hates you, he will see the Obeah worker and get some poison from him.

"He will place the poison in a place where the victim will contact it. Maybe this place will be in the person's shoe. As the person contacts the poison, it overcomes him gradually, but surely," she says.

The missionary who was on the field before we went to Jamaica was killed in this way, Mrs. McKenzie says.

Another way used in Obeah by a person who desires to kill another is sprinkling a powder in soup the victim is to eat, finally killing the person who eats it, Mrs. McKenzie says.

Even more harmful than the physical aspects of these religions is the psychological affect it has on the people. No one is willing to do anything that will displease the Obeah, she says.

Other sects merely add to the problem of immorality. The island is a colony of England, and the language they speak is a patois English, but a person in the United States would not understand any of it, and would think it is a foreign language.

"I still cannot understand the language they speak if one of the natives speaks hurriedly or angrily," Mrs. McKenzie says.

Charles can speak the language and understand it, since he has lived in the country all of his life before coming to live with the Sartains.

While here in Friona, Mrs. McKenzie has spoken to the First Baptist Church and several organizations of the church, telling them of the plight of Jamaica. A special offering was taken to help the McKenzies financially.

She is also on a busy schedule for making appearances before churches in the area. Mrs. McKenzie plans to return to Jamaica about September.

Pres Abbott Dies

N. M. His wife, Mae, preceded him in death five years ago. She also had been active in missionary work with Spanish-speaking people of South Texas. Pres Abbott was born November 3, 1873, in Oconee County, S. C. His parents were J. Ben and Elizabeth Carpenter Abbott. The family moved to Texas in 1886 and settled in Parker County.

He moved to West Texas in 1893, and a year later, Pres sought a job with the XIT ranch of the Texas Panhandle, which at that time embraced three million acres.

He was hired by the ranch at $25 per month, with meals and "lodging" thrown in. Several years later Pres was married to Mae Elizabeth Messenger in Deaf Smith County, 1913. The Messengers had lived near Friona.

John was the only child born to the couple. As the years rolled on, Pres Abbott became one of the area's most adroit story tellers. At the time of his death, he was the number one source of history on Bovina and folklore of the Plains at the time of the big ranch.

Pres made a yearly pilgrimage to the XIT reunions, which usually were held in Dalhart. He always enjoyed swapping stories about old times with his friends.

Of Bovina, Pres used to say, "I didn't move to Bovina. It moved to me." He was on hand when the Santa Fe railroad was laid from Amarillo to Texico, and Bovina became a big cattle shipping point.

He loved to joke about himself, and referred to himself as "an old smooth-mouth" in later years of his life. His slightly-built figure was a familiar sight on Bovina streets, and he usually had a stick or two of peppermint in one of his pockets to pass out to friends he called on.

«The High Plains Farm and Home» Farmers Map War On Field Bindweed

Bindweed is no longer an "Isn't it a good thing we don't have that stuff out here?" weed in Parmer County.

That fact is being driven home time and again by the county weed committee sponsored by the Farm Bureau, and apparently, the warning is beginning to sink in.

Numerous farmers over the county are waking up to discovering that many of their neighbors' farms and bar ditches—perhaps even their own—are popping up with infestations of the dreaded noxious weed.

That farmers are uniting for action against the threat of a full-scale bindweed invasion is evidenced by the increase in interest in meetings. Last Friday morning, for example, a dozen farmers met at the highway barn in Bovina to help work out a joint control plan with the State Highway Department.

Representing the state was Lloyd Killough, head of maintenance work in the county, who indicated willingness of the Department to work with farmers, but who pointed out that cooperation must be had from individuals.

"We can't go along in a control program unless farmers agree to leave treated patches alone and not plow through them," he emphasized.

Killough was referring to high-way rights-of-way that are particularly troublesome sources of infestation. The Department has already been active in treating bindweed spots with soil sterilant, and good results have been reported.

With the Highway Department in the fight, cooperation from the railroads is being sought,

and if it can be obtained, the control battle can move ahead

Law Pondered as Weeds Sprout

Spring rains did more than put big heads on the wheat of the area. They played nursemaid to a "jillion" weeds that are now cluttering up the fields of Parmer County area farmers.

The weeds are being taken care of where cultivation equipment can reach them, but when they appear in the rows of cotton, grain sorghum, corn, and other row crops, the problems begin.

Several years ago hormone type herbicides were introduced into the Plains and gave great promise of effective control of such field nuisances. One of the most popular is 2,4-D.

These "weed juices" have been very effective, but they do have their drawbacks. One of them is that they have adversely affected cotton, which is a certain type of broad-leaved plant that is susceptible to the hormone.

Last year, for instance, widespread complaint was heard from every quarter of the irrigated Plains concerning the use of 2,4-D in fields near enough to cotton so that some of the spray drifted and settled on the susceptible fields.

The problem was so acute, in fact, that the county voted to make itself come under special state laws which regulate the sale, transport, and use of hormone type herbicides.

This is the first year that farmers have been faced with trying to farm under the new regulations, and there are many questions popping up. It is required that any farmer who desires to use these herbicides first obtain a permit to do so.

These can be obtained from Darwyn Metcalf at Texas Tech. Applications for these permits can be obtained from the county agent, county attorney, the Farm Bureau office, Bovina Farm Chemical, Cummings Farm Store, or county elevators.

They must be submitted in duplicate.

County Agent Joe Jones has prepared a brief outline of things farmers should know before using hormone type herbicides. Here is a condensation of the rather detailed and lengthy state law broken down by Metcalf:

It will be the joint responsibility of applicator (or crop owner) and custom applicator to supervise the application in compliance with regulations set up by the Commissioner of Agriculture.

For aerial application an inspector of The Texas Department of Agriculture must be present.

Any person who engages an applicator when such an applicator is not licensed and bonded is violating the law. Do not hire custom applicator until you are sure he is licensed and bonded in Texas.

All permits expire when the acreage for which the permit was granted has been sprayed. Permits are good only on land for which they were granted.

An accurate wind gauge must be at the place of spraying during such spraying. No 2,4-D or 2,4-5-T shall be sprayed when wind velocity exceeds 10 miles per hour.

Distances from susceptible crops with varying wind velocities:

Velocity	Downwind	Upwind
0-3 mph	1 mile	½ mile
4-6 mph	2 miles	¾ mile
7-10 mph	4 miles	250 feet

RECORDS: The applicator must keep records for a period of two years:

- The name and address of the person in control of the land or crops.
- The names and addresses of the person and firm making the application.
- The exact location of the land.

Food Advice For Travelers

Keeping your family well-fed may be your biggest vacation problem. Here's some food advice for travelers from extension foods and nutrition specialists.

Include lots of fruit, vegetables, meat, eggs and milk in your diet. Try to avoid fat or fried foods and sweets, such as too many soft drinks, candy, cookies and ice cream. These foods may not be harmful at home in moderation, but it's easy to eat too many on a trip. They may cause you to omit other necessary foods. Eating well-balanced meals will do more than anything else to prevent car sickness and constipation—two common problems of travelers.

To select a safe, sanitary restaurant, specialists suggest you watch where local people eat or follow the recommendation of travel authorities. Eating places within a large city usually are under more strict, sanitary control than those outside city limits.

Other important suggestions: Drink only pasteurized milk. Refuse any other. Avoid foods such as potato salads, custards or cream pie desserts. Dangers of food poisoning are greatest in these foods.

the Soil Conservation District, which has three ready for that purpose. The rent on the equipment is $4 per day.

The spreaders are located at the following places: A. L. Black farm, 4½ miles east of the Hub; Walter Kaltwasser farm, 7 miles east of Farwell on Oklahoma Lane road; and Roy Crawford, Bovina vocational agriculture teacher.

It was pointed out at the meeting that Parmer County has led the state in weed control work of this type, and is a model for neighboring counties. Considerable attention has been focused on methods being used here.

All of the farmers agreed that the ideal time to get rid of bindweed in the county is before it gets any worse—and it's already worse than most people realize.

Farmers who need to apply chemicals for control of the weed can obtain spreaders from

Easy Outdoor Cookery

A quick, easy way to prepare the main dish for a picnic or outdoor meal is to cook on skewers — "Shish-Kabobs" are delicious and different.

There are many possibilities, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists. You may have all vegetables or all meat on the skewer, or alternate the meat cubes with a combination of vegetables such as tomato wedges, chunks of carrot, mushrooms, pieces of green pepper, onion, etc.

A basic "Shish-Kabob" is made with boneless meat, cut in 1½ or 2-inch cubes. Beef, lamb, ham or pork may be used.

With lamb or veal, use the shoulder or leg; with beef, use the round, chuck or rump. Allow ¼ to ¾ pound per person.

Prepare the meat by simply brushing with lemon juice and olive oil, or marinate for 2 hours to 2 days in the following mixture: 1 part of lemon juice to 3 parts olive oil seasoned with crushed garlic, salt and pepper, and if you wish, add some thyme, oregano, bay leaf or cumin.

Now string the cubes on your skewers—if you like the meat rare, push the cubes closely together. For all around crispness, separate the chunks on the skewer.

Broil over coals. It will take from 10 to 16 minutes, depending on how well done you want the food.

Serve immediately.

Onion Situation Looks Favorable

A group of Farwell onion growers are crossing their fingers and holding their breaths. If nothing happens to their splendid 85-acre onion crop, and the market keeps its feet for another 15 days, they'll be in the chips. In fact, they stand a good chance of netting $1,000 or more per acre.

J. T. and Euvon Ford, brothers who farm east of town, and J. T.'s sons, Doyle and Burl, are the farmers who are taking the big plunge into the vegetable business this year, and so far, everything looks rosy.

"We hope to start harvesting July 5," J. T. says this week. Right now (at least, on Saturday it was) the market is hovering around $3.25 a sack—that's 50 pounds.

This prospect for good prices when harvest gets rolling next month has prompted some high offers from onion speculators. Last week Ford turned down $750 per acre for the smelly bulbs, and that was field price, although he would have had to water them one more time.

"We figure at that price we could have made $675 per acre," he says. "But we believe we'll hold on to see how much we can get out of them ourselves. This onion business is just like the oil business."

So far, things have gone smoothly for the Fords. They got their sets out and up to good stands, and planting depths appear to have been accurately calculated for maximum development. The yield is expected to be around 800 sacks per acre, and 80 to 82 per cent No. 1's.

Weeding costs have run $15 per acre—not considered prohibitive since they figured to spend about $40 an acre on this cost of production. The spring rains helped out on the water situation, and they have irrigated only four times, about half of what they had anticipated would be required. One more irrigation will finish the crop.

Total production costs will be about $150 per acre. "Everything's gone well for us so far, but we've learned a lot this first year," says J. T. "I know that we can come back next year and improve everything quite a bit."

Several factors are contributing to improved prospects for the High Plains onion crop. The main one is that the North Texas crop has been washed out by heavy rains, and that there's no competition from that quarter to worry about.

Right now, the biggest threat lies to the north, in the sunny Colorado Valleys. They usually begin their harvests around July 15, and it will be the aim of the Plains growers to market their onions as speedily as possible to get in under the Colorado harvest which will peel back prices. The Fords have harvest hands already lined up, and are just waiting for the moment they can begin. They estimate that they can harvest from 12 to 15 acres per day. J. T. calls Hereford daily to check on the market.

J. T. Ford has pulled these four nice-sized onions from the crop raised by Euvon, his brother, to show how well the vegetables are developing. Onion growers are encouraged over prospects for making good money this summer.

THE PARMER COUNTY IMPLEMENT CO. NEWS

"The Place Where Most People Trade" Friona, Texas June 26, 1957

The Hank Outlands moved into Uncle John White's house in the north part of town last week and Mrs. Outland trusted Hank and the children to move all the heavy unbreakable things but decided she'd better handle the light bulbs and eggs so she loaded her arms and started into the house when wham! — she missed a step but by bouncing around about she saved most of the eggs and all the light bulbs. But that's why Ova Outland is limping this week. We've always thought Hank's boss, the Southwestern Public Service Company, would supply him with all the bulbs he'd need for free.

Anytime you see a patch of Johnson grass or bindweed in your field is the correct time to poison it. We have plenty of Sodium Chlorate and our price is right.

Mr. Gus Schlabs of Black was in the store last week and he says there's quite a lot of bindweed in the city limits of Friona. Mr. Schlabs is chairman of the weed control committee in Black and is very weed conscious, as all of us should be. Sodium Chlorate, applied plentifully and often, is still the only sure killer of Johnson grass and bindweed, and we have plenty of Sodium Chlorate for sale. Look around your place and if there is bindweed, help clean Parmer County of bindweed by killing it.

Several girls from Friona high school have been learning about nursing this summer. Mrs. Paul Spring and Mrs. Glenn Harrelson are giving the girls some instructions and they are also doing some practical nursing at the Parmer County Community Hospital. Girls working there are Janiece Bock, Jacquelyn Magness, and Pat Cranfill.

Questions at our house this week—if birds fly why can't I? Why don't horses weigh as much as elephants? Why can't I have the pulley bone? Why can't tomatoes grow on cucumber vines? Why do worms wiggle? Who holds up the stars? Why can't fish walk? Can't cats ever bark? How long till my birthday?

Thanks to all the folks who came by for our open house. We enjoyed it and are sure you did, too. The weather is better now than it was last Friday and Saturday, so come in again and we will be glad to show you the newest in farm machinery, IH trucks, pickups and tractors, and the beautiful new Oldsmobiles.

"Hiboy" is what they call this gadget, one of the numerous rigs being used in early season insect control work in the county this year. This application was being made on cotton on the Gilbert Kaltwasser farm. The equipment is from Bovina Farm Chemical, and was originally intended to be used for corn. That's why it's so high in the air.

Farmers Near End Of Early Season Insect Program

Most county cotton growers are in the last week of early insect control, which has proved more popular this year than ever before. They have been extremely busy in recent weeks getting over the young cotton to protect it from fruit-destroying insects.

Dealers who have specialized in custom application report that they have been running far behind orders on spraying, and have been using as many of the 24 hours in a day as has been practical, in an attempt to catch up. Wind has been troublesome.

There are several reasons why the interest in early season control is so great this year. One is that the cotton is later this year than is customary, and farmers are acutely aware of the desirability of setting the earliest fruit possible.

Another is that many of them are just now getting "into the swim" after trying out the program sometime during the last two years, and have come to feel that compared to what the returns can be, the expense of an early season program is small.

In this type of program, farmers spray their cotton "by the calendar" without much regard for bugs or their numbers. The idea is to give the early fruit every chance to set, and the poisoning is just good insurance.

It is recommended that the program end around July 1. After that date, additional spraying may be warranted—but only if the insect population is big enough to require it.

The idea here is to allow beneficial insects about 30 days to build up before the appearance of the bollworm.

County Agent Joe Jones says there are more insects this year than last year, with the thrip being the most prominent. Also, a number of fleahoppers have been spotted. The agent classifies the infestation as "light to moderate" in most areas.

Small Turnout For Referendum

Less than a fourth of the eligible wheat farmers in Parmer County turned out last Thursday to vote in the national wheat referendum, but those who did, joined the nation in approving marketing quotas for the 1958 wheat crop.

Of the 2,110 wheat farmers in the county, 447 voted, 418 approving the quotas and 29 voting against them, says Prentice Mills, ASC manager.

Friona had the largest number of voters participating, with 244 of the votes being cast there. Votes cast at other precincts were: Bovina 81, Lazbuddie 62, and Farwell 57.

THE PARMER FARMER
By LELAND BOYD

Last week, farmers voted in the 1958 wheat referendum about whether or not they wanted to have continued price supports.

If everyone talked about the topic as much as ones I heard, the business of government activity in regulating and supporting agricultural production was thoroughly 'cussed' and discussed.

This brought to mind the attitude cattlemen hold toward governmental control and support of the cattle industry. Chances are that you have heard that cattlemen voted unofficially on the question of whether they should be receiving supports.

It is interesting to note that form of government aid for cattlemen only until government supports and subsidies are removed from feed grains and other commodities involved in the ranchers' present high overhead? Cattlemen said 1888 no's, and 681 yes's to this.

Western Livestock and Western Livestock Journal quoted Elmer Langford of Texico as saying:

"I am a farmer and registered Hereford breeder, and can see the mess the government has made of the farm program and I would like to see the government get out and stay out of business. Security can be had in the penitentiary, but who of us had not rather have freedom?"

Langford's farm and ranch is about eight miles north of Texico-Farwell.

The vote in Texas was about seven to one against supports.

A few of the comments in the WL and WLJ run along these lines:

"I don't want the government to subsidize me; I don't want the government to pay me a bonus to sell off my shestock. Two wrongs don't make a right. Let's exert efforts to remove all subsidies in all industries or we will have all industry controlled by imperfect humans. Government aid will mean government control. Keep your business free. I prefer to see all forms of subsidy removed and let the people and businesses as well stand on their own feet. Let's start on new supports, they are just like taxes—impossible to get rid of."

Many area grain sorghum fields are getting their first irrigation, after the moisture left by the spring rains has been exhausted. This is a typical picture of water running down the rows of the young crop.

Farm people were anxious about another problem about three or four years ago. They were fearful that a rapid growth of urban population would lead to the farm people losing an influence in governmental affairs and would eventually defeat the existing farm programs.

From the hints in the WL and WLJ, farmers are now singing a different song, with phrases of "government aid is not solving our problems" being heard frequently.

It might be farmers themselves who finally request that government take props and controls from the field of agriculture.

It wasn't too long ago that we would do some occasional plotting and derive a pet scheme whereby farmers' problems would be solved, if only the scheme were put into effect.

We vowed never to do that again after a doubtful and bored listener told us, "If you are so smart, I'm sure Ike and Ezra would have sent for you to come to Washington to start to work straightening the problem out long ago."

I was talking to Horace Cole, farmer near Hub, who appears to have at least one more problem than most Parmer farmers have. Cole started farming this year, after being a real estate dealer in Fort Worth several years. He says he lived on a farm in Central Texas when a boy, but they were using mules.

He admits relying on advice offered from more experienced farmers this year, which is a trick most new people welcome, unless a contract to follow it is not required to obtain the advice.

The hardest thing to become accustomed to, is having to do work a little more strenuous than is required of real estate dealers, Cole says.

We asked the county agent the other day if a few more sheep and goats aren't sneaking into the area. Joe said that it is true that some interest in sheep has been seen, mainly on account of the generous government program which is providing an incentive for production.

In fact, Joe says that some stockmen have been considering switching from cattle to the fuzzy-haired creatures.

However, to date there isn't a trend of any noticeable proportions. Parmer County and the area surrounding it remains predominantly the domain of the "land" farmer as compared with combination farmer-stockmen that populate many parts of the Southwest.

We heard Fred Sims of Black say the other day that year in and year out, he thinks a pretty good cash crop for irrigated farms of the Plains would be alfalfa.

This is especially true, he feels, where a farmer is equipped to cut and bale the hay and get it in out of the weather until after say, the first of the year, when the market usually is turning upward.

He points out that the records of the past few years indicate that alfalfa would certainly beat the price being received for grain crops.

Fred may be right, but there are a couple of other things to think about. One is that for the first time in six or seven years, most of the cattle feeding parts of the Southwest now have adequate moisture, and can be expected to produce their own forage, and maybe even grain.

Also, alfalfa, although a nitrogen-producing crop and one of the best land builders available, is a heavy user of irrigation water. The dry, hot summer days in the Southwest mean that the irrigation farmer really has to "pour it on" to keep making good hay most of the season.

Cotton Research Started at Halfway

Research on cotton varieties at the High Plains station of the Texas Research Foundation at Halfway will consist of observation plots, test plots and variety comparison in acreage plots.

Sixty-one varieties have been planted in observation plots 22 feet long. Each of these 61 varieties are repeated four times on plots in different areas of the 310-acre farm. These cotton varieties are new or untried in this area.

Thirty-four varieties have been planted in 100 foot plots with four rows to the plot. The tests will be made from the two center rows. The outside rows will not be used because the results might be influenced by the fertilization or irrigation program conducted on the adjoining plots. Each variety plot will be repeated four times. The research results to be determined by the average of the center rows in the four plots.

Eight leading varieties of cotton have been planted for comparison in acreage blocks. These varieties are those now in common use in the High Plains area.

A farmer visiting the station and observing the planting in process said, "I now understand better than ever why we must all join in this project. The planting, cultivation, irrigation, fertilization of all these varieties in so many plots is quite beyond what any individual could possibly afford to do alone."

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

The Parmer County Soil Conservation District supervisors held their regular monthly meeting at Rhea community last Monday. Several of the Rhea farmers were present.

The Board approved 18 soil and water conservation plans which SCS technicians had prepared the past month. Also during the meeting, the bindweed eradication program was discussed at length.

The progress made with Soil Stewardship Week which the district sponsored this year was reviewed. A number of the church bulletins were on display. The meeting adjourned at 4:30 p. m.

SCS technicians this past week have been at work on the Joe Bozeman place southwest of Clays' Corner. They have been in the process of laying out about 20 acres of bench leveling. Mr. Bozeman plans to grow alfalfa and grain sorghum on the benched land. He will irrigate it from a concrete irrigation pipeline. Mr. Bozeman already has about 30 acres of land benched on his place, of which he has about one-half in alfalfa. He says that he can certainly see good results from the land (that has over a 1 percent slope to it) that has been bench leveled on his farm.

Some of the pastures in the district utilize runoff water from irrigation from surrounding fields. As far as the pasture is concerned, this allows greater production if handled properly.

On those hillsides where buffalo grass is about the only thing present, some method of holding the water on the land so it will have time to soak in should be used. Chiseling or pitting the land is a good way to do this initially. Until a good amount of grass is present, grazing should be very limited on these areas and then should not be grazed when wet.

These were the winners of the 1956 cotton production contest, with several area leaders. They were recognized at the annual Parmer County Cotton Improvement Association meeting this spring. Back row, left to right: Leon Wilson, FFA winner; Jack Black, Lazbuddie vocational agriculture instructor; Joe Jones, county agent; Roy Crawford, Bovina v-o-ag man. Second row: Johnny Miller, Joe Hughes and Richard Chitwood, all 4-H winners. Front row: George Pfeifferberger of Plains Cotton Growers and Gary Mac Brown, James Brown, Joe Bob Johnson, and Johnny Mabry, all 4-H boys.

Prizes Offered In 4-H Cotton, Sorghum Contests

Parmer County 4-H boys can really cash in on their ability to grow good crops of cotton and grain sorghum this year—provided they can stand a little competition.

Last year, the Parmer County Cotton Improvement Association and the Parmer County Grain Sorghum Producers Association sponsored the first county-wide contests ever held for young county farmers. Deadline for entering this year's contests is July 15.

This year, the contests are back, with a lot of interest being evidenced from 4-H boys across the county, according to County Agent Joe Jones. Particular emphasis is being given the cotton contests, which received a nice-sized financial transfusion of $300 from Northern Star Seed Company.

Prizes for the best cotton growers will be distributed as follows: 1st $50 and plaque, 2nd $45, 3rd $40, 4th $35, 5th $30, 6th $25, 7th $20, 8th $15, 9th $10, and 10th $5.

Here are the rules:

- All boys who are members of one of the 4-H clubs in Parmer County are eligible to compete. Members are encouraged to enter both grain sorghum and cotton contests. To be eligible, a member must have at least two acres and not more than 10 acres in each contest entered. Boy must, rent, sharecrop, or own the crop entered.

- Contestant must designate, on entry form and return to county agent, by July 15th, plot to be entered in contest. Entry forms and suggested record sheets will be furnished for all contestants desiring to enter, and may be obtained by writing your county agent.
- It will be contestant's responsibility to contact his adult leader or county agent and make arrangements for proper supervision when harvesting his crop. The leaders supervising the harvest of these crops must be present and certify to their accuracy.
- Any row spacing qualifies. The row harvested must have rows with good stands on each side. All varieties of cotton qualify.
- Awards will be made on the basis of pounds of production per acre and records.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

County Farm Bureau directors will meet in regular session Monday night at 8 in the office in Friona. 4-H boys and girls who recently returned from the state Round-Up will be present to report briefly on their experiences. You are welcome to attend all or part of any of the meetings. You may have suggestions to make to your directors that would be helpful to them in executing policies you have directed them to take care of during the year.

"We advocate the policy of no appeasement with communists wherever they may be found." This statement has been adopted by Texas Farm Bureau delegates for the past several years. With this in mind, we express our agreement with Rep. Howard W. Smith of Virginia, when he said, regarding the U. S. Supreme Court's action in freeing several people who had been convicted of communist activity in California, "I am not surprised. I do not recall any case decided by the present court that the communists have lost."

This condition, we think, is a deplorable one for our country to be in.

The American Farm Bureau opposes "federal aid" to education, not because it is opposed to education, but because it believes decentralization of our education is more desirable than further centralization. We now find that Governor Harold Handley, of Indiana, who also opposes federal encroachment upon educational activities, conducted some research. The white house conference report stated that Indiana needed 1,100 new classrooms annually, and that federal "aid" was needed to accomplish this goal. The governor found that his state and local agencies has built 1,925 classrooms in 1956, 2,100 were due for service in '57, and 2,400 were blueprinted for '58.

"We are building these classrooms twice as fast as the advocates of federalized education say we should be building them," he said.

CONSIDER THIS: Open thy mouth, judge righteously, and plead the cause of the poor and needy. Proverbs 31:9.

Pounds of production per acre will count 60% and records will count 40%. Records in both contests must be completed and turned in to your county agent or 4-H club leader by January 6, 1958.

6. Cotton will be computed to pounds of lint per acre by pulling and weighing bur cotton from thirty-five yards of measured row on a dry afternoon. No bolls will be pulled unless they are open.

Jones reports that there is good interest being shown in the contests this year, and that boys are much more conscious of the competition than they were in the beginning year.

"I've heard several boys discussing such things as how much rain they've had so far, what the best fertilizer and rates will probably be this year, and things like that," he says.

Careful records are maintained to insure accuracy of the measurements of crop yields. Mimeographed forms have been provided to insure good record keeping.

Deadline for entering is July 15.

Habeas Corpus literally means, "you may have the body."

This Oklahoma Lane farmer is cultivating his cotton crop. He is typical of hundreds of other area farmers who are anxious to "push" their cotton along as fast as they can. The crop is late this year.

4-H News

LAZBUDDIE JR. 4-H NEWS
Gary Mac Brown, Reporter

Regular meeting of the Lazbuddie Jr. 4-H boys was held at the home of Gary Mac and James Brown on Wednesday, June 19. Club president Calvin Mason called the meeting to order and the minutes of the last meeting were read by Eugene Houston, club secretary.

Glendale King led the 4-H pledge before the meeting was turned over to County Agent Joe Jones. James Brown gave a report of the District I 4-H Club camp which he, along with Richard Chitwood and Jim Roy Wells, attended.

Cooper Young reported on the 4-H Club Round-up which he and Billy Hardage and J. E. Young, adult leader, attended. District winning demonstration teams attend the Round-Up each year.

The group then discussed the crops tour, and calves for 4-H projects. A committee from the junior club to help plan the crops tour for this fall is composed of Calvin Mason, Carrol Redwine, Steven Young, and Glendale King. This group will work with the committee from the senior club and the adult leaders in planning the tour.

Gerald Foster was appointed as the junior club's representative on the county camp planning committee.

The next meeting of the junior club is to be at the home of Steven Young sometime in July.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Brown served refreshments of cake and punch to the following: Gerald Foster, Ronald Scott, Calvin Mason, Glendale King, Eugene Houston, James Brown, Gary Mac Brown, Cooper Young, Nelson Foster and Joe Jones.

A dead person may vote, legally, if he mails an absentee ballot and then dies before election day.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

want your name published please make a statement to that effect. What we would really like to know is, "Do homemakers really like the trading stamp deal?"

Someone has said the best way to keep from getting old is to keep learning. Maybe each of us should take up a hobby that would keep us busy learning. One which those who have young children could pursue with them is etymology, which is the history of words.

Have you ever wondered where words originate? If so, this hobby would afford a lot of the answers. It is interesting to know that neighbor originally meant, "a nearby farmer." In the Anglo-Saxon, neah means "near" and gebur means farmer. These two words were first combined into "neahgebur." In medieval English it appeared as neighebour and in modern English as neighbor.

Its meaning was changed with the evolution of civilization and no longer applies particularly to neighboring farmers, but refers to all persons living near each other. Even nations in the modern world are called "neighbors" — an interesting development of a word that means, literally, "nearby farmers."

Shoulder pads can be made from triangular pieces of foam rubber. Cover them with a fabric that can be washed with a damp cloth, and then fasten to your dresses or blouses with snap fasteners. You can use the same shoulder pads for several garments.

Another recipe which is very good for meals that need to be prepared ahead of time and is different from the usual meat loaf is Savory Meat Loaf:

- 1/2 lb. sausage
- 1/2 lb. ground ham
- 1 lb. lean ground beef
- 2 cups cracker crumbs
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon horseradish
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 1 cup tomato juice
- Tomato sauce

Blend together all ingredients except tomato sauce. Pack into 1 1/2 quart ring mold. Bake in moderate oven for 1 hour. Remove from oven and let stand in pan for 5 minutes to absorb liquid. Unmold on serving plate which can be placed in the oven and drizzle with tomato sauce. When ready to serve, heat, then fill center of ring with hot fluffy mashed potatoes.

Expecting Potato Harvest by 15th

Buck Gregory, potato grower of the West Camp-Lariat area, and owner of a shed on the Santa Fe at Lariat, reported this week that he anticipates first digging of the 1957 spud crop to get underway there "about July 15."

Gregory adds that growers are not anxious at all to begin their harvest, since the market has looked too weak thus far. In recent days, however, it has shown some signs of strengthening.

"The big California crop isn't turning out nearly as well as they figured it would, and our market prospects may be a lot better if we just wait a while," he said.

- Type of crop sprayed.

A fee of 10 cents per acre intended to be sprayed shall be submitted with the application for spraying permit. Fees for permits not used can be refunded. If less than 10 acres in any one year is sprayed, farmer must notify Texas Department of Agriculture prior to such spraying but does not have to pay fee.

Any person violating any provision of the Texas Herbicide Law is guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $2,000 or confined to jail not more than 30 days or given both such fine and jail sentence.

Jones also points out that the law requires that all dealers selling these types of herbicides must pay a fee of $25 when they apply for a dealer's license. Any person making application for hire must have a surety bond of $20,000 and an equipment bond of $2,000.

"Be sure the man who puts on the spray is licensed and bonded to do business in Texas," says the agent.
